s Heb. his going-down

III.

21. Roar for the prey the Lions do:
To ſeek their meat from God alſo.
22. The Sun doth riſe, they gather-aſide:
They in their Dens couch-down alſo.
23. Man goes-out to his work: And to His labour till the Evening-tide.
24. O LORD, how many thy works are!
Thou mad'ſt them-all in wiſdom rare:
The Earth is with t thy riches fill'd.
25. This Sea great and u in ſpaces wide;
Things-creeping x numberleſs there bide:
It ſmall wilde-beaſts with great doth yield.
26. There y go the Ships: Leviathan,
Whom thou-haſt-form'd to play therein.
27. They-all have thee z attent-beheld:
To give them in it's time their meat.
28. Thou giv'ſt it them, they gather it:
Op'neſt thine hand, with good they're fill'd.
29. Thou hid'ſt a thy face, they troubled-lie;
Thou gathereſt back their breath, they dye:
And to their duſt return they do.
30. Thy quickning Spirit thou ſendeſt-forth,
They are Created: Of the Earth
Thou doſt renew the face alſo.

t Heb thy poſſeſſion.
u Heb. wide in hands.
x Heb. and not number.
y Heb. walk.
z Heb. will attentively look or, will wait with hope.
a Heb. thy faces, they are ſuddenly troubled.

IV.

31. Bee ever the LORD's Glory ſhall:
The LORD ſhall joy in his Deeds all.
32. He on the Earth b a look-doth-give,
And it doth quake as at a ſtroke:
Hee c toucheth Mountains and they ſmoke.
33. I'le to the LORD ſing, d whileſt I live:
I'le to my God ſing, e whil'ſt I am.
34. My Meditation f of his-Name
Shall be ſweet: I'le joy in the LORD.
35. From Earth conſum'd-bee ſinners-ſtray,
And wicked-ones g no more bee they;
My Soule, the LORD bleſs. Praiſe-the LORD.

b Heb. looketh, or, looking.
c Heb. toucheth in the mountaines.
d Heb. in my lives.
e Heb. in yet mee.
f Heb. of him
g Heb. yet not-they.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, &c.

This Pſalme, for the Kinde and Nature of it, is Laudatory and Gratulatory. As in the former Pſalme 103. The Arguments of Divine praiſes are drawn from bleſſings proper and peculiar to David, to the Church and people of God; As, Remiſſion of Sinnes, Redemption, Refreſhing with with loving-kindneſs, bowel-mercies and goodneſs, relieving of the oppreſſed, revealing of his Goſpel-wayes to Moſes, and his Acts to Iſrael, Mitigation of his peoples afflictions in this preſent life, Ruling over all for his Churches good, &c. So in this Pſalme he fetches Argments of Divine Praiſes, from Gods common works of Creation, Gubernation, and Providence[h], touching at Gods works of Creation in Order, according to the five firſt dayes, and at the ſeveral ends and uſes whereunto the Creatures are Deſtined and Ordained; wherein the Infinite Wiſdom, Power, Goodneſs, and Providence of God ſhines forth moſt gloriouſly. This Pſalme, as many others[i], is without any Title prefixed in the Hebrew, h See before in Pſal. 103 §. 3. and 5.

i See Pſal. 1. § 4.

Penman of it, probably was David. And R. Ezra's Conjecture for this, is rational, viz. Becauſe this Pſalme begins and ends, as Pſal. 103. Penned by David; Bleſs the LORD, O my Soul, compare Pſal. 104. 1, 35. with Pſal. 103. 1, 22. Onely, this Pſalme 104. is cloſed up with Halelu-jah, ver. 35. i. e. Praiſe-yee the-LORD. This Hebrew Phraſe is kept in the Greek, Rev. 19. 3, 6. and in other Languages, (as one k hath rightly noted;) and its ſet ſometimes in the beginning, ſometimes in the end of Pſalmes. But firſt uſed in this place, where conſuming of Sinners is mentioned, as in the New Teſtament firſt uſed in Rev. 19. where the deſtruction of Antichriſt, the man of Sin is foretold. So he. Theſe three Pſalmes (wherewith this Fourth Book of Pſalmes is concluded) viz. Pſal. 104. 105. and 106. are all ended with Halelu-jah. They are the three great Halelu-jah's.

k Hen. Ainſworth in his Annot. on Pſalm 104. 35.

Occaſion of the Pſalmiſts Penning this Pſalme, and the time when he wrote it, are not Particularly known. But in the General, it is evident by the Matter of it, that he took Occaſion to write it, from ſerious Meditaton, ver. 34. and Conſideration of the great Wiſdom, Power, and Goodneſs of God ſhining forth in Gods Works of Creation and Providence, moſt illuſtriouſly to all the World. Auguſtine turnes this, as many other Pſalmes, unwarrantably into an Allegory[l].

l Aug in Enar. Pſ. 103. Tom. 8.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Pſalmiſts Scope herein intended, is; To incite himſelf, and all others, unto the praiſes of God, for his wonderful Works of Creating, Ordering, and Governing, with ſuch Wiſdom, Power, Goodneſs, and Providence, all variety of his Creatures in the World: imprecating confuſion to the wicked of the Earth, that will not be moved to the due praiſes of God, from all theſe his glorious works.

The whole Pſalme flowes with choice Rhetorical Elegancies. And if a man would take liberty to Paraphraſe this Pſalme, it might be repreſented very Elegantly: As in this enſuing Poeme, communicated to me from a friend, which for the Elegancy and neatneſs of it, I think fit here to ſubjoyn; though the Verſion be farre from Exactneſs, and the ſenſe be ſometimes miſtaken. viz.

1. MY Soul, the great God's Praiſes ſings, Becircled round with Glory's wings,
2. Clothed with light: o're whom the Sky
Hangs like a Starry Canopy.

3. Who dwels upon the gliding ſtreams,
Enamel'd with his Golden Beams:
Enthron'd in Clouds as in a Chair,
He rides in Triumph through the Aire.

4. The Windes and flaming Element
Are on his great Embaſſage ſent.
5. The Fabrick of the Earth ſhall ſtand
For ay; built by his powerful hand.

6. The floods, that with their wattery Robe
Once covered all this Earthly Globe;
7. Soon as thy thundering voice was heard,
Fled faſt. 8. And ſtraight the Hills appeard;

The humble Valleys ſaw the Sun,
Whil'ſt the affrighted Waters run Into their Channels. 9. And no more Shall drown the Earth, or paſs their Shore.

10. Along theſe Vales the cool Springs flow,
And waſh the Mountains feet below.
11. Thither for drink the whole Herd ſtrayes:
There the wild-Aſs his thirſt allayes.

12. And on the Boougs that ſhade the Spring
The feathered Quire ſhall ſit and ſing.
13. When on her Womb thy Dew is ſhed,
The Pregnant Earth is brought to bed

And with a fruitful birth increas't.
14. Yields Herbs and Graſs; for Man and Beaſt.
15. Heart-ſtrengthning Bread, care drowning Wine:
And Oyl that makes the ſleek face ſhine.

16. On Lebanon his Cedars ſtand,
Trees full of Sap, works of his hand.
17. In them the Birds their Cabins dight:
The Firre-tree is the Storks delight.

18. The wilde-Goat on the Hills; In Cells
Of Rock the Hermite Coney dwels.
19. The Moon obſerves her courſe: The Sun
Knows when his weary Race is done.

2. And when the Night her dark veyl ſpreds
The wilder Beaſts forſake their ſheds.
21. The hungry Lions hunt for blood,
And roaring begg from God their food.

22. The Sun returnes, Theſe Beaſts of Prey
Fly to their Dens, and from the day.
23. And whil'ſt they in dark Cavernes lurk,
Man till the Evening goes to work.

24. How full of Creatures is the Earth!
To which thy Wiſdom gave their birth.
25. And thoſe that in the wide Sea breed,
The bounds of number farre exceed.

26. There the huge Whales with ſlimy feet
Dance underneath the Sapling-Fleet.
27. All theſe expect their nouriſhment.
From thee. 28. And gather what is ſent:

Bee thy hand open, they are fed;
29. Bee thy face hid, aſtoniſhed:
If thou withdraw their breath, they muſt
Return unto their former Duſt.

30. If thou ſend back thy Breath, the face
Of th'Earth is ſpread with a new race.
31. Gods Glory ſhall for ever ſtay:
He ſhall with joy his works ſurvey.

32. The ſtedfaſt Earth ſhall ſhake, if he Look down: And if the Mountains be Touch'd, they ſhall ſmoak. 33. Yet ſtill my (Verſe, Shall, whil'ſt I live, his Praiſe rehearſe.

34. In him with joy my thoughts ſhall meet
He makes my Meditation ſweet.
35. The Sinners ſhall appear no more: *
Then, O my Soul, the LORD adore.

§. V. The Analyſis, or Principal parts.

In this Excellent and Elegant Pſalme, are; 1. An Exordium. 2. A Narration. 3. A Concluſion.

I. An Exordium, Introduction, or Entrance to the enſuing praiſes of God the Creator. Wherein the Pſalmiſt, 1. Provokes himſelf to bleſs the LORD. 2. Propounds in General the Grounds he hath for bleſſing him, viz. (1) Partly, the LORD's exceeding greatneſs (2) Partly his Comely-Honour and Majeſty, ſo abounding and ſurrounding him, that he is ſaid to be cloathed therewith, verſe 1.

II. A Narration of the Grounds and Reaſons of bleſſing the LORD, more Particularly. Drawn, 1. Partly, from his Creation and Ordination of the Creatures to Excellent Ends and Uſes, ver. 21 to. 27. 2. Partly, from his Conſervation of the Creatures in their being and well-being, ver. 27. to 31.

1. Grounds of bleſſing God, drawn from his Creating and Ordaining the Creatures to Excellent Ends and Uſes. Here the Pſalmiſt following the ſteps of Moſes, Gen 1. 3, 4, &c. touch'th at the Works of the five firſt dayes, eſpecially. As, I. Of the firſt day; Light, Gen. 1. 3, 4, 5. This is Metaphorically compared to a Garment wherewith God the Father of Lights clothes himſelf m, Jam. 1. 17. Light moſt notably reſembling Gods Inacceſſible Light and Glory, and being as his Royal Robe neareſt to him, ver. 2. begin. II. Of the ſecond day, the Heavens; that is, the whole Out-ſpread-Firmament, Gen 1. 6, 7, 8. This is that which is called the Firſt Heaven, the Ayery Heaven, conſiſting of three Regions n, Loweſt, from the Earth upwards, as far as the Reflection or Refraction of the Sun-beames returnes; Uppermoſt, from the Element of Fire downwards, as far as the heat of the Fire reacheth; Middlemoſt, betwixt theſe two, which is coldeſt, and where all the Meteors, as Rain, Hail, Snow, &c. are gendered. The uſe of this Out-ſpread-Firmament is Elegantly deſcribed to be three-fold, viz. 1. To cover, and as it were to hide and withdraw his Majeſty from our eyes, as under a Curtain, ver. 2. 2. To have, after the Manner of Great Princes, variety of Palaces and places whence at his pleaſure he may manifeſt himſelf. He plancheth his lofts or upper-Chambers in the waters, i. e. in the Clouds. 3. To have variety of Inſtruments, Accommodated and fitted for ſuch his Manifeſtation of himſelf, viz. (1) The Clouds, for his ſtately Chariot. (2) The wings of the wind, for his ſpeedy conveyance, as ſwift Horſes drawing his Chariot, verſe 3. 3. The Angels o; For their Nature made Spirits or Spirituall Subſtances; (and ſo differing from Chriſt who is no Created or made Spirit, but the Maker of all things,

o Touching Angels mentioned here ver. 4. Seeing Scriptures ſeem not plainly and poſitively to determine on what day they were created; and Orthodox Writers do but conjecture that probably they were Created on the Firſt day: Let the Learned here make a Quere; whether this fourth verſe (the Context duly conſidered) renders it not moſt probable, That Angels were Created on the ſecond day?

Pſal.

*Psal.*102.25,26,27. *with Heb.*1.10,11,12. and from men, according to his Humanity, made of flesh and blood, Luke 24.39. For the efficacy of their Administration, a flaming fire, All activity, &c. Hence, Angels have sometimes appeared like horses and chariots of fire, 2 Kings 6.17. and 2.11. The Apostle, or rather the Holy Ghost, in *Heb.*1.7. directs us to interpret this place of Angels Properly, who in the same Chapter also *Heb.*1.14. are called Ministring-Spirits, as here His Ministers, *ver.*4. I know, divers here render the Hebrew word רוחות Ruchoth, windes: and make it the subject here of this Proposition, thus; who maketh his windes messengers: As the word is used, Psal. 78.49. and flaming fire his Ministers: because fire, haile, thunder, windes, &c. are said to fulfil his word, *Psal.*148.8. and these are oft-times forerunners of Gods protection to his People, and his destruction of their Adversaries, *as Psal.*50.3. and 18.8,10,15, &c. Job 38.22,23. *Isai.*29,6. And Angels are sent rather from the Third Heaven, then from the First Heaven. And therefore, this Interpretation, thus notably agreeing to the works of the Second Day, is embraced by many. But the former Interpretation to me seems best and safest, from that passage, *Heb.*1.7. Nevertheless if any shall think good to put both Interpretations together, as Mollerus hath done P, I shall not gainsay; viz. Thus. Its said; *He rode upon a Cherub, and did fly: yea, He did fly upon the wings of the winde, Psal.*18.10. where the Ministry of Angels, and of windes are joyned together, both of them being created to execute Gods commands. And in the windes we have a notable adumbration of the Ministry of the Angels. III. Of the third Day. The Earth, Sea, Fruitfulness of the Earth in Plants, viz. Grass, Herbs, Trees, *Gen.*1.9.to 14. These the Psalmist describes more largely, *ver.*5.to 19. More Particularly, He sets forth, 1. Gods founding and constituting the Earth in the Center of the World, and that immoveably, ver. 5. 2. His Covering the Earth, even the highest Mountains with the Deep, as with a Garment, *ver.*6. 3. His removing the deep waters from the face of the Earth, that the dry-land might appear, and this suddenly, by his most powerful word, along Mountains and Valleys, to the place which he had founded for them, ver. 7, 8. 4. His confining and bounding the waters there in their place, that they return no more to cover the Earth, *ver.*9. 5. His making the Earth (which of itself is barren) very fruitful: And that two wayes: viz. 1. Partly, by sending Springs and Rivers (viz. from the Sea, *Eccles.*1.7.) into the Valleys, walking among the Hills, *ver.*10. The use of which Springs, &c. is declared: viz. (1) To afford drink to the living Creatures of the Earth, *ver.*11. (2) To afford drink and refreshment to the fowles of the Heaven, delighting to build and sing among the branches growing by those streams, *ver.*12. 2. Partly, By Exhaling vapours and waters out of the Sea up into the Clouds, through the force of the Sun. From which Clouds, as from his upper-Chambers, He watereth the Hills, Trees, and High-Mountains. (3) The Hills or Mountains, i.e. The upper parts of the Earth. Synecd. And so maketh the Earth fruitful. *ver.*13. 1 In Grass, for Cattel. 2 In Herbs, Wine, Oyle, and bread, for man, ver. 14. 15. (2) The Trees, whereof two eminent kindes, in stead of all the rest, are mentioned, viz. 1. Cedars, filled with Sap: wherein the little Birds make their Nests. 2. Firre-Trees, wherein the Stork buildeth, ver. 16, 17. (3) The high-Mountains, and Rocks, for the benefit of wilde Goats and Conies, there sheltering themselves, *ver.*18. IV. Of the fourth Day. The great Luminaries of Heaven, the Sun and Moon, *Gen.*1.14.to 20. Touching these two Luminaries, He delares, 1. The immediate end and purpose for which they were intended: viz. For distinction of Times and Seasons, Day and Night, ver. 19. 2. The more remote use of these Seasons, viz. (1) Of the Night, for the wilde-beasts of the Forrest, and particularly the Lyons to range abroad for their prey, *ver.*20,21. (2) Of the Day, for these wilde-beasts and Lyons to gather themselves away and couch down in their Dens, But for man to go forth to his work in, and to his labour till the evening, *ver.*22,23. Having thus meditated upon the works of God in the four first dayes of the Creation, He concludes with an Admiration at the multiplicity and plenty of Gods works, and the wisdome of God illustriously shining forth in the making of them all, *ver.*24. V. Of the fifth Day. The Fishes in the Sea, *Gen.*1.20.to 24. These are set forth, 1. From their subject-place, The Sea. For Quantity; Great and wide of hands, that is, of spaces. 2. From their Adjunct multitude; innumerable. 3. From the variety of their kinds; small and great beasts. 4 From comparison of the Ships, sayling therein. 5. From one primary and notable kinde thereof; Leviathan, the Whale, made to play therein, *ver.*25,26.

2. Grounds of blessing God, drawn from Gods conservation of his Creatures thus made, in their Beings, and well-beings, (the works of the sixth day having been only occasionally touched and glanced at ver 14, 15, &c.) are laid down, *ver.27.&c* Where the Dependance of all these Creatures upon God and his Providence, is declared in three respects, viz. In respect 1. Of their food and nourishment, *ver.*27,28. 2. Of their breath and life, *ver.*29. 3. Of their propagation, ver. 30.

III. A Conclusion, inferred from all these Premises, touching Blessing and Praising the LORD, *ver.31.&c.* Which is propounded under the Forme or Manner, 1. Of a Confession, or an Acknowledgment upon the whole, (1) Of Gods eternal Glory. (2) Of Gods rejoycing in his own works, *ver.*31. (3) Of his dreadful Power and Majesty, *ver.*32. 2. Of a vow, or pious Resolution. Wherein the Psalmist resolves and promiseth, (1) Constantly to praise the LORD, in singing, yea in Singing-Psalmes unto him, ver. 33. (2) Sweetly to Meditate upon him. (3) Gladsomely to rejoyce in him, *ver.*34. 3. Of an Imprecation, against sinners and wicked wretches, opposing the due honour of God. 4. Of an Exhortation, wherein he incites, (1) Himself, as ver. 1. (Circularly:) (2) All others, To Praise the LORD, *ver.*35.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

I.

1. [a] LAud-yee the LORD, call on his Name;
Make-known his Acts among [b] the folk.
2. Sing yee to him, to him ſing-Pſalme;
Do yee of all his wonders [c] talk.

3. [d] Boaſt in Name of his Holyneſs:
Their heart, that ſeek the LORD, let joy.
4. The LORD ſeek, and his powerfulneſs;
Seek yee [e] his face continually.

5. His wondrous works which hee hath done
[f] Do-yee-to-memory-recal:
His ſtately marvels every one,
And of his mouth the judgments all.

6. Oyee his ſervant Abraham's Seed:
Yee Jacob's ſons, his choſen dear,
7. Hee is the LORD our God indeed:
In all the Earth his judgments are.

II.

8. His Covenant for evermore
Hee hath remembred to his ſons:
The word hee did command before,
To thouſand Generations.

9. Which ſtrike with Abraham did hee:
[g] His Oath to Iſaac loved well.
10. [h] To Jacob ſet it for Decree:
[i] An endleſs league to Iſrael.

11. Saying, I'le give thee Canaan Land,
Of your inheritance the line.
12. [k] When they were men in number few,
Moſt-few, and ſojourners therein.

13. [l] From Nation they to Nation walkt,
From Kingdome to ſtrange folk remoov'd;
14. He ſuffered [m] no man them to wrong:
But [n] for-their-ſakes hee Kings reproov'd.

15. O touch not [o] mine Annoynted, and Do to my Prophets none ill-deed.
16. And call'd a Famine on the Land,
Hee quite-brake all the ſtaff of Bread.

17. Before [p] them hee a man did ſend:
Sold for a ſervant Joſeph was.
18. His feet with fetters [q] they offend,
[r] The Ir'n into his ſoul did paſs.

19. Until the time his word did come,
The ſaying of the LORD him tride.
20. The King ſent, and [s] releaſed him;
The Peoples Ruler, and him freed.

21. LORD of his Houſe [t] hee-him-aſſign'd:
[u] Of all his wealth the-Rule-to-take.
22. His Princes [x] at his will to binde:
And wiſe his Senators to make.

III.

23. Then Iſrael from Canaan came
To Egypt to bee nouriſhed:
And in the fruitful land of Cham
A ſeaſon Jakob ſojourned.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, &c.

This Pſalme is, as to the Kinde of it, Laudatory and Gratulatory. As in the two former Pſalmes q were ſweetly deſcribed the ordinary Matters of Praiſing God, viz. 1. His Adminiſtrations towards his own peculiar People, in Pſal. 103. 2. His Adminiſtrations towards all Man-kinde and all Creatures, in Pſal. 104. So in this Pſalme 105. He begins to ſet forth the Extraordinary Matter of Praiſing God, for his Extraordinary Diſpenſation towards his Church and People, In his Covenant with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, &c. Adopting them Extraordinarily from among all people, and be Gods peculiar people: and Sealing up that ſpiritual Mercy to them, by promiſing to them, and performing to their Seed, the Land of Canaan for an Inheritance. Auguſtine ſaith; This is the firſt Pſalme that hath Halelu-jah prefixed to it r. But his Obſervation fails him; for Halelu-jah is not in the Hebrew prefixed to this Pſalme at all, Pſalme 106. is the firſt to which is is prefixed. This Pſalme is without Title: as many others are ſ.

ſ See Pſal. 1. in §. 4.

Penman of this Pſalme, was doubtleſs David: although his name be not prefixed. For, the firſt part of this Pſalme, from ver. 1. to 16. with very little alteration, is part of that Excellent Euchariſtical Pſalme, which David delivered into the hand of Aſaph, and of his Bretbren, to thank the LORD withal, in the day when the Ark of the Covenant was brought up from the Houſe of Obed-Edom the Gittite, &c. See 1 Chron. 16. 1, 7. to 23 t.

t See Pſal. 96. in §. 3. and my Key of the Bible, in the Appendix to 1 Chron.

And this was the Occaſion of Davids penning this Pſalme. How ſuitably! A Pſalme touching Gods Covenant with Abraham and his Seed, at the bringing up of the Ark of the Covenant into the City of David, into the Tent that David had pitched for it, 1 Chron. 15. 19. and 16. 1, &c. But, as one noteth u, David after this enlarged this Pſalme very much, adding an Hiſtory of Gods gracious diſpenſations towards Abraham's Seed, before they came into Egypt, In Egypt, and after they

u Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 105

they were delivered thence, from verſe 16. to the end. And Kimchi obſerves that his Maſters were wont to ſay, that this Pſalme, viz. verſe 1. to 16. was wont to be ſung in the Mornings, and *Pſal.96.*in the Evenings. And that theſe two Pſalmes were ſtill ſung at the ſight of the Ark till Solomon took the Ark into the Temple, which he calls the Houſe of Ages [x].

x Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 105.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Pſalme, is; To Excite the Church and People of the Jewes, the Poſterity of Abraham, to all enlarged Praiſes and Thankfulneſſe to God, for his extraordinary Mercy and wonderful Goodneſs to Abraham, Iſaac, Jacob, and their Seed, in taking them above all other people from among Idolaters, and Adopting them to be a peculiar people to himſelf, by Covenant; promiſing and performing to them and their Seed the Land of Canaan, (a viſible pledge of greater Spiritual Mercies, covenanted,) that hereby they might bee the more effectually engaged to keep Covenant with God, obſerving his Statutes, and keeping his Lawes, Pſal. 105. 44, 45. Upon like ground, How ſhould Chriſtians, Redeemed from Paganiſh or Popiſh Idolatry, and brought into the New-Covenant in Chriſt exhibited, be filled with thankfulneſs to God for ſuch his Extraordinary and gracious Adminiſtrations!

§. V. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

In this choice Euchariſtical Pſalme, note

I. An Hortatory Exordium, Emphatically and lively Exhorting the Seed of Abraham, &c. to ſundry Duties belonging to the Praiſes of God. Here, 1. The Duties Exhorted unto, are deſcribed. And they are eſpecially theſe three: viz. 1. To Praiſe the LORD. This is laid down in variety of Acts, tending to the LORD's Praiſes. As, (1) Confeſſing to the LORD. (2) Calling on his Name. (3) Making known his Acts among the People, ver. 1. (4) Singing to him. (5) Singing-Pſalme to him. (6) Diſcourſing of all his marvellous-works, ver. 2. (7) Glorying in the Name of his Holyneſſe. (8) Heartily rejoycing, &c. ver. 3. 2. To ſeek the LORD: viz to ſeek Communion with him in his Worſhip. Here is ſignified, what it is which they are ſpecially to ſeek in God, when hee is worſhipped, viz. (1) His Strength. His Sufficiency. (2) His Face. His Favour, and Efficiency. This ſeeking his face is amplyfied by the Adiunct conſtancy thereof, ver. 4. 3. To Remember, His Marvels, His Wonders, and The Judgments of his mouth, ver. 5. II. The Compellation of the Perſons thus Exhorted, is expreſſed, by their Relation to Abraham, and Jacob, ver. 6.

II. The Arguments, whereby the Seed of Abraham and Jacob, the Church of God, is provoked to Praiſe God, are drawn,

1. From their Covenant-Relation unto God.

2. From Gods Judgments manifeſted in all the Earth, on the behalf of his Covenant-People, ver. 7.

3. From Gods Covenant with their Fathers, ver. 8. to 12. Here are ſet forth, 1. Gods Conſtant fidelity in his Covenant, in all Generations, ver. 8. 2. The Nature of it, in ſundry Denominations; Covenant, Word commanded, to Abraham: Oath, to Iſaac: Decree, to Jacob, verſ. 8, 9. 3. The Federates. God on the one Part: Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, on the other, ver. 9, 10. 4. One principal Matter Covenanted to them; Giving the Land of Canaan for their Inheritance to them, &c. ver. 11.

4. From Gods Providential Diſpenſations to them and their Poſterity, in purſuance of his Covenant with them. Theſe Diſpenſations of the LORD towards them are Digeſted into three Periods or Intervals of time eſpecially, viz.

(1) Before they came into Egypt, ver. 12. &c. Where note, I. Gods ſingular Protection of their Fore-Fathers, ver. 12. to 16. This Protection is Amplyfied and Elegantly Illuſtrated (1) By the paucity of their number, inſufficient to defend themſelves. (2) By their Pilgrim-condition in the Land. (3) By their Adverſaries oppoſite power and multitude, ver. 12, 13. (4) By the ſufficiency, and manner of their Protection, which was not Vulgar, but with a priviledge of Singular Honour put upon them, as his Annoynted-ones, his Prophets, ver. 14, 15. II. Gods admirable Suſtentation of them in an extream Famine. Where note, 1. The Extremity of the Famine which he brought upon Canaan, ver. 16. 2. The Mean, or Inſtrument of their Suſtentation, Joſeph. Touching him Gods Providence wrought wonderfully, (1) In ſending him before, viz. to preſerve preserve the life of Gods Church and people, *ver.*17. begin. (2) In his most wise ordering and disposing of all his afflictions, *ver.*17,18. (3) In his strange delivering him out of all his afflictions and miseries, *ver.*19,20. (4) In his more strange advancing him to high Honour and power in the land of Egypt under Pharaoh, *ver.*21,22.

(2) Whilest they were in Egypt, *ver.*23. to 37. Here are related, I. Israels coming into Egypt. II. Jacobs sojourning in Egypt, *ver.*23. III. Gods multiplying them there greatly, and making them stronger then their enemies, *ver.*24. IV. The Lords leaving the Egyptians to hate them, and deale subtilly with them, *ver.*25. V. His sending Moses and Aaron to Egypt, for his afflicted peoples relief and redemption, by working Signes and Wonders there, *ver.*26, 27. The wonderful Plagues which they inflicted on the Egyptians are enumerated, but not in the Order in which they were wrought; As, 1. Darkness, *ver.*28. 2. Waters turned to blood, and Fish slain, *ver.*29. 3. Frogs, *ver.*30. 4. Flyes, 5. Lice, ver. 31. 6. Haile, with flaming fire, smiting and breaking their Trees, &c. *ver.*32,33. 7. Locusts, and Caterpillars, *ver.*34,35. 8. Death of the first-born, *ver.*36.

(3) When they went out of Egypt and afterwards, *ver.*37, &c. Here Gods Providential goodness to them is described several wayes, viz. 1. In the Manner of his bringing them forth. (1) With great riches. (2) With general strength of them all, ver. 37. (3) With full consent of the Egyptians extorted at last from them, *ver.*38. 2. In his conducting them through the Wilderneslle most wonderfully; (1) Covering them from the Suns heat, and directing them with a Pillar of Cloud by day. (2) Guiding them, and giving them light with a Pillar of fire by night, verse 39. (3) Feeding them, with Quailes for Flesh: with Manna for Bread, with Water out of the Rock plentifully flowing in the dry places as a River for Drink, *ver.*40.41. Their bringing forth, and this Conduct of them through the Wilderneſſe, are illustrated by their Special Cause, viz. Gods stability and fidelity in his Covenant, *ver.*42,43. 3. In his putting them into possession of the promised Inheritance of Canaan, *ver.*44. which is Amplified, by the End intended by God in bestowing this Mercy upon them; That they might be obedient to God according to his Word, *ver.*45.

III. The Conclusion of the Psalme, is that Hortatory provocation of all to the Lords-praises; Halelu-jah, *ver.*45.

Psalme CVI.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist 1. Exhorteth unto the Praises of God: Acknowledging Mans utter insufficiency thereunto, ver. 1. to 4. 2. Prayeth for the LORD's Favour and Salvation which he peculiarly is wont to manifest to his own people, ver. 4, 5. 3. Confesseth, in the name of the Church, their own sins: and their fore-Fathers many and great transgressions in Egypt, Wilderneſſe, and Land of Canaan, notwithstanding all Gods wonderful mercies to them, ver. 7. to 47. 4. Concludeth, with Prayer, and Praise, *ver.*47,48.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

I.

1. PRaise-yee-JAH. To the LORD confess,
For bee's good: For, [a] his Mercy's ay.
2. The LORD's [b] great-Acts who can express
All his due praise who can display?

3. O-blest they-that-keep judgement ever:
In all time acting equitee.
4. LORD[c] minde mee with thy peoples favour:
In thy Salvation visit me.

5. [d] That thine Elects good I may see,
That I may with thy Nation's joy
Rejoyce: With heritage-of-thee
That I may glory gladsomely.

II.

6. Wee with our Fathers all have sin'd,
Perversely-dealt, ungodly-done.
7. Our Fathers did not wisely-minde
Thy-wondrous-works in Egypt showne.

[e] Thy many Mercies they forget,
But at Sea, at Red Sea rebell'd.
8. For his Names sake hee sav'd them yet,
To make his might known and be bold.

a Heb. his loving-kindnesse for-ever.
b Heb. powers. mightinesses
c Heb. remember me with the good-will (or) favorable acceptation) of thy people.
d Heb. to see in the goodness of thine elect, to rejoyce in the joy of thy nation. To glory with thine Heritage.
e Heb. They remembred not the multitude of thy loving-kindnesses.

9. f The Red Sea he rebuk'd also,
And it was dry'd up waterless:
And through the deeps he made them go,
As through the droughty wilderness.

10. And them from hater's hand did save:
And them from hand of foe redeem.
11. But their distressers g watry-grave
Ore-whelm'd: Left was not one of them.

12. Then they believed in-his-words;
His-praise h they singing-did-relate.
13. They-made-haste, They forgat his works:
They for his Counsel did not wait.

14. But did in Desert lust a lust:
And God in wilderness did tempt.
15. And he to them gave their request:
But in their soul he leanness sent.

16. i At Moses they in camp envy'de:
And at Aharon Saint of the LORD.
17. The trembling Earth then opened-wide,
And Dathan k swallowing-up-devour'd:
And l overwhelmed utterly Abiram's Congregation.
18. And fire burnt in their company:
A flame burnt-up the wicked-ones.

III.

19. They Calf in Horeb made: Also
To molten-Idol bow'd alas.
20. And did their GLORY turn into
From of an Oxe, m that-eateth grass.

21. They God their Saviour did forget:
That-did in Ægypt mighty-things.
22. In land of Cham those wonders great:
And by the Red Sea dreadful-things.

23. Then, he said, n He would them destroy,
Had not his chosen Moses stood
In breach o before him: To-turn-by,
Form stroying them, his wrath*full-mood*.

24. Yea, they despis'd, p the pleasant land:
Not yet believe his word did they.
25. But in their Tents they murmured: and q Did not JEHOVAH'S voice obey.

26. Then, them in wilderness to fell,
To them he lifted-up his hand.
27. r Their seed in Nations to fell:
And scatter them into the lands.

28. And they Baal-peor were joyn'd-to
And ate dead-Idols sacrifice.
29. They by their deeds mov'd wrath also:
s The plague brake in on them likewise.

30. Then stood up zealous Phineas, t Did judgment: And the Plague did stay.
31. And it for Justice counted was
To him, u To all Gen'rations ay.

32. And at strifes waters they caus'd-wrath:
And x Moses fair'd ill for their sake.
33. For they embittered y his breath:
That with his lips he rashly-spake.

IIII.

34. The people they abolish'd not;
Of which the LORD to them had said.
35. But mixt themselves with Heathens lott:
And learn'd their works wherein they stray'd.

36. Their z doleful-Idols serv'd likewise:
And they to them were for-a-snare.
37. And they to Devils did sacrifice
Their sons likewise their daughters there.

38. And they shed guiltless blood, despis'd,
Their sons and daughters blood, whom they
To Canaan's a Idols sacrific'd:
The land with bloods b polluted-lay.

39. And by their works themselves they stain'd:
And with their own inventions whor'd.
40. Then at his folk the LORD'S c wrath
And he his heritage abhorr'd. (flam'd:

41. And into Heathens hand them gave:
d Their haters over-them bare-sway.
42. And them their foes oppress'd to grave:
And by their hand abas'd were they.

43. Them many times did he deliver,
Yet by their Counsel bitterly
They him provok'd: But they were ever
Brought-low by-their-iniquity.

44. Yet, e when distress on them did fall,
He saw: when-he-did-hear their cry.
45. And f did-to-memory-recall
His Covenant with them graciously:

And in his Mercies multitude
Concerning them repent he did.
46. And g tender-mercies to them shewed,
Before all that-them-captive-led.

47. Save thou us now, O LORD, our God,
Us also from the Heathens gather,
h Thine holiness Name to laud:
To glory in thy Praise together.

48. From ay and to eternal-ay
Still blest be Isr'els God the LORD:
Let all the People also say, gladly, Amen. Praise-ye-the-LORD.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion, &c.

This psalm, as to the matter of it, is of mixt Nature: being Laudatory, and Petitory. Laudatory vers. i. 2, 3, 48. Petitory, vers. 4. to 48. though in the Petitory part are are inserted many Arguments of praise to the LORD, for his many mercies to Israel, notwithstanding their many and great Rebellions against him. And as in the former Psalme, The LORD is praised for his Extraordinary mercy to his Church and People in his Covenant with Abraham and other Benefits. [h] So in this Psalme, he is praised for his Extraordinary Goodnesse, Clemency and Favour still continued towards them, even in his severest chastisements upon them for their iniquities, verse 8, 9, 10, 11, 23, 30, 43, 44, 45, 46. As to the Form of Penning it, This is an Untituled Psalme, as many others are [i]. And it is one of the Halelujatick Psalmes (as Augustine [k] stiles it,) both beginning and ending with, Halelu-jah, ver. 1 48.

Penman of this Psalme is not here expressed, nor elsewhere plainly and fully (that I know) in Scripture. Some do conjecture from ver. 47. that this Psalme was written in the time of the Babylonish Captivity: or at least in the wofull times of their dispersion by Antiochus Epiphanes afterwards [l]. And that consequently some Prophet, then living, Penned this Psalme. But the Matter of the Psalme, and the dispersion of the Jewes among the Heathens, ver. 47. need not be carried so farre: And under Antiochus times we shall hardly find any Prophet. Some think it was Penned in the times of the Judges, in whose dayes they were oft oppressed and delivered: From ver. 43. And that probably then Samuel wrote it. Or when the Philistines and other Heathens much afflicted Israel in dayes of Saul and David. See Psal. 60. Title. 2 Sam. 8, &c. [m] And then David seems to be Penman of it. For my part, I cannot think this Psalme was written so earely, as in Samuels dayes; or so late as in the time of the Babylonish Captivity, or Antiochus his Persecution: but rather that it was written by David as a Forme of Praise and Prayer which the Church of God might use in all times of their Affliction and dispersion among the Heathen [n]. For, That Psalme which David delivered into the hand of Asaph and his brethren, to thank the LORD withall, at the bringing up of the Ark into the City of David, 1 Chron. 16. 1. —— 7. Is Composed of divers Psalmes, as I have elsewhere [o] noted: And it is concluded with three verses, which are found in this present Psalme. Compare 1 Chron. 16. 34, 35, 36. with Psal. 106. 1, 47, 48. Only two or three words are altered. Whence in my judgment its more then probable, that David was Penman of it.

Occasion of his penning it, seemes to have been (as is formerly noted) some great thraldom and dispersion of the Jewes among the Heathen, ver. 47.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope herein intended, is; 1. Pathetically to Praise the LORD (in the name of the Church) for his extraordinary Mercy, Loving-kindnesse and Bowelmercies still continued in former ages most compassionately to his sinful people, even then when he was constrained most severely to chastise them for their many and great Provocations. 2. And to intreat the LORD for like favours and compassions to his now deeply distressed Church, though alike unworthy people.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Psalme, The Prophet layes down four things 1. An Exhortation. 2. A Prayer. 3. A Confession. 4. A Conclusion.

I. An Exhortation unto the praises of the LORD. Herein note, 1. The Manner of the Exhortation, its doubled: Praise the Lord, confess to him. 2. The ground of this praising him. (1) Partly, His goodnes. (2) Partly, the constancy of his loving-kindnes, ver. 1. 3. An ingenious acknowledgment of mans utter inability to praise the LORD sufficiently: Pathetically proposed by way of Interrogation, ver. 2. 4. The special Qualification of such as can duly praise the LORD, and their happines in that Qualification, viz. Constant Integrity of life and conversation, ver. 3.

II. A Prayer. Wherein consider, 1. The Mercies petitioned for, viz. (1) That the LORD would remember him (mentioned in Name of the Church, compare ver. 6, &c.) with the favour, which he is wont peculiarly to vouchsafe to his own people. (2) That he would visit him with his Salvation, and deliverance from misery, *ver.*4. 2. The Arguments whereby these Petitions are urged, are drawn from the fruits thence rebounding, viz. (1) Seeing the good of Gods chosen. (2) Rejoycing in the joy of his Nation. (3) Glorying with his Inheritance, ver. 5.

III. A Confession of sins: for the better exalting and magnifying of Gods former mercies, and for making way for future blessings here prayed for. Here are confessed, 1. The sins of the Church and people of God then living. Wherein they have wretchedly resembled their sinful forefathers, and justly deserved to be alike punished, verse 6. II. The sins of their Forefathers themselves (notwithstanding all Gods contrary mercy and goodness to them,) both 1. In Egypt. 2. In the wilderness. And 3. In the Land of Canaan, verse 7. to 47.

1. Their Sins in Egypt, 1. They understood not Gods wonders. 2. They remembred not the multitude of his Mercies, *ver.*7.

2. Their sins after they came out of Egypt, and in the wilderness. I. Their first Sin, Their Provocation of the LORD, by their unbelief, murmuring, &c. at the Red Sea. This sin is illustrated and aggravated, 1. By their oblivion of Gods former works, that might have prevented this sin, *ver.*7. 2. By Gods saving them at the Red Sea, notwithstanding. Which Salvation is amplified, by the impulsive Cause moving him thereto, viz. His own Name and Glory, *vers.*8. 3. By the miraculous way and manner of his saving them, there from the Egyptians; by drying up the Red Sea, but drowning all their enemies therein afterwards, *ver.*9,10,11. This wonderful Salvation is illustrated by the Effects which it wrought in Israel, (1) They then believed his words. (2) They sang his praise, ver. 12. II. Their second Sin, Murmuring for Water and Flesh, and thereby tempting God. Which is amplified, 1. By the Cause thereof, Forgetting Gods works, &c. ver. 13. 14. 2. By the place, where. 3. By the Manner how, *ver.*14. 4. By the consequent Effect thereof; Gods granting their desire, but with a Curse, ver. 15. III. Their third Sin, The Sedition of Dathan's and Abiram's company. Described by 1. The Cause of it, Envy. 2. The Objects of it, Moses and Aaron, ver. 16. 3. The Effects thereof, Gods dreadful Judgements upon the Offenders, (1) The Earth devouring some, *ver.*17. (2) Fire consuming others, ver. 18. IV. Their fourth Sin, Idolatry in the Golden Calf. Set forth, 1. By the place where the Calfe was made and worshipped, *in Horeb, ver.*19. 2. By the folly and brutishnesse of this their sin, ver. 20. 3. By the Cause of it, their forgetting God their Saviour, and his wonders in Egypt and at Red Sea, ver. 21, 22, 4. By the Effect, that had like to have ensued, viz. Their Destruction. Amplified by the Meanes hindering, viz. Moses his Intercession for them, ver. 23. V. Their fifth Sin, Contempt of the promised Land, and unbelief of his Promises. Set forth 1. By the Object of this Contempt and unbelief, The Land of desire, and Gods Word, ver. 24. 2. By the Manner of their Sin, murmuring, &c. ver. 25. 3. By the said Effect thereof, Gods severe Oath against them and their Seed, ver. 26,27. VI. Their sixth Sin, *Their Idolatry and Fornication with the Moabites, ver.*28. Amplified, 1. By the Effects ensuing thereupon, (1) Provocation of God. (2) The *Plague breaking in upon them, ver.*29. 2. By the removal of this Effect the Plague upon Phineahs his executing of judgement on Zimri and Cozbi. Which act of his, though not altogether regular, was yet justified and allowed by God, *ver.*30,31. VII. Their seventh Sin, Murmuring for water at Meribah, Amplified by the Effects thereof, viz. 1. Gods great displeasure. 2. Moses Provocation and Punishment, *ver.*32,33.

3. Their sins in the Land of Canaan, viz. 1. Not destroying the Canaanites, as God had commanded them, ver. 34. II. Contracting affinity with them, and so learning their works, ver. 35. III. Falling to most foule and horrid Idolatry, 1. Serving Heathenish Idols, ver. 36. 2. Sacrificing their Sons and Daughters to Devils, to the Idols of Canaan. So (1) Polluting the Land with innocent blood, *ver.*37,38. (2) Defiling themselves with this spiritual whoredom, *ver.*39. This their Idolatry is Illustrated, 1. By the Effects ensuing thereupon, viz. Gods wrath. Gods abhorring his own Inheritance. Gods delivering them into their enemies hands to be afflicted and oppressed, ver. 40, 41, 42. 2. By Events opposite to their deserts; Gods frequent deliverances of them from Calamities which by their provocations they frequently brought upon themselves, ver. 43. These Deliverances are Amplified and set forth, by (1) Their Adjuvant Cause; His Peoples Prayers, *ver.*44. 2. Their Principal Causes, Gods faithfulnesse and loving-kindnesse, whence he would performe his Covenant, notwithstanding their sins, *ver.*45. (3) The Manner of his working their Deliverance and Salvation, By stirring up even in their very enemies (after their hatred) Compassions towards them, *ver.*46.

In all this Confession, As Israels Rebellions are deeply aggravated by Gods opposite Mercies: So Gods Mercies are highly exalted and magnified by Israels opposite Rebellions and Provocations.

IV. The Conclusion of the whole Psalme, is Petitory, and Laudatory. 1. Petitory. The Church of God in her deepest afflictions, notwithstanding all her sins and unworthinesse, is encouraged to hope and pray for Salvation and Deliverance; from all these recited Mercies and Deliverances of God to their Rebellious Fore-fathers. And therefore they pray for, (1) Salvation. (2) Gathering from among the Heathens. Urging these Requests; Partly, from Gods Covenant-Relation to them. Partly, from the thanks and praise, that thereupon they shall be enabled to return to God, *ver.*47. 2. Laudatory. Wherein, in confidence and hope this Petition shall be granted, (1) The Psalmist proclaimeth the everlasting blessednesse of the LORD God of Israel. (2) Inciteth all the people thereunto to say Amen. (3) Exhorteth all to praise the LORD, *ver.*48. And as he ended this Fourth Book of Psalmes, So I close up this my Version and Exposition of this fourth Book, with Halelu-jah.

THE FIFTH BOOK,

Viz. OF

PSALMES.

THis precious Volume of Pſalmes, being by the Hebrews (as hath been formerly o manifeſted) diſparted into five diſtinct Books, may not improperly be ſtiled DAVIDs PENTETEUCH: i. e. Davids Five-fold-volume. The FIFTH and laſt BOOK OF PSALMES begins with Pſal. 107. 1. &c. and ends with Pſal. 150. 6. ——Halelu-jah. (As the three Firſt Books end with Amen and Amen: So the two laſt Books end with Halelu-jah p) This Fifth Book then comprehends in it xliiij Pſalmes: Having in it more Pſalmes for number then any of the four former Books, yea then both the third and fourth Book put together; and being longer then any of the other four Books. Of theſe fourty four P*ſalmes*, fifteen are by the Titles aſcribed to David, viz. Pſal. 108. 109. 110. 122. 124. 131. 133. 138. 139. 140. 141. 142. 143. 144. 145. None of the reſt are aſcribed to any other Penman, and moſt of them are without any Title at all prefixed in the Hebrew: and how many of them may certainly or probably be aſcribed to David, will beſt appear when the particular Pſalmes come ſeverally to be conſidered.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

1. The Pſalmiſt Exhorteth to the Praiſes of God, for his goodneſs and conſtant loving-kindneſſe to man, ver. 1. 2. He layes down the Cauſes of Praiſing the LORD, viz. His ſingular Providences to man-kinde: Partly, in the Redeeming and Delivering of (1) Exiles, diſperſed and wandring, ver. 2. to 10. (2) Captives, ver. 10. to 17. (3) Sick and afflicted perſons, ver. 17. to 23. (4) Sea-faring perſons, ver. 23. to 33. Partly, in many varieties of his Diſpenſations, ver. 33. to 42. 3. He concludes the whole, ver. 42, 43.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

I.

1. UNto the LORD do-yee-confeſs,
For he is ever good:
Becauſe a his-loving-bounteouſneſs
For-evermore hath ſtood.
2. The LORD's redeem'd in every land
Let them ſay ever ſo:
b Whom he redeemed from the hand
Of the-diſtreſſing-foe.

3. And gathered them out of the Lands,
From North and from the Sea:
From Eaſt and c Weſt, from all their bands,
4. In d ſolitary way,
They wandred in the Wilderneſs:
e No dwelling City found.
5. Hungry and Thirſty, ſuccourleſs:
Their ſoule in them, f did ſwound.

6. Then they unto the LORD did cry
In their extream diſtreſs:
And them he-ſet-at-liberty
Out-of-their-anguiſhes.
7. Them likewiſe he conducted-on
In right and proſprous way:
To City of Habitation
To come, and there to ſtay.

8. O let them to the LORD confeſs
His loving kindneſs then:
And all his wondrous-works expreſs
Unto the ſons of men.
9. Becauſe he hath the thirſty ſoule
Compleatly ſatisfied:
And he hath fill'd the hungry ſoul
With good, he did provide.

II.

10. h They-that in darkneſs ſit alone,
In ſhade-of-Death alſo:
In Iron and affliction,
Faſt bound with cords of wo.
11. Becauſe againſt the words of God
They-dealt-rebelliouſly:
The counſel alſo i they-down-trod
Of-him-that-is-moſt-high.

12. Then their proud heart he humbled
With moleſtation:
They ſuddenly down-ſtumbled
And helper there was none.
13. Then they unto the LORD did cry
In their extream diſtreſs:
And them he-ſet-at-liberty
Out-of their-anguiſhes.

14. Forth from the darkſomneſs beneath
He did them bring and take,
And from the diſmal ſhade of Death:
Their bands likewiſe he brake.

15. O let them to the LORD confeſs
His loving-kindneſs then:
And all his wondrous-works expreſs
Unto the Sons of men.

16. For he hath broke the Doors of Braſs:
And hewn k Iy'n barrs aſunder.
17. Fools, are for way of their treſpaſs Afflicted and brought under,
And for their great iniquities.
18. Their Soule abominates
All meate: They do approach likewiſe
To Death's amazing gates.

19. Then they unto the LORD did cry
In their extream diſtreſs:
And them he ſaved ſpeedily
Out-of-their-anguiſhes.
20. Hee ſends his word, for remedies,
Them likewiſe healeth he:
From their l corrupting maladies
He alſo ſets them free.

21. O let them to the LORD confeſs
His loving-kindneſs then:
And all his wondrous-work expreſs
Unto the ſons of men.
22. And Sacrifices ſacrifice
Of high triumphant praiſe:
Let them declare his works likewiſe
With ſhouting-joy always.

III.

23. m They that in Ships to Sea deſcend
That in great waters be
Where they their n labour do attend:
24. The LORD's rare works they ſee,
And in the deep his wonders finde.
25. For he but ſpeaks, (who ſaves),
And o raiſeth-up the ſtormy winde:
And it liftſ-up its waves.

26. p Mount-up unto the Heav'ns do they,
Down to the deeps they go:
Their trembling Soul doth melt away
In evil and in wo.
27. q They-reele and ſtagger up and down
Like to a drunken-one:
Likewiſe their wiſedom overthrown
Is ſwallowed-up and gone.

28. Then in their ſtrait they cry r to GOD:
And them he brings and takes
Forth from their anguiſhes, his rod.
29. The ſtorme ſ a calme he makes:
And quiet are the waves thereof.
30. Then they joy, and admire,
When they are ſtill: And them he leads
To Haven of their deſire.

31. O-

a Heb. his loving kindneſs or his mercy.
b Heb. whom hee redeemed them.
c Heb. from weſt.
d Heb. in ſolitarineſs of way.
e Heb. found not a city of habitation.

31. O Let them to the LORD confeſs
His loving-kindneſs then,
And all his wondrous-works expreſs
Unto the ſons of men.
32. Him alſo in the peoples Church
Let them exalt alwayes:
t Heb. ſeniors elders. In ſitting of t the Senators.
Him likewiſe let them praiſe.

IIII.

u Heb. putts to a wilderneſs.

34. Turns land of fruits y to barrenneſs?
For their malignity
That dwell therein, who come to nought.
35. He z turns the deſert to A a water Poole: The land of drought
To b water-Springs alſo.
36. And he the hungry ſeateth there:
And they that were in want,
c A dwelling City do prepare.
37. d Sow Fields, and Vineyards Plant:
And they fruit of revennewe yeild.
e Heb. make
38. Them alſo he do'h bleſs,
And they are greatly multiplide:
Nor their f flock makes-he-leſs.
f Heb. cattel.

39. And they by ill, grief, and reſtraint
Are miniſh'd, and bow'd-down.
40. On Princes he g doth poure contempt:

k Heb. obſerve keep.
And they ſhall-fully-underſtand
l Heb. or, loving-kindneſſes.
The l Mercyes of the LORD.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, &c.

This Pſalme is of mixt Kinde, being for the Matter of it, Hortatory and Laudatory, viz. Exhorting all ſorts of perſons to praiſe the LORD for his eminent and various Providences to the Sons of men; and for the form or manner of it, Untituled (as many others m are,) and Penned with two ſorts of verſes inſerted and divers times repeated, which are commonly called n the burden of the Song; This Pſalme hath a double burden, The one Narratory, of mens diſtreſſes, of their crying to the LORD therein, and of his ſaving them out of their anguiſhes, ver. 6. 13. 19. 28. The other Hortatory, inciting men thereupon thankfully to confeſs Gods loving-kindneſs and wonders to the Sons of men, ver. 8. 15. 21. 31. Some call theſe Amæbeon verſes o, Wherein one Anſwers another by turnes. In like manner, two other Pſalmes, viz. Pſal. 80. and 136. are Penned with ſuch Burdens of the Song interwoven, but ſomewhat differently p. And it is very obſervable that theſe three Pſalmes are for matter moſt Excellent; and for Form moſt Pathetical and vehement. And as Pſal. 103. 104. 105. and 106. Repreſent the Arguments of Gods praiſes, Ordinary and Extraordinary, as hath been noted q. So this 107*th*. Pſalme concludes this ſhort Penteteuch of Gods praiſes, with an Elegant Repreſentation of Gods ſingular and extraordinary Providences and wonderful diſpenſations to mankinde in General, as eminent and extraordinary Matter of Divine Praiſes.

q See on Pſ. 103 §. 3.

Penman of this Pſalme is not certainly known, and Interpreters are much to ſeek herein. Yet to me it ſeems probable, that David was Penman of it: For, 1. The firſt verſe, Confeſs ye to the LORD, for he is good, for his loving-kindneſs is for ever; is Davids Language in the Pſalme expreſly aſcribed to him, 1 Chron. 16. 7, 8. 34. and therefore its likely enough that Pſ. 106. 1. and 167. 1. and 118. 1. and 136. 1. wherein theſe words are uſed were all of them Penned by David. The Matter of this Pſalm is not limited to any times, perſons, or places, to render it unſuitable to David and his times: but rather is of ſuch General Concernment for all times and all ſorts of perſons, that it may agree to him and his times as well as to any other. Auguſtine thinks, this Pſalme was not Penned particularly for Iſrael, but alſo for the whole Church of God throughout the World r.

r Cantatur iſte de univerſa Eccleſia Dei diffuſa toto orbe terrarum. Aug. Enar. in Pſ. 106. Tom. 8.

Occaſion of writing it in Particular is not known to us; but onely in the General it is evident from the Subject-Matter of this Pſalme, that the Pſalmiſts ſerious conſideration consideration of Gods rare and wonderful Providences towards mankind, gave Occasion to him of penning this choice Psalme, for inciting all to praise and magnifie the Lord for his loving-kindness and wonders towards the sons of men in his providential Dispensations.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Psalm, is; to exhort and excite men to the praysing and glorifying of God, for his eminent loving-kindness and wonderful works towards the sons of men, in his providential Administrations of all sorts towards the outward man. For sundry wonderful providences being mentioned; This as the Burden of the Psalm is sundry times inserted thereupon; Let them confess to JEHOVAH his loving kindness, and his marvellous works to the Sons of Adam, vers. 8. 15, 21, 31. Especially they that have eminent experiences of such providences, should sing these praises.

f Si gustastis aviditate, Confessione eructate. August. in Enarrat. in Psal. 106. 1.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Psalm principally note, 1. An Exordium. 2. A Narration. 3. The Conclusion.

I. An Exordium, Exhorting all to confess unto God, to confess to him with prayses and thankfulness, for his goodness, and constant loving kindness, vers. 1.

II. A Narrative of the special Causes, why all should confess unto the LORD, and praise him, viz. Gods merciful and wonderfull Providence towards the Sonnes of men, especially in respect of the outward man. These Providences of the LORD are described, as discovering themselves; 1. Partly in some certain select and eminent Administrations. 2. Partly in variety of Dispensations.

1. In some certain select and eminent Administrations, for redeeming, and delivering, and preserving of persons in some sorts of distresses and extremities, vers. 2. to 23. viz.

(1.) Of dispersed and wandering exiles, vers. 2. to 10. Here for the better inciting unto thankfulness; The LORD'S mercifull and wonderfull Providences in delivering exiles out of their miseries, are illustrated. I. By the miseries whereunto exiles are exposed, As; 1. Oppression under the power of their Enemy, vers. 2. 2. Dispersion up and down the Earth, vers. 3. 3. Wandring in solitatiness in the Desert. 4. Privation of fixed City or Habitation, vers. 4. 5. Hunger and thirst. 6. Overwhelming trouble of soul, upon all, vers. 5. II. By the effect of these their Miseries, Crying unto the LORD: which notes fervency, vehemency of their complaints to him. III. By the manner of the LORD'S deliverances vouchsafed them, viz. 1. Seasonably, upon their crying to him, vers. 6. 2. Suitably according to the nature of their distresses, vers. 7. This is amplified by an inserted Exhortation to them, To confess thankfully the LORDS loving kindness and wonders to the sons of men, vers. 8. 3. Sufficiently and fully, according to the extremities of their wants and miseries, verse 9.

(2) Of captives, vers. 10. to 17. Here are also described, I. The misery of Captives, viz. sitting 1. In darkness; 2. In shadow of death; 3. Bound in cords and irons, vers. 10. II. The procuring causes of their miseries, viz. 1. Rebellion against Gods Word. 2. Contempt of his Counsels, vers. 11. whereupon he brought them to deep and helpless abasement. vers. 12. III. The effect of their misery, Their crying therein to the Lord. IIII. The LORDS deliverance of them out of their anguishes: 1. Seasonably, upon their cry, vers. 13. 2. Suitably, according to the nature of their miseries, vers. 14. which is illustrated by the Exhortation, To confess the Lords loving kindness, and his wonders to the sons of men, vers. 15. 3. Powerfully and Irresistibly, vers. 16.

(3) Of afflicted and sick persons, vers. 17. to 23. Here also note, 1. A sharp reprehension of such in respect of the cause of their affliction and sickness; Fooles. 2. The procuring Causes of their affliction and sickness, Their Sins, vers. 17. 3. Their great misery under their sickness, &c. (1.) Abhorring all sort of meat. (2.) Approaching to the Grave, vers. 18. 4. The effect of this their misery, their crying to the LORD. 5. The LORD'S deliverances of them out of their anguishes: (1) Seasonably upon their cry, vers. 19. (2) Suitably, suiting his remedies to their maladies, vers. 20. This is amplified by an inserted Exhortation to them, To confess his loving-kindness and wonders to the sons of men; To sacrifice sacrifices of Confession; To tell his works with shouting, verse 21. 22.

(4) Of Sea-faring persons, vers. 23. to 33. Here are delineated, I. Their misery in the tempestuous and troubled Sea. Where 1. They behold the LORDS' works and wonders, vers. 22. 24. 2. These works and wonders especially are; His Raising up the storm of wind, which strangely lifts up and makes rugged the Sea, tumbling and tossing them, vers. 25. 26. 3. They feel the sad and miserable ſcrable operation of the troubled Sea and ſtorm upon them, viz. filling them with overwhelming fears, v. 26. making them reele and ſtagger to and fro like a drunken man. And ſwallowing up all their wiſedome and Art of Navigation, that they know not what to do, but onely to commit themſelves to Providence, ver. 27. II. The effect of this their miſery and extremity; Their crying to the LORD. III. The LORD's Deliverance of them out of theſe extremities, 1. Seaſonably, upon their crying to him, verſ. 28. 2. Powerfully, making a perfect calm, verſ. 29. 3. Comfortably, and proſperouſly, ver. 30. This is amplified by an inſerted Exhortation to ſuch, To confeſs thankfully to the LORD his loving-kindneſs and wonders to the ſons of men, verſe 31. To exalt him in the Church of the People, and, To praiſe him in the ſitting of the Elders, for theſe deliverances, ver. 32.

2. In variety of the LORD's Diſpenſations. The LORD's Providence is moſt praiſe-worthy and obſervable in his various Diſpenſations and Changes which he effects here below. As, 1. Making fertile or fruitful Lands barren. The cauſe whereof is declared to be, The ſin of the Inhabitants, verſ. 33, 34. 2. Turning contrariwiſe a Barren into a fruitful land, verſ. 35. This is illuſtrated, (1.) Partly, By the comfortable and beneficial effects thence enſuing, viz. His changing of mans outward eſtate from great ſtraits and penury, to great abundance and plenty of all things, verſ. 36, 37, 38. (2.) Partly, by the oppoſite events upon them, whom God blaſteth and curſeth, verſ. 39.

3. Debaſing and pouring contempt upon Princes, diſhonouring them among men, verſ. 40.

4. Honouring, exalting and increaſing the poor and needy, from low to high degree, from ſmall to great number, verſ. 41.

III. The Concluſion of the Pſalme, wherein note, 1. The duty of all ſorts, or the effects that will enſue to all ſorts righteous and wicked in beholding theſe Providences of God. (1.) The righteous ſhall ſee and rejoyce at them. (2.) The wicked ſhall ſee and be confounded at them, verſ. 42. 2. The wiſdome of every one obſerving theſe merciful and wonderful adminiſtrations of the Lords Providence, (though the Interrogation, who is wiſe? and the enallage or change of number, who is wiſe——they ſhall underſtand, —— tacitly imply, that ſuch are very few,) ſuch have the promiſe of underſtanding the loving-kindneſſes of the LORD, verſ. 43.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion of this Pſalme.

This is An Entituled Pſalme, as to the Form of penning it: The Title declaring 1. The Denomination of it; A Song, A Pſalme. The reaſon of this twofold Denomination hath been touched formerly [m]: 2. The Penman of it; David. And it is of a mixed Nature, Partly Euchariſtical or Gratulatory; Partly Euchtical or Petitory, as to the Subject-matter of it. This Pſalm is compoſed of the latter parts of two other Pſalms, viz. Of Pſal. 57.7,8,9,10,11. and Pſal. 60 5. to the end: very few expreſſions being altered. So that the Subject-matter of this Pſalme, and of the latter parts of thoſe two Pſalmes is one and the ſame, as the very words for moſt part are one and the ſame. But why the ſame Matters ſhould thus be twice handled, is not ſo eaſie to be explained. If it may be lawful for me to conjecture from the matter of thoſe two Pſalms, of which this is compoſed, I ſhould think; 1. That when David penned, Pſal. 57. & 60. he was in ſome danger by Saul, and by the Edomites, as the ſad beginnings of thoſe two Pſalmes do ſomwhat notably imply unto us; yet he was not without much hope and confidence of overcoming them and prevailing, as the latter parts of thoſe Pſalms (whereof Pſal. 108. is made up) do evidently intimate: but when he penned this 108. Pſalm, he ſeems to have obtained a full victory over his dangers and enemies [n]. And therefore leaving out the beginnings of thoſe two Pſalms, which ſpeak more uncomfortably; he joyns together the latter parts of them which ſpeak more gladſomly, confidently, and triumphingly. Or, 2. That as David had expreſſed his prayer and thankfulneſs to God in thoſe two Pſalmes, for the hoped for beginnings of deliverance from K. Saul, and the Edomites ſeverally: ſo his thankful heart conſidering the greatneſs of theſe mercies, compleatly vouchſafed him, deſired again to expreſs his thankfulneſs to God for theſe mercies joyntly in Pſal. 108. wherein the choice gratulatory parts of thoſe Pſalms are joyned together. Hence we may take direction and encouragement to make up or compoſe a Pſalm of the parts of ſeveral Pſalms, whoſe matter is ſuitable and agreeable, as here theſe are. Occaſion, of this Pſalme is for ſubſtance the ſame with that of Pſal. 57. and 60. whereof it is compoſed.

m See on Pſal. 30. §. 5.

n See to this effect Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſalm 108.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Prophets Scope intended in this Pſalm is the ſame in part which is intended in Pſal. 57. and 60. viz. 1. To praiſe the LORD for his great mercy to him, againſt Saul in the Cave, and againſt the Edomites in the valley of Salt: 2. As alſo to pray unto him, and profeſs his confidence in him, for the more compleat perfecting and improving of received mercies.

§. V. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title repreſents to us, 1. The Denomination: 2. The Penman, of this Pſalme.
In the Subſtance of the Pſalme, note
1. Davids Provocation of himſelf unto Praiſe and thankfulneſs to the LORD for Mercies received when he fled from Saul in the Cave, Pſal. 57. tit. with 1 Sam. 24 1. &c. Herein are, 1. The Nature and Manner of his thankfulneſs, whereunto he incites himſelf, viz. (1) With his heart firmely prepared, (2) With his Glory, his tongue, awakened, ver. 1. (3) With his Muſical Inſtruments awakened. (4.) With his whole ſelf awakened at day-dawning, or awakening (i. e. prevening) the day-dawning, ver. 2. 2. The Extent of this his thankfulneſs, even to Jewes and Gentiles, ver. 3. 3. The ſpecial Perfections and Acts of God, which he will peculiarly praiſe, viz. His loving-kindneſs and truth: both amplified elegantly by their Greatneſs, ver. 4. All which he cloſeth up with an earneſt requeſt that God would, in behalf of David againſt his Enemies, exalt himſelf and his Glory above Heaven and Earth, ver. 9.

II. Davids

II. Davids Prayer for Gods Aſſiſtance, Deliverance, and Salvation by his right-hand, and by anſwering him. This is earneſtly preſſed by ſtrong Arguments, drawn from

1. Gods dear affection to him and his people, his beloved, ver. 6.

2. Gods faithful Promiſe, confirmed by his inviolable Oath, touching the certainty and ſtability of Davids Kingdom, &c. For brevity ſake, ſee the reſt of the Analyſis of Pſal. 60. from ver. 6. to the end, and apply it here. The Matter being the ſame.

Pſalme CIX.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David 1. Complaineth againſt his wicked, deceitful, ſlandering, and malicious enemies, verſe 1, to 6. 2. Poureth out dreadful imprecations againſt them, eſpecially againſt ſome one of them literally, and againſt Judas Prophetically; compare verſe 8. with Act. 1. 20. ver. 6. to 21. 3. Complaining of his own miſery, he prayeth for help, verſe 21. to 30. 4. Concludeth with Promiſes of thankfulneſſe, verſe 30, 31.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

To the Maſter-Muſician, A Pſalme of David.

I.

1. HOld not thy peace, God of my praiſe.
2. For opened-wide ar mee
Are both the wicked's mouth always,
And mouth [b] of falſitee:
With mee they ſpeak with tongue [c] of guile.
3. And compaſs'd mee about
With words of hatred all the while:
And cauſeleſs with mee-fought.

4. They for my love [d] mine-enemies-bee,
But I to Prayer go.
5. And ill for good they put on mee?
Hate for my love alſo.
6. O're him [e] as-viſiter-command
The wicked-one to ſtay:
And let [f] the-Adverſary ſtand
At his right-hand alway.

7. [g] When-ever-hee-ſhall-judged bee,
Let him forth wicked go:
His very prayer let it bee
Turn'd into ſin alſo.
8. His Office let another take:
Few be his dayes, and life.
9. Let all his Sons be Fatherleſs:
And widow make his Wife.

10. And wandring wander let his ſons
And-let-them-begg their bread:
And from their deſolations
Let them ſeek hard beſtead,
11. Let th' Creditour enſnaring-take
[h] All that hee-doth-poſſeſſe:
Let ſtrangers alſo [i] havock make
Of his laborioufneſs.

12. Extending mercy unto him
Let not be any one:
And favouring his fatherleſſe
On Earth let there be none.
13. [k] Be-ſentenc'd to excifion
Let his poſteritee:
In th' after Generation
Blot-out let his name bee.

II.

14. Let be remembred with the LORD
His Fathers wickedneſs:
Likewiſe let not be wiped-out
His Mothers ſinfulneſs.
15. Yea let-them-bee continually
Before JEHOVAH's eyes:
Let-him-cut-off the memory
Of them from Earth likewiſe.

16. Becauſe that he remembred not Kinde-mercy [l] to impart
But [m] poor and needy man purſu'd,
To ſlay the broke in heart.
17. He alſo curſing lov'd with ſpight,
And-to-him-let-it-come:
[n] In bleſſing he did not delight,
And him be it far from.

18. Likewiſe hee curſing as his Robe
Put on: And [o] let-it-go
Like waters to his inward-part:
Like Oyle his bones into.
19. As Garment to him let it bee
Whence hee-himſelf-may-cover:
And-for-a-Girdle [p] wherewith hee
May gird himſelf for-ever.

20. This be mine adverſaries [q] hire
Returned from the LORD:
And of thoſe that againſt my Soule
Do ſpeak an evil-word.

31. For at the needy-one's right-hand
Hee ſhall ſtand, to controule:
b And his Salvation-to-command
From Judges of his Soul.

b Heb. to ſave him——

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion, &c.

This Pſalme, as to the Kinde of it, is a Prayer; A Prophetical Prayer c, full of moſt dreadful Thunderbolts of Curſes againſt, not only the Pſalmiſts bitter, lying, ſlandering enemies, but alſo againſt the enemies of Chriſt and his Myſtical Body and Members.

Penman of this Pſalme, was David, as the Title expreſſeth.

Occaſion when, or whereupon David wrote it, is not particularly deſcribed. Some refer it to the time of Abſalom's rebellion, and that Achitophel is the perſon here principally curſed and devoted to miſery and deſtruction. Others rather refer it to the time of Sauls perſecution of David, when through the perfidious flatteries, malicious lies, ſlanders, &c. of Sauls Courtiers, Servants, &c. Doeg the Edomite and others (See 1 Sam. 21. and 22. and 23. &c.) David was brought oft-times into deſperate ſtraits, and perils of his life d. Nevertheleſs David in this Pſalme ſo repreſents his ſad afflicted condition by reaſon of his enemies, and by the inſpiration of the Spirit of God thundereth out many terrible curſes againſt them (like whereunto we ſcarce read in the whole Scriptures;) As that therein, He (as a Type of Jeſus Chriſt and of his perſecuted Body Myſtical and Members,) Prophetically foretels and denounceth the woful curſes and wrath of God that ſhould fall upon Judas for betraying Chriſt, and the Jewes for perſecuting and deſtroying him (Compare Pſal. 109.8. with Acts 1. 20.) as alſo the curſed condition which at laſt ſhall befall all the malicious, lying, ſlandering, reproaching, and perſecuting enemies of the Church and Members of Jeſus Chriſt e. And therefore, as David here flies to God, in midſt of all the injuries, falſe-accuſations, &c. heaped upon him by his enemies; knowing that God would fully protect him, and avenge him of them at laſt: So ſhould we in all like caſes make God our Refuge, knowing by theſe Prophetical Imprecations indited by the Spirit of God, that at laſt all the bitter, malicious, implacable enemies of Chriſt, his Church, and his Members ſhall utterly be deſtroyed.

e Etſi autem dubium non eſt quin de illatis ſibi injuriis conqueſtus ſit David: quia tamen aliam perſonam ſuſtinuit, propriè quicquid dicitur, in Chriſtum Eccleſiæ Caput competit, & in ſingulos fideles, quatenus ſunt ejus membra, ut injuſtè ab hoſtibus vexati cæleſtis ſui vindicis opem imploreat. Calvin. in Argum. 109.

Auguſtine alſo thinks this Pſalme is not to be limited to Judas, but to be extended as a Prophecy againſt all like wicked enemies of Chriſt, &c.—— Sed ſi de illo uno homine omnia quæ hic in malo dicta ſunt intelligere conemur, Expoſitionis ratio non omni modo, aut vix valebit occurrere. Sic enim de tali genere hominum malorum, id eſt, inimicorum Chriſti, ingratorumque Judeorum, omnia mihi videntur poſſe clarius aperiri. Aug. Enarrat. in Pſal. 108. Tom. 8.

§. IV.

§. IV. The Scope.

Davids Scope intended in this Pſalme, is; 1. Immediately, To pray unto the LORD, for his Protection and Defence againſt his malicious, deceitful, ſlanderous and wicked enemies, and to imprecate his juſt revenge upon them: 2. Mediately, To foretell the malicious, falſehearted, and wicked practiſes of the Jewes and Judas againſt Chriſt, and of other ungodly perſecutors againſt the Myſtical Body and Members of Chriſt, for Chriſts ſake; and to fore-prophecy the woful and curſed end of all ſuch at laſt, as was the portion of Judas and the Jewes, Act. 1. 16. to 21. 1 Theſ. 2. 14, 15, 16. That ſo the perſecuted people of God may not be too much diſmayed at the practiſes of their perſecutors, ſeeing God in due time will take vengeance of all their adverſaries.

§. V The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title expreſſeth, 1. The Denomination of it, A Pſalme. 2. The Penman of it; David. 3. The Direction of it, as to the Muſick——.

The Pſalme it ſelf hath in it chiefly four Principal Branches, viz.

1. An Exordium; wherein flying to God for relief he ſadly complaineth of his enemies. Herein are, I. His requeſt to God more Generally and Comprehenſively expreſſed. Where note, 1. The Deſcription of God; O God of my praiſe, i. e. whom I have cauſe to praiſe, for taking my part againſt mine adverſaries. 2. The Mercie which he beggs of this God; That God would not be ſtill, or ſilent in midſt of all his ſufferings from his Adverſaries, ver. 1. II. The Arguments whereby he urgeth this his Requeſt, are drawn from the vile Diſpoſitions and Deportments of his Adverſaries, 1. Being wicked and deceitful. 2. Calumniating him, impudently. 3. Belying him, falſly, ver. 2. 4. Compaſſing him about with words of Hatred, maliciouſly. 5. Fighting againſt him, cauſeleſly, ver. 3. 6. Recompenſing him moſt ingratefully, with Enmity for his Amity and Piety, ver. 4. with Evil for Good, with hatred for love, ver. 5.

II. A Dreadful Imprecation or curſing of theſe his Enemies, eſpecially of ſome notorious one amongſt them, under which, the Spirit of God Prophetically curſed the Jewes and Judas, Chriſts enemies, and all other enemies of his Church and people, ver. 6. to 21. Herein are,

1. The Imprecations themſelves. Wherein by the guidance of Gods Spirit, (which we by our private ſpirit may not lawfully imitate) he prayes for miſchief and evil, 1. Upon his enemies perſon, viz. (1) That he may be vexed and oppreſſed, by a wicked man, yea by Satan[f], ver. 6. (2) That he may be condemned by man, yea by God alſo, ver. 7. (3) That his dayes may be few. (4) That another may take his Office, ver. 8. this is peculiarly applyed to Judas, whoſe Office Matthias took, Act. 1. 16. to 21. 2. Upon his Wife and Children after his death, (1) That ſhe may be a Widow (2) That they may be Orphans, ver. 9. (3) That his Children may be Vagabond Beggers, his outward goods being wholly loſt and ſpoiled, ver. 10, 11. (4) That his Fatherleſs Children may be unpittied, ver. 12. 3. Upon his whole Family, that it may be totally extirpated, and the memory of it utterly obliterated, ver. 13, 14, 15.

2. The Reaſon of theſe Diſmal Imprecations; viz. 1. His enemies mercileſneſſe. 2. His cruel perſecution of the poor and needy and broken in heart, to ſlay him, ver. 16. 3. His not loving bleſſing; but curſing, and even clothing himſelf with it: Therefore it is moſt equal it ſhould be done to him, as he would have done to others, ver. 17, 18, 19.

3. The cloſe of the Imprecations, Sealing up all theſe Curſes upon his Adverſaries, ver. 20.

III. An earneſt Prayer contrariwiſe for himſelf, ver. 21. to 30. Wherein note, The particular bleſſings begged of God for himſelf. viz.

1. That God would do well with him, and deliver him. This he urgeth by many Arguments: As 1. For Gods Name's-ſake. 2. Becauſe his loving-kindneſs is good, ver. 21. 3. Becauſe his danger and diſtreſs is very much and great. This is Elegantly ſet down in an heap of particular Inſtances, ver. 22. to 26.

2. That God would help and ſave him according to his loving-kindneſſe, ver. 26. This is urged from the end he had herein, viz. That his enemies might know the LORD had done it, ver. 27.

3. That God would deal with him in a way contrary to the dealings of his Adverſaries, viz. Bleſſing him, when they Curſe him. Making him rejoyce, but clothing them with ignominy, ſhame, and confuſion when they riſe up againſt him, ver. 28, 29.

IV. A Concluſion, wherein, 1. David promiſeth vehemently to Confeſs unto the LORD, yea, to praiſe him in the midſt of the multitude, ver. 30. 2. He gives the Reaſon of this his Promiſe, viz. His aſſurance of Gods Protection of him, againſt theſe wicked Judges of his Soule, ver. 31.

[f] Hoc utique meruit, ſuper ſe habeat Diabolum, i.e. Diabolo ſubditus ſit, quia Chriſto ſubditus eſſe noluit. Aug. Enarrat. in Pſal. 108. 8. Tom. 8.

A Psalme of David.

1. THe LORD said to my Lord, Do thou
At-my-right-hand down-sit:
Untill I put thine enemies low,
The-foot-stool [a] of thy feet.
2. The LORD shall of thy strength the Rod Forth out of Sion send:
In midst of all thy foes abroad
6. [b] Do-thou-thy-Rule-extend.
3. [c] Thy people, in day of thy Power,
Most-willingly shall come,
In beauties of pure holyness,
From early-mornings wombe:
To thee the daw [d] of thy youth take
4. The LORD swore, [e] will change never;
Of th' Order of Melchizedeck,
Thou art a Priest for-ever.
5. The Mighty Lord at-thy-right-hand,
Shall in the dreadful day
Of his incensed [f] wrath, wound and Puissant [g] Princes slay.
6. Among the Heathen hee shall judge,
[h] Shall fill with bodies-dead
Their Coasts: Hee [i] over Countreys great Shall wound the ruling Head.
7. Hee of the torrent in the way
Shall drink abundantly:
Hee shall therefore in his great day
Lift-up the head on high.

e Heb. and will not repent.
f Heb. no-still.
g Heb. Kings
h Heb. hath filled with corpses.
i Heb. over a great land hath wounded——.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion.

This short Psalme, short in number of words, large in weight of Sentences (as Augustine [k] hath it) as to the Outward Forme of it, is an Entituled Psalme [l], As to the Subject Matter of it, it is a Prophetical Psalme, as many others are [m]. This is an Eminent Prophecy of the Person and Office of Christ, Matth. 22. 43, 44, 45. and so Eminent, that I think it will be very hard to finde so cleare and compleat a Prophecy thereof, in so few words, in all the Old Testament. The observation of D. Edw. Reynolds (whom for Honours sake I here mention, having ever since I knew him in Oxford had an high esteem of his singular Piety, Integrity, and great Learning) upon this Psalme, hath greatly pleased me, saying; This Psalme is one of the cleerest and most Compendious Prophecyes of the Person and Offices of Christ in the whole Old Testament, and so full of Fundamental Truth, that I shall not shun to call it Symbolum Davidicum, The Prophet Davids Creed. And indeed there are very few, if any, of the Articles of that Creed, which we all generally professe, which are not either plainly expressed, or by most evident implication couched in this Model. As.

1. The Doctrine of the Trinity, ver. 1 JEHOVAH, the Father: To my Lord, i. e. The Son Christ: said, viz. by the Holy Ghost, Sanctifying Christ to his Office. Compare Joh. 10. 34, 35, 36. with Psal. 45. 7. and Act. 10. 38.

2. The Incarnation of Christ; ver. 1. my Lord. Mine, My Son by Descent after the Flesh: and yet my Lord too, in regard of an higher Sonship. Thus Christ Expounds it, Matth. 22. 42, 45.

11. An holy Catholick Church, in ver. 2, 3. Gathered by the Scepter of his Kingdom. his Word and Spirit, from out of Jewes and Gentiles, and made Voluntiers to Christ.

12. The Communion of Saints, ver. 3. Christ conquered and gathered Voluntiers having sweet fellowship together in the beauties of Holyness.

13. The Remission of Sinnes, in ver. 4. For Christ as Priest dyed offering up himself a Sacrifice for our Sins, and for forgiveness thereof, Rom. 4. 25. 2 Cor. 5. 21. Eph. 1. 7. Heb. 9. 26.

14. The Resurrection of the Body, in ver. 1. For, Death is the last enemy that must be brought under Christs Feet, as the Apostle argues from this psalme: and therefore the dead must needs rise again, 1 Cor. 15. 25, 26.

15. Life everlasting, in verse 4. Implyed in his everlasting Priesthood. Hence, the Apostle inferreth the perfection, certainty, and perpetuity of our Salvation, from Christs living ever; and sitting at Gods right-hand, Rom. 6. 8, 11. and 8. 17. Eph. 2. 6. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4. 1 Cor. 15. 49. Phil. 3. 20, 21, 1 Thes. 4. 14. Heb. 7. 25. 1 Joh. 3. 2.

By all this its most conspicuous, that this Psalme, as to the Subject-Matter of it, is wonderful Precious and Excellent.

Penman of it, was not Eliezar servant of Abraham [o], but David as the Title expresseth, and Christ confirms: The Holy Ghost Inditing it, Mark. 12. 36.

Occasion of Davids Penning it, is not evident particularly. Some think, that David (as a Type of Christ) being commanded to fight the Lords Battels, and subdue his enemies, 2 Sam. 7. 1. &c. wrote this Psalme, Prophecying of Christs Conquests [p], whether that be so, or no, I shall not determine: But this I say, This Psalme so peculiarly agrees to Christ, as Christ himself hath taught us, Matth. 22. 43, 44, 45. Mark 12. 36, 37. Luke 20. 41, 42, 43, 44. That it cannot be interpreted of any other. And therefore the later Jewes, or others, who would interpret it of Abraham, or of David, or of King Hezekiah, are wilfully and sottishly blind: in the judgement of learned Interpreters [q].

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Prophetical Psalme, is: To foretell (for the singular support of David, of his Family, and of the Church of God in and after his dayes) The Supreme and Universal Kingdom of the Messiah, that should descend of him according to the flesh: His Eternal and unchangeable Priesthood after the Order of Melchizedech: The wonderful Effects of both, upon his Subjects, and upon all his enemies, enemies: And the States or way wherein Christ should act and effect all this, viz. His deep Humiliation and Passion, and his glorious Exaltation. As the series of the Psalme most clearly evinceth.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In the Title are set forth, 1. The Denomination of it; A Psalme. 2. The Penman of it, David.

In the Psalme it self is laid down a Compendious Prophecy of CHRIST's 1. Kingdom. 2. Priesthood. 3. The Effects thereof. 4. And his Humiliation and Exaltation wherein he acted those Offices to the producing of such Effects.

I. Of CHRIST's Kingdom. This is Prophetically foretold, described, and magnified. 1. By his Divine Ordination, Appointment, Unction or Obsignation to it; The LORD said Heb. —assuredly-said. Denoting the verity and certainty of Gods Saying, of the Fathers Word or Decree 2. By the Eminency of the Person of this King: (1) Most Great in himself; LORD. (2) Most neerely allyed in blood and nature to David, and to mankind; My Lord. 3. By the Glory, power, and Heavenly excellency of this his Kingdom. In the Administration whereof he sitts at Gods right-hand; Sitt thou at my Right-hand. 4. By the compleat victoriousnes thereof, And 5. By the Continuance of it, till all his enemyes bee utterly Conquered; untill I put thine Enemies the footstoole for thy feet, vers. 1. compare herewith, 1 Cor. 15. 24, 25, 26 6. By certaine Principal Regalities of Christ, viz. (1) His Scepter. viz. His Gospel-word, animated by the Power of his Holy Spirit, and accompanied with the influence of the Fathers Authority and blessing who sendeth it abroad into the world; The LORD shall send the Rod of thy strength out of Sion. The Word came out of Sion, Micah. 4. 2. and the Spirit out of Sion and Ierusalem, Act. 1. 4 and 2. 17. This his Scepter is illustrated by the Adjunct Power of it; The Rod of thy strength; and deservedly. For, The Word and Gospel is the Power of Christ, Rom. 1. 16. 2 Cor. 4. 7. and 10. 4. The Spirit also, is the Power of Christ, 1 Cor. 2. 4. 2 Tim. 1. 7. hence stiled the finger, and Arme of the LORD, Luk. 11. 20. Matth. 12. 28. Isai. 53. 1. His Scepter then is his Word and Spirit. (2) His Throne, whence this his Scepter is extended, is Sion, The Church of the Jewes; out of Sion. Sion was the Metropolitical-Church, the Mother-Church of all Churches. The Word was sent thence to all the Gentiles: (3) His Government, is safe, secure, undisturbed victorious Government, notwithstanding all his enemies round about; Rule thou in the midst of thine enemies, vers. 2. 7. By the many Subjects of Christs Kingdome recovered by his Scepter, maugre all his enemies malice. Touching these his Subjects here are fore-prophecied, (1) Their Relation to Christ, and his proper interest in them; Thy People. (2) Their willing, free, and ready Disposition or Inclination unto Christ and his Service, they as Voluntiers expressing their Universal subjection, Self-resignation, and Devotednes unto him; shall be willing. This their willing-disposition is illustrated by the Cause thereof, viz. The Power of Christs Spirit and Grace upon them in Revealing his Gospel unto them; In the day of thy Power. (3) Their honourable attire, or beautifull militar y robes wherin they are Voluntiers, appeare before him and attend upon him; In the Beauties of Holines. viz. Either in the comely-honours of the Sanctuary, that is, the comely places of the Sanctuary, The Church, as Psal. 29. 2. Or rather in the beautifull-Ornaments of Holines, the various and manifold Graces of Christ as a Garment of divers colours [r]. As the Priests were adorned with Garments for beauty and Glory, Exod. 28. 2, 40. Isai. 52. 1. Revel. 19. 8, 14. (4) Their age, multitudes, and manner of their Birth; Of the womb of the morning; to thee the dew of thy youth. Or; More then the womb of the morning; To thee the dew of thy Birth [r]. They are the dew of the morning, as many as the small drops of dew, and they are born to him out of the wombe of the morning (as Dew is generated, not on earth, but in the Aire,) by and Heavenly Calling, and by the shining of the Morning-Starre and day-spring from on high upon their Hearts, 1 Thes. 5. 5. vers. 3.

II. Of CHRIST's Priesthood, by the merit whereof hee purchased that kingdome to himself. This is Prophetically described, 1. By the Foundation of his Priesthood, viz. (1) Partly, Gods sacred Oath; The LORD hath sworn. (2) Partly, Gods Immutability of Counsel herein; and will not repent. Hence, the Apostle inferrs, That Iesus was made Surety of a better Testament, Heb. 7. 20, 21, 22. 2. By the Nature or Quality of his Priesthood; not temporal, but an eternal Priesthood; Thou art a Priest for ever. Hence again the Apostle inferres; But this man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable Priesthood, &c. Heb. 7. 24, 25. 3. By the Order of it. Not Aaron's, but Melchizedeck's; after the order of Melchizedeck, vers 4.

III. Of the Effect of Christs Kingdom and Priesthood powerfully Administred, viz. His Conquest of all his enemies, though never so potent or Numerous. This Conquest of Christ is here prophetically described in such manner as if it were done already, to denote the certainty of it. In this description of his victories note, 1. The Person Conquering; The Lord. 2. The Place where hee shall be, when hee shall obtain his Conquests; At thy right hand. This is an Apostrophe or elegant turning of the speech: and it may be spoken, either To God the Father, at whose Right hand Christ sitts, as vers. 1. Or, To the Church and people of God, at whose right hand Christ stands, for their Protection, Defence, &c. as Psal. 109. 31. and 16. 8. Isai. 31. 13. 3. The season or Time when Christ shall execute his judgments upon, and obtain Victoryes over his Enemies; In the day of his wrath, viz. When the full and set time of his wrath shall become, and and when his Enemies are fully ripe for his judgements. t The Powerful and victorious Acts which he shall exert or put forth against and upon his Enemies, viz. Wounding them, or imbrewing them in blood, or making them gore-bloody, or striking them thorough, the same Heb. word is here used twice, which notes a compleat Victory, or full confusion of the Enemy. (2) Judgeing them. Not with Government, as Deut. 32.36. But with Punishment, as Gen. 15.14. He shall execute Judgement of condemnation upon them. 5. The Objects of this his Victorious vengeance, his various Enemies, viz. (1) Kings. viz. His most Potent and mighty Enemies, whether Spiritual, or Carnal. Satan, World, &c. (2) Heathens, viz. The multitude of his contumacious Enemies among the Gentiles, rebelling against his Gospel: as Gog and Magog, Ezek. 39. Rev. 20.7,8,9. (3) The Head over a great land, or Country. That is, Either the Principal of his enemies every where. Or, Satan, the God of this World; The Prince of the power of the aire, that ruleth in the Children of disobedience, 2 Cor. 4.4. Ephes. 2.2. Or, Antichrist, the Head of Nations, the chief of Christs Enemies, Revel. 13.7, 8. and 14.8. and 17.15.18. Whom the Lord shall consume with the Spirit of his mouth, 2 Thes. 2.3, 8. and take him, and cast him alive into the Lake of fire, Revel. 19.20. &c. 6. The greatness and speediness of these victories of Christ, over all his enemies; He shall fill (viz. all places) with dead bodies. That is, Christs victories shall be so Universal and speedy, That the enemy shall either have none left, or shall not have ability or leisure to bury their dead Corpses, verse 5, 6.

t The time when Christ will execute wrath upon his and his Churches Enemies, is called the year of Recompenses for controversies of Sion, Isai. 34.8. The time to have mercy upon Sion, yea the set-time, Psal. 102.13. Christ hath a day of wrath, a prefixed and constituted time when he will be avenged of the greatest and most numerous of his Enemies. Now this time is bounded by these considerations.

1. When the sins of his Enemies are grown ripe, and their hearts most proud and insolent against God and his People, Psalme 119.126. Gen. 15.16. Jer. 51.13. Joel 3.13. Isai. 33.8.11. Sins ripeness and fulness is evident, 1. By the Universality of it, when an whole Land is filled with it, that there are none to intercede or stand in the Gap, Jer. 23.10,11. Ezek. 1.17. Jer. 3.3. and 5.1.-6 Isai. 48.4. Ezek. 22.25. to the end. 2. By the Impudency of it. When sin is most bold and outragious, without fear, modesty, or restraint, breaking all Bonds, and like a raging Sea over-running the Banks, Isa 3.9. Rom. 1.24.26. Isa. 69.27. 3. By the obstinacy of it. When sin is stubborn and incorrigible, the remedy rejected, &c. 2 Chron. 36.16.

2. When Gods people are throughly humbled and purged by their Enemies afflictions, Isa. 10.12. and 27.7. when God will judge his Enemies and deliver his people, he stirs up abundantly their hearts to pray for it, Psal. 102.16,17. Dan. 9.2,3. but when he will destroy a people, he suffers not his Saints to pray, Jer. 14.11.

3. When all humane hopes and expectations are gone, when a people is so broken and brought low, that they have no courage, means, succours or probabilities left, then is Gods time to deliver his Church, and punish his Enemies, Deut. 32.36. Psal. 68.20. and 109.31. Isai. 33.7. to 13. See Edw. Reynolds in his Explic. of Psal. 110. 5. 6. p. 503. to 507. Lond. 1632.

IIII. Of Christs state and condition, wherein he should act these his Offices, and effect thereby these great things, recovering such Subjects, and subduing all his enemies: viz. 1. His deep state of Humiliation, or his passion; He shall drink of the Brook in the way. Brook, notes his sufferings, passion, afflictions, &c. as Psal. 18.4.5. and 42.7. and 69.1. and 124.4.5. Isa. 30.33. Revel. 19.20. His Drinking devotes the abundance of wrath and afflictions that he did undergo, not onely outwardly, but even inwardly. In the way, may note, either in Christs way to glory: or in mans way from Earth to Heaven, which was unpasseable for Man till Christ had cleared the way, and as it were taken upon him that wrath and those sufferings that lay in the way, in the midst as it were betwixt Earth and Heaven. 2. His exaltation of himself, of his head above all these waters, above all these sufferings in the way, viz. by his Resurrection, Ascension, &c. as Luke 24.26.46. Phil. 2,8, 9. 1 Pet. 1.11. therefore shall he lift up the head, vers. 7.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion of this Pſalme.

Here begins (as ſome [l] think) הלל הגדול Halelu-jah Magnum, The Jewes GREAT HALELU-JAH, or GREAT HYMNE, Containing theſe eight Euchariſtical Pſalmes, viz. Pſal. 111. 112. 113. 114. 115. 116. 117 and 118 In the Hebrew, three of theſe begin with Halelu-jah, viz. 111. 112. 113. one both begins and ends with Halelu-jah, viz. 113. Three end with Halelu-jah, viz. Pſal. 115. 116. 117. The other two, viz. Pſal. 114. and 118. neither begin nor end with Halelu-jah. But in the Greek Verſion of the Lxxii Ἀλληλούϊα, Halelu-jah, is prefixed to all theſe eight Pſalmes. Some others [m], ſuppoſe this GREAT HALELU-JAH contained only ſix of theſe Euchariſtical Pſalmes, beginning at Pſal. 113. &c. But I ſhould rather incline to the former Opinion: 1. Partly, becauſe the Subject-matter of all theſe eight Pſalmes is Euchariſtical, The Matter of the Pſalmes foregoing and following being of different Nature and Matter. 2. Partly, becauſe, as to the outward Forme of Penning theſe in the Hebrew, all theſe except two (whereof there is no doubt but they were part of the GREAT HALELU-JAH, viz. Pſal. 114. and 118.) begin, or end, or both begin and end, with Halelu-jah. 3. Partly, becauſe theſe eight Pſalmes were very ſuitable to the Jewes deſign of giving thanks to God in their three Solemn Feaſts, wherein all their Males were obliged to appear before the LORD with their Gifts, viz. The Feaſt of Unleavened Bread, of Weeks, and of Tabernacles, Deut. 16. 16, 17. Exod. 23 14. to 18. At the Feaſt of Unleavened Bread, they were thankfully to remember their Redemption out of Egypt: At the Feaſt of Weeks, or Pentecoſt, The giving of the Law, when a tribute of firſt-fruits was thankfully to be preſented to God, Deut. 16. 10, 12. At the Feaſt of Tabernacles or In-gathering, they were to bleſſe God for compleating their Harveſt, &c. Now in theſe three principal Feaſts and in the New-Moones the Jewes were wont to ſing this GREAT HALELU-JAH with greater Solemnity then all the reſt of the Pſalmes. Moreover in the night of the Paſſeover when the Paſchal-Lamb was eaten, after the eating thereof ſitting down at the Table, they Solemnly did ſing this HYMNE. And this is thought to be the Hymne which our bleſſed Saviour and his Apoſtles ſung after his laſt Paſſeover, and after the Inſtitution of the LORDS SUPPER, Matth. 26. 30. As I have formerly touched in my Preface before theſe Pſalmes, §. VIII. Theſ. 2. And ſome are of Opinion [n], That this Pſalme, and theſe ſeven that follow, were written by David purpoſely, that therewith the Jewiſh people, in their Solemn Aſſemblies (See Pſal. 111. 1, and 116. 18, 19, & 118. 19, 20.) might thankfully praiſe the LORD, eſpecially in their three Solemn Feaſts, for eminent Mercies received from the LORD, as their redemption from Egypt, preſervation in the Wilderneſs, Introduction ino Canaan, &c.

l Alii exiſtimant Hymnum illum (Magnum) incipere à Pſal. 111. Juxta Hebræos, cujus initium; Confitebor tibi Domine, &c. ſicque octo Pſalmi conſtituerent illum Hymnum quem Judæi vocare ſolent, Halelu-jah Magnum, הלל הגדול in libro præceptorum. f. 118. Iſraelitæ cantabant hunc Hymnum in memoriam liberationis ex Ægypto & introductionis in terram Canaan (de qua Pſ. 111. & 114) ut & Promiſſionis de Meſſia (de qua Pſ. 118 agit): Sed Chriſtus hoc Hymno beneficia N. Teſtamenti prædicat, ſiquidem agni Paſchalis Antitypum, Sacramſc. cœnam jamdū inſtituerat & adminiſtraverat, qua de re procul dubio occaſione hujus Hymni Diſcipulos erudiit. Gerh. Harv. Evangel. de Paſſion. &c. cap. 1. p. 3. b. Genev. 1628.

m Paulus Burgenſis in Pſ. 112. qui eſt 113. ſic ſcribit; Iſte Pſalmus cum 5. ſequentibus uſq; ad Pſalmum, Beati immaculati, excluſivè, vocatur ab Hebræis HALELU-JAH MAGNUM, h. e. Hymnus Magnus, de quo ſingularem faciunt ſolennitatem. Nam in tribus Feſtis præcipuis, & neomeniis ſtantes iſtum Hymnum cum majori cantant ſolennitate quam cæteros Pſalmos totius Pſalterii. Inſuper in nocte Paſchæ quando agnus Paſchalis comedebatur, poſt ejus Comeſtionem recumbentes ad menſam ipſum Hymnum ſolenniter dicebant. Unde de hoc Hymno exiſtis 6. Pſalmis compoſito intelligi debet illud quod imminente paſſione, Matth. 26. legitur, Hymno dicto exierant, &c. eo quod Chriſtus poſt agni Paſchalis comeſtionem hujuſmodi conſuetum ritum ſervans Hymnum prædictum cum Apoſtolis recitavit. Quod eſtam Hebræi hodiè Agno Paſchali carentes in illa nocte Paſchæ iſtum Hymnum cum azymis ſolenniter, ut poſſunt, Cantant. Gerhard further adds hereunto; Cumq; Burgenſis ex Judæis fuerit converſus, ideo de hoc ritu certi quippiam am eidem constare potuit. Burgensis sententiam approbat Justinianus Episcopus Nebrissensis, qui edidit Psalterium quinque Linguarum. Dersius lib. 7. Observ. 15. annotat. Judæos quamvis agno Paschali calentes in nocte Paschatos istum Hymnum cum azymis solenniter, prout possunt, etiamnum hodie cantare. Jo. Gerhard quo supra. [n] Videtur hic Psalmus & aliquot sequentes in hunc usum conscripti esse à Davide, ut in publicis & solennibus Festis, quando populus universus Hierololymam convenichat, de cantarentur: præcipuè verò in Festo Paschalos ad esum Agni Paschalis hic Psalmus accommodatus est. Erant enim tria apud Judæos solennia Festa, divinitus instituta, ut memoria beneficiorum Divinorum, quæ populo Judaico exhibita erant, quotannis renovaretur, & Deo pro his publicè gratiæ agerentur, &c. Hen. Molterus in Argum. Psal. 111.

This Psalme 111. As to the outward Forme of it, is an Untituled Psalme [o], without any Hebrew Title prefixed, besides Halelu-jah. It is also An Alphabetical Psalme, every Sentence beginning with a distinct Letter of the Hebrew-Alphabet: There being two Letters in every verse beginning the Sentences, as ℵ and ב in verse 1. ג and ד in verse 2, &c. except in the two last verses, wherein are three Sentences and three Letters beginning them in each. Which two last verses thinks Calvin might, agreeably enough to the Matter, have been divided into three verses: and so the Alphabet had been expressed exactly [p]. But Muis his Notion (if not too dilute) is, That the two last verses were purposely thus ordered, with three Sentences and three initial Letters in each, that so there might be but just ten verses, according to the number of the ten Commandements, ten being a perfect number: otherwise there had been eleven verses. The like also is done in the next Psalme [q]. But another is of opinion that both the Alphabet in this Psalme, and the ordering of the two last verses, import some singular excellency in the Musick in this Psalme, and so in the next, if we could possibly finde it out [r]. The Alphabet is more exactly placed upon this Psalme then upon any of the former Alphabetical Psalmes, viz. 25. 34. 37. (as is obvious to him that will compare this with them:) whence Hierome counts this the first Alphabetical Psalme [s]. The Alphabet seems intended rather as an help to the Memory, then to the Musick: The Alphabetical Psalmes being among the rest most Choice and Eminent, as rich Diamonds in a Jewel, &c. As to the Subject-Matter, This Psalme is Eucharistical and Gratulatory; in respect of Gods many Eminent Works toward's man, towards Israel, giving thanks to him and praising him.

Penman of it probably was David.

Occasion whereupon, or time when, it was penned, is not particularly evident.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Psalme, is; To celebrate the LORD with due Praises for his most Excellently Glorious and Gracious Works, manifested especially to his own people Israel, in Egypt, the Wilderness, and Canaan.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

This Eucharistical Psalme contains

I. An Exhortation of all Gods people to praise the LORD; Halelu-jah, Praise-yee-JAH, ver. 1. begin. This Exhortation is urged by the Psalmists own Example propounded herein for their encouragement and imitation. In which example are set forth 1. The object of his praise; IEHOVAH. 2. The Act of his praise resolved upon; I will confess [t]——. 3. The Manner of it; with the whole heart. 4. The solemnity of it in respect of place; in Councel of the righteous and in the Assembly, viz. for the Churches edifying, ver. 1.

II. A Narration of the Arguments or Causes, why the LORD is thus to be celebrated by himself and others, viz. These are the Matter and Grounds of Gods Praises,

1. The Supereminent Excellency of the LORD's Works, in General, viz. His Works of Creation, and Providence [u]. These are illustrated by sundry Adjuncts. As 1. Their Greatnesse. 2. Their desireableness, for all their delights. Or, of all that delight therein. The Hebrew may bear both Interpretations. Sought-out [x], ver. 2. 3. Their Glorious-Majesty, and Honourable-dignity. 4. Gods constant and perpetual Justice in them, ver. 3.

t Non semper peccatorum confessio est: Sed & laus Dei devotione confessionis exprimitur. Illa luget: hæc gaudet. Illa medico vulnus ostendit, hæc de sanitate gratias agit. Aug. Enar. in Psal. 110. Tom. 8.

u Hen. Molter. in Com. ad Psal. 111. 2.

x Sought-out] that is, regarded and cared for; So Isa. 62. 12. a City sought-out, that is, cared for, as Deut. 11. 12. Or, Sought-out] that is, found, or manifested unto, as Isa. 65. 1. Compared with Rom. 10 20. Or, Sought] that is, worthy to be sought. As, Praised, Psal. 18. 4. for praise-worthy. Of all that delight] or, for all their delights, that is, The delights and pleasures of Gods works are such, as they are worthy to be sought into. The Original may bear either sense. H. Ainsworth Annot. on Psal. 111. 2.

2. The singular worthinesse of his Works in particular, towards his people Israel, viz. I. In bringing them out of Egypt by his most Memorable Marvels or Wonders. This is illustrated by the impulsive Cause thereof, viz. The Lords 1. Graciousnesse. 2. Pitifulnesse towards his people there oppressed, ver. 4. II. In providing for them and sustaining them afterwards with all Necessaries in the Wildernesse. He hath given a Prey to his Fearers. The word may be rendered A Prey, A Portion, Meat, &c. and so Interpreters abound in their own sense; Some refer it, To the Paschal-Lamb, Mannah, &c. Some to the Spoiles of the Egyptians, and of other Enemies conquered in the Wildernes, which Israel carried away as a Prey. I see no inconvenience in taking the word comprehensively, as implying all the Provisions, Portions, and Supplies which God vouchsafed Israel from Egypt till they came to Canaan. This is Amplyfied, 1. By the Object of this his Goodness, viz. His Fearers. To them peculiarly: and to others (though wicked) among them, for their sakes. 2. By the reason of it: His Constancy in his Covenant to Abrahams Seed, and Israels Posterity, ver. 5. III. In bringing them into the Land of Canaan, and giving them the Inheritance of the Heathens. This is Amplyfied, 1. By the mighty power of his Acts therein shewed to Israel, ver. 6. 2. By his Truth and Judgment in these Acts. 3. By the Faithfulnesse, Firmnesse, Truth, and Righteousnesse of all his Precepts, especially shining forth in these his Dispensations, ver. 7, 8. IV. In Redeeming his people, even after they came into Canaan, often from their Enemies, and distresses. This is illustrated, 1. By the cause hereof; His constant fidelity in his Covenant: especially, his Covenant of the Commandements, which he had commanded at Mount Sinai. 2. By the Description of him and his Name, who hath done these great things for his People. It is he, whose Name is Holy and Fearful: and therefore most devoutly to be sanctified, Feared, and Reverenced, for all his works and wayes, ver. 9.

III. The Conclusion of the Psalme, Containing three Propositions, viz. 1. The feare of the LORD is the beginning of Wisdome. Thus Gods feare hinted in the ninth verse is magnified. 2. A good prudency or understanding have they that do them, viz. Gods Covenants and Commandements. Thus the Fear of the LORD is expounded: It stands in worshipping God according to his Commandements, and doing them. 3. The Praise of the LORD is perpetual: Thus the intent of this Psalme is attained, in proclaiming Gods magnifical and eternal Praise. Some referre this praise, to him that feareth God and keepeth his Commandements: which hath a Truth in it, but seems not here so fitly applyed, ver. 10.

Psalme CXII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

An Exhortation to Praise the LORD, for his Goodness to the godly man. 1. This godly man is described, verse 1. 2. His happiness is declared and praised in many particulars, verse 2. to 10. 3. His felicity is illustrated by the contrary unhappiness of the Wicked, Envying at his Prosperity, and his desire perishing, verse 10.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion—.

This Pſalme, as to the Subject-Matter of it, is Euchariſtical; Exhorting to the Praiſes of God, as the firſt word, Halelu-jah, imports. It is the Second Pſalme in the Jewes GREAT HALELU-JAH, or GREAT HYMNE. As in the former Pſalme the LORD is praiſed, for bringing Iſrael out of Egypt, ſuſtaining them in the Wilderneſs, bringing them into the Land of Canaan, and often Redeeming there, &c. So in this Pſalme the LORD is praiſed for his bleſſings beſtowed upon the Godly, whereby he makes them an happy people. In the former Pſalme, is ſet forth Gods Goodneſs and Faithfulneſs to Iſrael according to his Covenant with Abraham, &c. In this, The happineſſe of Iſrael by fearing this God and keeping his Commandements delightfully, as Gods Covenant engaged them. As to the outward Forme of it, it is untituled: unleſs the firſt word Halelu-jah may be accounted a kinde of prefixed Title. It is alſo an Alphabetical Pſalme, ordered in the ſame manner exactly as the former in all the ten verſes [n]. And it ſeems (in the judgment of ſome) to be nothing elſe but an Exegeſis of the laſt verſe of the foregoing Pſalme; The fear of the LORD, &c. The beginning of this Pſalme ſo plainly anſwering to that verſe. It being expounded in this Pſalme, How happy that man is that feareth the LORD, and keepeth his Commandements.

The Penman of this Pſalme is not here or elſwhere diſcovered: but David moſt probably is thought to be the inſtrumental Author of it.

The Occaſion of Davids writing it is not particularly notified: but in the General it is conjectured [o], that the former Pſalme with this and thoſe that follow were penned by David to be ſung in the Temple, when the people met there at the three ſolemn Feaſts eſpecially, in memory of Gods delivering Iſrael from Egypt, &c. as in Pſal. 111. 114. and of many other his mercies [p], as in Pſal. 112, 113, 115, 116, 117, 118.

n See Pſalm 111. §. 3.

o Hic Pſalmus——— nihil videtur eſſe aliud, quam exegeſis poſtremi verſus illius Pſalmi, Initium ſapientiæ timor Domini, &c. id quod dico propter hujus Pſalmi initium, quod ad illum verſum planè reſpondet. Exponitur in hoc carmine, quam ille beatus ſit, qui Deum reveretur, ejuſque mandata ſumma voluntate exequitur. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 112. In iſtis porro apparet concinna quædam connexio inter iſtum Pſalmum & antecedentem. Ibi enim in fine, Reverentia Dei, & Obedientia Commendatur: Hic autem felicitas prædicatur eorum qui Deum reverentur & voluntatem ejus obſervant. Ita ut iſte Pſalmus ſit illius veritatis probatio ac illuſtratio. G. Ameſ. Lection. in Pſal. 112. in Analyſ.

p Hen. Moller. in Arg. Pſal. 111.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Pſalme, is; To excite men unto the Praiſes of God, for his manifold goodneſs unto thoſe that fear God, and delight greatly in the keeping of his Commandements, whereby he makes them exceeding happy in this preſent life, to the envy, pining-away, and utter diſappointment of wicked men beholding their proſperity.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Psalme are

I. An Exhortation to Praise the LORD; Halelu-JAH.

II. The Argument or Subject-Matter of this Praising the LORD, which is drawn from the eminent Happiness of the Godly, even in this present life, ver. 1. &c. Now here,

1. The truly godly man (to whom this happiness belongs) is Described: viz. 1. By his fearing of the LORD. 2. By his delighting in his Commandements, viz. to do them. Which Delight is amplyfied by the eminent degree of it; vehemently, ver. 1.

2. The Happiness of this godly man, asserted so emphatically, ver. 1. O the happiness of the man fearing the LORD, &c. is Declared, by an induction of Gods many Blessings performed or promised to the godly (godliness having the Promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come, 1 Tim 4. 8. 2 Cor. 1. 20. Matth. 6. 33.) These promised blessings are, 1. The mightiness of his Seed on Earth, and of the Generation of the upright; through divine blessing, ver. 2. 3. His sufficient wealth and riches in his house: through the constancy of his righteousness, v. 3. 4. His light of comfort, joy, prosperity, &c. arising to him in darkness of discomfort, grief, adversity, &c. And this through Gods Graciousness, Compassionateness, and Justice [q], ver. 4. 5. His ability and willing inclination to exercise Humanity, in acts of kindness and lending: prudently managing all his affaires with judgment, ver. 5. 6. His constant and unmoved stability in all perils and temptations: Hee still remaining to everlasting memory, ver. 6. 7. His unshaken courage and comfort against all inordinate feares, through any Hear-say, evil tidings or rumours. This is illustrated, (1) Partly, by the Cause thereof; viz. His trust or affiance in the LORD, fixing his heart, ver. 7. (2) Partly, by the event of his hearts establishment against such fears, viz. At last his seeing his desire upon his Distressers, after his faithful waiting on God, ver 8. 8. His great liberality and bounty to the poor. Amplyfied by the effects thereof, viz. (1) The perpetual memory of his righteousness. (2) The high exaltation of his Horne, (that is, of his power, glory, dignity, &c.) with honour, thereupon, ver. 9.

3. This great and manifold happiness of the godly man is emphatically illustrated by the opposite unhappiness or wretchedness of the wicked man, manifested two wayes: viz. 1. In his malignity and malicious envy at the felicity and prosperity of the godly beheld by him. The torture of which envy is expressed by the effects thereof; (1) Gnashing of his Teeth. (2) Melting or Pining-away in his heart. 2. In his utter disappointment in his desires, harboured either against the godly, or for himself; The desire of the wicked shall perish, ver. 10.

q Gracious] This may be understood of God, thus: From him that is gracious, &c. as Psal. 111. 4. Or of the godly man, that he is gracious, &c. as the next verse sheweth. Or of the Light, that it is gracious, &c. meaning it of God, who is our Light, as Psal. 27. 1. Hen. Ainsw. Annot. in Psal. 112. 4.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion.

This Pſalme, as to the Nature and Kinde of it is meerly Laudatory or Euchariſtical, wherein the LORD is praiſed eſpecially, for his Glory, Providence, Goodneſs, &c. and Gods ſervants are upon theſe grounds exhorted to Praiſe him every where, and at all times. It is one of the choice Pſalmes comprized in the Jewes Great-Halelu-jah h: And it both begins and ends with Halelu-JAH, verſe 1. and 9. It is an untituled Pſalme, unleſs Halelu-JAH muſt be accounted the Title of it.

Penman of it, and Occaſion of penning it are both unknown. Onely, it is conceived i, That this Pſalme followes Pſalme 111. and 112. both in time and order. For, The Pſalmiſt having praiſed God, for giving to Iſrael the Promiſed Land, Pſal. 111. and for promiſing, Levit. 26. and Deut. 28. to bleſs the Iſraelites if they ſhould fear the LORD and keep his Commandements, Pſal. 112. Now in Pſal. 113. he Exhorts the Iſraelites to praiſe God, for advancing them to this Dignity, who were oppreſſed formerly with the Egyptian yoke, and were but a ſmall Nation in reſpect of other Nations, Deut. 7. 7. but now were become a mighty Nation, Deut. 4. 7. and 28. 13.

h See on Pſal. 111. §. 3.

i Joan. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ. 113. Auth. & Temp.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope of this Pſalme, is; To praiſe the LORD, and to excite all his Servants to praiſe him in all places continually, For his Glorious Majeſty, His eminent Providence, and His ſingular Goodneſs manifeſting itſelf in his Providence, by exalting the abaſed, and making the barren fruitful.

§. V. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

In this Pſalme are,

I. An Exhortation to the praiſes of the LORD. Wherein note, 1. The Object to be praiſed, viz. The LORD, and his Name. 2. The Act of praiſe exhorted to, which is to be exerciſed and exerted towards this object. This is thrice urged: noting the excellency of the Duty, and our Dulneſs and Indiſpoſition thereunto. 3. The Subjects on whom this Act is peculiarly impoſed, and who are able acceptably to do it: The Servants of the LORD, ver. 1. 4. The Continuation of this Duty, in all times, ver. 2. 5. The Extention of this Duty, to all places, ver. 3.

II. A Narration of certain Arguments or Cauſes, why they are thus to praiſe the LORD. And the they are drawn, I. From the LORD's Supream and matchleſs Majeſty and Glory. Which is elegantly illuſtrated by compariſon with the leſs, viz. 1. He is above all Nations on the Earth: 2. His Glory is above the Heavens, ver. 4. II. From his moſt accurate all-obſerving Providence, Beholding and ordering all things in Heaven and Earth. This is Pathetically, 1. Amplyfied, (1.) By the incomparableneſs of the LORD; (2.) By the Height of his Habitation, ver. 5. 2. Deſcribed, by his great Condeſcention and Self-debaſement to ſee and order things not only in Heaven, but alſo in Earth, ver. 6. III. From his ſingular goodneſs towards mankinde in working moſt advantagious changes, and alterations for them, wherein his Providence ſhines forth moſt illuſtriouſly: viz. 1. In exalting perſons, moſt deeply debaſed, to higheſt Princely dignity, ver. 7, 8. 2. In making the barren joyfully fruitful, ver. 9. And ſo the Pſalme is cloſed up; as it began, with the Hortatory Halelu-JAH.

Pſalme CXIV.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

Here, 1. The coming of Iſrael out from Egypt is declared, ver. 1. 2. The effects or conſequents thereof are deſcribed, viz. (1) As upon Judah and Iſrael, ver. 2. (2) As upon the dumb and dead Creatures, ver. 3. to the end.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

1. [a] When Iſrael out from-Egypt went:

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion.

This Pſalme, as to the outward Forme of penning it, is untituled [i]; As to the Subject-matter of it, is Hiſtorical, compendiouſly declaring the Hiſtory of Iſrael's wonderful deliverance out of Egypt, with the rare Conſequents enſuing thereupon, not onely upon Iſrael themſelves, but even upon the dumb and dead Creatures.

i See Pſal. 1 §. 4.

Penman, and particular Occaſion of writing it, are unknown. It is one of the Pſalmes compriſed in the Great-Halelu-jah, as hath been noted [k]. It well follows the reſt of them in order, Declaring how wonderfully and graciouſly the LORD brought them out of Egypt; which, as it was in it ſelf an eminent Mercy, ſo was it a ſingular Type of the Elects Redemption from the bitter bondage of Sin, Death, Satan, &c. by the Death of Jeſus Chriſt our true Paſſeover, 1 Cor. 5. 7. And therefore this Deliverance is frequently remembred in the Scripture, as that which is often, yea alwaies to be admired and extolled.

k On Pſal. 111. §. 3.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Pſalme, is; Summarily to declare and deſcribe the LORD's wonderful Power, Goodneſs, and Providence in his wonderful deliverance of Iſrael out of Egypt, to Iſraels eminent advancement, and even the dumb Creatures amazement. That hereupon conſequently the LORD might be highly magnified, feared, and truſted in, throughout all Generations.

§. V.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal parts.

In this Psalme are

I. An Historical and laudative Declaration of Israels Deliverance from Egypt. Where, 1. Israel, that was deliveted, is described by their Descent; The House of Jacob. 2. Egypt, whence they were deliveted, is set forth by the unsociableness and uncomfortableness of its native inhabitants, being to Israel a people of a barbarous-speech, ver. 1.

II. An Historical and gratulatory Description of the eminent Events or Consequents of Israels deliverance out of Egypt; 1. Upon Israel. 2. Upon the dumb and dead Creatures.

1. Upon Israel a twofold eminent effect or event ensued, viz. 1. The LORD's sacred Separation of that people to be above all people peculiarly Holy to himself; Judah was his Sanctuary, or Sanctity, or Sanctification: viz. which God had separated and sanctified to himself that he might dwell among them. As Exod. 19.3.4,5,6. Levit. 19,2. and 20.7,26. and 26. 11, 12. 2 Cor. 6.16. Judah is by a Synecdoche named for all the rest, it being the Principal Tribe, Numb. 2.3. and 7.12. and 10. 14. They now became his National Church in the Wilderness, wherein he dwelt, Act 7. 38.

2. The LORD's Royal Government and Protection of them: He becoming their Lord and King, and they his Dominion and Kingdome, now no longer under Pharaoh's, or any others tyranny. This is elegantly opposed to their former servitude in Egypt hinted in the first verse: ver. 1.

2. Upon the dumb and dead Creatures (which by a Prosopopæia are brought in as deeply affected and moved at this great and glorious work of God, bringing Israel out of Egypt) sundry miraculous effects did ensue, ver. 3, &c. Here, I. Some miraculous effects, in stead of all the rest are instanced in. As, 1. The drying-up of the Red sea, for the people to passe through, Exod. 14.21. and Psal. 77.17. and 78. 13. and 66. 6. and 136.13. 2. The dividing of the River Jordan, for them to pass over into Canaan, Josh 3.14 to the end. Psal. 66.6. 3. The quaking and trembling of Mount Sinai, and other little Hills thereon or thereabouts, at the giving of the Law, Exod. 19.18. Hab. 3. 6. 10. Psal 68.9. This is elegantly compared to the leaping of Rams, and of younglings, or sons of the flock, that is, Lambs, ver. 3 4. II. The Cause or Reason of these miraculous effects is elegantly laid down, 1. By way of interrogation to these dead Creatures, to awaken mens stupidity the more forcibly. What ailed thee, O Sea——? Prosopop. ver. 5,6. 2. By way of Resolution. The true cause of all their commotion was, The glorious and majestical presence of the LORD, the God of Jacob: at which the Earth is bidden to Tremble. Hereby the cause of their trembling being implyed, ver. 7. This God of Jacob (at whose awful presence the Hills trembled) is further magnified, by his mighty and miraculous Act, of turning the Rock, the Rock of Flint, Deut. 8.15. (naturally yielding fire rather then water) into a standing-lake of waters, into a Spring or Fountain of waters, ver. 8. A singular Type of Christ, 1 Cor. 10.4.

Psalme CXV*.

* This 115th. Psalme is annexed to the former, as part thereof, by the Greek Version of the Septuagint by the Vulgar Latin, as also by the Syriack, Arabick, and Æthiopick Versions. And Kimchi notes that som Heb. do not here begin this Psalm. The Book Ialkut makes this part of the 114th. Sim de Muis in Arg. Psal. 115. But, most Hebrew Copies here begin Psalme 115. And Eusebius saith, some Greek Copies here begin it. And the diversity of the Argument seems plainly to make this a distinct Psalme. See on Psal. 10. §. 3. and on Psal. 116. §. 1.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

In this Psalme Gods people are brought in, 1. As Imploring the LORD, to take all the glory from them wholly to himself, for his Mercy and Truth (showed them, viz. in bringing them from Egypt, through the Wilderness, into Canaan,) That the Heathen may have no cause to insult against them and their God, who alone is glorious, but their Idols and themselves vanity, ver. 1. to 9. 2. As hereupon Exhorting and encouraging one another to trust in the LORD alone, and this by many Arguments, ver. 9. to the end.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion.

This Psalme, As to the outward Forme of it, is without Title in the Hebrew, as many others are r; As to the Subject-Matter of it, is of a mixt Kinde, made up of Prayer and Exhortation. Herein Gods people are brought in, As praying to God that himself alone would take the whole glory (viz. of their coming from Egypt, through the Wilderness, into Canaan:) for his own loving-kindness and faithfulness, That so the Heathen may have no cause of insulting against their God: As hereupon inciting and provoking one another to trust in this God, for help and defence, &c. And this Psalme is one of those, whereof the Jewes GREAT HALELU-JAH was made up: as hath formerly been noted s.

s See Ps. III. §. 3

Occasion

Occasion, whereupon; and Time when; and Penman, by whom; This Psalme was written, are not particularly and certainly known. In the General, it seems to have respect to Israels deliverance from Egypt, conduct through the wilderness, and Plantation in Canaan, by the LORD, of his meer loving kindness and faithfulness: whereupon they have cause to prefer him above all the vain dumb dead Idols of the Heathens, and to place their trust in him, as their onely help and shield.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope intended in this Psalm, is. 1. To give unto the LORD alone the whole Glory of all his Mercy and Truth manifested to Israel, especially in bringing them out of Egypt through the Wilderness into Canaan: 2. To exalt him incomparably above all the vain Idols of the Heathens. 3. And to provoke all sorts amongst Gods people to confide in him alone, as their help and shield.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

This Psalme is 1. Petitory. 2. Hortatory.

I. Petitory, vers. 1. to 9. wherein Israel is brought in, as imploring the LORD, That the whole Glory, (viz. Of his dealings with them in Egypt, The wilderness, and Canaan,) may be given unto his own name, not to them at all. Their utter renouncing all share in this Glory, is pathetically set forth in the ingemination of the phrase; not unto us not unto us. This Petition is urged and illustrated, 1. From the Cause and Reason why all the Glory should be given to the LORD's Name alone. viz. because all that the LORD did for his people, was meerly for his own loving-kindness, and faithfulness towards them: not any their deserts, vers. 1. 2. From the end or scope of giving all the Glory to God onely, viz. That so all occasion of insulting may be cut off from the Heathen, that they may have no colour to say, where is now their God, that hath made such Promises to his people, &c? vers. 2. 3. From the unparallell'd Excellency and Glory of Israel's God, above all the Heathens Idols, vers. 3. &c. Here, (1.) Israels God is described, 1. Partly, by his Heavenly Majesty, enthroned in Heaven. 2. Partly, By his works, limited onely by his Will; He hath done all that he pleased, vers. 3. (2.) Heathens Idols are described, 1. Partly by their due Denomination drawn from their effect upon their worshippers; Their Dolours, their Sorrows, as Psal. 16. 4. 2. Partly, By their extream vanity. Their Matter being but silver and Gold, or such corruptibles. Their Form or shape being such as workmens hands put upon them, vers. 4. Their ability (to do good or harm) being none at all: they having something like Organs or Instruments for Speech, Sence, Action, Motion, given to them, but no use at all thereof, vers. 5, 6, 7. 3. Partly, by the like vanity, of those that make them. Of all that trust in them, vers. 8.

II. Hortatory, vers. 9. to the end, where Israel is brought in, As exhorting and inciting one another upon former considerations of Gods excellency, and Idols vanity, To place all their Trust and hope in the LORD, as their help to assist them, and their shield to protect them. Now here are, 1. An Exhortation unto confidence in the LORD. This Exhortation is 1. Propounded and directed to three sorts, viz. To Israel generally: To the house of Aaron, specially: To the fearers of the LORD, peculiarly. 2. Explicated, How and in what sense or respects they are to place their confidence in the LORD, viz. As their help, for all manner of assistance: As their shield, for all manner of Protection, vers. 9, 10, 11.

2. The Arguments enforcing this Exhortation, are drawn; 1. From Israels experience of Gods former gracious remembring of them, vers. 12. 2. From the LORD's precious Promises, 1. Of blessing, The house of Israel, The house of Aaron, and all his fearers small and great, vers. 12, 13. 2. Of increasing or adding to them, and to their children more and more, vers. 14. 3. From the LORD's actual blessing of his People, with the Inheritance of the Earth. In this Argument are laid down, 1. Their Denomination, upon Gods blessing them; Yee are the blessed of the LORD. 2. The Description of the LORD, the Author of this blessing: Partly, by his Creation of Heaven and Earth. Partly, by his appropriation of the Heavens of Heavens to himself. 3. The specification of the mercy wherewith the LORD had blessed them; Had given the Sons of Men the Earth: viz. His people the Land of Canaan, vers. 15, 16. 4 The grateful Resolution of Gods people (though the dead cannot praise the LORD, &c.) to bless the LORD for Ever, viz. whilest they live: which is their Ever in this world. Whereupon they incite all to Prayse-the-LORD with them, verse 17, 18.

Psalme CXVI*.

*As the Lxxii, the Vulgar Latin, the Arabick, Syriack, and Æthiopick Versions joyn Psal. 115. to 114. as part thereof: So here they divide this Psalme 116. into two; at verse 10. beginning the latter Psalme. But the Hebrew Copies, and Chaldee Parraphrast, and other Versions make this but one Psalme. And the Subject-matter of it, evinceth it clearly. See Psal. 10. §. 3. and Psal. 115. §. 1.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist, 1. Professeth his Love and Duty of praying to God whilest he lives for benefits received, vers. 1,2. 2. Declareth how in his extreame distress, He prayed to the LORD, was delivered by the LORD, and delivered in the LORD, (though not without some infirmity,) vers. 3. to 12. 3. Deliberateth and studieth in what way he may be most thankfull to the LORD, and resolves upon all Religious expressions of gratitude, Even in the solemne Assembly, verse 12. to the end.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

1. I Love, because JEHOVAH will
My voice, [a] my Prayers hear,
2. And [b] through-my-dayes will call: because Hee bow'd to mee his eare.
3. The [c] coard-like-pangs of Death combinde
Encompassed-mee-round,
And Hell's distresses did mee finde:
I straits and sorrow found.
4. Then on JEHOVAH's Name ador'd
I called, and did say;
Deliver thou my Soul, O LORD,
[d] I-do-thee-humbly-pray.
5. The LORD is gracious, and just:
And [e] tender God we have.
6. The LORD the simple keeps: [f] I-was-
-Low, and hee did mee save.
7. Returne, my Soul, triumphantly
To thy desired Rest:
Because the LORD [g] hath-bounteously-
-Reward to thee exprest.
8. Because thou hast my Soul releas'd
From Death and deadly thrall;
Mine eye from mournful [h] tears, now cear'd:
My foot from [i] sliding-fall.
9. And now walk-on delightfully,
[k] In presence of the LORD,
In lands of living-ones will I.
10. I did believe his word,
Therefore I spake without delay:
I was afflicted [l] sarre.
11. I in my hastning-feare did say;
That [m] all men lyars are.

12. What shall I render to the LORD
In thankfullness for all,
His [n] benefits upon mee pour'd?
13. Salvations Cup I shall Take-up: Likewise I will this day
Upon the LORD's name call.
14. My vowes, now, to the LORD I'le pay,
Before his people all.
15. Accounted very precious Still in the LORD's eyes is
The Death of his-Saints-gracious.
16. Sure, LORD, I do confess,
That I am [o] servant-unto-thee,
Thy-servant now am I,
Son of thine handmaid, (thine was shee):
My Bands thou-didst-unty.
17 Of confession the Sacrifice
[p] Offer to thee I shall:
I'le on the LORD's Name call likewise.
18. Before his People all,
Now, to the LORD my vowes I'le pay.

§. III.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion.

This Psalme, is 1. A most Eminent and Pathetical Gratulation for some singular Deliverance from extream mortal danger and distresse[s]: as to the Subject-Matter of it. Is untituled: As to the Forme of Penning it. And it is one of those Psalmes whereof the GREAT HALELU-JAH was made up, as hath been already noted[t]. In the Greek Version of the Lxxii here is prefixed as a Title, Ἀλληλούϊα, both before verse 1. and verse 10. taking it for two distinct Psalmes. So also do the Arabick and Æthiopick Versions: Perhaps in prefixing this they had respect to the Jewes Great Halelu-jah whereof this Psalme was part[u]. But in the Original Hebrew there's no Title at all, nor in the Chaldee Paraphrast, nor in the Syriack Version.

Penman of this Psalme, is not particularly here or elsewhere expressed in the Scripture: But Interpreters do generally think it was David. And indeed the Matter and Expressions are most homogeneal to Davids in his other Psalmes.

The Occasion of Davids Penning this Psalme, is variously apprehended. The Syriack Version thinks it hath reference to the time, when Saul came into the Cave, in the sides whereof David and his men remained, 1 *Sam.*24.3[x], &c. Others to the time when David was betrayed by the Ziphites, and King Saul and his men had almost encompassed round about David and his men to take him: but the LORD diverted them by the Philistines invading the Land, 1 Sam. 23. 19. to 29 [y]. Neither of these seem to have been the Occasion of Davids Penning this Psalme, because here is mention made of The Courts of the House of the LORD, In the midst of Jerusalem, ver. 19. But in Saul's time there were no Courts of the LORD's House in Hierusalem, and Jerusalem was then in the hands of the Jebusites, and long after. See 2 Sam. 5. 6. to 11. Others referre it to the time of Absalom's rebellion against his own Father David, wherein David was greatly endangered. See the History, 2 Sam. 15. to Chap. 19[z]. Sim. de Muis, not satisfied with any of these, thinks David wrote this Psalme, presently after he had brought up the Ark into the City of David, and sate in peace in his own house having rest from all his enemies, 2 Sam. 6. throughout, and 7. 1. &c. because in verse 19? here's mention of Jerusalem and of the Courts of the LORD's House there[a]. In midst of all this variety and uncertainty, its hard to determine any thing positively.

To speak my thoughts freely, I am not enough satisfied with any of these Opinions. Not with the two first; for the reason fore-alledged. Not with the third; Because, the third Psalme was plainly penned upon occasion of Absalom's rebellion. See Psal. 3. Title: And it's scarce probable he would penne two Psalmes upon one and the same Occasion. Nor with the fourth; Because, in this Psal. 116. verse 3. he mentions some particular, notable, extream danger of death, and deep distress and sorrow of Soule which he was in thereupon; Gods gracious deliverance from which, upon his earnest prayer, gave him Occasion of Penning this Gratulatory Psalme; and about the time of his bringing up the Ark into the City of David, we read of no such Mortal danger, or deep distress of David, as is here mentioned, verse 3. This is certain and evident; That the Psalmists mortal danger and extream distress and sorrow thereupon, together with Gods gracious delivering of him out of all upon his earnest Prayer, gave the Occasion of his penning this Psalme, and all this after David had conquered the Jebusites, gained Jerusalem, and brought the Ark of God thither, Psal. 116. verse 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15, 19. But the particular Kinde and Circumstances of this his danger of Death and Deliverance, are uncertain and unknown.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Scope of the Psalmist here is; 1. To declare his singular affection, and resolved Devotion unto the LORD, for his Eminent Deliverance vouchsafed him, upon his Prayer and Faith, from extream distresses and pangs of Death encompassing him about: 2. As also to testifie his resolution to render unto the LORD for all his Benefits all possible thankfulnesse by Confession, Prayer, and performance of his Vowes unto the LORD publickly in Jerusalem in the Courts of the House of the LORD, before all his people.

O this is a most sweet and heavenly Platforme of thankfulnesse, for every Christian to make use of: especially after Gods Eminent Deliverances of him from extream Sorrows, Distresses, and dangers of Death. Augustine said; Let that Soule sing this, that sojourns from the LORD: Let that Sheep sing this, that went astray; Let that Son sing this, which was dead and is alive again, was lost and is found [b]. And I may adde; Let him delight to sing this Psalme, whose Sorrows God hath turned into Joy; whose feares and dangers are swallowed up with confidence and deliverance; whom the LORD hath rescued from deep and long afflictions, from severe Bonds and Imprisonments, from the shadow of Death and brink of the Grave.

[b] Cantet hoc anima quæ peregrinatur à Domino, Cantet hoc ovis illa quæ erraverat, Cantet hoc Filius ille qui mortuus fuerat & revixit, perierat & inventus est. Cantet hoc anima nostra, fratres & filii charissimi. August. in Psal. 114. Enarrat. ad init. Tom. 8.

§. V. The Analysis, or principal parts.

In this Psalme the Psalmist Pathetically representeth his thankful 1. Profession, 2. Declaration, 3. And Resolution.

1. His thankful Profession, ver. 1. 2. wherein note, 1. The Matters professed, viz. (1) Dear love and affection to the LORD. 2. Constant Prayer or invocation of the LORD. In my dayes may import, In the dayes of my life, i. e. whilest I live. Or, In the dayes of my distresse, &c. both may imply constancy. 2. The Grounds of this Profession, because the LORD will hear his supplications; because he did bow his ear to him, ver. 1, 2.

2. His thankful Declaration, ver. 3. to 12. He thankfully declareth, 1. How he prayed unto the LORD in his distresse. Where are laid down, 1. The Occasion of his Prayer, Great Extremities of affliction, represented by four Emphatical Expressions, Viz. (1) Pangs of Death like Coards encompassing him about, (2) Hell's Distresses. (3) Straits. (4) Sorrow, verse 3. 2. The Object of his Prayer whom he then invocated; Then he called on the Name of the LORD. 3. The Subject-Matter of his request which he presented, viz. That the LORD would deliver his Soule, i. e. not only his life from Mortal danger and distress, but also his Soule from inward agonies and perplexities. A very short, but a comprehensive and (through Faith) an Effectual Prayer, ver. 4. 11. How he was delivered by the LORD out of all these his dangers and distresses, according to his desire. Here he gratefully and Elegantly delineates Gods deliverance, 1. By the Original Root and Rise of it, viz. Meerly the Perfections and Properties of Gods own Nature: three Attributes being mentioned as Eminent herein; (1) He is Gracious: therefore helping and delivering most freely. (2) He is Righteous: therefore delivering and relieving according to his Promise most faithfully. (3) He is Commiserating-with-yearning-bowels: therefore layes to heart all his peoples miseries and distresses most tenderly and compassionately, All which are amplified by the Relation and Interest which his people have to him and in him; Our God—ver. 5. 2. By the Exemplification of the LORD's relief and deliverance, (1) Upon the Simple: i. e. the plain-hearted, that know not how to prevent or remove evil and danger. (2) Upon the Psalmist himself, in his low condition, ver. 6. 3. By the ensuing fruits or effects of this deliverance; viz. (1) His Soule's Restauration to a quiet comfortable rest and acquiescence in the LORD, from both inward and outward trouble. Return my Soule, &c. Apostrophe to his Soule. As if he had said; O my Soul, the Storm is over, now enjoy thy desired calm and comfortable rest in God. This is Illustrated by a Pathetical Description of Gods Mercy in relieving him; More Generally, The LORD hath dealt bountifully with thee, ver. 7. More Particularly; He delivered, His Soule from death: His Eyes from teares: His Feet from falling, ver. 8. (2) His resolution and promise, by way of gratitude, to walk uprightly before God and Man in the discharge of his Office, ver. 9. 4. By his Faith in God even in midst of all his extremities; I believed—. This his Faith is set forth here (1) Partly, from the Consequent Effect of it; Therefore have I spoken, i. e. In my distresses and dangers, dangers, I have both ſpoken to the LORD in my Prayer, as in verſe 4. was noted; And alſo I have profeſſed and teſtified my Faith in God before others that I ſhould be delivered, raiſed up, &c. In this later ſenſe, the Apoſtle, 2 Cor. 4.13. applyeth this place to his preſent purpoſe. (2) Partly, by the extremity of his diſtreſs wherein he exerted this his Faith, ver. 10. (3) Partly, from ſome infirmity of his Faith intermixed; In his haſte counting all men, Samuel and others, lyars, who promiſed him the Kingdom, &c. while mean time he was ready to be cut off by death, before it could be obtained. Or, We may take this paſſage, For an Abrenunciation of all humane help as falſe, vain, deceitful, in his extream diſtreſſes, God only being able fully to ſuccour him; I ſaid in mine haſtening (or aſtoniſhing-conſternation c) All men are lyers: i. e. unable to help in time of need, Numb. 23.19. Rom. 3.4. Pſal. 33.17. but the former ſenſe ſeems more appoſite here, ver. 11.

c In præcipitatione meâ. Græc. ἐν τῇ ἐκστάσει μου; Lat. in Excęſſu meo; Aquila, ἐν τῷ θαμβεῖσθαι; Symach. ἀπιστίᾳ; D. Hieronym. In ſtupore meo. Nempè hi exiſtimarunt hoc loco ſignificari ſtuporem ſeu perturbationem mentis, quâ interdum contipiebatur David, ac veluti obſtupeſcebat ad periculorum magnitudinem. ——Sim. de Muis in Comment. ad Pſal. 116.11.

III. His thankful reſolution, after deliberation, ver. 12. to the end. Wherein conſider,

1. A deliberating Queſtion, intimating moſt Elegantly, 1. Both his ſingular readineſſe to render any thing to the LORD, for the benefits received from him: 2. And the tranſcendent greatneſs of his Benefits beyond all poſſible returnes of gratitude, ver. 12.

2. A determining reſolution, wherein he promiſeth ſundry expreſſions of thankfulneſs, ver. 13, &c This is illuſtrated, 1. From the Adjunct Manner of his expreſſing his gratitude. He promiſeth to do it in ſuch manner as was moſt agreeable to a Solemn Sacrifice of thankſgiving. viz. At their Thank-offerings for Mercies received, they kept a grateful Feaſt, for the Levites, and the poor, Deut. 14. 28,29. At which, taking the Cup, they Commemorated the Benefits received of God, and drank, giving thanks to God. As Chriſt did in his great Banquet of his Supper, 1 Cor. 10. 16, 17. Such a thing is here intended, ver. 13. 2. From the Impulſive Cauſe moving and inclining the Pſalmiſt to this way of thankfulneſs: viz. His ſeveral vows of ſuch ſolemn and publick gratitude, ver. 14. 3. From the Subject-Matter of his thankfulneſs, viz. Gods ſingular love and tender-care, (1) In General, over the lives of all his Saints, verſe 15. (2) In Particular, over the life and liberty of his ſervant David: looſing his Bonds, and ſo engaging him to be his devoted ſervant, v. 16. 4. From a Pathetical Repetition of his promiſed Sacrifice of thankſgiving, and performance of his vowes unto the LORD, and both of them publickly before all his people, and in the Solemn place of Gods-Worſhip. And ſo he cloſeth up this ſweet Gratulatory Pſalme, with an Hortatory Hallu-JAH, ver. 17, 18, 19.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion of this Psalme.

This Psalme is the very shortest Psalme in this Book of Psalmes, yet, (like a rich Pearl or wedge of Gold) it comprehends much precious stuffe in a little compass.

Occasion of it is uncertain.

Penman of it is unknown, because its Psalmus ἀνεπιγραφος, without Title or Inscription; yet Canonicall, Authentique, and indited by the Spirit of God, as is plain from St. Pauls alledging it, Rom. 15. 11.

Kinde of it is mixt, being Psalmus ἐπαινετικὸς & προφητικὸς. Laudatory and Prophetical. Explicitely its an Exhortation of all Gentiles to praise God for his special Mercy and Truth towards them: Implicitely a Prophetical Prediction of the Vocation of the Gentiles, for which great mercy they are here thus moved to praise him, Rom. 15. 7, 11.

§. IV. The Scope.

Scope of it is to Quicken all the Gentiles, as well as the Jewes, to be wonderous zealous in praising God for his mighty Mercy and constant Truth to them both, principally in admitting the Gentiles into the same common faith with the Jewes. Compare the current of this Psalme, with the Apostles manner of reasoning in Rom. 15. 8. ad 13. Not unfitly we may stile it, The Gentiles Psalme of Prayse.

§. V. The

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Principal Parts of the Psalme are two, viz.

1. An Exhortation of all Nations, &c. v. 1. wherein note
   1. Act or Duty it self required, Praise——
   2. Vehemency, whereby this duty is pathetically urged; 1. By ingemination of the phrase. 2. By the emphatical auxesis in the word שבחוהו, Shabbechu. Praise yee-vehemently.
   3. Object to whom this duty is to be performed; not to Heathenish Idols, but to Jehovah.
   4. Subject upon whom this duty is imposed and charged; Gentiles, or Nations, & Peoples. Both amplified by their generality and extent. all, all.
2. Arguments, or Motives enforcing it, v. 2. which are two.
   1. Gods mercy; amplified by
      1. Greatness of it; is great.
      2. Commonness of it, to both Jews and Gentiles; towards us.
   2. Gods Truth, amplified from the constant inviolableness of it; for ever. And so the Psalme is shut up with a short reflexion at the duty first enjoyned; Halelu-jah.

Or, 1. Greatness. 2. Commonness. 3. Inviolable constancy or durableness, may be three adjuncts whereby both Gods mercy and truth are amplified. Amef. Expos.—— §. VI. Textual Annotations, and Doctrinal Observations.

Verse 1. Praise Jehovah all ye Gentiles.] In this verse is the Exhortation, wherein the Gentiles are enjoyned all of them to praise the Lord, yea to praise him vehemently, zealously, therefore this implies the vocation of the Gentiles. Rom. 15.7–11. For how shall they praise without mercy received, or how shall they praise Jehovah till they be turned from all their Heathenish Idols, to the only true God, whose Name alone is Jehovah? till then, Heathens, though they have many mercies, yet are they not so sensible of mercie, know not Jehovah nor his Truth; in vain therefore to move them to praise him.

Object. But Mountains, Rivers, &c. dead and brute creatures are oft called upon to praise God, as Psal. 148.3. &c. therefore their praise no good Argument of the Gentiles vocation.

Answ. The whole Creation, and every work of God, praise God, tacendo, by silence, metaphorically. Joan. Calvin. in Com. ad Psalmum 117. 1. This praise here required, of intelligent Creatures is another manner of praise, viz. for his mercy and truth, as v. 2. See this Prophecy fulfilled, Act. 13. 47, 48.

Prayse] הללו. Halelu. Imperatively. Praise is not a carnal, Levitical, but a spiritual Sacrifice, Heb. 13.15. Psal. 50. 13, 14, 23. More spiritually performed in the New Testament, then in Old Testament. We praise God, 1. In heart, by notice taking, esteeming, remembring, &c. his mercies, Psal. 103.1, 2. 2. In words, so called calves of our lips, Hos. 14. 2. Heb. 13. 15. of this praise, Psal. 63.3 5.—— 3. In works, Mat. 5.16.—Job. 15.8. Thankful Praise hath in it, 1. Recognition or notice-taking of the Mercy, Ps. 116.6. 2. Estimation, Gen. 19.19. Ezr. 9.13. 1 Tim. 1.13. 3. Retribution, Psal. 116, 12. &c.

Jehovah] The prime essential Name of God, Tetragrammaton; no one word in any other language can express it fully. The sense of it see elsewhere explicated in my Annot. on Exod. 34. 6, 7. Jehovah——O.T. See Zanch. de Natur. Dei l. 1. cap. 13.—— Joan Buxtorf. Lexicon ad verbum יהוה.——Sixtin. Amam. Antibarb. Biblic. dissertation. de nomine יהוה. p. 473. ad p. 559. Herein implicitly Gentiles are called from worship of their idols, to worship of the true God. He is the God of praise to whom all praise is due, and should principally be directed, Heb. 13.15 Ps. 18.3. | 48.1.

All ye Gentiles,] גוים Gojim. The Jewes themselves interpret this word of such under whom they were in captivity. All people besides Jewes, are called Gentiles, or the Nations. Before Christ accounted not a people, or no people, Deut. 32.21. 1 Pet. 2.10. Hos. 1.10. But now the people of God. And all of them must praise, because salvation now hath appeared to all men, bond, free, &c. without respect of persons, Tit. 2, 10.

Doctrinal Observations.
1. Praise is a special point of Religion, and Service due to God, Ps. 29.2. | 96.8
2. Its not enough for Gods People to praise the Lord themselves, they should call upon others to praise him with them. Here Psalmist quickens up Gentiles to it, Psal. 118.1, 2, 3, 4. | 34.1, 2, 3. | 134.1, &c. 135, 1, 2, 3, 19, 20, 21. | 148. per totum.
3. All are bound to praise the Lord, but singularly the called Gentiles, Rom. 15.7.11.

Eph. 3.6, 18, 19, 20, 21. Did it. Act. 13.47, 48. Consequently, The calling and conversion of the Gentiles was foreprophecied of old, Psal. 117.1. with Rom. 15.7, 8, 9, 11.

4. These praises should be performed to the Lord, not coldly and carelessly; but zealously and vehemently, Psal. 103. 1. | 2 Sam. 6 14. Psal. 48. 1. | 105 3. | 106. 47. | 47. 1.

1. The tender mercies of God are wonderful great and prevailing mercies. 1 Sam. 24 14. | Psal. 57. 10. | 86. 13. 103. 8. 11, &c. 119. 156. | 145. 8. 9. Exod. 20. 6, &c. | 34. 6, 7. | abundant 1 Pet. 1. 3. Rich, Eph. 2. 4. | Father, &c. 2 Cor. 1. 3.

2. These mercies have been mighty prevailing mercies both to Jewes and Gentiles towards us. To Jews, Deut. 4. 7 8. | 33 ult. | Psal. 76 1. 2. | 147. 19. 20. Rom. 3. 1. 2. | 9. 4, 5. | To Gentiles, Cant. 8. 8, 9. | Esa. 54 1, &c. | Math. 21. 28, &c. Act. 10. 34. Eph. 2. 4, &c.

3. The Truth of God in his mercy and promises is a constant and everlasting Truth, Tit. 1. 2.

4. The tender mercy and Truth of God like inseparable twins go still together.

Praise him all ye people.] The same Exhortation for matter and substance, but in different words; שבחו Shabbechu signifies not barely, to praise, as the former word; but to praise vehemently, earnestly, mightily, &c. Ames. in l. and the Apostle implies such a thing in his alledging this verse, Αἰνεῖτε τὸν Κύριον πάντα τὰ ἔθνη, καὶ ἐπαινέσατε αὐτὸν, &c. Rom. 15. 11. q. d. praise him, and better praise him. Be earnest, zealous, constant in his prayses, and the doubling also of the Exhortation intimates a doubling of diligence in this so important a Duty. We should by no means put that off carelessly, which is so carefully enjoyned. Yea in the close of this short Psalme, it's touched again, lest it should be neglected and forgotten.

People] האמים. Haummim, theres ה emphaticum prefixed, as if he did point at a special people of his owo the Jewes, which in a special manner are called, a people, and his people, Rom. 15. 10.

Whereas Gentiles were counted no people, not his people; Psalmist then seems here to bespeak the prayses of all men, both Gentiles and Jewes. And some refer the word אמים ummim, peoples, to the Jewes alone, as Mollerus. As גוים Gojim, Nations, is referred by the Jewes themselves to the Gentiles. And usually, when Gentiles and people are mentioned together. People imports the Jewes contradistinct from Gentiles. As in Psal. 2. 1.

Vers. 2. For his mercy hath been mighty (or increased and strengthened &c.) towards us] חסדו Chasd, notes out misericordiam & beneficentiam, eamque gratuitam, Riv in Hos. 4. 1. is taken, 1. For the Fountain and Cause of mercy, Gods free grace and bene-placitum, meer good-will, when he expresses mercy contrary to our deserts of his own gracious motion, notes σόργων paternam in Christo. Moller. Misericordia est alienæ miseriæ in corde nostro compassio; quâ, utique si possumus subvenire compellimur. August. Most fully it agrees to God, who most tenderly and compassionately layes to heart our miseries. 2. For the good things, mercies and blessings themselves bestowed, Rivet. in Gen. 32. 10. Here understand both, well translated, merciful-kindness, or loving kindness. גבר &c.] Invaluit, prevaluit, robustus, fuit, corroboravit, Buxt. hath prevailed, hath been strong and mighty towards us, or upon us. Us Jewes, for the Psalmist was a Jew that spoke it: Us Gentiles, for they were Gentiles to whom it was spoken. To both, these mercies of God have been mightily strengthned and increased; principally in respect,

1. Of Temporals, what possessions, preservations, deliverances, victories, varieties of blessings, &c. had they?

2. Of Spirituals, What priviledges had the Jews above all people? Rom. 3. 1, 2. | 9. 4, 5. What the Gentiles, by their General Vocation, Rom. 11. 12, 15. 17, 21, 30. Eph. 2. throughout.

3. Of Eternals, in hope to both Jewes and Gentiles.

Thus his mercy hath been strong and superabounding to them both, against their sins, their enemies, &c. hath made them one people, under one Head Christ, prophetically spoken. For this both must praise him.

The word גבר Gibar, hath prevailed, seems to import, That Gods mercy conquers all Oppositions and Difficulties within us: or without us, whatsoever, that it might embrace us.

And his Truth for ever.] This the second main motive quickning both Jewes and Gentiles to be mighty in Gods Praises, viz. the constancy and firm inviolableness of his Truth. אמת Truth, its derived from אמן in Niphal, which signifies; that which is firm, stable, constant, &c. So Aaron and Hur did confirm Moses hands. Exod. 17. 12. There was firmness in his hands, &c. Truth in Scripture. 1. Sometimes is opposed to lyes, as Hos. 4. 1, 2. Psal. 5. 10. Eph. 4. 25. 2. Sometimes to shadowes and types, Jth. 1. 17. 3. Sometimes to injustice and injuries, &c. So Deut. 32. 4. 4. Sometimes to unfaithfulness, inconstancy, &c. in Words, Covenants Promises, noting, our firmness, trustiness, fidelity, constancy, not so much faith as fidelity, not so much verity as veracity. So Gen. 32. 10. Psal. 40. 11. God is Truth in all respects (as Zanch. observes, who also distinguishes Truth in veritatem Physicam, or Metaphysicam, and Ethicam, shewing notably how God is Truth both wayes, Zanch. de nat. Dei l. 3. c. 3.) But here I conceive the last chiefly intended; God is alwayes like himself, sure and constant in his Word and Promises, &c. Faithfully performing all in due season both to Jewes and Gentiles. He is true in threats, but Truth in Promises, rather matter of praise. לעולם for ever. From עלם latitavit, signifies saculum, viz. tempus homini absconditum, tam infinitum & æternum, quam finitum, Bux. Hoc nomine עלם significatur æternitas, quod æternitatis principium & finis simpliciter latent: Seu quod nullum in ea principium, aut finis, aut successio reperiri queat Zanth. de Nat. Dei, l. 2. c. 2. p. 73. So that no time, nor age, can change Gods Truth, but its semper eadem, his Promises and Word can no more be moved and shaken then his Truth, nor his Truth then himself; Deus est ipsissima veritas.

Now Gods Truth is here affirmed to be for ever, not in opposition to the mercy of God, as if his mercy after a little flourishing proved momentany; for by the same Rule his Truth may be said to be but little, in opposition to his mercy, which is great; But the sense is, his mercy is so great towards us, as it also flowes continuo cursu, because joyned with his eternal Truth. And if we reade it thus, His mercy hath been strengthned, &c. Both his mercy and truth are adorned by their firmness and stability. Calv. Comment. in Psal. 117. 2.

Mercy and Truth are here coupled together, as in many other Scriptures, Gen. 32. 10. Psal. 40. 10, 11. | 57. 10. |

1. To fortifie the godly in assurance of Gods mercies against temptations, deep afflictions, persecutions, flouts and scornes of the wicked, extremities, &c. In all these his promises and truth remains still firm, though his mercy may seem to be abated.

2. To

2. To set forth what a compleat and inexhausted fountain of all goodness God hath opened to all men; mercy importing all fulness, Truth all firmness of all good things that may be desired. Primâ promittitur quod non debetur, alterâ præstatur quod promissum est. A. Riv. in Psal. 40.12.

5. This mercy and this truth, so great, so everlasting, are singular matter of praise to all people, both Jews and Gentiles. Deduct from the word, (for) and this edoubting of Exhortation: Halelujah.

הללויה Halelujah] Praise ye Jah. Its compounded of two Hebrew words. viz. ex Imperativo Piel הללו praise ye (which in Kal and Pual signifies insanire: in Piel and Hithpael, laudare) and יה Jah, one of the ten proper names of God, syncopatum a יהוה Its a word used often in the Hebrew, especially in the Psalms, both in beginning and ending: as Psal. 104.35. where its first used, Psal. 135. 1.21. 106.48.

Its retained also in the Greek in New Testament, as Rev. 19. 13. 6. Ἀλληλούϊα. as also in the Latine, Germane, English, and other Tongues, as divers other Hebrew names, Amen, Hosanna, Abba, &c. Some observe that its first used in the Old Testament, where consuming of sinners is mentioned, Psal. 104. 35. and first in New Testament, where destruction of Antichrist that man of sin is foretold, Rev. 19. 1. 3. 6. H. Ainsw. on Psal. 104.35.

Vox est excitantium se & alios ad Deum laudandum & celebrandum; Parens in Rev. 19. 1. In beginning of Psalmes, its a word of joyful exhortation, quickning themselves and others to praise God for his mercies, as Psal. 135. 1. In end of Psalmes, as here is added as a cheerful acclamation, as an Amen, whereby the duty of praysing God is emphatically enforced. The first word and last being forcible and sticking words, leaving deepest impressions behind them, upon the Readers or hearers.

Psalme CXVIII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

In this Eucharistical and Prophetical Psalme, are 1. An Exhortation to confesse in praises unto the LORD for his goodnesse and loving-kindnes, or Merciful-kindnesse, verse 1. to 5. 2. An Experimental Natration of sundry Causes which the Psalmist had to praise the LORD and to trust in him alone in all Difficulties and Distresses, ver. 5. to 19. 3. An Elegant Description (laid down Dialogue-wise) of Davids thankful and triumphant deportment upon his compleat coming unto his Kingdom, ver. 19. to the end.

In all which we have A Prophetical Prediction of Christs Afflictions, Passion, Resurrection, and Entrance into his Kingdom; and so becoming the Head of the Corner, uniting both Jewes and Gentiles into one Building, making in himself of twain one new Man so making peace, Ephes. 2. 14, 15, &c. with Matth. 21. 42. Mark 12. 10, 11. Luk. 20. 17. Act. 4. 11. Ephes. 2. 20, 21. 1 Pet. 2. 4, 5, 6.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

I.

1. CONfess ye to the LORD,
For he is good alway:
a For his kind-mercy, still ador'd
By his, endures b for-ay.
2. Let Israel now say;
c His mercy dures for ever.
3. Let Aaron's sacred house now say, d His mercy dures for ever.

4. Let fearers of the LORD
Now say, as heretofore,
That e his kind-mercy, much ador'd,
Endures f for evermore.

5. I out of sore-distress
Upon g the-LORD did call:
h The-LORD in-ample-roomethiness
Did answer mee withall.

6. JEHOVAH is mine aid
For mee against my foe;
Therefore i I will not be afraid
What man to me can do.
7. JEHOVAH hath for me
With all mine helpers sate:
And therefore I shall vengeance see
On-them-that-de-me-hate.

Then in man to confide.
9. Yea, it much better is,
Upon the LORD most just
l To-hope-for-safety in distress:
Than in Princes to trust.

10. All Nations joyntly came,
Encompass-me-did-they:
But in the LORD's victorious Name
m I-did-cut-them-away
11. They me encompass'd-round,
Yea compass mee did they:
But in JEHOVAH's Name renown'd
n I-did-cut-them-away.

12. As Bees they compass'd mee,
As fire of thorns were they Quenched: o For in JEHOVAH's Name
p I-did-cut-them-away.
13. Thou (enemy) didst me thrust
Thrusting to make me fall:
But then the LORD, mine onely trust,
Did help me at my call.

III.

14. q The LORD's my strength and song,
And for salvation high
To mee hath hee been all along.
15. The voice of shouting-joy,

f Hoc Pulcherrimum carmen ——Sim de Muis in Arg. Psal. 118.

This most-excellent Song (as one f stiles it deservedly) is of a Mixt Kinde or Nature, being Eucharistical and Prophetical, as to the Subject-Matter of it. Wherein (1) Under the afflictions and enemies of David, the enemies of Christ and his sufferings; (2) Under the Temporal Deliverances and Victories of David, the Spiritual Deliverances and Victories of Christ; 3. Under the coming of David into his Earthly Kingdom, the coming of Christ into his Heavenly Kingdom, being advanced after all his Debasements to be the Head-stone of the Corner; And (4) Under the gladsome Apprecations of Davids Subjects unto him, the like joyful Apprecations of Christs Spiritual Subjects unto him, are most notably shadowed forth and represented.

That this is an Eminent Prophecy of Christ, is evident; 1. From Christs own Testimony, applying some part of this Psalme to himself. Compare ver. 22. 23. with Matth. 21. 42. Mar. 12. 10, 11. Luk. 20. 17. 2. From the Testimony of the Apostles, interpreting and accommodating the same passages unto Christ, ver. 22, 23. with 23. with Act. 4. 11. Ephes. 2. 20, 21. 1 Pet. 2. 4, 5, 6. 3. From the use that the people and Children of the Jewes made of this Psalme. The Jewes counted it so famous a Prophecy of Christ, that with some of the passages in this Psalme they welcome Christ into Jerusalem, singing Hoshiana-na, or Hosanna (as its expressed in the Greek) to the Son of David, &c. i. e. Praying God most High to save the King Christ, who then came in the Name of the LORD, at his last Solemn entring into Jerusalem. Compare Psal. 118. 25, 26. with. Matth. 21. 9, 15. Luk. 19. 37, 38. As to the Forme of this Psalme, it is one of those that have no Title prefixed [g]. And it is the last of those Eucharistical Psalmes, concluding the Jewes GREAT HALELU-JAH, as hath been heretofore noted [h].

[h] See on Psal. 111. §. 3.

Penman of it was probably David. Forasmuch as, 1. It is such an Evident Prophecy of Christ, and his enemies, sufferings, and Kingdome, wherein David was an especial Type of him. 2. It most exactly agrees to the condition of David, who was exercised with many enemies and afflictions round about, was opposed and rejected by the chief Rulers in reference to his Kingdom, and yet at last was by the peculiar hand and Providence of the LORD both delivered out of all his troubles, made victorious over all his enemies, and peaceably possessed of his Kingdom. Herein the Subject-matter of this Psalme and the History of David do most harmoniously agree.

Occasion of Davids Penning this Heroick and Triumphant Psalme, seems to be thus; David having been long exercised with varieties of enemies and afflictions, As with Saul's restless malice, and after his death with Ishbosheth Sauls sonne, who by the assistance of Abner (his, and his Father Sauls General) kept David for a time from his rightful Reign over Israel, 2 Sam. 2. 8, &c. to Chap. 5. 1. And Ishbosheth being dead, and David annointed King over Israel thereupon, while his Kingdom was now distracted and unsetled, David had sundry conflicts with the Philistines, whom he victoriously destroy'd, 2 Sam. 5. throughout. Now when God had delivered David from all his troubles and afflictions, and from all these his enemies, that he was quietly possessed of the Kingdoms both of Judah and Israel, and so became the Head-stone of the Corner: then he is thought by way of grateful return to God to have penned this glorious Psalme with an heart and mouth full and overflowing with Divine Praises [i]. Some think David penned it after he had subdued sundry other Forreign Nations, mentioned in 2 Sam. 8. considering the expressions here in Psal. 118. 10, 11, 12, 22. yea after David in a Battel with the Philistines had that dangerous conflict with Ishbibenob the Gyant, who being girt with a new Sword thought to have slain David, but Abishai succoured him and killed the Philistine, 2 Sam. 21. 15, 16, 17. [k] and indeed Psal. 118. verse 13. seems to import some such deliverance of David from a particular enemy. Only this Battel with the Philistines and Ishbibenob seems to be too long after Davids annointing by Israel: whereas this Psalme seems to be written presently after Davids coming to the Crown of Israel, from verse 22, 23, 24, 25. And there might be some other deliverance of David from a particular enemy meant in verse 13. As Saul, or Ishbosheth, &c. or, his adversary spoken of there in the singular number, may be intended collectively of all his enemies.

§ IV. The Scope.

The Scope of the Psalmist intended in this Psalme, is; 1. Literally to incite all sorts to confesse and give thanks unto God the LORD for his goodness and eternal loving-kindnesse, as also to enlarge himself in all possible affectionate thankfulnesse to God, for hearing him in trouble, helping him to subdue and destroy all sorts of his enemies, and after all difficulties and oppositions stablishing him upon the Throne of his Kingdom over Israel, as well as Judah, making him (though at first a Stone rejected by the Builders, yet at last) the Head of the Corner, by the LORD's own wonderful dispensation. 2. Prophetically, To praise the LORD triumphantly ly, and to provoke others also to extoll him, For the true David the LORD Jesus Christ that was to descend of David according to the flesh, That God heard and supported him in all his distresses, enabled him to subdue and destroy all sorts of his Spiritual enemies; and after all his deep Humiliation, Rejection, and Sufferings at last raised him from the dead, advanced him to his Kingdom at his own right-hand, and so made him (once a Stone refused by the Builders) the Head of the Corner, uniting both Jewes and Gentiles into one Spiritual Building, Ephes. 2. 13. to the end.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal parts.

In this Psalme are chiefly considerable,

I. An Exhortation, To confess unto the LORD: viz. all due praise (As Hierome and Austin do here rightly interpret it to bee A Confession, not of Mans sins, but of Gods praises) 1. Here note, 1. The Act of Gratitude; Confessing. 2. The Object praised and to be confessed unto; the LORD. 3. The matter or cause for which he is to be praised: 1. Partly, His Goodness. 2. Partly, His eternall loving-kindness, or merciful kindness: 4. The parties who are incited to this Duty are; Generally, All sorts. Particularly, Israel, Aarons House, and the Fearers of the LORD, verse, 1. 2, 3, 4.

II. An Experimental Narration of the many and great Causes which the Psalmist himself had to praise the LORD, and trust in him alone, verse 5. to 19. Here,

1. His trust and affiance in God in all straits and conditions: is hinted, viz. verse 6, 7.

2. The grounds of such his trust & confidence are declared, viz. Because, 1. The LORD answered him with much inlargement in the day of his distress, ver. 5. 2. The LORD was for him against his foes, ver. 6. Yea, was chief among his helpers, v. 7. 3. It is better to fly-to-the-LORD-for shelter and safety, then to any Man, ver. 8. Yea, then to the chief Potentates among men, Princes, verse 9. 4 In the Name of the LORD, he had cut off and destroyed All Nations encompassing him, yea, encompassing him like Bees, verse 10. 11, 12. 5. The LORD singularly aided him against the dangerous enemy, that thrusting, thrusted at him to make him fall, verse 13. 6. The LORD hath been his strength, song, and salvation, verse 14. 7. The voyce of joy and salvation is at last in the dwellings of the righteous, verse 15. 8. The right hand of the LORD doth valiantnesse, for his people that rest upon him, verse 15. 16. 9. He shall not now dy, though he hath been sore chastized, but live to declare the LORD's Acts, vers. 17. 18.

III. An elegant and emphatical Description of David's high thankfulness to God upon his full coming into his Kingdome over Israel, verse 19. to the end. And this is laid down Dialogue-wise, as if it were a Discourse betwixt divers speakers. Here,

1. David speaks to the Porters and Levites to open to him the Court-gates of the LORD's Tabernacle, Declaring that to be the LORD's Sanctuary-gate into which the Righteous shall enter, verse 19. 20.

2. David being entred in, I. David confesseth to the LORD with thankfulness, 1. For hearing his Prayer. 2. For being his Salvation, verse 21. 3. For making him the Head Corner-Stone in his Kingdome, though formerly refused by the builders, verse 22. This last is amplified elegantly by a double Epiphonema. 1. That, this work was of the LORD's own contriving, and marvellous in mens eyes, verse 23. 2. That this was a Day of the LORD's own making, and therefore a Day of Joy and Gladness to his people, verse 24. II. The people appreciate Salvation and prosperity to their King, verse 25. As once the Disciples and Children did to Christ entering into Jerusalem, Matth. 21. 9, 15. Luke 19. 37, 38. III. The Priests bless King David out of the Sanctuary, Coming in the Name of the LORD, verse 26. IIII. David thus having received the Acclamation of the people, and benediction of the Priest. 1. Offers his Thank-offerings to God, verse 27. 2. Professeth the LORD to be his God, and that he will confess him, and exalt him, verse 28. 3. Concludeth, with an Exhortation to all to confess unto the LORD, for his goodness, and eternal loving kindness (as he began the Psalme) verse 29.

Confessio hæc non ad peccatorum remissionem, sed ad laudem pertinet Deitatis. Hieron. in Comment. ad Psal. 117. Tom. 8.

Hic manifestè certum est, vocem confessionis & sonum, non ad merorem pœnitentiæ, sed ad lætitiam Festivitatis celeberrimæ pertinere Aug. in Enarrat. Psal. 117. Tom 8.

Psalme

Pſalme CXIX.

§. I. The Summary Contents of the whole Pſalme.

In this Pſalme are promiſcuouſly laid down, 1. The great happineſs of all ſuch as in Chriſt rightly obſerve God's Law, Word or Doctrine. 2. Manifold praiſes of the Excellencies of the Law or Word of God, and of the ſweet effects of the ſame. 3. Many profeſſions of dear affections and ſincere obedience to the Law or Word of God. 4. Some complaints againſt his afflictions, Perſecuting and oppreſſing Enemies, and wicked-mens breaking the Law of God. 5. And Sundry pathetical Prayers, Petitions, wiſhes and deſires in order to the Pſalmiſts due obſervance of the Law and Word of God. Which things are ſo frequently intermingled, that the Method and order of them cannot ſo well be noted and pointed out in the whole Pſalme, as in the ſeveral Octonaries or Parts thereof. And therefore in the explaining of this Pſalme, The uſual method muſt be a little altered: General Explications being premiſed before the whole Pſalm; Particular Contents and Analyſes being annexed to the ſeveral Octonaries.

§. II. The Nature or Kinde, and Excellency of this Pſalme.

I. The Nature or Kinde of this Pſalm may be conſidered, 1. As to the Subject-Matter of it, which is mixt, and made up of Doctrines, Prayers, Prayſes, Profeſſions, Holy Reſolutions, Complaints, &c. variouſly interwoven: but all having ſome eminent tendency, reſpect, or reference to the Law or Word of God, in one reſpect or another. In which reſpect, Hierome ſeems to ſay; This Pſalme contains in it a great myſtery [a]. 2. As to the Form of penning it; It hath no Title or Inſcription prefixed. As hath been formerly noted on Pſal. I. §. 4. And in that regard we are deſtitute of ſome certain light touching the Penman and particular Occaſion of it. It is one of the Alphabetical Pſalms (as hath been noted) penned after the order of the Hebrew Alphabet, which conſiſts of 22 Letters [b]. For in this Pſalme are 22 parts (which the learned call Octonaries, every part conſiſting of 8 verſes or periods, and every of thoſe verſes in the Hebrew, beginning with the ſame Hebrew letter reſpectively. As all the 8 periods or verſes in the firſt part or firſt Octonary begin with the firſt Letter א. All the 8 periods in the ſecond Octonary begin with the ſecond Letter ב. All the 8 periods of the third Octonary, begin with the third Letter ג. And ſo they proceed unto the end. The Alphabet therefore obſerved in this Pſalme is ſingular and differing from the manner of the Alphabet obſerved in all the other Alphabetical Pſalmes. Whereby (as one [c] hath noted well) is declared unto us; 1. The diligence of the Penner: that with very careful meditation it was framed. 2. The worth of the Pſalm. In that the Spirit fretteth and enamelleth it with theſe Characters. 3. And the deſire that the Reader ſhould remember it, being thus in order of Elements ſet down. Though ſome think this was onely or chiefly done for the help of memory [d]. And this courſe ſeems to hint unto us the excellency of this and all other Alphabetical Pſalmes, being moſt worthy to be got by heart, and retained in memory by the people of God. Hierome notes this Alphabetical order in this Pſalme: and withall tells us, That Joſephus (in libris ἀρχαιολογίας) reports, that that this Pſalme, and the Song in Deuteronomie were compoſed both in one Metre, An Elegial Metre; the firſt conſiſting of ſix feet, the next of five, Hexameters, and Pentameters [e]. For quantity, This is the longeſt of all the Pſalmes in this whole Book by far, conſiſting of 22. Octonaries, or 22. Parts, in every of which are eight verſes. But the matter being ſuch an Heavenly Meditation, The longer it is (as one ſaid) the better it is [f].

e Totus hic Pſalmus eſt Scriptus ſecundum ordinem literarum: ita ut ab una litera octo verſus incipiant & rurſum à ſequenti octo alii compleantur. Et hoc ſimiliter uſque ad finen texatur. Joſephus autem refert, in libris ἀρχαιολογίας hunc Pſalmum & Deuteronomii Canticum uno metro eſſe compoſitum, & putat Elegiarum metrum in utroque poſſe deprehendi; quod ſcilicet prio. verſus 6 pedibus conſtet, inferior uno minus in Pentametram finiatur. Hieronym. in Com. ad Pſ. 118. tit. Tom. 8. f Hic Pſalmus eſt tantò præſtantior, quantò prolixior, &c. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 119.

II. The Excellency of this Pſalme is notably indigitated to us, In the artificial and ſingular Alphabetical compoſure thereof; In the pleaſant and ſweetly ordered prolixity thereof; but eſpecially in the Holy and Heavenly matter thereof. Hierome (as was noted) ſaith; This Pſalm containes in it a great myſtery. Auguſtine thought this Pſalme ſo profound, that it is underſtood by few. And therefore in his Expounding of the Pſalmes, he deferred this till the laſt: and ſaid; The plainer it ſeemed to be, the profounder it was to him g. —— Eſtey tells us; —— It is altogether (as a man may term it) a Chriſtal (not a flattering) glaſs of all true Godlineſs, or a Touchſtone of all ſincere-hearted worſhippers of God, and lively Anatomy, or laying open of a good ſoul. Whereto the more one can find himſelf like, the more mercy hath he found of God, and oweth him the more praiſe. I may truly ſay of this Pſalm; That it is a ſweet bundle of holy meditations; A diſcovery of that bleſſedneſs which eminently accompanies true godlineſs; A clear Map of ſincere univerſal conſtant obedience to the Law of God; An admirable adumbration of the holy frame, diſpoſition, conſtitution and affections of a right gracious ſpirit; And eſpecially an high Elogy and magnifical Commendation of the excellent Law or Word of God, and of its ſingular uſefulneſs to the People of God in their whole Pilgrimage here on Earth, and peculiarly in their deepeſt afflictions and perſecutions: Inſomuch (that as it is well obſerved h by divers) in this long Pſalme, there is not one verſe wherein there is not one Synonumous word or other denoting this Law or word of God, As Law, Statutes, Precepts, Commandments, Teſtimonies, Judgements, Juſtice, wayes of God, Word, Saying, Truth, Depoſited-Precepts, &c. (all which are Synonyma's, with much elegant variety of notion; ſetting forth the manifold perfections and excellencies of the Law or Word of God,) except in verſe 122. wherein though ſuch a word be not, yet the thing is implyed in the Metaphor of a Suretie, which is wont to be done or given by a word. And therefore it will be uſeful for us to underſtand the proper ſenſe and meaning of theſe ſeveral Synonyma's, by the frequent uſe whereof the Law or Word of God is here more magnified, then in any other Pſalme or portion of Scripture beſide.

g —Pſalmum verò 118. non tam propter ejus notiſſimam longitudinem, quam propter altitudinem paucis cognoſcibilem differebam. —— Quantò enim videtur apertior, tantò mihi profundior videri ſolet: ita ut etiam quam ſit profundus, demonſtrare non poſſim, &c. *Auguſt. 1. תורה Torah, Law, Doctrines, &c. Pſalm. 119. 1. and often. It is derived from ירה Jarah, ſignifying primarily, To caſt forth, viz. ſtones, arrows, drops, ſhowers, &c. Secondarily, it ſignifies to Teach, Inſtruct, &c. by a Metaphorical alluſion to caſting forth of rain or ſhowers. For as the often caſting forth of rain makes the Earth abound with fruit: ſo the often caſting forth of Gods Will, Doctrine, &c. makes the ſoul fruitful in knowledge i. It properly ſignifies, A preſcript, Reaſon, or Doctrine delivered or revealed by God, touching his Will, whereunto our life and practice is to be conform. It's of more general extent then the word, Law. It comprehends all parts of Divine Doctrine, being a very generall comprehenſive word.

i S. Pagnin. in Theſ. ad verb. ירה

2. דרך Derech, way, viz. of the LORD, Pſal. 119. 1. 3. and often. It is a Metaphorical alluſion to the way or path wherein a man walks from place to place. And it denotes; 1. Sometimes that way, courſe, or habitual order of life and practiſe which God hath appointed us to walk in, and the Rule or Guide thereof his Word: 2. Sometimes times, The example of God, which in ſome things we are required to follow; as to be Holy, merciful, perfect, &c. as he is holy, mercifull, perfect, 1 *Pet.*1.16. Luke 6.36. *Matth.*5.48.

3. ארח Orach, Way, Path, Manner, Cuſtome, &c. *Pſal.*119.15. &c. It is much of like ſignification with the former word, but not of ſo frequent uſe in the Holy Scripture.

4. דבר Dabar, *Word, Speech, Pſal.*119.9.16. and very often. This word is not applied, no not figuratively to things mute, that cannot ſpeak, as Hebricians obſerve [k]. It denotes here Gods Word written, whereby in a ſort he ſpeaks his mind and will to us. Generally, it imports the whole written Word of God. Specially, it ſometimes imports his Word of Promiſe, as verſ. 28. 65.

5. אמרה Imra, A ſaying, a pronouncing, a promiſe, Pſal. 119.11,38,58. and often. Learned Hebricians doe obſerve ſome Grammatical differences betwixt this and דבר [l], *viz.*1. That this word אמרה ſignifies the act of ſpeaking, properly: but that word, the diſpoſition of the thing or cauſe. 2. This word is applied to things dumb figuratively; as well as to things that can ſpeak properly: but that word is only applied to things that can ſpeak. 3. Th word is ſtill uſed with reference to another, to whom any thing is ſaid: but that word is uſed oft-times without reference to any other. 4. In conſtruction, This word is joyned onely with אל or ל but דבר is joyned with ב and את, and not אמר except when it ſignifies ſpeaking in the heart.

6. חקים Chukkim, and חקות Chukkoth, Statutes, Decrees, Conſtitutions, conſtituted or preſcribed Ordinations, &c. *Pſal.*119.12.16. and often. It properly denotes (as Mercerus [m] hath it out of Kimchi) Statutes, Decrees, Rites, Ceremonies, &c. appointed and ordained of God, about matters of Religion, or the worſhip of God, as Circumciſion, Sacrifices, Feſtivals, &c. and ſpecially for thoſe inſtitutions, the reaſon whereof is in great part unknown; As about not eating of Swines fleſh, not wearing a garment of Linnen and Woollen, &c [n]. But ſome contrariwiſe, by חקים underſtand (ſaith Calvin) Statutes or Rites divinely preſcribed, whereof the certain Reaſon is evident [o].

7. משפטים Miſhpatim, Judgements, Pſalme 119.7. 20. and very often. This word is often joyned with Lawes and Statutes in Old Teſtament, Levit. 26.46. and they are thus differenced, Laws import Moral precepts as the Decalogue: Statutes, all Rites and Ceremonial Ordinances about matters of Religion, Divine Worſhip, &c. Judgments, imply all judicial Lawes touching political Rites, belonging to the protection and welfare of humane ſociety. But when this word Judgements is uſed ſeperately and alone, without Lawes and Statutes, it may have a larger acceptation, as Mercerus hath noted [p]; Judgements are often Precepts which concern our neighbour, although often generally by this Name the Decrees of God, and things pronounced or judged by him are underſtood. Called Judgements, becauſe ſtill appointed by God in Judgement and Juſtice: as Calvin notes.

8. מצות Mitſuoth, Commandements, Mandates, &c. *Pſal.*119.6.10.21. and often. It is derived from צוה To Command, Decree, &c. And that with the great Authority of the Law-giver (thinks [q] Ames,) And it properly notes; An obliging, or binding-command. A command that binds to obſerve any thing: as Mercerus [r] obſerves.

9. פקודים Pikkudhim, *Precepts Pſal.*119.4.15. and often. It ariſeth from the root פקד To viſite, require, command, conſtitute, depoſit, commit any office, &c. And it properly ſignifies An inſpection, A requiring, An Office committed to another, &c. Hebrew Doctors ſay it imports properly, Precepts belonging to the equitie of Nature [s]. Kimchi ſaith, They are thoſe precepts which the underſtanding dictates, and are as it were a Depoſited thing in the heart of man. Depoſited Precepts, committed of truſt to us to keep: As Ames, and S. de Muis [t]. So that this word is very emphatical.

10. עדות Ghueduth, Teſtimony, witneſs, Pſal. 119.2. and often. Is derived from עוד which in Hifil ſignifies To teſtifie, bear witneſs, &c. Hence Teſtimony denotes the Law and Commandements of God, which God gave in a way of Covenant to Iſrael, (as Calvin notes:) To witneſs and teſtifie betwixt God and them the Covenanted agree- ment u. Hence the Ark containing the two Tables of the Law and Covenant, Deut. 5.2,3,6. &c. is called the Ark of Teſtimony, Exod. 25. 22. and 26.33. and the Tabernacle containing the Ark, The Tabernacle of Teſtimony, Numb. 10. 11. And the Tables are called, The Tables of Teſtimony, Exod. 31. 18. And 32. 15. and 34.29. And The Teſtimony, Exod. 40. 20. But alſo generally this word Teſtimony, imports to us, the Word of God (ſaith Mercerus,) whereby God teſtifies his Will unto us x. And (as Ames further adds) Teſtimonies, ſo called; becauſe this Will, as a Teſtimony or Teſtament of God, doth teſtifie, 1. Of Right, what we ought to do. 2. Of Fact, when we do well or ill. 3. Of Event, what good or evil we are to expect according to the good or evil we do. And by this means it directs our Conſciences in giving teſtimony, as well of our ſtate, as of our actions paſt, preſent, and future y. So hee.

11 צדק Tſedeck, Juſtice, Righteouſneſs, Pſal. 119.40. 142. 144. The Law and Word of God is ſo called; becauſe 1. It is in it ſelf moſt exquiſitely and exactly juſt, right and equal, Rom. 7.12. Pſal. 19.9. 2. It is juſtified by all manner of proofs, trials, and experiments, Pſal. 138.2. And ought ſtill to be juſtified by all the children of wiſedom, Matth. 11.19. 3. It renders a man juſt and righteous before God that uprightly obſerves the Law and Word of God, Luke 1.6.

12. אמונה Emunah, The Truth, faithfulneſs, Pſal. 119.30.90. 142. 151. The Law and whole Word of God is ſo ſtiled, The Doctrine, Promiſes, Prophecies, Threats, Narratives, &c. thereof being moſt exactly true, faithful and ſure, without any the leaſt ſhadow of errour, deceit or falſhood.

By theſe twelve words (which for ſubſtance are Synonyma's, pointing out the Law and Word of God in this Pſalme) the excellency of this Pſalme, and of the Law and Word of God (the ſubject-Matter thereof) is notably illuſtrated, with Elegant variety. All which I thought neceſſary here to explain, becauſe the right ſenſe of them conduceth much to the true underſtanding of this choice Pſalme.

§. III. The Penman, Occaſion, and Scope of this Pſalme.

1. The Penman of this Pſalme is not here or elſewhere plainly declared who he was: But it is very probable, David was the Penman of the Holy Ghoſt in writing it. For, 1. The matter of it notably agrees to David's 19. Pſalme, wherein the Synonymous Denominations, and high prayſes of God's Law and Word are laid down, verſ. 7,8,9,&c. as in this Pſalme. 2. The afflicted and perſecuted ſtate of David, eſpecially under Saul, is frequently hinted in this Pſalme, what reproach, fears, dangers, injuries, oppreſſions, &c. he was expoſed unto by his enemies, yea, by Princes and great ones, See verſe 19,21, 22, 23, 25, 28,39, 42,46, 50,51, 61,67, 69,70,71,75,78,84,85,86,87,92,95,98, 107,109,110,115,122. 134,139,141,144, 150,153,154,157,161. which paſſages and expreſſions do moſt ſingularly agree to Davids condition, as it is repreſented in his Hiſtory. 3. This Pſalm doth all along ſavour of the Spirit of David, being a lively Idea of his Faith, Obedience, zeale Heavenly affections and Integrity in all. 4. This is one of the Alphabetical Pſalmes. There are in all, ſeven Alphabetical Pſalmes (as hath been hinted:) viz. Pſ. 25.34.37. 111.112.119.145. Four of theſe, viz. Pſ. 25.34.37.145. were Penned by David, as is evident by their Titles: the other three alſo, though un-tituled, more then probably were Penned alſo by him, as both the matter of them clearly intimater, and this Alphabetical Manner of writing them (uſual with David) ſuggeſts unto us. 5. Interpreters, many conceive that David Penned this Pſalme, though ſome are unſatisfied who wrote it z.

II. The Occaſion of the Pſalmiſts Penning this Pſalme, ſeems from the Subject Matter of it to be this; viz. David in the courſe of his Pilgrimage here on Earth, meeting with many and great viciſſitudes of affaires, conditions and divine diſpenſations, being exerciſed with many Enemies and potent Perſecutors; eſpecially King Saul, with deep diſtreſſes, plunges and difficulties; grievous dangers, afflictions and Perſecutions, and yet in them all being enabled by the rich Grace of his God, to adhere unto the Law and Word of God as his Guide, Counſellour, Comfort, Portion, Delight, &c. Whereby he held up his head in deepeſt waters of troubles, and at laſt happily arrived at a ſafe Shore: Did hereupon take Occaſion in this Pſalme to bundle up all thoſe his ſweet and Heavenly Meditations which in ſuch caſes he had in and about the Word of God, (his General Antidote againſt all Maladies and Calamities,) and his rich advantages reaped thereby in all conditions; That ſo he might out of his own experience magnifically extol the Word of God, and recommend the like uſe and improvement of it in all dangers, difficulties, troubles and afflictions whatſoever, to all the true-hearted people and ſervants of the LORD. Davids practice and exerciſe in the Law of God, is here propounded for our Inſtruction and Exemplary Imitation.

III. The Scope of this Pſalme is; 1. To ſet forth the ſingular Happineſs of the Godly, that ſincerely love and obſerve the Law and Word of God in Chriſt. 2. To diſplay, praiſe and magnifie the incomparable Excellency, Worth, Preciouſneſs and uſefulneſs of the Word and Law of God unto his faithful people in all varieties of Conditions, Difficulties, Afflictions and Perſecutions, by his own great experience. 3. And to Encourage all the ſervants of the LORD, to make Gods word, their very Refuge and Remedy againſt all Evils, Extremities and Enemies whatſoever: Their Counſellour, Comforter, Portion, Heritage, Joy and Delight tranſcendent in all ſtates and conditions, throughout their Pilgrimage.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal parts of the whole Pſalme.

Ambroſe obſerves; That ſeveral ſingular Sentences are explicated in the ſeveral verſes of this Pſalme a, &c. And for the moſt part it is ſo, throughout the Pſalme: It being made up of many conciſe Aphoriſmes or compendious Sentences, as moſt part of the Book of Proverbs is from chap. 10. &c. Like an heap of Gold rings or Precious ſtones, without connexion one to another. And therefore it will be very hard to repreſent any handſome Logical Analyſis of this whole Pſalme at once, which is ſo prolixe and Sententious. The Contents and Parts of every Octonary ſeverally, may be more eaſily and profitably laid down. And as to the whole Pſalme, I ſhall content my ſelf with that diſtribution of it into xxij Parts according to the Number and Order of the Hebrew Alphabet, by the Penman of it.

1. a BLeſt are-the-perfect-ones of way:
Who in JEHOVAH's Law, b do go.
2. c Bleſs't are his Records keepers ay:
With all the heart ſeek him who do.

2. b O-Blessed-Blessed they that keep His Testimonies still:
They that him diligently-seek
With all the heart and will.

3. Yea, who work not iniquity:
But in his wayes c do go.
4. Thy Laws, to be kept vehemently,
Commanded oft hast thou.
5. O that t' observe thy Statutes high,
My wayes d were-fix'd-direct!
6. Then shall I not be sham'd, e when I
All thy commands respect.

7. Thee I will joyfully confess
With f righteousness of heart:
When judgements of thy righteousness
I shall learn, and impart.
8. Most heedfully observe will I
Thy statutes thou didst make:
O do not unto vehemency
In anger mee forsake.

3. And they that work not d wickedness:
But in his wayes walk heedfully.
4. Thy Precepts thou commanded hast,
To be observed vehemently.

5. O that my wayes e were fix'd-direct,
To keep thy Statutes thou didst frame.
6. When I f all thy commands respect,
Then shall I not be bash't-with-shame.

7. With heart's uprightness g I'le thee praise:
When thy just judgements I shall h know.
8. I will observe thy Statutes wayes:
Mee i very much forsake not thou.

In this First Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the First Letter ℵ Aleph) Are considerable,

I. A Declaration, or Proposition of the wonderful Happiness of those that are truely obedient to God in his Word and Law. O the blessednesses, &c! This their obedience is illustrated, 1. By the Objects thereof, viz. God, himself, The Law of IEHOVAH: His Testimonies: His wayes. 2. By the Acts thereof Seeking, keeping, walking. 3. By the Adjuncts thereof, viz. Sincere Perfection of way or course of life. Entire Cordialness herein. Abnegation of all opposite iniquity. And constancy in all, verse 1, 2, 3.

II. A Signification of the efficient Cause of keeping and observing Gods Precepts, viz. Gods will declared by his commands. This observing of his Precepts is amplified by the vehement and utmost endeavour that should be manifested therein; to be observed vehemently, verse 4.

III. A Pathetical Description of the Psalmists singular Affection and zeal to this commanded obedience, wherein true Happiness is to be found, verse 5. to the end. This his zealous Affection is laid down, and Amplified, 1. By way of serious wish, That his wayes, his whole course of life, were so fixedly directed, that he might keep Gods Statutes verse 5. 2. By the Reason of this wish, viz. A double advantage or effect that would ensue upon his obedience. That is; (1) An avoiding of shame and confusion by having sincere and entire respect to all Gods commandments, verse 6. (2) An obtaining of sweet cause and Occasion of praising the LORD with righteousness of heart, upon learning the judgements of his justice, verse 7. 3. By his holy Purpose of observing Gods Statutes. Amplified, By a Deprecation of the LORD's utter deserting him: wherein is a tacit Imploration of the LORD'S assistance of him in his resolved obedience, verse 8.

In this Second Octonary, (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Second Letter ב Beth,) The true Happineſs of the godly in obſerving and keeping Gods Law or Word, is notably illuſtrated and Amplyfied;

I. By the efficacy and ſingular uſefulneſs of Gods Word to effect Sanctity and purity of life, yea even in a young man, whoſe life is moſt apt to be contaminated with all manner of youthful luſts, and who is moſt indiſpoſed to be clenſed from them. Here note, 1. The Matter Propounded, which doth emphatically comprize and repreſent, 1. A great ſpiritual Malady, viz. Sinful defilement of way, of Converſation, or courſe of life, implyed in that phraſe; clenſe his way. 2. The Patient labouring under this Malady; A young man. Moſt apt to be corrupted: and moſt indiſpoſed to be reformed and cured. Conſequently, by a Synechd. We may here underſtand, any man. 3. The Remedy, (1) Inquired after; Wherewith ſhall he clenſe——? (2) Diſcovered; Gods Word. (3) Applyed; By taking heed to his way, his life, according to his word. II. The manner of Propounding, viz. In form of a Dialogue, by way of queſtion and Anſwer, for the more clearneſs and emphaſis, verſe 9.

II. By that holy way or courſe of life, (wherein no ſmall part of the Saints Happineſs in this life conſiſts,) according to the word, which the Pſalmiſt here, and every Godly perſon anſwerably, deſires and reſolves to take, in order to this Sanctity and Purity of life, verſe 10. to 17. viz. Particularly, 1. In ſeeking the LORD with the whole heart. And ſpecially, that he may not ſuffer him to wander from his commandments, verſe 10. 2. In hiding Gods ſayings in his heart, that he might not ſin againſt him, verſe 11. 3. In deſiring the bleſſed LORD, to learn him his Statutes, verſe 12. 4. In declaring abroad (for Gods honour, and others ſpiritual benefit) all the judgements of Gods mouth, verſe 13. 5. In reioycing in the way of Gods Teſtimonies more then in all plenteous ſtore of Riches, verſe 14. 6. In meditating upon Gods Precepts, and contemplating or having reſpect to his wayes, ver. 15. 7. In delighting himſelf, or recreating himſelf in Gods Statutes, and anſwerably not forgetting his Words, verſe 16.

In this Third Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the third Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ג Gimel) which is a devout Prayer, The Pſalmiſt Petitioneth, in order to the inciting of his Heart to the due ſtudy of the Word of God,

I. More Generally, for the LORD's bounteous-beneficence towards himſelf, His ſervant, That he may live and obſerve God's Word; wherein note, 1. The Eminency of the favour deſired. Bounty. 2. The Author of it. 3. The Subject recipient; Thy ſervant. 4. The end for which this favour is deſired, Subordinately, Life. Ultimately, Obſerving Gods word, verſe 17.

II. More Particularly.

1. For Gods aſſiſtance of him againſt, and deliverance of him from all inward inherent infirmities and impediments, hindring his due underſtanding and keeping of Gods Word. As, 1. His darkneſs of minde, verſe 18. 2. His Imperfection, in his abſence from the Lord, during his Pilgrim condition on Earth, verſe 19. Againſt both which his requeſt is enforced very pathetically, by the conſtant vehemency or intenſiveneſs of his Souls deſires after Gods Judgements, verſe 20.

2. For Gods defence againſt, and deliverance from outward adventitious evils wherewith the world is wont to exercise the Godly that deſire to keep Gods Teſtimonies; As; Reproach and Contempt. This is laid down, verſe 22. And urged, 1. From Gods juſtice, who is wont to Rebuke the proud accurſed, Wandring from Gods Commandements, verſe 21. 2. From the Pſalmiſts conſtant care to perform his Dutie to Gods Word: 1. Keeping his Teſtimonies. 2. Meditating in his Statutes. 3. Making Gods Teſtimonies his Delights, and the men of his Counſel. And all this with undaunted reſolution, notwithſtanding Princes ſate and ſpake againſt him, verſe 22, 23, 24.

f Heb. I have chosen.
g Heb. let mee not be bash'd with shame.

In this Fourth Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Fourth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ד Daleth) The Psalmist being under deep afflictions Prayeth, and in his Prayer represents the singular benefit and usefulnes of Gods word in the heavyest distresses. To this end,

I. He Prayeth for sundry benefits by or from the Word, in order to his better management of his Afflictions. As for, 1. Quickning according to his Word. Which is urged, from the Extremity of his distress, verse 25 *. 2. Instruction in his Word. Urged, from Gods former Answering of his Prayers, Experimented, verse 26. 3. Information in the way of his Precepts. Urged, from his resolution and promise thereupon to Meditate on Gods wondrous-Works, verse 27. 4. Raising-him-up, according to Gods word. Prefsed; From the intensiveness of his distress; His Soul dropping (as it were melted into teares and dissolved) through heavyness, verse 28.

II. He deprecateth divers evils. Especially, 1. The way of falshood. i. e. The false way of Religion, erroneous Doctrine, Opinion, Worship, &c. Or the false way of sinful practises, &c. Both opposed afterwards to the way of Trueth. This is illustrated, (1.) Partly, By the proper Antidote against this way of falshood, here desired; Gods Law given-graciously to him, verse 29. (2.) Partly, By his opposite study and endeavour; He having chosen the way of Trueth, and Proposed Gods judgements to himself, ver. 30. 2. Shame or Confusion. That notwithstanding all his deep distresses he may not be dasht with shame, or be overwhelmed with shame as disappointed of his hopes of deliverance and Divine support, &c. This he amplifies and urgeth, (1) Partly. From his former Constancy of Faith and obedience, cleaving to Gods Testimonies, verse 31. (2) Partly, From his pious Resolution for future, To mend his pace in the way of Gods commandments, When God shall enlarge his sadned and straitned heart, verse 32.

*Theodosius the Emperour being sharply reprooved by Ambrose for his slaughter of about 7000. at Thessalonica innocent and nocent, without distinction, &c. entring into the Temple, not standing nor kneeling, but casting himself down upon the ground, recited that verse of Dawids; My Soul cleaveth unto the dust, quicken me according to thy Word; and tearing his hair with his hands, he began to beat his forehead, to water the ground with his tears, and beg pardon, &c. Theod. Eccl. Hist. l. 5. c. 17.

V. Octonary.

This V. Octonary is also A Prayer of like Nature to the former, Touching the use of the Word in the Evil of Affliction. And as in the former the Psalmist had prayed for benefit by the Word against the Misery of Afflictions: So here he prays for good by the Word against the Temptations of Afflictions; 1. Petitioning to be Informed in, and inclined to Good, verse 33. to 36. 2. Deprecating sundry Temptations unto Evil, verse 36. to 41.

For d there my pleasure lies.
36. Thy Testimonies bow mine heart to,
And not to avarice.
37. From seeing vainness mine eyes e turne;
In thy wayes quicken mee.
38. To thy servant f thy Word confirm.
That's fix'd to-feare-of-thee.

II. Version.

33. O LORD, teach mee thy Statutes way,
And I shall keep it to the end.
34. a Learn mee, that keep thy Law I may
And it with all the heart b attend.
35. In thy Commands path make-mee-go:
Because in it c my-pleasure lies.
36. Thy Testimonies bow mine heart to,
And not to loathsom avarice.
37. From seeing vainness mine eyes d turne:

39. f My fear'd reproach away-turnethou :-
For very good thy Judgments bee.
40 Lo, I-have-love thy Precepts to :
Thou in thy Justice quicken mee.

f Heb. reproach which I feare.

In this Fifth Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Fifth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ה He.) the Psalmist continues his Prayer, in reference to his Afflictions, and the Temptations incident thereupon: for benefit by the Word of God. And herein,

I. He petitioneth for good, viz. 1. To be taught the way of Gods Statutes. This is urged from his scope therein; that he may keep it to the end, vers.33. 2. To be made to understand, to be made intelligent. This is urged, from his intended practice in keeping Gods Law, and entire observing thereof, verse 34. 3. To be made to tread in the path of Gods Commandments, urged, from his delight therein, verse 35. 4. That the LORD would incline his heart unto his Testimonies, *ver.*36. in the beginning.

II. He deprecateth, or prayeth against sundry Evils, or Temptations and Inducements to evils. As, 1. Against his hearts inclination to evil Concupiscences, Synechdochically noted by one kinde thereof, Covetousnes, *ver.*36. latter end. 2. Against all false vanity, all vain and evil external Objects, that by means of the outward senses are apt to make ill Impressions upon the Inward Soule: That his Eyes may be turn'd away from beholding them. This is Illustrated by the fruits or effects that shall be consequent thereupon, viz. (1.) His Quickening in Gods wayes, ver.37. (2) The Confirming and Fulfilling of Gods Saying, Gods Promise unto him, addicted to his feare, ver.38. 3. Against all reproach and infamy, which through his failings he was afraid might fall upon him: that it might be averted and prevented. This is urged, From the goodness of Gods Judgments, whereby he should be preserved from this evil, verse 39. 4. Against all spiritual dulness and deadness in his obedience: implied in his Petition for Quickening him. This Quickening is urged; Partly, from Gods Righteousness and Justice. Partly, from his own affectionate love and desire after Gods Precepts, ver. 40.

VI. Octonary.

The VI. Octonary is mixt of Petitions, and holy Resolutions, Purposes, or Promises, upon the obtaining of those Petitions. These are interwoven one with another. Herein the Psalmist 1. Prayeth for Mercy and Salvation out of his Afflictions, *ver.*41,42. 2. Deprecateth, or Prayeth against Gods pulling the Word of Truth out of his mouth, ver.43. 3. Professeth hereupon his endeared Respects to, and observance of Gods Word, In Work, Word, and Heart, ver. 44. to 49. In the whole here's the right use of Gods Word after deliverance out of Affliction.

47. I also will in thy Commands,
Which I have lov'd f, mee recreate.
48. And g lift to thy lov'd Lawes my hands,
And on thy Statutes meditate.

In

In this VIth Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Sixth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ו Vau,) the Psalmist praying for Gods Loving-kindnesses and Salvation of him from affliction, and that God would not utterly take the Word of Trueth out of his mouth, viz. by non-performance of his Promises, &c. for fulfilling whereof he desires his mouth might still magnifie him; Professeth and promiseth upon receipt of these favours by way of gratitude, to respect and observe his Word and Law, in Deed, Word, and Heart. More Particularly,

I. He Prayeth, 1. For Gods Loving-kindnesses and Salvation (viz. out of Affliction,) that they might come to him. Where he expresseth, (1) The Ground of this his Petition, viz. Gods Word of Promise, &c. verse 41. (2) The good effect which will ensue upon granting of it, viz. Thereby he shall be really furnished with an Answer to every one that reproacheth him for trusting in the Word of God, ver. 42. 2. For constant Cause or Occasion of extolling the Word of Truth in his mouth, viz. Upon Gods performance of his Word of Promise to him. This is implied in his Deprecating the contrary. And it is urged, from the Psalmists hopeful-waiting for Gods Judgments of his mouth to be accomplished for him accordingly, ver. 43.

II. He Professeth, Resolveth and Promiseth, by way of gratitude upon Gods performance of his Requests, 1. In Deed, (1) His continual observance of Gods Law, verse 44. (2) His constant walking in much enlargednesse, having sought Gods Precepts. (This Enlargednesse may import, either the enlargednesse of his heart in his duty, as vers. 32. or the enlargedness and plainness of his way wherein he is to walk. As Psal. 18. 36. or the enlargedness of his condition in way of mercy from God, as Psal. 4. 1.) vers 45. 2. In word, his speaking of Gods Testimonies, to their praise, &c. even before Kings: and not being ashamed of them, ver. 46. 3. In Heart. (1) His delighting himself in Gods Commandments which he had loved, ver. 47. (2) His meditating in Gods Statutes. Amplified by his Resolution of revolving and lifting his hands to Gods Commandments, which he had loved, vers. 48.

VII. Octonary.

This VII. Octonary is of mixt Nature, being Petitory, and Narratory. Wherein the Psalmist 1 Petitioneth for divine favour in his distress, ver. 49. 2. Declareth what great and manifold comfort he had from Gods Word in his greatest afflictions, ver. 50. to 57.

I. Version.

49. THe Word unto thy servant * minde,
For which thou mad'st mee-waite.
50. In mine affliction still I finde
This is my Comfort great:
That thy sweet Saying quickneth mee.
51. The proud a exceedingly Mee scorn'd: But from thy Law or thee Declined have not I.
52. LORD, b I recall'd thy Judgments old:
And-my-self-comforted.
53. c Great-horrour did on me take-hold,
d For wicked ones misled,
Forsakers of thy Law through Sin.
54. Thy Statutes precious
Have unto mee been Songs within My Pilgrimages house.
55. Thy Name remembred I by night,
LORD, and thy Law observ'd.
56. This was to mee: because aright
Thy Precepts I conserv'd.

* Heb. remember.
a Heb. unto vehemency.
b Heb. I remembred thy Judgements of old.
c Heb. burning-horrour. or a stormy-terrour.
d Heb. or from the wicked.

II. Version.

49. THe Word unto thy servant a minde,
For which thou-mad'st-me-wait on thee.
50. My comfort in my b wo I finde
This; That thy saying quickneth me.
51. The proud have scorn'd mee c vehemently:
I have not from thy Law declin'de.
52. O LORD, thy Judgments d old did I,
To my great comfort, call-to-minde.
53. e Great-horrour did on mee take-hold;
For wicked, that thy Law do leave.
54. Within my Pilgrimages house
Been Songs to me thy Statutes have.
55. By night remembred I thy Name,
O LORD; And I thy Law observ'd.
56. Unto mee therefore was this-same,
Because thy Precepts I conserv'd.

a Heb. remember.
b Heb. affliction.
c Heb. unto vehemency.
d Heb. of old I remembred, & comforted my self.
e Heb. burning-horrour took hold on mee, from the wicked, the forsakers of thy Law

In this Seventh Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Seventh Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ז Zain) The Psalmist, in reference to his Afflictions and distresses,

I. Petitioneth to the Lord, That he would Remember his word of Promise to him, whereon he had made him hopefully to wait, verse 49.

II. Declareth, and confesseth thankfully before the Lord, what great benefit and comfort he had from and in his word, in all his afflictions, verse 50. &c. The manner and way of his Comfort in Affliction by the Word, is particularized, viz. 1. By the vital vertue and enlivening efficacy of Gods Saying, especially his word of Promise, in affliction, verse 50. The vigour of this his Comfort is amplified, By the concomitant and adjuvant Cause thereof, viz. His constancy in Gods Law, notwithstanding all the excessive scornes of his proud persecutors, verse 51. 2. By his remembring and meditating upon the LORD's Judgments of old, viz. Not only the ancient Judgements of his mouth Recorded in his Word: But also the Antient Judgements of his hands mentioned in his Word, both upon the wicked, and upon the godly; and how differently God deals with both [f], verse 52. This is Amplified by the effect wrought upon him, by his remembring of Gods Judgments of old, viz. dreadful horrour for the wicked, the forsakers of Gods Law; whilest he considered their condition, verse 53. 3. By making the LORD's Statutes his Songs in the House of his Pilgrimages, whereever he as a Pilgrim sojourned, ver. 54. 4. By remembring Gods Name in the Night. Which is illustrated by the effect Practical, Hereby he was inclined to keep Gods Law, ver. 55. 5. By his keeping of Gods Precepts, which was a singular ground of all this his comfort from the Word. This I had— Heb. This was to mee, viz. This manifold, and sweet Consolation in all mine Affliction was vouchsafed mee from thy Word, because I kept thy Precepts, verse 56.

VIII. Octonary.

This VIII. Octonary is a zealous Prayer. The Psalmist, having in the former Octonary declared his singular comfort from the Word in his Afflictions, doth here subjoyn and set forth his great zeale towards the LORD and his Word, being acted and enlivened thereunto by his former Consolations. This his Zeal, Study, and Profession towards God and his Word is described, 1. By the Adjuncts thereof, ver. 57. 2. By the Effects thereof, ver. 58. to 65.

I. Version.

57. MY Portion, LORD, alone thou art;
[a] Heb. to keep thy words. 58. [b] Thy face besought I with whole heart, [b] Heb. Thy faces I earnestly beseught; [c] Thou-mercy-mee-afford.
According to thy saying sure.
59. My wayes I thought upon,
And to thy Testimonies pure,
[c] Heb. or shew-grace-to-mee. I turn'd my feet anon.
60. I hasted to keep thy commands,
And lingred not a jot
61. Mee robbed have the wicked's Bands:
Thy Law forgot I not.
62. From sleep at Midnight will I rise,
To thee praise-to-confess;
For judgements (which I dearly prize)
Of thine-own-righteousness.
[d] Heb. Companion am I. [e] Heb. loving-kindness. 63. [d] Mate am I to all that thee fear,
And that thy Precepts keep.
64. LORD, Earth's full of [e] thy mercy deare:
Learn mee thy Statutes deep.

II. Version.

57. MY Portion, LORD, alone thou art;
I said, that I will keep thy words.
58. [a] Thy face besought I with whole heart:
As thou hast said, mee-grace-afford.

59. I thought upon my wayes, and to Thy Testimonies turn'd my feet.
60 I hasted, and [b] slack'd not, to do
All thy commands as was most meet.

61. Bands of the wicked robbed mee:
Forgot thy Law yet have not I.
62. I'le rise at Midnight [c] to praise thee,
For judgements of thine Equity.

63. Companion unto all am I
That fear thee, and thy Precepts keep.
64. Earth's full of thy [d] benignity,
O LORD: Learn mee thy Statutes deep.

[a] Heb. Thy faces I besought earnestly with all the heart: shew-mee grace according to thy saying.
[b] Heb. delayed not.
[c] Heb. to-confess-to-thee.
[d] Heb. loving-kindness.

In this Eighth Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Eighth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ח Cheth,) the Psalmist professeth his singular zeal and affection towards God and his Word, and describeth it in his Prayer,

By

I. By the Adjuncts thereof, viz. 1. His Intensive estimation of and affection to, God, as his Portion. 2. His deliberate and fixed Resolution to keep Gods words; I said ——verse 57. This verse may be variously rendred out of the Hebrew: Portion being referred either to the LORD, or to the keeping of his Words. As; My Portion, thou art O LORD, I said ——Or; O LORD, my Portion; I said, To keep thy Words. Or; My Portion, O LORD, I said it is, To keep thy words. For Substance both of them are to the same effect: But I rather incline to referre [Portion] to the LORD.

II. By the effects, Fruits, or Consequents thereof, viz. I. His earnest Petition for Gods favour according to his Promissory saying. Wherein note, 1. The Object desired, Gods favour; Thy faces. viz. In showing-Grace to him. 2. The fervency of the Prayer; Earnestly-besought---- with all the heart. 3. The moving cause, the external impulsive cause, as also the rule and measure thereof, Gods Promise; according to thy saying, verse 58. II. His Repentance. 1. In aversion from evill, upon considering his wayes. 2. In conversion to good, verse 59. III. His singular care of an holy Religious course of life. This is set forth, 1. By his ready zeale thereunto without delay, verse 60. 2. By his constancy therein, even against greatest impediments, distractions, and provocations, *v.*61. 3. By two principal Acts and discoveries thereof, viz. (1.) His arising at midnight to confess to the LORD for the judgements of his righteousness, verse 62. (2.) His condescending to be a Companion to all that fear God and keep his Precepts, verse 63. IIII. His further request to the LORD, to Learn him his Statutes, in order to all this. Which request he urgeth from the abundance of Gods loving-kindness throughout the Earth, verse 64.

IX. Octonary.

This IX. Octonary is A Prayer, Wherein the Psalmist, 1. Thankfully acknowledgeth the good which he had already received from the LORD, in his afflictions, according to Gods Word, verse 65. 2. Earnestly Petitioneth for further good, Judgement, and knowledge in the Word. Urging this request by many Arguments, verse 66. to 73.

I. Version.

65. O LORD, good with thy servant thou

In this Ninth Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Ninth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, ט Teth) the Psalmist.

I. Acknowledgeth thankfully that good which the LORD had already done to him and for him, viz. in reference to his Afflictions, As supporting him under them, benefiting him by them, and delivering him out of them. This is amplyfied by the causes thereof, 1. Gods faithfulness, as the Fountain. 2. Gods Word of Promise, as the Channel or Instrumental cause, verse 65.

II. Prayeth devoutly, For further goodness of Sense, savour, tast, relish, or judgement, and knowledge. viz. In the Word of God, verse 66. beginning. This request he vehemently Urgeth by sundry Arguments. As, 1. From his Faith in the Word, verse 66. the end. 2. From his Reformation wrought upon him by Affliction, described by (1) His straying before Affliction. (2.) His keeping Gods Saying afterwards, verse 67. 3. From the Nature of God. Being good, and doing good, verse 68. 4. From the integrity of his heart and good Conscience towards this Word of God, wherein he desires more and more to be Instructed. This is set forth, (1) Partly, By his constancy, In keeping Gods Precepts with all his heart, notwithstanding all the lyes and falshoods that his proud Adversaries had cunningly forged and contrived against him, verse 69. In delighting himself also in Gods Law, though his proud Enemies hearts made gross and senseless as fat, were hardned against it, verse 70. (2) Partly, By his proficiency and reaping much good by his Afflictions and oppositions of his Enemies. Thereby gaining more Experimental and practical insight into Gods Statutes, verse 71. Thereby also being brought to a more high Estimation of the Law of Gods mouth, accounting it better to him then thousands of Gold and Silver, verse 72.

X. Octonary.

This X. Octonary is A Prayer also, 1. For Divine Instruction in the Word and Law of God, verse 73. to 76. 2. For Divine Mercy and Consolation, verse 76. to 80. 3. For integrity of heart in Gods Statutes, verse 80.

In this Tenth Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the 10th Letter of the Hebrew-Alphabet, י Jod) the Pſalmiſt prayes for ſundry bleſſings, having in all of them a ſingular aim and reſpect to the Word of God. As,

I. For more compleat underſtanding, that hee may learn Gods Commands. This Petition is urged earneſtly, 1. From Gods Creating and Faſhioning him. Therefore he was able more and more to illuminate him, and as it were to New-create him, verſe 73. 2. From the effect of joy, which they that fear God ſhould manifeſt, upon ſight of him ſo illuminated, verſe 74. 3. From his own ingenuous acknowledgement of the righteouſneſs of Gods judgements, and that in very faithfulneſs according to his word he had afflicted him, for good: and therefore now he was the better fitted and prepared to receive Gods inſtructions, ver. 75.

II. For Gods loving-kindneſs, to comfort him againſt his dejections, according to Gods promiſe, ver. 76. and for his bowel-mercies, to quicken him againſt all deadneſs. Theſe requeſts he urgeth, 1. From his ſingular delights in Gods Law, the inſtrumental means of comfort and quickning, ver. 77. 2. From the ſhame and confuſion that hereupon ſhall befall his proud enemies, depraving him falſly, cauſeleſſly. Which evil carriage of theirs is aggravated by the Pſalmiſts oppoſite religiouſneſs, meditating in Gods Precepts, ver. 78. 3. From the gathering together of the godly unto the Pſalmiſt thus honoured with Gods mercies. Theſe godly are deſcribed, 1. By their fear of God. 2. By their knowledge in Gods Teſtimonies, or Word, ver. 79.

III. For perfection and integrity of heart in Gods Statutes. Urged, From the great miſchief that would enſue upon the Pſalmiſt in caſe his Prayer ſhould not be granted: He ſhould be aſhamed of his hope and truſt in God, &c. ver. 80.

XI. Octonary.

This XIth Octonary is a continuation of the Pſalmiſts Prayer under his affliction continued. Wherein the Excellent uſe of Gods Word under Gods delaying of expected help and relief againſt long afflictions, is notably repreſented. Here, 1. He complaines of the greatneſſe of his miſery under his long continued afflictions, verſe 81. to midſt of 84. 2. He Petitions for Divine Judgement upon his perſecuting enemies, and for Gods aid againſt them, verſe 84. to 88. 3. He prayes for quickning, verſe 88.

In this Eleventh Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Eleventh Letter of the Hebrew-Alphabet, כ Caph) The Pſalmiſt having been long continued and exerciſed under afflictions, and ſtill Divine help and deliverance being delayed, ſhewes what uſe he made of Gods Word in that caſe, for our inſtruction and imitation in like condition.

I. He complaines of the greatneſſe of his miſery, through his afflictions continued, and Gods help delayed. So great were his miſeries, that 1. His Soul fainted for Gods Salvation. Yet he ſtill hopefully-waited on Gods Word, ver. 81. 2. His eyes failed for Gods Word of promiſe, that it might be fulfilled in Gods comforting of him, which he thought long deferred; When wilt thou comfort me? ver. 82. 3. His body was lean, ſhrivelled, and wrinkled like a Bottle dryed in the ſmoake. Which is Amplified, by his not forgetting Gods Statutes in all this extremity, ver. 83. 4. The dayes of his miſery, and the time when it ſhould end, was wholly in ſuſpence and uncertain to him, ver. 84. at the beginning.

II. He Petitions God to avenge him of his Perſecutors, and help him againſt them: Complaining that God herein ſo long delayed, ver. 84. latter end, &c. Enforcing theſe his requeſts, 1. From the fidelity of all Gods commands. 2. From the unlawful, injurious, and wrongful dealing of his proud Perſecutors, ver. 85, 86. 3. From the extremity of his diſtreſſe which they had brought upon him, having almoſt conſumed him. This is illuſtrated, by his conſtancy in Gods Precepts notwithſtanding, verſ. 87.

III. He cleſeth up all, Praying the LORD according to his loving-kindneſſe to quicken him. Urging this requeſt, by his promiſe to obſerve the Teſtimony of Gods mouth when he ſhall ſo be enlivened, verſe 88.

XII. Octonary.

This XIIth Octonary is a devout Prayer. As, in the former he ſet forth his diſtreſs and miſery while his affliction was continued, and Gods help was deferred; and what reſpect he had to Gods Word in the mean time: So in this Octonary the Pſalmiſt ſhowes how he comforted himſelf by Gods Word during the ſaid continued affliction and temptation upon him, viz. By conſidering well the exquiſite perfection of the Word and Will of God, ver. 89. to 94. 2. By Praying for Gods Conſervation of him in his afflicted condition, ver. 94, 95, 96.

95. The wicked watch'd mee, mee to ſtroy:
But I'le thy g Records underſtand.
96. Of all perfection end ſaw I:
But h vehemently large is thy Command.

c Heb. unleſs thy law had been my delightfull delights. the Root is doubled in the word.
d Heb. my affliction.
e Heb. For ever I will not forget.
f Heb. haſt quickned mee.
g Heb. Teſtimonies conſider.
h Heb. vehemently large, broad, wide, &c. i.e. of boundleſs extent and comprehenſiveneſs.

In this Twelfth Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the twelfth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, ל Lamed,) the Pſalmiſt comforts himſelf (for our inſtruction and imitation in like caſe) under his continued afflictions, eſpecially two wayes: viz.

I. By a ſerious and exact conſideration had of the matchleſs perfection of Gods Will and Word. This Perfection thereof he ſets forth, 1. By the immutable and heavenly conſtancy or perpetuity thereof, ver. 89. 2. By the faithfulneſs of God, (viz. in his word) to all Generations. 3. By Gods firme eſtabliſhment of the Earth, and the courſe of all things therein to this day, by vertue of his Judgments, viz. his Word, Ordinance, and Appointment. The reaſon whereof is given from Gods Dominion and Rule over all, as his ſervants, ver. 90, 91. 4. By the Pſalmiſts own Experience, who in his great and long afflictions was ſufficiently comforted by the Law and Word of God, when all other ſuccour failed, ver. 92. This his noble Experience he illuſtrates by one excellent effect thereof upon him, viz. That he would never forget Gods Precepts, whereby the LORD did ſo quicken him, ver. 93.

II. By earneſt Prayer to the LORD to ſave and preſerve him in his long and great afflictions. This his requeſt he urgeth, 1. From the Intereſt and Propriety that God had in him; I am thine, ſave thou mee. 2. From his zeal to, and diligent ſeeking after Gods Precepts, ver. 94. 3. From his conſtant ſtudy and conſideration had of Gods Word, notwithſtanding all his mortal dangers of being deſtroyed by his wicked enemies, ver. 95. The reaſon of which his conſtant adhering to Gods Word, he tacitly declares to be the infinite fulneſs, comprehenſiveneſs, and perfection of Gods Word, ſurpaſſing all other perfection in this World, as he obſerved in his own experience, ver. 96.

XIII. Octonary.

This XIII. Octonary contains the Pſalmiſts holy Exclamation, touching 1. His intenſive love to the Law and Word of God, ver. 97. to 103. 2. His ſweeteſt Delight in the Word, ver. 103, 104. Both reſulting from his experience of the Words exceeding conſolatory vertue in time of Affliction, as was expreſſed in the former Octonary.

I. Verſion.

97. O How love I thy Law! All day
a I meditate thereon.
98. Thou-mak'ſt-mee-wiſer then my foes,
By thy commands alone:
For b, it with mee-for-ever goes.
99. I am more prudent farre
Then all my Teachers: For c thy Lawes My meditation are.

a Heb. It is my meditation.
b Heb. It] i. e. every one of thy commands.
c Heb. thy Teſtimonies

II. Verſion.

97. OH, How I love thy Law! It is
My meditation all the day.
98. Thou-madſt-mee-wiſer then my foes
By thy a Law: For it's with mee b ay.

99. I'm wiſe my Teachers all before:
For thy c Records my pondering are.

a Heb. commandements: for it] i.e. every one of thy commands.
b Heb. for ever.
c Heb. Teſtimonies are my meditation.

100. I

100. I more then th' Ancients understand,
For I thy Precepts kept.
101. From each ill way I have restrain'd
My feet, and wary stept.
That I might well observe thy word.
102. Departed have not I
Faire from thy Judgments just, O LORD.
For thou taughtst mee thereby.

103. How sweet unto my palate are Thy Sayings, and thy Truth;
Yea, to my spirit sweeter farre
Then Honey to my mouth.
104. By thine excelling Precepts I
Do-understanding get:
Therefore [d] each path of falsity
I utterly do hate.

d Heb. every path of falshood.

100. Then Ancients understand I more:
For I thy Precepts kept with care.

101. I have my feet from each ill way
Restrayn'd, that I may keep thy word.
102. I from thy Judgments did not [d] stray:
Because thou hast mee taught, O LORD.

103. Thy words unto [e] my taste how sweet!
[f] 'Bove Honey to my mouth are they.
104. I by thy Precepts [g] knowledg-get:
I therefore hate [h] each falshood's way.

d Heb. Departed. e Heb. my palate. f Heb. before-honey; or, more then-honey. g Heb. gets understanding. h Heb. every path of falshood.

In this Thirteenth Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the thirteenth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, ם Mem) The Psalmist, having formerly expressed, How sweet and comfortable the Word was to him in his great Afflictions, here he pathetically bursts forth into a rapture of Exclamation and Admiration touching the incomparable dearness of the Word unto his heart and affections. Pathetically declaring before the LORD,

I. His vehement and intensive Love to the Law and Word of God: with a kinde of Admiration, ver. 97. This hee illustrates, 1. By the effect of this love. His constant meditation in the Word, ver. 97. lat. end. 2. By the moving-cause inclining him thus to love Gods Law: viz. That Wisedom, Prudence, and Intelligence (i. e. all manner of perfect direction in spirituals) which he gained by the Word. Which skill and direction is set forth by a triple comparison: being preferred, To the wisedom of his craftiest enemies, To the Prudence of his Teachers, and to the Intelligence of the long-experienced Ancients, ver. 98, 99, 100. 3. By his practical respect unto the Word: Partly, eschewing all evil, that he might keep the Word, ver. 101. Partly, Persevering constantly in Gods Judgments, the LORD having taught him so to do, ver. 102.

II. His sweet and great delight which he took in the Words and Sayings of God. This is laid down with Admiration, ver. 103. in the begin. This is illustrated, 1. Comparatively. The sweetness of the Word to his Soule, being preferred to the delicious sweetness of honey to the mouth, ver. 103. 2. Declaratively. The reason of this his surpassing delight in the Word being signified, viz. His gaining of spiritual and saving understanding thereby. Whereupon on the contrary he hated every path of falshood, ver. 104.

XIV. Octonary.

This XIIII. Octonary is of Mixt Nature, being Promissory, Petitory, and Narratory. As in the former he had set forth his endeared Affections to the Word: So here he makes known his singular care and study to conform his whole Conversation to the Word. Declaring, 1. the Word to be the Rule of his life and course, vers. 105. 2. The firmness of his Resolution herein, verse 106. 3. The invincibleness of his purposes to this end, against all manner of impediments, of afflictions and enemies, verse 107. to 111. 4. His constant complacency in the Word, verse 111. 5. His hearts constant inclination to walk according to Gods Word, ver. 112.

I. Version.

105. THy Word's a Lamp to my foot still,
And to my path a light.
106. I sware, and it confirme I will,
To keep [a] thy Judgments right.

a Heb. the judgments of thy righteousness.

II. Version.

105. THy Word's a Lamp to my foot still:
And to my path a shining light.
106. I sware, and stablish it I will,
For to observe [a] thy Judgments right.

a Heb. the judgments of thy righteousness.

107. I

107. I am afflicted here below
b Most vehemently; O LORD,
Mee favourably quicken thou
According to thy Word.

108. Accept my mouth's Free-offerings c now,
Which, LORD, thou didst command:
And mee thy judgements learn do thou.
109. My Soul's d still in my hand:
But I have not thy Law forgot.
110. The wicked ones have laid
A snare for mee: yet have I not
From thy deare Precepts straid.

111. For-heritage-I-have possest
Thy Testimonies rare
For evermore: For of e my brest
The very joy they are.
112. Mine heart and Inwards all have I Inclined, and still bend,
To do thy Statutes faithfully
For ever to the end.

b Heb. unto vehemency.
c Heb. or; I pray thee.
d Heb. or; allwaies.
e Heb. my heart.

107. Afflicted b sore I am, and low:
LORD, quicken mee c after thy Word.
108. Accept my mouth's Free-offrings d now,
And mee thy judgements learn, O LORD.

109. My Soul still in my hand I beare:
Yet have I not thy Law forgot.
110. For mee the wicked laid a snare:
Yet, from thy Precepts strayd I not.

111. Thy e Laws I took-for-Heritage
For ay; For mine hearts joy are they.
112. f To do thy Statutes, I engage Mine heart, unto the end for ay.

b Heb. unto vehemency.
c Heb. according to—— d Heb. or; I pray thee.
e Heb. Testimonies.
f Heb. I have inclined my heart, to do thy Statutes, for ever to the end.

In this Fourteenth Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Fourteenth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, נ Nun) The Psalmist earnestly desiring and resolving to comfort his heart and life unto the Word, Declares

I. The Word of God to be the Rule of his Course and Practice, in every particular step, verse 105.

II. The firmness of his Resolution in making choice of the Word as his Rule of life. This is set forth, 1. By his serious vow or Promissory Oath, to observe Gods judgements, 2. By his faithful resolution to confirm, stablish, or perform this accordingly. 3. By the moving cause of both, viz. the Righteousness of Gods judgements, verse 106.

III. The invincibleness of his purposes herein against all impediments and discouragements, is evidenced, by his answerable 1. Affection to Gods Word. Begging quickning according to the Word, in his extreamest afflictions, verse 107. Praying the LORD to learn him his judgements, &c. verse 108. 2. Practice of Gods Word, notwithstanding he had alwayes his Soul in his hand, the sentence of Death in himself, verse 109. And notwithstanding the snares that wicked ones have laid against him, verse 110.

IIII. His great and constant Complacency in Gods Testimonies, as in his Heritage. Amplyfied by the Delight his heart took therein, verse 111.

V. His hearts inclination to do Gods Statutes, for ever to the end, verse 112.

XV. Octonary.

This XV. Octonary is mixt of Profession and Petition. Herein David sets forth how careful he was according to the Word to eschew evil. To this end, 1. He Professeth his extream enmity to evil, and great opposite love to the Word, verse 113. 114. 2. He illustrateth his hatred of evil, and love to the Word, (1.) Partly, by the effects and by the Adjunct thereof, verse 115, 116. 117. (2.) Partly, by the Causes or Motives thereof, verse 118, 119, 120.

I. Version.

113. VAin-cogitations I do hate:
But I do love thy law.
114. I for thy Word do hoping-wait:
My a shroud and shield art thou.
115. That I may keep my Gods commands,
Ill-doers b part from mee.

a Heb. covert. [secret-place,] and my Shield.
b Heb. depart-yee.

II. Version.

113. VAin-cogitations I do hate:
But I do dearly love thy Law.
114. For I thy Word do hoping-waite:
My Covert, and my Shield art thou.

116. c Stay mee, as ſaidſt, that I may live :
d Nor for my hope ſham'd be

117. Suſtain mee, and be ſav'd ſhall I :
And in thy Statutes way
I will delight continually.
118. Thou trodſt-down all that ſtray
From thy e Lawes : For their guile's a ly.
119. Like droſs f thou deſt remove Earth's Wicked all : Therefore do I Thy Teſtimonies love.

120. For dread of thee LORD (glorious)
My fleſh g quakes much diſmaid :
And for thy judgements righteous
I deeply am afraid.

c Heb. uphold-mee according to thy Saying. d Heb. and let mee not be abaſhed for——. e Heb. Statutes : for their deceit is falſhood. f Heb. thou makeſt-ceaſe. g Heb. ſcaleth-horrour.

115. That I may keep my Gods Commands,
Yee doers-ill depart from mee.
116. a Stay mee, as ſaidſt, that I may live :
b Nor for my hope ſham'd let mee be.

117. Suſtain mee, and be ſav'd I ſhall :
And c ſtill in thy Statutes joy.
118. Who from thy Statutes ſtray, them all
Thou-trodſt-down : For d their guile's a ly.

119. Earth's wicked all ceaſe-thou-doſt-make not——.
As droſs : Thy e words I love therefore.
120. My fleſh for dread of thee doth quake :
And for thy judgements fear I ſore.

a Heb. uphold mee according to thy Saying. b Heb. And let mee not——. c Heb. continually I will delight in. d Heb. their deceit is falſhood. e Heb. Teſtimonies.

In this Fifteenth Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Fifteenth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ס Samech,) David continues his pious Profeſſions and Petitions in reference to Gods Word. And, as in the former Octonary he had ſet forth his zeal in Purſuing of that which is good: So in this he manifeſts his diligence in oppoſing and eſchewing of evil. More Particularly,

I. He profeſſeth his oppoſition to evil. Which is vehement, (1.) Intenſively, as to his Act; hating it. (2.) Extenſively, as to the object, not only evil works and words, but even vain thoughts, where evil firſt diſcovers it ſelf. This he illuſtrates on the contrary, by his profeſſed love to Gods Law, the cauſe and principal of his hating evil, verſe 113 Of this his love to Gods Law he gives the ground or reaſon, viz. His comfortable hope he had of Gods Protection of him, according to his Word, verſe 114.

II. He further illuſtrateth and Amplyfieth, This his hatred of Evil, and his oppoſite love to Gods Law,

1. By the effects and an Adjunct thereof. 1. By the effects thereof. Which were, (1) Partly, His declining of evil doers. (2) Partly, His deſire to keep the Commandments of God, v. 115. 2. By an Adjunct therof, eſpecially of his hope of Gods Protection according to his Word viz By his Adjunct prayer, for Gods firme upholding him, that he might live and not be aſhamed of his hope, verſe 116. And of Gods ſuſtaining him, that he might be ſaved from all evils and Enemies. Which he Amplyfies by the effect enſuing, viz. His continal delight in Gods Statutes, verſe 117.

2. By ſome Secondary Cauſes or Motives thereof. viz. Gods ſevere judgements upon the ungodly. Here, 1. Theſe ungodly are deſcribed, (1) By their deviation from Gods Statutes. (2) By their Wickedneſs on Earth. 2. Gods judgements upon them are elegantly expreſſed, By the Metaphors, (1) Of treading them down; (2) And of cauſing them to ceaſe, or removing them as droſs from the pure Mettle. 3. One Reaſon of Gods judgements upon them is given, viz. Becauſe their Deceit is falſhood, or a ly, a lying vanity. To wit, All their deceits for themſelves, in retaining Gods bleſſings, or avoiding his judgements, or in diſſembling their wickedneſs: And all their Deceits againſt the Righteous to work them miſchief, &c. All is but falſhood and vanity, abortive, and not like to take effect, verſe 118, 119. beginning. 4. The effects of theſe judgements of God upon the Wicked, The godly reap double advantage by thoſe Monitions, viz. Partly, More love to Gods Word, according to which they are judged, verſe 119. Partly, More awful dread of God and his judgements, verſe 120.

XVI. Octonary.

This XVI. Octonary is A Prayer. Wherein David principally Petitioneth, 1. For Gods Aid and Protection againſt his proud oppreſſing Enemies, verſe 121. to 124. 2. For Gods inſtructing of him in his Word ſo thoroughly, that no Enemies or Afflictions may divert him from it, ver. 124, 125. 3. For Gods appearing in his judicial Acts againſt the Wicked, making void Gods Law, verſe 126 to 129.

I. Version.

121. I Judgement and true righteousneſſe
Have done: Leave thou not mee
To mine oppreſſours merciles.
122. a Pledge for thy ſervant bee,
For good: Let not the proud aſſaile
Or mee oppreſſe down thruſt.
123. Mine eyes for thy Salvation faile:
And for b thy ſayings juſt.
124. According to thy c mercy do
With mee thy ſervant bere:
Thy Statutes learn thou mee alſo.
125. I am thy ſervant dear, d Do-thou-inſtruct-mee: That I may Thy Teſtimonies know.
126. Time for the LORD to work; for they Have fruſtrated thy Law.
127. Thy choice Commandements therefore Exceedingly I love,
Above Gold and all wealthy ſtore,
Yea fine-gold-farre-above.
128. Therefore as righteous-I-eſteem
Thy Precepts all for ay,
Concerning every-thing in them:
I hate each falſhood's way.

a Heb. or, Surety.
b Heb. th; Sayings of thy juſtice.
c Heb. or, loving kindneſs.
d Heb. make-mee-underſtand.

II. Version.

121. TO mine Oppreſſours leave not mee,
I judgement did and righteouſneſs.
122. Thy ſervants ſurety, for good, bee:
Let not the proud-ones mee oppreſs.
123. Mine eyes for thy Salvation faile:
And for a words of thine equitee.
124. In b mercy with thy ſervant deale:
Likewiſe thy Statutes learn-thou mee.
125. I am thy ſervant, c mee inſtruct:
And I'le thy Teſtimonies know.
126. 'Tis high time for the LORD to act:
For they-have-fruſtrate made thy Law.
127. Above gold, yea above-fine-gold,
d Hence, thy commands I eſtimate,
128. e Hence, all thy Precepts juſt-I-hold
In f all-things: each falſe way I hate.

a Heb. the Sayings of thy righteouſneſs.
b Heb. or, loving-kindneſs.
c Heb. make-me-underſtand.
d Heb. Therfore I love—— e Heb. Therefore—— f Heb. or, of every-thing.

In this Seventeenth Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the 16th Letter of the Hebrew-Alphabet, ע Hhhajin) the Pſalmiſt, much afflicted with many proud, oppreſſing, and wicked enemies, Petitioneth the LORD,

I. For his aid and Protection againſt his Adverſaries and their oppreſſions. Here, 1. His enemies are deſcribed, (1) By their oppreſſive-diſpoſition. (2) By their pride. 2. Gods Protection is ſet forth, (1) Partly, by not leaving him to his oppreſſours. (2) Partly, by being ſurety for him for good. 3. His Petition for Gods protection is urged, (1) From the integrity of the Pſalmiſt's practice, having done Judgement and Juſtice, and therefore having given no occaſion to his enemies, &c, ver, 121, 122. (2.) From Gods long delaying to help him, and yet his own conſtant hoping in the LORD for Salvation, and waiting for the accompliſhment of his moſt righteous ſayings or promiſes, ver. 123.

II. For Gods inſtructing of him in his Word, leſt through enemies perils, afflictions, &c. he ſhould languiſh in his piety, or depart from God. 1. This requeſt is laid down in divers expreſſions. 2. It is urged, (1) Partly, from the moving-cauſe thereof, Gods loving-kindneſſe. (2) Partly, from his own ſpecial Relation to God, as his ſervant, ver. 124, 125.

III. For Gods vindictive works and judgements upon the wicked, pathetically. Here, this Petition is urged and amplified, 1. From their demeriting Gods judgements, by making fruſtrate his Law. 2. From the long time that God hath had patience with them, even till their ſins were grown to the heighth, verſe 126. 3. From the Pſalmiſts oppoſite affection to, and eſtimation of Gods Commands and Statutes: and contrary hatred of every way of falſhood, verſe 127, 128.

135. Make thy face on thy ſervant ſhine:
And mee thy Statutes learn to know.
136. Of waters h floods run-down mine eyne:
Becauſe they do not keep thy Law.

In this XVII. Octonary (every verſe whereof in the Hebrew begins with the 17*th Letter* of the Hebrew-Alphabet, ף Pe) the Pſalmiſt perſiſts in his zealous eſtimation of, and affection to the Word of God, in his Devout meditation and Prayer. More particularly herein are,

I. His high eſtimation and commendation of Gods Word and Doctrine; 1. As moſt wonderful in themſelves. This admirableneſſe thereof, being illuſtrated by the effect thereof upon his Soul; deſiring to keep them, *ver.*129. 2. As moſt illuminating, in the Opening thereof, or firſt entrance thereunto. This illuminating perfection of the Word is Amplified, 1. By the Subjects illuminated thereby; *the ſimple, ver.*130. 2. By the Pſalmiſts vehement deſire, panting, and longing for Gods commands, for this marvellous perfection therein, ver. 131.

II. His Petitions for ſeveral bleſſings, in order to his better learning and obſerving of Gods Word, (according to his manner throughout this whole Pſalme.) As. For 1. The LORD's favourable aſpect towards him. 2. His ſhowing-grace to him. Both illuſtrated, from the purity of Gods dealings with thoſe that love his Name, ver. 132. 3. Gods directing every ſtep of his life firmly in his Word. 4. Gods removing of Sins Dominion from him, verſ. 133. 5. His redeeming him from the oppreſſions of men. Amplified by his promiſe thereupon to obſerve Gods Precepts, ver. 134. 6. Gods illuſtrious manifeſtation of his favour to him, making his face ſhine upon him. 7. Gods learning him his Statutes, ver 135.

III. His lamenting others oppoſite neglect and violation of Gods Law. This his lamentation being Hyperbolically deſcribed, as diſcovered by Rivers o' waters i running down his eyes for others prophaneneſſe, *ver.*136. they keep not] i. e. men in general, or, the wicked, or his enemies, as *ver.*139. How did he lament his own, that thus lamented others ſins! what intenſive zeal was here to the Word and Law of God?

In this Nineteenth Octonary (every verse wherof in the Hebrew begins with the Nineteenth Letter of the Hebrew Alphaber, כ Koph) the Psalmist, still under great afflictions, especially by reason of his many and potent enemies, returnes to his earnest Prayers to the LORD, for Hearing, Saving, and Quickening him, according to his Word.

I. He prayes more generally for the LORD's Hearing and Answering his Prayers. Which he urgeth, 1. From the Adjuncts of his Prayer, viz. (1) The fervency thereof; I cry'd. 2. The Integrity thereof; with whole heart. 2. From the end and fruit of such hearing; keeping Gods Statutes, ver. 145.

II He prayes for Salvation and deliverance from all his afflictions and enemies. Urging this Petition, 1. From the Adjunct fervour of his request. 2. From the end or fruit unto which he promiseth to improve this blessing when received, ver. 146. 3. From the adjunct vigilancy, hope in Gods Word, and meditation thereon, joyned with his fervent Prayers, ver. 147, 148.

III. He prayes for Audience and Quickening. Pressing these requests, 1. From the lovingkindness of God, the fountain-cause thereof. 2. From the Promise of God in his Word; According to thy judgment——ver. 149. 3. From a Comparison, of his mischievous enemies, drawing neere to hurt him, with neglect and contempt of Gods Law; and of Gods being neer to help him and his, to the justifying of the Truth of his Word, ver. 150, 151. The constancy and permanency of Gods Word being declared, and illustrated by Davids long knowledge and experience thereof, ver. 152.

XX. Octonary.

This XXth Octonary is an earnest Prayer, as the former, and for the same blessing of Deliverance from his deep afflictions which his enemies had brought upon him. Herein, 1. He sets forth his Requests for Deliverance out of Trouble, ver. 153, 154. 2. He urgeth his requests by many Arguments, drawn from His own Constancy, The wicked's impiety, Gods tender-mercies, His own zeale and affection to the Word of God, vers. 153, to 161.

I. Version.

153. SEe mine Affliction, and a mee free:
Thy Law forgot not I.
154. Plead my plea, and Redeem-thou-mee:
Do-thou-mee-vivify,
b As thou didst in thy Promise say.
115. Salvation is farre
From wicked-ones, because that they Seek not thy Statutes rare.

156. Thy-bowel-mercyes constantly
Are manifold, O LORD:
According to thy judgements high
c Mee-quickning-thou-afford.
157. My Persecutors d multiply
And my distressers still:
But from thy Testimonies I
Declined not to ill.

158. I saw e transgressors, and was griev'd,
That they kept not thy word.
159. See that thy Precepts I have lov'd:
Mee-quicken-thou, O LORD,
According to thy f graciousness.
160. g Thy word's beginning's true:
Each judgement of thy righteousness
For-ever is also.

II. Version.

153. SEe mine affliction, and mee a free:
For I have not forgot thy Law.
154. Plead my plea, and Redeem thou mee:
Mee, for thy saying, quicken thou.

155. From wicked-ones Salvation's farre:
For they seek not thy Statutes high.
156. LORD, b thy-dear-Mercyes many are:
Mee c of thy judgements vivify.

157. My d pursuers and foes increase:
I from thy e Records have not swerv'd.
158. I f saw transgressours, and griev'd was,
That they thy word have not observ'd.

In this Twentieth Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the twentieth Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, ר Resh) David persisting in his former request to the LORD for deliverance from his Afflictions and Enemies,

I, Propounds and ingeminates his Petitions for his Deliverance out of all his distresses, Pathetically. Praying the LORD, 1. To see his Affliction. 2. To release him from it. 3. To Plead his plea, his Cause, viz. Against his Enemies. 4. To Redeem him. 5. To quicken him, verse 153. 154.

II. Presseth and Urgeth these his requests by many Arguments, or Motives. As, 1. From his constant mindefulness of Gods Law, verse 153. 2. From Gods Promise, or Promissory saying, verse 154. 3. From wicked mens contrary incapacity of Salvation and deliverance out of trouble, in that they seek not Gods Statutes, verse 155. 4. From the multitudes of Gods bowel-Mercyes, the prime efficient Cause of all deliverance, &c. 5. From Gods judgements revealed in his Word, verse 156. 6. From the multitude of his Persecutors, and Distressers, necessitating him to fly to the LORD for succour, verse 157. beginning. 7. From his own gracious qualifications and deportments. viz. (1) Not declining from Gods Testimonies notwithstanding all his Enemies, verse 157. (2) Deeply grieving upon sight of unfaithful transgressors contempt and violation of Gods Word, verse 158. (3) Dearly loving Gods Precepts, in uprightness in the sight of God, verse 159. This his love to Gods Word is illustrated, from the impulsive causes or Motives thereof, viz. The Excellency, Truth, Righteousness, and perpetuity of Gods Word and Judgements therein. The beginning of thy Word is Truth; or, as the Hebrew may be rendred; The head or top-excellency of thy Word. i. e. Thy most-excellent Word is Truth k. The Chaldee, and Greek Version of the 72. explain it; From the beginning thy Word is Truth, and so for ever, verse 160. But the former Interpretation seems better,

In this Twenty one Octonary, (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the Twenty one Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet ש Shin) David, having formerly often implored Gods Direction and deliverance out of his Afflictions according to the Word, Urging this from his sincere affection and pious deportment towards this Word of God, doth now express a bundle or cluster of these his holy Affections to the Word, very Pathetically. As,

I. His fear and awe of the Word. Amplyfied by his opposite Persecutions: Aggravated, 1. By the Authors of them; Princes. 2. By the Malice of them; causelesly, verse 161.

II. His joy in the Word. Illustrated by a Similitude of a mans joy in finding much spoile, verse 162.

III. His love to the Word. Amplyfied, 1. By his hating and abominating of all falshood: which is oppösite thereto, verse 163. 2. By the effects or fruits of this love; (1) Partly, in himself, Praising the LORD seven-times (i.e. often) in a day for the judgements of his justice in the Word, verse 164. (2) Partly, on others, They that love his Law, have much Peace, and no stumbling (or Scandal, or Offence) is to them. They walk inoffensively as Paul, Act. 23. 1. and 24. 16. verse 165.

IV. His hope for Gods saving him out of his Afflictions according to his Word. This is illustrated, 1. By the fruits and effects of this his hope, viz. Doing Gods Commandements: Observing his Testimonies: keeping his Precepts and Testimonies, verse 166, &c. 2. By another Con-cause of these effects, His vehement love to Gods Testimonies, verse 167. 3. By the sincerity of these effects of keeping and observing Gods Precepts, &c. Wherein he approves himself to Gods Omniscience that know all his wayes, verse 168.

XXII. Octonary.

This XXII. Octonary concludes this Excellent Psalme with a heap of Heavenly and fervent Petitions, as the former with a bundle of Holy affections. Herein the Psalmist Petitioneth Petitioneth, 1. For audience to his Prayers, verse 169. 170. 2. For practical direction and instruction in Gods Word, and deliverance out of his Distresses, ver. 169. to 173. 3. For Gods help, verse 173. 174. 4. For his Souls life. 5. For aid from Gods Judgements, verse 175. 6. For Gods seeking of him from his wandrings, verse 176.

In this Two and twentieth and last Octonary (every verse whereof in the Hebrew begins with the two and twentieth and last Letter of the Hebrew Alphabet, ת Thau) David sweetly closeth up this his Devout prayer and Meditation touching Gods excellent Word and his great affection to it, with sundry accumulated Petitions, pointing out pathetically the intensive zeal and fervour of his Prayer. And he Petitioneth to the LORD,

I. For audience and acceptance of his Prayer. Described by the fervency of it; my shouting-cry, verse 169. 170. beginning.

II. For Instruction in, and according to Gods Word, and deliverance out of all his distresses. This is urged, 1. From Gods Promise or Saying, verse 169. 170. 2. From Gods honour which will hence result. For he promiseth, (1.) To praise him, upon learning his Statutes, ver. 171. (2.) To resound Gods Promise, his Saying. Which is amplyfied by a reason thereof, viz. The righteousnes of Gods Commandments, verse 172.

III. For Gods aid and succour in his distresses. This is pressed, 1. From his esteem and choice of Gods Precepts, verse 173. 2. From his fervent desire after Gods Salvation of him out of trouble. 3. From his Delights in Gods Law, verse 174.

IV. For his soul's life, viz. That his life may comfortably be prolonged, notwithstanding all his afflictions and Enemies. This is urged from the effect, or end intended in this mercy, viz. The praising of God in his life, verse 175. in beginning.

V. For help by Gods judgements, viz. By the Doctrinal judgements of his word: which greatly help the afflicted, by Directions, Consolations, &c. verse. 175.

VI. For Gods Pastoral seeking of David, Straying through the Persecution of his Enemies, from his fold (from his Country, Kingdom, and the Church of God therein) as a lost Sheep in the Wilderness. This Petition is enforced, 1. From the present misery of David, exiled from House, Home, Kingdom, Church, &c. represented by the similitude of a Sheep straying from fold, Pasture, &c. 2. From Davids Relation to God; Thy servant. 3. From Davids constant mindefulnes of Gods Commandments even in his deepest distresses, exiles, and wandrings from place to place, verse 176. His Straying here, is not through iniquity, but through affliction and misery; not from God, and his commands, but from Houſe, Home, &c. To Caves, Woods, &c. in midſt of many dangers: As Interpreters e take it generally. Auguſtine underſtands it of Spiritual wandring f. But that's not ſo ſuitable to the words following.

Pſalme CXX.

§. I. Of the XV. Songs of Degrees in General.

Next and immediatly after the 119*th. Pſalm*, in XXII. Octonaryes according to the order and number of the Letters of the Hebrew Alphabet; here are placed fifteen other Pſalmes, called every one of them שיר המעלות Shir Hammaghualoth, A Song of degrees, or A Song of Aſcenſions, or A Song of Dignities. Theſe Songs are thought by ſome to be here ranked together as in one bundle, not for the ſameneſs of their Matter, but rather for the Similitude of their invention and compoſition a. They are, as it were, Sacred Epigrams containing much variety of Excellent Doctrine, in wonderful brevity, Adorned with much Splendor, Sweetneſs, and Elegancy of Speech, to the great delight of the pious and intelligent Reader. And therefore we ſhould account theſe moſt ſweet Songs as the Poems of the Holy-Ghoſt, and every verſe therein as ſo many Oracles. For they are very eminent in this whole Book of Pſalms, as ſo many excellent Gems or Jewels. The ordinary Gloſs tells us: That the Bleſſedneſs which the former Pſalm ſung with united variety, &c. Theſe following Pſalmes explicate in 15 orderly degrees, &c. To the Myſtery of the Old and New Teſtament. The number ſeven belonging to the Old Teſtament becauſe of the Sabbath: the number eight unto the New b, &c. But this, is rather wittily, then ſolidly excogitated.

a Hen. Mollerus in Argument. Pſal. 120.

b Beatitudinem quam ſuperior Pſalmus unitâ varietate meritorum cantavit; iſti ſequentes Pſalmi ordinatis 15 gradibus tam Pſalmorum quam meritorum, in Sacramentum Veteris & Novi Teſtamenti explicant. Septenarius ad vetus, propter Sabbatum: Octonarius ad Novum. Patres namque veteris Teſtamenti Hebdomadi, i. Septenario ſerviebant. Obſervabant enim Septimam diem, i. As for the Title, שיר המעלות Shir Hammaghualoth, A Song of degrees, (As Auguſtine, Hierome, Montanus, The vulgar Latin, Mollerus, Calvin, S. de Muis, Ainſw. and moſt Interpreters render it,) or, A Song of Aſcenſions, of Heights (as the Greek Verſion of the 72. ᾠδὴ τῶν ἀναβαθμῶν, and as H. Ainſworth notes the word may be rendered,) or A Song of Dignities, or Excellencies, i.e. A moſt Excellent Song, (as Tremell. and Junius;) It containes, 1 The Kinde; 2 The Adjuncts of theſe fifteen Pſalmes ſo denominated.

Firſt,

First, The kinde of these Sacred Poems, they are שירים Shirim, Songs. Of the Proper Notation of this Word, and how it differs or agrees with תהלים Tehillim, Hymnes; and with מזמורים Mizmorim, Psalmes; hath been already declared, in the Preface to this Book[c].

Secondly, The adjunct המעלות Hammaghualoth, Of Degrees, &c. This Word is derived from the root עלה ghualah, hath climed-up, ascended[d], &c. Thence מעלה Maghualah, A Cliffe, A Degree, An Assent, An Ascension, An Height, An high-Dignity, An Excellency, &c. And from this latitude of the signification of the word, it is and may well be rendered, A Song of Degrees: or, A Song of Ascensions: or, A Song of Excellencies.

But the true Cause and Reason why these Psalmes were peculiarly among the rest so Denominated, is not so easie to be found out. Both Jewish and Christian Writers have variety of Conjectures hereupon: but most, if not all of them very uncertain, and unsatisfactory. I shall briefly propound some of the principal of them, and leave the learned and ingenuous Reader to his own apprehension and judgment therein. Nor is there any danger, if in this obscure matter and of less moment, we dissent in opinion one from another.

This Title is expounded two waies, viz. 1. Figuratively. 2. Literally.

I. Figuratively. And so its interpreted variously. As,

1. Of the Ascension, i. e. The Dignity, Degree, or Excellency of the Matter of these fifteen Psalmes. For, Ascension is nothing else but the excellency of one man, or thing, &c. above another. A Song of Ascensions, Degrees, Excellencies, i. e. A most excellent Song; As Jun. & Tremel. render it, by an elegant Antimeria, or Hebraisme; The Substantive plural being put for the Adjective singular of the Superlative degree. Thus המעלות Hammaghualoth, is as if one should allude and say למאה עלות Le-meah ghualoth, to an hundred Sacrifices. R. S. Jarki. And doubtless the Subject-matter of these Psalmes is most excellent, as will appear in the explicating of them particularly. But this seems not to be the Reason of the Title, For, why should not other Psalmes also be entituled Psalmes of Degrees, Ascensions, Excellencies, &c. which for matter are as excellent as these? As Psal. 2. 25 37. 45. 51. 119, &c.

2. Of the Ascension of the Heart, from the Valley of teares to the Mountaine; from the humbled and abased Humanity of Christ, to the high Divinity of Christ. Augustine pleaseth himself exceedingly in this Allegory, wherein he runnes out wittily (as his manner is) but not pertinently and substantially, to the Psalmes in hand[e].

3. Of the Ascensions and Degrees of vertues unto which these fifteen Psalmes are fitted and accommodated, every Psalme commending some peculiar vertue more sublime and excellent then the former. As, 1. The First Degree, is; to depart from the evils of the World, and to renounce all vanity, taught in Psal. 120. 2. The Second Degree, is; to beg the LORD's defence, which nothing can withstand, as in Psal. 121. 3. The third Degree, is; The great joy of being versed in the Church with a pure minde, and to warre worthy of God in this Pilgrimage: whence we sigh after the heavenly Jerusalem, whereunto we are elevated by the two wings of Love: as in Psal. 122. 4. The Fourth Degree, is; Constantly to depend on God in all straits, until he have mercy and hear: as in Psal. 123. 5. The Fifth Degree, is; That they who are delivered out of perils, attribute it, not to themselves, but to the LORD: as in Psal. 124. 6. The Sixth Degree, is; The Confidence of the most faithful Christian, which he hath in the LORD: compared to the most solid Mountains: as in Psal. 125. 7. The Seventh Degree, is; A Prophecy of returne from Captivity, as it were from Babylon in the figure of the Old Testament through Christ to come: when now is Consolation and sowing for a greater Harvest: as in Psal. 126. 8. The Eighth Degree, is; The figure of the New Testament, signified by the number Eight, where is spoken of the building of the House of God, i. e. The Church, by by the true Solomon, Chriſt; who is the true Peace-maker, who made both one, and in himſelf the Corner-ſtone hath builded his Church of the two Walls of Jewes and Gentiles: as in Pſal. 127. 9. The Ninth Degree, is; That the Peace-maker be chaſtly feared, becauſe he alone doth exalt, keep, build: as in Pſal. 128. 10. The Tenth Degree, is; That he who chaſtly fears, may endure all things for him, which is now expedient to the Church among evil men: as in Pſal. 129. 11. The Eleventh degree, is; A Penitential Supplication: becauſe nor he that fears, nor he that endures all things, thinks himſelf worthy of Chriſt, foraſmuch as in the body none is without ſin, and the onely Security is to lean upon Prayer: as in Pſal. 130. 12. The Twelfth Degree, is; Humility, which a man ſhowes himſelf to have both inwardly and outwardly. Therefore he incites to Humility, in Pſal. 131. 13. The Thirteenth Degree, is; When the humble and meek go about the building of the Spiritual Houſe: as David to the letter did, who would have built an houſe to God. And congruouſly after the Degree of Humility he treats of the building of the Houſe, becauſe by Humility a man is made the houſe of God [f], Iſai 66. 2. Pſal. 132. 14. The Fourteenth Degree, is; Charity, which makes brethren dwell together in Unity: when is Bleſſing and Life: as in Pſal. 133. 15. The Fifteenth Degree, is; The Love of Eternity. The Love of God: as in Pſal. 134. And after theſe Degrees which lead unto Eternity, congruouſly is placed, Hallelu-jah: that the Church may enjoy the praiſes of God, for which that Office is prepared: as in Pſal. 135— All theſe Fifteen Degrees of vertues conducting to Eternity, are thus laid down and accommodated to theſe Fifteen Songs of Degrees, by the Ordinary Gloſs: whence [g] I have collected them. And (thinks Mollerus) theſe Degrees of vertue ſeem to be taken from Greg. Nazianzen, who in his Oration had after his returne, doth Allegorically apply and interpret theſe Songs of Degrees to them that profit in vertue [h]. But, 1. Theſe accommodations being ſometimes ſomwhat forced; 2. And the following Degrees of vertues not alwaies ſurpaſſing the fore-going, as is pretended; 3. And the whole accommodation rather a meer contrivance of humane wit, then any intendment of the Holy Ghoſt: Theſe Degrees of Vertues pretended give little or no Satisfaction as to the Reaſon of this Title; A Song of Degrees.

f Iſai 57. 15. is more full to that purpoſe.

II. Literally. And ſo this Title, A Song of Degrees, is explicated very many waies. As,

1. Of the Aſcenſion of the Waters of the Sea, at the laying of the Foundation of the Temple. And the Chaldee Paraphraſt ſeems to incline ſomwhat to this conceit, rendering it; A Song which was ſpoken touching the Degrees of the Abyſs [i]. The Rabbines do fable (they were apt to fancy, feign, and fable any thing,) That when the foundations of the Temple were laid, the Deep did ſo aſcend, that they feared the whole world would have been overflowed. Whereupon Achitophel wrote the Name יהוה JEHOVAH, (which the Jewes call שם המפרש Shem-Hammephoraſh. A Name Seperate: ſay ſome. A Name Expounded; ſaith Druſius. A Name Pronounced: viz. with its own proper Letters, ſaid S. Amama [k], and preſently caſt it into the Deep, whereupon the Deep deſcended 16000 Cubits. Then they ſaid it were better for the World, if the Waters of the Sea were not ſunk ſo deep. And the Waters aſcended 15000 Cubits, and there ſtood. Whence theſe fifteen Pſalmes were called Pſalmes of Aſcenſions, or of Degrees. This is found in their Maſſora ſaid Jarki. But this is ſuch a meer dreame, and ſo groſs a fable, that to have recited it, is to have refuted it.

k Vid. Sixtin. Amam. in Antibarb. Bibl. l. 2 diſſert. de Nomine JEHOVÆ, p. 479, 480.

2. Of the Aſcenſion of the Jewes out of the Babyloniſh Captivity. As, In Expoſ. Pſal. 120. Mr. Jo. Foord of late; and of old, R. David Kimchi would have it. As l XV. iſti Pſalmi hoc Titulo prænotantur, quia Judæi è captivitate Babylonica Aſcendentes Anno 1. Cyri, hos Pſalmos elegerunt, quos in itinere ſive in Aſcenſione decantarent. Sic expono, 1. Quia conveniunt tempori & occaſioni illi. 2. Quia vox מעלה maghuaIah ſic uſurpatur Ezra 7. 9. Et 3. Quia cæteræ expoſitiones omnibus Pſalmis æquè conveniunt atque iſtis 15.

if

if these fifteen Songs were Composed and Sung, in so many Stations of the Jewes returning and Ascending from Babylon. But this is not at all probable. For, 1. We have no certain ground for the Jewes fifteen Stations in their Returne from Babylon. And therefore how can we account otherwise of it, then that it is a meer Fiction? 2. That these were not composed upon Occasion of the Jewes returne from Babylon, and then first Sung, is evident. For some of them were penned by David, as their Titles signifie, as Psal. 122. 124. 131. 133. One by Solomon, or for Solomon, Psal. 127. And (as Calvin [m] hath noted) we may readily conjecture from the Argument, that what Psalmes David penned were Sung in the House of God in his Reign, and life time. And Lyra gives sundry Reasons, why the first of these Songs of Degrees could not be referred to the Captivity [n].

3. Of the Ascension of the Levites and Singers upon the Degrees of the Court of the men. For it is supposed, That the Levites did sing these fifteen Songs whilest they ascended from the Court of the women to the Court of Israel or of the men by fifteen Steps or Degrees. On every Step they sung onely one Song, said Kimchi, and R. S. Jarki. But, 1. Where read we in the Scriptures of the Court of the Women distinct from the Court of the Men? 2. Where is there mention in the Word, of fifteen Stairs or Steps by which they ascended up towards the Courts of the LORD's House? 3. Where have we the least ground in the Scriptures, that the Levites did sing these, or any other Psalmes or Songs on any Stairs of the Temple? But (as Calvin [o] well notes) The Jewes took great liberty of devising and feigning things at their pleasure in matters obscure.

4. Of the Ascension of the Jewes from their dispersion into all Countries. For the Jewes generally dreamed of an outwardly glorious temporal Kingdom which the Messiah shall constitute for them, and being now dispersed into all Countries of the World, they think their Restauration is meant by this word Ascensions, and they hope that at last when their Messiah shall be exhibited, they shall returne out of all Countries, and Ascend with him into the Land of Judah, and then joyfully sing these Songs of Degrees, as Mollerus hath noted [p]. But, 1. Christs Kingdom being not of this World, as himself hath told us, John 18. 36. 2. Christ the true Messiah being come already and exhibited in humane flesh, John 1. 14. Gal. 4. 4, 5, 6. Rom. 1. 4. The vanity of this interpretation is evident.

5. Of the Gradual Ascension or Rising of the Voice in tuning and singing of these Songs. A Song of Ascensions, or Heights: that is, A Song to be sung with an high Voice, to an high Key, &c. As the Levites are said to praise God with a great Voice (לְמַעְלָה Le-maghuelah) on high, 2 Chron. 20. 19. As Ainsworth [q] hath noted. These fifteen are called Songs of Degrees (saith R. Saghuadiah) because they were sung בְּהַגְבּוּרַת קוֹל מְאֹד Behagbourath Kol Meod, with the greatest strength of Voice vehemently. In every Song the Voice rising higher and stronger by degrees. Lyra [r], and many of our later Writers much incline to this Interpretation. It may be there was some peculiar and eminent Ascending or Rising of the Tune in these fifteen Songs, more then in any other Psalmes. Some Jewes, and Ab. Ezra, take this word הַמַּעֲלוֹת Hammaghualoth, to point out the kinde or beginning of some special Song, Note, or Tune: as some have observed. S. de Muis.

probabiliter, quod hoc designat quandam speciem cantus, qui elevando vocem gradatim decantabatur. Et inde fuerunt ista cantica appropriata ad ascensum Templi, qui erat per 15. Gradus, &c.

6. Of some singular Degrees of Excellencie in these fifteen Psalmes, both in regard of their Matter, Forme, and End. So Ames [s]. And perhaps Tremellius and Junius might intend some such thing, translating it Canticum excellentissimum, Heb. excellentiarum. A most-excellent Song. Heb. A Song of Excellencies. The matter of them excels, being very sublime, spiritual, &c. as we shall perceive in the particular opening of them.

The Forme excels, the Phraſe being very conciſe, compendious, ſignificant, pathetical, and abounding with great variety of Rhetorical Flowers and choice Elegancies. Beſides the ſingular rarity and melody of the Muſick, whereunto in the Hebrew it was fitted and accommodated: but now is loſt. The end alſo excels, as afterwards we ſhall ſee in conſidering Particulars.

Now in midſt of all this variety and uncertainty, how difficult it is to determine! Let every judicious Reader conſider all, and chooſe what likes him beſt. This is no fundamental point of our Faith or Religion. Herein we may be ignorant, or doubtful, or miſtaken, or diſſenting from others, without peril. But if upon the whole I may declare my Opinion, I moſt incline to think; That this Title, A Song of Degrees, Aſcenſions, Dignities, Excellencies, &c. had principal reſpect to the Muſick of theſe fifteen Pſalmes, either as denoting the high aſcent of the Tune by Degrees in ſinging them, or the beginning and firſt word of ſome known Song or Note. Yet I will not exclude the Aſcent or high Excellency of the Matter: which perhaps, might give occaſion to the high aſcending Muſick of theſe Pſalmes. And hence, I think it not unprobable, But that the Levites and Singers might ſing theſe Pſalmes of Aſcenſions ſtanding upon ſome place of Aſcent above the People to be the better heard, though I find no ground for fifteen Steps. And hereupon alſo, the Jewes in their Returne and Aſcenſion from Babylons Graves, Ezek. 37.12, &c. might chooſe theſe Pſalmes as proper pertinent and ſuitable to ſing by the way, and praiſe God withal for their deliverance. Though I do not think they were compoſed then, or upon that Occaſion, but all or moſt of them by David long before the Jewes went into that Captivity. Nor do I finde mention of their fifteen remarkable ſtations in their Returne, according to the number of theſe fifteen Songs of Degrees.

But thus much of this Title once for all.

§. IV. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion of this Pſalme.

This Pſalme, 1. As to the Subject-matter of it, is of a Mixt Nature, being made up of Narration, Petition, Reprehenſion, and Lamentation of the Pſalmiſt, as will will after appear in the Analyſis. 2. As to the outward Forme of it, its digeſted into a Song, and peculiarly the firſt Song of Degrees. The penman of it is not expreſly ſignified in the Title, but is not obſcurely pointed at in the Matter of the Pſalme which moſt ſingularly anſwers to Davids condition and Afflictions. Inſomuch that Interpreters do Generally conceive David to be the Inſtrumental Author of it [f]. Occaſion of Davids writing this Pſalme, ſeems to be Davids exile from the Land of Judea, when he fled from King Sauls Perſecutions to Meſhec, or a prophane barbarous people, ſojourning in the Tents of Kedar among the falſe fraudulent unpeaceable Arabians, to the great grief and affliction of his Soul. Some think it was, when David went into the Land of the Philiſtines, and dwelt in Ziklag, and among the Arabians Tents, 1. Sam. 27. 1,6,7. with Pſal. 120. 5, 6, 7.

§. V. The Scope.

The Pſalmiſts Scope, is; 1. Immediately, To ſet forth, how in ſtraits he prayed and prevailed, How much he deſired to be delivered from the miſchief of a falſe ſlanderous tongue, and how ſadly he lamented his unavoidable ſojourning among prophane unpeaceable men. 2. Mediately, by his own example to inſtruct us how to behave our ſelves in like ſtates and conditions.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occaſion.

This Pſalme is ſuppoſed by ſome h to be A Military Speech or Meditation, and that it was had or uttered in the Camp for the Encouragement of the Pſalmiſt and of his Army in Gods ſole and All-ſufficient Protection againſt their Enemies. 1. As to the Subject-matter of it, it is of a Narratory, Doctrinal, Promiſſory, and Conſolatory Kinde: Declaring wherein the Pſalmiſts chief confidence was, viz. in the LORD alone. Teaching hence where the Saints confidence and hope ſhould be in all ſtraits and dangers, viz. in the LORD only. Whereunto every faithful Saint is encouraged by many comfortable Promiſes. 2. As to the Outward Forme of it, It is A Song of Degrees.

h H. Moller. in Arg. Pſal. 121. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 121.

Penman of it, probably was David i: as the matter of it ſeems tacitly to imply.

i Jo. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ. 121.

Occaſion of his Penning it ſeems to be ſome eminent peril, or ſundry perils and dangers that himſelf and Souldiers were in, either in the Land of Canaan, or rather in Forreign Countries. And it is thought k, that David, in the dayes of Saul having fled from Judea into the Land of the Philiſtines, where his enemies ſaid he would worſhip other Gods, 1 Sam. 26. 19. He therefore upon that Occaſion wrote this Pſalme, rejecting all confidence in the Pagan-Idols worſhipped on Hills and Mountains, and profeſſing his affiance onely in the true JEHOVAH that made Heaven and Earth. But this is onely conjectural. It's hard to deſcend punctually to ſuch particulars, without ſome particular light from Scripture.

k Jo. Foord. Ibid.

§. IV. The Scope.

The Psalmists Scope intended in this Song, is; 1. To profess and declare his religious confidence in the LORD alone; 2. And to direct and encourage all the Godly by his Example to do the like. Assuring himself and all that trust and rely upon the LORD, of all desirable safety and security under the LORD's Protection against all possible evils and dangers.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

Herein are,

I. The Title or Inscription, Expressing, 1. The Kinde of it; A Song. 2. The Adiunct of it; Of Degrees In this Title, there is one Letter in the Hebrew which makes it differ from the Titles of all the other XIV. Songs of Degrees. For whereas all they are stiled, A Song, המעלות hammaghualoth, of Degrees: Only this 121th. is stiled, למעלות lammaghualoth, To degrees. But, as Kimchi notes, it comes all to one: for ל Lamed is put for ה He emphatical. As elsewhere its used in Holy Scripture: As, 2 King. 7 2. Than a Lord on whose hand the King רמלך lammeleck, for המלך Hammeleck———. So 2 Chron. 28. 9. To the Heavens לשמים עד ghuad lashshamajim, for עד-השמים ghuad-hashshamajim.

II. The Substance of the Song it self. Wherein

1. The confidence of the Psalmist is represented, in this metaphorical phrase of lifting up his eyes. Which, by an elegant Hebraisme, imports an Act of one hoping, expecting, and looking for help, ver. 1.

2. The Object of this his Confidence is described,

(1) More generally In that phrase; To the Hills [or, Mountains] from whence cometh my help. Because the particle אל here, may be variously rendred, and the phrase may be variously read; therefore there are varieties of Interpretations of the sense of these words. 1. Some render the particle, To, Unto: and take the word, Mountains, metaphorically, for Kings, Princes, great ones, or for any other thing highly magnified in the world, as an object of confidence in the creature: As if the Psalmist at first were in a Temptation, or dispute with himself where to place his confidence. 2. Some render אל Towards: and interpret the word, Mountaines, Metonymically. (1) Either of idols or false gods of the Heathen, which were wont to be worshipped on Mountains and Hills. And take the phrase interrogatively; Shall I lift mine eyes to the Hills? whence should my help come? And thus the words import the Psalmist's renouncing of idols for his confidence. (2) Or, of the LORD the true God, who, from his sacred Temple to be built in the Holy Mountains, Moriah, and Sion, had promised help and aid to his people, Psal. 20. 2. The Psalmist being now in a forreign land, looks towards Gods Mountains for help and succour, as believers used to do. 3. Some, render the word אל above m. Interpreting it, That the Psalmist looked above all highest, strongest creature-helps: placing his confidence farre above them. 4. Some n render this verse interrogatively, thus; Shall I lift up mine eyes to the Hills? whence should my help come? As if the Psalmist being in danger and distress were at first puzled where to place his confidence, and whither to flie for help. But recollecting himself, he rejects all other Objects of Affiance, resting himself on the LORD alone. These several Interpretations are pious. Let the discreet Reader consider which is here most suitable and apposite, ver. 1.

(2) More Particularly. That the object of his confidence for help, Is the LORD; Mine help cometh from-with the LORD. " This de-compound Preposition is very emphatical: no Prepositions can sufficiently set forth Gods help. Now this his confidence of help from the LORD, is singularly illustrated and confirmed divers wayes. As, I. From Gods All-sufficiency for helping, evinced by that great effect of his Omnipotency; The creating of Heaven and Earth, ver. 2. II. From Gods many faithful Promises, touching safe preservation and protection of every one confiding in him, and not only of the Psalmist. In all which Promises therefore, the Psalmist speaks not to himself in the First person, but to another in the Second person, by an elegant Enallage or change of the person, vers. 3. to the end. Now, here he promiseth, 1. The LORD's Preservation of his foot from being moved, who trusts in him. 2. The LORD's constant and exact vigilancy over him, and over Israel; nor sleeping, nor slumbring, vers. 3, 4. 3. The LORD's sufficient, compleat, and universal Protection of him: As his Keeper; As his shade on his right hand, vers. 5, &c. Which Protection is pathetically illustrated; (1) By distribution of the instrumental causes and seasons of harme, from which his shade shall protect him; from the harmful influences of the Sun and Moon, by day and night; The Sun shall not smite thee, &c. ver. 6. (2) By the extent and universality of evil, whence he shall be preserved; —— from all evil. (3) By the peculiarity and choice excellency of this Protection, reaching even unto the Soule; He shall preserve thy soul, ver. 7. (4) By the distribution of his Motions or Actions, wherein Gods preservation is promised; He shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in. §. By the constancy of this divine Protection; From now, and unto eternity, vers. 8. O the Amplitude of of the LORD's providence and protection towards his! What can the Saints desire more for their safety and security? Oh we of little faith, wherefore should we doubt?

* This 122th Psalme I have more fully expounded in my two Latin-Lectures had in the Colledge at Dublin in Ireland, Nov. 29. and Dec. 3. when I took my two Degrees of Batchelor and Dr. in Divinity there. An. 1658. which perhaps hereafter may be published.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David in this Psalme expresseth, 1. His joyful Gratulation, at the zealous deportment of Gods People towards his worship at Jerusalem, and for Jerusalem's most flourishing condition, ver. 1. to 6. 2. His vehement Exhortation to the godly, to pray for the flourishing peace and prosperity of Jerusalem, and the Church of God, ver. 6. Which he urgeth from, Gods promise, and his own Example, vers. 6, 7, 8, 9.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, and Occasion.

This Song, 1. As to the Matter of it, is mixt: being made up of Gratulation, Exhortation, and Supplication, in reference to Jerusalem and the House of God there. 2. As to the external Forme of it, it is a Song of Degrees, as the Title showes. The Penman (as the Title intimates) was David. The Occasion of Davids penning it, as Interpreters k consent, was Davids bringing up of the Ark of the Testimonie to Jerusalem into the City of David, and placing it there in the Tent which hee had prepared for it, 2 Sam. 6.13. to the end. As also the Constitution of Gods Worship, and the Thrones of Judgment there in the Holy City for Davids House or Royal Family, eminent types of the Sacerdotal and Regal Offices of JESUS CHRIST the true David. For, as one well observes, God had promised by Moses, That at last there should be a certain fixed place for his Sanctuary. And now since then, the Ark of the LORD had as it were wandred like a Pilgrim hither and thither above a thousand years. M. Sion was discovered to David, as the place where the LORD would have it setled, and his Temple built. And as David received this Oracle with greatest joy: so he declares here in this Song, his singular gladness, in beholding the consent of Gods people, and their zeal to Gods Worship now there Ordained, and afterwards to be performed before the Ark. Hence, he extolls Jerusalem with excellent Encomiums, and vehemently prayes for its Peace and Prosperity.

§. IV.

§. IV. The Scope.

Davids Scope, therefore, in this Song, as the Subject-Matter of it evinceth, was; 1. Joyfully to celebrate the bringing-up of the Sacred Ark of God into his place: 2. To commend with gladness the pious affections and motions of the People towards the House and Worship of the LORD: 3. To extol with many Elogyes both the Sacred and Civil Constitutions at Jerusalem: 4. And to provoke by many Arguments both himself and others, even all the Saints, most diligently to pray for, seek, and endeavour the Peace and Prosperity of Jerusalem. And probably, David intended that this Song among others should be sung by the People, when they came up to Jerusalem to the Solemn Feasts l.

§. V. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Song are,

I. The Inscription or Title describing, 1. The kinde of it; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; of Degrees. 3. The Instrumental Author, or Penman of it; David. See on Psal. 120. §. 1.

II. The Song it self contains, 1. A Pathetical Gratulation. 2. A vehement Exhortation.

1. A Pathetical Gratulation of David, at the zeale of Gods people towards Gods House and publick Worship there, and at the then flourishing State of Jerusalem, verse 1. to 6. This his Gratulation is illustrated there, I. From the Subjects of the Gratulation, viz. 1. David himself; I rejoyced; 2. The People of God; with them that said, &c. The Preposition in בְּאמְרִים Beomeim, is variously rendred. As, (1.) When they said. So Calvin and Geneva Translation. Referring it to the time of Davids gladness. (2.) In them that said. So Pagnin, Montanus, H Ainsworth. Referring it to the Subject or Object of Davids joy. (3.) For them that said. So the French version; referring it to the cause of his rejoycing. (4) With them that said. So Kimchi, and Sim. de Muis. Intimating the mutual and reciprocal joy of David and the People. If we take it in this last sense, it denotes The Subjects Gratulating or rejoycing with David.

II. From the Causes of this Gratulation. Which are chiefly three. viz. 1. The People's Hortatory words, inciting and provoking one another to go up to the House of the LORD for his publick Worship, verse 1. 2. The Peoples answerable Deeds and Practice. They did accordingly go up to the LORD's House, their feet did stand and persevere in Gods Worship within the Gates of Jerusalem. Apostrophe of speech to Jerusalem, verse 2. 3. The then flourishing State of Jerusalem, A type of the Spiritual prosperity of the Spiritual Jerusalem, the Church of God, The Jerusalem which is above. This her flourishing state was threefold (1) Oeconomical. And so Jerusalem is highly commended, Partly, From her goodly buildings, and the Familyes therin inhabiting. Partly, from the Unity of the Edifices and Citizens among themselves, vers. 3. (2) Ecclesiastical. And so Jerusalem is greately praised, Partly, from the practice of the Tribes, the Tribes of JAH, Ascending habitually thrice in the yeare with one unanimous conflux thither. Partly, from the end of the tribes Ascending thither. Which was two-fold, viz. 1. To Learne the word and will of God, from his holy Oracle at the Arke of Testimony; To the Testimony of Israel. Called Testimony, because From it God gave Testimony of his presence by his Oracles, Ex. 25. 22. In it was kept the Testimony, i.e. The two Tables of the Law and Covenant given to Israel in Horeb, testifying Gods benefits to Israel, the Church of God: and Israel's Duties towards God and their Neighbours, Exod. 25. 21. Hence its called, The Ark of the Testimony, Exod. 25. 22. and 26. 33. 2. To Confess (viz. praise, and thank-giving,) to the Name of the LORD. ver. 4. (3) Political. Forasmuch as all Juridical Administration was at Jerusalem: viz. 1. Thrones for Judgement. As some Interpret The Senate of LXXII. or Great Council the Sanhedrim, who had cognizance of all great and difficult matters. 2. Thrones for the House, or Family of David: i. e. Civil Judicatories. Jerusalem being the Royal Seat for David and his Seed, ver. 5.

2. A Vehement Exhortation of David to all the People of God, to pray for the flourishing State and Prosperity of Jerusalem, and of the Church of God typified thereby, ver. 6, 7, 8, 9.

This Exhortation is 1. Propounded, and 2. Urged.

(1) Propounded in these words; שַׁאֲלוּ שְׁלוֹם יְרוּשָׁלִַם Shaalu shelom Jerushalaim, A most Elegant Paranomasia. Pray yee the peace of Jerusalem; or; Ask yee the peace of Jerusalem, ver. 6. By peace, understanding, all manner of flourishing Prosperity.

(2.) Urged by two Arguments especially: viz. I. From Gods Promise of safe-quietness, tranquility or prosperity to Jerusalem's Lovers; In Jerusalem's peace and prosperity, they shall have peace and prosperity also, ver. 6. II. From Davids own imitable Example herein. He prayes fervently for the same blessings for Jerusalem, which he Exhorted the Godly to pray for. Now this Prayer of David (wherein, in the Hebrew, is observeable another elegant Paronomasia, betwixt Peace and Prosperity,) is, 1. Propounded; Let peace be----. 2. Illustrated, Partly, By a Distribution of the peace and prosperity pray'd for, into two sorts, viz. 1 Publique, and without; Peace be in thy Fort, or the Out-trench encompassing the Walls. 2 Private, and within; and Prosperity, or safe-quietnesse within thy Palaces, ver. 7. Partly, By the Ends of this his petition. He prayed for Jerusalem's peace, &c. 1. For his Brethrens sake. The Prophets, Priests, Levites, and Saints, Brethren of the same Confession of Faith, &c. That they might share in Jerusalem's peace and prosperity, as well as himself. 2. For his Neighbours sake, viz. his Friends dwelling without Jerusalem: that they might partake of Jerusalem's peace, as well as those that dwelt within. Yet some think these Brethren and Neighbours, are but Synonyma's, intending the same persons, ver. 8. 3. For the House of Gods sake, now at Jerusalem. That the pure Worship of God may there be preserved and flourish, and thence also in due time be propagated. Therefore hee will seek her Good: Thy Good, that's the benefit desirable. I will seek; Thats the Duty or Act of the Desirer [m], ver. 9.

Psalme CXXIII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

In this Psalme, are; 1. A Narration of the affiance or confidence of the Psalmist, and People, or Church of God, in the LORD; intentively waiting upon him for mercy, vers. 1, 2. 2. An Oration or earnest Prayer for divine Grace and Favour, against all the contempt and scorne of the prosperous and proud men of the World, vers. 3, 4.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

A Song of Degrees.

1. O Thou that in the Heav'ns dost-sit;
I lift mine eyes to thee.
2. Behold, As to their Masters hand
The eyes of servants bee;
Or as unto her Mistress hand
A maid's eyes are: [a] ev'n thus
Our eyes are to the LORD our God
Till hee-show-grace-to us.
3. O LORD, unto-us-gracious-bee,
Bee-gracious-unto-us:
For, [b] fill'd exceedingly are wee
With [c] spite-contempruous.
4. Our Soule [d] it is exceedingly Fill'd with the Scorning loud
Of those-that-are-at-ease, and high:
With contempt of the proud.

[b] Heb. satiated much, or glutted much.
[c] Heb. contempt.
[d] Heb. it is much satiated (or, glutted) to itself.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

This Psalme, 1. As to the Subject-matter of it, is Mixt of Profession and Petition, being Narratory and Petitory. 2. As to the Outward Forme of it, It is A Song, and that A Song of Degrees.

Penman of this Psalme is thought not to be David, because when he mentions any the Calamities of Gods Church and People, he is wont to insert somthing of his own: which is not here done, as Calvin [e] and others note. But rather some Holy Prophet, that lived long after David is supposed to have penned it. And [e] Jo. Calv. in Com. ad Psal. 123. 1.

And that upon Occasion of the Jewes Captivity in Babylon, or under Antiochus his cruel Persecutions, when Gods people were even so satiated and extreamly glutted with contempt, scorne, and reproach from their haughty and insolent enemies, That all refuge, hope, and comfort failed them on earth, and they had none to look up unto but to the God of Heaven alone[f], And this Song was an excellent Forme of Prayer for Gods Church and People, under contempt and scorne of their foes.

The Scope herein intended, is; 1. To professe the Churches entire and sole confidence in the LORD God of Heaven alone, under all their deepest afflictions: 2. And to implore his singular Grace and mercy, in repressing the pride and insolency of their Enemies, filling and overcharging them with all manner of contumely, scorne, and contempt,

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title sets forth, 1. The Kinde of it; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; Of Degrees.

The Song it self contains in it, 1. A Narration. 2. An Oration, or Prayer.

I. A Narration of the Psalmists and Churches confidence in God in deepest extremities. Herein are,

1. The Act of Confidence professed: under the phrase of lifting-up the eyes. Which is the gesture or posture, 1. Of one Praying, as John 17. 1. 2. Of one expecting and looking up for divine help: as Psal. 121. 1. 2 Chron. 20. 12. both may have place here.

2. The Object of this Confidence: God: in the word [thee.] God is here elegantly described for the help of their Confidence, 1. By his Majestical Place and Throne; O thou---in the Heavens. 2. By his effects. In the word, Sitting; O thou-sitting in the Heavens. This [Sitting] denotes in Scripture, Sometimes Teaching: being ascribed to Teachers, Matth. 23. 2. Sometimes Judging: being used of Judges, Psal. 2. 4, 5. Sometimes Reigning and Ruling, being attributed to Kings, Isai. 66. 1. Psal. 122. 5. 3. By his Adjunct, Excellency, or Supremacy in Heaven. Noted in two Paragogical or redundant Letters [י and ם] in the word הישבי Sitting. All these tend to strenghthen their affiance, ver. 1.

3. The Illustration of this Confidence, two waies; I. From a double Similitude or Resemblance of like Confidence, Of a Servants eye to his Masters hand, or of a Maids eye to her Mistres hands. They eye them to obey their Commands, to receive good from them, or to finde favour from them when corrected by them, having none other besides them to expect any favour from: So our eyes are to the LORD our God, expecting Favour and Grace from him onely under these sharp Chastisements of his hand. In the former part of this Similitude, note the παράδοσις: in the later, the Ἀναπόδοσις or Reddition of it. II. From the importunate perseverance, or persevering importunity of their Confidence; until he shew grace unto us, ver. 2.

II. An Oration or Prayer. Wherein note

1. The Blessing begged; Divine Grace, or Favour; shew-grace-to-us ——.

2. The Request repeated. Intimating, Their Zeale in Prayer, And Gods hastening of his favour so much needed.

3. The Petition enforced, by an Argument drawn from their great and deep distresses and sufferings under their insolent Enemies. Here are pathetically delineated, 1. The Nature of their sufferings, viz. all manner of disgraceful opprobriousnes. Whereof two sorts are mentioned expressly, (1) Contempt. (2) Scorning. 2. The measure of their sufferings; much, much. They were filled, satiated, glutted, much, much, with contempt and scorn. 3. The Patients enduring this; Wee, our soule. Both soule, and the whole man. 4. The Agents that inflicted these injuries, viz. (1) Those that were at ease. A [Periphrasis of the rich and prosperous in this world, who take their ease and delight, as Luke 12. 19. (2) The proud and haughty ones, they are wont to demean themselves insolently against the pious and poor afflicted, vers. 3, 4.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme is, 1. As to the Subject-Matter of it, Mixt: being made up of Exhortation and Praiſe. It is Hortatory verſe 1. to 6. Laudatory, verſe 6. &c 2. As to the Outward Forme of it; A Song, and A Song of Degrees: as the Title ſhowes. See on Pſal. 120. § 1.

Penman of it, was David: as the Title imports.

The Occaſion of David penning it, was (as the matter of it indicates) Some one, or divers wonderful deliverances of the Church and People of Iſrael from their proud, enraged, and ſubtile enemies, by the LORD's own omnipotent arme alone, in the extremity of diſtreſs and danger. Thoſe that referre theſe deep ſtraits of the Church here hinted, to the carrying of the remnant of the People into Babylon, as here foretold by David, have no ground for ſo doing, in the judgment of ſome [f]. For, 1. The paſſages in the Pſalme may as well agree to their extream diſtreſſes under Antiochus that cruel Perſecutor. 2. And the Diſtreſſes and Deliverances here recorded in this Pſalme, are ſpoken of Hiſtorically, as things already done; not Prophetically, as things to be done afterwards. Some referre theſe things To Davids victory over the Philiſtines at Baal-Perizim, and at the Mulberry-trees; 2 Sam. 5. 17. to the end. 1 Chron. 14. 8. to the end [g]. Some to his victory over the Ammonites, and Syrians their helpers, by Joab his General, 2 Sam. 10. and 1 Chron. 18. 3. And afterwards over the Edomites alſo, by Joab and Abiſhai, (which was probably about the ſame time, as Joſephus [h] thinks) Joab ſlaying 12000 Edomites, Pſal. 60. 2. and perhaps Abiſhai 6000 more. Whence the whole number of the ſlain was 18000. 2 Sam. 8. 13. and 1 Chron. 18. 12. Thus—Foord, and Muis [i].

i Jo Foord in Exp. Pſ. 124. Tempus. Cum Exp in Pſ. 44. Tempus---- Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſal. 124.

But others, considering, how Israel dwelt like a flock of Sheep in midst of Wolves, (herein Israel being a lively Type of the Church of God surrounded with enemies in all ages,) The Ammonites, Moabites, Assyrians and Chaldeans being on the East, The Philistines on the West, The Syrians on the North, The Egyptians, Arabians, and Edomites on the South, and how sometimes divers of these did combine together against Israel, and oft-times slew many, and endangered all: do conceive [k] this Psalme may have respect to many great and glorious deliverances, yet to all the eminent deliverances which the LORD had wrought for Israel against all sorts of Enemies, especially in the dayes of David. And the several expressions in the Psalme do very well agree hereunto.

k Jo. Calv. in Com. ad Psal. 224.1. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Psal. 224.

The Scope here intended, is; 1. To incite all Israel, even the whole Church and People of God, to confess and acknowledge the LORD alone to have been her Defence against, and deliverer from, her many proud, enraged, and subtile enemies, in the seasonable nick of danger and extremity. To bless the LORD triumphantly hereupon, with profession of hope for help in all dangers and difficulties in the Omnipotent LORD alone.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In the Inscription note, 1. The Kinde of this Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; Of Degrees. 3. The instrumental Author, or Penman of it; David.

In the Song it self, which is Horratory, and Laudatory, are;

I. An Exhortation to all Israel, to confess and ascribe unto the LORD alone all her glorious and wonderful deliverances from her many dangerous enemies, ver. 1. to 6. Wherein note,

1. The Duty of acknowledging Gods deliverances, required; Let Israel say.

2. The Persons charged with this Duty: even all that shared in the deliverance; Israel.

3. The Time or Season of this acknowledgment, even presently after the deliverances: especially after some eminent deliverance; Now, ver. 1.

4 The matter to be confessed and acknowledged, is The LORD's Protection and Deliverance of his Israel from her many enraged and Crafty enemies, ver. 1,2 &c. This is most elegantly and emphatically set forth four wayes: viz. I. From the peculiar Protection and Patrocinie, which the LORD himself vouchsafed Israel. Which is elegantly repeated; But for the LORD who was for us----. But for the LORD who was for us, ver. 1,2. II. From the Nature and Condition of their Enemies. Here described, 1. By their kinde. There are three Kindes of them, viz Observers, Insurrectors, Evil-doers: Psal. 92. 11. Here are mentioned onely Insurrectors. 2. By their Name; Heb Adam. Earthly-man. Take the word collectively. The LORD was for them: Earthy-man against them, ver. 2. 3. By their wrath and fury; When their anger was kindled---- 4. By their power and multitude. Compared, (1) To devouring Fishes or wild-beasts, swallowing up their prey alive. (2) To waters overflowing. (3) To a fierce and strong Torrent, or Flood irresistible. (4) To proud swelling-waters. Gradation. All which imply, The extremity of Israels danger: And the Eminency of the LORD's deliverance vouchsafed them. III. From the utter impotency of Israel to defend and deliver themselves from such enemies. Being ready to be utterly swallowed up alive, ready to be overflowed: us, our Soul. IV. From the Opportunenes and Seasonableness of their deliverance. Even when enemies were at highest, they are lowest: when enemies are strongest, they are weakest. This, pathetically hinted in the particle [Then] thrice used. See all these in ver. 2, 3, 4, 5.

II. A Laudatory Benediction, wherein the Church Blesseth the LORD for the wonderful deliverance vouchsafed, ver. 6. &c. This Benediction is illustrated,

1. By the Person Blessed; The LORD, their Deliverer.

2. By the Deliverance vouchsafed. This is laid down, 1. Negatively; He hath not given us as a Prey to their Teeth. 2. Positively; Our Soul is escaped----. The Snare is broken, &c. Metaphor from a Bird's escaping out of a Snare by the breaking of it.

3. By the Antithesis, or Opposition of the enemies power and subtilty to Israels weakness and simplicity. 1. The enemies were as hungry Lyons or Wilde-beasts: Israel as a prey. 2. The enemies as cunning Fowlers that had set their Snares: Israel as a silly Bird caught in the Snare, ver. 6, 7.

4. By the professed Confidence of the Delivered in the Omnipotent LORD alone for help in all like cases of danger and difficulty; Our help is in----. Former experience of Gods deliverances, are an excellent foundation for his Churches future Confidence in him, ver. 8.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of it, 1. As to the Subject-matter thereof is mixt, being made up of Doctrine, Prayer, and Prophecy. 2. As to the Outward Forme of it, it is A Song, A Song of Degrees, as the Title Intimates. See Pſal. 120. §. 1.

Penman of this Song is not expreſſed, as in the Titles of ſome other Songs of Degrees: But it is probably conjectured, David wrote it [g]. And from verſe 3. The Rod of the wicked, &c. it is ſuppoſed that it was Penned much about the ſame time, the 124*th* P*ſalme* was written, and upon like Occaſion of the afflictions and diſtreſſes of God Church and people by the wicked of the World. Againſt which they are here comforted, Scope intended herein, is; 1. For the comfort of Gods Church and faithful people againſt all encompaſſing afflictions, dangers, and enemies, to declare their conſtant ſtability and impregnable ſafety through the LORD's ſurrounding preſence and protection: And that the Rod of wickedneſſe ſhall not ſtill reſt upon the lot of the Righteous. 2. As alſo to pray for the welfare of the good and upright. And preſage the wicked's puniſhment, but Iſraels peace.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title points out, 1. The kinde of this ſacred Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; of Degrees.

The Song itſelf is, Doctrinal, Petitory, and Prophetical.

I. Doctrinal, ver. 1, 2, 3. Herein the Pſalmiſt teacheth eſpecially two things, viz.

1. The Conſtancy, Stability, or Perſeverance of the Faithful. Where, 1. The Faithful perſevering, are are described; By their affiance. They trust in. Hope in. By the Object of this their affiance, viz. The LORD. 2. Their Stability or Perseverance is illustrated, by Similitude drawn from the Mount Sion, A Type of the Church. This Mount Sion is set forth, (1) By it's immobility. (2) By it's Perpetuity or Station, verse 1.

2. The All-sufficient Safety and Security of the LORD's people, of his Church. This is Demonstrated two wayes. 1. From the LORD's constant presence with, and Protection of his people. Which Presence and Protection, is Elegantly illustrated by the Natural safety of Jerusalem from her invading enemies by reason of the surrounding Mountains defending it: So the LORD himself is round about his people from now and for ever. Here's the Similitude, and the Reddition of it, ver. 2. 2. From the LORD's Promise, against the continuance of the Rod of wicked Tyrants and persecutors upon the lot of the Righteous. Their Rod may fall on them: but shall not rest on them, so as to overflow their safety. This promise is confirmed by a Reason thereof; Lest continued afflictions and persecutions should expose or force them to any iniquity, ver. 3.

II. Petitory. Wherein the Psalmist prayes for the welfare of the godly. Here note, 1. What is prayed for; Good. All sort of good, which God sees best. 2. From whom it is begged; From the LORD. 3. For whom, viz. for the godly. Set forth, (1) As good. (2) As upright in their hearts, ver. 4.

III. Prophetical. Herein the Psalmist foretelleth, 1. The punishment of the ungodly. (1) They are characterized; They turn aside to their crookednesses: From the way of Piety and integrity. (2) Their punishment is described, By the Author, Kinde of it, and Co-partners in it; The LORD shall lead them forth, &c. 2. The peace of Israel, the Church and people of God, verse 5.

Psalme CXXVI.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

Herein are set forth, 1. The Churches thankful Gratulation to the LORD for the wonderful return of their Captivity from Babylon, ver. 1, 2, 3. 2. A Prayer for perfecting of that Mercy in respect of them that were not yet returned, ver. 4. 3. A Consolation of the afflicted Captives, in hope of an happy issue of all their distresses, ver. 5, 6.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

A Song of Degrees.

1 WHen Sion's fad a Captivitee
The LORD returnd again:
Like-unto-them-that-dream were-wee.
2. Our mouth was filled then,
With laughter, and our tongue b did sing;
Then said they thereupon
Among the Heathens: c mighty things
With them the LORD hath done.
3. The LORD d hath done great things with us:
Wee joyful are thereby.
4. As streams in South, do thou, LORD, thus

c Heb. the LORD hath magnified to do with them.
d Heb. hath magnified to do with us.
e Heb. or, Our reversion.
f Heb. sowers in teare, shall reap in joyfull.
g Heb. weeps bearing the drawing of Seed. or, purchased (i. e. precious) Seed. h Heb. coming shall come.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Psalme. 1. As to the Subject-Matter of it, is Mixt. Consisting of Gratulation, Prayer, and Consolation. 2. As to the Outward-Forme of it, it is A Song, A Song of Degrees, as the Title Denominates it. See Psal. 120. §. 1.

Penman of this Song, was, not David by a Spirit of Prophecy foretelling the Jews return from Babylons Captivity, for this (thinks Calvin) is too much to force the words i: But rather some holy man of God, about the time of the Jewes first and wonderful return from Babylon.

i Joan. Calvin. in Com. ad. Psal. 126. Argum.

Occasion

Occaſion was plainly The Jewes firſt Returne from Babyloniſh Captivity, upon the Edict of Cyrus, after he had conquered Babylon. See the Hiſtory of it, Ezra 1. and 2. Which Captives returned into their own Land magnified the LORD in this Song, for that ſtupendious and almoſt incredible deliverance: Praying the LORD to perfect this mercy in Returning them that were then left behinde: And comforting themſelves and the reſt unreturned, with hopes of an happy and joyful iſſue of all their ſorrowes, though the perfecting of their Deliverance was for a ſeaſon delayed.

Scope of the Song, is; 1. To magnifie the LORD alone for the Jewes admirable Returne from Babyloniſh Captivity. 2. To pray the LORD to compleat this great mercy in Returning the reſt that yet ſtayed behinde. 3. And to comfort themſelves and the Captives un-returned, with hopes of a joyful Harveſt of mercy, after a mournful Seed-time of ſorrow and miſery.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title denotes, 1. The Kinde of this Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; Of Degrees.

The Song it ſelf contains 1. Gratulation, 2. Prayer, 3. And Conſolation.

I. Thankful Gratulation of the Jewes for their firſt and wonderful Returne from Babyloniſh Captivity, ver. 1, 2, 3. This their Returne is deſcribed pathetically,

1. By the Author of it; The LORD. It was ſo great, ſtrange, wonderful, &c. that it could not be aſcribed to any other efficient then to him alone.

2. By the Subject & recipient, on whom the LORD conferred this Deliverance; Sion. The Church. The Captive-Jewes, who were thought to be buried as in Graves in Babylon, Ezek. 37. 11, 12, 13, 14.

3. By the effects or Conſequents hereupon enſuing, viz. 1. The Jewes aſtoniſhment, admiration, &c. at their deliverance, as almoſt incredible: As a dream, rather then a real Truth, verſ 1. 2. Their ſingular joy thereat. Deſcribed, Partly, By the manner of their expreſſing it; With Laughter. With Singing. Partly, By the meaſure of it; ——was filled— 3. The Heathens (viz. Babylonians, Medes, Perſians, &c.) Confeſſion and open teſtification, that the LORD had magnifi'd to do with them. Had magnifically wrought for them. ver 2. 4. The Captives thankful acknowledgment, that the LORD had magnifi'd to do with them indeed. Which is amplyfied, By their rejoycing therein, ver. 3.

II. A Prayer of the Jewes Returned out of Captivity, for Gods continuing and compleating of their Deliverance upon the remnant yet un-returned from Babylon. Wherein note, 1. The Object prayed to; The LORD. 2. The Parties Praying: The Jewes returned. Intimated in the Word [Our.] 3. The Bleſſing prayed for: The Returning of their Captivity: i.e. Of the remainder of the Jewiſh Captives lingering in Babylon, who returned not at firſt with Zerubbabel, but afterwards with Ezra in about the ſeventh year of Artaxerxes Mnemon, See Ezra 7. 1, 7, 8, 11. &c. 4. The Argument whereby they, as it were, move God to grant this requeſt, is drawn from the ſingular acceptableneſs and ſeaſonableneſſe of the mercy, repreſented in an elegant ſimilitude; It will be as ſeaſonable and grateful, as ſtreams of water in the dry parched South-Country, ver. 4.

III. A Conſolation to themſelves and the reſt of the Captives, encouraging them to undergo with hope and patience their preſent ſorrowes and ſufferings in expectation of their future joy in their full deliverance. This is laid down under an elegant Similitude of the Husbandman, who hath a dropping Seed-time, but a joyful Harveſt: who patiently endures hardneſs in plowing, ſowing, &c. in winter: and reaps a rich crop in Summer. The Similitude is expreſſed: The Reddition of it is underſtood, ver. 5, 6.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Subject-Matter of it, is Doctrinal. Teaching that all mans acts and endeavours, without the LORD's concurrent Providence and Bleſſing, are vaine. 2. As to the Outward Forme of it, is A Song. A Song of Degrees. See Pſal. 120. §. 1.

Penman of it, Some think to be K. Solomon [h]. Partly, Becauſe his Name is inſerted in the Title: which may, according as the Hebrew will bear it, be tranſlated; Of-Solomon. Or: For-Solomon. Partly, becauſe Solomon had great knowledge in, and experience of building the Houſe and other affairs mentioned in this Song. Others conceive, that it was penned by David, or by ſome other holy man of God, for Solomon and his Inſtruction, How to enterprize and mannage all his affairs, with dependance chiefly upon the LORD for all good ſucceſs therein [i]. And ſo they render the Title; For-Solomon. And indeed Solomon had great need of ſuch advice as this Pſalme gives, he being to undertake thoſe great works, of building not onely his own Houſe, but Gods Houſe, of ſtabliſhing the Politie of the City Jeruſalem, and the whole Kingdom of Iſrael, &c. To this later Opinion I rather incline. And yet I judge it not much material, whether we aſcribe the penning of it to David or to Solomon. Seeing the Doctrine of the Pſalme will be one and the ſame to us.

Occaſion of penning it, was probably; The great work that lay upon Solomons hand in reference to the Temple, City and Kingdome, and his own Family, which that he might ſucceſsfully undertake, he was to enterpriſe them with dependance upon the LORD's benediction alone.

i H. Moller. in Tit. Pſal. 127. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſ. 127. Jo. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ. 127. Tit. H. Ainſw. on Title.

Scope is, 1. Immediately, to teach Solomon in all his Eccleſiaſtick, Politick, and Domeſtick affairs, to depend only upon the Providence and concurrent bleſſing of God, without which all his own wiſdom, power, diligence, induſtry, &c. would be utterly vain. 2. Mediately, To teach us and all Gods people, That without the LORD's concurrent Providence, Aſſiſtance and Bleſſing, all mans Enterprizes and Endeavours about Eccleſiaſtical, Political, or Domeſtical affaires, are meer loſt labour and vanity. And that therefore in all our Actions and Undertakings we ſhould wholly depend upon the LORD, for aſſiſtance and ſucceſs. So true and excellent is that alluſion of Nazianzen unto this Pſalme; Θεοῦ διδόντος, μηδὲν ἰσχύει φθόνος: καὶ μὴ διδόντος, μηδὲν ἰσχύει πόνος. God giving, Envy nothing prevailes: God not giving, Labour nothing Availes [k].

k Greg. Nazianzen. apud Hen. Moller. in Arg. Pſal. 127.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Inſcription, or Title, expreſſeth; 1. The Kinde of writing; A Song. 2. The Adjunct, A Song of Degrees, See on Pſal. 120.§.1. 3. The Object for whoſe ſake it was ſpecially penned; For Solomon.

The Song it ſelf contains

I. A Doctrinal Declaration of the vanity of all humane Acts and Enterprizes about all ſorts of Affairs here below, without the concurrent influences of Gods Providence and Bleſſing. But eſpecially,

1. In Affairs Eccleſiaſtical. As, in building the Temple [l], which was The Houſe καθ' ἐξοχὴν. In vain did David intend it, unleſs the LORD had approved his intention. In vain had Solomon attempted it: had not God aſſiſted him in it. Some referre this to Amans dwelling-houſe, and eſpecially to his Family; and all manner of proviſions for it. But the former ſeems better, verſ. 1. in begin.

l Thus Jo. Foord in Exp Pſ. 127.

2. In Affaires Political. As, in keeping, protecting, and well-providing for the City, i.e. Jeruſalem, under which, as the Metropolis of the Kingdom, underſtand metonymically the whole Kingdom, and Common-wealth of Iſrael. Unleſs the LORD be the Keeper and Protector thereof, every other Keeper, even Solomon himſelf, keepeth it, and watcheth it all in vain, verſ. 1.

3. In Affaires Oeconomical, or Domeſtical. As, in providing for the Family. All the prudence, diligence, toyle and travel that the Houſholder can expect, and all the hardneſs and ſtraits that he can undergo; being up early, down late, and eating the bread of ſorrowes [m] (i.e. food painfully acquired, Gen. 3.19. or courſe diet) will be all in vain and unproſperous without Gods bleſſing. This is notably illuſtrated by Gods contrary bleſſing of his beloved, depending upon him and his Providence after all his toyle and labour; So he will give his Beloved ſleep [n]. So] i.e. by ſuch early riſing, late ſitting up, eating the bread of ſorrowes; he will give his beloved ſleep, i.e. he will give ſweet ſleep and reſt without carking carefulneſſe to his beloved, that depends upon him for ſucceſs, and commits himſelf and his way unto him. The word שֵׁנָא Shena, ſleep, is written otherwiſe then uſual, with נ a quiet dumb letter, perhaps to denote the greater Quietneſs, verſ. 2.

n His beloved for Dearling. The Heb. Jedid hath reference to Solomons name Jedid-JAH, 2 Sam. 12.25. that is, Beloved-of-JAH. H. Ainſworth in his Annot. on Pſal. 127.2.

II. An eminent Confirmation of this doctrinal Declaration, by an elegant inſtance in children (by whom Eccleſiaſtical, Political, Domeſtical, and all other Societies are ſupplied and upheld) who are not obtained but by the Lords ſingular Benediction and Donation. Here touching children, we may note, 1. The LORD's peculiar influence and providence in beſtowing them upon Parents. Signified in two Denominations. They are called, (1) An Heritage of the LORD. (2) His Reward (viz. not of due debt to any one, as [Reward] is uſed, Numb. 18.31. Gen. 30.28. But of free grace and favour, as [Reward] is uſed, Rom. 4.4. Gen. 15.1. Iſa. 62.11.) verſ. 3. 2. The uſefulneſs of children beſtowed by Gods bleſſing. viz. for defence of Parents, Family, City, and all Societies, againſt all contrary force and oppoſition of enemies. Here to this end, (1) They are reſembled to Arrows in the hand of a mighty man, verſ. 4. (2) He that hath his Quiver, (i.e. his Houſe) filled with theſe Arrows (i.e. children of the youth.) is counted bleſſed. (3) The reaſon of ſuch his happineſs is added; Such ſhall not be aſhamed, but ſhall ſpeak with the Enemies in the Gate. They ſhall be able to defend themſelves, their Parents and Family, their City, their Countrey, againſt the judicial Enemies in the Gate, and their falſe judgments, and againſt the Martial Enemies in the Gate, and their hoſtile weapons of warre, ver. 5.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Subject-Matter of it, is Doctrinal: Teaching, who are the true fearers of the LORD, And how great and manifold blessednes attends upon them. 2. As to the Outward Forme of it, is A Song, A Song of Degrees. See Psal. 120. §. 1.

Penman of it seems to be the same who penned the former Psalme; viz. Solomon or David. For this is of like Argument, and (as Calvin saith) neer of kinne to Psal. 127. and as it were a certain Appendix to it [f]. And therefore (saith Mollerus) it is rightly subjoyned to the former: for it doth as it were explain and confirme it [g].

Occasion of penning it, probably was the former Psalme, or some passages in it. For, The Psalmist having declared in the former Song, That the happy success and good event of all humane undertakings in Ecclesiasticals, Politicals, and Domesticals, depends f Psalmus hic proximo affinis est, & quædam veluti Appendix. Jo. Calv. in Arg. Ps. 128.

g Psalmus hic rectè subjungitur præcedenti. Eum enim quasi explicet & confirmat. Hen. Moller. in Arg. Ps. 128.

depends not upon man's care, wisdom, prudence, diligence, &c. but meerly upon the good Providence and Blessing of the LORD: In this Song he comes to define and describe the Persons, upon whom the LORD peculiarly poures forth his blessing, viz. on all them that truly feare the LORD, walking in his wayes, ver. 1, &c. And, as in the former Song, he had pronounced them happy, that were stored with children, having their Quiver their house filled with those Arrowes, Psal. 127.3,4,5 So in this Song he explaines himself, shewing unto whom especially plenty of children were such a blessing; viz. To the pious and sincere fearers of the LORD, &c. Psal. 128.1,3.

Scope is, To teach and declare the singular and manifold happiness of the true Fearers of the LORD, Privately and Publikely: And especially in the Labours of their Calling, in their Wife, in their Children, &c. Whence this Song is by some [h], and not amiss, stiled, Ἐπιθαλάμιος λόγος, A kinde of Marriage-Song, setting forth the Praise, Instruction, and Commendation of such as are in Marriage-State, or entring thereinto And surely, both this and the former Song (if the Subject-matter of both be duely considered) contain most excellent Doctrine, Instruction and Consolation for married persons, and such as are to be married. And therefore they are most proper and suitable to be Read, Sung, and meditated upon, by such persons, and upon such Occasions.

h H. Mollerus in Arg. Psal. 128.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title sets forth, 1. The Kinde of this Poeme, as to the external forme of it; A Song. 2. The Adiunct of it; of Degrees. See on *Psal.*120 §.1.

The Song it self contains, An Excellent Doctrine of the manifold happiness, of all the true Fearers of the LORD. To this purpose herein are,

I. A Description of the Subiect to whom this happiness belongs. Described, 1. By their Adjunct; The religious feare of the LORD. 2. By the effect, or concomitant of this Feare of the LORD, viz. Walking in his wayes. Metaphorically, his Lawes and Commands, Word and Ordinances, are here stiled his wayes. Ezra and Kimchi understand by them that feare the LORD, such as abstain from his negative Precepts, and by such as walk in his wayes, those that keep his affirmative Precepts [i]. But this is too dilute: 3. By the general Extent; in the universal particle כל Col, every-one, viz. whether rich or poor, &c. *vers.*1.

i Per eos qui timent Dominum, intelligunt Ezra & Kimchi illos qui sibi cavent à præceptis negativis: per eos verò qui ambulant in viis ejus, qui obediunt præceptis affirmativis. Sim. de Muis in Com. ad Psal. 128. 1.

II. A Declaration of their happiness that thus fear the LORD, &c. Which is laid down

1. More Generally; The happinesse of every-one, &c. Or; O the happinesses——! as it were with a kinde of admiration. The Abstract plural here is very emphatical, *ver.*1.

2. More particularly, The happiness of the godly Fearers of the LORD, is distributed into two sorts, viz. (1) Private and corporal, *vers.*2,3,4. (2) Publike and spiritual, *ver.*5,6.

First, the private and corporal, or temporal happiness of every one fearing the LORD, is elegantly laid down by way of Enallage or change of the person, or Apostrophe, turning his speech to the man fearing the LORD. And this his happiness is manifold, viz. He shall be happy,

(1) In the honest labours of his Calling. Where note, that 1. To the feare of the LORD, and religious walking in his wayes, Labour in our particular Calling must be added. 2. They that labour in their particular Calling have here the promise of Gods blessing; O happy thou, and good shall be to thee. 3. Its a special blessing to have our labours blessed of God. 4. It is of Gods great blessing that we eate of our own hands labours, and not of others, *ver.*2.

(2) In his Wife. Which in regard of, 1. Her fruitfulness in children; 2. The place of her fruitfulness, in her husbands house. is elegantly compared to a fruitifying Vine by the House sides. The Vine being the only tree planted in the House, and through the Wall the branches shooting forth are fruitful on the house-sides through the influence of the Sunne.

(3) In his Children. Compared to Olive Plants round about his Table. Thus some accommodate the Similitude; 1. The Olive is still fresh, green, and flourishing; So shall thy sonnes be still flourishing in prosperity. 2. The Olive is legitimate, admits no other tree to be ingrafted upon it: so thy children shall be legitimate, not spurious. 3. Their standing round about thy Table, may denote, Their plenty, round-about: Their Sobriety, thy Table; Their serviceableness to their Parents, standing and attending round about thy Table. Perhaps all, besides the first, may be more witty, then solid, *ver.*3.

(4) In

(4) In the certainty of the godly man's former felicity. Confirmed by an Emphatical Repetition of Gods promise and declaration of his happiness, ver. 4.

Secondly, The publique and Spiritual, as well as Temporal happinesse of every fearer of the LORD, is superadded, ver. 5. &c. Where note, 1. The Author of this blessedness, viz. The LORD. 2. The Testimony confirming this blessednesse to them, viz. The Covenant which God made with his people, now placed in the Ark in Sion the token of Gods special presence among them, where God commanded the blessing, &c. Psal. 133. 3: therefore it is added; out of Sion. 3. The matter of this spiritual happiness, in beholding the good of Jerusalem, viz. The spiritual welfare and flourishing prosperity of the Church of God, whereof Jerusalem was a Type. 4. The constancy of this happinesse and great blessing; all the dayes of thy lives. 5. The extension of this happinesse also even to Childrens Children. The third and fourth generation shall even in his sight share in this blessednesse. This promise notably implyes to the fearers of the LORD, Long life, and a numerous succession of Posterity. Thus private blessings are also interwoven with the publique: they use to stand and fall together. 6. Peace and Prosperity upon Israel, upon the whole Kingdom and Nation, ver. 5,6. These are singular blessings. For a gracious heart prefers the weale Publick of Church and State before all his own private Concernments, as in Psal. 137. 5,6.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

Herein are, 1. The Churche's complaint against the continued, frequent, and greivous afflictions brought upon her, by her persecuting enemies, ver. 1, 2, 3. 2. An acknowledgement of the LORD's delivering her from them, ver. 4. 3. A dreadful imprecation of Confusion and ruine upon all the haters of Sion, the enemies of the Church, ver. 5. to the end.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

A Song of Degrees.

1 OFt from my youth they mee distress'd:
May Israel now say.
2. Oft from my youth they mee distress'd:
Yet thus farre have not they Prevail'd against-mee, though full low.
The Plowers, fierce and strong,
Upon my very back did plow:
They made their furrow long.

a Heb. hath cutasunder——. 4. The just LORD, a hath asunder-dash'd
The Cords of wicked-men.

5. Let Sion's haters all bee-dash'd,
And turned back again.
6. Like to the rootless fading Grasse
Of-Houses-tops bee they:
Which ere it groweth-up, doth passe
And withereth-away.

7. b Whereof enough to fill his hand
The Mower doth not finde:
Or hee his bosome, that doth stand
And scattered Sheaves up-binde.
8. Nor do they say, that-passe-by them,
The LORD's good blessing bee
Upon-you: In JEHOVAH's Name
Bless you this day do wee.

b Heb. wherewith the Mower filleth not his palme.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is A Song, A Song of Degrees. See on Psal. 120. §. 1. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, is Mixt: being Querelatory, Laudatory, and Imprecatory. Complaining of the Churches distresses by her persecutors, Praising the LORD for preserving his Israel from ruine in in greatest extremities and delivering her; And imprecating confusion and ruine to the haters of Sion.

Penman and Occasion of writing this Song cannot particularly be determined upon with any certainty: Neither, being here or elsewhere clearly recorded in Holy Scripture. From the Subject-Matter of the Psalme, much resembling that of Psal. 124. some conceive they were both Penned by the same Author and about the same time c. Calvin considering the singular Emphasis of that Adverb of time, Now, ver. 1. Conjectures, that probably this Psalme was composed when the Church of God was cast into extream straits, or oppressed with some great tyranny, and in such deep danger, that it was not farre from utter ruine. —— As, when after the Jewes returned from Babylon, and had suffered many bitter injuries from their neighbouring enemies, they at last were almost wholly ruined under the tyranny of Antiochus d.

d Joan. Calvin. in Com. ad Psal. 129. 1.

Scope of the Psalmist herein, is; 1. To incite Israel, the Church of God, to magnifie the LORD for his wonderful and constant preserving her from ruine against the many and long-continued distresses and straits brought upon her by her persecuting enemies, and cutting asunder the Cords of the wicked; As also 2. To devote the haters of Sion to utter confusion. The Whole Psalme is carried on with much Emphatical Elegancy: every Sentence, every Word being very observable. Augustine compares this Psalme, to Zacheus, little of Stature, but great in Work; and to the Widows two Mites, little Money, but large Charity: So this Psalme, if you number the Words, is short; if you weigh the Sentences, is great e.

e Psalmus —— brevis est. Sed sicut Scriptum est in Evangelio de Zachæo, staturâ brevis, sed magnus in opere: sicut scriptum est de illâ viduâ, quæ duo minuta misit in Gazophylacium; Brevis pecuniâ, sed magna charitas. Sic & iste Psalmus, si verba numeres, brevis est: Si sententias appendas, magnus est. Aug. in Psal. 228. Enarrat. Tom. 8.

§. IV. The Analysis, or principal parts.

The Title denotes, 1. The kinde of writing; A Song. 2. The Adjunct thereof; of Degrees.

The Song it self. Containes

I. A Complaint. Wherein note

1. The parties complaining, or incited by the Psalmist to complaine; Israel. The Church of God.

2. The time or season of the complaint; Now. i. e. In her then present great extremities, into which she was plunged, &c.

3. The adversaries against whom she complaines, or may justly complain: hinted in the word [they] in ver. 1, 2. but afterwards branded with the infamous names of Plowers, the wicked, the haters of Sion, in ver. 3, 4, 5. these were Israels adversaries.

4. The injuries done to Israel by her adversaries, and here the matter of her complaint, are most Elegantly and Pathetically described, 1. By their Adjuncts. 2. By Comparisons.

(1) By their Adjuncts, Aggravating the enemies injuries. As, 1. The frequency of these injuries: Often. Often. i. The greatness and grievousness of the injuries, hinted in the passionate ingemination; Often have they distressed me. Often have they distressed me. 3. The continuance of them; From my youth. From my youth. viz. From the dayes of Saul and David, when Israel was constituted a Kingdom: yea, from the dayes of Moses, when she was brought out of Egypt and formed into a National Church: yea, from the time of Abraham, when God entred into Covenant with him and his Seed; yea, even from the dayes of Adam, when God first promised the Seed of the woman, &c. All this is illustrated, by their enemies disappointments, vers. 5, 6.

(2) By Comparisons. These injuries are compared, 1. To the straitning or besieging of a City or Castle: in the word צָרְרוּנִי Tserauni, they distressed me, they straitned me, ver. 1, 2. its doubled Emphatically. The enemies as it were laid siege against Israel and straitned the Church. 2. To Ploughing up of Grounds. Here, 1. The Plowers, were the enemies persecuting the Church. 2. Their Plowing, was their malicious persecuting the Church of God, rending, tearing, &c. 3. The ground plowed, The back of Israel. 4. The length of the furrow, was the continuance and prolonging of their distresses, all very elegantly, ver. 3.

II. A thankful acknowledgement of the Churches deliverance. Here note. 1. The Author of this deliverance; The LORD. 2. The Impulsive Cause inclining the LORD thereunto, viz. The LORD's Justice for his people and against their adversaries. 3. The evils and enemies from which which they were delivered; the cords of the wicked: i. e. The Councils, Contrivances, and other Instrumental means whereby they drew the plow upon Israel's back. 4. The way or method of the LORD's delivering them; by cutting asunder the coards of the wicked. He thus persists in the former Metaphor or Allegory of plowing, ver. 4.

III. A dreadful Imprecation upon the Churches Enemies. Wherein consider

1. The Description or Character of the Enemies imprecated; Haters of Sion.
2. The extent of the imprecation: to them all; in the universal particle, All.
3. The Judgements whereunto these Enemies are devoted, viz. 1. Publique Shame. 2. Flight, turning back to their ruine and confusion, ver. 5. 3. Untimely destruction, under the Similitude of Grass on House-tops, soon withering, ver. 6. wholly fruitless, ver. 7. and without blessing, ver. 8.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is A Song, A Song of Degrees: as the Title showes. See on Psal. 120. §. 1. And it is the Eleventh Song of Degrees in order. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Mixt: being Petitory, and Hortatory; as is hinted in the Summary Contents. And it is reckoned among the Seven Penitential Psalmes: being the Sixth in order. See before, on Psal. 6. §. 3. It is therefore (said one) more known and Sung in the Church, then the other Songs of Degrees g. And the matter of it is not obscure to them, that have tasted the terrours of Conscience for sin, and have been exercised in the School of sincere Repentance. For herein the Psalmist being as it were sunk down into the deeps of Distresses, Cares, Sorrowes, Anxieties, &c. perhaps both corporal and spiritual, and almost overwhelmed therewith, cryes out in these extremities to the LORD, for audience, and pardon of sin, earnestly waiting upon the LORD to that end according g Hic Psalmus inter pœnitentiales refertur: ideo præ cæteris in Ecclesia semper fuit notus & decantatus. Nec obscura est sententia his qui aliquando senserunt terrores peccati, & aliqua habuerunt pœnitentiæ exercitia. H. Mollerus in Arg. Ps. 130.

ing to his Word of Promiſe: And exhorting all the Iſrael of God herein to imitate his example. The Prayer is ſhort: but very pithy, fervent, and pathetical. It is Incomparabilis Theſaurus, a Treaſure incomparable, ſaid Calvin [h]. It may moſt comfortably and fitly be uſed as a Prayer, or as a Pattern for Prayer, by a poor penitent broken-hearted Soul almoſt overwhelmed and ſwallowed up with deeps of miſery by reaſon of ſin: againſt which, the ſufficiency of divine Pardon, and Redemption is here emphatically declared. Upon which, ſaid Auguſtine well; —— Therefore if Iſrael be preſſed with his ſins, the mercy of God is at hand. —— Hee that did not commit ſin, is his Redeemer from ſin. Hee will Redeem Iſrael. Whence will hee Redeem? From this iniquity, or from that? Nay, from all his iniquities. Therefore let not him, that is about to come to God, feare any his iniquities: onely let him come with his whole heart, and now ceaſe to do what before he had done, and not ſay; that iniquity ſhall not be forgiven me. ——Do not ſay, I am not worthy, becauſe of my ſins. Thou art not worthy: but with him is much Redemption, and hee will Redeem Iſrael from all his iniquities [i].

h Jo. Calv. in Com. ad Pſ. 130. 1.

i Ergo ſi premebatur peccatis ſuis, adeſt miſericordia Dei. —— Qui non commiſit peccatum ipſe eſt Redemptor à peccato: ipſe Redimet Iſrael. Unde redimet? Ab illa iniquitate, an ab illa? Ab omnibus iniquitatibus ſuis. Non ergo timeat acceſſurus ad Deum aliquas iniquitates ſuas: tantummodo accedat pleno corde, & deſinat jam facere quæ antea faciebat, & non dicat; illa iniquitas non mihi dimittitur. — Noli dicere, Ego non ſum dignus propter peccata. Non es dignus: Sed multa apud illum Redemptio, Et ipſe Redimet Iſrael ab omnibus iniquitatibus ſuis. Aug. in Enarrat. Pſal. 129. p. 1511. A. B. C. D. Tom. 8. Baſil. 1569.

Penman and particular Occaſion of penning this Song, are uncertain. Some [k] think David penned it, Either when himſelf was in the Depths of anguiſh and diſtreſs for his great ſins of murder of Uriah, and Adultery with Bathſhebah, See Pſal. 51. Title. and 2 Sam. 11. and 12 And that in this Song and Prayer hee earneſtly beggs pardon of thoſe ſins. Or, when himſelf and Iſrael were preſſed extreamly with ſome deep calamity, as when the Peſtilence came upon them for Davids numbering the People, 2 Sam. 24. or ſome ſuch great diſtreſs. Or when David, in the dayes of Saul, was in deep perplexities through his Perſecutions. But others think this Pſalme was penned by ſome Prophet upon occaſion of the peoples deep diſtreſſes in Babyloniſh Captivity, the Prophet ſuſtaining the perſon of the people: becauſe of the beginning and cloſe of the Pſalme, ver. 1. and 7, 8. As the Ord. Gloſſ. l. The Song indeed may be applyed thereto, as to divers other conditions of Gods people. But none of theſe particulars have any certain foundation.

k See H. Moller. in Arg. Pſal. 130. Joan. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ. 130. Gloſſ. Ordinar. n Addit. Pſal. 129.

l De materia vero hujus Pſalmi, dicunt aliqui quod eſt Oratio ipſius David pro ſua liberatione à peccatis Adulterij cum Bethſabea, & homicidij Uriæ. Sed finis Pſalmi videtur magis prætendere, quod ſit Oratio pro liberatione populi Iſraelis à Babylonica Captivitate, facta ab aliquo ſpem Dei habente, qui loquens in perſona populi dicit; De profundis. i. de terrâ Babylonicâ, quæ eſt demiſſa reſpectu Judæ: Et etiam quia in Babylone aliqui de Judæis erant poſiti in carceribus ſubterraneis, &c. Gloſſ. Ordinar. in Addition. ad Pſal. 129.

Scope of the Pſalmiſt herein, is; 1. Partly, to obtain of the LORD audience to his Prayer fervently preſented in his deep and almoſt deſperate extremities: and acceptance of his Supplication-for-grace, eſpecially in the free forgiveneſs of his iniquities; For accompliſhment of which his deſires, he waits earneſtly upon the LORD, according to his Word of Promiſe, ver. 1. to 7. 2. Partly, To excite Iſrael, even the whole Church of God, and conſequently every member thereof, after the Pſalmiſts example, To waite-hopefully upon the LORD for his loving-kindneſs and much Redemption of them from all iniquities, ver. 7, 8. And this may be uſed by Gods penitent people in their deeps of diſtreſs, As an excellent Prayer for Audience, Acceptance, and forgiveneſs of Sinnes of all ſorts: raiſing up their Faith and Hope earneſtly to expect the ſame according to the faithful Word and Gracious Nature of the LORD.

This

This Precious Song, therefore, contrary to the true uſe, intent, and Scope of it, is moſt groſly, ignorantly, and ſuperſtitiouſly abuſed and prophaned by the Papiſts, who recite it for obtaining mercy to the dead Saints detained in the paines of Purgatory. ——It is received (ſaid Sim. de Muis [m], a learned Papiſt) by the cuſtome of the Church, That this Pſalme ſhould be recited for the pious deceaſed, becauſe in it there is often mention of Divine Mercy, which they much need, if as yet perhaps they be detained in the paines of Purgatory. And hence probably aroſe that ignorant, ſottiſh, and Superſtitious Cuſtom, even in our memories in uſe in ſome dark parts of England, Of poore peoples and Childrens begging of Egges, &c. the week before Eaſter, &c. with recital of this Pſalme, or at leaſt ſome part of it, in Latin; De profundis clamavi, &c.

Refut. 1. There's no ſuch place as Purgatory, wherein the Soules of Saints deceaſed, and not thoroughly purged from their ſins in this life, are more thoroughly purged, that they may enter into Heaven. Its only a Papal fiction and avaritious device for increaſing of the Popes Revenew and maintaining the fire in his Kitchen. See our Arguments againſt Purgatory, with our Anſwers to Bellarmines Arguments for it; In, G. Ameſ. Bellarm. Enervat. Tom. 2. lib. 5. cap. 1. & 2. p. 180 &c. Part. 4. Controverſ. 1. de Eccleſ. laborante in Purgatorio, p. 433. &c. Hanov. 1627.

2. There being no ſuch place as Purgatory, nor any Soules there, There needs no ſuffrage or prayers for them, either in the words of this Pſalme, or any other Forme. Calvin ſaid well; —— The barbarous ignorance of the Papiſts is deteſtable, whileſt drawing this Pſalme to other uſe, they filthily profane it. For to what end do they murmur it over for the dead, but that Satan hath bewitched them to extinguiſh a ſingularly profitable Doctrine by their Sacriledge. For ſince this Pſalme was applyed to dead ſhadows, it is vulgarly almoſt believed to be of no uſe among the living: and ſo the World hath loſt this incomparable Treaſure [n].

m Porrò Eccleſiæ conſuetudine receptum, ut pro piè defunctis recitetur hic Pſalmus, quoniam in eo crebra fit divinæ miſericordiæ mentio, quâ ij multum indigent, ſi adhuc fortè in pœnis Purgatorij detineantur. Sim. de Muis in Argum. Pſal. 130.

n —Quo magis deteſtabilis eſt barbara Papiſtarum inſcitia, dum Pſalmum hunc in uſum alienum trahentes, fœdè profanant. Quorſum enim demurmurant eum pro mortuis, niſi quod eos faſcinavit Satan ut doctrinam apprimè utilem ſuo Sacrilegio extinguerant? Nam ex quo ad mortuas umbras raptus fuit Pſalmus, vulgo ferè creditum eſt nullum eſſe ejus uſum inter vivos: atque ita mundo periit incomparabilis theſaurus. Joan. Calvin. in Comment. ad Pſal. 130. 1.

The Title declares, 1. The Kinde or Sort of this Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct of it; of Degrees.

The Song it ſelf contains

I. A Prayer, ver. 1. to 7. Wherein note,

1. The calamitous condition of the Pſalmiſt when he thus prayed; Out of the deeps. i. e. Our of great and extream Calamities, from the Gates of deſpair, &c. A Metaphor from deep waters as Pſal. 69. 2, 14. The Saints may be in deep Extremities: And yet even thence may pray unto the LORD.

2. The Object to whom he preſented his Prayer, out of the deeps; To thee, O LORD.

3. The Adjunct fervency of his Prayer; have I called —have I cryed, verſe 1.

4. The Petitions or Requeſts preſented to the LORD. Which are, 1. For audience. 2. For attention to his Supplication-for-grace: eſpecially pardoning-grace, ver. 2, &c.

5. His Arguments whereby he urgeth and enforceth his Requeſt. And they are drawn, 1. From the incommodity of Gods denying this requeſt, by marking and not pardoning iniquities, Then who ſhall ſtand up before him, ver. 3. 2. From the Gracious Nature of God, inclining to pardon ſinne; But with thee is forgiveneſs. Amplified by the conſequent fruit and effect which that divine property will work in man, viz. The feare of the LORD for this his goodneſs, verſe 4. 3. From his own earneſt expectation of the LORD in this way of pardoning Mercy, which expectation is repeated for the more Emphaſis, and declared to be his Soules expectation: Auxeſis. This his expectation is illuſtrated. (1) By the ground of it; His hope in his Word of Promiſe, verſe 5. (2) By the fervency and intenſiveneſſe of it; More then Watchmen wait for the morning. Which Compariſon is doubled for the more Emphaſis and Elegancy, verſe 6.

II. An Exhortation, ver. 7, 8. He exhorts and incites Israel, the whole Church of God, and ſo every member thereof, after his example, To wait-hopefully for the LORD, in deepeſt extremities, for mercy and pardon. This Exhortation he preſſeth, 1. From the Nature of God; For with him is mercy, or loving-kindneſs. 2. From Gods abundant Redemption; much Redemption, ver. 7. 3. From the promiſe of the LORD's univerſal Redemption of Iſrael from (not onely few, or many, but) all his iniquities, ver. 8.

Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme and frame of it, is, A Song, A Song of Degrees: as the Title Denominates it. See on Pſal 120. §. 1. and it is the Twelfth Song of Degrees in order. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Mixt: being an Holy Meditation, Partly Narratory, touching the Pſalmiſts humble Hope; Partly Hortatory, inciting Iſrael to like hope in the LORD for ever.

Penman of it, was David: as the Title indicates.

Occaſion of Davids penning it, ſome [c] conceive to be this; viz. That David was maliciouſly accuſed by Sauls Courriers, for proud aſpiring to the Kingdom, and endeavouring after great matters too high for him, &c. Therefore here in this Pſalme David purgeth himſelf, and as it were appeals to God, taking him to witneſs, how humbly and modeſtly he had behaved himſelf, attempting nothing at any time above his ſtrength or ſtate of life: yea how he compoſed himſelf quietly, depending onely upon the LORD, even as a newly-weaned child ſubmits himſelf to, and depends upon, his mother. And hereupon he exhorts Iſrael to imitate him their King in an humble and hopeful waiting upon the LORD, for a bleſſing under his Government. The Series of the Song fitly agrees hereunto.

c Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſ. 131.

Scope of David herein, is; 1. Partly, To profeſs and avouch before the LORD his humble and ſelf-denying deportment in heart, looks, and actions, not reaching or aſpiring beyond his ſpheare to things too great or too wonderful for him, but hopefully fully quieting himself in the LORD, as a weaned childe with his mother. 2. Partly, To incite Israel, after his example, to wait-hopefully upon the LORD for ever, walking humbly with him. Subjects being apt to imitate their Kings: Inferiours, their Superiours [f].

And as the Poet hath noted,

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title declares, 1 The Kinde, 2 The Adjunct, and 3 Penman of this Psalme, David.
The Song it self contains
I. David's Profession of his humble Hope, and quiet self-denying deportment, before the LORD. Wherein note, 1. The Person before whom he makes this Profession; The LORD. 2. The manner of his Profession: Which is by the removeal of all presumptuousnes, pride, haughtiness, and arrogancy from himself and his deportment: viz. From (1) His Heart; that's not haughty. (2) Eyes; they not lofty. (3) Actions; he walks not in great matters too wonderfull for him, ver. 1. 3. The Illustration of this his professed Humility, &c. by the Similitude of a weaned child; humbly and quietly submitting to the disposal of his mother. This Similitude is emphatically amplyfied, Partly by an Oath; Hebr. If I have not composed, &c. its the forme of an Oath in Hebrew phrase, with a tacit curse implyed. Partly by the Repetition of the Similitude pathetically, ver. 2. This humble, self-denying, and as it were weaned Composure and Deportment of David, singularly intimated his hope and acquiescence in the LORD alone ordering all things for him.
II. Davids Exhortation to Israel his Subjects, from his Example, To Hope in the LORD, waiting-hopefully for him in all humility, and that for evermore, ver. 3.

Psalme CXXXII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist presents his and the Church's his Prayer to the LORD, I. In reference to the State Ecclesiastical, the perpetual duration and prosperity thereof, 1. That the LORD would remember all Davids afflicting care and zeale, about finding out an Habitation for the LORD, ver. 1. to 8. 2. That the LORD, with his Ark, would arise unto his Rest, ver. 8. 3. That his Priests may be cloathed with righteousnes. 4. That his Saints may shout for joy, ver. 9. II. In reference to the State Political or Civil, That for his promise sake to David, he would make the Kingdome perpetually prosper and flourish in the hand of Davids Posterity, &c. ver. 10. to the end.
First, they pray for the Church: Then, for the Common-wealth or Kingdome [g]. And though both Levitical worship, and Civil Politie were dissolved and ceased after Christs Incarnation: yet, in the General, we have in this Psalme, a Forme of Prayer, which the godly even in theſe dayes of the New Teſtament may uſe, In reference to the Church of God, his Habitation, Epheſ. 2. 22. and Spiritual Sion, 1. That himſelf and the true Ark of his ſtrength Jeſus Chriſt would ariſe and come into his reſting place, vouchſafeing his Church his Spiritual Preſence, Protection and Grace; 2. That his Miniſters may be clothed with Righteouſneſs and Salvation, to the ſaving of themſelves and them that hear them, 1 Tim. 4. 16. 3. And that all his Saints may have abundant cauſe to ſhout for joy. In reference alſo to Chriſtian Kingdomes and Common-wealths, the Innes and Harbours of the Church, that they may flouriſh in all peace and proſperity, in order to the well-fare of the Church.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

A Song of Degrees.

1. TO David, LORD, remember thou
All his Affliction.
2. How hee ſware to the LORD, did vow
To Jacob's mighty-one.
a Heb. I enter into- 3. If a I come in mine Houſe's Tent:
b Heb. I aſcend upon the pallet of my beds. If b I aſcend my beds.
4. If I give ſleep unto mine eyes;
Slumber to mine eye-lids.

5. Until I finde a place, whoſe ſite
Is for the LORD alone,
Ev'n Habitations of delight
For Jacob's mighty-one.
6. Lo, touching it at Ephrathah
Wee heard and underſtood:
Wee found it, in a joyful day,
Within Fields of the Wood.

7. Into his dwelling-places now
Wee will go, as is meet:
Wee humbly will our ſelves-down-bow
At foot-ſtool of his feet.
8. Ariſe, O LORD, unto thy Reſt:
Thou, and th' Ark of thy ſtrength.
c Heb. bee clothed. 9. With juſtice let thy Prieſts c bee dreſs't:
And thy Saints ſhout at length.

II.

10. For thy dear ſervant David's ſake,
Turne not away the face
Of thine Annoynted. Him glad make.
11. The LORD of his rich grace
Sware unto David verity,
Hee will not turne from it:
Of the fruit of d thy body I
Will e on thy Throne make-ſit.

12. My Covenant if thy ſonnes conſerve,
My Teſtimony too
That I ſhall teach them to obſerve,
Their children ſhall alſo
f For ever ſit upon thy Throne.
13. For, lo the LORD, though great,
Hath Sion choſe, hath it alone
Deſired for his ſeat.

14. This ſhall bee my peculiar Reſt
To perpetuity:
Here will I dwell, I like it beſt,
For it deſir'd have I.
15. Her victuals I will bleſſing bleſs:
Her poor with bread g I'le fill.
16. h Her Prieſts I'le with Salvation dreſs:
Her Saints for joy ſhall ſhrill.

17. Yea, I will make-to-bud with might
The Horne of David there.
I have ordain'd a Lamp of light
For mine Annoynted deare.
18. His enemies with robes of ſhame
I will clothe, till they periſh:
But on himſelf to endleſs fame
His Diadem ſhall flouriſh.

d Heb. thy wombe or, thy belly. e Heb. on the throne to thee.

f Heb. even to perpetuity to ſit upon the throne to thee.

g Heb. I will ſatisfy. h Heb. And her Prieſts I will clothe with Salvation, and her Saints ſhall ſhouting ſhout joyfully.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it; Is A Song, A Song of Degrees: as the Title denominates it. See on Pſal. 120. §. 1. And it is the Thirteenth Song of Degrees in order. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, It is A Prayer: A Prayer for the proſperity and perpetuity of Church and State.

Penman of it is not expreſſed in the Title, or clearly ſignified elſewhere. It is ſomewhat queſtioned among Interpreters, whether David or Solomon penned it. Calvin ſaith, It is no doubt it was David or Solomon[i]. H. Mollerus[k] thinks, It may bee eaſily gathered from the Hiſtory, That either David framed it and preſcribed it to his ſon, when God had now declared a certain place for the Temple, and promiſed the duration of his Kingdome, 2 Sam. 7. 1 Chron. 17. Or, at leaſt that Solomon

k H. Mollerus in Arg. Pſ. 132.

Solomon Penned it, that it might be ſung of the godly whileſt he was building the Temple. Foord[l] thinks this Pſalme was Penned by Solomon at the time of his Dedication of the Temple, when he brought the Ark of the Teſtimony into it; Partly, Becauſe when David brought the Ark of God from the Houſe of Abinadab to Jeruſalem, the place where the Temple ſhould be built was not revealed to David, nor till after he had numbred the People, which was more then twenty years after. See 2 Sam. 24. 16. 18. &c. 1 Chron. 21. 15. 18. 26. 28. and 22. 1. 2. &c. Partly, Becauſe Solomon in his Prayer at the Dedication of the Temple uſed with little variation ſome of the words of this Pſalme. Compare Pſal. 132. 8, 9, 10. with 2 Chron. 6. 41. 42. Anſw. But in my judgement theſe two Reaſons are not cogent. For, 1. What though the place where the Temple ſhould be built, was not as yet diſcovered to David when he brought up the Ark into the City of David? Did David therefore not Pen this Pſalme? David might pen this Pſalm notwithſtanding. For, There's no paſſage in the Pſalme that neceſſarily and infallibly is to be interpreted of the place of the Temple, rather then of the place for the Ark in Jeruſalem, as ver. 5. 6 &c. may be (and are by divers) interpreted. Again, if in this Pſalm the place of the Temples Scituation were hinted, David might pen this Pſalme after the LORD had diſcovered to him where the Temple ſhould be built, as divers[m] think he did. 2. And what though Solomon in his Prayer at the Dedication of the Temple, uſe ſome words of this Pſalme, was he therefore Penman of it? It follows not. Nay rather it implyes the Pſalme was penned long before that time, and famouſly known among the People, ſeeing then he made uſe of ſome part of it. I ſhould rather think it more probable, with others[n], That David wrote this Song.

Occaſion of penning this Song, ſome think to be the Dedication of the Temple built by King Solomon[o]. Kimchi thinks David then publiſhed it, when at the Command of Gad the Prophet he had erected an Altar in the Threſhing-floore of Araunah the Jebuſite, and thereon had offered Burnt-offerings and Peace-offerings: and had called on the LORD, and the LORD had anſwered him by Fire from Heaven upon the Altar of Burnt-offering: And David had ſaid; This is the Houſe of the LORD God, and this the Altar of the Burnt-offering for Iſrael, 1 Chron. 21. 15, 18, 25, 26, 28. and 22. 1. For until that day, David knew not the place where the Temple was to be built. This is confirmed by that paſſage; Then Solomon began to build the Houſe of the LORD at Jeruſalem in Mount Moriah, where the LORD appeared unto David his father, in the place that David had prepared in the Threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jebuſite. 2 Chron 3. 1. I think (ſaith one[p]) that then this Song was ſet forth by David: But that then it ſhould be ſung, when the Ark ſhould be brought into the Temple builded in the place revealed to him. The ſeries of the Pſalme perſwades this, and eſpecially, verſe 7, 8, 9, 10. And alſo, That Solomon having brought the Ark into the Temple built by him, made uſe of verſe 8, 9, 10. of this Pſalme in his Prayer, a few things onely altered; See 2 Chron. 6. 41, 42. and with theſe he then cloſed up his Prayer.

Scope of this choice Song and Prayer: is; I. To intreat the LORD, in reference to Eccleſiaſticals according to his gracious promiſes to David, 1. To remember to David for good all his Affliction, and his zeal to finde out an Habitation for the LORD the mighty one of Jacob; 2. To bleſs and ſanctify his Reſting-place with his ſpecial preſence, cloathing his Prieſts, miniſtring there unto him, with righteouſneſs, and filling his Saints with ſhouting joy. II. And in reference to Politicals, according to his Promiſes and Oath to David, 1. To accept his Annointed, 2. And to bleſs and perpetuate the Kingdom unto his Seed for ever, for the good of his Church and true Religion. Which Prayer, and Promiſes have their fulleſt accompliſhment in Jeſus Chriſt the Principal Seed of David, The LORD God giving unto him the Throne of his father David, that he may reign over the houſe of Jacob for ever, of whoſe Kingdom there ſhall be no end, Luke 1. 31, 32, 33.

§. IV. The

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title declares, 1. The Kinde of this Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct; Of Degrees.

The Song it self is A Prayer, wherein the Psalmist in his own Name and the Name of the Church and People of God, Prayes for, 1. The spiritual prosperity of the Church of God and Religion in Israel; 2. And in order thereunto for the perpetuity and flourishing Glory of the Kingdom to the House and Seed of David. Urging both from the promises of the LORD to David.

I. In reference to the spiritual prosperity of the Church of God and Religion, ver. 1. to 10. There are sundry Petitions. As

1. That the LORD would remember, viz. for good, all Davids affliction, and zeal in finding out an Habitation for the LORD, ver 1. &c. Here consider, I. The Person invocated; The LORD. Not the Virgin Mary, as the Papists have miserably corrupted this Psalme, that they may abuse it to the praying of Soules out of Purgatory, in the Lady's Psalter reading, Lady [q], for LORD. II. The person invocating, The Psalmist in the Name of the Church. III. The matter of the Request: viz. 1. That the LORD would remember to David, or for David: i. e. for his good, all his Affliction: i. e. Either his manifold outward corporal afflictions, as King Sauls persecutions of him about six years, His conflicts with the LORD's enemies about the ninth or tenth years of his Reign, besides many other distresses from the sword not departing from his House, and from his own Family: as some [r] interpret it. Or, his Humiliation, perplexing solicitude, afflicting care, &c. for to have the Ark brought home to him, 1 Chron. 13. 1, 2, 3, 12. and 15. 1, 2, &c. Or, to build God an House, 2 Sam. 7. 1, 2, &c. As others [s] rather expound it, because of the next words, How he sware, &c. which they take to be exegetical, ver. 1. 2. That the LORD would remember Davids zeal in finding out an Habitation for the LORD: i. e. Either a Place for the Ark to be brought up unto. Or a place for the fixed Temple to be built in. This his zeal is signified in his Oath and Vow to that effect, ver. 2. to 8. His Oath and Vow is described, (1) By the matter of it, viz. If I go, &c. i. e. 1 I will not go into the Tabernacle of my House, to eate or refresh my self, &c. 2 I will not ascend the pallet of my Bed, to take pleasant rest: 3 I will not allow my self pleasant sleep, give sleep to mine eyes, or slumber to mine ey-lids: (All this seems to be spoken hyperbolically [t], to set forth Davids intensive zeal for God and his House to have been such, that comparatively his dearest natural comforts were as nothing to him,) Till I finde out a place, an Habitation for the LORD; where his Temple should be built; Or, His Ark be seated, ver. 2, 3, 4, 5. (2) By the Acts and endeavours of David in order to the performance and accomplishment of his Vow. 1 We heard of it at Ephrathah: i. e. At Shilo in the Country of Ephraim, where Gods House and Ark had long continued, Judg. 18. 31. and 21. 19. 1 Sam. 1. 3. (An Ephraimite is called an Ephrathite, Judg 12. 5.) 2 We found it in the fields of the Wood, i. e. In the City of Kiriah-jearim (which signifies, The City of the Woods) where the Ark was twenty years, after it came home from the Philistines, 2 Sam. 6. 21. and 7. 1, 2. 3 We will go into his dwelling places. Or, We went into them: having found them out. So some [u]. We will worship, (or, we worshipped) at his foot-stool, ver. 6. 7.

2. That the LORD with his Ark would arise from the place where it was, to his resting-place: by his Ark vouchsafing them his blessed Presence, ver. 8.

3. That the LORD would cloath his Priests with righteousness, who were to minister before him.

4. That his Saints might shout-for-joy, ver. 9.

II. In reference to the Kingdom's perpetuity and flourishing Glory to the House and Seed of David, in order to the prosperity of the Church and true Religion in Israel, ver. 10. to the end. Where consider

1. The Petition; Turne not away the face of thine Annoynted [x], i. e. Despise not the Person, Prayer, nor Royal Government of Davids Annoynted Seed: but accept, bless, prosper, &c. them.

2. The Argument whereby this Petition is urged, is especially Gods Faithful Promise and Covenant to David. That is meant by the phrase; For thy Servant Davids sake, ver. 10. This his Promise to David is described,

(1) Partly, By the manner of it; It was with an Oath: declaring the immoveable and unalterable verity of it, ver. 11. in the beginning.

(2) Partly, By the parts or branches of it, viz. 1. The continuation of the Kingdom to Davids Posterity, upon Condition of their keeping Gods Covenant and Testimony, ver. 11, 12. 2. The Continuation of his Divine Presence, and Solemn-worship in Sion the City of David: According to his Election of that place, ver. 13, 14. 3. The bestowing upon them, and blessing to them, all Necessaries for this present life abundantly, ver. 15. 4. The Sanctification of the Ministry of the Priests: and blessing it to the exceeding joy of his Saints, ver. 16. 5. The Amplification, Continuation, and glorious prosperity of the Regal Power and Majesty of David: illustrated by the LORD's contrary clothing of his Enemies with shame and confusion, ver. 17, 18.

I. Verſion.

A Song of Degrees of David.

1. BEhold, how choicely good it were,
And O how pleaſant ſtill,
For Brethren ev'n together here
In Unity to dwell!
2. Like that-good oyle pour'd on the Head,

On Aaron's Beard; b Deſcend which did
His Garments edge upon.
3. Like Hermon's dew, Or which deſcends
On Sion's Mounrain's high:
For there the LORD the-bleſſing c ſends, d Life to eternity.

a Heb. deſcending on the beard.—b Heb. which was deſcending on the mouth of his Garments. c Heb. commanded. i. e. appointed, or effectually ſent.—d Heb. Lives.—

II. Verſion.

A Song of Degrees of David.

1 BEhold, how good a thing it is,
And how exceeding pleaſant this,
For Brethren ev'n in Unity
To dwell together lovingly!

2. 'Tis like that-good oyle on a the Crown,
Which thence did on the Beard run-down,
On Aaron's Beard: b which down-did-flow
Upon his Garments ſkirt below.

3. Like pearlie dew of Hermon hills,

The bleſſing, Life for evermore.

a Heb. the Head, deſcending on the beard, &c. b Heb. which deſcending upon the mouth of his Garments. c Heb. deſcending. d Heb. did command the bleſſing, lives to eternity.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the external Forme of it, is; A Song, A Song of Degrees: and the Fourteenth of thoſe Songs in order. See on Pſal. 120. §. 1. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Doctrinal, and in a ſort Hortatory: Teaching and highly commending, The ſingular goodneſs and pleaſantneſs of the Concord of Brethren, or Communion of Saints. It is ſhort, and ſweet. Auguſtine c ſaid rightly; This Pſalme is very ſhort, but of great note and name. Behold how good and how pleaſant, brethren to dwell together, &c. This ſound is ſo ſweet, that they who know not the Pſalter can ſing this verſe. It is ſo ſweet, as Charity is ſweet, which makes Brethren dwell in one.——Theſe words of the Pſalter, this ſweet ſound, this pleaſant melody, both in ſinging and underſtanding, hath even brought forth Monaſteries. At this ſound the Brethren were excited, who deſired to dwell together: This verſe was their Trumpet——.

c Pſalmus brevis eſt: ſed valde notus & nominatus. Ecce quam bonum & quam jucundum, habitare fratres in unum! Ita ſonus iſte dulcis eſt: ut & qui Pſalterium neſciunt, ipſum verſum cantent. Tam dulcis eſt, quam dulcis eſt charitas, quæ facit fratres habitare in unum. ——Iſta enim verba Pſalterij, iſte dulcis ſonus, iſta ſuavis Melodia, tam in Cantico quam in intellectu, etiam Monaſteria peperit. Ad hunc ſonum excitati ſunt fratres, qui habitare in unum concupierunt: iſte verſus fuit tuba ipſorum. Aug. Enarrat. in Pſal. 132. Tom. 8.

Penman of it, was David: as the Title intimates.

Occasion of Davids penning this Song is probably thought to have been, The sweet Union of all Israel and Judah in one Kingdom under Davids Royal Government, after the sad wasting and tedious distractions which they had, almost unto their ruine undergon, See the History of it in 2 Sam. 5. 1, 2, 3. with 1 Chron. 10. 13, 14. and 11. 1, 2, 3. For, after the death of Saul, there was long warre betwixt the House of Saul and the House of David, 2 Sam. 3. 1. Ishbosheth, Saul's son, reigned two years through Abners help, 2 Sam. 2. 10. which occasioned a sore Battel betwixt David's and Ishbosheth's Armies, 2 Sam. 2. 17. And David reigned in Hebron over the House Judah seven years and six months, before all Israel would acknowledg him their King, 2 Sam. 2. 11. and 5. 5. during which time many discords, strifes, &c. fell out. But at last all Israel consented to accept and crown David King in Hebron, 2 Sam. 5. 1, 2, 3. Whereupon divers [f] do conceive David wrote this Psalme, Highly extolling therein the Unity and Concord of Brethren: of Brethren in the same Kingdom, yea in the same Church worshiping the same God. And that the first word, Behold: doth not onely incite attention, but also tacitly and elegantly point out the remarkable difference betwixt the discord wherein Israel and Judah had been miserably involved, and the Concord whereunto under one King they were now so happily restored.

[f] Jo. Calvin. in Com. ad Ps. 133. 1. Joan. Foord in Exp. Ps. 133. Tempus. Hen. Moller. in Arg. Psal. 133. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Psal. 133. Nic. de Lyra in Psal. 132.

Scope of the Psalmist herein, is; Highly to extoll and magnifie the Concord of Brethren, and sweet Communion of Saints. Immediately, in his own united Kingdome, among Gods People the Jewes: Mediately, in any place or Nation, wherein such brotherly concord obtains.

§. IV. The Analysis, or principal parts.

The Title declares, 1. The Kinde of Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct; Of Degrees. 3. The Penman; David.

The Song it self, magnifying emphatically the Concord of Brethren,

I. Describes this Concord, by Dwelling of Brethren even together, ver. 1. in the end. Where, 1. The foundation or fountain of this Concord or Communion is hinted; Their Brother-hood: they are joynt-brethren of the same Father. 2. The Act or exercise of this Concord, &c. is noted; dwelling together: viz. co-habiting with all Concord, Unity, Unanimity, Sameness of Heart, &c. under one Head, under the same Lawes, and guidance of the same Spirit. 3. The degree or measure of this Unity and Concord is pointed at in the word; even together.

II. Commends this Concord of Brethren and Communion of Saints, thus described, Where note, 1. The excellencies for which its commended, viz. Especially these two effects, (1) Goodness, or Utility. (2) Pleasantness, or Amenity. 2. The Manner of this Commendation; which is emphatically expressed and laid down, (1) By way of Admiration, and that doubled; How good! How pleasant! (2) By way of Invitation to consider it: Behold, ver. 1.

III. Illustrates this Concord and Communion thus commended, by two Similitudes, elegantly: viz. 1. Of the good annoynting oyle, most precious, redolent, and fragrant, wherewith Aaron the High-Priest was Annoynted: which being powred on his head, ran down upon his beard, and upon the mouth g. (i. e. the edge, collar, border, &c.) of his Garments. This sets forth the Pleasantness of this Concord, ver. 2. 2. Of the fruitful Dew, descending upon the Mountains of Hermon and Sion h, rendering them fruitful Pastures for Cattel and Sheep. This Illustrates the goodness or profitableness of this Concord, ver. 3. begin.

IV. Confirmes this goodness and pleasantness of Concord and Communion thus illustrated: From the rich blessing of God there vouchsafed, where this Concord prevails, For there, &c. Where note, 1. The Cause of this blessing; Gods free and effectual Command. If he do but command the blessing, it shall come. 2. The Kinde or sort of the blessing commanded. Life. Heb. Lives. All sorts of life, especially spiritual and celestial. 3. The Adjunct of this blessing, this life; perpetuity: For evermore, ver. 3.

g Heb. —Super os vestimenti. —i.e. super oram superiorem tunicæ hyacinthinæ & super-humeralis. —Ora dicitur os vestimenti. —Non intelligitur ora inferior vestimenti, sed superior. Nic. de Lyra in Psal. 132.

h Non est intelligendum, quod idem eos numero de Monte Hermon descendat super Montem Sion. Tum quod unus Mons multum distat ab alio: Tum quod Mons Hermon est demissior quam sit Mons Sion: propter hoc dicitur Mons modicus, Psal. 41. 6. Sed idem eos specie & in Qualitate suavitatis & fœcunditatis descendit super utrumque Montem. Et sic est sensus: sicut eos descendens in Monte Hermon, & eos descendens in Monte Sion sunt valde boni: Sic etiam habitatio fratrum modo supradicto est valde bona, Nic. de Lyra in Psal. 132.

PSALME

Psalme CXXXIV.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist exhorteth the Priests and Levites, and analogically the Ministers of the New Testament, 1. To bless the LORD in his Sanctuary, even by Night, ver. 1, 2. 2. To bless and pray for the LORD's People, ver. 3.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

A Song of Degrees.

1. a LO, all yee servants of the LORD Bless yee the LORD of might,
b That-stand within House of the LORD
To minister by night.

2. c Lift your hands to the Holiness,
And bless JEHOVAH's Name.
3. The Lord thee out of Sion bless:
d That Heav'ns and Earth did frame.

a Heb. or, Behold. b Heb. standing in the house of the LORD in the nights.

c Heb. or, Lift up your hands towards the Holiness. or, in Holiness.

or, in the Sanctuary. d Heb. making the Heavens and Earth.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is; A Song, yea A Song of Degrees. And it is the Fifteenth and last of those Songs in order. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is a brief but pithy Exhortation to the Priests and Levites, (whose Office it was to Minister in Gods Sanctuary by night e, as well as by day,) To bless the LORD even in the nights even towards the most Holy place, viz. not resting in the formalities of carnal Service and Sacrifices, but chiefly intending this Spiritual Worship of Gods Praises. As also to pray for and bless the LORD's people. These were two great Acts and Duties of their Function.

e See Levit. 8. 35. 1 Chron. 9. 33.

Penman of it, is not expressed. Writers are touching him and the Occasion very silent. One f thinks, this Song was penned by David, and that upon Occasion of his bringing up the Ark of God unto Jerusalem, when he appointed Priests and Levites there to Minister before the Ark continually, and to record and thank and praise the Lord God of Israel, 1 Chron. 16. 4, 5, 6, 37, 38, &c.

f Jo. Foord in Expos. Ps. 134. Author & Tempus.

Scope of the Psalmist in this Hortatory Song, is; To exhort and incite the Priests and Levites to the upright discharge of their Office, towards the LORD, and his people. 1. Towards the LORD, To bless him (viz. with the Benediction of Confession of Praise, not with the benediction of Consecration, &c. as one hath well noted g,) lifting up their hands towards the Holy Ark, a Type of Christ: and this by night, as well as by day, Levit. 8. 35. 1 Chron. 9. 33. All their constant attendance there, and all their Levitical Sacrifices being of small consequence, without this Spiritual Sacrifice and Peace-offering of Praise. 2. Towards the LORD's people, to Pray for them and bless them, beseeching the Omnipotent All-sufficient God dwelling in Sion, to poure his blessings out of Sion upon them.

g Et benedicite Domino] Benedictione Confessionis divinæ laudis, quæ impenditur majori à subditis: & non benedictione consecra-tionis, quæ contrario modo impenditur scilicet inferioribus à superiori. De qua dicitur Hebr. 7. Nic. de Lyra in Psal. 133.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title denotes, 1. The Kinde of Poem; A Song. 2. The Adjunct; Of Degrees.

The Song it self is Hortatory, To the Priests and Levites (and analogically to all Christs New-Testament-Ministers in their places,) duly to perform their Duties towards God, and his people.

I. Towards the LORD God, ver. 1, 2. Here,

1. The Priests and Levites are described, 1. By their Adjunct Office; Servants of the LORD, viz. they were his Servants by Special and singular Vocation, to Minister to him in managing the Ordinances of Gods Worship. 2. By their execution and discharge of their Office: hinted in the word; Standing: i. e. standing to Minister: as the word often, and here imports, Deut 10.8. and 17.12. Neh. 12.44. Ezek. 44.11, 15. Which is Amplyfied, (1) Partly, by the Subject-place, wherein they officiated; In the House of the LORD. (2) Partly, by the Adjunct time, wherein they were to persist and persevere in their Ministry; even by night, Levit. 8.35. 1 Chron. 9 33. as well as by day. Constantly. So the New-Testament-Ministers are to be constant in their Office: in Season, out of Season, &c. See 1 Tim. 4.13, 15, 16. 2 Tim. 4.1, 2.

2. Their Duty principally and especially to be performed to the LORD, is pointed out, and exhorted unto, viz. Blessing the LORD: by celebrating his Praises, &c. Which is illustrated 1. By the note of Attention; Behold. Declaring the connexion of this Duty of Blessing God, with the other Duties of the Priestly Office. 2. By the universal particle; all. It concerned all the Priests and Levites. 3. By the Adjunct gesture or posture to be used by them in blessing the LORD; lifting up their hands towards the Holiness: i. e Devoutly and believingly lifting up their hands towards the most Holy place, towards the Ark, A special Type of Christ, &c. ver. 1, 2.

II. Towards the LORD's people, praying for them and blessing them. Where note, 1. The Mercy prayed for; blessing: i. e A confluence of all good, temporal, spiritual, and eternal. 2. The Object upon whom this blessing is desired, the people; Thee. See the Forme of the Priests blessing the people, Numb. 6.23, 24, 25, 26, 27. 3. Author of this Blessing from whom it is begged; The LORD. Who is described, (1) Partly, by the special place of his presence and residence among them, whence he imparted his blessing to them according to his promise, Exod 20.24. Out of Sion: as Psal. 128.5. (2) Partly, by the Omnipotency or All-sufficiency of the LORD, to bestow all necessary blessings upon his people prayed for: yea to do abundantly above all that we can ask or think, Ephes. 3.20. which made Heavens and Earth, ver. 3.

The Songs of Degrees are ended. Next followes Halelu-JAH h.

h Post Gradus, qui ducunt ad æternitatem, congruè ponitur Halelu-JAH, ut Ecclesia fruatur laudibus Dei: cui tale manus paratum est. Gloss. Ord. in Psal. 134.

Psalme CXXXV.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist, 1. Earnestly exhorteth in General, all the LORD's Servants by Office, standing in his House to Minister to him; To Praise the LORD, ver. 1, 2. 2. Annexeth sundry Reasons or Causes why they should so praise him, many of which contain the very Matter of his Praise, ver. 3. to 19. And they are chiefly drawn (1) From the verity and perfection of the LORD, ver. 3. to 15. (2) From the vanity and imperfection of all the false gods of the Heathen, ver. 15. to 19. 3. Exhorteth in Particular, all sorts of his people to bless the LORD, and praise him, ver. 19, 20, 21,

§. II.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

1. [a] PRaiſe-yee-JAH. Praiſe JEHOVAH's Name:
Yee the LORD's Servants praiſe proclaime.
2. That in the LORD's houſe [b] fix-your-feet:
In [c] Houſe-Courts of our Holy God.
3. [d] Praiſe-yee-JAH, for the LORD is good:
Sing to his Name, for it is ſweet.
4. For JAH choſe Jacob [e] for his owne:
Iſr'el for his [f] peculiar-one.
5. For, that the LORD is great, I know:
And our LORD 'bove Gods every-one,
6. All that the LORD pleas'd, hath hee done
In Heav'ns, [g] Earth, Seas, all deeps alſo.
7. He cauſeth vapours to aſcend
Ev'n from the Earth's remoteſt-end:
Hee maketh lightnings with the raine:
Hee bringeth forth the winde likewiſe
Out of his ſecret treaſuries.
8. Who hath all Egypts firſt-born [h] ſlaine:
From man unto the very beaſt.
9. Hee [i] ſignes and wonders-ſtrange increaſt,
O Egypt, in the midſt of thee;
On Pharaoh and on his ſervants all.
10. Who many Nations [k] made-to-fall:
Likewiſe ſlay mighty Kings did hee.
11. As Sihon, King of Amorites,
And Ogh, the King of Baſhan*ites*:
And Canan's wicked Kingdoms all.
12. And gave their land for Heritage:
To his folk Iſr'el Heritage.
13. Thy Name, LORD, dure for ever ſhall:
LORD, thy memorial ſhall be known
To [l] every Generation down.
14. [m] The LORD will judg his people then,
And for his Servants turne will hee.
15. The Heathens, [n] Idols ſilver be:
And Gold; [o] The handy-work of men.
16. A mouth they have, yet ſpeak they not:
Eyes have they, but ſee not a jot.
17. Ears have they fix'd, yet hear not they:
And in their mouth no breath is there.
18. Like unto them their-makers are:
And [p] all whoſe truſt on them doth ſtay.
19. O Iſr'ls Houſe, the LORD bleſs yee:
O Aarons Houſe, the LORD bleſs yee.
20. O Levi's Houſe, bleſs yee the LORD:
Bleſs yee the LORD, the LORD who fear.
21. Bleſs't bee the LORD from Sion dear,
Who dwells in [q] Salem. Praiſe-the-LORD, Ju-JAH.

a Heb. Halelu-JAH.
b Heb. do ſtand ——.
c Heb. the courts of the houſe ——.
d Heb. Halelu JAH.
e Heb. to himſelf.
f Heb. peculiar treaſure
g Heb. and in the earth, in the Seas, and all deeps h Heb. ſmitten.
i Heb. ſignes and prodigies ſent.
k Heb. ſmote.
l Heb. generation and generation.
m Heb. For the LORD will judge his people: and repent himſelf concerning his ſervants.
n Heb. dolours, Sorrowe.
o Heb. the wark of ment hands.
p Heb. every one who truſteth in them.
q Heb. Ieruſalem. Hale-Iu-JAH.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, is; As to the Forme, untituled: as to the Matter of it, Hortatory. Exhorting all ſorts, eſpecially the Prieſts and Levites ſtanding in the LORD's Houſe to miniſter about ſacred things, to Praiſe and Bleſſe the LORD. For ſubſtance it is of the ſame Argument with the laſt foregoing Song of Degrees: But differing, Partly in regard of the Generality of Perſons Exhorted to praiſe and bleſs the LORD; for in that onely the Prieſts and Levites are exhorted, in this beſides them all Iſrael and all the fearers of the LORD are incited. Partly, in regard of the Matter of the Duty whereunto they are exhorted; In that they are onely exhorted to bleſs the LORD with hands lift up towards the Holyneſs; In this many ſingular cauſes are laid down why they are thus to bleſs the LORD, which contain much and large matter of his Praiſe for their better direction and inſtruction in their thankful Devotions and Meditations.

The Penman, Occaſion, and Scope may in effect be conceived of, as in the former Song, Pſal. 134.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

This Untituled Pſalme contains

I. An Exhortation more generally directed to all the LORD's Servants by office, miniſtring in his Houſe, To praiſe the LORD. Where note, 1. The Duty whereunto they are exhorted; Praiſing of the LORD. 2. The vehemency and urgency of the Exhortation, in the often Repetition and ingemination thereof. 3. The Deſcription of the perſons exhorted to this duty, (1) More generally, by their Office-Relation to God; Servants of the LORD. (2) More particularly, by a limitation of that their ſervice to him in his Houſe, ver. 1, 2. & 3. in begin.

II. A Declaration or Signification of ſundry important Grounds or Reaſons, why they (and others alſo after-mentioned, verſ. 19, 20.) ſhould thus fervently praiſe the LORD. Which are principally drawn, From the verity and excellent Perfections of the LORD, ver. 3. to 15. And from the oppoſite vanity and imperfections of all the falſe gods of the Heathens, ver. 15. to 19.

1. From the verity and excellent Perfections of the LORD. As,

(1) The Goodneſs of the LORD. Indeed hee only is good, Mat. 19. 17. Good of himſelf[a], &c.

(2) The Sweetneſs of his Name. Some refer this Sweetneſs to the Duty it ſelf of praiſing his Name. As, Calvin, H. Mollerus, Ames, &c. But others to his Name, which is to be praiſed. Gloſſ. Ord. Nic. de Lyra, &c. Both are good Reaſons. This later ſuits better to the Reaſon foregoing and following. His Name is Sweet, To heare of, To think of, To ſpeak of. ——Honey in the Mouth, Melody in the Eare, and a Jubilee in the heart[b], verſ 3.

(3) The ſingular Grace and peculiar favour of the LORD, in chooſing Iſrael to himſelf, as his Segullah, his peculiar treaſure, ver. 4.

(4) The Greatneſs and tranſcendent Majeſty of the LORD, ver 5, &c. His Greatneſs and Majeſty are deſcribed and illuſtrated, I. By the Teſtimony of the Pſalmiſt, having certain knowledge thereof; I know —— II. By his Supereminency above all gods, verſ. 5. III. By the effects and demonſtrations of his Power and Greatneſs. 1. More Generally, in ordering and governing all things in Heavens, Earth, Seas, and deep Places, according to his own good pleaſure, ver. 6. As, Vapours, Lightnings, Raine, Winde, ver 7 2. More Specially, (1) In taking vengeance upon his Churches Enemies. As on 1 The Egyptians, Pharaoh, and all his ſervants, by ſending ſignes and wonders among them, and ſlaying the firſt-born of man and beaſt, verſ. 8, 9. 2 On many Nations, and mighty Kings. Sihon; Ogh; and all the Kingdomes of Canaan: viz. Thirty one, as they are enumerated, Joſh. 12. 9. to 24. verſ. 10, 11. 2. In bleſſing his own Church and people with the heritage of their enemies, verſ. 12. All theſe demonſtrations of his Power and Greatneſs are amplified and illuſtrated by the ſpiritual uſe that his people make thereof, viz. (1) A grateful memorial of them in reference to the time paſt, verſe 13. (2) An hopeful dependance upon the LORD for like favours to his Church and people for the time to come, verſ. 14.

2. From the oppoſite vanity, imperfections and nothingneſs of all the Idols of the Heathens, the Verity and Perfections of the LORD are elegantly illuſtrated, exciting all the more unto his Praiſes. Their vanity and vileneſs is ſet forth, 1. By their Denomination, Idols. Heb. Dolours, or Sorrowes, from the Sorrowes they bring to their Worſhippers, Pſal. 16. 4. 2. By their matter; but ſilver and gold; thick clay. 3. By their Authors or efficient cauſes; The work of mens hands,—verſ. 15. 4. By their utter impotency, as liveleſſe, ſenſleſſe things; Having a mouth, yet ſpeak not: eyes, but ſee not, &c. ver. 16, 17. 5. By the vanity and wretchedneſs of all that make them, worſhip, or truſt in them, verſ. 19.

III. An Exhortation more particularly and partitively laid down and directed to ſeveral ſorts, to bleſs the LORD. As, 1. To the Houſe of Iſrael: even all Iſraels Poſterity. 2. To the Houſe of Aaron, to whom the Prieſthood was committed, Exod. 28. 1. and appropriated, ver. 19. 3. To the Houſe of Levi, which were taken from among the Iſraelites, and given as aſſiſtants to the Prieſts to Miniſter to them, Numb. 18. 2, 6. 4. To all Convert-Proſelytes and Strangers, Act 2. 5. and 10. 35. fearing the LORD, ver. 20. This Exhortation is further urged, (1) By the exemplary practice of the Pſalmiſt bleſſing the LORD, propounded for their imitation. (2) By a Repetition of the Exhortation, wherewith he concludes the Pſalme as he began it; Halelu-JAH, ver. 21.

§. III. The Kinde, penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Psalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is; Partly, without Title prefixed in the Hebrew. See on Psal. 1. §. 4. Though in the Greek Version of the LXXII, and in divers other Versions, Halelu-jah is prefixed in forme of a Title: but groundlesly. Partly, with a burden annexed to every period, to every verse: repeated twenty six times; כי לעולם חסדו For his kinde-mercy (or, loving-kindness, gracious benignity, &c.) endureth for ever. Which is given in here as an universal or general Reason why we should praise the LORD, and as a common foundation of all the praise-worthy Acts of the LORD, common or special, of Creation or Providence. And herein this Psalme is Singular among all the Psalmes, none being penned exactly in this forme: though some have a small resemblance thereunto, with some Amœbean Verses t interwoven, viz. Psal. 80. and 107. See on Psal. 80. §. 4. and on Psal. 107. §. 3. And it is very observeable that all these three Psalmes, that have burdens inserted, are penned very pathetically. 2. As to the Subject-matter of it, it is Hortatory or Laudatory, Exhorting Gods people to confess-praise unto the LORD: and urging the same by many cogent Arguments drawn, From Gods Nature, and Gods Works: And it seems to be a very Solemn Celebration of the Name of the LORD, from the dayes of David, frequently, yea daily used and sung in the publique Worship of God, 2 Chron. 7. 3, 6. and 20. 21.

t Versus Amœbæi. Fran. Jun. in Annot. ad Psal. 80. Versus intercalaris. H. Moller. in Arg. Psal. 136.

Penman

Penman, is not here or elsewhere certainly expressed to us. Interpreters are herein very silent: Yet (as some [u] think) it is not improbable but that David might penne this Psalme, for the use of the Sanctuary, as a constant Memorial of the LORD's gratuitous mercies to Israel.

[u] Jo. Foord in Expos Ps. 136. Nic. de Lyra in Postill. sup. Psal. 135.

Occasion whereupon particularly he was induced to write it, is uncertain.

Scope, is; To incite all Gods people Israel thankfully to confess-praise unto God for his excellent perfections, wonderful works of Creation, and peculiar Providences to them from the time of their Egyptian Bondage even till the dayes of David, all which blessings of his Providence were the meer fruits of his rich mercy and gratuitous favour or loving-kindness towards them, and every particular guist a token and seal of Gods love and good will.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Psalme, are

I. An Exhortation to Confess-praise [x] unto the LORD. This Exhortation is illustrated, 1. By the Universality of the Subject to whom it is enjoyned: Confess-yce: all Israel. 2. By the vehement and pathetical ingemination of it again and again, ver. 1, 2, 3, 26. 3. By the Object, unto whom praise is to be confessed, viz. To the LORD, &c. ver. 1, 2, 3, 26.

[x] Confitemini] confessione laudis. Nic. de Lyra in Ps. 135.

II. The Arguments or Motives inducing thus to Confess-praise to the LORD. Which are drawn, 1. From the excellent Attributes, Properties or Perfections of his Nature. As, 1. His matchless Essence; JEHOVAH. 2. His goodness, ver. 1. 3. His incomparable Majesty and Greatness; God of Gods, Lord of Lords, ver. 2, 3. 4. His Mercy, or Loving-kindness, gratuitous-benignity, &c. and the eternity thereof. Which is here represented as the common fountain of all Gods praise-worthy blessings towards his Creatures, and especially his own people, in every verse.

2. From his admirable works. Where note 1. The Appropriation of great wonders, to himself alone, as the sole and peculiar doer of them, ver. 4. 2. The Distribution of these his wondrous works, into works of Creation and Providence, ver. 5, &c.

(I.) Works of Creation. Of which divers eminent ones are instanced in. As, 1. His making the Heavens by his Prudence, ver. 5. 2. His spreading-forth or lifting up the Earth above the Waters, ver. 6. 3. His making of great Luminaries, viz. 1 The Sun, for Dominion by Day, ver. 7, 8. 2 The Moon. 3 The Starres, for dominion by night, ver. 9.

(II.) Works of Providence. Either

1 Special and peculiar to his own Church and people Israel; From the time of their Bondage in Egypt until the times of David. As, 1. Smiting the Egyptians in their first-borne, viz. because they would not release Israel, Gods first-borne, ver. 10. 2. Bringing Israel from the midst of them, with a mighty hand and out-stretched arme, ver. 11, 12. 3. Dividing the Red-sea into parts. And so (1) Making Israel pass thorough the midst of it safely. (2) Drowning Pharaoh and all his potent Army therein utterly, ver. 13, 14, 15. 4. Conducting Israel through the Wilderness, ver. 16. 5. Smiting and destroying great and famous Kings. As Sihon King of the Amorites: and Og King of Bashan, ver. 17, 18, 19, 20. 6. Giving their Land for a possession to his servant Israel, ver 21, 22. 7. Remembring them in their low base estate, and by Judges redeeming them from their Distressers, ver. 23, 24.

2. General. Giving bread (i.e. Food) to all flesh, ver. 25.

III. The Conclusion, repeating and re-inforcing the Exhortation by an Argument drawn from Gods Supream Celestial Majestie, ver. 26.

Psalme CXXXVII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Jewes being brought Captives unto Babylon, The Psalmist here sets forth, I. A most pathetical and passionate Narration of the Captives miseries and calamities there: viz. 1. The Jewes mourning upon remembrance of Sion, ver. 1, 2, 2. Their

2. Their Captivating-enemies inſolent taunting of them, ver. 3, 4. Illuſtrated by the taunted Captives, eſpecially the Prieſts and Levites, conſtant zeale and affection for Jeruſalem above all earthly joy, ver. 5, 6. II. A direful and Prophetical Imprecation, 1. Againſt the Edomites, provoking to the utter Raſing of Jeruſalem to the foundations, ver. 7. 2. Againſt the Babylonians, who were Authors of their ruine, ver. 8, 9.

§. II. The Verſions out of the Hebrew.

I. Verſion.

1. BY Rivers of great Babylon
There ſate-wee-down in feares;
Yea, [a] when wee Sion thought-upon,
Wee-melted-into-tears.
2. On Willowes [in] the midſt thereof,
Our pleaſant Harps wee hung.
3. For, there they-that-us-captive-led
Did aſk of us [b] a Song;
And they of us ſought merriment,
Who-us-on-heaps-did-fling;
Come now, To us with Inſtrument
[c] The Song of Sion ſing.
4. Ah! Sing the LORD's Song how ſhall wee,
Here in a Stranger's land?
5. Jeruſalem! [d] forget I thee,
Forget let-my-right-hand.
6. Let my tongue to my palate cleave,
If thee [e] reminde not I:
[f] If I prize not Jeruſalem
Above my chiefeſt joy.
7. Remember, LORD, to Edom's ſons,
Jeruſalem's ſad day:
Who, ev'n [g] to its foundations.
Said, Raſe, Raſe it away.
8. Thou Babel's daughter [h] to be-waſte,
O bleſſed ſhall hee bee,
Thy [i] deed which done to us thou haſt
Who doth repay to thee.
9. O bleſſed ſhall hee bee, that takes Thy curſed litle-ones,
And them in-pieces-daſhing-breaks
Againſt the Rock and ſtones.

1. BY Babel's [a] ſtreams there did-wee-ſit,
Yea wept: [b] when Sion we thought-on.
2. Wee hung-up in the midſt of it
Our Harps the Willow-trees upon.
3. Becauſe, there thus
They did of us
Aſk [c] Songs, that-did-us-captive-bring,
For mirth they ſue
Wh'-on-heaps-us-threw:
Come, [d] Sion's Song unto us ſing.
4. Ah! ſing the LORD's Song how ſhall wee,
Here captiv'd in a Stranger's land?
5. Jeruſalem! [e] forget I thee,
Forget her skill let my-right-hand,
6. [f] To my-mouth clung
Let be my tongue,
If thee remember do not I:
[g] Jeruſalem
If I eſteem
Not, farre above my chiefeſt joy.
7. Remember, LORD, to Edom's ſons
Jeruſalem's ſad day: who-ſaid,
Raſe, Raſe, [h] to its foundations.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is Untituled. See on Pſal. 1. §. 4. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, is Mixt: being made up, of a Lamenting Narration of the Jewes woes in their Captive-ſtate in Babylon, and of a Prophetical Imprecation againſt her cruel enemies, the Edomites and Babylonians; Theſe deſtroying Jeruſalem: and thoſe applauding them therein, yea irritating them thereunto. And, as the Nature of Complaints and Lamentations is, This Pſalme abounds with many paſſionate pathetical Expreſſions, full of force and rhetorical elegancy.

Penman of it, is not certainly known. We can hardly conclude that David penned it with a prophetical Spirit: For theſe miſeries of the Captives are not ſpoken of in a prophetical way, but rather in an Historical sort, as experimentally felt and endured already by the Captive Jewes, as Calvin[l] notes. It is more probable, That some pious Prophet, Priest or Levite wrote it, whose name is concealed: And that not after the Captivity (as some[m] think,) For the Imprecation in the close of the Psalme will hardly admit of that, ver. 7, 8, 9. But rather during the Captivity, and their mournful state in Babylon, as the Series of the Psalme seems to import.

[m] Sim. de Muis in Arg. Ps. 137.

Occasion of penning this Psalme, was that woful and mournful condition of the Jewes carried Captives to Babylon, and there deprived of Gods publique Worship, and daily exposed to the heart-cutting taunts and scornes of the Babylonians, Jerusalem and the Temple of the LORD in Sion being burnt with fire, and laid on ruinous heaps. See the doleful History, 2 King. 24. and 25 2 Chron. 36.

Scope, to set forth; The deep griefs and sorrowes of the Captive-Jewes in Babylon; The cruel mockings and scornes of the Babylonians towards them; The zeal and constant good affection of the Jewes, especially of the godly Priests and Levites, towards Jerusalem, the Temple, and Worship of God, for a dear memorial whereof they had carried their Harps and other Musical Instruments, as sacred reliques, into Captivity with them: As also what heavy Curses and Judgments from the LORD, according to his Word by his Prophets, should be the recompense of their cruel Enemies the Edomites applauding, and the Babylonians effecting the utter ruine of the Temple and Jerusalem. In all which we have a lively Example, Of the sorrowes of Gods people, in the ruine of the Publique Worship of God, and prevalency of the ungodly over them, on the one hand: And of the prophane spirit of pride, insolency, and scorne in the wicked, against Gods people and Religion, when under affliction and publique discountenance, on the other hand. In which Cases, it may be proper and pertinent to the Churches of Christ under the New Testament, to Lament and Sing this mournful Psalme: as heretofore the Jewes did in their Captivity.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Pathetical Psalme, are; 1. A Narration. 2. An Imprecation.

I. A Narration of the Captive-Jewes deep miseries and sorrowes in Babylon, ver. 1. to 7. most pathetically represented; 1. By their own mournful state. 2. By their enemies scornful deportment towards them.

1. By their own mournful condition. Here the greatness of their grief is passionately aggravated divers wayes. As, 1. From the place wherein they were Captives: in Babylon. A dissolute paganish place, and farre remote from their own Country. 2. From their site or posture in Babylon; by the Rivers of Babel: viz. Tygris and Euphrates, in and about the City. Probably they abode without Houses by the Rivers banks, under Tents, Booths, &c. 3. From their long continuance there, intimated by their sitting. As if they were affixed or chained to the Banks. 4. From their mournful disposition and deportment, during this their long enthralment there; They wept. As it were watering the Rivers banks with their tears. 5. From the proper procuring Cause of this their grief; their remembrance of Sion: i. e. Of the Temple and all the Worship of God once there: but now utterly ruined and laid waste, ver. 1. 6. From the sign or effect of their extream grief and sadness; hanging their Harps upon the Willowes. They were so overwhelmed with sorrow, that they could take no pleasure in Musick, no not by the pleasant Rivers sides. Their Harps, those Sacred Reliques and Memorials of Temple-Musick in the Worship of God, which they for their Solace brought with them into Captivity, nor Priests, Levites, nor people could take any delight in at all: but laid them aside, hung them up as useless, ver. 2.

2. By their Enemies the Babylonians scornful deportment towards them in this their deep distress. Here, 1. The Babylonians are described, (1) By their Hostility; leading-them-Captives. (2) By their cruelty; they threw the Jewes on Heaps. 2. Their bitter scornful deportment against the Jewes in this their mournful condition is aggravated, (1) Partly, By asking of the sadned Captives in way of mockery, the words of a Song: and of those Mourners, mirth: which was a scornful and insolent rejoycing in the calamities of Gods people: arising from an ἐπιχαιρεκακία, A rejoycing in others evil. (2) Partly, By requiring them to sing of the Song of Sion: Some of the the Temple-Songs. Thus they moſt ſcornfully derided, and inſulted over the Temple-Worſhip and diſcovered their extream contempt and hatred of the LORD's true Religion and Worſhip. Theſe things were very bitter to the truly Godly Prieſts, Levites, and Jewes, ver. 3. 3. The Captives rejection of their Enemies ſcornful provocations to muſick and merriment, is laid down; How ſhall we ſing ——. Being Illuſtrated, (1) By the utter inconſiſtency of the LORD's Song with the Captives preſent ſad condition; in the land of a Stranger: i. e. of a ſtrange people, or of a ſtrange god, ver. 4. (2) By the Captives, eſpecially the godly Levites, conſtant zeale, and ſincere affection to Jeruſalem, and the true worſhip of God there, both which in due time they hoped ſhould be reſtored. This zeal and affection is moſt pathetically proteſted, yea and vowed under a curſe, a double curſe; That their right hand may forget, viz. her cunning in playing, Reticentia elegans; That their tongue cleave to their palate, and be for ever diſabled from ſinging; If Jeruſalem be forgotten, If Jeruſalem be not remembred, If Jeruſalem be not made to aſcend above the head of their joy. An Elegant Climax, or Gradation, ver. 5, 6.

II. An Imprecation againſt the bitter enemies of the Jewes: that God would take juſt revenge upon them, for promoting and bringing theſe woful calamities upon his people: viz. 1. Upon the Edomites, by-Standers, Spectators, and Abettors of their ruine. Where note, (1) The judgment imprecated from the LORD upon Edoms ſonnes; That he would remember their wicked deportment againſt Jeruſalem, in the day of her ruine: viz. to requite it righteouſly. (2) The ſinne of the Edomites ſpecified, deſerving Gods imprecated vengeance; Their cruel exaperating and provoking the Babylonians, to Raſe Jeruſalem to the very foundations, their words being expreſſed by a Mmieſis, ver. 7. 2. Upon the Babylonians, chief Authors of their Calamities. Here, (1) The enemies curſed, are ſignified. viz. The Daughter of Babel: The Commonwealth, Kingdome, or Monarchy of Babel. (2) The certain ruine of theſe enemies is hinted; ——waſted: or, to be laid waſte, according to Gods Word by his Prophets. Or, if it be rendred; The waſter: it denotes the cauſe of Babel's ruine, as being, The waſter of Gods people. (3) The bleſſedneſs of that Inſtrument is fore-prophecied, that ſhall recompenſe to Babel and that Kingdome their cruel deeds done to Jeruſalem and the Jewes. Which proved to be Cyrus the Perſian with Darius the Mede, ver. 8. This bleſſedneſs of ſuch Inſtrument is repeated, and exemplyfied in one inſtance of vengeance to be taken upon Babel, viz. The taking and daſhing in pieces their Babes againſt the Rock, ver. 9.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme of it, is, An En-tituled Pſalme, viz.——Of David, being prefixed: As in fourteen other Pſalmes, but ſomwhat differently [l]. 2. As to the Subject Matter of it, it is Euchariſtical, Gratulatory, or Laudatory. Wherein, David praiſeth God for bringing him at laſt according to his Promiſe to the Throne and Kingdome, after all the afflictions and diſtreſſes which hee did firſt wade thorough: and ſignifies, That this his Diſpenſation of the LORD was ſo noted and eminent towards him, that the Kings of the Earth round about him hearing of Gods promiſe, and the accompliſhment thereof, ſhould alſo magnifie the LORD. Some [m] conſidering, That David was a Type of Chriſt, and his Kingdome of Chriſts Kingdome, do herein conceive there is a tacit Prophecy, Of Chriſts ſufferings firſt, and then of his entring into his Kingdome of Glory, as Luke 17. and 24. After which the Kings of the Earth and Gentiles hearing his Goſpel preached by the Apoſtles, &c. ſhould be converted to him and praiſe his Name. And thus this Pſalme is Mixt: being Euchariſtical and Prophetical.

m Hen. Moller. in Arg. Pſ. 138.

Penman of this Pſalme was David, as the Title intimates.

Occaſion of Davids penning it; 1 Think ſome [n], was his deliverance from thoſe two dangerous rebellions of Abſhalom, 2 Sam. 15. and of Sheba the ſon of Bichri, 2 Sam. 20. 2 Think others [o], was Davids ſparing of Saul in the Cave, 1 Sam. 24. 3, &c. and in the Hill Hacilah, 1 Sam. 26. 3. &c. When Saul had twice juſtified and cleared David from all guilt of Treaſon or Sedition: From which imputations David had often prayed to the LORD to vindicate him, as in Pſal. 7. and 17. and 26. and 139. 24. 3 Think others [p], was Davids advancement to the Throne and Kingdome of Iſrael, according to Gods faithful promiſes to him, after he had long waited and endured many afflictions and perſecutions from Saul and others. And this laſt ſeems moſt probable, and ſuitable.

n Nic. de Lyra in poſtil. ad Pſ. 137
o Jo. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ 138. Tempus—.

p Sim. de Muis in Arg. Pſ. 138.

Scope of the Pſalmiſt in this Pſalme, is; 1. To render unto the LORD ſingular and extraordinary thanks and praiſe for his extraordinary favours, in bringing him at laſt after all his afflictions according to his word of promiſe unto the Throne of Iſrael: A Providence ſo obſerveable that even forreign Kings hearing thereof, ſhould praiſe the LORD alſo. 2. And for future to aſſure himſelf, of reviveing in diſtreſs, of deliverance from his Enemies, and of the LORD's perfect-accompliſhment of mercies begun, for him.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title poins out the Author or Penman of the Pſalme; David.
The Pſalme it ſelf containes,
I. David's Profeſſion of extraordinary Gratitude to the LORD, for his extraordinary favours to him. Wherein note,
1. His Vow or Promiſe of expreſſing his gratitude by way of Confeſſion; I will confeſſe thee—— &c.

&c. This his promiſed Confeſſion is notably illuſtrated, 1. By the adjunct manner of inward integrity and abundant affection; with my whole heart. Heb. with all mine heart. 2. By the Adjunct witneſſes of this Confeſſion, &c. before the Gods: i. e. Heavenly Angels, ſhadowed out by the Cherubims: and earthly Princes. 3. By the Adjunct manner of outward Performance: 1. For Action; Singing-Pſalmes to him, ver. 1. Worſhipping, or bowing-himſelf-down. 2. For Place; At, or towards the Pallace, or Temple of his Holyneſs, ver. 2. begin.

2. The Cauſes or Reaſons of ſuch his expreſſion of Gratitude. Theſe are, I. More General, viz. 1. The LORD's Mercy, or loving-kindneſs, or merciful-kindneſs. 2. His Truth, viz. The Truth of his word and promiſes. Which Truth is illuſtrated, by Gods ſingular and eminent degree of Manifeſtation thereof: magnifying his Word above all his Name, ver. 2. II. More ſpecial and particular: viz. 1. The LORD's Anſwering his prayers ſeaſonably, ſpeedily, in the day wherein he cryed. 2. His encouraging him with ſtrength in his Soul, againſt faintings under his diſtreſſes, ver. 3.

II. Davids Prophecying, How all the Kings of the Earth round about him, hearing of the LORD's dealings with him, ſhould alſo praiſe the LORD, ver. 4. &c. This their praiſing the LORD, is ſet forth and deſcribed, 1. By the Occaſion of it; when they hear the Words of thy mouth: i. e. The words of Gods promiſe to ſet David on the Throne: eſpecially when they hear how faithfully and wonderfully God hath accompliſhed them. 2. By the Act of their praiſe; Confeſſing the LORD: acknowledging his Truth, Goodneſs, Power, &c. ver. 4. 3. By the outward manner of their praiſe; with ſinging-in the wayes of the LORD, i. e. of his works of Providence, &c. 4. By the Grounds or Motives inciting them thus to praiſe the LORD, viz. (1) Partly, The Greatneſs of the LORD's Glory, manifeſted, ver. 5. (2) Partly, This high LORD's different deportment towards different perſons, Reſpecting the lowly, as David was. Knowing the proud, as Saul, afarre off, ver. 6.

III. Davids Hope and Confidence for future, upon theſe former experiences; viz. 1. That the LORD will revive him, though he walk in midſt of ſtraits or diſtreſs. 2. That by his hand, by his right-hand hee will protect and ſave him from the wrath of his enemies, ver. 7. 3. That the LORD will perfectly accompliſh what he had graciouſly begun for his good againſt his Enemies, or otherwiſe. This he Illuſtrates, (1) Partly, by Petitioning the LORD not to leave off the work which his hands had begun. (2) Partly, by urging this his Petition, and ſtrengthening his hope, from conſideration of the eternity of Gods mercy, ver. 8.

Pſalme CXXXIX.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David, againſt all humane Calumnies, ſolemnly proteſting his innocency, uprightneſs, and integrity, 1. Religiouſly appeals to God, as the moſt competent and un-exceptionable witneſs of his ſincerity: The LORD being, (1) His Omniſcient God: (2) Omni-preſent: and (3) His wonderful Creator, ver. 1. to 19. 2. Prayes againſt wicked and bloody perſons, giving Teſtimony of his utter deteſtation of ſuch crimes, ver. 19. to 23. 3. Seals up his Proteſtation and Appeale by a pious requeſt to the LORD to ſearch him thoroughly, that no wicked way may be in him, and to lead him in the way of Eternity, verſe 23, 24.

§. II. The Verſion out of the Hebrew.

To the Maſter-Muſician, David's Pſalm.

I.

1. O LORD, thou haſt mee ſearch'd and (known.
2. Thou doſt exactly know
My riſing and my ſitting-down:
Yea, underſtand doſt thou
Afarre-of [a] my-familiar-thought.
3. Thou [b] fann'ſt my path I tread

[a] Heb. word properly ſignifies, familiarity, friendſhip: hence uſed here for Thoughts. [b] Heb. or, winnoweſt: or, compaſſeſt.

And my down-lying: And to all
My wayes art c customed.

4. d For, in my tongue there's not a word:
But, LORD, thou knowst it all.
5. Behinde, Before also, thou Lord
Hast mee beset though small:
And thou hast put thine hand on mee.
6. A knowledge every whit
Too marvellous for mee: 'Tis high,
I cannot reach to it.

7. From thine All-searching Spirit's ey
O whither shall I go?
And whither shall I fully fly
Thy boundless Presence fro?
8. If I ascend the Heav'ns out-spread
There thou dost still abide:
And if in Hell I-make-my-bed,
Lo there thou dost reside.

9. Take I the mornings wings: And dwell
In e Sea's remotest fold.
10. Ev'n there thine hand conduct mee will:
And thy right-hand mee hold.
11 And if I say; f yet-certainly
The darkness shall mee shroud:
Then doth the night a bout mee ly
As light without a cloud.

12. Yea, darkness darkneth not from thee;
But as the day, The night
To thee doth shine: Alike both bee;
As darkness, so the light.
13. For, lo mine hidden Reins thou hast Possess'd and fashioned:
Yea in my Mother's Wombe at last
Thou-hast-mee-covered.

II.

14. I'le praise thee g, for that fearfully
Made-marvellous-I-am,
By thy works marvellous: And my Soul knowes right-well the same.
15. From thee my h Substance was not hid,
When I in secret-place
Was made: When thus embroidered
In Earth's low-parts I was.

16. Thine eyes did see i my-mass-unform'd,
And in thy Book were writ
All my parts, In dayes they were form'd:
k When none of them was yet.
17. And O how precious unto mee,
O God, l thy thoughts do-seem!
How mightily-increased-bee
The very m sums of them!

18. Would I n of them the-number-take,
Mo then the sand they bee:
o When out of sleep I shall awake,
I shall bee still with thee.
19. p O that thou wouldst, thou righteous God,
The wicked-person slay:
q Then, from mee, O yee men of blood,
Do-yee-depart-away.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Psalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme or manner of it, is; A Psalme with Title prefixed, as many others are, See the Preface §. VI. numb IV. 2. As to the Nature and Subject-matter of it, is; Eulogical, Petitory. It is a Prayer of David to the LORD: wherein he invocates the Omniscient God that knew him throughout most accurately, The Omnipresent God with him in every place, The Omnipotent God that had most wonderfully and curiously created him; to search and try him thoroughly if their be any way of grieving-wickedness in him allowed by him, and as it were to bear witness to his sincerity, integrity, and innocency, against all calumnies and false imputations of man. And here, the LORD's Omniscience, Omni-presence, and Omnipotency in creating him wonderfully, are so singularly displayed, with such stately pomp and magnificence of words; and Davids integrity is here (as it were by way of appeal) so approved unto this all-searching God: That this Psalme deserves highly to be esteemed, as a most excellent Testimony of the LORD's glorious Eminencies, and of his Saints singular Integrity. Ab. Ezra x notes, That this is a most excellent Psalme, and that there's not any in all these five Books of Psalmes to be equalized to it. The Gloss. from S. de Cas. saith, Its a Psalm most full of profundity of mysteries, and thence most obscure y. And surely, The more x Observat Ezra Excellentissimum esse hunc Psalmum: nec in quinque his libris ullum esse huic æquiperandum. Sim. de Muis in Arg. Ps. 139.

y Psalmus profunditate mysteriorum plenus: unde & obscurissimus. Gloss. Ord. in Tit. Psal. 138.

more mysterious and obscure it is, the more it should exercise us: The more excellent it is, the more it should delight us.

Penman of it was David, as the Title intimates; David's Psalme.

Occasion whereupon, and Time when David penned it, cannot certainly be determined. Some [z] referre it to the time when King Saul began his persecution of David as a seditious and rebellious person, seeking his Crown, &c. whereupon David, in this Psalme professing his innocency and integrity, appeals to God the onely all-knowing and just Judge of the World to clear him. This the whole Series of the Psalme is supposed to favour, but especially ver. 19. &c. And that it is of the same Time and Argument with Psal. 7. and 17. and 26. Others [a] rather referre it to the time of Davids exile out of his Kingdome, through Absalom's unnatural rebellion. When David was vilely calumniated by Shimei and others (impatient of Davids good Government in repressing wickedness, Idolatry, &c.) for a man of bloods, a man of Belial, &c. 2 Sam. 16. such reproaches wounded David more then his other afflictions. Therefore he endeavours in many Psalmes to wipe off such false aspersions and malicious calumnies: and here appeals to God as the onely competent Judge of his innocency and integrity. But if the Series of the Psalme be well observed (which runnes more generally without restriction to any calumnies cast upon David in dayes of Saul's Persecution, or Absalom's rebellion) we may better conceive David intended in this Psalme, by appeal to the Omniscient Omnipresent Creator, to vindicate himself from all manner of false, malicious, and slanderous calumnies of the sonnes of men from time to time cast upon him, sincerely in the sight of God protesting his innocency and integrity.

[a] Hen. Moller. in Arg. Psal. 139.

Scope here intended by David, is; To make a Solemn Profession or Protestation of his sincerity, uprightness, and unfeigned integrity, even in the sight and presence of the All-seeing and All-present God, his wonderful Creator: against all unworthy slanders, calumnies and imputations of impiety, hypocrisie, &c. which the malice of man could possibly cast upon him; comforting himself against them all by the LORD's sole attestation to, and approbation of his integrity of heart and life, see verse 23, 24. And, in order to the more exquisite discovery of the unfeignedness of his uprightness, to display most lively and pathetically, The LORD's Omniscience and exact knowledge of him, His Omni-presence from which there could be no possible escape for him, and His wonderful Creation of him, whence all the Secrets of his soul and body must needs be naked and bare before him, ver. 1. to 19. Whereupon he prayes that God would slay those atheistical wicked bloody men, that Blaspheme and take up Gods Name in vaine, hating him, rising up and rebelling against him, under false apprehensions that they are herein hidden from Gods Eye and Judgment, verse 19. &c. And this is an excellent and comfortable Psalme wherewith an upright-hearted Christian may stay and bear up his spirit in the Presence of his All-seeing heart-searching God, against all the infamy, reproach, false slanders or calumnies that the Devil or man can cast upon him.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Inscription or Title prefixed to this Prayer, contains; 1. The Denomination of it; A Psalme. 2. The Instrumental Author or Penman of it; David. 3. The Direction of it, as to the Musick; To the Master-Musician.

The Psalme it self is digested into the Forme of a Prayer. Wherein, David

I. Professeth his unfeigned sincerity, integrity and innocency, by way of Appeal to God, against all malicious surmises, slanders or calumnies which might be cast upon him, ver. 1. to 19. And this he doth divers wayes, viz.

1. By acknowledging, That the All-seeing Omniscient God knew him and all his wayes most exactly. As, More Generally, That God had searched and known him, ver. 1. More Particularly, 1. That the LORD knew all his outward Actions, most perfectly: winnowing them, and being accustomed to them. As, His Sitting and Rising; His Path, by day; His lying-down by night; and all his wayes, ver. 2, 3. 2. That he understood his thought afarre off, even before they were actually actually fixed in his heart, ver. 2. 3. That he perfectly knew all his words, ver. 4. This exactnes and exquisitnes of Gods knowledge is illustrated and confirmed, (1) Partly, From Gods besetting and as it were besieging him round about, behind and before, by his Omniscience. (2) Partly, From Gods putting his hand upon him, by his all-reaching and all-ordering Providence, ver. 5. (3) Partly, From the infinite unsearchableness of Gods knowledge and understanding, beyond his and humane reach; emphatically laid down by way of admiration, ver. 6.

2. By confessing and declaring, That he could by no means escape or hide himself from the Omnipresence of God. This is set forth, 1. By pathetical Interrogation, ver. 7. 2. By Induction of particulars, or enumeration of all probable means of escape with intimation of their utter insufficiency to hide or shroud him from Gods Presence. Nothing can do it. (1) Not Heaven. (2) Not Hell, ver 8. (3) Not the uttermost parts of the Sea, ver. 9, 10. (4) Not darkness it self, ver. 11, 12.

3. By Acknowledging (as a Reason both of Gods exact knowledge of him, and of the impossibility of his escaping his Presence,) Gods wonderful and curious workmanship, in creating and fashioning him in his Mothers wombe, ver. 13. to 19. Here, 1. God's forming of him in the wombe is described; (1) As to his inwards; Gods possessing his reins. (2) As to his more outward parts of his body; Gods covering him ——, viz. with skin, flesh, &c. ver. 13. 2. This fashioning of him is illustrated, (1) By the excellency and wonderfulness of it, for which the LORD is most worthy to be confessed and praised, ver. 14. (2) By the parts of it. As, The forming of his bones and stronger parts, and that in a secret place. The embroidering of his bones and body, with Nerves, Veins, Arteries, Membranes, &c. ver. 15. The bringing of his unform'd embryo to perfect shape and proportion, ver. 16. (3) By the transcendency of it, surpassing all his expressions and conceptions, and transporting him even into an holy Admiration of the LORD's wonderful contrivances thereof, ver. 17, 18. Which is emphatically amplyfied, By the fresh and new matter of meditation which this Subject still ministreth to his thoughts every morning that he awakes; I Awake, and am still with thee, ver. 18.

II. Prayes against the wicked and men of bloods, whom he desires to depart from him, that the LORD would slay them, ver 19. Of this Request he gives his Reasons, viz. 1. Drawn from the vileness of these wicked; who (not considering the Omniscience and Omnipresence of God their wonderful Creator,) (1) Speak of him to a mischievous-end. (2) Lift-up his name in vain, ver. 20. 2. Drawn from Davids intensive Zeal for God, laid down pathetically by way of Interrogation and Answer. As, (1) That he hates the haters of God. Yea with perfect hatred, accounting them as his own enemies. (2) That he is grieved at those who rise up against God, ver. 21, 22.

III. Concludes his Prayer, sealing up the profession of his integrity, by petitioning for himself, viz. 1. To search him, his heart, and his thoughts, exactly: therefore he useth such an heap of words, ver. 23. 2. To see if any way of sorrow (i. e. of any wickedness or hypocrisie, allowed, causing sorrow) be in him. 3. To lead him in the way of Eternity, i. e. in the good old way of sincere faith and obedience, ver. 24.

Psalme CXL.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David dangerously exercised with malicious, calumniating, and subtile Enemies, 1. Prayes for Preservation and Deliverance from them, ver. 1. to 9. 2. Imprecates Gods just vengeance upon his Enemies, that their own mischiefs may fall upon them, ver. 9, 10. 3. Declares his hope and confidence accordingly, 1. Of the ill event to the wicked, ver. 11. 2. Of the happy issue to the afflicted Righteous, ver. 12, 13.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the outward Forme of it, is, An Entituled Pſalme, according to the Hebrew. See the Preface §. VI. Num. IV. 2. As to the Nature and Subject-Matter of it, is, A Prayer. A Prayer of David, for preſervation and deliverance from Saul and his inſtigating Paraſites, who implacably by force and fraud ſought Davids life moſt violently and unjuſtly : As alſo againſt his Enemies, that their own miſchievous moleſtations and machinations may fall upon themſelves. Whereupon he concludes his Prayer with hopes of Gods juſt judgement upon the ill-tongued man, and man of violence, but of his vindication of the poor and needy, and comfortable remuneration of the afflicted righteous. Herein David was as it were, A type of Chriſt n, yea a type of the Church o and People of God, maliciouſly, implacably, yet cauſleſly perſecuted by the graceleſs wicked ones and great ones of the world.

Penman of it, was David. As the Title imports.

Occaſion of David's penning it. Some referre to Doeg's wicked accuſation of David to Saul, 1 Sam. 22. 9, &c. and to the Ziphites treacherous information to Saul againſt David, and inſtigation of Saul againſt him, 1 Sam. 23. 19. &c p. But Calvin and others q, diſliking their opinion, think rather it is to be referred to Saul's malicious, ſubtile, and implacable perſecutions of David, without cauſe, ſeeking to take away his life. See 1 Sam. ch. 18. and 19. Which perſecutions continuing long, miniſtred many occaſions to David of penning ſundry Pſalmes : He thereby making an holy, ſpiritual, and heavenly improvement of all his outward afflictions, for our exemplary inſtruction how to walk in like Caſes.

Scope of David herein, is; 1. To beg of the LORD, his own preservation and deliverance from his wicked, violent and implacable Enemies, by force and subtilty seeking his ruine: As also his Enemies just punishment by their own mischievous devices. 2. And to testifie his hope in the LORD for both these respectively.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal parts.

The Title expresseth, 1. The Denomination of it; A Psalme. 2. The Penman of it; David. 3. The Direction of it, as to the Musick; To the Master-Musician.

The Psalme it self, being Davids Prayer, contains

I. Davids Petitions for himself: for deliverance from imminent and deadly dangers, by reason of his crafty, cruel and implacable enemies, Saul and his servants. More particularly,

1. For his Preservation and deliverance from his Enemies, vers. 1. &c. Here 1. His Enemies are described; The evil man. The man of violences. 2. His Petition of Preservation from them is urged; From his Enemies, 1. Wicked thoughts. 2. Constant cruel Acts, ver. 2. 3. Malicious and venomous words Illustrated by two Similitudes of A Serpents sharpening his tongue, and of the Asps hot poyson under his lips, ver. 3.

2. For preservation of him from his enemies hands. Here again, 1. His enemies are characterized, to be; A wicked-one, A man of violences, The Proud. 2. His Request is urged 1. From his enemies malicious thoughts and contrivances to overthrow his goings, ver. 4. 2. From their crafty and subtile practises against his life; Hiding a Snare, Coards, Spreading a net by the paths side, yea setting grins for him, ver. 5.

II. Davids Imprecation against his enemies unto the LORD, ver. 6. &c. Here

1. He prayes for Audience. Encouraging himself therein, 1. From Gods sweet Covenant-Relation to him; Thou art my God, ver. 6. 2. From the LORD's sufficiency to save him. 3. From his former experience of Gods protection of him in the day of battel, ver. 7.

2. He Imprecates, or prayes against his Enemies. As, 1. That, God would not grant the desires of the wicked. 2. That, God would not further his wicked device, or promote his crafty project. Both which are urged, from the incommodity which otherwise would ensue; Lest they exalt themselves, ver. 8. 3. That, his encompassing Enemies may be covered and overwhelmed with the molestation or mischief of their own lips, ver. 9. 4. That, irrecoverable ruine (signified by making coales fall on them, casting them into the fire, yea into deep pits that they rise not up again) may swallow them up, ver. 10.

III. Davids profession of hope and confidence, that, according to these his former Requests, 1. An ill event shall be to the wicked, and so to his Enemies. Inasmuch as he did prophetically foresee, (1) That, A man of tongue, An ill-tongued man, shall not be established on Earth. (2) That, A man of violence, shall be violently hunted to his utter overthrow, or thrustings-down, ver. 11. 2. A good issue shall be to the afflicted righteous, and so to afflicted David, Inasmuch as he did prophetically fore-know, (1) That the LORD would do the judgment of the poor-afflicted, and doom of the needy: vindicating them from all their Enemies injuries and oppressions, ver. 12. (2) That, the righteous shall hereupon have matter of confessing-praise to Gods Name. (3) That, (when the wicked are ruined, yet) the upright shall still sit before the LORD's face, and dwell in his presence, as highly favoured by him and most acceptable unto him, ver. 13.

Psalme CXLI.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David surrounded, through Saul's persecutions, with extream dangers of ruine, I. Earnestly prayes; 1. For the LORD's audience and acceptance of his Requests, ver. 1, 2. 2. For the LORD's guidance of his Tongue, Heart and Hands, that he might not think, speak, or act any thing un-becoming him, though in these Extremities of danger and distress, ver. 3. to 7. 3. For preservation from death, and from his Enemies Snares, ver. 7, 8, 9. II. Imprecates his Enemies falling into their own Nets, while himself escapes, ver. 10.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

A Pſalme of David.

1. TO-thee-I-cry, O glorious LORD,
Do-thou-make-haſte to mee:
Unto my voice [a] an-ear-afford,
When-I-cry unto thee.
2. O let my prayer [b] bee-ſet-forth

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Poem, 1. As to the Outward Forme of penning it, is an Entituled Pſalme according to the Hebrew. See in the Preface §. VI. numb. 4. And in reference to the manner of the Muſick intended for it, it is A Pſalme. Of which Denomination, See in the Preface §. II. 2. As to the Subject-Matter and Nature of it, it is A Prayer of David, For himſelf, and Againſt his Enemies. For himſelf, That his Suit may be heard and accepted; That his thoughts, words, and actions may be rightly Guided; And that his life may be preſerved from death, and from his Enemies Snares, by the LORD. Againſt his Enemies, That they may fall into their own Enſnarements, whileſt withal he eſcapes.

Penman of it was David: As the Title intimates.

Occaſion whereupon David penned it, was ſome of Sauls Perſecutions of him, as Interpreters do generally conceive. But which of them, is not ſo unanimouſly agreed upon. May I freely declare my own Judgment, having ſeriouſly weighed the whole current of the Pſalme, and eſpecially examined the ſenſe of verſe 6. and how it may beſt agree with the reſt of the Pſalme, I am much inclined to think with ſome [q], That David wrote this Pſalme, after Saul returned from purſuing the Philiſtines that had invaded the Land, (whereby Sauls ſurprizing of David was moſt providentially prevented) 1 Sam. 23. 19. to the end. and 24. 1. and took 3000 choſen men out of all Iſrael, and went to ſeek David and his men upon the Rocks of the wilde Goats. When Saul went in to a Cave to cover his feet, David and his men remaining in the ſides of the Cave, and David privily cut off the skirt of Sauls Garment (being able as eaſily to have cut off his head,) whereupon David clears and demonſtrates his innocency and integrity towards Saul by many words at large, to Saul's great Conviction and Satisfaction, 1 Sam 24. 2, 3. to the end of the Chap. Which Hiſtory being duely compared with this Pſalme, eſpecially with ver. 6. Their Judges [r], cutions; As I made it manifeſt in Sauls perſon, who was the chief of mine enemies, when he was left alone in the Cave, 1 Sam. 24. 9. to whom I offered no violence, but onely plainly related unto him the wrongs which he did me with all reſpect and modeſty. *Jo. In this ſixth verſe, wherein all the Verbs are in the Preter-tenſe in the Hebrew, David ſeems plainly to hint at this famous and remarkable Hiſtory. Nor do I finde any Interpretations comparably ſo fit and genuine as this; but too remote, forced, and farre-ſetched. And according to this Interpretation the ſenſe of the whole Pſalme runnes moſt plain and clear: as will after appear in the Analyſis. The word נשמטו niſſometu, in niphal is of reciprocal ſignification, as ſome other paſſive words are, ſaid one [f]. They-demiſſed-themſelves (let-down-themſelves) by the hands of the Rock, &c.

Scope of David in this Prayer, is; To obtain of the LORD, Acceptance in his Requeſts, Guidance of his tongue, heart, and hands in his great danger and tryal, Preſervation from death and his Enemies Enſnarements: And that his Enemies might be entangled in their own Snares.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title Declares, 1. The Denomination of this Poem; A Pſalme. 2. The Penman of it David.

The Pſalme it ſelf contains,

I. Davids earneſt Prayer for himſelf, now in extream danger of death and ruine through King Saul's Perſecution of him, among the Rocks, &c. 1 Sam. 24. 2, 3. &c. Wherein he Petitioneth.

1. For audience in his Prayer. Amplyfied by the Adjunct haſte of the manifeſtation of this hearing, deſired, ver. 1. And for the LORD's ſingular acceptance of his Prayer. Illuſtrated by alluſion to the Levitical Types of Prayer; Incenſe, and The Evening Minchah or Oblation; ver. 2.

2. For the LORD's Guidance in theſe his great ſtraits and plunges, that therein he might behave himſelf in every reſpect aright, ver. 3, &c. As, 1. For Guidance of his mouth and lips, that he might not offend in his words, notwithſtanding all Saul's provocation, ver. 3. 2. For Guidance of his Heart and Hands, leſt he, in this plunge of great danger, ſhould with his 600 men attempt any thing by way of revenge againſt Saul, as wicked men uſe to do in like caſes, ver. 4. This his requeſt he Illuſtrates, (1) Partly, By deſiring rather a Remedy or Antidote againſt his wrath and revenge whereunto he might be tempted: viz. The ſmiting and check of the righteous to allay his paſſion and diſtempers. 1. Accounting ſuch Rebukes, A Kindeneſs, and an Head-oyle, a choice oyle that ſhould not hurt him, but help him. Meioſis. 2. And promiſing, as an effect of ſuch Reproofes, his prayer for them in their Calamities: viz. For the juſt, reproving him: or for the wicked, perſecuting him, ver. 5. (2) Partly, By declaring his patient and ſelf-denying bearing of Sauls unjuſt perſecutions among the Rocks and Caves, vindicating his innocency by pleaſant words in Sauls hearing before his Servants, ver. 6.

3. For the LORD's Protection, Preſervation, and Deliverance of his Life from Death, and the Snares of his Enemies. This requeſt he preſſeth, 1. From the extremity of his and his Servants dangers, They being diſperſed up and down in Woods, Rocks, Caves, &c. and in imminent danger of Death, even as Wood cut and cloven is ſcattered upon the Earth, ver. 7. 2. From his own intentive affiance and hope-for-ſafety in the LORD alone: therefore poure not out my Soul: i. e. to Death, ver. 8. 3. From the malice and miſchief of his Enemies; Like Fowlers or Hunters, laying Snares. And being workers of iniquity, ver. 9.

II. Davids Imprecation againſt the wicked his Enemies: viz. That the wicked, every one of them may fall into his own nets and deviſed miſchief. Whileſt withal he may paſs over all their Snares and eſcape in ſafety, ver. 10.

Pſalme CXLII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

David, being hid in a Cave for fear of his Perſecutors, and in great diſtreſſe and peril of life, flyes to the LORD by Prayer. In which Prayer, 1. He declares, That he earneſtly cryed to the LORD, in the extremity of his dangers and diſtreſſes, when his own ſpirit was over-whelmed, and all humane help failed him, ver. 1. to 5. 2. He prayes for deliverance from his Perſecutors, and from his cloſe-priſon: urging his Requeſt by ſundry pathetical Arguments, ver. 5, 6, 7. And all this to inſtruct Gods People, how to walk in like caſe. Tit.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Forme or Manner of penning it, with a Title or Inſcription prefixed, is; An Entituled Pſalme, in the Hebrew. See the Preface §. VI. numb. IV. 2. As to the Matter of it, (1) More Generally, it is in the Hebrew ſtiled, משכיל Maſchil, i. e. An Inſtruction, or Inſtructing-Pſalme of David. It is one of thoſe ſix Maſchils aſcribed to David. It ſeems to be ſo called, becauſe it contains an Inſtructive practice of David in his ſtraits: He fled to the LORD by Faith and Prayer for Deliverance. And this courſe of his, this Prayer is recorded, for Inſtruction to all Gods people to take the like courſe in like caſes of extream ſtraits and difficulties. (2) More Specially, It is A Prayer of David, An earneſt prayer for deliverance from his Perſecutors, and from all the extream dangers and diſtreſſes which they had brought upon him: that he might confeſs-praiſe to the LORD's Name, with others alſo.

Penman of it, was David: As the Title ſignifies.

Occaſion of Davids penning it, and making of this Prayer, was (as the Title alſo ſhowes) David's being in the Cave. He fled into a Cave to hide and ſhelter himſelf from his Perſecutors: and whileſt he was in the Cave, and upon that Occaſion, he made this Prayer. And probably, Then, or a little after, he wrote it. But foraſmuch as David is ſaid to have been in two Caves, viz. In the Cave Adullam, whither he fled from King Saul, when he eſcaped from the hands of Achiſh King of Gath, 1 Sam. 22. 1. And in the Cave, by the Sheep-coates in the Wilderneſs of Engedi, whither he and his men fled for fear of King Saul, 1 Sam. 24. 1, 2, 3. It is doubtful which of theſe two Caves is here intended. Bellarmine[q] underſtands it of the Cave Adullam: becauſe (ſaith he) in the Cave in the Wilderneſs of Engedi, Saul was more in danger then David, there David cutting off the skirt of his Garment. But this Reaſon is of no force: for David might have penned this Pſalme before Saul came accidentally into the Cave where David and his men were: or after Saul was departed, 1 Sam. 24. 22. Lyra tells us that Hierome underſtands this of the Cave Adullam[r]: but I finde no ſuch thing in Hierome. Others, as Raſi, Kimchi, and other Hebrewes[ſ], underſtand it of the Cave in the Wilderneſs of Engedi. So alſo ſome of our later Writers[t]. If this 142 Pſalme do in Matter and Time (as in order) ſucceed Pſal. 141. Then its not unprobable but that David penned this Pſalm after he had convinced Saul, by ſparing his life when he cut off the skirt of his Garment, that he intended no evil unto him, upon which Saul departed, but David and his men got them up into the Hold, 1 Sam. 24 22. i.e. To the Cave of Engedi again, not daring to truſt Saul. And at this his return into the Cave he might pen this Pſalme.

Scope of David herein is, 1. Partly to intreat the LORD to Deliver and ſet him once free from his perſecutors extream diſtreſſes and dangers with which he was daily exerciſed, that he might thereupon confeſs praiſe to the LORD, and other righteous perſons might rejoyce with him, ver. 6. 7. 2. Partly to Direct and Inſtruct all Gods people in their extreameſt ſtraits, when all humane ſuccours fayle, and when even their ſpirits are overwhelmed, then to fly to the LORD alone as their onely Relief by Faith and Prayer. Hence its called Maſchil. An Inſtructing-Pſalme. Tit.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title declares, 1. The General Nature, Argument, and intent of this Pſalme, to give Inſtruction. Maſchil. An Inſtructing-Pſalme. 2. The ſpecial Nature of it; A Prayer[u]. 3. The Penman of it; David. 4. The Seaſon when, and Occaſion whereupon he penned it; viz. when he was in the Cave, i. e. Not in the Cave Adullam, but in the Cave of Engedi. As formerly.

u The Heb. תפלה Tephillah, properly ſignifies; A Prayer wherein we ſet forth our cauſe before God for obtaining of juſt judgment from him. The root פלל phalal, ſignifies, to judge, and to pray, &c. Pagn. Theſaur. ad verb.

The Pſalme it ſelf contains,

I. Davids Narration, How earneſtly and fervently he cryed to the LORD in his extremities of dangers and diſtreſſes, ver. 1. to 5. Wherein note,

1. The Object to whom he directed his Prayer; The LORD. Five times hinted, ver. 1, 2.

2. The intenſive fervency of his Prayer. Set down in an heap of words, as is uſual with them that are in extream diſtreſſes. 1. Crying with voice; Notes fervency, importunity. 2. Making-ſupplication-for-grace; imports his earneſt deſire of the LORD's favour. 3. Pouring-out before his face a Meditation; intimates the abundant vehemency of his premeditated Requeſts. 4. Showing his diſtreſs: implyes, An orderly laying-open or deſcribing of his diſtreſs before the LORD, ver 1, 2.

3. The Cauſes or Motives of ſuch his fervent Prayer: viz. 1. His own utter fainting. His ſpirit was involved upon him, or overwhelmed in him. 2. The LORD's ſufficiency for him thus overwhelmed. He then knew his path: i. e. Either his path of eſcape, though David himſelf knew it not. Or, The integrity of his courſe. 3. The malice and miſchief of his enemies; privily-laying a Snare for him in his way, ver. 3. 4. The Inſufficiency of all humane help and ſuccour. Set forth by the total and utter failing of all ſecondary means of protection or deliverance, ver. 4.

1. The Seaſon of his Prayer to the LORD, viz. Then, when his ſpirit was overwhelmed, when his enemies malice and miſchief had brought him into extream ſtraits and dangers, and when all ſecondary ſuccours failed him; I cryed unto thee, O LORD. 2. The

2. The Faith and Affiance he had in the LORD alone, 1. For protection and safety; Thou my Refuge: or, my-hope-for-safety. 2. For provision of all necessaries; My Portion ——— ver. 5.
3. For Petitions presented: viz. 1. For the LORD's attendance to his cry, or audience of his fervent Prayer. Which is urged, From his present low condition. 2. For the LORD's deliverance of him from his Persecutors. Which is pressed, from his enemies power and his own impotency, ver. 6. 3. For bringing forth of his Soul out of close-prison. He was as it were imprisoned on every side with fears, dangers, distresses. This Petition is also Amplyfied, (1) Partly, From his own end and aime in desiring it; To confess-praise to his Name. (2) Partly, From the good event that will hereupon ensue to the righteous; They shall compass David about, to rejoyce and praise the LORD with him, when he shall thus bounteously-reward unto him, ver. 7.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Denomination of it, is; A Pſalme. As to the Outward Forme or manner of penning it in the Hebrew, is an Entituled Pſalme. 2. As to the Argument or Matter of it, it is A Prayer, a pathetical Prayer of David in deepeſt dangers and diſtreſſes. The particulars are before hinted, and will afterward more fully appear. Some do reckon this among The Seven Penitential Pſalmes, this being the ſeventh and laſt of them. They are Pſal. 6. 32. 38. 51. 102. 130. 143. See on Pſal. 6. §. 3.

Penman of it was David: as the Title ſhewes.

Occaſion of Davids penning it, Some think was his Son Abſalom's Rebellion againſt his Father David, when he ſo perſecuted him and ſought after his life P. Hereupon perhaps grounding their conjecture, Partly becauſe the matter of the Pſalme may well be accommodated thereunto. Partly becauſe ſundry ancient Verſions have hinted ſome ſuch thing in ſome words added to the Title of this Pſalme. For the Greek Verſion of the LXXII hath it thus; A Pſalme to David, when his ſon perſecuted him. The Æthiopick Verſion hath the ſame. The Vulgar Latin thus; A Pſalme of David when Abſalom his ſonne perſecuted him. The Arabick thus; Of David, when his ſonne Abſalom perſecuted him q. But neither of theſe grounds are cogent. Not the former, becauſe the Subject-matter of this prayer, is as applicable to Davids perſecutions by Saul. Not the later, becauſe ſuch Additions to the Hebrew Text are not warrantable, nor ſafe. Others ſeem better to referre the Occaſion of Davids writing this Prayer to Sauls violent perſecutions of him, whereby he was brought nigh unto death and utter ruine ſundry times, and in deep perplexities of Soul r. So that it was the ſame, or near the ſame Occaſion of his writing the former Pſalme, viz. Pſal. 142. And the Argument or Subject-Matter of the Pſalme intentively conſidered, much better agrees to King Sauls perſecution of David, then to Abſalom's rebellious Inſurrection.

r Ja. Foord in Expoſ. Pſ. 143. Tempus. Hen. Moller. in Arg. Pſal. 143. G. Ameſ. in Analyſ. Pſ. 143.

Scope of David in this prayer, is; To intreat the LORD, upon conſideration of his enemies extream cruelty againſt him, and his own perplexity of ſpirit and imbecility, to deliver him from his Enemies (not entring into judgment with him for any his iniquities) and by his good Spirit to direct, conduct, quicken, and comfort him over all his diſtreſſes, to walk in all obedience to God and righteouſneſs. As alſo to imprecate ruine to his Enemies.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Title declares two things, 1. The Denomination of this Scripture; A Pſalme. 2. The Penman; David.

The Pſalme it ſelf is a moſt pathetical Prayer of David, wherein

I. David, by way of Preface or Entrance into his Prayer, begs Audience of the LORD to his Requeſts. Where note, 1. His importunity herein, ſet forth in an heap of words. (1) Hear my prayer, viz. wherein I ſet forth my cauſe before for obtaining of juſt judgment. (2) Give-ear to my ſupplications-for-grace. (3) Hear me. 2. His Arguments whereby he thus urgeth his Requeſt. Drawn, 1. From the LORD's faithfulneſs or truth, viz. in his word and promiſes. 2. From his juſtice, protecting the innocent and upright committing themſelves to him, ver. 1.

II. David (though well aſſured of the juſtice of his cauſe, yet) Deprecates, or prayes-againſt the LORD's entring into judgment with his perſon. And hereof he renders a Reaſon, drawn from the utter inability of himſelf, or of any perſon alive to be juſtified before the LORD, ſhould he proceed in ſtrictneſs and exactneſs of judgment. Herein he tacitly begs pardon of his iniquities, ver. 2.

III. David

III. David declares, 1. His extream malady and misery, viz. (1) His enemies extream cruelty against him. Persecuting his Soule: Smiting-down his life to the Earth: Making-him-dwell in darknesses (i.e. in dark Caves and holes for safety, or in darksome state and condition,) like men dead long since and for ever, ver. 3. (2) His Soul's extream perplexity hereupon. His spirit being with grief and trouble quite involved and overwhelmed within him. His heart also wonderfully amazed or astonished in the midst of him, ver. 4. 2. His Remedy which he used and applyed against this his Malady. Which was twofold, viz. (1) Meditation, upon the whole work and acting of Gods Providence towards his people in the dayes of old, ver. 5. (2) Prayer to the LORD. Described, Partly by the outward gesture used therein; spreading-out his hands towards God. Partly, by the moving cause thereunto, viz. His Soul's vehement thirsting after God, for comfort, pardon, peace, deliverance, &c. which is illustrated by a Similitude drawn from A weary land's thirsting and gaping after moystening showers, ver. 6.

IV. David prayes, For himself, and against his enemies, ver. 7, &c.

1. For himself. And here he petitions for sundry blessings: As, 1. For the LORD's speedy hearing and answering him, with favour: His case not admitting of delayes. For, (1) His Spirit fayled (2) He otherwise should be like them that descend the pit: i.e. The Grave, that pit of Corruption. (3) Hee relyed by affiance upon God, verse 7. and 8. in the beginning. 2. For Divine direction in the way wherein he should walk in these his extream perils and perplexities. Which he presseth, From his Souls whole desire to, and dependance upon the LORD herein, ver. 8. 3. For deliverance from his Enemies. Urged, From his flying-for-covert to the LORD alone by Faith, ver. 9. 4. For Guidance by Gods good Spirit in obedience to Gods acceptable Will, in the land of Righteousness, or Righteousness, or uprightness: i.e. in a just, right, and upright course. This is urged, From the Relation betwixt God and him; Thou art my God, ver. 10. 5. For quickning or reviving him, viz. From mortal dangers: From all his deep discomforts and perplexities. This is urged, From the end aimed at herein; viz. The Glory of Gods Name. 6. For bringing of his Soul out of its extream distress, by reason of these afflictions: Urged from the LORD's righteousness, ver 11.

2. Against his Enemies, all of them. That they may be suppressed or cut off, and destroyed by the LORD This Imprecation he presseth, 1. From Gods loving-kindness, viz. towards him. 2. From the cruelty of his enemies; Distressers of his Soule. 3. From his own Relation to God; For I am thy Servant, ver. 12.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Scripture, 1. As to the Outward Form or Manner of penning it, is, with a Title prefixed in the Hebrew. So it is one of the Entituled Pſalmes of David. 2. As to the Matter of it, it is Mixt: being made up of Praiſe and Prayer. So it is Euchariſtical, and Euctical: Laudatory, and Petitory. And it is obſerved, That this Pſalme, and all the reſt that follow to the end of this Book, are Euchariſtical, in whole or in part: containing matter of praiſe to the LORD, for ſeveral mercies, &c q. And this is one of Davids Triumphal-Pſalmes for the ſucceſs which the LORD of Hoaſts had given him in his Warres, Battels, and Military undertakings.

q Hen. Moll. v. in Arg. Pſal. 144.

Penman of it, was David, as the Title hints unto us.

Occaſion of Davids penning it, was the Conſideration of the LORD's mercy, in helping him in his warres and warre-like exploits, and in ſubjecting his people Iſrael to him, as their King. Compare ver. 1. and 2. For it is evident, That David penned this Pſalme after his coming to the Kingdom, and after he had obtained ſome notable victories over his forreign Adverſaries. But not over them all: for ſome ſtill were un-ſubdued, and were vexatious to David; whereupon he alſo in this Pſalme prayes for their total overthrow and ruine, which was in part ſo mercifully begun, See verſe 5. to 9. and verſe 11. And therefore, whereas ſome r think this Pſalme was penned upon Occaſion of Davids victory over Goliah; and the Greek, Vulgar Latin, and Æthiopick Verſions have the Title of this Pſalme thus; To David unto Goliah: or; A Pſalme of David againſt Goliah ſ: That is a great miſtake, this Pſalme being penned after David was come to the Crown, ver. 2. as ſome have rightly obſerved t. Notwithſtanding, this is not ſuch a Triumphant-Pſalme, as Pſalme 18. For, that Pſalme was written when now all the affaires of his Kingdome were ſtabliſhed in peace, and all his enemies ſubdued; as in Title of Pſalme 18. But in this Pſalme (as Calvin notes) he intimates certain notes of ſollicitude and fear, all his enemies being not yet brought under u.

u Differt à Pſalmo 18 quia illic pacato regno, tebaſque proſperè fluentibus, tantummodo triumphat: hîc vero aliquas ſollicitudinis & metus notas aſpergit: quia adhuc eum exercebant hoſtium reliquiæ. Joan. Calv. in Arg. Pſ. 144.

To

To me therefore it seems most probable, That David penned this Psalme upon Occasion of his obtaining the Kingdome over Israel as well as over Judah, and of some of his renowned Victories after that accomplished; as over the Philistines, Moabites, Hadadezer, and the Syrians, with the Edomites, as in 2 Sam. 8. after which nevertheless David had some other enemies remaining, against whom in this Psalme he directs his Prayer.

Scope of David in this Psalme, is; 1. Partly, To bless the LORD for his singular mercies in helping him in all his warres and battels, and establishing him upon his Throne over Israel, ver. 1, 2. 2. Partly, To intreat the LORD to perfect these mercies thus begun, subduing the remainder of his enemies, to the compleating of Israels peace and prosperity, verse 7. to 9. 11. 12, 13. 14.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Title onely hints unto us the Penman of this Psalme, viz. David.

The Psalme it self, being of Mixt Nature, containes

I. Davids blessing and praising of the LORD for sundry eminent mercies vouchsafed him. As,

1. For his singular assistance and success in his Wars. Blessed be the LORD, &c. Where note, 1. The Act of divine kindness vouchsafed; learning his hands to warre, &c. 2. The Causes of this kindness, viz. The LORD's mercy, power, and providence; elegantly illustrated by choice similitudes, of Rock, Fortress, High-Tower, &c. ver 1. and 2 in the begin.

2. For advancing him to the Throne, and subjecting his people under him, ver. 2. Both which mercies are elegantly illustrated, By the utter disparity and unworthiness of not onely himself, but of any earthly-man to receive such favours from the LORD: which for the greater Emphasis is laid down by way of interrogation and admiration, ver. 3. Of which extream imparity and unworthiness he gives a Reason, drawn from the vanity and transitoriness of humane condition, ver. 4.

II. Davids prayer for the perfecting and compleating of these mercies so graciously begun. Here

1. He prayes for the LORDs powerful subduing of all the remainder of his Enemies. Which, Petition is elegantly represented in many particular Acts and Expressions of Divine Power, which manner of working the Lord sometimes makes use of for the discomfiture of his peoples enemies, verse 5, 6.

2. He Prayes for his own full and final deliverance from all his enemies. Here he sets forth, I. The Cause of his desired deliverance; The LORD's mighty power and providence manifested from Heaven. II. The deliverance it self prayed for; Release me and deliver me. III. The enemies from whom he desires this deliverance. Described, 1. By their sort; sonnes of a stranger: i. e. of a forreign and strange people, or of a strange God. 2. By their multitude and impetuous violence: Metaphorically compared to many waters. 3. By their power; from the hand, verse 7. 4. By their falseness and perfidiousness, in (1) Words, and (2) Deeds, verse 8. Which Description of his Enemies, and the Deliverance from them thus prayed for, are again repeated for the greater emphasis and importunity, verbatim, in verse 11. IV. The Arguments whereby he presseth this his Petition for full deliverance from his Enemies, are drawn from a twofold good event aimed at therein, and which would thence ensue: viz. 1. Davids thankful celebration of the LORD's praises hereupon. Of which his thankful celebration he sets forth, (1) The excellency; Singing a new Song: A Song of Triumph, &c. (2) The manner of it; Singing-psalmes with Musical Instruments, verse 9. (3) The Subject-Matter of it: Expressed, More Generally; The LORD D's giving Salvation unto Kings. More Particularly, His delivering David his Servant from the evil Sword, verse 10. 2. Israels flourishing prosperity in all Temporals under Davids peaceable Government, verse 12, &c. This prosperity is distributed into two Sorts: viz. (1) Plenty and presence of all Good. As, Corporal health, growth, strength, and comelinesse of their sonnes and daughters, verse 12. Plenty of all manner of fruits, and store for food. Numerous multiplication and increase of their flocks fructifying abundantly, verse 13. well-loaden Oxen: loaden with bulk and flesh, fitting them for all use and service, verse 14. at the beginning. (2) Penury and Absence of all evil: especially evils of warre, As; No breaking in, by enemies Invasion. None going out, by Captivity in the enemies hands. No out-cry in the Streets, by cruelty, spoil, and other calamities of warre. In all which elegantly is intimated Israels publique peace and immunity from warre, which brings in all these Calamities with it, verse 14.

III. Davids Conclusion of his Prayer and the Psalme. By a parhetical illustration of all this prosperity of Israel, from the Relation which it hath, 1. To the people, which in some sort are thereby rendred happy. 2. To God, declaring his true beatifical grace and favour by these outward Tokens, verse 15. Or, Israels prosperity is in this verse illustrated, 1. By the seeming outward happiness of people under such worldly enjoyments. 2. By the surpassing real happiness of that people which hath JEHOVAH for their God. Added as it were by way of Correction x to the former clauſe. This Sentance being oppoſed to all the other worldly wealth. H. Ainſworth in his Annotat. on Pſal. 144. 15. The former is but Fælicitas ſiniſtra: The later Fælicitas dextera: Gloſſ. Ord. in loc.

x Concludit Epiphonemate, In quo prædicat populum felicem & beatum, cui hæc bona à Deo Contigerint. Sed addit mox correctionem, nequis in his rebus terrenis ſubſiſtat, & ſummam beatudinem ponat, &c. Hen. Moller. in Prælect. ad Pſal. 144. 15.

Dixerunt ergo vaniloqui filii alieni, Beatum populum cui hæc ſunt: vos dicite nobiſcum, Beatus populus cujus Dominus Deus ipſius. Aug. Enarrat. in Pſal. 143. p. 1664. D. Tom. 8. Baſil. 1569.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, is; 1. As to the Outward Forme of penning it, An Entituled Pſalme, or Hymne of David. And it is an Alphabetical Pſalme: The laſt of the Seven Alphabetical Pſalmes[t], which are Pſal. 25. 34. 37. 111. 112. 119. 145. Every verſe of this 145*th* Pſalme in the Hebrew, begins with a Letter of the Hebrew-Alphabet in order: verſe 1. with א, verſe 2. with ב, verſe 3. with ג, &c. Only this is obſervable as to this Pſalme, that the fourteenth Letter, viz. (נ) which ſhould have immediately followed the thirteenth verſe, which begins with מ,) is wanting in the Alphabetical order. And it is hard to conjecture how it came to paſs that this Letter (נ) ſhould be here left out, and omitted. Hen. Mollerus thinks it was through the negligence of the Tranſcribers[u]. R. Kimchi confeſſeth he is ignorant of the Reaſon of it, As one hath noted[x]. Only I finde, that between ver. 13. beginning with מ, and verſe 14. beginning with ס; In ſundry ancient Verſions, As the Greek Verſion of the LXXII, The Vulgar Latin, The Syriack, The Æthiopick, and Arabick Verſions, this verſe is inſerted, viz. Faithful is the LORD in his Words, and holy in all his Works[y]. Now the Hebrew-word for [faithful] begins with [נ] נאמן Neeman[z], πιστὸς, Fidelis, —&c: And ſo according to thoſe Verſions the Letter נ is ſupplied. But the inſerting of this verſe for the ſupply of that Letter, being done only by humane Authority, temerity or curioſity, contrary to the Original Hebrew Verity, cannot be juſtified or approved by them that hold and maintain the incorrupt Purity of the Fountain-Hebrew-Text. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of this Pſalme, it is, eſpecially, Divine Praiſe. For herein David ſets himſelf moſt zealouſly to extol and magnifie the LORD, for his many excellent Perfections or Attributes, as his Greatneſs, Goodneſs, Juſtice, Graciouſneſs, Compaſſionateneſs, Long-ſuffering, Loving-kindneſs, &c. For his Kingdom. For his Providential diſpenſations, &c. which he doth moſt elegantly and emphatically. Hence this is Entituled; An Hymne of David; or, Davids Hymne; or, Davids Praiſe, by way of eminency: denoting David's eminent Pſalme of Praiſe. An Hymne (ſaid[a] one,) properly is Divine Praiſe with Song or a —Hymnus propriè eſt laus Divina cum Cantico ſeu exultatione. Et ideo, ſi non ſit laus Dei, ſed alterius perſonæ, non eſt Hymnus: etiam ſi fiat cum exultatione. Et ſimiliter ſi ſit laus divina, & non fiat cum Cantico ſeu exultatione: ſed magis cum fletu, ſicut Planctus Hieremiæ, non eſt propriè Hymnus. Et ideo per hoc quod dicitur in Titulo, Hymnus David, deſignatur quod David fecit hunc Pſalmum ad Dei laudem cum Cantico ſeu exultatione. Nic. de Lyra in poſtil. ad Pſal. 144.

Exultation. Therefore if it be not the praiſe of God, but of ſome other perſon, it is not an Hymne, though it be with Exultation. And in like ſort if it be a divine praiſe, and not with Song or Exultation, but rather with weeping, as Jeremiah's Lamentation, it is not properly an Hymne, &c. The ſingular excellency of this Hymne or Pſalme of Praiſe is ſuch, That Kimchi obſerves, That he who diligently ſhall weigh this Pſalme, he ſhall ſee the admirable things of the Creator, and his Judgements towards the Creatures. And therefore the Rabbines have ſaid; Whoſoever ſhall daily recite this Pſalme thrice, he ought to be ſecure of the life to come. Which (ſaith hee) is not to be underſtood of him that recites it with his mouth only, but of him who doth it with mouth, heart, and tongue. He conjoynes theſe three, ſaith Muis[b]. Thus this Pſalme, as to the kinde of it is Laudatory or Euchariſtical: and ſo are all the five following, every of which begins and ends with Halelu-JAH. And they are as the Epilogue of this whole Book of Pſalmes.

b Obſervat Kimchi, qui hunc Pſalmum diligenter perpendit, in eo perſpecturum res admirandas Creatoris, ejuſque erga Creaturas judicia. Ideoque Rabbinos dixiſſe; Quicunque hunc Pſalmum ter Quotidie recitaret, ſecurum eſſe debere de futura vita. Quod, inquit ille, non eſt intelligendum de eo, qui ore duntaxat recitaret; Sed de eo, qui ore corde & lingua. Hæc tria conjungit. Sim. de Muis in Argum. Pſal. 145.

Penman of this Hymne, was David: as the Title prefixed intimates.

Occaſion of Davids penning this Hymne, is not certainly evident here or elſewhere in Holy Scripture. But it is conjectured[c], That David compoſed this Pſalm, and therein extolled the LORD ſo exceedingly with praiſes, when he heard his requeſt in *Pſ.*144. And ſubdued the reſidue of his Heathen-enemies to his Royal Government, as 2 *Sam.*8. Hereupon (as is ſuppoſed) David in this Pſalme, and the five following to the end of the Book, praiſeth the LORD with all his might. David was filled with ſo much joy, at Gods ſubjugating forreign Nations to him, making him Head of the Heathen, and reſtoring peace to Iſrael as he had promiſed, 2 Sam. 7 8,9,10 that he could not contain himſelf, but muſt needs praiſe the LORD in ſix diſtinct Pſalmes. And if this be ſo, then we may hither referre the chief Occaſion and Argument of all the five enſuing Pſalmes.

c Joan. Foord in Expoſ. Tit. Pſal. 145.

Scope of David in this ſweet Alphabetical Hymne, is; Intenſively, with all his might to celebrate the LORD's praiſes, for his immenſe Perfections or Attributes, as his Greatneſs, Juſtice, Goodneſs, &c. For his Kingdom, and his Providential diſpenſations towards good and bad: and to incite all others to the like divine Praiſes.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

The Hebrew Title prefixed, expreſſeth 1. The Denomination of this Scripture. An Hymne. The meaning of which word, See partly in § 3 foregoing: but more fully in the Preface §. II. 2. The Penman of it, David. This is the only Pſalme in this whole Book of Pſalmes, that hath this Inſcription, An Hymne of David.

The Hymne it ſelfe is wholly Euchariſtical and Laudatory, made up of the Praiſes of the LORD. And therein are 1. An Exordium. 2. A Narration. 3. A Concluſion.

I. An Exordium or Preface, wherein David profeſſeth his holy Reſolution of praiſing and bleſſing God continually. Here note, 1. The formal Object of his Praiſe; The LORD, deſcribed by (1) His Covenant-Relation to David; My God. (2) His Adminiſtration of his Regal Rule for David; O King. 2. The Acts of his Praiſe, which as Parts thereof he profeſſeth and promiſeth to perform to this Object: viz. (1) Extolling him. Lifting him-up on-high, Advancing-him. (2) Bleſſing him: twice mentioned. Underſtand, not the Bleſſing of Conſecration, by which the Leſſer is bleſſed of the Greater, *Heb.*7.7. But the Bleſſing of Praiſe and Thanksgiving, by which the Greater is bleſſed of the Leſſer[d]. (3) Praiſing him. 3. The Adjunct Conſtancy or Aſſiduity of theſe Acts, verſe 1,2.

d Et benedicam nomini tuo] Non benedictione Conſecrationis, quæ à majore impenditur minori, *Heb.*7. Sed benedictione Gratiarum Actionis & Laudis, quæ à minori exhibetur majori. Nic. de Lyra in Poſtil. ad Pſ. 144. ad initium.

II. A Narration; wherein David declares the Cauſes and Reaſons of ſuch his Extolling, Bleſſing and Praiſing God, *verſ.*3. &c. viz.

1. For Gods immenſe Majeſty and Greatneſſe, glorioully ſhining forth in his mighty Acts. Here, The Majeſtick Greatneſs of the LORD, is 1. Aſſerted and exalted as vehemently praiſed and unſearchable, *ver.*3. 2. Illuſtrated by the ſucceſſive Teſtimony and praiſes of all Generations, and Experience of his Works, verſe 4. And eſpecially by the Pſalmiſts high praiſes thereof, among others, *verſ.*5,6.

2. For

2. For the LORD's infinite Goodneſs. As Truth is a Divine perfection more peculiarly belonging to Gods underſtanding: ſo Goodneſs is a comprehenſive perfection more properly appertaining to Gods Will. Here touching Gods Goodneſs, for which he is praiſed, note; 1. The Amplitude of his Goodneſs, to be praiſed; the multitude of thy Goodneſs. 2. The Act of Praiſe to be performed in reference to Gods Goodneſs, (1) They ſhall abundantly utter: Heb. they ſhall well-out. A Metaphor from fountains that ſend forth their waters abundantly and conſtantly. Thus it notes abundant and conſtant praiſes of his Goodneſs. (2) They ſhall ſhout; which imports fervency. 3. The choice excellencies and perfections, wherein this Goodneſs of God diſcovers it ſelf; viz. in his (1) Juſtice, or righteouſneſs, ver. 7. (2) Graciouſneſs. (3) Compaſſionateneſs; or, commiſerating-pitifulneſs. (4) Long-ſuffering; forbearance, or patience. (5) Loving-kindneſs. Amplyfied by the Greatneſs of it, ver. 8. 4. The extenſiveneſs of this Goodneſs of God to, (1) All mankinde. (2) All his works whatſoever, below mankinde, ver. 9.

3. For the LORD's eminent Works, or Acts, ver. 10. &c. Where note,

(1) The Inſtruments that ſhall for theſe things celebrate God. 1. Generally; All his works: viz. in their kinde. 2. Specially; His gracious Saints.

(2) The Acts which they ſhall reſpectively performe; Praiſing, Bleſſing.

(3) The Object to whom theſe Acts ſhall be performed; To the LORD; thee,—thee, ver. 10.

(4) The Acts or works of God for which they ſhall thus praiſe and bleſs the LORD, viz. Theſe two ſorts, I. The LORD's Kingdome and his excellent Adminiſtration thereof. Which Kingdome is deſcribed by the eminent properties thereof, viz. 1. Glory. 2. Power. 3. Majeſty. 4. Eternity, ver. 11, 12, 13. II. The LORD's Providential Diſpenſations. Firſt, Towards the Good, viz. 1. Under-propping all that are falling. 2. Uprightning all that are bowed together, ver. 14. 3. Feeding and even ſatisfying the hungring and thirſting deſiring of all his Creatures, ver. 15, 16. 4. Being juſt in all his wayes. 5. Being Holy, Merciful, Clement, or bountiful in all his works, ver. 17. 6. Being nigh to all that call upon him in truth, ver. 18. 7. Fulfilling the deſire, Hearing the cry, and working the Salvation of them that fear him, ver. 19. 8. Preſerving all thoſe that love him, ver. 20. at the beginning. Secondly, Towards the bad, viz. Aboliſhing all the wicked, ver. 20. at the end.

III. The Concluſion: wherein David, 1. Profeſſeth and promiſeth in his own Perſon to Praiſe the LORD. 2. Inciteth all fleſh to bleſs the Name of his Holyneſs for evermore, ver. 21.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme or Manner of penning it in the Hebrew without any Title prefixed, is an Untituled Pſalme, as many others are. Unleſs we ſhall ſay, That the word [Halelu-JAH] is prefixed as a Title. Which yet is not ſo conveniently ſaid: that word both beginning and ending the Pſalme, with provocation to all to praiſe the LORD, with the Pſalmiſt. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Mixt of Praiſe and Exhortation, and ſo is Laudatory and Hortatory. But it is chiefly Euchariſtical or Laudatory: foraſmuch as even the Hortatory part is full of Matter of Divine Praiſe. And, as this, ſo all the reſt of the Pſalmes following to the end of the Book, are wholly ſpent in Divine praiſes, and every of them begin and end with, Halelu-JAH. Hence Lyra ſtiles them, Halelujatical Pſalmes. The Pſalmiſt ſetting himſelf to praiſe the LORD with all his might therein: never ſatisfying himſelf with this ſweet Angelical and Celeſtial Exerciſe. So true is that of Auguſtine's; Divine Songs, are our ſpirits delights p.

p Deliciæ Spiritus noſtri Divina Cantica: ubi & fletus ſine gaudio non eſt. Aug. in Enarr. Pſal 144. ad init. Tom. 8.

Penman, probably was David: And perhaps upon the ſame or like Occaſion he penned this Pſalme whereupon he wrote Pſalme 145. As there was intimated. See on Pſal. 145. §. 3.

Scope of the Pſalmiſt here, is; To excite himſelf and others to praiſe the LORD, and to truſt in him alone in all ſtraits, wants, difficulties, and conditions whatſoever, and not in any, no not the greateſt of the ſons of Adam.

§. IV. The Analyſis, or Principal Parts.

In this Laudatory and Hortatory Pſalme, are

I. An Incitation, or pathetical provocation to the praiſing of the LORD. Which Duty is here laid down two wayes, 1. By diſtribution of the Subjects, who are to performe it, viz. (1) Others; Praiſe-yee the LORD. (2) The Pſalmiſt himſelf; Praiſe the LORD, O my Soule. Whereby is noted his Cordialneſs and ſincerity unto this Duty, ver. 1. 2. By profeſſion of the Pſalmiſts Reſolution to praiſe the LORD, and to ſing Pſalmes to his God. Which is Amplyfied by the Adjunct Conſtancy hereof; In my life, whileſt I am: i. e. ſaith one q, In this preſent life ſo long as it laſts: and in the life to come, ver. 2.

q Nic. de Lyra in poſtil. ad Pſ. 145

II. A Diſſwaſive or Dehortation from truſting in Princes, in munificent-bounteous-Princes, or in any Son of Adam. The foundation of divine praiſe being truſt in God, the fruit whereof is his help to be celebrated with all praiſe: Therefore this provocation to praiſe God is illuſtrated by a diſſwaſive from the oppoſite truſting in and praiſing of men, though moſt bounteous-Princes. The reaſon of which diſſwaſive is drawn, 1. From their inſufficiency and impotency to help or ſave us from miſery, ver. 3. 2. From their frailty and mortality (one cauſe of their inſufficiency,) whence, all their thoughts and purpoſes are moſt vaniſhing, ver. 4.

III. An Exhortation to hope and truſt for help in the God of Jacob, as in the LORD our God. Which is,

1. Illuſtrated, by the happineſſes of that man, that hath his truſt and help in God, verſe 5.
2. Confirmed and urged by many choice Arguments: drawn

(1) From the Allſufficiency and Omnipotency of God, diſcovered in the Creation of Heaven Earth, Sea, and all in them,

(2) From,

2. From the constant fidelity of God; keeping Truth for ever, in his Word and Promises, verse 6.

3. From his efficacious Providence, I. Towards all sorts of good men depending upon him in all varieties of distresses and difficulties, viz. 1. Executing Judgement for the Oppressed. 2. Giveing food to the hungry. 3. Loosing them that are bound, verse 7. 4. Opening the eyes of the blinde. 5. Uprightening them that are Crooked, bowed down, or bowed together. 6. Loving the righteous, verse 8. 7. Preserving the Strangers. 8. Setting-upright, or making to continue-sure, the fatherless and widdow, verse 9. at the beginning. II. Towards the wicked that depend not upon him, Overthrowing their way, verse 9. at the end

IIII. A Conclusion of the Psalme. Wherein note, 1. The Declaration of another Reason why God is to be Praised and alone trusted in: drawn from the Eternity of his Kingdome, whereby he Rules and Orders all things as he will. Which is Amplyfied by the peculiar relation that the King of this Kingdome hath to Sion, to his Church. 2. An Exhortation to all hereupon to praise the LORD, verse 10.

Psalme CXLVII.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

The Psalmist in this Psalme, which also begins and ends with Halelu-JAH, 1. Exhorts all more Generally to praise the LORD, verse 1. &c. Urging this from sundry Reasons: As, The Excellency of Divine Praise. Gods singular care of his Church. Gods Eminent Attributes; Wisdome, Power, Greatness. And his discriminating Providence towards good and bad, verse 1. to 7. 2. Exhorts to a special manner or mode of Praising God, with Confession, Singing-Psalmes, and Harp, verse 7. Annexing Reasons drawn from, Gods Providence, towards Creatures senseless, Towards Creatures sensitive but irrational, But especially towards his fearers, &c. verse 8. to 12. 3. Exhorts Jerusalem and Sion, The Church, (the peculiar Subjects of this Duty) to Laud and Praise the LORD their God, verse 12. For his blessings upon City and Kingdom. For his providence in ordering Natural things seasonably for their good. But especially for his peculiar favour to Israel in giving them his Tew-words, Statutes and Judgements, Laws Moral, Ceremonial, and Judical, so as he dealt not with any other Nation, verse 13. to the end.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Psalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme or Mode of Penning it, is Untituled in the Hebrew, And one of the Halelu-jatical Psalmes (as some call them) beginning and ending with Halelu-JAH, i. e. Praise-yee-JAH. Or, Praise-yee-the-LORD. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Mixt, Hortatory and Laudatory, Exhorting much to the Praising of the LORD, upon manifold grounds and Reasons. It is chiefly Eucharistical or Laudatory.

This Psalme, though in the Hebrew it be but one entire undivided Psalme, and be so accounted by the Chaldee Paraphrast, and Generally by most sound Interpreters, yet it is divided into two by the Greek Version of the LXXII, by the Arabick and Æthiopick Versions, and by the vulgar Latin, with Division also Augustine, Lyra, &c. follow. From verse 1. to 12. they account it Psalme CXLVI. And from ver. 12. to the end, Psalme CXLVII[s]. And so they fall again into the Ordinary Enumeration of the Psalmes, from which they had departed all along from Psalme X, (as thereon was noted,) making the Xth. Psalme onely a part of the IXth. Psalme, unduely joyning both together in one. And therefore with them the Enumeration of the Psalmes, from Psalme X. to CXLVII, is wholly altered from the common Enumeration: and accordingly we are forced to alledge them. Which is to be noted by the Reader, lest he misapprehend the Allegations or Quotations of them.

s Vid Bib. Polyglot ad Psal. X. & CXLVII.

Penman of this Psalme, some[t] think to have been David: and that upon the Occasion formerly hinted on Psal. 145. §. 3. Others [u] are of Opinion; That, because mention is made of Building Jerusalem, and gathering together the outcasts of Israel, verse 2. of strengthening the barrs of her Gates, putting peace in her Borders, verse 13. 14. This Psalme was penned by some Prophet as by Haggai or Zeebary, their names being prefixed to this Psalme in the Greek, Arabick, Æthiopick and Syriack Versions; Halelu-JAH of Haggai and Zechary, [x] after the Jewes return from their Babylonish Captivity, when they had rebuilt Jerusalem, had set up the Walls and Gates thereof, when Israels dispersed out-casts were gathered together thither out of other Countryes, and they flourished in peace and prosperity. But Lyra [y] utterly dislikes this Opinion; For that, no such Title with the Name of Haggai and Zechary is in the Hebrew, but is onely put by some Translator or Expositor. As also because in Jerusalem rebuilt after the return from Babylons Captivity, there was not such peace and plenty as this Psalme describes. Yea it was frequently invaded by the Gentiles about them, and was subject to the servitude of Medes and Persians, after of the Grecians, and then of the Romans. And there was such Penury of Temporals in the dayes of Nehemiah who re-edified the City, that they brought their sons and daughters into servitude for necessary food, Neh. 5. And therefore he understands this of the building of the spiritual Jerusalem, &c. Wherefore, if we referre the Occasion of this Psalme to the occurrents that fell out, after David was brought to the Crown, and had subdued his Enemies round about;

t Jo. Foord in Expos. Ps. 145.

x Vid. Bib. Pol. ad Ps. 147.
y Nico. de Lyra in Postil ad Ps. 147. ad initium.

I see no unsuitableness with the matter of this Psalme, but good correspondency. For, then Jerusalem began to be eminently built, and to be strengthened, flourishing with peace and all prosperity: Then David and his friends, which were as out-casts dispersed from place to place, were gathered together in Jerusalem and the Kingdom, enjoying the Words, Statutes, and Judgments of the LORD in lustre and beauty, &c. according to the sundry expressions contained in this Psalme.

Scope of the Psalmist herein, is; To excite all, but especially Jerusalem and Sion, with the people of God therein, to praise the LORD, for his care of his Church and people, for his glorious Attributes, for his singular providences, in the course of Nature, but chiefly in his Spiritual Dispensation of, his Ordinances (viz. His Words, Statutes, and Judgments i.e. His ten Words the Moral Law, the Ceremonial and Judicial Lawes) to Israel, above all the Nations of the World.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

This Hortatory and Laudatory Psalme contains three Exhortations to the praising of the LORD, with Reasons or Motives thereunto severally annexed. As,

I. An Exhortation more general to all to praise the LORD; in the word, Halelu-JAH, ver. 1. &c. This is enforced and urged,

1. From the excellency of this work it self, the praising of the LORD z. It being here commended. As. 1 Good. 2 Pleasant. 3 Comely, ver. 1.

2. From Gods singular care of his Church and people, typed out by Jerusalem. This his care is described, and illustrated, I. Described by sundry choice Acts thereof: viz. 1 Building Jerusalem. 2. Gathering together the out-casts of Israel, dispersed into other Countries, ver. 2. 3. Healing the broken in heart, binding up their dolours or griefs, ver. 3. II. Illustrated, by Gods exact numbring, and Naming of all the starres: How much more exactly doth he number and know all his people by name, ver. 4.

3 From Gods eminent Attributes or perfections. As, 1. His Greatness. 2. Power. 3. Understanding, beyond number, ver. 5. 4. Providence, 1 Towards the good; setting-upright the meek. 2 Towards the bad; debasing the wicked to the earth, ver. 6.

II. An Exhortation to a more Special Mode or Manner of praising the LORD, verse 7, &c. Here,

1. This Special manner of praising the LORD is described: viz. It must bee, 1. By singing in way of Answering one another: as the Hebrew word properly signifies, 2. With Confession, viz. of praise and praise-worthy things to God. 3. With Singing-psalmes. 4. With melodious Musical Instruments, as with Harp, ver. 7.

2. This praise is urged, From consideration of Gods providential dispensations, 1. Towards Creatures insensitive. As in his, (1) Covering Heaven with Clouds. (2) Preparing rain for the Earth And (3) Making barren Mountains to bud-forth Grasse, ver. 8. 2. Towards Creatures irrational, (1) Feeding the beasts. (2) Feeding the fowles; young Ravens that cry: i.e. even the basest of fowles, young Ravens Synechdochically are mentioned in stead of all the rest. They say, when they are hatched, the old Ravens desert them by reason of their deformity and whitishness: whereupon through extremity of hunger they cry. And Gods providence yet strangely preserves and feeds them, as Writers a observe, ver. 9. 3. Towards Creatures Rational, especially such as are truly religious: He takes pleasure in them, not according to any acquired or natural parts: but according to their fearing of him, and their patient-waiting for his mercy, verse 10, 11.

z In laude Dei, ipse actus est Merces. Sim. de Casia. apud Gloss. in Ps. 146

a Et pullis Corvorum invocantibus eum. Dicit enim Isidorus; Quod corvi non ministrant cibum pullis suis, donec videant eos nigrescere plumis: quia tunc agnoscunt eos tanquam suos: sed antequam habeant plumas nigras nutriuntur rore cœlesti. Per hoc autem quod dicitur; Invocantibus eum. non est intelligendum, quod ista invocario sit per aliquam recognitionem in pullis existentem: sed quod unaquæque res per appetitum naturalem tendit ad suam perfectionem. Et sic dicuntur invocare Deum, à quo recipitur omnis perfectio & omne bonum. Nic. de Lyra in postil. ad Psal. 146. o.

Tradunt qui Naturalem Historiam scripserunt, tantam esse ἀσεργίαν in Corvo, ut propter deformitatem, aut quod recens nati albescant per aliquot dies deserat pullos implumes, quos interea Deus alat mirabiliter vermiculis natis ex stercoribus & ex cadaverum carnibus in nidos congestis, donec nigrescant. Id verum sit, an non, in medio relinquo. Certè huc alludere videtur Psalmus & Job, c. 39. &c. Hen. Moller. Prælect. in Psal. 147. 9.

Quærunt Hebræi, cur pullorum corvorum mentio fiat potissimum? Hanc adferre soleat rationem, Quod ij, statim ut nati sunt, à parentibus deserantur, qui illos, quippe albos, pro suis non agnoscant. Omitto quod Rasi è veteribus Rabbinis addit, tunc è stercoribus natas muscas aut vermes (nam יהושין Jattuschin, quid significet, ambigitur.) in eorum os. divinâ regente providentiâ, sese ingerere. Ista vera sint, necne in medio relinquo. Certè aliquid oportet esse, quod sententiæ ex libro Job allatæ locum dederit.

Plinius non longe abit ab Hebræis qui in Natural. Hiſtoriâ oblivioſos eſſe Corves ſcribit, & plerunque minimè ad nidos ſuos reverti: ſed quadam ratione inſtinctaque Naturæ hæc congerere ad ſuos nidos, quæ vermes poſſint creare, ex quibus relicti eorum pulli aluntur interdum. Alij cenſent, id quod forteſſe magis eſt in promptu, Synechdochicè ex corvis univerſum volucrum genus eſt intelligendum. Sim. de Muis in Comment. ad Pſal. 147. 9.

III. An Exhortation, directed to a ſpecial ſort of perſons whoſe duty it is more peculiarly to praiſe the LORD, viz. To Gods own Church and people, in Jeruſalem and Sion, ſingular Types of Gods Church and people, verſe 12, &c. Where note,

1. The Object to be praiſed: Deſcribed, 1. By his ſupream eſſence; The LORD. 2. By his Covenant-Relation to them; Thy God.

2. The Acts to be performed to this Object, 1. Praiſe. 2. Laud. Which in the Hebrew ſeems to be more emphatical: as was noted on Pſalme 117. 1.

3. The parties who are to performe theſe Acts of Duty; Jeruſalem: Sion: ver. 12.

4 The Arguments or Motives inducing to this performance of praiſe to God. Drawn

(1) From Gods ſingular bleſſings upon Jeruſalem and the Kingdome; viz. 1. Strengthening the Barres of Jeruſalem's Gates: protecting her. 2. Bleſſing her Citizens or Inhabitants: called her ſonnes within her, verſe 13 3. Stabliſhing Peace in her border: in her Land and Kingdome. 4. Abundantly ſtoring her with plenty of food: fat of wheat Synechdochically being put for all food, or neceſſary proviſion, ver. 14.

(2) From Gods Providence ſeaſonably ordering the courſe of Nature, in the viciſſitudes of natural things, for their good. Here are laid down, I. The Cauſe of all natural revolutions and viciſſitudes; His edict, and word running ſwiftly on Earth; i. e. the efficacious and ſpeedy force of his command, of his All-ruling providence whereby he effectually and ſpeedily, even as by a word of command, orders and alters all things, ver. 15. II. The viciſſitudes and alterations of natural things themſelves. 1. He brings Winter at his pleaſure; (1) Giving Snow, like Wool. (2) Scattering-abroad the Hoare-froſt like aſhes, ver. 16. (3) Caſting-forth his ice, like morſels. Which is illuſtrated by the extremity of his cold. Thus he turnes Summer into Winter, ver. 17. 2. He contrariwiſe, at a word, brings the Spring, diſſolving the winters cold and froſt by his ſoft-windes making a kindly thaw, and turning them again into waters, ver. 18.

(3) But eſpecially, From Gods peculiar favour to Iſrael, his Church and People, in conferring upon them Spirituals, viz. His Ordinances; 1. His Words: i. e. His ten Words, (as his ten Commandements the Moral-Law is ſtiled, Deut 4 13) 2. His Statutes: i e. His Ceremonial-Lawes. 3. His Judgments: i. e. his judicial Law, ver. 19. All which he Amplyfies, by an Antitheſis between his dealing, in regard of his Lawes and ſpiritual Ordinances farre otherwiſe with Iſrael, then with any other Nation in the World, to all which his Ordinances and Judgments were not vouchſafed nor known. And ſo he concludes the Pſalme, as he began it, with an Exhortation to divine praiſes; Halelu-JAH, ver. 20.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Outward Forme or Manner of penning it, is Untituled; having no Title prefixed to it in the Hebrew. The Greek Verſion prefixeth this Title; Halelu-Jah of Haggai and Zachary. So alſo the Æthiopick Verſion. The Syriack hath it; Of Haggai and Zachary [f]. But as Lyra notes, this ſeems done by ſome Tranſlator or Expoſitor. And in this Pſalme there ſeems no colour at all for referring it to Haggai or Zechary [t]. 2. As to the Subject-Matter of it, it is Mixt, Laudatory and Hortatory: and is wholly ſpent in Exhortations and Invitations of all ſorts of Creatures, Superiour and Inferiour, to the Divine praiſes of the LORD, for his power, wiſdom, goodneſs, &c. ſhining-forth in his works, but eſpecially in his Collection, Protection, and Affection towards his Church and People Iſrael. Not onely Angels and Men, but even all mute Creatures, made with wonderful wiſdome, and continuing in their ranks and orders wherein they were created, do in their kinde praiſe the LORD: The Rational Creatures, by Speech;

[f] Vid. in Bibl. Polyglot. ad Pſ. 148.

[t] Nic. de Lyra in poſtil. ad Pſ. 148

The irrational, by Silence representing the wonderful work-manship of their Creator. So that as one saith u; They are tacit Praisers of his great Workmanship and loud Preachers.

u Σιγῶντες ἐπαινέται τῆς μεγαλουργίας καὶ ἀναφωνητοι κηρυκες Greg. in Orat. in Nativ. Christ.

Penman of this Psalme, is not certainly known.

Occasion of Writing it, is as uncertain. David is supposed to be the Penman of it, and upon that General occasion forementioned on Psalme 145. §. 3.

Scope is evident; viz. To invite and incite all sorts of Creatures Superior and Inferiour to praise the LORD in their kinde, and set forth his wonderful perfections and Excellencies: The LORD having made all Creatures for the manifestation of his matchless Glory.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

The Invitation or Exhortation to the Creatures to Praise the LORD, is laid down in this Psalme, More Generally, and More Specially.

I. More Generally, to all sorts; Praise-yee-JAH. With which the Psalme begins and ends.

II. More Specially, to the special sorts of Creatures. Which are here distributed into Superiour, and Inferiour.

1. The Superiour Creatures, i.e. The Celestial Creatures, are exhorted to praise God, in and from the Heavens, verse 1. &c. Here we are to note,

(1) The Distribution of the Superiour and Celestial Creatures, which are to praise the LORD. And they are, 1 In the third Heaven; Angels. And his Angelical Hosts, verse 2. 2. In the second Heaven; Sun, Moon, and Stars of light, verse 3. 3 The first Heavens, called; the Heavens of Heavens, i.e. The lowest and meanest of Heavens. think some x, As the Servant of Servants imports the meanest and most inferiour Servant. To take this for the highest Heavens, as some do y, I cannot so well approve: both because those Heavens were mentioned before, in verse 1 2 and also because that which here follows; the Waters above the Heavens, leads us rather to the former Interpretation. The Creatures in these Heavens, are; The Waters contained in the Clouds of Heaven. verse 4.

x Jo. Foord in Exposit. Psal. 148. 4.

y Nic. de Lyra in Ps. 148. 4

(2) The Causes or Reasons why these superior Creatures must praise the LORD, are; 1. Because, he created them, by his Word of Command, verse 5. 2. Because, he hath permanently established them in their State. 3 Because, He hath appointed to every of them A Statute or Rule, which shall not be passed, verse 6.

2. The Inferiour, or Terrestrial Creatures, are exhorted, &c. verse 7. Here also you have

(1) The Distribution of the Inferiour Creatures exhorted to praise the LORD. And they are either, I Aquatile. As, 1. Dragons. i.e. Huge Sea-fishes, Whales, &c. 2. And all Deeps, wherein they live. verse 7. II. Aerial; as the Meteors, 1. Fire. viz. in thundring and lightning &c. 2. Haile 3 Snow. 4 Vapour. 5. Stormy Winde, or Whirlewind. All which are Amplyfied, by their subjection to Gods all ruling Word, verse 8, III Terrestrial. And these are, 1 Creatures Insensitive, without sense; As (1) Mountains (2.) Hills. (3) Fruit Trees (4) Timber Trees, as Cedars, verse 9. 2. Creatures Sensitive, but Irrational. As, (1) The Wild Beast. (2) All Cattel. (3) The Creeping-thing (4) The feathered fowl, verse 10. 3. The Rational Creature, Mankind: And these of whatsoever (1) Order; Kings, Subjects, Princes, Judges, verse 11. (2) Sex; Men, or Maids. (3) Age; Old men with children, verse 12

(2) The Reasons why all these are Exhorted to Praise the LORD. viz. 1 Because The Name of the LORD alone is most highly advanced, and his Glorious Majesty is farre above both Earth and Heaven, verse 13. 2. Because, He Exalts the Horne of his people. He Exalts their Power, Glory, &c. Amplyfied by the fruit, effect or Consequent thereof; The praise of all his Saints. i.e. Which Glory or Horne so Exalted is their Praise: Or, Which is and should be an Argument, and Matter of praise to them. 3. Because. He hath brought his people Israel near unto himself in Covenant, Holy Relations, and sweet Communion. And so he concludes the Psalme as he began with an Hortatory Halelu-JAH. ver. 14.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Pſalme, 1. As to the Mode and Outward Forme of writing it, is Untituled: having no Title prefixed in the Hebrew-Original. 2. As to the Matter of it, It is Mixt: Hortatory and Laudatory. Yea Exhorting Iſrael to an Extraordinary lauding of the LORD, for his eminent bleſſings upon his People, and the great power they ſhall have over their Conquered Enemies. Under which Corporal power ſome [h] conceive the Pſalmiſt ſhadows out that excellent Spiritual power which the Church ſhall exert and inflict upon the ungodly by the Doctrine and other Ordinances of Chriſt after his incarnation, Matth. 16. 19. Joh. 20. 23. 1 Cor. 5. throughout. And ſo they account this Pſalme in part Prophetical. This Power of the Saints over their Enemies, ſome [i] referre to their judging of the World with Chriſt at his ſecond coming, According to that of the Apoſtle: Do yee not know that the Saints ſhall judge the World? ——Know yee not that we ſhall judge Angels? 1 Cor. 6. 2, 3. And ſome [k] interpet this their power, of their Corporal, Spiritual, and laſt Glorious power over their Enemies at the Judgement-day. for for his love to the Church. And for that Power which he hath given to the Church to Rule the Consciences of men.] And yet here they have unadvisedly and dangerously described that power: Seeing it is Gods sole Prerogative to Rule the Consciences of men.

Penman of this Psalme, is not certainly to be determined upon.

l Jo. Ford in Expos Ps 145. *Sim. de Muis in Arg. Ps.*149.

Occasion of it is also as Uncertain. They, l who think this Psalme was written upon occasion of Davids victorious subduing of his Heathen-Enemies round about him, and of his taking care for the Ark, solemn Assemblyes, publick worship of God, and the House of God, that they all might be set in order, 2 Sam. 5. and 6. and 7. and 8. are of Opinion that David was Penman of it, As I formerly noted on Psal. 145. §. 3. Others m suppose that this Psalme was penned by some other Prophet, a little before or not long after the Jews deliverance from the Babylonish Captivity. And that then they were to sing New Songs, and to frequent solemne Assemblyes of Saints, as verse 1. Which they could not do in a Strangers Land. And that their victories over their Babylonian Enemies, that had long oppressed them, were but Præludium's and Pledges to them of their greater Victories for the future, especially under the Messiah, that should subdue all Nations to him and his Church by the Gospel, &c. verse 6, 7, 8, 9. I leave all in medio for the judicious to ponder upon.

m Jo Calvin. in Arg. & Com. ad Psal. 149. Hen. Moller. in Arg. & Prælect. ad Ps 149.

Scope of this Psalme, is; to exhort and incite the Church of God his Israel, to celebrate the LORD with eminent and extraordinary Praises, both for his singular favours vouchsafed unto them, and for the victorious Power which they shall obtain and exercise over even the greatest of their Enemies, according to his written Word: And this not onely Corporally, but also and especially Spiritually.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

As in the former Psalme All sorts of Creatures are invited and exhorted to praise God ordinarily: So in this Psalme The Israel of God and Sons of Sion, even the whole Church and People of God, are exhorted to Praise the LORD, and that Extraordinarily. As that, so this Psalme begins and ends with Halelu-JAH: and is wholly bestowed in Divine praises, and forceible inducements to these praises In this Psalme therefore are especially two Parts.

I. An Exhortation of the Church and people of God solemnly to Praise the LORD, ver. 1. &c. This praise whereto they are Exhorted, is Described

1. By the Object of it, to whom it is due and to be performed, viz. God, who is here set forth by, 1. His essential Name; JEHOVAH. 2. His Name of efficiency; His Makero. Whether it be understood, Absolutè, absolutely in respect of Creation: Or Secundum quid, Respectively in some respect onely, as he was the Author of their Redemption, Deliverance, Prosperity, &c. The sense amounts much to one. In the Hebrew the word is plural; His Makers o. Which some think is so put for Honours sake: Others, to insinuate the Mystery of the Trinity, Father, Son, and Holy-Ghost. 3. His name of Government; their King, viz. To Reign over them, Rule and Govern them as his People, by his peculiar providence, and Spiritual influence of his Word and Spirit. In all these are chouched tacit Arguments and Motives to the praising of God.

u Sim. de Muis in Com. ad Psal. 149. 2.

o In factore suo, Hebraice ad verbum legi, in factoribus sui, In numero multitudinis pro singulari, Honoris ergo, sicuti observat Kimchi, quasi male profert ex Job 35. 10. Ubi est Deus qui fecit me, seu factor meus, ad verbum, factores mei? Idem censent Esræ &alii. Geneb. in veritate Hebraica affirmat apertum esse Mysterium S. Trinitatis, &c. Sim. de Muis in Com. ad Psal. 149. 2.

2. By the General Quality of this praise. Which must be exquisite, singular, and extraordinary; A New Song.

3. By the solemnity of it. It must be performed publickly; in the Church or Congregation of Saints. Which imports a promise or prophecy of Restauration of Gods publick Worship and Ordinances, and of the solemn Church-assemblyes. And may suite to Davids dayes: or to the Captives return from Babylon.

4. By the Acts of praise, or Adjuncts thereunto Annexed. viz. 1. Inwardly, Rejoyceing, Gladsomness. 2. Outwardly, Singing. Praising. Using of Musical Instruments to stir up their affections as Flute, Timbrel, Harp.

5. By the Subiects of this Duty, The partyes Exhorted thereunto, viz. Israel, The Sons of Sion. Even the whole Church of God among the Jewes. Analogically, All the Churches of Christ also among the Nations according to the New-Testament-way of praysing the LORD, for these and like mercies, hinted in this Psalme. All these particulars are interwoven, and evidently contained in ver. 1, 2, 3.

[His Makers] The Father, the Word and the Holy-Ghost; which three are one, 1 Joh. 5. 7. The mystery of the Trinity is in the Hebrew phrase; So in many others, As; Let us make man in our Image, Gen. 1. 26. Where is God my Makers? Job. 35. 10. Thy Makers is thine Husbands, Isai. 54. 5. Remember thy Creators, Eccles. 12. 1. and sundry the like. God also is our Maker both in Nature, and Grace. See Ps. 100. 3. H. Ainsw. in his Annot. on Ps. 149. 2.

II. The Arguments or Reasons why the Church should thus praise the LORD, verse 4. &c. And they are drawn,

1. From consideration of the LORD's singular and extraordinary favours towards his people. As, 1. His great love unto his People. taking pleasure in them. This the fountain of all his blessings. 2. His Salvation, and deliverance from evils and Enemies, promised and performed to the meek. This is Amplyfied, by the Adjunct Beauty or Glory attending such their Salvation, verse 4 3. The singular and eminent matter of joy which he will vouchsafe unto his Saints. Amplyfied, by (1) The Acts thereof; Being gladsome, and shouting-joyfully. (2.) The Adjunct of it; in Glory. Or, with Glory. Denoting the high degree and eminency of their joy. (3) The subject-place, where; upon their Beds, in their private retirements, verse 5.

2. From Consideration of the Victories and extraordinary Power which his Church and Saints shall have over their Enemies. Here, I. The eminency of their Praises of the LORD, are described by, 1. Their Nature, The Exaltations of God. 2. Their vehemency; in their throat. i. e. aloud spoken of, vehemently commemorated, verse 6. beginning. II. Their Victories and Power over their Enemies, the Arguments of such praise, are set forth and illustrated, 1. By the Instrumental means thereof; A two-edged Sword in their hand. Heb. A Sword of two mouths. The Root being Emphatically doubled in the Hebrew Word, verse 6. 2. By the Objects of their victories and power, their Enemies described by, (1) Their Multitude and Quality; Heathens; People. (2) Their Magnitude and Dignity; Kings: Nobles. 3. By the Acts of their Victory and Power; (1.) Doing vengeance on Heathens. (2.) Doing Corrections or Rebukes upon the People. Real rebukes, not verbal. (3.) Binding Captiv'd Kings in chaines, and Nobles in fetters of Iron, ver. 7, 8. 4. By the Limitation or Regulation of all this Power. It must be, (1) Judgement. (2) Judgement written. Judgement according to the rule of Gods written Word: not of private passion or revenge. 5. By the Honour and high-Dignity which is thus devolved by the LORD upon all his Saints. Now an intentive and judicious eye may easily discerne, That all these Particulars may be acccommodated to Israel in Davids dayes, or to the Jews about the time of their returne from the Babylonish Captivity, when the Glorious Lord so wonderfully dashed in pieces the power of all their Enemies, delivered them from them, and gave them power over them. And, that all these passages from ver. 6. &c. may be expounded, not onely Literally touching Israels Corporal Victories over their Corporal Enemies, Heathens, &c. but also Spiritually and Mystically touching the Spiritual victories and power which the Church and Saints of God, in all after-ages since Christ, and to and at the end of World, shall have and exercise over their Spiritual Enemies according to his Word, by Jesus Christ assisting them. After all this the Psalmist closeth up this Psalme, as he began, with his Hortatory Halelu-JAH, verse 9.

Psalme CL.

§. I. The Summary Contents.

In this last Psalme closing up the whole Book of Psalmes, the Psalmist, 1. Exhorts to Praise the LORD for sundry his Excellent Perfections and Actions, verse 1. 2. 2. Directs and invites to manage his Praises, (1) With all sorts of Musical Instruments, verse 3, 4, 5. (2) With all breath, verse 6.

§. II. The Version out of the Hebrew.

§. III. The Kinde, Penman, Occasion, and Scope.

The Kinde of this Psalme, is; 1. As to the Outward Mode or Forme of penning it, Untituled. No Title being prefixed hereunto in the Hebrew. 2. As to the Order of it, Last. Concluding this precious Book of Hymnes or Praises, with the praises of the LORD emphatically. And beginning, as also ending with that Laudatory Halelu-Jah. 3. As to the Subject-Matter of it, Mixt, Laudatory and Hortatory. Exhorting unto the Holy praises of the LORD, most pathetically. It speaks nothing almost but Praise. The word [Praise] is used in this short Psalme thirteen Times, as Kimchi [i] observes: He saith it is in respect of Gods thirteen Attributes, whereby he Governs the world. And nine Musical Instruments are here mentioned to praise the LORD withal, viz. such as were in use under the Old Testament, during the Churches Minority, God appointing them an outwardly pompous and glorious way of Worship, thereby to detain them in his own Service, and preserve them from the Idolatrous-worships of the Heathens. This Psalme is probably thought, saith one [k], to be peculiarly directed and intended to the Levites, whose office it was peculiarly to celebrate the LORD'S praises with musical Instruments in the house of God. Whence it was, that the Levites were wont mutually to incite one another thereunto by this Psalme. Unto these nine Musical Instruments, Voices, or Breath, is added, as transcending them all, ver. 6. Under these Musical Instruments Figuratively or Typically as some [l] conceive) are set forth the perfections and excellencies that should be in Divine Praises, which we ought to performe with all possible zeal, care, joy, alacrity, and variety. And, whereas after the Exhortation to praise God with all sorts of Musical Instruments, which was more peculiar to the Jewes and Old Testament-worship, he adds; Let every Breath praise Jah: This is supposed by Calvin [m], to contain a tacit Prophecy in it, of Gods adding the Gentiles and joyning them at last in one Symphony with the Jewes, to worship God with the daily Sacrifice of Praises, till at last being gathered into the Kingdome of Heaven, they shall with the Elect Angels sing unto the LORD a perpetual Halelu-Jah. And thus this Psalme may in part be accounted Prophetical.

[i] Sim. de Muis in Arg. Ps. 150. Illa attributa non recenset.

[k] Sim. de Muis in Arg. Ps. 150.

[m] Jo. Calv. in Com. ad Psal. 150. 6.

Penman of it, is supposed by some to be David.

Occasion, is thought to be his extraordinary joy and enlargement of heart, for Gods wonderful and manifold goodnes to him, in bringing him at last to the Throne, subjecting his people under him, subduing his enemies to him, and adding many spiritual favours to him, &c. As was noted on Psal. 145 §. 3.

Scope, is; To exhort Gods people, but especially the Levites, to praise God for his singular perfections and actions, with all sorts of Musical-Instruments, and with all Breath: without the cordial concurrence whereof, no Musical-Instruments are of any account at all with God.

§. IV. The Analysis, or Principal Parts.

In this Laudatory Epilogue or Conclusion of this whole Book of Psalmes, are

I. An Earnest and most Vehement Exhortation to praise the LORD, thirteen several times repeated in these few words, especially for his excellent perfections and actions. As. 1 In, or For his Sanctity, or Holinesse. Some render it; Holy-place: i.e. Heaven: His glorious Sanctuary. The former Interpretation seems better: For his Holinesse. 2. In or For his wonderful Power or Strength, singularly manifested in the Out-spread-Firmament. Thence called, The Firmament of his Strength, Wherein his power still shines to the perpetual wonder of the world, ver. 1. 3 In, or for his Power, or powerful Acts: viz. In sustentation and administration of all things, ever since the Creation, especially the affairs of his Church. 4. According to his mighty Majesty, or multitude of his Greatnesse: discovered for his peoples benefit against all evils and enemies, ver 2.

II. A Direction and Invitation to his people, how and in what manner they should externally praise him: viz.

1. With all sorts of Musical Instruments. As, 1. The Trumpet. 2. The Psaltery. 3. The Harp, ver 3. 4. The Timbrel: or Drumme. 5. The Flute. 6. Stringed-Instruments. This is comprehensive. Some render it; Virginals. Scarce so well. The word so rendered being too too much restrained in its sense. 7. The Organ. Heb. A lovely-Instrument, the-delightful Instrument. Fitly so stiled, for it is one of the most pleasant and joyful, Job 21. 12. and 30. 31. This, and the Harp, are of all other the most ancient Musical-Instruments mentioned in any Author, or in the Bible it self, which is most Ancient, Gen 4. 21. ver. 4. 8. Well-sounding Cymbals. 9 Loud-sounding Cymbals, ver. 5. Now all these more specially had reference to the Levites, and the manner of the Worship under the Old Testament, while the Church was in her Minority. Whether now under the New Testament it be lawful or convenient to worship the LORD in our publique Church-Assemblies with such Instrumental-Musick? Consult the Authors alledged here in the Margin, for brevity sake.

Hieron. Zanch in Explic. Epist. ad Ephes. c. 5. 19 20. Loc. De Musica in Eccles. p. 102, &c. Tom. 6. Genev. 1617. Pet. Martyr. in loc. Commun. class. 3. cap. 13. §. 25. &c.

2. With all breath, or voices. Let every breath praise JAH: i. e. Either, Every Creature that hath breath, compare Rev 5. 13. Or, rather, every breath of mankinde in all Nations of the Gentiles as well as Jewes: Let them all joyn harmoniously, as it were in one Consort, to praise the LORD. And so it tacitly prophecyeth of the Calling of the Gentiles, and their Incorporation into one body with the Jewes, to sing Halelu-JAH to the LORD. And so hee closeth up this Psalm, and therewith this whole Book of Psalmes, And therewith I desire (with all thankfulness to the LORD that performeth all things for mee) to shut up this my Exposition and Elucidation of this whole Book, with that triumphant and heavenly word, Halelu-JAH, ver. 6. Halelu-JAH: and again I say; Halelu-JAH.

These sweetest Psalmes begin with, The happinesses of the godly, Psal. 1. 1, 2, 3. They end with the Halelu-JAH's of the Saints, Psal. 146, 147, 148, 149, 150. True Godliness leads to blessedness: both godlinesse and blessednesse terminate in Halelu-JAH's. We do but stammer-out, Halelu-JAH, on Earth: We shall perfectly speak-out, triumphantly shrill-out, Halelu-JAH in Heaven. O when shall we once ascend up thither, where Halelu-JAH shall both begin and end our praises: yea where our Halelu-JAH shall once begin, but never end. Where all the Angels shall sing, Halelu-JAH: and all the glorified Saints shall Answer them; Amen, Halelu-JAH. Where the whole Heavens shall victoriously ring with Halelu-JAH. Where the Beatifick Vision and fruition of our God in Christ immediately face to face shall even intrance and ravish us into an eternal Halelu-JAH to him that sits upon the Throne, and to the Lamb for ever and for ever. O how my Soul longs to hear, yea to bear a part in that Celestial Melody: Tune up mine heart still more and more to all intensivnes in these desires. Make haste, my beloved, and be thou like to a Roe, or to a young Hart upon the Mountains of Spices, Cant. 8. 14. Lord Christ thou hast said; Surely I come quickly. And mine heart returnes the Eccho; Amen, Even so, Come LORD JESUS, Revel. 22. 20.

Amen, Halelu-JAH.

Proverbs.

§. I. Order.

THus of the DOCTRINAL Book compiled especially by King David, viz. The Book of PSALMES. Next consider we of those Doctrinal Books which were penned by King Solomon,[a] the wisest of Kings, and a special [b] Type of Jesus Christ, the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings. King Solomon's Books (according to the several Doctrines and Subject-matters contained in them) are either, 1. Proverbial, as PROVERBS. 2. Penitential, as ECCLESIASTES. 3. Nuptial, touching the Espousals of Solomon and Pharaoh's daughter, the Type; of Christ and his Church, the Truth; as SONG OF SONGS, or CANTICLES. Of all the Books which Solomon wrote, these three onely are received (said [c] Augustine) as Canonical.

a 1 King. 3. 12. and 4. 29.

b See Ps. 45. throughout, and Cant. 3. 6. to 11.

c Post hunc regnavit eidem populo universo Solomon ejus filius, qui ut supra dictum est, patre suo vivente cœpit regnare. Hic bonis initiis malos exitus habuit: Quippe secundæ res, quæ sapientium animos fatigant, magis huic obfuerunt, quàm profuit ipsa sapientia, etiam nunc & deinceps memorabilis, & tunc longè latèque laudata. Prophetâsse etiam ipse reperitur in suis libris, qui tres recepti sunt in auctoritatem Canonicam: Proverbia, Ecclesiastes, & Canticum Canticorum. Alii verò duo, quorum unus Sapientia, alter Ecclesiasticus dicitur, propter eloquii nonnullam similitudinem, ut Solomonis dicantur, obtinuit consuetudo. Non autem esse ipsius non dubitant doctiores, &c. Aug. de Civ. Dei, l. 17. c. 20. Tom. 5. Videatur etiam ibid. Lud. Vives.

§. II. Time.

It is hard to say certainly at what time these several Books were penn'd by Solomon. Some are of opinion, that Ecclesiastes and Canticles were written in Solomon's old age after his Repentance. Probably it may be thought, (as the matter of the Books intimate) Canticles was penned in his younger [d] years, when his affections were more warme, active, lively in Spirituals, in sweet experimental communion with Christ: Proverbs, in his ripe, manly age, when his prudence and parts were at highest, most clear, grave, solid, setled: And Ecclesiastes in his old-age, after all the vain courses wherein he had so miserably lost himself, whereupon he penned these his Penitential Retractations.

§. III. Name.

I. Solomon's Proverbial Book is called the PROVERBS OF SOLOMON; because though it contain other's Proverbs, yet most are Solomon's. In Hebrew, משלי שלמה Mishle Shelomoh, viz. either Similitudes, or excelling sentences, that for their wisdome, weight, excellency, overcome and bear rule over the rest; from mashal, which notes dominion.

§. IV. Penman.

This Book was penned, probably, not by one, but by divers: and that not at one, but at several times. Solomon penned the [e] nine first Chapters, in that Order as they are,

e T. Cartwright Com in Prov. 10 1.

are, as also c. 10. to c. 25. Solomon was Author of the Proverbs also, from c. 25. to c. 30. But [f] the men of Hezekiah King of Judah copied them out. Probably, they collected them out of [g] other writings of Solomon, and ranked them in this Order wherein we now have them. [h] Junius thinks they extracted these Proverbs out of the Records of the Acts of Solomon, and digested them into a Body; most of these Proverbs appertaining to Ethical and Civil Administration.

h Jun. Annot. in Prov. 25. 1.

The thirtieth chapter was penned by [i] Agur sonne of Jakeh. Of him we reade elsewhere no further mention in Scripture. He was [k] a Prophet, His Proverbial Prophecy is annexed to Solomon's Proverbs, perhaps because of mutual resemblance between them.

i Prov. 30. 1.
k Prov. 30. 1.

The 31. chapter contains the Proverbial Instructions, with which Bathsheba trained up Solomon (here called Lemuel,) in his tender years, which Instructions K. Solomon committed afterwards to writing; as [l] learned men judge.

§. V. Scope.

The Scope of this Book of PROVERBS is, To instruct men in deepest mysteries of all true wisdome and understanding, the height and perfection whereof is, The true knowledg of Gods will, and the sincere fear of the LORD.

To this end this Book is filled with choice succinct Sententious Aphorismes, Adages or Proverbs, compendiously comprizing in themselves distinct Doctrines, Duties, &c. of piety to God, Equity and Charity to man, and of Sobriety towards our selves. Hence [m] Augustine—The Book of Proverbs rightly understood, is almost all of force to informe pious manners

m Ac primum de proverbiis, qui liber si bene intelligatur ad mores pios informandos pene totus valeoit. Aug. spec. p. 928. B. Tom. 3. Basil. 1569.

Other Books of Scripture, like a curious web of silk or gold, have a Methodical contexture in them, one thing being so enterwoven with, and depending upon another, that they cannot be opened, or understood, without one another. But this Book, for the greatest part of it, like an Heap of pearls, a costly Box of Gold-rings, or rich Cabinet of Jewels and precious stones, is without all such contexture or dependance, every Proverb making an entire sense of it self, without others.

§. VI. Principal Parts.

In the Book of PROVERBS consider, 1. The General-Preface to the whole Book. 2. The Substance of the Book it self.

The GENERAL PREFACE to the whole Book of Proverbs in the nine first chapters, which hath a methodical texture and coherence in it self; wherein note, 1. The Inscription. 2. The Proposition.

I. The Inscription, containing, 1. The title denoting the name and principal Penman of this Book, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Scope or intent of the Book, ver. 2. to 7.

II. The maine Proposition contained in this whole Preface laid down, 1. More Generally. 2. More Particularly.

1. More Generally, and Summarily, viz. 1. In the fear of the LORD as the head and root of all; 2. In Wisdome and Instruction, as the Members or Branches thereof, ver. 7.

2. More Particularly, these things are opened and urged in all that followes, viz. 1. Doctrines of true wisdome in c. 1, 2, 3, 4. 2. Doctrines of Prudence for obtaining and retaining true wisedome, in chap. 5. and 6. 3. Confirmation of all these Doctrines both of Wisdome and Prudence in ch. 7, 8, and 9.

I. Doctrines of true Wisdome, are divers, viz. I. That wisedome and instruction is to be hearkened to, and held fast, chap 1. ver. 8. This is urged upon divers grounds, as, 1. The commodity of wisdom, ver. 9. 2. The Discommodity and mischief of foolish sinful wayes, ver. 10. to 20. 3. Wisdom's loud and earnest invitation of all to accept it, ver. 20. to the end of the chap. 4. Manifold alluring promises, to such as duly incline to and search after wisdome, Chap. II. throughout.

II. That true wisdome consists in our true fear, faith, and obedience to the LORD, denying our own understanding, sense, and carnal studies. Chap. III. 1. to 13. Which therefore are urged, 1. By promises to, and praises of this wisdom, ver. 13. to 27. 2. By threatnings and dispraises of the contrary, ver. 27. to the end of the chap. 3. By Solomons own inviting example, Ch. IV. 1. to 5. 4. By many sweet benefits promised to this wisdome, ver. 5. to 14. 5. By the great disparity betwixt the condition of the godly wise, that fear God, &c. and wicked fools that fear him not, &c. ver. 14. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. I.
CHAP. II.
CHAP. III.
CHAP. IV.

II. Doctrines of Prudence, for gaining and retaining true wisdom. Herein Solomon, I. Dissuades from divers evils oppofite to true wisdom; as 1. From pursuing carnal lusts after strange women, men, Ch. V. throughout. 2. From imprudent and inconsiderate Acts or Offices, Chap. VI. 1. to 6. 3. From sloth, and sluggish negligence in Duties, ver. 6. to 12. 4. From wickedness in departing from well-doing, ver. 12. to 20. II. Perswades to the contrary studies and endeavours, ver. 20. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. V.
CHAP. VI.

III Confirmation of all these Doctrines both of Wisdome and Prudence, 1. From an example or instance of a foolish young man, whom Solomon himself had observed to be brought to misery by whorish enticements, Chap. VII. throughout. 2. From the Testimony of God, and his Eternal wisdome, viz. the Son of God, admirably describing himself as most desirous to be accepted, and if accepted able to make allsufficiently happy, Chap. VIII. throughout, and Chap. IX. verse 1. to 13. illustrated by the opposite folly of being ensnared with strange women, ver. 13. to the end of the chap.

CAHP. VII.
CHAP. VIII.
CHAP IX.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Book it self contains certain compendious Adages, select Proverbs, full of wisdome and knowledge, wholly independent on one another; and therefore it's a vain thing to think to find any Order or Method among them. Only we might easily reduce and refer them to several Heads or Ranks, and so bring some method to them. [n] Some thus Methodize the Proverbs.

II.

The PROVERBS contain either,

J. Ethicks, or Morals, viz. Matters appertaining to Moral vertues, especially to the 4 cheif cardinal vertues. 1. Prudence. 2. Justice. 3. Temperance. 4. Fortitude.

II. Politicks, viz. Matters belonging to Civil Polities, the Governours and Government thereof. Here are many things concerning, 1. Kings. 2. Counsellours of State. 3. Subjects.

III. Oeconomicks, viz. Matters appertaining to Domestical or Family-Relations, as 1. Husbands and Wives. 2. Parents and Children. 3. Master and Servants.

Some [o] refer the Proverbs to the Decalogue, shewing the mutual Relation betwixt the Proverbs and the Decalogue, in distinct Tables, partly refering the several Proverbs to the several Commandements, partly applying the several Commandements to the several Proverbs. Both which wayes are very useful.

Now these Proverbs were either

1. Solomons own Proverbs, 1. Written and digested by himself. As all those Proverbs from Chap. X. verse 1. *to Chap. Ecclesiastes.

§. I. Order, and Name.

II. SOLOMON's Penitential Book is Ecclesiastes. Touching the Order of it, See before the Proverbs. As for the Name of it, The Hebrews call it דברי קהלת Dibre Kohelcth, viz. THE WORDS OF THE PREACHER, as it is translated in our Bibles: or of the CONGREGATOR, or Gatherer-together, as the Hebrew imports from קהל Kahal, to Congregate, Gather together, or Assemble. And (as [a] Mercerus notes) this Root properly intends the Congregating of men, not of other things. The Hebrews commonly conceive, Solomon is here called the Assembler, Congregator, or Gatherer together; because he so gathered wisdom together. But rather, because Solomon uttered his words openly in an Ecclesiastical Assembly gathered together, Preached to an Assembly, &c. as Buxtorfius, [b] Mercerus after Midras, think. Hence that of Solomon's [c] assembling the Elders together at the bringing up of the Ark, is alledged. And upon like grounds our Translators seem to have translated it, Preacher; because Solomon assembled the people together, that he might speak or preach heavenly wisdome unto them. In the Heb. this word is not in the Masculine, but in the Feminine Gender; and so may be translated exactly, The Congregatrix, or the Preachereſſe. But why ſhould this word be thus given to Solomon in the Feminine Gender? Anſw 1. Not (as [d] ſome think) becauſe Solomon penned this Book being now very old, when his ſtrength was languiſhing and weak like a womans, (though he wrote this Book in his old age.) 2. Nor as any peculiar Dialect of this tongue, uſing this word ſometimes femininely, as [e] סופרת Sophereth, a Feminine word aſcribed to a man. 3. But either in reference to that wiſdome which was in Solomon; as if not ſo much Solomon, as Wiſdome it ſelf, ſpake here, which in the Proverbs is brought in as ſpeaking; or in reference to Solomon's ſoule, which was his better part. Both which come much to one, thinks that learned [f] Mercerus, and [g] Buxtorfius. In Greek, ἐκκλησιάστης. As in Latine, Eccleſiaſtes; in Engliſh, the Preacher: becauſe Solomon being furniſhed with extraordinary Wiſdome, upon his own manifold ſad experience touching the vanity of all things in this World, beſides the Religion and the ſincere fear of God, preacheth the ſame to the Church for the inſtruction and warning of all Gods people by his own example.

§. II. Penman and time of writing.

That K. Solomon was Penman of this Book, is evident by the Hebrew Title prefixed The words of Eccleſiaſtes, [or, the Preacher] ſon of David, King in Jeruſalem, Now David had no ſon King in Jeruſalem, but Solomon. The ſtile alſo, and manner of expreſſion throughout the Book confirms the ſame, becauſe the Author of this Book reciting his experiments with the creature, ſpeaks of them in the [g] firſt perſon, as his own ſad experiments: which were peculiar to Solomon, as the things themſelves evidence.

Solomon ſeems to to have written this Book in his extream old-age, as one of his laſt acts, 2 Chron. 9. 29. For the Subject-matter of the Book plainly intimateth, it was penned both after Solomons fall, and after or upon his riſing again by Repentance which was towards his latter end. Learned [h] Writers alſo conſent herein.

§. III. Scope.

Scope of this Book, is plainly to demonſtrate wherein Mans true happineſs conſiſts viz. 1. Negatively, [i] not in enjoyment of any natural ſublunary created excellency whatſoever: all worldly things, honours, pleaſures, riches, accidents, ſucceſſions, &c. all humane affaires, ſtudies, counſels, affections, &c. being (through ſin) not permanent, but tranſient; not ſatisfying, but altogether vanity in themſelvs, and vexation unto us: And therefore we ſhould not ſet our hearts inordinately upon thoſe falſe imaginary felicities, but rather content our ſelves with a comfortable tranſitory enjoyment of tranſitories, without crakings, covetouſneſs, or other ſelf-diſquietings, providently managing our affaires, and regulating our actions and affections in wiſdome in midſt of all the changes and revolutions of the World. 2. Affirmatively, In the enjoyment of God, in his true fear and obedience; Meditating ſeriouſly of Death, and the future Judgement, as the onely Antidotes againſt worldly enſnarements.

i Compare Eccl 1. 2. with Eccl 12. 13. 14.

So that this Book is, though moſt obſcure and difficult in it ſelf, (for [k] ſome think it the obſcureſt among all Solomons books, yea among all the Books of Scripture) yet moſt neceſſary and uſeful to the Church of God. How much may we gain by Solomon's Fall and by his Riſing again both inſinuated in this Book? I. By his Fall, we may learn 1. That higheſt wiſedom cannot ſecure us from lapſing, if the Lord a little leave us to our ſelves. 2. That worldly Proſperity is a far more dangerous temptation and ſnare, then Adverſity. Solomon more miſcarrying in that, then Job in this. How hard is it to be Great and Good at once! II. By his Riſing, and Repenting, we may ſee, k Dubium non eſt, quin inter Salomonis libros immo vero meâ quidem ſententia inter omnia ſacra ſcripta liber hic longè ſit obſcuriſſimus. J. Merc. ante. com. in Eccl.

1 That

1 That though the Saints fall, they fall not away, they rise again. 2 That upon Penitential Returns to God, grievous offenders shall finde favour with God. 3. That God is faithful and will not suffer one of his elect to perish. III. By both his Fall and Rise. The Church hath gained this excellent Book of ECCLESIASTES, which she knows not how to spare, and which (had not Solomon so fallen and risen again) she never had enjoyed.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

To this end, consider in this admirable Book, 1. The Inscription. 2. The Substance of the Book. Inscription, describing the Author's Person, Parentage, Regal Dignity, Chap. I. verse 1. II.

Substance of the Book it self. Teaching wherin mans supream good and chief happiness consists. And this, 1. Negatively. 2. Affirmatively. CHAP. I.

I. NEGATIVELY, He shews where mans true blessedness is not to be found, viz. I.

1. Generally, not in any meere natural sublunary treasure in this World. For, 1 All these are extreamest vanity, verse 2. 2. All humane labour is fruitless, verse 3. 3. Man himself is more mutable and changeable, then the Earth, the Sun, the Winds, or waters, ver. 4. to 8. 4. All things are troublesome and insufficient *ver.*8. 5. There's no new thing under the Sun; therefore there can be no new discovery of happinesse more then heretofore, *ver.*9 *to.*11.

2. Particularly, True happinesse consists, l True happiness is not in

I. Not in Knowledge. 1. Of all natural things, wherein Solomon, having many advantages, used much endeavour, *ver.*11.*to.*16. 2. Of all moral or civil actions, wisdome or folly, viz. Virtue or vice, ver. 16 17,18. 1. Knowledge CHAP. II.

II. In Pleasures or sweetest Earthly Delights, *Ch.II.v.*1.2. Where note, 1. His experiment made among all possible creature-delights, *v.*3.*to*10. 2. His content and joy in his delights, *ver.*10. 3. His sentence upon all delights, that they are vanity and vexation of Spirit, *ver.*11. The insufficiency of both wisdome and pleasures unto happinesse, is upon review amplified; where, 1. A Prelation of wisdom before pleasure, *v.*12,13,14. 2. An evacuation of them both as insufficient unto happinesse. Partly because one event is to the wise and foolish. Partly because Death strips us of all, so that life it self becoms hatefull, being disappointed of content, *v.*15,16, 17. 3. A Declaration of that evil and good that may be found in these worldly things. Evill, viz. 1. Inevitable divorce from these things by death. 2. Inability to dispose these things as one would after death. 3. Inequality betwixt the Predecessour and the Successour. All effecting hatred of and despair in these temporals, *ver.*18.to 24. Good, viz. Contentment in present injoyments, which content us, partly, described and commended, *ver.*24,25,26. partly urged from Gods fore-appointment of all things and their vicissitudes; in vain therefore to vex our-selves about any thing, but to be content with Gods dispensation, *Ch.*III.1.to 11. 2. From the beautifull ordering of all things by Providence, *ver.*11. 3. From the inevitableness of Providence, *ver.*12,13,14. 4. From the constancy of Providence, ver. 15. m2. Pleasure. CHAP. III.

III. Not in Great Honours, greatness or Authority. Worldly greatness without Spirituall goodness making both superiors and inferiours miserable. This appeares, 1. More Generally, 2. More specially and particularly. n 3. Honours & Greatness.

1. More Generally. In that such greatness is usually attended with oppression and injustice. This is by Solomon, 1. Experimentally observed, *ver.*16. 2. Censured, Partly, after the judgement of Gods spirit, that God will punish it, *ver.*17. Partly, after the judgement of carnal Reason, which hence makes vile inferences, 1 To the overthrow of government and order among men; that seeing the oppressours and oppressed are in condition like brute beasts, they should be like them without Government, *ver.*18,19,20,21. 2 To Sensuality, *v.*22. 3. Reviewed more particularly. Where note, The grievous and helpless oppressions of the poore under great ones, Ch. IV.ver. 1. The evil consequents hereof in inferiours, viz. 1 Wearisomeness of life, *ver.*2,3. 2 Idleness and discouragements from diligence in their callings, *v.*4, 5, 6. 3 Private self seeking and immoderate scraping and shifting for the world, to the Ruine of Humane Society, *ver.*7.to 13. CHAP. IV.

Thus of the vanities of godlesse greatnesse in General.

2. More Particularly, In the state of Kings who are in the height of greatness. Here note the vanity, 1. Of Foolish Kings, below their meanest subjects, *ver.*13,14. 2. Of all Kings wise or foolish, their peoples affections to them being so inconstant and oft thirsting after changes of Government, *ver.*15,16.

By way of Antidote against all these foure imaginary felicities and corruptions about them, here are in a digression, 1. The Right manner of Religious exercises, viz. Sacrifices, *Ch.V.*1. Prayer, *ver.*2,3. Vowes, *ver.*4,5,6,7. 2. The ground of well-ordered duties, fear of God, *ver.*7. 3. The effect of Religion, it works Patience in the oppressed, ver 8. CHAP. V.

IV. Not in Riches and earthly Possessions; whether more immediately necessary for life, or food and rayment, fruits of the earth; or more mediately necessary for procuring of these, Money, &c. Here, o 4. Riches.

1. Food and Rayment are preferred before Money, &c. In their general usefulnesse, and singular efficacy relieving our wants, *ver.*9,10.

2. Both are proved vain. From, 1. The enjoyment that others, even servants have of them, and perhaps more sweetly then the owners themselves, *ver.*11,12. 2. The dangers that Riches bring to their owners, *ver.*13. 3. Their uncertainty of abode with us while we live, *ver.*14. 4. Their certainty tainty of leaving us when we dye, ver. 15, 16. This vanity of Riches is amplyfied, Partly from the happinesse of a free and contented use of Riches, ver. 18, 19, 20. Partly from the misery of having Riches without the right use of Riches. For, 1. This is a common evil, Chap. VI. ver. 1. 2. This is a woful vanity, a sore disease, ver. 2. 3. This makes such a man in a worse condition then an untimely birth, ver. 3, 4, 5, 6. 4. Such see no good of what they possess, live they never so long, ver. 6. 5. Riches satisfie only the body, are wholly unsatisfactory to the desires of the soul, ver. 7, 8, 9. 6. Riches are unable to protect against sin and sorrow, ver. 10. 7. Increase of Riches, increaseth vanity, cares, thoughtfulnesse, &c. Seeing mans life is short; and future events are unknown, verse 11, 12.

CHAP. VI.

p Wherein mans true happiness consists.

Thus far mans happinesse hath been considered Negatively, wherein it consists not.

II. AFFIRMATIVELY, and positively, Solomon shewes p wherein mans true happinesse is indeed to be found in this life. 1. Particularly. 2 Summarily.

1. Particularly in divers means or branches of true happinesse, viz. 1. A good name. 2. Death. 3. Sadnesse of heart, 4. Moderation, and 5. Wisdome.

CHA.P VII.

1. A good Name, beyond wealth or pleasures, Ch. VII ver. 1.

2. Death, better then life, ver. 1.

3. Sick. and sadnesse of heart, better then pleasures, as may appear, 1. In sorrow occasioned by Funeral Solemnities, ver. 2, 3, 4. 2. In grief occasioned by Reproofes, ver. 5, 6.

4. Moderation and Patience, better then proud oppressing greatnesse. Here note, 1. The faults of Greatnesse, Oppression, Bribery, ver. 7. 2. The Antidote against this, Patience of spirit, ver. 8. Urged, 1 From the hope of the end better then the beginning, ver. 8. 2 From the opposite vices, rash Anger, and impatient murmurings, ver. 9, 10.

5. Wisdome viz. True godlinesse, as the Mistresse; and Civil Prudence as the handmaid, of true happinesse. This wisdome is described, 1. Comparatively as better then Riches, ver. 11, 12. 2. Positively, by its parts, properties, or fruits; which are either 1 Generall, or 2 Particular.

GENERAL, viz. I. Contentment in prosperity or adversity, urged, 1 From the unalterablenesse of Gods work. 2. From the inevitablenesse of Gods Counsels, ver. 13, 14. II. Constancy in goodnesse, notwithstanding all hard measure incident to us or others for goodnesse. Here are, 1. A temptation propounded, viz. Unlike accidents to righteous and wicked, ver. 15. 2. Inferences thence, 1 Carnal and corrupt, that therefore we should be indifferent and politickly moderate both in righteousnesse and wickednesse, ver. 16. 2 Gracious, that notwithstanding we be resolutely and zealously constant in goodnesse, ver. 17, 18, 19. III. Charity towards others in covering their infirmities and injuries to us: opposed to jealousies, implacablenesse, &c. Urged, 1. From mans common frailty, ver. 20, 21. 2. From our own infirmities, ver. 22. IV. The great difficultie of obtaining this wisdome. For, 1. Solomon found it hard in his experience, ver. 23. 2. The things necessary to be known to make one wise are profound, ver. 24. by reason of the great wickednesse and subtilty of heart 1 In one Sex, viz. Women, ver. 25. to ver. 29. 2 In both Sexes, nor man nor woman being perfect as God made them, ver. 29. V. True judgment and discretion in wise ordering of a mans self and affairs. Described summarily by the 1 Nature, and 2 Effects of it, viz.

CHAP. VIII.

Estimation and confident security, Chap. VIII. ver. 1. Amplyfied by divers particular Acts or fruits wherein wisdome frees from many temptations and inconveniences which folly intangles in; As, 1. Indiscreet Obedience to Kings, which is urged, ver. 2. And the contrary disobedience is dissuaded by divers Arguments, ver. 3, 4, 5. 2. In heedful prevention and prevention for future evils. This is Amplyfied, Partly, by mans misery and ignorance of future events, ver. 6, 7. Partly, by mans impotency to help himself in extremities, as death, Partly, by mans sinful betaking himself to vain unlawful means for safety in danger, ver. 8. 3. In having a right notion of the long prosperity and impunity of the wicked; Who though they seem never so happy, yet in comparison of the godly they are most miserable, ver. 9. to 14. 4. In passing due censure of the confusion that seems to be in the unequal administration of humane affairs. Where note, 1 The unequal dispensation it self, which is as a temptation, ver. 14. 2 The judgment passed thereon, Partly by the Flesh, hence condemning Gods administrations for vanity, and commending sensuality, ver. 14, 15. Partly, by the Spirit, concluding three things, viz. That Gods Government of the World is so profound none can search it out, therefore none can justly censure it, ver. 16, 17. That all men, all actions, are guided by Providence though never so secret, Chap. IX. ver. 1. That Gods love or hatred is not discernable by outward events, ver. 1, 2. After this, the judgment of the flesh is again insisted upon more distinctly, where both the evil practises and opinions of carnal men in this regard, as also the occasions of both, are set down, ver. 3. to 13. 5. In having a right apprehension of the contempt cast upon goodnesse in a low condition, apt to deterre many from vertue and godlinesse; where note, 1 The contempt of goodnesse and wisdome, in a mean state, parabolically, or historically described, ver. 13, 14, 15. 2 The true censure and resolution passed hereupon; viz. That wisdome though in meannesse is to be preferred before strength, ver. 16. before proud commands of imperious Rulers, ver. 17. before all other means of security, ver. 18.

CHAP. IX.

Thus of properties or effects of wisdome more General.

PARTICULAR Properties or Effects of true wisdome, viz. 1. Towards our selves. Partly, in due carriage of our selves, that we blemish not our Reputation, Chap. X. ver. 1. Partly, by dextrous dispatch of all affairs, a fool dealing sinisterly, ver. 2, 3. 2. Towards Superiours in the Common-wealth; wisdome keeps from unjust desires or enterprizes against them (though they be offensive, to our selves or others, ver. 4, 5, 6, 7.) by teaching us submission, and bridling all undutifulnesse, and rebelliousnesse, In Deed, ver. 8, 9, 10. This is eſpecially urged upon two ſorts of men, viz. 1. Voluptuous worldlings whoſe malady and remedy are laid down, ver. 7, 8. 2. Young men, who preſuming of their age, put death, and conſequently godlineſs, far from them. Of them note, Their malady, uncontrouled voluptuouſneſs, ver. 9. 2. Summarily Solomon gives the ſumme of his judgment about true happineſſe, 1. That all ſublunaries are vanity, and no happineſs in them, as himſelf had beſt ability to judge upon greateſt experience, in this Book diverſly commended, ver. 8. to 12. 2. That The true fear of God, and keeping his Commandements is the whole of man. The performance of which is urged by the ſtrictneſs of Gods future judgment, ver. 12, 13, 14.

This Book is an undeniable Argument of Solomons Repentance after his Relapſe, and conſequently of his f Salvation.

SONG of SONGS.

§. I. Order, and Time.

III. Solomon's NUPTIAL BOOK (treating of the ſpiritual eſpouſals of Chriſt and his Church) is the SONG OF SONGS. Some of the Hebrews think a Solomon firſt wrote the Canticles; then the Proverbs; laſt of all Eccleſiaſtes; from that conjecture, That youth is moſt delighted with verſes and ſongs, Riper-age, in Proverbs, Old-age in publiſhing the vanities of things. But the Hebrew Doctors in a Tractate entituled Bava-bathra among the Talmud writings, (ſhewing the Series of all the Books of Scripture,) deliver; That Proverbs ſhould be firſt, Eccleſiaſtes next, and Song of Songs laſt. And in this order we have them placed in our Bibles. Origen fetches the order of theſe Books from the Order and Series of Diſcipline, Ethicks (which are firſt) being taught in the Proverbs; Phiſicks, in Eccleſiaſtes; Theorick, or Divine things, in Song of Songs.

§. II. Penman, and Authority of the Book.

That Solomon was Penman of this Book, is conſented to on all hands, and is evident in the inſcription of this Book b The Song of Songs, which is Solomons: viz. This Song is Solomons as the inſtrumental Author of it. The c Hebrewes think that according to his three names, Solomon penned three Books anſwerable, viz. Proverbs, Eccleſiaſtes, and Song of Songs. The Chaldean Paraphraſt thus expreſſes it; Songs and Praiſes, which Solomon Prophet King of Iſrael ſpake.

c Glaſſ. Ordinar. Hieronym. Prolog. in Prov.

Among the Hebrewes (as d ſome obſerve) there never was doubt of the Canonical authority of this Book. Others have ſeemed to detract from the authority of it.

1. Becauſe it ſeems not to be written by inſpiration of the true Spirit of God, but rather from an amorous ſpirit betwixt Solomon and his wife Pharaoh's daughter. Anſw. 1. The dearest and sweetest Communion betwixt Jesus Christ and his Church or Members, is wont in other Scriptures to be set forth under that dearest, neerest, and sweetest relation and affection on earth, viz. Betwixt a Bridegroom and his Bride espoused to him; as in [e] Isaiah, [f] Ezekiel, [g] Hosea, [h] Epistles to the Corinthians, and to the [i] Ephesians. Shall we therefore say that this detracts from the Authority of these Books? No; Why then should this self-same Allegory detract from the authority of this Song? 2. Solomon being the wisest King, how uncomely were it for him, and inconsistent with his wisdome to expresse openly in a publique Song, his private conjugal love unto his wife, which is an unusual thing. 3. Many passages in the Song cannot properly be applyed to King Pharaohs daughter, as Cant. 1.6,8. and 5.6. and 8.1. And many things are ascribed here to the Spouse, that would rather be a womans deformity then Ornament. As, An head like Carmel; Nose like the Tower of Lebanon; Neck, like the Tower of David; Eyes like Fish-pooles; Teeth like flocks of shorne sheep: and she her self black as the Tents of Kedar, &c. Pharoahs daughter, King Solomons wife may in some particulars be intended as a shadow of the Church, as Solomon a Type of Christ: But the [k] principal thing intended, is that sublime heavenly mystery of dearest love and Communion with Christ and his Church.

The Hebrewes propose four things in Scripture not to be read, but by such as are come to [l] maturity, viz. 30. years of age, which is the age of the Priestly Ministry. The beginning of Genesis, wherein the Creation of the world is described; The beginning of Ezekiel wherein the Majesty of the Lord, and the Cherubins are set forth; The end of Ezekiel from c. 40, &c. Where the Fabrick of the New Temple is delineated; but especially this Book of Canticles, lest those that peruse this Book, before their affections be allayed and mortified, pervert the spirituals therein to a carnal corrupt sense and end. Yet the use of Holy Scripture, in any part thereof is not to be prohibited to any, (God [m] requiring them to be studied by all;) but the right use to be manifested to all, that all abuse may be prevented.

Though the names of GOD, LORD, &c. are not here expressed, yet they are implyed in the title, BELOVED. The Churches [n] beloved being God, as Jewes think; or Christ, as the Christians do better expound it. 3. There was lesse occasion of expressing plainly the Name of God or L O R D in this Book, wherein it was the aime of the Holy Ghost, under an external earthly marriage or contract, to describe the Spiritual Union, and Communion of Christ and his Church, as [o] Mercerus noteth.

o Cæterum in hoc libro nihil erat aliqui quod ullum Dei nomen poneret: quia figuris, similitudinibus & ænigmatibus semel omnia obtegere voluit, sub nuptiis externis cœlestem describens, & ineffabilem Christi cum Ecclesia sua conjunctionem, & arctum vinculum, amoremque eximium. *Jo. §. III. Nature, Excellency, and Scope of this Book.

1. Nature of this Book. For the General, It is stiled A Song. Songs were usually tuned with voice, Psalmes with instruments musical. Both Songs and Psalmes imply the [p] choiceneſse of the Subject handled, and therefore worthy to be remembred: and are usually arguments of joy and gladnesse in such as sing them, and of praises to them whom they concern; So this Book (saith [q] Ainsworth) treating of mans reconciliation to God, and peace by Jesus Christ, with joy in the Holy Ghost, is called a Song; which therefore the faithful should learn to sing with understanding, making melody in their hearts to the Lord, when they feel themselves made partakers of his joy.

But

But for the particular kind of this Song, whether it be 1 Hiſtorical, 2 Prophetical, 3 Didactical or Doctrinal, or 4 Mixt, is not ſo eaſily determinable. Partly, becauſe of the myſterioufneſſe and difficulty of the Book. Partly, becauſe of the diſſenting Opinions of learned Writers hereabouts. Some r think herein is deſcribed the State of the Church of the Old-Teſtament from Abel to Jeſus Chriſt. Some of the New-Teſtament. Some, of both from the firſt promiſe, Gen. 3. 15. till the end of the world. Brightman and Alſtedius are of opinion, that in this Book is deſcribed the State of the Church from David to the end of the world. According to this opinion this Book is thus diſtributed by Alſtedius.

r Hen. Alſted. Triſol. Prophet. in Iſag. in Cant.

I. The Old Church is deſcribed, according to its condition,
1. Under Kings, from David to the Babyloniſh Captivity, chap. 1. and 2. to ver. 3.
2. In Captivity, chap. 2. ver. 3. to 14.
3. After Captivity, before Chriſt, chap. 2. ver. 14. to chap. 3. ver. 6. After Chriſts birth, chap. 3. ver. 6. to chap. 4. ver. 7.

II. The New Church is deſcribed, either as,
1 A firſt-borne ſiſter from Chriſts Reſurrection to the Jewes Converſion, chap. 4. ver. 7. to chap. 6. ver. 9.
2. A younger ſiſter; comprehending the Church of Jewes and Gentiles to be converted, chap. 6. ver. 9. to chap. 8. ver. 11.
3. Compleat of both Jewes and Gentiles, chap. 8. 11. to the end.

Moſt Writers, and thoſe of ponderous judgment, rank this Book, not amongſt the Hiſtorical or Prophetical, but amongſt the Didactical or Doctrinal Books. And, all things deliberately conſidered, I cannot but incline to their judgment. For, 1. Though there ſeem to be in this Book ſome Hiſtoricall intimations of things formerly done, as in Cant. 1. 5, 6, 9. and 3. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. yet they are very few; and thoſe ſhort and obſcure Alluſions or Allegories, rather then direct Hiſtorical Narrations. And therefore they cannot rationally be thought ſufficient to denominate this Song Hiſtorical. 2. Though ſome paſſages herein are prophetical, as that touching the Church of the Gentiles to be founded and builded, Cant. 8. 8, 9. yet they are ſo few in compariſon of the whole Book, that hence it cannot be juſtly entituled Prophetical, any more then Geneſis is Prophetical, becauſe divers Prophecies are diſperſed therein. 3. If the ſeveral parts of this Book, which are counted Hiſtorical or Prophetical, in reference to ſuch and ſuch times, as is mentioned in this former diſtribution, be exactly conſidered, we may eaſily perceive what obſcure, difficult, impertinent, groundleſſe, harſh and forced applications they are. 4. The main bulk and body of the Song doth moſt naturally and genuinely deſcribe, (as Auguſtine s noteth) the mutual love of Chriſt and his Church under the Allegory of a Bridegroom and Bride, in a Doctrinal way. And therefore moſt properly this Book is to be counted Doctrinal, rather then Prophetical or Hiſtorical.

s Reſtat ille liber Solomonis, cujus, inſcriptio eſt, Canticum Canticorum. 2. Excellency of this Book is very great, in reſpect of Author, Matter, Forme, and End thereof. I. Author of this Book, (not to ſpeak of the principal efficient Author, the Holy Ghoſt from whom it hath its authority and chief excellency, but of the inſtrumental,) was t Solomon. Solomon was not onely the richeſt, and moſt peaceable of all the Kings, but alſo the u wiſeſt of all the Kings of the Earth, none before or after him like unto him, And x all the earth ſought the face of Solomon to hear his wiſedome. So that herein this Book excels, being penned by Solomon the wiſeſt of all the Prophets. II. Subject-matter of this Book, is not any vulgar or common points of Religion, but the moſt choice, ſublime, ſpiritual, heavenly myſteries of Holy Communion betwixt Jeſus Chriſt himſelf and his Church; Jeſus Chriſt being y King of Kings, and the brightneſs of his Fathers Glory: The Church being the choiceſt ſociety on earth, z The Lambs wife, the a Holy Nation, b Gods peculiar treaſure above all people in the earth. Communion, being the very Height and glory of all Practical Divinity. How excellent is this Book that treats of this tranſcendent Theame! III. The forme or Manner how theſe Myſteries are here repreſented to us, is in way of a Song; and that [c] the Song of Songs. It is a Song; therefore excellent: Songs being choice ſuccinct pieces, grateful to the eare, helpful to the memory, and delightfull to the heart, working much upon the affections. It is the Song of Songs which was Solomons; viz. both the choiceſt and excellenteſt of all the Songs which Solomon penned, (which were [d] one hundred and five in all,) as Chriſt whom it concernes is King of Kings; and alſo the rareſt and moſt admirable Song in all the Scriptures, (as [e] Mercerus noteth), this Song more fully and excellently ſetting forth the great myſtery of Communion betwixt Chriſt and his Church then any other. This Song alſo is diſpoſed in forme of a Dialogue between Chriſt and his Church, as ſpeakers; or of a Tetralogue betwixt the [1] Bridegroom, Chriſt; The [2] Bridegrooms friends, viz. Angels, Saints, Prophets, Apoſtles, and all the faithful Preachers of the Word of Chriſt. [3] The Bride her ſelf, viz. the Church and faithful Members of Chriſt; And [4] The Churches Companions called the Daughters of Jeruſalem, viz. All that follow the Church. Theſe foure being brought in as ſpeaking to one another, throughout this Song; the accurate diſcovery of whoſe ſeveral and reſpective ſpeeches is none of the ſmalleſt difficulties in this Song. IV. The End and Scope of this Song is alſo ſingularly excellent, as after it will appear, e Canticum Canticorum intelligas non tantum inter Solomonis Cantica lectiſſimum, ſed inter omnia Cantica, quæ antiquam antehac ſcripta fuerant imò & deinceps ſcripta in Scripturis ſanctis (quanto magis in profanis) eminentiſſimum. Nam ſi cætera Scripturæ Cantica diligentiùs perpendas, ſingula fere in his myſteria reperies: Et hic omnia tam veteris quam novæ legis myſteria ſub figuris & ſimilitudinibus tecta invenies; & quæ evenerunt, & quæ eventura ſunt. *Jo. Upon conſideration of the Excellency of this Book, it is that [f] ſome have called other Books of Scripture Holy, but this Book the Holy of Holies, or the Sanctity of Sanctities, as the perfection of the reſt. Others [g] compare theſe three Books of Solomons writing to the three parts of the Temple of Solomons building, viz. Proverbs to the Porch, Eccleſiaſtes to the Sanctuary, or Holy place, but this Song of Songs to the Holy of Holies. Herein we have a lively Repreſentation of the Spiritual State of Chriſts Spouſe in this world, ſometimes inclining to carnal ſecurity, ſometimes lamenting under ſpiritual deſertions, and ſometimes conflicting with ſharp temptations. Her own blackiſhneſs and infirmities are not concealed, her beauty and Glory derived from Chriſt are diſplayed, and her Carnal blemiſhes are improved as foyls with greater luſtre to ſet off her ſpiritual beauty. Herein we have a lively portraiture of Chriſts incomparable amiableneſs and ſweetneſs, as the moſt compleat, lovely, attractive piece in the whole world able to raviſh into an extaſie of Love the hearts of both Saints and Angels. Herein we have a wonderful diſcovery of that great myſtery, that Spiritual Paradiſe, that Heaven on earth. viz. Sweet Communion betwixt Chriſt and his Church, in their heavenly Eſpouſals, longing after each other with reſtleſs love-ſick deſires, embracing each other in claſping arms of ardent love, ſolacing and contenting themſelves in mutual enjoyments with raviſhed delight, moſt jealouſly impatient of all diſturbance, or interruption of their Communion, and moſt fervently panting after compleat fruition of each other in the ſpicy mountains of Heaven it ſelfe. O bleſſed Book! O pleaſant Eden! How full of ſweetneſſes art thou to experienced Souls, that have, and love, and live upon the Lord Jeſus, and know what it is to lodge in his deareſt Boſome? What pleaſure take they in reading, underſtanding and meditating of thee; but eſpecially in feeling in their own Soules theſe glorious things ſpoken by thee.

§. III. Scope.

§. III. Scope.

Scope of this Song, is under the Metaphor or Allegory of Lovers upon Contract, and intending marriage, to shadow out to us, that sublime, Spiritual, happy Union and Communion betwixt Christ and his Church, which is inchoate on this Life; more imperfectly with the Jewes, more perfectly with the Gentiles: and shall be consummate in the Life to come.

This is carried on Dialogue-wise, betwixt Christ and his Church; His Friends and her Damosels, being the foure Speakers: especially the two first: as is the Custome of a Bridegroome and a Bride; as was formerly noted.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

Principal Parts of this Song of Songs are 1 The Inscription, 2 Substance of the Song, 3 Conclusion.

The Inscription, denoting the 1 Kind of writing, 2 Excellency, 3 and Penman of it, c. 1.1. I.

The substance of the Song, Streaming out a Torrent of Spiritual Love betwixt Christ and the Church laid down Dialogue-wise, in a familiar Colloquy betwixt, 1 Christ as the Bride-groome. 2 The Church as the Bride, and 3 The Friends of them both rejoycing in the marriage; All in a continued Allegory. Herein are particularly, II.

I. The ardent Desires of the Church after Christ, as impatient of his absence: with Christs acceptance thereof, Ch. I. ver. 2. to 9, CHAP. I.

II. The reciprocal invitatory Commendations of one another; and the mutual gratulations and contentment of Christ and the Church in one another, ver. 9. to the end of Ch. II. CHAP. II.

III. The Churches renewed Desires night and day, at Home and Abroad, in the City, in the Fields, (as it were) to bring Christ nearer to her self, Ch. III. 1. to 6. yea, rather to have her self brought immediately to the full enjoyment of Christ in Heaven, v. 6. to the end. CHAP. III.

IV. Christ most affectionately praiseth his Church in her Members, professing himself ravished with her Faith, Graces, and Spiritual Beauty, Ch. IV. 1. to 15. Which is amplified, 1. By the Churches self-denying, acknowledging all her Graces to come from Christ as the Fountain, v. 15. 2. By her Prayer for his influence to make her (as a Garden of Spices) more and more fruitful; and for his presence to accept her Fruit, v. 16. 3. By Christs satisfying her desires, coming into his Garden, accepting the Fruits thereof, and welcoming his Friends, Ch. V. v. 1. CHAP. IV. CHAP. V.

V. The Churches Spiritual Desertion, in Christs withdrawing himself from her. Where are, I. The Occasion of it, Her carnal Security, ver. 2. 3. II. The Manners of it; withdrawing, yet leaving some quickning Grace behind him, v. 4, 5. III. The Consequents of it, in respect of, 1. The Church her self, v. 4, 5, 6. 2. The Watchmen abusing her, v. 7. 3. The Daughters of Jerusalem, whom she charged to signifie her distress to her beloved, v. 8. This charge is amplified. 1. Partly by the inquiry of the Daughters of Jerusalem, what Christ is? v. 9. 2 Partly by the Churches pathetical description of Christs transcendent excellencies, v. 10. to the end. 3. Partly by the enquiry of the daughters of Jerusalem after Christ, Ch. VI. ver. 1. 4. Partly by the Churches declaring to them where Christ was, viz. He was now returned and gone down into his Garden, ver. 2. 5. Partly by her affectionate complacency in Christ returned, ver. 3. CHAP. VI.

VI. Christs sweet and consolatory deportment towards his Church after her Desertion, and his return to her. Wherein, 1. He assures her she is as precious in his eyes, and as dear to his heart as ever, ver. 4. to 11. 2. He declares his desire of the spiritual Spring of the Churches Graces, after the Winter of her affliction. ver. 11. 3. He discovers the Rapture of his ravished affections, to her, most sweetly Inviting her to himself, ver. 12, 13. most highly commending her throughout, Ch. VII. ver. 1. to 8. and Promising his presence, and what he will do for her, that she may become most delightful to him, ver. 8, 9. CHAP. VII.

VII. Finally, the Church reciprocates her utmost affection to Christ, for his love. And this, I. More Generally, ver. 10. II. More Particularly, Her desire, 1. That Christ and she may go together to view their Husbandry, whether their plants did flourish and fructifie, viz. Whether the Gospel and fruits thereof did thrive, ver. 11, 12, 13. 2. That she may enjoy Christ most intimately and familiarly, Ch. VIII. ver. 1. 2, 3. 3. That the Daughters of Jerusalem may not disturb him, ver. 4. 4. That it may be considered, that she hath forgone, and undergone for Christs love, ver. 5. 5. That Christ would give her a fuller 1 Confirmation of his love, setting her as a Seal upon his heart; And a fuller 2 Manifestation or evident assurance thereof, Setting her as a Seal upon his arme, strengthening, sustaining, helping her, &c. and this because she bears to Christ an invincible and unquenchable love, ver. 6, 7. 6. That the Gentiles called A little sister, may be called and incorporated into the Church with the Jewes, ver. 8, 9, 10. This is amplified by Christs common care of both, as one Vineyard kept by himself, not by others, as Solomons was, ver. 11. 12, Christ teaching his Spouse her duty; CHAP. VIII.

Partly, To her neighbours, in publiſhing and bearing witneſs to his Truth; Partly, To himſelf, in Prayer and Thankſgiving, ver. 13.

III. The Concluſion of the Song, containing the Churches moſt ardent deſire after Chriſts Second coming, that the Marriage betwixt Chriſt and her ſelf may be compleatly conſummated in Heaven thoſe Mountains of Spices, ver. 14.

III. THE PROPHETICAL BOOKS.

THus far of Books Hiſtorical and Doctrinal; Now to the Books Prophetical. For diſtinction ſake they are called PROPHETICAL, becauſe the matter of them is principally Prophetical, though many Hiſtorical and Doctrinal paſſages are alſo inſerted in them all along; as there are many Prophecies of things to come diſperſed up and down the other Books, which yet are principally Hiſtorical and Doctrinal.

Rules or Directions for the better underſtanding of the Prophetical Books.

1. Conſider well the ſeveral Times wherein the ſeveral Prophets flouriſhed and prophecied, and compare their Prophecies with the ſtate of thoſe Times reſpectively, as they are formerly deſcribed in the Hiſtorical Books: this will lend much light to the clearing of thoſe Prophecies. The ſeveral Times of their Prophecying, ſee in the following Chronological Table.

2. The Prophets are wont to ſpeak of things to come, as if they were already paſt or preſent. As, Iſa. 53. throughout Becauſe they are certainly determined upon in Gods decree, and are as ſure to come to paſs, as if they were already actually fulfilled.

3. Moſt commonly they are wont in their threatnings againſt the wicked to intermingle Promiſes and comforts to the godly: 1. Partly, that the godly may not be terrified with Gods ſeverity, who will put a difference betwixt the godly and the wicked; 2. Partly, to have a door of hope open even for the wicked if hey twill repent. And contrariwiſe uſually with their promiſes to the Godly, they interweave threatnings againſt the wicked. 1. Partly, as a flaming Sword to keep off ungodly ones from falſe applying of the comforts to themſelves, which belong not to them; 2 Partly, to caution the godly againſt ſecurity, and that they rejoyce with trembling, Pſal. 2. 11.

4. In foretelling or promiſing temporal mercies or deliverances, they are wont commonly to raiſe up their promiſes unto ſpiritual bleſſings and deliverances of the ſoul, and in threatning temporal puniſhments to the wicked, they are wont to proceed to threaten ſpiritual and eternal. 1. Partly, becauſe temporal bleſſings and deliverances to the Jewes were types of ſpiritual and eternal, by Chriſt. 2. Partly, becauſe temporal judgments in this world upon the wicked are but earneſts and handſels of eternal vengeance in the world to come. 3. Partly, becauſe neither without ſpiritual bleſſings and deliverances Gods people can have ſufficient and ſolid conſolation; nor without eternal vengeance, can the wicked receive their proportionable compenſation

Therefore theſe temporals, ſpirituals and eternals, oft ſpoken of joyntly and more confuſedly, muſt be prudently diſtinguiſhed, that the ſenſe obſcured thereby may be the more cleared.

5. When they ſpeak of the Kingdom, and benefits of Chriſt to be performed under the New Teſtament, they are wont to vaile thoſe Evangelical myſteries under Moſaical and Typical things in uſe in the Church under the Old Teſtament. And therefore the meer letter of the Prophets expreſſions muſt not be terminated or reſted in, but the ſpiritual meaning, primarily intended, muſt be inquired into.

Theſe Prophetical Books are in all 16. (Lamentations being counted an Appendix to Jeremiah.) They may be conſidered two wayes. 1. According to the times of their prophecy, and writing. 2. According to their Order as ſet in our Bibles. They are not placed in our Bibles, in that Method and Order as they were at the firſt ſpoken and written by the Prophets.

1. According to the times wherein they were firſt prophecied and written. Theſe times are for moſt part diſcovered in the beginning of the ſeveral Prophecies, and of ſuch we may determine certainly: or they may be collected from other Scriptures, or the matter of the Propheſies, of which we cannot conclude altogether ſo clearly.

Theſe Times may be referred (as the Hiſtorical Books) to three principal periods, viz. 1. Before, 2. Neer or under. 3. After the Babyloniſh Captivity. And if in theſe three Periods, we parallel theſe Prophets with thoſe Hiſtorical Books, they will notably help to clear and explain one another.

A

A Chronological Table of the Order of Times wherein the Prophets Prophecied:

Somewhat differing from the Order wherein they are placed in our Bibles.

I. Before the transportation of the Jewes into Babylon's Captivity; and in the dayes of Jeroboam son of Joash King of Israel, and of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, and Josiah, Kings of Judah; these Prophets Prophesied, Viz.

1. JONAH, (called Jonas, Mat. 12. 39, 40.) He prophesied before or about the beginning of the Reign of Jeroboam son of Joash King of Israel, who restored the coast of Israel from the entring of Hamath to the sea of the Plain, according to the word of the Lord God of Israel, which he spake by the hand of his servant Jonah the son of Amittai, the Prophet, which was of Gath-hepher, 2 *King.*14.25. Which was before or about the beginning of Jeroboams reign, as Jun. Annot. in Jon. 1. 1. and Pareus in Adverſ. ibid. conceive: about the close of his reign, thinks Druſius in Quæſit. Epiſt. 9.

2. HOSEA prophesied in the dayes of Jeroboam the son of Joash King of Israel, and in the dayes of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Judah, Hos. 1. 1. Which must needs be a very long time, viz. for the space of 79 years at least, as that learned And. Riv. in Com. in Hoſ. 1. 1. computes by those Kings reigns.

3. JOEL; when he prophecied is not so expresly laid down in Scripture, and therefore his time cannot so certainly be defined as of others. Among learned Writers, Jewes and others there's great variety and uncertainty about it.

1. Some of the Hebrewes think this Joel was the son of Samuel the Prophet, one of Samuels sons being named Joel, 1 Sam. 8. 1, 2. But the context there ver. 3. confutes this opinion; And his sons walked not in his wayes, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment; which corruptions we cannot justly believe to have been in this holy Prophet Joel; He (as other Prophets) being an holy man of God, 2 Pet. 1. 21.

2. Some think Joel was contemporary to Jehoshaphat King of Judah, and Jehoram King of Israel, because of the seven years famine then foretold by Elisha the Prophet, 2 King. 8. 1. &c. And that as Elisha foretold the famine, so Joel foretold the manner how it should come to passe, by locusts, canker-wormes and cater-pillers, Joel 1. 4. This opinion is ascribed to R. Schelomo; And Lyra approves it. See Mercer. & al. Comment. in Joel. p. 192. But Tarnovius in Prolegom. in Joel, dislikes this opinion, because the famine of which Joel speaks, seems to have been onely four years, Joel 1. 3. and because heres no mention in this prophecy of the ten Tribes he thinks it probably fell out after their carrying away.

3. The Hebrew Chronicle called סדר עולם Seder-Olam, i. e. The order of time, writes, that Joel lived under Manasseh, of the same time with Nahum and Habbakuk the Prophets; but because Manasseh was not right, his name is not mentioned; (as some observe, Mercer. & al. Comment. in Joel. p. 177. D. Pareus in Adverſ. in Joel.) This opinion is likewise subscribed unto by Funccius, Genebrard, and others; learned Druſius also thinks it may be proved from Joel. 3. 5. that Joel prophecied at that time, the ten Tribes being now carried Captive into Assyria.

4. Some are of opinion that the famine threatned by Joel, fell out under Iosiah King of Iudah, which famine Jeremiah describes almost as Joel here. See Jer. 14. 1, 2. compared with 2 Kings 23. 26. This opinion Tarnovius ascribes to Danæus, and counts it most probable. Tarnov. Prolegom. in Joel.

5. Finally, Many (and those of no small learning and judgment; as Hierome, Augustine, Broughton. Junius, Helvicus, &c.) do conceive that Joel prophecied in the same time with Hosea forementioned; as here I have ranked them. The time in which he prophecied is the same with that of Hosea, in dayes of Uzziah, &c. Hieronym. Joel prophecied when now Jotham reigned, who succeeded Uzziah, D. Aug. de Civ. lib. 18. cap. 27. Tom. 5. Hosea and Joel prophecy about the beginning of Uzziahs reign, before Amos, Joel speaks of the companies of Locusts. H. Brought. Concent. p. 92. 94. Hanov. 1602. In the dayes of Uzziah and Jeroboam, &c. thinks Junius, Annot. in Joel 1. 1. Joel the Prophet seems to have preceded Amos, for he foretels the drought, chap. 1. 15. which Amos complains to have fallen out without the due fruit of repentance, Amos 4. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, &c. Amos prophecied under Jeroboam and Uzziah, Amos 1. 1. Helvic. Chronol. p. 1. Gieſſæ Heſſorum M. DC. XIIX. Divers Arguments are urged for strengthning of this opinion. As, 1. That Joel is placed next to Hosea, without noting any difference of time, and it is an old Canon of the Hebrewes mentioned by Hierome, that, That Prophet who mentions not his time of Prophecy, is to be counted contemporary with him that next and immediately precedes him,---therefore Joel is contemporary to Hosea. 2. The Subject-matters contained in this Book seem altogether to have fallen out in dayes of Uzziah and Jeroboam, saith Junius. As, 1. Partly, That grievous famine which God sent upon Judea; we read of a famine in Judea in the times of Jehoram, 2 Kings 8. and of Josiah afterwards, as is taught, Jer. 14. but I like not (saith he) to refer this famine to either of these times. Rather this famine was sent of God by his certain counsel in time of Uzziah, as may be confirmed from Isa. 5. 13. especially seeing it is evident that the Argument of the following Prophecy of Amos belongs to the same times. 2. Partly, That distress of Judah and Jerusalem there mentioned, Joel 3. 1, 5, 6. seems plainly to relate to those distresses that fell on Judah in dayes of Ahaz, by the Assyrians and Philistines, 2 Chron. 28. 17, 18, 19, 20. 3. That in this Prophet Joel, we have not onely mention of the name of Judah and Jerusalem, as Joel 3. 1, 6. but also of Israel, as Joel 2. 27. and 3. 2. and therefore it is likely he prophecied before the final captivity vity of Israel by the Assyrians, for (according to that rule that some give,) Where the time of the Prophecy is not mentioned, nor any distinct mention of Israel and Judah, which were two distinct Kingdoms, taken notice of, that Prophecy was probably after that distinction of the Kingdomes was taken away by Israels being carried captive into Assyria.

4. AMOS. He prophecied against Israel in the dayes of Uzziah King of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam son of Joash King of Israel, two years before the earth-quake, Amos 1. 1. he comes in order after Joel; for Joel foreteis the drought and famine, Joel 1. 15. &c. and Amos complains of their unfruitfulnes under that judgment, Amos 4. 6, 7, 8, 9. Helvic. Chronol. p. 14. Gieſſe Heſſor. M. DC. XIIX. Before Amos speaks Joel of the companies of locusts, which having the similitude of Horses, and teeth of fierce Lyons bring in a famine. H. Brought. Conc. p. 94. Hanov. 1602.

5. ISAIAH prophecied in dayes of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah, Is. 1. 1. and 38. 1. &c. and 39. 3. He prophecied about eighty or ninety years, thinks Helvicus in Chronol. ubi Supr. & D. Pareus in Proem. in Isa. Here is no mention of Jeroboam son of Joash King of Israel; probably 1. Because Isaiah began not to prophecy till after Jeroboams death, which was in the fifteenth year of Uzziah, who reigned fifty two years, beginning to reign in Jeroboams twenty seventh year, 2 Kings 15. 1, 2. Jeroboam reigning in all fourty one years, 2 Kings 14. 23. So that Isaiah seems not to have begun to prophecy till towards the middle, or latter end of Uzziahs reign. 2. Because computations in Scripture are more usually made by the reigns of the Kings of Judah, whereof many were good, then of the Kings of Israel, whereof all were nought.

6. MICAH. He prophecied in dayes of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah, Mic. 1. 1. His hearers were some of them alive in the time of Jehoiakim, Jer. 26. 18. therefore he taught very long; thinks Helvic. in Chronol. quo supr.

7. NAHUM. Prophecied the destruction of Nineveh, the Metropolis of Assyria; But when he did prophecy, the time is not particularly expressed, yet we may probably conjecture. 1. It seems very clear by the current of his Prophecy, that he prophecied a good while after Jonah. Jonah was sent to preach against Nineveh, at which Nineveh repented, Jon. 3. but not many years after relapsed to their old wickednesse. For Pul King of Assyria bends all his strength to blot out the Jewish Religion, 2 Kings 15. Then Tiglath-pileser took many Cities of Judea captive, and wasted Jonas his Country, 2 Kings 16. at length Shalmaneser carried captive all the ten Tribes into Assyria, and afterwards dealt Tyrannically, 2 Kings 17. and 18. God therefore raises up another Prophet against Nineveh, viz. Nahum, who not so much invites them to repentance, as Jonah did, as threatens their destruction. 2. Nahum could not prophecy in dayes of Jotham, (as Calvin. in Prælect. in Nahum hath observed.) for he threatens destruction to the Assyrians for their cruelty to Israel; now Israel in Jotham's time was not captivitated by the Assyrians. 3. Forasmuch as the intent of Nahum is to threaten ruine to Nineveh and the Assyrians, for their cruel tyranny over Israel, and in asmuch as the captivity of the ten Tribes came to passe in the ninth year of Hosheah King of Israel, and the sixth year of Hezekiah King of Judah, 2 Kings 17. 6. &c. compared with 2 Kings 18. 9, 10, 11. therefore it is most likely that Nahum prophecied for the comfort of Gods People against the Assyrians, in the latter end of Hezekiahs reign, or thereabouts. Tarnov. Com. in Nah. in Proleg. Helvic. Chronol. p. 15. Gieſſe Heſſor. M. DC. XIIX. Though some refer this Prophecy rather to the time of Manasses, Others to the time of Josiah; and Hierome according to the Hebrews opinion times it a little before the Assyrian captivity. See Pareus in Adverſ. in Nah. & Jun. Annot. in Nah. 1. 1.

8. HABBAKKUK seems to have prophecied in the dayes of Manasseh or Josiah, and before the times of Zedekiah. 1. Partly, because he laments so notably the desperate and incurable wickednes of the people, which was in those times. 2. Partly, because he premonisheth them of their approaching destruction by the Chaldeans. As Calv. Prælect. in Hab. & Jun. Annot. in Hab. 1. 1. and the Hebrewes are of opinion, Par. in Adverſ. in Hab. Therefore Hieroms opinion of his prophecy after the Babylonian captivity, is very improbable.

9. ZEPHANIAH, He prophecied in the dayes of Josiah the son of Amon King of Judah, Zeph. 1. 1. Nor reade we that he prophecied at all after King Josiahs death.

II. Thereupon, under, and after the Babylonish Captivity, These Prophets flourished and Prophecied, viz.

1. JEREMIAH prophecied in the dayes of Josiah in the thirteenth year of his Reign, and in the daies of Jehoiakim his son, till the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah King of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jerusalem Captive in the fifth moneth, Ier. 1. 1, 2, 3. being compared with Jer. 51. 64. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah. So that the 52. chapter following seems to be written by some other then Jeremiah (as Junius there notes) and continues the History till Evilmerodac King of Babylon. So that Jeremiah prophecying till King Zedekiah's eleventh year, he prophecyed till the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple, which in that year fell out, Jer. 52. 5, 6, 7. &c. 12. 13. &c. Further, Jeremiah being in prison when Jerusalem was taken, he was safely lookt to at the command of the King of Babylon, and set at liberty to dwell with Gedaliah made Governour of the Land. Jer. 39. 11. to 15. and 40. 5, 6. After that, was carried into Ægypt, where he prophecyed against Judah, Ægypt, and all the Countries almost round about, Jer. 43. 5, 6, 7, 8. &c. to ch. 51. 64. He prophecied a long time, viz. Under King Josiah 19 years, Jer. 1. 1, 2, 3. with 2 Kings 22. 1. Under King Jehoiakim eleven years, 2 Kings 22. 36. Under Zedekiah eleven years, 2 Kings 23. 18. In Ægypt at least two years, because those things described in Jer. 43. and 44. could scarce be done in one year; thinks Pareus in Proem. in Jerem. That is in all about 43. years.

LAMEN

LAMENTATIONS, of Jeremiah, I. Some, think they were written by the Prophet Jeremiah upon occasion of that moſt religious King Joſiah's death, wherein he laments not only one, but the manifold calamities of that people wich began from the death of King Joſiah, and encreaſed till at laſt Jeruſalem and the Temple were deſtroyed. Joſiahs death being as it were the beginning of theſe calamities, and all the future miſeries, eſpecially the deſtruction of Jeruſalem being Prophetically foretold, and pathetically deſcribed aforehand, as if they had been things already actually come to paſs, the Lord having revealed theſe things to Ieremiah. Hierome and others are of this opinion. See Iun. Annot. in Lam. 1. 1. D. Par. Adverſ. in Thren. And this opinion ſeems the more probable, 1. Partly becauſe it is the manner of the Prophets ſomtimes to deſcribe future things ſo pathetically as if they were already come to paſſe. See, Iſa. 53. throughout, Pſal. 22. throughout, &c. As here Ieremiah doth Ieruſalems ruine, 2. Partly becauſe it is elſewhere ſaid, Jeremiah lamented for Joſiah, and all the ſinging-men and ſinging-women ſpake of Joſiah in their Lamentations to this day, and made them an Ordinance in Iſrael: and behold they are written in the Lamentations, 2 Chron. 35. 25. II. But others conceive that the manner of expreſſions are ſuch in this Book of Lamentations, and they ſo lively and pathetically point out Ieruſalems calamities, that it was not written before, but after the ſad deſtruction of Jeruſalem. Thus thinks Calvin in Prælect. in Lamentat. Ierem. & Pareus in Adverſ. in Thren. Let the ſober Reader conſider and judge.

2. DANIEL flouriſhed from the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim King of Judah, Dan. 1. 1. to the third year of the Monarchy of Cyrus the Perſian, Dan. 10. 1. for about 79 years, as Helvic. in Chronol. p. 16. and 17.

3. EZEKIEL, Began to prophecy in the fifth year of King Jehoiachins captivity, in the fifth day of the Moneth. Ezek. 1. 1, 2, 3. and continued till the twenty fifth year of that their Captivity, Ezek. 40. 1. Iun. Annot. in loc. He prophecied about nineteen years and ſome nine dayes, as Hierom compures from Ezek. 40. See Pareus Adverſar. in Ezek. in Proem. So that Ezekiel continued not ſo long as Daniel by many years.

4. OBADIAH. When he wrote, is not ſo clearely demonſtrable from Scripture, 1. Some think that this was that Obadiah mentioned in 2 Kings 18. who was over Ahabs houſe, and hid one hundred Prophets, by fifty in a Cave, from Jezebels cruelty, finding them there, He fearing the Lord greatly. The Hebrews and others after them are of this opinion, as Mercer. Com. in Obad. noteth. 2. Some think, that (if Hieroms Rule delivered from the Hebrews may be followed. viz. where the time of the Prophet is not expreſſed, that Prophecy is to be timed according to the Prophecy next preceding.) Obadiah muſt be contemporary to Amos, who prophecied in the dayes of Uzziah and Jeroboam ſonne of Joaſh, Amos 1.1. which as Mercerus noteth, was about one hundred years after Ahab; and therefore it is not likely that this is that Obadiah in Ahabs days. 3. Others judge moſt probably that this Obadiah was contemporary to Jeremiah, they both of them prophecying againſt the Idumeans, in almoſt the ſame words and phraſes. Compare with Obad. Jer. 49. 7. to 23. and Ezek. 25. throughout. Now Jeremiah prophecied againſt Edom after he was carried into Egypt, viz. after Jeruſalems deſtruction. Jer. 43 5, 6, 7. Thus think Jun. in Annot. in Obad. 1. 1. & Calv. in Prælect. in Obad. in Proem.

III. After the Jews Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity, prophecied theſe Prophets, viz.

1. HAGGAI. He began to prophecie in the ſecond year of Darius the King in the ſixth moneth, in the firſt day of the moneth, Hag. 1. 1. and propheſied till the nineth moneth of that year, the twenty fourth day of the moneth, Hag. 2. 10, 20.

2. ZECHARIAH. He began to pophecie, in the ſecond year of Darius, in the eighth moneth, Zech. 1. 1. and continued till the fourth year of King Darius, the fourth day of the ninth moneth, Zech. 7. 1.

3. MALACHI was the laſt Prophet of the Old Teſtament, after whom Prophecy ceaſed, till Jeſus Chriſt the great Prophet was revealed in our fleſh. As Haggai and Zechary ſtrengthned the Peoples hands, and encouraged them in the building of the Temple, Ezr. 5. 1. and 6. 14. So Malachi reproves their ingratitude in corrupting the true Worſhip of God, not long after the Temple was builded, as the tenour of his Prophecy ſhows. See Jun. Annot. in Mal. 1. 1.

II. According to their Order as they are placed in our Bibles. And ſo they are reſolved into two Ranks, viz. 1. The Greater Prophets, Iſaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel, (the Lamentations being annexed as an Appendix to Jeremiah.) So called, not becauſe theſe had Greater Authority then the others, but (as[h] Auguſtine noteth) from the Greatneſſe of their Books; The Prophecie of Iſaiah being neer as big or bigger then all the Leſſer Prophets together. 2. The Leſſer Prophets, viz. The twelve latter, Hoſea, &c. which were digeſted into one volume of old by the Jewes, (called the Book of the Prophets, Act 7. 42.) leſt any of them ſhould be loſt, ſome of them being very ſmall. All theſe Books are denominated from their Penman, except the Lamentations.

I. The Greater Prophets, are the Books of Iſaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel.

[h] Qui propterea dicuntur Minores, quia ſermones eorum ſunt breves, in eorum comparatione qui Majores ideo vocantur, quia prolixa volumina condiderunt. Aug. de Civ. D. l. 18 c. 29.

Isaiah.

§. 1. Order, Penman, and Excellency of the Book.

THis Book is ranked first in Order, (though in Time both [a] Jonah, Hosea, Joel, and Amos appeare to have been before him) perhaps because of the largeneſſe and ſingular excellencie of this Prophecie. It is a note of [b] Hierom's, That Isaiah is equal to, or greater then all the 12 leſſer Prophets, in the number of verſes.

This Prophecie is Excellent, in many reſpects.

1. The Author or Penman of it was that eminent Prophet Isaiah, Isa. 1. 1. His name [ישעיהו] in ſenſe The-ſalvation-of-God How appoſitely accommodated to him, that ſo wonderfully reveals Chriſt who is Gods ſalvation! This Isaiah, ([d] Calvin thinks) was of the Royal ſtock, being the ſon of Amoz, Isa. 1. 1 brother of K. Uzziah. As [e] Vives notes out of Hierome, was of noble deſcent, wiſe, eloquent, and without ruſticity in his ſtile; Prophecied in Hieruſalem and Judea. Is ſuppoſed to be ſawen in ſunder by Manaſſes king of Judah, with a wooden ſaw: hence that in Heb. 11. 1. (were ſawn in ſunder) is referred to Isaiah. [f] Ambroſe alſo intimates he was ſawed in the midſt.——And elſewhere ſpeaking of the parable in Mat. 21. 8 Who was he that was wounded in the head? verily Isaiah; the frame of whoſe body the ſaw did ſooner divide, then bend his faith, rend his conſtancy, or cut the vigour of his minde aſunder

2. The ſubject-matter of his Prophecie is excellent, much of it being ſpent in ſweeteſt cordials and comforts to the Church of God, promiſed in reference to the times of the New Teſtament; and in many Evangelical predictions of Chriſt the true Meſſiah, the kernel of the Covenant of all the Promiſes, and of the whole Scripture. [h] Hierome hereupon ſaith of Isaiahs Prophecie, Let none think that I covet to comprehend the arguments of this volume in a ſhort diſcourſe ſeeing this preſent Scripture contains all the Lords ſacred myſteries; and both he that was born of a Virgin, and alſo was the doer of famous works and ſignes, was dead and buried, and riſen from the dead, and the Saviour of all Nations is here preached, What ſhould I ſpeak of Phyſicks, Ethicks, and Logick? Whatſoever is in ſacred Scriptures, whatſoever the tongue of man can utter, and the ſenſes of mortals receive, is contained in this Volume.

Proem. in Eſaiam, Tom.* 5.

3. The Manner of it. His Propheſie is laid down eloquently, certainly, pathetically and lively. 1 Eloquently; he is not rough and cragged, but ſmooth and poliſhed, curiouſly garniſhed with all kind of Rhetorick; nor are his elegancies of a low vulgar ſtrain, but ſublime, heroick, majeſtical: The Princely ſtatelineſſe of his ſtile hath inclined ſome to believe that he was of the Blood-Royal. 2 Certainly, therefore his Propheciе is denominated a Viſion i, as it were a thing evidently ſeen with his eyes: And what is more certain then what we ſee with our eyes? 3 Pathetically and lively. Doth he reprove ſin? how cuttingly and peircingly doth he deſcribe it? Iſa. 1. & 5. Doth he comfort the people of God? how ſweetly, cloſely, intimately doth he ſpeak to their heart? as in Iſa. 43. and 49. 13. and c. 54. Doth he promiſe Chriſt? how clearly doth he reveal him to the very life, deſcribing him and his ſufferings for his people, as already paſt or preſant, rather then to come; as actually exhibited, rather then to be exhibited for the future? as in Iſa. 11. and 42. and 53. and 55. and 61. Hence among the ancients, as k Hierome, l Auguſtine, &c. he is ſtiled The Evangelical Prophet, and the Prophetical Evangeliſt, or the Evangeliſt and Apoſtle of the Old Teſtament.

i Genus ſcripti demonſtratur viſionis nomine: eſt enim viſio omnis Doctrina divinitus revelata; quia Deus quibuſcunque viſum eſt revelare, res ipſas quodammodo videndas & ſpectandas oculis ſervorum ſuorum exhibet ad obſignandam earum certitudinem, ut idem Propheta periphraſticè exponit infra, 2. 1. & exponit cap. 6. *Jun. 4. This propheciе of Iſaiah hath alwaies been of higheſt account with all ſorts. Chriſt and his Apoſtles highly eſteemed this book. He who preached all Text, yet ſometimes in his preaching m takes his text out of Iſaiah the Prophet; and this Prophet is oftner alleadged in the New Teſtament then any one book of Old Teſtament beſides, except the Pſalmes. n Some note that Iſaiah is quoted ſixty times, the Pſalms ſixty four times. Alſted. Among the very Ethiopians this book was in ſuch repute, that the Ethiopian Eunuch made it his [Vade mecum] his companion in his journey, and read the Prophet Iſaiah in his chariot, though he underſtood him not, Act. 8. 27, 28. And Ambroſe ſo highly eſteemed and valued this Propheciе, that when Auguſtine o wrote to him for his advice what part of Scripture he ſhould eſpecially reade, he adviſed him to reade the Prophet Iſaiah. I ſuppoſe (ſaith Auguſtine) *becauſe he is a more clear foreteller of the Goſpel, and of the calling of the Gentiles, then the reſt. §. II. Time.

When, and How long Iſaiah prophecied, is more obſcurely intimated, viz. In the dayes of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Judah, Iſa. 1. 1. But in what year of Uzziah he began, and in what year of Hezekiah he ceaſed to propheſie, is not here particularly declared. p Junius thinks it's clear, he propheſied 45 years, and probably

probably above. q Alsted, about 60. years. r Pareus saith, Some think he Propheſied 70 years; others, 90 years. s Calvin saith, he propheſied at leaſt 64 years although there be a probable conjecture, yea almoſt a certain reaſon that he propheſied 10 years more, viz. 74 in all. Theſe two things are certain, 1. That Iſaiah propheſied in the dayes of all thoſe 4 Kings forenamed, Iſa. 1. 1. and therefore that ſometime in Uzziahs dayes muſt needs be allowed to him as well as in the reſt. Nor doth that Viſion hinder in Iſa 6. as t Calvin hath cleared it. 2. That Uzziah (alias Azariah, 2. Kings 15. 32.) reigned 52 years, 2 Kings 15. 1. 2. Jotham 16 years, 2 King. 15. 33. Ahaz 16 years, 2 King. 16. 1. 2. and Hezekiah 29 years, 2 Kings 18. 1, 2. The total of all their reigns together about 113. Now it's evident that Iſaiah propheſied in the year that Uzziah dyed, Iſai. 6. 1. and by the propheſies foregoing, that chap. it's likely he Propheſied before that a good while; u Calvin thinks, from the time that King Uzziah was ſmitten with Leaproſie in the Temple. But ſuppoſe onely 2 years in all under Uzziah, 16 years under Jotham, 16 under Ahaz, 14 years under Hezzekiah; for Hezekiah Reigning 29 years in all, in his 15 year Iſaiah was ſent to him in his ſickneſs to tell him God would adde to his dayes 15 years. 2 King. 20. 4, 5, 6. and after that Iſaiah threatens the Babyloniſh Captivity, upon Hezekiah's ſhewing all his Treaſures to the Babyloniſh Ambaſſadors, ver. 14. &c. Here's in all 48. years clear. Now ſuppoſing that Iſaiah was ſawen aſunder by Manaſſeh, there's 15. years more under Hezekiah, and one year at leaſt under Manaſſeh; and ſo you have ſixty four years in all, the time of Iſaiah's Prophecy. O what a long time for him to preach to a rebellious and gain-ſaying People! Iſaiah 65. 2. Rom. 10. 21. How patient and diligent then ſhould Gods Miniſters be in their functions, though their Peoples profitings for a long time anſwer not their labours among them.

§. III. Scope.

The chief aims of this Prophecy are 1 To detect, reprove, aggravate and condemn the ſins of x Judah and Jeruſalem eſpecially, and after that, the iniquities of the Ten Tribes of Iſrael, and the abominations of many other Countries and People of the Gentiles, threatning againſt all ſorts and degrees of Perſons, Jews and Gentiles moſt ſevere judgements, 2 To invite Jews and Gentiles of all ſorts, (except the Babyloans, who by reaſon of their Pride and Perſecution of the Church of God, did bear the Image of the Kingdome of the World, and of the ſpiritual Babylon, devoted to endleſs deſtruction with the Devil himſelf, no promiſes of Mercy at all being mingled with the threatnings of Babylon, as is uſual in threatnings of all other People, which is very obſervable,) unto repentance and reformation, with many ſweet alluring, Evangelical promiſes of pardon and mercy. 3. To comfort and ſupport all the truely godly and faithful ones, (in midſt of all the judgements and calamities threatned to wicked men and hypocrites,) with clear Promiſes of the true MESSIAH, as the onely ſufficient remedy againſt all ſin and miſery, ſetting forth his Godhead, Manhood, Incarnation and Nativtiy of a Virgin, State of Humiliation and Exaltation, and the Execution of the office of a Saviour in both; As a Prophet by his wonderful Wiſdome, heavenly Doctrine, &c. As a Prieſt by his manifold ſufferings and death pathetically deſcribed; and as a King by his powerful and peaceable Government of his Church, enriching her with many bleſſings, and ſpecially with the gift of the Holy-Ghoſt, and promiſing to enlarge her glory wonderfully by the plentiful acceſs and converſion of the Gentiles unto her; which in this Prophet is more fully and to the life deſcribed, then in any other.

§. VI. Principal Parts.

In this admirable Book are considerable, 1, The Inscription. 2. The Substance of the Prophecy it self.

I. The Inscription of the whole Prophecy, where are the 1. Penman, Isaiah. 2. Kind of it, Vision. 3. Object concerned herein, to whom it was especially intended, Judah and Ierusalem. 4. Time when, in dayes of 4. Kings, &c. Chap. I. ver. 1. CHAP. I.

II. The Substance of the whole Prophecy it self, in all that follows, is chiefly 1. Reprehensory, Chap. 1. to 13. 2. Minatory, Chap. 13. to 36. 3. Narratory, Chap. 36. to 40. 4. Promissory, Chap. 40. to the end of the Book.

REPREHENSORY, Sharp Reproofs and threatnings of the Jews for their sins, with promises to the Penitent intermingled, are laid down, Chap. 1. ver. 2, to Chap. 13. 1. More Particularly, they are blamed, for I.

1. Ingratitude under Mercies, ver. 2, 3, 4.

2. Incorrigibleness under universal judgements, much lamented, ver. 5. to 10.

3. Blood and other abominations abounding among them, For which all their Religious services were abominated of God, ver. 10. to 16. From which they are dehorted by promises to the Penitent, ver. 16. to 20. And threatnings to the impenitent, ver. 20.

4. Injustice and cruel oppression, especially in the City Jerusalem, 1. Described, ver. 21, 22, 23. 2. Aggravated, ver. 24 3. Restauration of opposite judgement and righteousness Promised, ver. 25, 26. 27. 4. Threatned, ver. 28. to the end of the Chap.

5. Multitude of their other sins. Where, 1. Seeing former Reproofs prevailed not to reform the Jewes, the calling of the Gentiles and exalting of Christs Kingdom among them is promised to provoke them to jealousie, Chap. II. ver. 1. to 6. 2. Their various sins like those of other Countries are mentioned, ver. 6 to 10. 3. These sins sharply threatned, ver. 10. to the end of the chap. and Chap. III. ver. 1. to 9. CHAP. II. CHAP. III.

6. Impudency and boldness in sinning, Described and threatned to the Wicked, with contrary Promises to the righteous, ver. 9. 10, 11.

7. Oppression in their Rulers, ver. 11. to 16.

8. Pride in their Women, Described and severely threatned with woful desolation, ver. 16. to the end of the Chap. and Chap IV. 1. These threatnings being illustrated by opposite Promises of the Kingdome of Christ, the Branch, whereby the remnant of Israel escaped, shall be purified and protected, ver. 2. to the end of the chap. CHAP. IV.

9. Unthankful requitals of Christ for all his spiritual husbandry bestowed upon the Church of the Jews. These requitals are described, 1. More Generally under the Parable of a Vineyard yielding wild-Grapes, Chap. V. 1. to 8. 2 More Particularly, in many notorious instances of their wickednesse, wofully threatned, ver. 8. to the end of the chap. CHAP. V.

10. Obstinacy, Stupidity, and Obdurateness of the peoples hearts, which was not onely their sin, but Gods judgement on them for reproving their sin. 1. The Prophet is previously confirmed and encouraged by a Vision of the LORD in his Glory, Chap VI. 1. to 9. 2. Their obstinacy, their sin and Gods judgement upon them to their desolation, described, ver. 9. to 13. 3. Promises of mercy notwithstanding to the holy seed, ver. 13. CHAP. VI.

11. Diffidence and unbelief of King Ahaz and his people in times of Danger; where note I. The particular cause of their diffidence and fear, viz. the Conspiracy of Rezin King of Syria, and Pekah King of Israel against Judah and Jerusalem, Ch. VII. 1, 2. 2. The Aggravation of their unbelief, 1. Partly, in that they took not courage at the comfortable message of Isaiah Gods Prophet promising their preservation, ver. 3. to 10. 2 Partly in that Ahaz distrusting the Prophet, refuseth to ask a Signe, as God gave him liberty for his further establishment, ver. 10. to 14. 3 Partly, by Gods promising to give them a Sign, viz. y Immanuel to be born of a Virgin. Christ being promised of old to the Church (in z whom all the Promises are yea and amen) that the faithful might by the promise of Christ be encouraged to believe all other promises generall and particular: therefore their unbelief of these promises of present deliverance was the worse, ver. 14, 15, 16. 3. The sad effects or consequences of this unbelief, viz. 1. To King Ahaz; and his family and people, grievous desolation by the Assyrians is threatned, ver. 17. to the end of the chap. 2. To Judah, (after Assyria shall have wasted Syria and Israel, Ch. 8. 1, 2, 3, 4.) whose judgements by the Assyrian are threatned irresistably, ver. 5. to 11. and Amplyfied, Partly, by three sorts of sins (like a King Sauls sins) the procurer of these judgements, viz. Carnal Confidence in outward means of safety, while God is distrusted, ver. 11. to 16. Pertinacious obstinacy, the people not regarding, but slighting Gods prophecy, it was only to be imparted to his Disciples, ver. 16, 17, 18. Consultation with Devils, ver. 19. 20. Partly by the extremity of the judgements themselves, ver. 21, 22. IV. The Consolations annexed, for the support of the godly in Judah and Israel against these wofull future judgements; and this upon divers grounds, viz. 1. That these judgements should not be so extream as former calamities, nor perpetual, because of Gods kindness to his people in Christ to come into the World, who should deliver his Church fully from all her miseries by his Dominion, and his deliverance should begin, where her distress began, in b Galilee, Chap. IX. 1. to 8. This consolation is amplyfied by a Description of those times wherein these evils were to be endured till Christs coming, CHAP. VII.

y Immanuel promised. z 2 Cor. 1. 20.

CHAP. VIII.

a 1 Chron 10. 13.

b Christ first began his pub. like preaching of the Gospel in Galilee, Mat 4. 12. to 19. Mar. 1. 14, 15. Luk. 4. 14, 15. Joh. 4. 43, &c.

CHAP. IX.

CHAP. X. for their 1 Pride, ver. 8. to 13. 2 Impenitency under judgments, ver. 13. to 18. 3 Obstinate wickedness, ver. 18. to the end of the chap. And 4 Tyranny of their Governours, Ch. X. 1. to 5. 2. That the Assyrians, his peoples oppressing enemies, shall utterly be destroyed; here 1 The Assyrians destruction is propounded, ver. 5, 6. 2 Their counsels and actions whereby they procure to themselves this destruction is declared, ver. 7. to 16. 3 The course which the Lord will take for his peoples deliverance, ver. 16. to 28. with his whole expedition against the Assyrian for them, ver. 28. to the end of the chap. 3. That the Kingdome of Christ descending of the Royal stock, shall be erected among them, which is the Fountain of all deliverances General and Special, Temporal and Spiritual, Chap. XI. where the Person and Office of Christ are described, ver. 1. to 6. The effects of his Office declared, ver. 6. to the end of the chap. All these comforts finally are shut up with the Churches Song of Praise for these comforts against and deliverances from all former calamities, Chap. XII. throughout.

Thus farre of that part of the Prophecy which is chiefly Reprehensory.

MINATORY. Chap. XIII to ch. 30. In this part of his Prophecy are threatnings, 1. Against the enemies of the Jewish Church. 2. Against the Jewes themselves.

I. Against the enemies of the Jewish Church, many threatnings are denounced for the Churches sake, chap 13. to 28. As CHAP. XIII. I. Against BABYLON and the Chaldeans. Here 1. God mustereth up his Armies from farre, Chap. XIII 1. to 6. 2. Babylons destruction is threatned by the Medes and Persians, ver. 6. to 19. 3. The woful ruine of Babylon is pathetically described, ver. 19. to the end of the chap. 4. The restauration of the Jewes hereupon from Babylons bondage is promised, Chap. XIV. 1, 2, 3. 5. The triumph of Gods People over Babylons ruines, is lively delineated, ver. 4. to 24. 6. The Peremptorinesse of Gods purpose to ruine Babylon, ver. 24. to 28. 7. The time of this burden in the year that King Ahaz died, ver. 29.

CHAP. XIV II. Against PALESTINA. Here the Philistines are threatned to be plagued by King Hezekiah, now beginning to reign, though they rejoyced at the death of his Predecessours, their enemies, ver. 29, 30, 31, 32.

III. Against MOAB. Where 1. Moabs lamentable condition, in her cities and towns, by reason of judgments threatned, is described, Chap. XV. throughout. 2. The procuring causes of those judgments mentioned. viz. Moab's Perfidiousnesse with Israel, in not paying c tribute of Lambs, as was agreed with David and Solomon, Chap. XVI. 1, 2. 2 Cruelty and inhumanity to neighbouring Israel, ver. 3, 4, 5. 3 Pride, ver. 6. to 22. 3. CHAP. XVII. IV. Against DAMASCUS, the Metropolis of Syria, and against Israel, confederate with Syria against Judah. Where 1 The ruine of Syria and Israel is threatned, Chap. XVII. 1. to 6. 2. Mercy is promised to a small remnant reforming, ver. 6, 7, 8. 3. The sins, for which this ruine is threatned, ver. 9, 10, 11.

V. Against the ASSYRIANS, for wasting Israel, ver. 12, 13, 14.

VI. Against the ETHIOPIANS, 1. Their destruction is threatned for the good of Gods people, Chap. XVIII. 1. to 7. 2. Thereby the Church shall be increased, ver. 7.

CH. XVIII.

CHAP. XIX. VII. Against EGYPT. Where 1. Egypts destruction is threatned, Chap. XIX. 1 to 18. 2. Her judgment is mitigated by promises of aggregating part of Egypt and of Assyria unto the Church of God, ver. 18. to the end.

CHAP. XX. VIII. Against both EGYPTIANS and ETHIOPIANS together, whose shameful captivity by the Assyrians is threatned, under the Type of Isaiah going naked and barefoot, Chap. XX. throughout.

d Compare ch. 21. 1. and v. 9. CHAP. XXI. IX. Against BABYLON, (called d the Desert of the Sea.) Where note, 1. The threatning it self, setting forth the grievousnesse of her judgments; the causes thereof; and the instruments inflicting them, Chap. XXI. 1. to 6. 2. A Propherical vision declaring the manner of Babylons being taken, ver. 6. to 10. 3. An Apostrophe to the Church, confirming to her the certainty of this Prophecy, ver. 10.

X. Against IDUMEA, called Dumah, wherein are 1. A Question of the scornful Idumean to the watchman, what he sees of the night, ver. 11. 2. The watchmans answer inviting him to repentance, ver. 12.

XI. Against ARABIA. Where 1. The destruction of the Arabians is threatned, ver. 13, 14, 15. 2. The time of this destruction is defined, ver. 16, 17.

e Compare c. 21. 1. with v. 8, 10. CHAP. XXII. XII. Against JUDEA and JERUSALEM under the name of e The valley of Vision. (This burden is inserted among the rest, to evidence Gods impartiality in his Justice, and his Peoples impunity if they sin, judgment beginning at the house of God. Here are I. General threatnings against Judah and Jerusalem; containing 1. A Description of their lamentable calamities coming upon them, Chap. XXII. 1. to 8. 2. The procuring causes of these calamities, viz. their security in munitions and fenced cities, neglect of God, impenitency, luxury in time of publique miseries, and contempt of the Prophets, Let us eat and drink, &c. ver. 8. to 14. 3. The Conclusion, wherein is Gods resolute sentence of plaguing them, ver. 14. II. Particular threatnings against Shebna, an old Courtier, set over the Kings house as is supposed in King Ahaz his time, whom King Hezekiah could not easily remove, he is thought to countenance evil doers, and hinder Reformation. Here, 1. The removal of Shebna is denounced, ver. 15. to 20. 2. The substitution of Eliakim into his place and office, ver. 20 to the end of the chap.

XIII. Finally against TYRE. Where note 1. Tyres miserable destruction is described, Ch. XXIII. 1. to 15. 2. How long her miſeries ſhall laſt, 70. years, ver. 15,16,17. 3. Tyres converſion to the Church at laſt, is promiſed, ver. 18. CH. XXIII.

As a Cloſe or Concluſion to all theſe former COMMINATIONS, here is annexed another Sermon of the Prophets contained in ch. 24, 25, 26, 27. wherein note chiefly theſe three parts, viz.

1. A Prophetical Narration of the judgments which God would for his Churches ſake effect. Here conſider, 1. Gods judgments upon the earth, and his favour to his Church, Chap. XXIV. 1. to 16. CHAP. XXIV.
2. The confirmation of theſe threatned judgments, that they ſhall come to paſſe; Partly, from their preſent ſins, which God cannot but be avenged of, ver 16,17,18. Partly, from the faithfulneſſe of all creatures in heaven and earth to execute them, ver. 19. to the end of the chap. 3. The uſe which the Church ſhall make hereof, viz. She ſhall celebrate his praiſe for it, Chap. XXV. 1. to 6. CHAP. XXV.

2. A Declaration of the forme and manner both in which God will execute theſe judgments, and in which the Church ſhall praiſe the Lord for ſo doing. I. The forme how God will execute his judgments, 1. Partly, by inviting the Nations his enemies, by his Word, to partake Chriſts banquet, viz. Communion with him in his Spiritual proviſions, ver. 6. to 10. 2. Partly, by deſtroying the contumacious that proudly exalt themſelves againſt him. ver 10,11,12. II. The forme how the Church ſhall praiſe the LORD for theſe proceedings foretold. Chap XXVI throughout. Wherein are, CHAP. XXVI.
1. The Churches Gratulation for her future deliverance from captivity promiſed, and her conſtant defence, ver. 1,2,3. 2 An exhorration hereupon to all to truſt in God, ver. 4 to 12. 3. A Profeſſion of her confidence in God, for her perpetual defence and her enemies final overthrow, amplyfied by the exaggeration of her calamities, the manner of her wraſtling out of them, and the certainty of Gods Promiſes, verſe 12 to 20.

3. An inſtruction of the people of God. 1. Touching their Office. viz. to truſt in God in times of publique judgments. ver. 20. 2. Touching Gods promiſes, which are partly from bringing down her proudeſt and ſtrongeſt enemies, verſe 21. and Chap. XXVII. 1. Partly for advancing the Churches happineſſe by the ſingular care and watchfulneſs of the Lord over her, ver. 2. to the end of the chap. CH. XXVII.

Thus farre of Gods threatnings chiefly againſt the enemies of Gods Church the Jewes.

II. Againſt the Jewes themſelves, many threatnings alſo are pronounced, ch. 28. to 36. Both in reſpect of Iſraels captivity by the Aſſyrians, and Judahs by the Babylonians.

I. Iſraels Captivity is threatned by the Aſſyrians for their pride and drunkenneſſe; and this for a warning to Judah, Chap. XXVIII. 1. to 5. This is amplyfied by a Prophecy touching Judah, wherein are, 1. A promiſe of defending the godly, and preſerving the Kingdome of Judah, notwithſtanding the captivity of the ten tribes, ver. 5,6. 2. A complaint and accuſation againſt Judah for their ſins, verſe 7. to 14. 3. A denouncing of puniſhments for them, mingled with ſome conſolations of the godly in the Meſſiah to come, verſe 14 to 22. 4. An exhortation to make a right uſe of all by repentance, ver. 22. to the end. CH. XXVIII.

II. Judah's and Jeruſalem's Captivity (under the name of † Ariel,) is threatned by the Babylonians. Herein conſider † Ariel. Heb. The Lyon of the ſtrong God.

1. Jeruſalem is ſo called becauſe it was anciently a moſt ſtrong place; ſaith Hierome on this v. 2 Some think the Temple is ſo called, becauſe it was built in figure ſomewhat like a Lyon, the fore part broad, the hinder part narrow. 3. Some think hereby is eſpecially meant the Altar; the Altar of the New Jeruſalem, being called Ariel in Ezek 43 16. this is further confirmed by that ſpeech Iſa. 29. 2. And it ſhall be to me as Ariel. The Altar is called Ariel, either becauſe of the ſtrength of Gods Promiſes, or becauſe like a Lyon it devoured the Sacrifices; or becauſe the Altar was a token of Gods Preſence, and conſequently of the cities ſafety. Synechdochically the Temple and City are called Ariel, and threatned under that name, becauſe the Jewes placed more ſafety in the Altar, a pledge of Gods Preſence, then in any thing elſe. Vid. Calv. in loc. Pareus in loc. Jun. Annot. in loc.

1. The deep calamities of Jeruſalem by the Babylonians, and reiection of the Jewes threatned, Chap. XXIX. 1. to 9. For, 1. Their ſenſeleſs ſtupidity, ver. 9. to 13. 2. Their hypocriſie, ver. 13,14. 3. Their Atheiſtical ſecurity, notwithſtanding Gods all-ſeeing eye, ver. 15,16,17. 2. This threatning is amplyfied by the care that God will take in midſt of theſe judgments, to preſerve and ſanctifie his Church againſt all Concuſſions, ver. 18. to the end of the chap. CHAP. XXIX.

2. The woe threatned to the Jewes for departing from God, and relying on Egypt for help againſt her enemies, wherein are, 1. The ſumme of the judgments threatned, Chap XXX. 1. to 8 2. The Lords command to the Prophet to make a record of their perverſneſs and rebellion in a Book, whereby they pull down vengeance on their heads, ver. 8. to 15. 3 The conteſt betwixt God and the People, comparing their rebellion with his command, ver. 15. declaring their great calamities, ver. 16,17. Promiſing reſtauration and great mercies to the faithful in his Church that wait for him, ver. 18. to 27. 4. The confirmation of this Prophecy, by the deſtruction of Sennacherib King of Aſſyria threatned, ver. 27. to the end of the chap. 5. The folly and vanity of truſting in Egypt for help, eſpecially God himſelf being reſolved to protect Mount Sion, if they would repent and turn to him, Chap. XXXI. 1. to 8. and to deſtroy the Aſſyrian, ver. 8, 9. CHAP. XXX. CHAP. XXXI.

3. Divers conſolations propounded to the Elect againſt thoſe foretold calamities, drawn from the Kingdome of Chriſt, which afterwards ſhall be erected among them, Chap. XXXII. Where are, 1. An excellent Repreſentation of the conſtitution and condition of Chriſts Kingdome, ver. 1. to 9. CH. XXXII.

2. An

2. An Ehortation of the Jewes to prevent by Repentance the calamities threatned before the conſtitution of this kingdome of Chriſt, ver. 9. to 15, 3. A Narration of the bleſſings of Chriſts kingdome, ver. 15 to the end of the chap. 4. Gods Deſtruction of the Churches enemies when they are at the higheſt, ſhe at loweſt, is 1. Threatned, Ch. XXXIII. 1. to 3. 2. Illuſtrated by the terror of Sions ſinners and hypocrites hereat, v. 13, 14, And by the oppoſite ſafety, and glorious bleſſings of the upright, elegantly deſcribed, ver. 15. to the end of the chap. 3. Deſcribed moſt lively and pathetically. Ch. XXXIV. 1. to 16. 4. Confirmed as inevitable, ver. 16. 17. 5. Hereupon the joyes and conſolations of the Church of God ſhall be wonderfull through the Goſpel and flouriſhing kingdome of Chriſt, moſt Rhetorically delivered, Ch. XXXV. throughout.

Amplyfied 1. By the report hereof to King Hezekiah, ver. 22. 2. By Hezekiah's great perplexity at the report, ſending to the Prophet Iſaiah to pray for them, Ch. XXXVII. 1. to 6. 3. By Iſaiah's Meſſage back to the King from the Lord, encouraging him with their deliverance, and Senacheribs deſtruction in his own land, v. 6. 7. II. By a blaſphemous Letter to King Hezekiah, ver. 8. to 14. Touching which note, 1. Hezekiahs Acts about the Letter, he ſpreads it before the Lord in the Temple, and by Prayer indites Senacherib at Gods Bar, by Evidence of his own Letter, v. 14. to 21. 3. Iſaiahs Prophecy againſt proud inſolent Senacherib promiſing diverſion of the enemy, and the ſafe preſervation of Jeruſalem, v. 21. to 36. 4. The events upon this Prophecie, viz. The whole Army deſtroyed by an Angel in one night, v. 36 Senacheribs return to Nineveh, ver. 37. His untimely death, as he was in the act of his Idolatry, ver. 38.

II. More particular in reference to King Hezekiah himſelf, wherein note

C.XXXVIII.

1. Hezekiahs mortall ſickneſs, Chap. XXXVIII. Amplyfied 1. By the meſſage of death ſent him from the Lord by Iſaiah the Prophet, v. 9. 2. By Hezekiahs, prayers and tears upon that meſſage, ver. 2 3.

2. Hezekiah's Recovery, 1. Promiſed by the Prophet Iſaiah, and the Promiſe confirmed by a ſigne, g The Sun goeth back ten degrees, ver. 4. to 2. 2. Celebrated by Hezekiah in his Thankfull writing, v. 9. to 25. 3. Deſcribed, Partly by the means applyed for his recovery, ver. 25. Partly by the occaſion of Gods giving him a ſigne, viz. Hezekiahs queſtion, ver. 26.

g The Sun goeth back ten degrees.

3. Merodach-Baladan King of Babylon's Congratulation of Hezekiah's Recovery, by Letters and a Preſent ſent to him, Ch. XXXIX. 1. Amplified 1. By Hezekiah's entertainment of them with gladneſs, imprudently ſhowing them all his treaſures, ver. 2. 2. By Iſaiahs threatning hereupon the Babyloniſh captivity, occaſioned by this act of Hezekiah, which threatning Hezekiah ſubmiſſively receives, ver. 3. to the end of the Chapt.

CH. XXXIX.

Thus far of that part of this Prophecy which is chiefly Narratory.

IV. PROMISSORY, conſiſting principally of ſweeteſt Evangelical Promiſes. 1. For Reſtauration of the Church of the Jews, from the miſery that ſhould befall them then in the Babyloniſh captivity Ch. 39, to 49. 2. For compleating and conſummation of the Churches deliverance and glory in the Goſpel times by Chriſt himſelf, adding the Gentiles unto his Church, chap. 49. to the end.

IV.

I. CONSOLATORY PROMISES of delivering the Jews by Cyrus (the firſt Perſian Monarch) from the Babylonian captivity: under which is myſtically ſhadowed out the Elects ſpirituall deliverance by the Meſſiah (the fountain of all freedome,) from ſin, death, hell; (which is the height and glory of all deliverances.) Now theſe conſolatory promiſes are 1. General. 2. Speciall.

I. General Promiſes, for the comforting of the Church of God in all ages againſt greateſt extremities of miſeries and ſtraits, by Evangelical promiſes of ſpirituall deliverance in Chriſt the true Meſſiah, Chap. 40 to 43. ver. 14. Here obſerve,

1, The Goſpel Doctrine and conſolation is propounded, the Church hath paid double in Chriſt for all her ſins, Chap. XL. 1. 2. hereupon her deliverance againſt all difficulties, is I. Publiſhed, 1. By the preaching of h John Baptiſt Chriſts fore-runner. ver. 3. to 9. 2. By the preaching of the Apoſtles and other Miniſters of the Goſpel, ver. 9, 10, 11. II. Confirmed by divers Arguments drawn, 1. Partly from Gods ability to deliver them, being incomparably excelling all creatures in Power, ver. 12. Wiſdome, ver. 13, 14. Infinite Majeſty, ver. 15, 16, 17. Whereupon the folly and vanity of idoll-makers, &c. is reproved, ver. 8. to 27. and his peoples diffidence in God in ſtraits is blamed, v. 27. to the end of the chap. 2. Partly from Gods ſingular benefits ſhewed to Abraham of old, and to his Church, ch. XLI. to 10. III. Repeated; here are many encouraging promiſes touching Gods aſſiſtallsufficient protection and deliverance of his people, but the destruction of their enemies, ver. 10. to 21. Now all these consolations are concluded with an elegant confutation of all vain confidence in Idols or any thing else, God alone in Christ being the deliverer of his people, ver. 21. to the end of the chap.

2. Christ the true Messiah (Author of all deliverance and happinesse to his Church) is Evangelically described, ch. 42. 1. to ch. 43. 18. where 1. Christs Office to the Church, according to Gods vocation of him, Chap. XLII. 1. to 10. amplyfied by the Churches duty of thankfulnes to Christ, ver. 10, 11, 12. 2. The Acts which God will do by Christ, lively represented, ver. 13. to 18. 3. His people are 1 Partly taxed for their great stupidity and incredulity, ver. 18. to the end. 2 Partly encouraged and comforted with sweet promises of Gods compassions, deliverances, and salvations of his Church in Christ, Chap. XLIII. 1. to 14.

II. Special or Particular Promises for the comfort of the Jewes against their future Babylonish Captivity, assuring them of deliverance thence by Cyrus the Persian, ch. 43. 14. to 49. and this 1. Summarily. 2. Largely.

1. Summarily and more obscurely: wherein 1. Babylons ruine is foretold, ver. 14, 15, 16, 17. 2. The Jewes deliverance out of Babylon is promised, not for their sakes, but meerly his own grace, pardoning their sin, ver. 18. to the end of the chap. and bestowing his spirit and blessing upon them in Christ, Chap. XLIV. 1. to 6.

CHAP. XLIV.

2. Largely and more clearly, wherein I. By way of Exordium, as it were, God asserts his faithfulnes, encouraging his people in the certainty of his Promises; and this 1. From his own eternal omnipotent and most constant nature, not like the vain and foolish Idols of Babylon, ver. 6. to 21. 2. From his faithful Covenant with Israel, ver. 21, 22, 23. and the excellent effect of that Covenant that should come to passe on Israel by i Cyrus, ver. 24. to the end of the chap. II. God makes a Narration of his wonderful Acts that he will do by Cyrus in destroying Babylon, and restoring Israel out of it. Where 1. The Nomination, divine call and assistance of Cyrus to this great work, Chap. XLV. 1, 2, 3, 4. 2. The Causes as it were inducing God hereunto, viz. Partly, that God and his faithfulnes to his people may be acknowledged by Cyrus, by the Nations, and by all creatures, ver. 5, 6, 7, 8 Partly, that Babylons blasphemy and wickednes may be plagued, ver. 9. to 14. Partly, That hereby the Nations farre and near may be brought to serve and worship God with his Church, ver. 14. to 18. whom God invites to himself with promises of confirming and increasing them in the knowledge and faith of Christ, ver. 18. to the end. 3. The impossibility of preventing this work of God; For all Babylons idols cannot prevent it, being unable to help themselves, and no way comparable to God, Chap. XLVI. throughout. All Babylons wisdome, power, witchcrafts shall not be able to prevent it: Babylon being devoted to destruction for her unmercifulnes to the Jewes, and her intolerable pride, Chap. XLVII. throughout. 4. Gods contestation with his people about this their deliverance, as being not at all for their sakes, they being hypocritical and obstinate in wickednes, Chap. XLVIII. 1. to 9. but meerly for his own glory and righteousnes sake, ver. 9, 10, 11. 5. The Confirmation of this Prophecy, by the greatnes of God, and his works, ver. 12. to 16. III. The Conclusion of these Promises for their deliverance; Wherein God 1. Intimateth to them the cause of their sufferings in Babylon, viz. their own disobedience to God, ver. 16. to 20. 2. Inciteth for the encouragement of the godly, his people to come out of Babylon, thereby assuring them of deliverance, ver. 20, 21, 22.

II. CONSOLATORY PROMISES of compleating the Spiritual deliverance and glory of the Church, especially in the accession of the Gentiles under the Gospel, by the true Messiah, chap. 49. to the end of the book. Herein consider,

1. The Preface to all these Evangelical Promises. Wherein is the summe of what is afterwards more largely explained. As, 1. Christs call to his Mediatory Office, Chap. XLIX. 1, 2, 3. 2. Christs complaint of the frustration of his endeavours in gathering the Jewes, ver. 4. 3. Christs comfort from the LORD (though Israel be not gathered) in the calling of the Gentiles by him, to the great joy of the Church, ver. 5. to 14. Amplyfied, Partly by Gods perpetual love to his Church, though the Jewes thought themselves forsaken, ver. 14. to 18. Partly, by the great enlargement and prosperity of the Church, Kings and Queens being their nursing fathers and mothers, ver. 18. to 24. Partly, by her great deliverance and protection against all her enemies, ver. 24, 25, 26.

CH. XLIX.

II. Comforts and Reproofs to the Jewes, especially touching Gods forsaking of them. Herein consider,

1. Christs expostulation with the Jewes about their direliction, demonstrating that it was from themselves and their own sins, not from him that they were forsaken. 1. From his ability to save them, Chap. L. 1. to 5. 2. From his obediential willingnes to do, or endure any thing, through Gods assistance to that end, ver. 5. to 10.

CHAP. L.

2. Christs invitation of them to faith and repentance, whether they were godly or hypocrites, ver. 10, 11. The godly remnant being encouraged to believe in the LORD; 1. From their father Abrahams example. Ch. LI. 1, 2. 2. From Gods Promises to Sion, ver. 3. 3. From his everlasting righteousnes and salvation, ver. 4. to 9. This invitation is amplyfied, I. By the Remnants faithful prayer to God for this salvation promised, ver. 9, 10, 11. II. Gods Answer returned to that prayer, wherein the faithful Remnant of the Jewes are comforted against their Adversaries. 1. By the vast disparity betwixt their enemies imbecility on the one hand, the Churches dignity and Gods omnipotency on the other hand, ver. 12, 13. 2. By Promises of their Restauration, whereupon they are encouraged to wait on God for their deliverance, and their enemies destruction, ver. 14. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. LI.

CHAP. LII.

3. Christs exhortation of the remnant of the Jewes, 1. To embrace him and his free Redemption of them out of bondage and misery, Chap. LII. 1. to 7. 2. To accept joyfully the Ministers and Ministry of the Gospel, which publisheth the glorious constitution of Christs Kingdom in his Person, after his deep humiliation ver. 7. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. LIII.

k Christs passion Evangelically prophesied.

4. The reprehension of the Jewish Church for not believing the Gospel of Christ, but being scandalized thereat; Partly, from his infirmity and meanness, Partly from his k Cross, Chap. LIII. 1, 2, 3. Amplyfied by the remedy applyed against this scandal, viz. A Declaration, 1. Of the true causes of his meanness and sufferings; not his own, but our sins laid upon him as our Surety, ver. 4. to 8. 2. Of the events of all his visible meanness and sufferings, viz. His own glorious deliverance from them, and his Churches saving benefits by them, ver. 8. to the end of the chap.

5. Christs death being described (at which the Jewes were scandalized) in former chap. Next, the happy fruits and effects of his Death upon his Church, especially in respect of the Gentiles, are promised and declared; 1 More Generally. 2 More Particularly. I. More Generally, in reference to the whole Church, Ch. LIV. wherein note, 1. The Propagation of the Church among the Gentiles throughout all the world, promised, ver. 1, 2, 3. 2. Her constant reconciliation to, or marriage with God in Christ, confirmed, ver. 4. to 11. 3 Her beautiful and glorious Restauration, and Protection against all her enemies, ver. 11. to the end of the chap. II. More particularly, in reference to those that were to be regenerated and called: wherein 1. They are sweetly invited to faith in Christ, Ch. LV. 1. to 6. 2. They are called to repentance and reformation, ver. 6, 7. 3. These duties are enforced by several Arguments and Evangelical Promises, ver. 8. to the end of the chap. 4. They are invited to holiness of life, with promises of blessedness, Ch. LVI. 1, 2. 5. Discouraging Objections are answered, that might deterre any from coming in to Christ; the Stranger and Eunuch shall be accepted, if they will repent and believe, ver. 3, to 9.

6 The grievous judgments by many sorts of adversaries, as Assyrians, Babylonians, Grecians, &c. are threatned to the Jewes for their sins. Here are, I. The judgments themselves threatned, v. 9. II. The Sinnes procuring these judgments, viz. 1. The blindness, sluggishness, covetousness, and sensuality of their watchmen, ver. 10, 11, 12. 2. The stupid security of the people, not considering how the righteous are taken away from wrath to come, Ch. LVII. 1, 2. 3. Their whorish idolatry, v. 3. to 13. Amplified, Partly by promises of favour and pardon to them that will trust in the LORD and repent, ver. 13 to 20. Partly by threatnings of disquiet to the wicked impenitent, ver. 20, 21. 4 Their hypocrisie, and that particularly in external Fasting and Sabbath-keeping; directing them how to fast, and how to sanctifie the Sabbath truly, with several promises to both, Ch. LVIII. throughout. 5. Their manifold corruptions and iniquities particularized, procureis of all their calamities, Ch. LIX. 1. to 9. Amplified 1 Partly by the Prophets bewailing these sins in the Churches name, ver. 9. to 16. 2 Partly by the Lords Promises to deliver and save the penitent among them, whilst his enemies shall be destroyed, verse 16. to the end of the chap.

CH. LIX.

III. Sweetest Evangelical Promises and Comforts to the Church, especially in reference to the Calling of the GENTILES. Herein are considerable,

CHAP. LX.

1. The surpassing glory of the Church in the conversion of the Gentiles thereto. Here, 1. The Church is incited by the LORD to shine forth in the light of the Gospel, Ch. LX. 1, 2, 3. 2. The great multitude of Gentiles from all Nations flowing into the Church, ver. 4. to 15. 3. The singular benefits accrewing to the Church by accesse of the Gentiles, verse 15. to the end.

CHAP. LXI.

2. The office and influence of Christ for procuring his Churches glory and happinesse. Here note 1. The Office, and Qualifications of Christ thereunto, Ch. LXI. 1. 2, 3. 2. The excellent effects of that Office upon the Church, ver. 4 to the end of the Chap.

CHAP. LXII.

3 Christs fervent desire to crown his Church with perfect glory, Ch. LXII 1. to 6. 4. His appointment of Watchmen in his Church incessantly to promote her happiness, by prayer and preaching the Gospel, ver 6. to the end. 5. His victory over his and his Churches enemies, having stained his raiment with their blood, Ch. LXIII. 1. to 7.

CHAP. LXIII.

3 The Churches addresse to God for relief in her great afflictions: 1. Acknowledging Gods ancient loving-kindnesses to his people Israel, ver 7. to 15. 2. Praying earnestly for the favour of the LORD to them in the restauration of their Cities, and Sanctuary laid waste for their sins, which they lament, ver. 15. to the end, and Ch. LXIV. throughout. To this prayer, the LORD returns Answer, wherein he declares, 1. The calling of the Gentiles (able to make a Church, though Jews be cast off) Ch. LXV 1. 2. The Rejection of the Jews for their unbelief, idolatry and hypocrisie, ver. 2. to 8. Yet the Reservation of a Remnant repenting, ver. 8. to 11, to whom blessings are promised contrary to the judgments of the wicked, ver. 11. to 17. 3. The blessed and joyful state of the New Jerusalem, made up of the Gentiles and remnant of the faithful Jews, is admirably described, ver. 17. to the end.

CHAP. LXIV.

CHAP. LXV.

4. The Rejection of the Jewish Synagogue, Temple, &c. and the Constitution of the Christian Church under the New Testament is described, Chap. LXVI. Wherein, 1. He declareth against hypocrites and ungodly ones, that no outward Sanctuary nor external Sacrifices can please him, without inward poverty of spirit, contrition and trembling at his word; and therefore wicked hypocrites should be destroyed, ver. 1. to 5. 2. He encourageth the gracious Remnant that tremble at his Word, by the confusion of hypocrites, &c. and the conversion of children to the Church, ver. 5. to 10. 3. He exhorteth the Churches friends to rejoyce with her, that they may share in her happinesse, ver. 10. to 15. 4. He promiseth excellent blessings and glory to his Church, increased by the calling of the Gentiles. New Heavens, New Earth, &c. while their wicked enemies shall be destroyed, verse 15. to the end of the Book.

AN

AN APPENDIX TO ISAIAH.

VIZ.

A Song, touching Gods degenerated Vineyard, the Church of the Jewes.

Isa. 5. 1. to 8.

§. I.

IN time of Vintage, [l] Songs of joy and mirth in their Vineyards was usual among friends when they had a plentiful Vintage: But here contrariwise is a Mournful Song touching Gods vineyard. S. Hierome stiles it [m] a lamentable Song, and a sorrowful Song. And indeed, if the Occasion, Subject-matter, and Scope of it be well considered, it justly deserves that title: For, as the Church may fitly be resembled by a Vineyard, A Vineyard [n] 1. Excelling other fields. 2. Being mean and feeble in fruit-trees. 3. Needing constant dressing and watching. 4. Her fruit being of great value. Judg 9 13. Psal. 104. 15. 5. And her stemme, if fruitless, of small or no consequence at all, Ezek. 15, throughout: So under the Parable of a degenerate Vineyard, the degenerate Church of God among the Jewes is reproved and threatned with desolation for their sowre Grapes of all manner of unrighteousness. This Reproof is digested into the forme of a Song, probably 1. To procure the more heedfull attention to it. 2. To move and affect their hearts more throughly with the matter of it. 3. To imprint it more indelibly in their memories, that (if possibly) this extraordinary way of Admonition might do them good, the ordinary way proving so fruitlesse to them. Penman of it was this Prophet Isaiah, as cannot be reasonably doubted by any; it being here inserted in the body of his Prophecie, and no where ascribed to any other Author.

l Isa. 16, 10. and 27. 2.

m Carmen lamentabile populo Israel. Carmen luguberrimæ vineæ suæ. Hier. com. in Isa. 5 Tom. 5.

n A Vineyard resembles a Church, five wayes.

§. II.

Occasion of this Song was the extream degenerate condition of Gods Vineyard, after all his heavenly husbandry bestowed thereon: viz. The hainous impieties and iniquities of the Church of the Jewes, after all the means of Grace which God had had bestow'd upon them above all people then in the world. Scope, 1. To convince them of Gods great kindnesse to them, affording them all good husbandry and means of fruitfulnesse: But of their deep unkindness to him in the ingrateful returns of no better fruit then the wild Grapes of grievous sins. 2. To forewarne them of the utter ruine and desolation that God would bring upon that degenerate Vineyard, without timely Repentance. 3. To evidence even to their own consciences, their own inexcuſeableneſs, and Gods inculpableneſſe herein. 4. Finally, to warne all the Churches of Chriſt (by Gods dealing with his Vineyard) that they bring not forth wild-grapes after all Chriſts Goſpel-husbandry, leſt they be un-Churched and deſtroyed.

Principal parts to this end, are

I. The Preface to the Song, ſetting forth 1. The Singer of this Song, [I] viz. The Prophet Iſaiah. 2. The Object to whom this Song is ſung, [To my Beloved, A Song of my Beloved.] viz. o To God; this is Gods Song. God is here brought in as ſpeaking againſt his Vineyard. Iſaias calls him [Beloved,] from the love and zeal he bears to God, thus unthankfully requited by his Church. 3. The Subject-matter, or Theme of the Song, [Touching his Vineyard] viz. The Jewiſh Church, Iſa. c. V. 1. 7.

o Thus Hierom. Calvin Pareus in loc. Some interpret it of Chriſt, and ſo the words may be taken as the Song of the Prophet in the Name of God the Father to his Son intruſted with his Vineyard. Vid. Jun. Annot. in loc.

II. The Subſtance of the Song it ſelf, containing 1. A Parable. 2. The Interpretation of it.

1. The Parable is of a degenerate Vineyard; Where note, I A Commendation, 1. Partly of the Vineyards moſt fruitful ſituation, ver. 1. 2. Partly of the Lords ſingular care, in fencing, ſtoning, planting, and defending of his Vineyard, ver. 2. II. An Exprobration or upbraiding of the Vineyard for its degenerating. Herein the Lord 1. Declares how his hopes of fruit were fruſtrated by wilde-grapes, ver. 2. 2. Appeals even to the men of Judah and Jeruſalem themſelves, to judge betwixt him and his Vineyard, that in their own conſciences they might condemn themſelves, and juſtifie Gods proceedings againſt them, ver. 3, 4. 3. Expoſtulates with his Vineyard about this cauſleſſe degenerating, ver. 4. III. A Manifeſtation of the Lords determinate purpoſe utterly to lay this Vineyard waſte, fenceleſs, fruitleſs, ver. 5, 6.

II. The Interpretation, or Accommodation of this Parable to the Church of the Jews, wherein is declared, 1. What this Vineyard is, viz. The houſe of Iſrael and men of Judah. 2. What the Grapes which God expected were, viz. Judgment and Righteouſneſſe. 3. What the wild-Grapes which in ſtead thereof they returned, were, viz. Oppreſſion like a Leproſie-ſcab, and a cry of their ſins for vengeance from Heaven, ver. 7. In which oppoſite termes in the Hebrew, there is, as p Hierome notes, a moſt elegant Paronomaſia, or alluſion in both the letters and ſounds of the words.

4. What to my Vineyard could be done
More then therein I wrought?
Why a look't I it ſhould bring forth Grapes,
And it wilde-grapes forth-brought?
5. And b now I'le tell you what c I'le do
To my Vineyard, and crop:
It's hedge d I will remove, and ſo
e It ſhall be eaten up:
Thereof I will break down the wall,
And it f trod down ſhall be.
6. And g I will lay it waſte, it ſhall
Not once be prun'd by me
Nor dig'd, but Brier and Thorne alone,

The Churches Song of Praiſe; For her great Deliverance from Babylon's Captivity, and Glorious Benefits by Chriſt her Saviour.

Iſa. XII. throughout

§. I.

Occaſion upon which the Prophet Iſaiah penned this Song of Praiſe, ſeems by the context to be this. The Lord having threatned to chaſtiſe his People the Jews with the Babyloniſh Captivity for their ſins, Chap. 10. ver. 5. to 12. promiſeth to a remnant a glorious deliverance thence, and withal the Aſſyrians deſtruction for their pride and cruelty againſt his People, ver. 12. to the end. And hereupon takes Occaſion to promiſe the bleſſed and peaceable Kingdome of Chriſt, (that branch of the ſtemme of Jeſſe,) and the ſweet effects thereof, viz. the ſpiritual Reſtauration of the Jews, and vocation of the Gentiles, which are the higheſt deliverances and benefits of all, whereof that of Babylon was but a dim ſhadow, Chap. II. throughout. In which Promiſes he makes an elegant parallel betwixt Egypt and Babylon for his peoples comfort, viz. 1. The Aſſyrian ſhall afflict the Jews after the manner of Egypt, Iſa. 10. 24. 2. The Aſſyrian for this ſhall be ſcourged and deſtroyed after the manner of Egypt. Iſa. 10. 25, 26. &c. 3. The Jews thereupon ſhall be delivered from Aſſyria eaſily, paſſing through the River dry-ſhod, &c. like as it was to Iſrael, in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt, Iſa. 11. 15, 16. 4. Hereupon as Iſrael delivered from the Egyptians in the Red-Sea, ſung a Song of praiſe, Exod. 15. 1. &c. So the Jews delivered from Babylon, ſhall ſing this thankful Song in that day, Iſa. 12. 1. as n Hierome hath well obſerved.

n Et dices in die illa] Qui prius in ſolitudine dixeratis, quando aſcendiſtis de terra Ægypti, & mare ſiccatum eſt rubrum. Cantemus domino, gloriose enim magnificatus eſt, &c. Nunc percuſſa lingua maris Ægypti, & flumine illius arefacto atque concuſſo & humiliato, glorificate dominum & dicite: Confitebor tibi domini, quoniam qui iram meruit & furorem tuum, miſericordiam, conſecutus ſum, tues enim ſalvator meus, &c. B. Hieron. Comment. in Iſa. 12.

§. II.

Scope; To incite the Church of God by this forme of Thankſgiving, put into her hands aforehand by the Prophet, 1. To o expect theſe deliverances promiſed more confidently, as a thing already paſt, and celebrated in thankful Praiſes. 2. Thankfully to magnifie the Lord, for removing his diſpleaſure, diſcovered in her deep diſtreſſes, for ſaving her from her miſeries, and crowning her with many benefits and mercies in Chriſt Jeſus.

A Prophetical Song of Thanksgiving taught the Church aforehand, touching her deliverance from Babylons Captivity, which should certainly come to pass.

§. I.

THis Song is for substance much like that in Ch. XII. yet more full and large. Occasion of the Prophet Isaiahs penning it seems to be this; A great part of this Prophecy is spent in a Minatory way, threatning many judgements and destructions to many Enemies of the Church, (among the rest in a special manner to Babylon, upon whose ruine the Jews shall thence be delivered,) and all these in order to Gods glory and the Churches good, many of the Nations hereby being to be subdued to God, and added to the Church for her enlargement; upon these occasions, as the Prophet himself praised God for the enemies destruction, and the Churches Restauration as things already done, they are so emphatically described, in Chap. XXV. throughout: So the whole Church is taught aforehand to sing praises to God for that her deliverance and her establishment thereupon, in Peace, Safety and Prosperity, in Chap. XXVI. That so by this publick Song, both their hearts might be more affected with the Mercy; and their minds retain more firmely the memory thereof.

§. II.

Scope Of the Church herein is 1. To praise the LORD for her great deliverance from distresse, especially from Babylon; and his strong salvation thereupon vouchsafed to her. 2. To incite her self and all the People of God to depend on the Lord with assured confidence for his favours to them, and his judgments on their proudest enemies. 3. To professe her affiance in God for his constant Protection of her against all her enemies and afflictions for the future. For (as x Calvin well notes) x Ut ergo confiderent Iudæi se liberatum iri, atque vitam in ipsa morte retinerent, hoc ipsis Canticum composuit Propheta priusquam etiam calamitas accideret, ut jam instructi ad eam perferendam, & meliora speranda essent. Nec enim arbitror ideo solum fuisse compositum ut liberati gratias agerent, sed ut in exilio ipso, tametsi similes essent mortuis, animos suos hac fiducia obfirmarent, filios etiam instituerent in hac spe, atque hæc promissa quasi per manum traderent posteris. Jo. Calv. Com. in Isa. 26. 1.

This

This Song was not only intended for a forme of Praiſe to the Church after deliverance, but alſo as a ground of confidence under captivity, both to them and to their children, that they ſhould doubtleſſe be delivered, though they were as hopeleſſe as dead men in their very graves.

Principal Parts in order to theſe ends, are

I. The Inſcription or Title, deſcribing, 1. The Kinde of it, A Song. 2. The Place where it ſhall be ſung, in the land of Judah, that is, The land of Confeſſion, ſaith y Hierome, viz. the Church whereof Judah was a Type, ſaith z Junius. 3. The time when it ſhall be ſung, In that Day, viz. of the Churches reſtauration, &c. Iſa. XXVI. ver. 1.

II. The Song it ſelf, wherein conſider,

1. Gratulation of the Church (by way of Exordium) for God's admirable deliverance, conſtant converſation and proſperity of her. Wherein note 1. The ſtrong, ſecure ſtate of Jeruſalem, the Church reſtored, ver. 1. 2. The parties that ſhall enjoy this happineſſe of the city of God, The righteous Nation keeping his truths, ver. 2. 3. The inſtrumental mean whereby they are kept in conſtant peace, viz. By truſting in God, ver. 3.

2. Exhortation hereupon to all, conſtantly to truſt in the LORD. This is urged by Arguments drawn 1. From Gods everlaſting power, ver. 4. 2. From his judgments upon the proud and lofty, ver. 5, 6. 3. From his equal diſpenſation of the affairs of the juſt in all conditions, v. 7. Amplified by the Churches diſpoſition towards God in his courſe of judgments with her, therein waiting for him, deſiring him and his righteouſneſſe, ver. 8, 9. Whereas the wicked contrariwiſe will deal unjuſtly notwithſtanding Gods hand lifted up, his favour evidently manifeſted to them, whereby they procure their own deſtruction, ver. 10, 11.

III. Profeſſion of the Churches confidence in God for her own deliverance and protection, but her enemies deſtruction, ver. 12. to 20 and this upon divers grounds, viz. 1. Her former experience of Gods dealings with her, v. 12. enabling her to keep cloſe to himſelf even under the oppreſſion and tyranny of her enemies, ver. 13. 2. Gods deſtruction of her enemies, ver. 14. 3. Gods gracious enlargement of the Church by adding thereto the Gentiles to his own glory, (the a Calling of the Gentiles being here promiſed,) ver. 15. 4. Gods drawing his people nearer to himſelf by afflictions, ver 16. Which afflictions are further deſcribed by their extremity, and continuance, notwithſtanding all their travels and wreſtlings for deliverance, ver. 17, 18. 5. Gods promiſe by the Prophet, of reſtoring the Jewes, though like dead men in their graves, as the herbs in the Spring are revived by the dew, and bud afreſh, ver. 19.

IV. The Concluſion, containing an Exhortation of the Church to patient betaking her ſelf under Gods protection (in alluſion to the Iſraelites ſhutting their doors, &c. in Egypt, when God ſlew Egypts firſt-born) till the calamities be blown over, ver. 20. This Exhortation is urged from the Lords preſent deſign to puniſh the wicked, and avenge the blood of his people upon them, ver. 21.

8. Yea in thy judgements way have we (O blessed LORD) expected thee:
Our Soul's desire is to thy Name,
And unto thy sweet memory.
9. Thee in the night desir'd have I
Ev'n with my souls intensive flame,
Yea with my spirit within-me,
I-will-seek-early-after-thee:
For when thy judgements more or lesse
Are sent forth in the Earth O God,
The worlds inhabitants abroad
Will in some sort learn righteousnesse.

10. Let greatest favour-be-exprest
Unto the wicked when at best,
Yet will he not learn righteousnesse:

But they shall see, and blush with shame
For envy at thy folk; likewise
The fire of thy vile Enemies
Shall-eat-them up with greedy flame.

II.

12. LORD, thou wilt Peace for us ordain:
For, all our works (whereby we gain)
Ev'n thou for us didst work and frame.
13. Strange lords besides thee, LORD our God
Have over us dominion had:
But wee'l make mention of thy name
By thee alone, that ease canst give.
14. These lords are dead, they shall not live,
m Heb. dead or Giants. They are m deceas'd, they shall not rise!
Thou-hast-them therefore-visited,
And wholly-them abolished,
Stroy'd all their memory likewise.

15. LORD, thou the Nation n hast encreas't,
Thou to the Nation added-hast,
Whereby o thou art-with-glory-stor'd:
Thy Church thou-hast-removed-farre
To all the Earth's confines that are.

We-have-been-travelling-in-pain,
We-as-it-were-brought-forth-the-winde:
On Earth Salvations s are not wrought,
Nor are the worlds indwellers t brought-
-To-ruine, (though thereto design'd.)
19. Yet thy dead men shall live; likewise
With my dead-body they shall rise:
Awake therefore, and singing-shout,
Ye dusts indwellers not a few:
For as Herbs dew, so is thy dew;
Earth also shall the dead cast out.

Into thy chambers enter-thou
And shut thy door upon thee fast:
Do-thou-thy-self-hide, as-it-were A little moment safely here
Until u the wrath be overpast.
21. For lo, the LORD with speedy pace
Is coming from his dreadful place, v To punish Earth's indwellers sore
For their extream iniquity:
Earth also shall her bloods z descry,
And shall her slain conceal no more.

u Heb. Thy indignation.

King Hezekiah's Thankful Song for his Recovery.

Isa. 38. ver. 9, to 21.

§. I.

a Isa. 38. 9.

THis Thankful Song was Penned by K. Hezekiah, a after his Recovery out of his mortal sickness; and being of excellent use to the Church of God in after ages, is by the Prophet Isaiah inserted and digested into the body of his Prophecy that it might stand upon perpetual Record for the Churches Instruction and Consolation.

Occasion. King Hezekiah and Jerusalem being delivered miraculously from the Army of Sennacherib King of Assyria, who had invaded Judah, b taken all the fenced Cities, and besieged Jerusalem it self; He presently upon that glorious deliverance fell mortaly sick (probably sick of the Pestilence, mention being made of the c People to which a lump of Figgs was applyed as a Plaister.) By which Sickness, (as d Hierome notes) Hezekiah was chastised, lest his heart should be lifted up after his incredible Triumphs and Victory from the midst of Captivity. And to aggravate his distress, whereby his devotion and graces might be the more incited, and his following Recovery intended by the Lord the more thankfully received, the Lord sends the Prophet Isaiah to him with this sad message, e Set thy house in order for thou shalt die and not live.

b Isa. 36. 1. & 2 King. 18. 13. &c. 2 Chron. 32. 1. &c. c Isa. 38. 21.
d Quem diligit Dominus corripit, & castigat omnem filium quem recipit. Ne elevaretur cor Hezechiæ post in credibiles triumphos, & de media captivitate victoriam; infirmitate corporis sui visitatur, & audit se esse moriturum, &c. Hier. Com. in Isa. 38. Tom. 5.

live. Whereupon Hezekiah turns his face to the Wall (thinks [f] Hierom, either becauſe he could not go to the Temple, towards the Temple-wall, by which Solomon had built the Kings Palace; or becauſe he would conceal his tears from them that ſate by, Or, to his heart; the word [קיר Kir] here tranſlated wall, being ſometimes by Jeremiah uſed for the heart; Hezekiah ſtirring up his whole heart to call upon the Lord: Or as [g] Calvin thinks, that by turning his face to the wall, he might the better keep in his thoughts and ſenſes from wandring diſtractions, and more intenſively cry to the Lord.) He prayes earneſtly, weeps exceedingly. The Lord heard his prayers, ſaw his tears, and promiſed by the ſame Prophet Iſaiah to adde to his dayes 15 years, confirming his Promiſe by a miracle of the Sun going back ten degrees. And there was need of a miracle in this caſe, as [h] Auguſtine hath obſerved; That the Prophet, having delivered in one houres ſpace two ſuch contrary meſſages to the King, [viz. Firſt of Death, then of Life]; might confirm the latter which God intended to make good by extraordinary miracle. Now according to this meſſage, Hezekiah wonderfully recovering, was ſo affected with the mercy, that he leaves in writing this Song as a monument of thankfulneſs to the Lord, for the good of poſterity, Singular mercies call for ſingular Praiſes.

Aug. de Mirab. ſac. Scripi. lib.* 2. c. 28. Tom 3.

§. II.

Scope of King Hezekiah in this Song is, 1. Thankfully to celebrate the LORD's miraculous mercy to him, in his wonderful Recovery from his mortal ſickneſſe, and that after the Lords meſſage, ſeeming peremptorily to inform him that he ſhould die and not live, 2. To inſtruct all Gods ſervants, and particularly Godly Magiſtrates and Princes, by the example of this godly King Hezekiah, to render unto the Lord great praiſes, for great mercies and deliverances.

Jeremiah.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THis Prophecie is called by the Hebrews, The Book of JEREMIAH; and by the Text it ſelf, דברי ירמיהו Dibre Jermejahu, viz. [a] The words of Jeremiah; becauſe Jeremiah the Prophet was Penman of the whole Book, except the laſt chapter, viz. Chap. 52. which is the ſame with 2 King. c. 24, 18, 19 20. and c. 25. throughout, continuing the Hiſtory of the Jewes Captivity till the [b] 37. year of Jehoiachin's Captivity, being the firſt yeare of Evil-Merodach King of Babylon. Which chap. is [c] thought to be added to Jeremiah by ſome man of God, or by the counſel of the Church, or by ſome of the Prieſts; as Deut. XXXIV. is thought to be added to Moſes his writings, by ſome other.

ירמיהו JEREMIAH, viz. * The-highneſſe-of-the-LORD, or The-Exaltation of-The-LORD; as the 2 Hebrew words, whereof it is compounded, ſignifie. This well agrees to this Prophet, by whoſe miniſtry the LORD was ſo Exalted, both in his ſharp Reproofs of Sin, ſevere threatnings of Judgement, and Divine promiſes of Mercy. He was for his Deſcent, [d] Son of Hilkiah, of the Prieſts that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin; [e] Anathoth being one of the Cities appointed to the Prieſts. For his office, He was [f] a Prophet, ſanctified and ordained thereunto of God, even in his Mothers Wombe before he was born. He was called to prophecy in his younger years, when he was but a child: and therefore at firſt he [g] was afraid of undertaking ſo great a function, till God had encouraged him. He excuſed himſelf (ſaith [h] Ambroſe) from preaching through his modeſty, which yet he was able to do by Grace, Moſes declined the office for his ſlow ſpeech (ſaith [i] Hierome) but Jeremiah for his tender age: Moſes being of ſtrong age, is blamed; Jeremiah his youth, is indulged; baſhfulneſs and modeſty being youths ornaments. He was bold as a Lyon in Gods cauſe againſt wicked neſs, yet a moſt melting pathetick tender-hearted Prophet in laying to heart moſt deeply Gods diſhonour, or ſinners miſery: witneſs his ſighs, tears, and Lamentations. After he had long propheciedagainſt the ſins of his times. [k] Some obſerve that Jehoiakim commanded him to be burnt alive for ſpeaking againſt their golden image Baal. [l] Ambroſe ſeems to be of opinion, that he was caſt into a lake and drowned. Calvin inclines to their opinion, that think, [m] he was ſtoned to death by the enraged multitude in Egypt after Jeruſalem was deſtroyed.

§. II. Time of his Prophecying.

As Jeremiah began to propheſie very young, ſo he propheſied very long, viz. about 43. years, This ſee cleared formerly in the Chronological Table, &c. beginning at p. 611. n S. Hierome computes the time of his Prophetie to be 41. years, beſides the time that he propheſied in Egypt. And o Calvin thinks, Jeremy prophecying after Jeruſalems deſtruction, might poſſibly propheſie above 50. years. However, this is very remarkable, that he began to propheſie in the p 13 year of Joſiah, at which time Religion was in a ſad and deplored ſtate, the Book of the Law being loſt (which was to be the Rule both of Faith and life towards God and Man) and it was not found till the 18 year of K. Joſiah. So that Jeremiah muſt needs have an hard task to deal with ſuch a people, among whom in a ſort not only the purity, but the very memory of Religion was buried and laid waſte. Note, God is neither wanting to his Church, to teach and enlighten her in her greateſt obſcurity; nor to his Prophets, to aſſiſt and encourage them againſt their greateſt difficulties.

§. III. Occaſion and Scope.

Occaſion God having warned his people againſt their many horrid provoking ſins, by divers fore-going Prophets, inviting them to repentance and reformation, leſt they involved themſelves under his heavy judgments, but in a manner all in vain, the peoples hearts being hardened: at laſt he raiſes up this Prophet, not ſo much to invite thoſe hopeleſs ones to repent, as to denounce peremptorily and punctually that fatal blow, the deſtruction of Jeruſalem and the Temple, and the peoples 70 years Captivity in Babylon, for their incurable ſins.

Scope therefore of this Prophecy is, 1. Seeing the warnings of the former Prophets were deſpiſed, The former tenders of Gods grace rejected, The great patience of the long-ſuffering God abuſed, and his judgments themſelves (eſpecially the Captivity of the ten Tribes into Aſſyria unfruitfully managed, by an obſtinate impenitent incorrigible people; To denounce reſolutely and peremptorily that final and fatal doom againſt them, viz. The deſtruction of both the Temple and Jeruſalem, and ſo of both their Eccleſiaſtique and Politique State, by the Chaldeans; together with the miſerable Captivity of the Jewes themſelves in Babylon for 70 years together. 2. To ſupport notwithſtanding, the hearts of Gods Elect among them under theſe dreadfull Judgements, with ſome ſweet Promiſes intermingled touching their Deliverance from this Bondage after ſeventy yeares, the Reſtauration of their Temple and Civil State, &c. but eſpecially touching Chriſt the Meſſiah, his Kingdome, Prieſthood, Benefits, New Covenant (more cleared by him then any before,) and their eternal deliverance by him. (Whereupon we may well with Hierom ſtile this Prophet q An Evangelical man.) But ſtill, as r Calvin well obſerves, theſe Promiſes take place only after God had taken vengeance of their ſins by the Chaldeans. 3. And finally, to denounce heavy Calamities to other Nations, that had occaſioned any way the ſinnes of the Jewes, Acted in, or aggravated upon them their miſeries; eſpecially againſt Babylon the proudeſt and cruelleſt of all their enemies, devoted therefore to utter ruine, wherein ſhe is a notable Embleme of the myſtical Babylon under the New Teſtament.

r Dico igitur ſimpliciter Jeremiam fuiſſe à Deo miſſum, ut populo ultimam cladem prædiceret: Deinde ut concionaretur de futura redemptione. Sic tamen, ut interponeret ſemper exilium ſeptuaginta annorum. Calv. Præf. ante Prælect. in Jer.

Now in unfolding theſe things, in this Prophecy are intermingled many Hiſtories, to evidence the accompliſhments of the Propheſies. The many Oppoſitions and great Difficulties alſo wherewith the Prophet wraſtled in the diſcharge of his Duty herein: together with Gods wonderful ſupporting him under, and delivering him from them all, are recorded; To teach Gods Miniſters to be faithful to God in their places againſt all oppoſitions, ſeeing God is ſo All-ſufficient a Protector and Deliverer for them.

1. Whilst the Jewes remained in Judea. Here are divers Prophetical Sermons directed to them. Partly, under King JOSIAHS Reign, Partly, under King Jehoiakim's, and King Zedekiah's reign.

Under { King JOSIAH'S Reign, Jeremiah hath divers Sermons to the Jewes, from chap. 2. 1. to chap. 21. 1. } The second Part of the Book which is chiefly historicall. { Prophecies under King JOSIAH's Reign.

1. SERMON, ch. 2. 1. to ch. 3. 6. wherein consider I. The Preface to it, remembring them of God's former kindness to them in Egypt and wilderness, Ch. II. 1, 2, 3. II. Gods Expostulation with them for their idolatrous revolt from him, and sins against him, as altogether causeless and undeserved on Gods part, ver. 4. to 10. which is particularly evidenced and aggravated, 1. Partly, by their surpassing the sins of the Heathens, ver. 10. to 14. 2. Partly, by the judgements they have justly brought upon themselves, ver. 14. to 18. 3. Partly, by a lively Representation of their present sinnes unto themselves, who forsaking God, trust to men, ver. 18. 19. and to idols, ver. 20. to 25. 4. Partly, by the vanity of idols in comparison of the Lord, ver. 25. to 29. 5. Partly, by the Lords great kindnesses to them, parallel'd with their contrary sins, ver. 29. to 36. III. Gods Resolution to punish them, and that for their sins, ver. 36, 37. and Ch. III. 1 to 6. CHAP. II.

2. SERMON, ch. 3. 6. to ch. 7. 1. wherein chiefly the Babylonian bondage is threatned to the Jewes for their contumacious sins. More particularly here note, I. The Aggravation of the Apostacy of Israel and Iudah, Iudah's being worse, ver. 6. to 12. II. An exhortation of them to repentance, ver. 12, 13. urged 1. From the Covenant betwixt God and them, and from Evangelical promises if they will Repent, ver. 14. to 20. 2. From their treacherous Apostacy from God, ver. 20. Amplified by the form or manner of their returning again unto God, directed by God, ver. 21. to ch. IV. ver. 3. 3. From the judgements that otherwise would come upon them, if they continued impenitent, which judgements are threatned for their sins, ver. 3. to 14. may be prevented by Repentance, ver. 14. to 19. are pathetically described, ver. 19. to the end of the chap. III. A particular Demonstration both of their several grievous sinnes, and of the judgements threatned for them, Ch. V. throughout. and Ch. VI. 1. to 10. IV. A Confutation of their presumption and vain Confidence, who thought not their Case so desperate, as indeed it was, nor the judgements so deservedly threatned, 1. By Expostulation with the Jewes themselves, for their 1 Contempt of the Word of the Lord by the Prophet, ver. 10, 11, 12. 2 Covetousnes, ver. 13. 3 False-dealing of both Prophets and Priests, ver. 13. 14. 4 Impudency, ver. 15. And 5 Wilful obstinacy, ver. 16, 17. 2. By appeal to the Nations and to the Earth, touching their Hypocrisie, and the equity of his Judgements for their sins, ver. 18. to 27. V. The Conclusion containing, 1. The Prophets encouragement in his Office against them, ver. 27. 2. The incurable rejection as reprobate silver, ver. 28, 29, 30. CHAP. III. CHAP. IV. CHAP. V. and CHAP VI.

3. SERMON, ch. 7. 8, 9, wherein consider I. The Preface containing 1. An invitation to attention. 2. Place where, viz. in the Gate of the Temple, Ch. VII. 1, 2. II. Gods calling them to Repentance and Reformation. 1. By promises, ver. 3. to 8. 2. By threats of heavy judgements for their many sins, viz. Hypocrisie, ver. 8. to 17, Idolatry, ver. 17. to 21. Disobedience, ver. 21. to 29. Abominations in Tophet, ver. 29. to the end. and Ch. VIII. 1, 2, 3. Sottish and shameless impenitency, ver. 4. to 13. These threatnings are amplified, Partly, by a Description of the judgements threatned for their sins, ver. 13. to 18. Partly by the Prophets Lamentation both for their judgements and sins, ver. 18. to the end, and Ch. IX. 1. to 12. III. A Refutation of their vain confidence in that they had Prophets and the Law. For 1. Their Prophets declare not why the land perisheth, ver. 12. 2. Themselves obey not the Law which they have, ver. 13, 14. therefore such judgements should befall them, ver. 15, 16. They had need to hire cunning women to mourn for them, ver. 17. to 23. IV. The Conclusion, wherein 1. The godly are incited to decline all Carnal confidence and glorying, and to glory only in the knowledge of the Lord, ver. 23, 24. 2. The ungodly Jewes are threatned to be punished, as wellas uncircumcised Heathens, ver. 25, 26. CHAP. VII. CHAP. VIII. CHAP. IX.

4. SERMON, whereby the Jewes are dissuaded from Heathenish idolatry, whereunto they were too inclinable. Herein note I. The Exordium, inciting Israel to attention, ch. X. ver. 1. II. The Lords Dissuasion of Israel from learning the Heathens wayes, and fearing their Idols, v. 2. and this is urged 1. Partly, from the vast disparity betwixt the true God and idols, laid down in an elegant Antithesis, ver. 3. to 17. 2. Partly, by the judgement threatned to the Land for idolatry, ver. 17. to 23. III. The Conclusion, viz. The Prophets Prayer, seeing that mans way is not in himself, that the Lord would moderate his displeasure towards his people, and turn it upon the Heathen their enemies, ver. 23, 24, 25. CHAP. X.

5. SERMON, ch. 11. and 12. wherein, I. An Exordium calling for attention, Ch. XI. 1, 2. II. A Reprehension of Judah and Jerusalem, for breach of Covenant with God by their CHAP. XI.

idolatry, ver. 3. to 11. III. A Commination. 1. Generally against Judah for their sins and idolatries, ver. 11. to 18. 2. Particularly against Anathoth, for their conspiracies against Jeremiah for his faithfulness in his office, ver. 18. to the end of the chapt. This twofold Commination is amplified 1. By the Prophets doubt and temptation about the Prosperity of the wicked, notwithstanding his threats against them, Ch. XII. 1. 2. 2. By the Answer to this doubt for the Prophets and Churches consolation. As for the godly, they are afflicted for their good, and the Prophet himself was to contend with greater difficulties then at Anathoth, viz. when he should come to deal with them of Jerusalem, ver. 3. to 7. As for the wicked, they shall not still prosper, but shall at last be plagued, ver. 7. to 14. IV. A Conclusion, comforting the Elect Remnant among them, with Promises of deliverance at last out of captivity, ver. 14. to the end.

CHAP. XII.

CHAP. XIII. 6. SERMON, wherein 1. Destruction of Judah and Jerusalem is threatned, Partly under the type of a linnen girdle marred, Chap. XIII. 1. to 12. Partly under the type of bottles filled with wine, ver. 12, 13, 14. 2. They are advised by repentance to prevent these judgements, ver. 14. to 22. 3. Their sins are declared to be the procuring causes of all, ver. 22 to the end.

CHAP XIV. 7. SERMON, ch. 14. and 15. Containing I. The Summary Argument of the Sermon, viz. a Dearth, Ch. XIV. 1. II. The Denunciation of the Dearth pathetically described, ver. 2. to 7. III. Deprecations of Judgements threatned, with Gods Answers thereunto. 1. The Church or Prophet in her name, Prayes against famine, and other judgements, ver. 7, 8, 9. The Lord answers, That his intended judgements are irrevocable; &c. ver. 10, 11, 12. 2. The Prophet prayes against the false Prophets, that falsely promised the people peace, ver. 13. The Lord answers, threatning ruine both to those Prophets, and to them that believe them, ver. 14, 15, 16. and appoints the Prophet a Lamentation for confirmation thereof, ver. 17, 18. 3. The Prophet prayes for mercie, against utter rejection, ver. 19. to the end. The Lord answers, That he is determined utterly to reject them, ch. XV. 1 to 10. 4. Jeremiah complains of the opposition against himself, and the difficulty of his office; The Lord comforts him, ver. 10. to 15. 5. Jeremy seeing he cannot be heard for the people, prayes for himself, ver. 15. to 19. The Lord grants his prayer, ver. 19, 20, 21.

[Dearth threatned.]

Lamentations.

§. I. Order and Name.

TO the Prophecy of Jeremiah, as an Appendix may well be annexed The LAMENTATIONS OF JEREMIAH. Jerusalem's destruction being foretold, and fulfilled according to the tenour of that; and sadly bewailed according to the tenour of this Book.

From the first word in the Hebrew text, it is called איכה Echah, viz. How. As the five Books of Moses are denominated from the first Hebrew words wherewith they begin. From the Subject-matter of the Book, it is called קינות [a] Kinoth, that is, Lamentations; and so by the Greek Θρηνοι Threnoi, or Θρηνωδιαι Threnodiai, inasmuch as it is compiled of most doleful, pathetical, heart-affecting Lamentations of Jerusalems ruine and the Jewes misery. The words and expressions are such and so penetrating, as might dissolve an heart as hard as Adamant into waters, and eyes as dry as Pumex into floods of tears: Who can advisedly read Jeremiah lamenting, and not lament with him? Greg. Nazianzen saith, [b] As oft as I take this Book into my hands, and read the Lamentations, I perceive my speech to be stopped, and I am overwhelmed with tears, and methinks I see that calamity, as it were, set before mine eyes; And I joyne Lamentations with Jeremiah.

[a] See 2 Chron. 35. 25.

[b] Greg. Naz. Orat. 12. p. 202 Par. 1630.

§. II. Penman, Time, Occasion, and Manner of penning it.

1. That Jeremiah was Penman of these Lamentations, I find generally acknowledged, and the sad pathetical strains, most peculiarly agree to him. The Lxx. are herein so confident, that by way of Proem to this Book, they prefix the summe of it in these words; [c] And it came to passe after Israel was brought into Captivity, and Jerusalem deserted, The Prophet Jeremiah sate weeping, and bewailed Jerusalem with this Lamentation; and with a bitter spirit, sighing and crying out, he said, —— &c.

[c] Bibl. Gr. Lxx. interp. ante Lament.

2. But when he penned these Lamentations is not so unanimously agreed upon by all. 1 Some think, they were written upon occasion of that precious King Josiah's death, when the Jewes fell to their sinful confidence in Egypt; which doleful beginnings of sorrowes gave Jeremiah, (who by the spirit of Prophecy knew what would befal the Jewes, and often foretold them.) Occasion to lament not one, but all the miseries that befel the Jewes from King Josiah's death, till the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple, and therein of both their state Politick and Eccleſi-aſtick; when their Princes and Nobles were ſlain, their King and People carried captive into Babylon. Learned[d] Hierome among the Ancients: and acute[e] Junius among the moderne writers, are of this opinion; from that paſſage in the Chronicles, [f] And Jeremiah lamented for Joſiah, and all the ſinging-men and ſinging-women ſpake of Joſiah in their Lamentations, to this day, and made them an Ordinance in Iſrael: and behold they are written in the LAMENTATIONS. 2. Others reject this opinion and think this Book was not penned at all upon occaſion of Joſiah's death, but upon Jeruſalem's deſtruction, and that not as it was foretold, but as it was actually fulfilled and come to paſſe, 1 Partly becauſe here's nothing in it, that agrees to King Joſiah, who was not carried into captivity, but buried with his fathers at Jeruſalem. 2 Partly becauſe the whole current of the Lamentations, is ſo evidently applicable to Jeruſalem's deſtruction, of which they ſpeak hiſtorically, as of a thing done already, not prophetically as a thing to be done afterwards. Thus[g] Calvin, and[h] Pareus. Let the prudent Reader judge.

3. The Manner or form of Penning it is Alphabetical. As ſome ſelect Pſalms (peculiarly to be noted and remembred,) are perhaps for help of memory penn'd Alphabetically, the ſeveral verſes beginning with the ſeveral letters of the Hebrew Alphabet in order: ſo here the four firſt chapters of Lamentations are Alphabetical, only with this difference, that every verſe in Ch. I. II. and IV. begins with a diſtinct letter of the Hebrew Alphabet; but only every third verſe ſo begins in Ch. III. And this Alphabetical order wants not its peculiar myſtery, in the judgment of that learned [i] Hierom, who by the connection of ſeveral letters and their ſignifications doth very wittily extract divers pious meditations. Who elſewhere is of opinion that [k] Jeremiah in his Lamentations, under the type of Jeruſalem bewayles the four corners of the world in a fourfold Alphabet. However theſe his notions may ſeem more witty then ſolid to judicious men; yet this Alphabetical forme commends this Book of Lamentations to us as a moſt memorable and excellent piece.

§. III. Scope.

Scope. I. More Immediate; Lively to point out, and moſt deeply to bewail the ſeverity and impartiality of Gods judgments, even againſt his own deareſt People the Jewes for their iniquities; inviting them to Repentance, Faith and Prayer, for obtaining of Gods favour in pardoning of ſin, and removal of judgment, notwithſtanding their extream low and forlorn condition into which they were implunged.

II. More

II. More Mediate; To discover 1. What is the true matter of Lamentations; not the losse of wealth, health, favours, &c. but the overthrow of the Church of God, of Kingdoms and Cities for mens sins and unthankfulnes. 2. What are the true causes of publique calamities in the world, ruines of Churches, Common-wealths, &c. viz. their ingratitude, idolatry, incorrigiblenes, and other abominations that dwell therein. 3. What duty is incumbent to the godly in publique evils; not to fret and murmur against Gods Proceedings, but patiently to submit, penitently to bewail their sins, and faithfully to implore Gods favour in sanctifying and removing present miseries.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

Though in passionate Lamentations it be hard to find accurateness of method and order, (Lamentations being made up of heaps of Exclamations, Complaints, sad Narrations, Prayers, Sobs, Tears, and interchangeable Passions confusedly poured out.) grief seldom observing order: yet in these divine Lamentations we may observe this method.

This Book is 1 Narratory, 2 Minatory, 3 Promissory, 4 Petitory.

Narratory, wherein 1. A pathetical description of the just miseries upon Jerusalem and Judea, Chap. I throughout. 2. An expostulating lamentation for the desolating distresses upon all persons and affairs both Ecclesiastick and Civil, ch. 1. 1. to 19. 3. An invitation to Repentance and Prayer, a forme of words being given them, ver. 19, 20, 21, 22. 4. The Churches complaint (as of one Person) of Gods many and heavy afflictions on her, ch. 3. 1. to 18 5. Her arguments of comfort supporting her in these extremities, ver. 18. to 42. 6. Her easing her heart in crying to God for her self against her enemies, ver. 42. to the end. 7. Pathetick aggravations of her calamities, ch. 4. 1. to 21. I.

Minatory. Against the enemies of Israel, especially Edom, ver. 21, 22. II.

Promissory, to the afflicted daughter of Sion, ver. 22. III.

Petitory, wherein the Church 1 Bewaileth her miseries. 2. Acknowledgeth sin to be the cause thereof. 3. Deprecates Gods wrath. And 4. Implores his mercy, ch. 5. throughout. IV.

Of this.

Principal Parts. In this Book are 1. A doleful Lamentation. 2. A mournful Supplication.

A doleful Lamentation, laid down in a foure fold Alphabet in the foure first chapters. I.

I. The first Alphabet of this Lamentation, Ch. I. throughout. Wherein 1. A pathetick exclamation, or complaint of the deep misery of both the City and people, ver. 1. to 8. 2. An acknowledgment of Jerusalems sins, as the procuring causes of these sorrowes, ver 8. to 12. 3. An Apostrophe, or affectionate Compellation of all that passe by to be sensibly touch't with her sorrowes, which she therefore notably describes, ver. 12. to 18. 4. A justification of Gods just proceedings, ver. 18. 5. An invitation of others to consider her miseries, ver. 18, 19. 6. The Churches Prayer to God, for pardon of her sin, abatement of her sorrowes, and recompensing her enemies according to their deserts, ver. 20, 21, 22. CHAP. I.

II. The second Alphabet of Lamentation, Chap. II. throughout. Wherein are I. A sad description of Jerusalem's miseries. 1. By the particulars of them, viz. the destruction of the Kingdome, and all its Princes; of the City and all its strong Holds and Palaces; of the Temple, Altar, Sabbaths, and all the Solemne Feasts; of the walls and all the gates, ver. 1. to 9. The miseries upon her King, Princes, Prophets, Elders, Virgins, People, Children and Sucklings, ver. 9. to 13. 2. By the Incomparable greatnesse of her distress beyond example, ver. 13. 3. By one procuring cause of her calamity, the Prophets false visions, and indulgence to their sins, ver. 14. 4. By the enemies proud insultings over Jerusalem's ruines, ver. 15, 16, 17. 5. By the Lords thus fulfilling his word upon Jerusalem, ver. 18. II. An invitation of the people to bitter sorrowes and earnest Prayers to God in respect of these miseries; a forme of words being put into her hand, ver. 19. to the end. CHAP. II.

III. The third Alphabet of Lamentation. Ch III. throughout. Wherein are I. A sad complaint of Jeremiah in the Person of the People, for the grievous evils upon the Church from an angry God, ver. 1. to 21. II. A consolation against all these evils; drawn from 1. Gods moderation in afflicting, that all are not utterly consumed. ver. 21, 22, 23. 2. From Gods peculiar love and goodnesse to the Elect even under their afflictions, ver. 24. to 31. 3. From the period of afflictions; though they be long, they will have an end, ver. 31 to 37. III. An acknowledgment of Gods justice in all their sufferings for their sins, which are to be repented of, and not Gods Judgments repined at, ver. 37. to 55. IV. A Prayer of the People, 1. For themselves and their deliverance, ver. 55. to 59. 2. Against their enemies, ver. 59. to the end. CHAP. III.

IV. The fourth Alphabet of Lamentation, Ch. IV. throughout. Wherein 1. A lamentable bewailing of the miseries of Kingdom, Church and People overthrown, ver. 1. to 11. 2. A Confession of their sins both past and present, for which they are thus punished, ver. 11 to 21. 3. An ironical Commination against their enemies, under the name of Edom, ver. 21, 22. 4. A Consolation of Sion, with promised mercy, ver. 22. CHAP. IV.

A mournful Supplication for returne of divine favour, conversion of them to God, and renewing their prosperity, Ch. V. throughout. This is urged 1. From the greatnesse of their evils, summarily particularized and aggravated, ver. 1. to 16. 2. From the ingenuous acknowledgment of their sins, procuring all, ver. 16, 17, 18. 3. From Gods eternity, who therefore must have everlasting subjects, ver. 19. 4. From the incongruity of Gods perpetual forgetting them, contrary to his promises, v. 20, 21, 22. II. CHAP. V.

Ezekiel.

§. I. Name and Penman of the Book.

THis Book bthe Hebrews is called יחזקאל ספר Sepher Jechezkel, viz. The Book of Ezekiel; from Ezekiel, the Preacher and Penman of these Prophecies contained in this Book. The name Ezekiel, (as [a] Hierom noteth) signifies The-Fortitude-of-God; This name (thinks [b] Lavater) was not given to him without a special Providence of God. For God enabled him with a stout and undaunted mind to reprove both People and Princes; and to denounce those evils unto them, which the mighty God the Lord of Hosts was bringing upon them for their impieties. He was [c] both Priest and Prophet. [d] Nazianzen saith, Ezekiel is to be admired among the Prophets, and is most subtile. —— And elsewhere calls him, The Beholder of great things, and the Interpreter of Visions and Mysteries. How long he lived, and when he died, Scriptures speak not; [e] Athanasius saith, He suffered, yet not for the People, but because he preached future Events to the People. [f] Epiphanius writes, That the Governour of the People, being reprehended by him for Idol-worship in Babylon, slew him: The Author of the imperfect work on Matthew, thinks, [g] This Prophet was dragged upon the stones till his braines were dasht out. [h] Isidore reports, that the people buried him in Mahurim, in the Sepulchre of Sem and Arphaxad Fathers of Abraham. But of these things we have only humane reports and conjectures.

§. II. Time of the Prophecy.

Ezekiel prophecied [i] from the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity, in the fourth moneth, the fifth day of the moneth; till the twenty fifth year of the Captivity, the beginning of the year, the tenth day of the moneth: in the fourteenth year, after that the City was smitten. [k] In all about nineteen years and some odde dayes. He was in part contemporary with Jeremiah, Jeremiah beginning before him; They prophecied in two several places, Jeremiah in Judea, Ezekiel in Chaldea; and yet their Prophecies for the matter of them notably agree: (which is a singular Argument of the divine Authority of these two Prophecies, and that they were Endited by the same Spirit of God, though penned in places far distant;) Only Ezekiel is more terrible and vehement in taxing and reproving sinne then Jeremiah; and more abounding in Visions, which renders the Book, especially in some places, very intricate and hard to be understood. The difficulty of this Volume, (saith [l] Hierom) the tradition of the Hebrews proves; for with them unlesse a man have fulfilled the Age of the Priestly Ministry, that is, the thirtieth year, he is neither permitted to reade The Beginning of Genesis, nor the Song of Songs, nor the Beginning and End of this Book.

§. III. Occaſion of this Prophecy.

The right conſidering of the Occaſion whereupon God was pleaſed to raiſe up this Prophet, conduceth not a little to the underſtanding of his Prophecy. The Prophet Ieremiah warning the People of their ſins, and denouncing Gods judgements for them, eſpecially the deſtruction of Jeruſalem and Babyloniſh captivity, had now propheſied a long time, but without fruit (as [m] Calvin well notes,) to the Jews, viz. eighteen [n] years under King Joſiah, who reigned thirty one years in all, in whoſe thirteen years Jeremiah began to Prophecy, three [o] months under Jehoahaz called Shallum, 11 [p] years under King Iehoiakim three [q] moneths under Jehoiachin before he was carried Captive to Babylon: here are in all twenty nine years and an half; to which add five years of Jehoiachin's Captivity, (for in his fifth [r] year Ezekiel began to prophecy,) ſo here are in all about thirty four or thirty five years, in which Jeremiah had propheſied, before Ezekiel began. Jeremiah had an hard task to deal with ſo many deaf and phrenetick people. Therefore to encourage the Spirit, and ſtrengthen the hands of Ieremiah, as alſo to confirm the Truth of divine Prophecies by the mouth of two Witneſſes, God raiſes up Ezekiel in Chaldea, to propheſie the ſame things, (but more vehemently) that Ieremiah did in Judea. For, They both ſharply taxed the ſins of the Jews; They both threatned heavy judgements for them, eſpecially the fatal Babyloniſh Captivity, with the ruine of the Temple and City by the Babylonians; They both intermingled Promiſes of their Reſtauration, eſpecially of their ſpiritual Reſtauration by Chriſt; They both propheſie againſt the forreign Nations or Gentiles: (ſo that they wonderfully help to clear and confirm one another.)

Now Jeremiah had need to be thus confirmed, by Gods raiſing up Ezekiel a fellow-Prophet. 1. Partly in reſpect of himſelf to uphold him from ſinking and fainting under his many difficulties and diſcouragements. 2. Partly in reſpect of the Captives in Babylon, who were abuſed by the lying Prophecies of falſe Prophets in Babylon, viz. [s] Ahab and Zedekiah, as alſo [t] Shemaiah the Nehelemite, who wrote Letters to the Prieſt in Jeruſalem, to reſtrain Jeremiah, and put him in the Priſon and the Stocks. How uſeful therefore was Ezekiel to ſuppreſs the inſolency of thoſe falſe Prophets? 3. Partly in reſpect of the remnant of the People that abode ſtill in Jeruſalem, who could not chuſe but hear how Ezekiel in Chaldea propheſied the ſame things that Jeremiah did in Jeruſalem, and by their Prophetical harmony be much wrought upon, at leaſt unto conviction.

§. IV. Scope.

Scope and chief intent of this Book is, 1. Partly to convince and reprove the Jewes for their horrid and unparallel'd violation of all Gods Laws, by all manner of impiety againſt God, and iniquity againſt man, which ſins are evidenced to be the cauſes of all their ſorrows. 2. Partly to aſſure them that for their grievous hypocriſie, idolatry, impenitency, and other their corruptions, heightned by falſe Prophets, flatteries, and the evil Government both in Church and Commonwealth, whereby they had long forſaken God, God at length was reſolved, (after his long patience and invitation of them to repentance by his Prophets, deſpiſed) to forſake the Temple and Ieruſalem, and to give up City and Temple, Church and State, to be deſtroyed, and the People themſelves to be captived by the Babylonians for a long time. Amongſt which Captives notwithſtanding God would reſerve an Elect ſeed, and precious remnant that ſhould at laſt be reſtored. 3. Partly to denounce heavy judgements alſo to divers forreign Cities or Nations, who had either been occaſions of enſnaring the Jewes by their ſins, or Inſtruments of their ſufferings, or any way rejoyced or inſulted over them in their calamities, as Ammon, Moab, Edom, Paleſtine, Tyre, Zidon, Egypt, eſpecially Gog and and Magog, those last and most desperate enemies of the Church devoted to utter ruine. 4 Finally, to comfort the Captives not only with Promises of their temporal Restauration by Cyrus from Babylon, but especially with Promises of the Churches spiritual Restauration by Christ from death and hell, under the elegant type of the New Temple to be erected; the New Worship of God to be restored; together with the New Jerusalem, and New Land, that should be discovered and distributed among the 12 Tribes: all these are represented in a Vision, whereby the compleat and spiritual glory of the Church of Christ under the New Testament is notably adumbrated, till she be taken home to dwell with Christ face to face in the mountains of Spices.

§. V. Principal Parts.

In this Book consider, 1. The Preface. 2. The Prophecy it self.

I. In Ezekiels extraordinary Call CHAP. I.

THE PREFACE, describing Ezekiels extraordinary call to the Prophetick Office, where note, I. The time and place of his call, Chap. I. 1, 2, 3. II. The manner of his call. 1. By a mysterious vision of A whirlewinde, four Cherubims, four wheels, a Throne upon the Firmament; all expounded (*ver.*28. to be the appearance of the likeneſſe of the glory of the LORD.) The Lord calling Ezekiel represents thus his glory, (viz. his Omnipotency, his Dominion over all creatures, who governs them wisely, punishing the wicked justly, rewarding the righteous mercifully, &c.) that hereby Ezekiel might be encouraged to obey Gods call, who is fully able to defend him and destroy all his oppoſers, *ver.*4. to the end. 2. By Gods description of the peoples qualities to whom he sends them, viz. A rebellious house, briers and thorns, ——— Ch. II. 1 to 6. 3 By Gods instruction of the Prophet notwithstanding to deliver his message to them faithfully, without fear, *ver.*6. to 9. III. The Confirmation or him in his Office, to which he was call'd, 1. Partly by vision of a sad Roll of a Book, given him to eate from God, that so he might be sure the Word he prophecied was from God, *ver.*8, 9, 10. and Ch. III. 1, 2, 3. 2. Partly by animating the Prophet against the contumacious Jewes, making his face as an adamant, harder then flint against them, ver. 4. to 10. 3. Partly by his conveyance by the Spirit to them of the captivity dwelling by the river Chebar, where he was to Prophecy, set out, 1 By the Lords commanding him to go thither, ver. 10, 11. 2 By the strange sounds and voice he heard as the Spirit conveyed him, ver. 12, 13, 14. 3 By his astonishment at Chebar seven dayes, *ver.*15. 4. By the Lawes or Rules of Prophecy wherein the Lord instructed him under the Metaphor of a watchman, ver. 16. to 22. 5 By another vision of the glory of the Lord in the Plain astonishing him, upon which the Lord directs him to sit dumb in his house, till he open his mouth to speak, *ver.*22 to the end.

CHAP. II.

CHAP. III.

II. THE PROPHECY it self, or the Substance of the Book, containing principally three Ranks of Sermons, preached at several times to several Persons, &c. I. To the Jewes, whom he sharply rebukes and threatens for their impieties, c. 4. to c. 25. II. To the enemies of Gods people, whose ruine and destruction he foretells, c. 25. *to c.*33. III. To the Jewes exhorting them to repentance, and incouraging them to hope, not only for an Inchoate deliverance from Babylons slavery, c. 33. to c 40. But also for a Consummate spiritual deliverance from spiritual misery by Christ the Messiah, and this is set out in vision, 1 Of the new Temple to be erected, c. 40, 41. 42. 2 Of the new worship of God to be restored, c. 43, 44. 3 Of the new Land that should be distributed, *ch.*45, 46, 47, 48. And 4 Of the new City that should be inhabited, *ch.*48.

I. The Prophets Sermons to the Jewes, in many visions foretelling their heavy judgments, for their sins, ch. 4. to 45. More particularly,

1. Under the type of Jerusalems siege pourtraied on a Tyle, and the Prophets lying on his left side 390 dayes, and after on his right side 40 dayes, are set forth the three hundred and ninety years of Israels, and fourty years of Judah's sins, for which Jerusalem should be besieged *Chap.*IV. 1. to 9. This is amplyfied 1 By the concomitant of that siege, grievous famine, *ver.*9. to the end. 2 By the consequent of that siege, their judgments by famine, sword, and dispersion is shewed under the type of the Prophets haire of his head and beard, a third part burnt, a third part smitten about with a knife, and a third part scattered with the winde *Chap.*V. throughout.

CHAP. IV.

CHAP. V.

CHAP. VI.

2. The wasting of Judea for her idolatry is threatned. *Chap.*VI. 1. to 8. Amplyfied, 1. By promises to a remnant repenting of their sins, and justifying Gods truth, *ver.*8. to 11. 2. By the Lamentations prescribed in reference to the approaching calamities, *ver.*11. to the end.

CHAP. VII.

3. Final desolation of all the foure corners of Israel is threatned. Chap. VII 1. to 16. This is Amplyfied, 1. By the mournful repentance of the remnant escaping, ver. 16 to 20. 2. By the pollution of the Sanctuary by their enemies, threatned for their sins, *ver.*20 21, 22. 3. By their bondage under the worst of Heathens, represented by a Chain, *ver.*23. to the end.

4. The Causes of Jerusalem's and Judea's destruction represented to Ezekiel, carried in a vision to Jerusalem, *ch.*8, 9, 10, 11. wherein note

1. The

CHAP. VIII.

1. The Preface to the Vision, describing 1 Time, Place, and witnesses of his vision or extasie, Chap. VIII 1. 2. The manner of his visional removing to Jerusalem, ver. 1,2,3,4.

2. The four chief parts of the Vision, viz. I. The first Part contains, 1. A visional Narration of the Jews abominable idolatry, whereby the Temple was polluted, and God provoked to desert it, in four notorious instances, viz. × Image of jealousie, ver. 5, 6. Chambers of Imagery, ver. 7. to 13. Weeping for ▾ Tammuz ver. 13 14. worshipping the Sun towards the East, ver. 15, 16. 2. A sharp Commination hereupon, ver. 17, 18. II. The second Part of the vision contains the judgement for these sins, more particularly, 1. Gods Command to slay all the Jewes, but first to seale, and so to spare all the Elect Mourners with the execution of this Command, Chap. IX. 1. to 8 2 The Prophets intercession for them, being amazed at the slaughter, ver. 8. 3. The Lords answer to the Prophet, shewing the equity of his judgements for their sins, ver. 9, 10, 11. III. The third Part of the vision, containing, 1. The visional Command to scatter the coals of fire between the Cherubims over the City, denoting the horrible wrath of God against the City, Chap. X 1. to 8. 2. The vision of the Cherubims and four Wheels, representing the doleful departure of the GLORY of the LORD, from the Threshold of the house even to the door of the East Gate, ver. 8. to the end. IV. The fourth Part of the vision, wherein 1. A sharp threatning of the presumptuous Princes, as the Authors of the publick impiety in the City, Chap. XI. 1. to 13. 2. The Prophet being dismayed at the execution of vengeance according to his Prophecy is comforted by the Lord, ver. 13. to 22.

× Statuam scili Baal in Templo Dei positum narrat Historia. Fulchreque appellatur idolum Zeli, quia ad æmulationem & Zelum dominum provocat, &c. D. Hieron, Com. in loc. Others doubt what this Image of jealousie was, but think it was some very abominable one, as Baals was, whereto the People bare great devotion. Jo. Diod. An. And that this was a very impudent Idolatry, the Idol being so publickly placed near the Altar, &c. Lavat. in Ezech. 8.

▾ Tammuz] Some interpret it of Adonis, fabled to be the Paramour of Venus, who quickned again after he was slain with Mars in forme of a wild Bore, and so was celebrated of the Women. Hieron. Comment. in loc. Lavat. Homil. in loc. Some expound it of Osiris the Egyptian-idol; Osiris, brother (or, as Lactantius and Arnobius, son) of Isis was naught with her, which when Typhon her husband knew, he tare him in pieces and cast his members up and down all Nilus his banks. Isis sought out his dilacerate members, gathered them, buried them, and commanded that yearly Osiris should be sought with Teats and Lamentation, and afterwards as it were found, should be celebrated with joy. D. August. De Civ. Dei, lib. 6. Chap. 10. Tom. 5.

Whether it were Adonis or Osiris, or some other that is here intended; it is certain the Israelites here did imitate some such paganish Rites and Idolatries, Lavat. Homil. in Ezech 8.

3. The Close or Conclusion of the vision, relating 1. The removal of Gods glory from the midst of the City to the mountain, vers. 22, 23. 2. The Prophets return from Jerusalem to Babylon in vision, where he reports his vision, vers. 24. 25.

CHAP. IX.

CHAP. X.

CHAP. XI.

5. The Captivity of King Zedekiah, and of the People of Ierusalem is fore-prophesied under the Type of Ezekiels Removing his stuff, Chap. XII. 1. to 17 This is amplified 1. Partly by the evils antecedent to this destruction and Captivity, set forth under the Type of the Prophets Eating and drinking with quaking trembling and carefulnesse, ver. 17 to 21. 2. Partly by confutation of the taunt of the Jews (The dayes were long, as far off,) whereby they would elude the Prophecy of their Captivity, ver. 21. to the end.

CHAP. XII.

6. A sharp reprehension 1. Of the false Prophets dawbing with lies and flatteries, to lull the people asleep in security, Chap. XIII. 1. to 17. 2. Of their small Prophetesses, &c. verse 17. to the end.

CHAP. XIII.

7. Upon occasion of certain Elders of Israel coming to inquire of the Propher, here are declared, 1 How God abhors to be enquired of by them because of their idolatry, and how he will plague idolaters and their false Prophets unless they repent, Chap. XIV. 1. to 11. 2. How irrevocably God had decreed to plague them with Famine, Noysome beasts, Sword, Pestilence, and Captivity of a remnant, ver. 12. to the end.

CHAP. XIV.

8. The reiection of the Jewes is set forth under the type of A barren vine branch, altogether useless for any imployment, Chap. XV. throughout.

CHAP. XV.

9. A convincing discovery of Jerusalem's abominations to her, Chap. XVI. 1, 2, &c. wherein I. A Narration 1. Of the Jewes miserable condition at first, under the type of a New born child in its blood, ver. 3. to 6. 2. Of Gods compassions and loving kindness to them in that wretched State, ver. 6. to 15. 3. Of the Jews ingratefull Apostacy from God, notwithstanding all his kindnesses, set out under the type of an Whore and whoredoms, ver. 15. to 35. II. A Commination of heavy judgements for those sins, ver. 35. to 60. III. A promise of renewing Covenant and holy wedlock with an elect remnant afterwards, ver. 60. to the end.

CHAP. XVI.

10. A denunciation of judgements upon Jerusalem and her King for perfidious revolting from the King of Babylon, under the Parable of two Eagles and a Vine. 1. The Parable is propounded, Chap. XVII. 1. to 11. 2. The parable is expounded, and applyed in a minatory way, ver. 11. to 23. 3. Contrary blessings to the Church and Kingdome of Christ, are promised under the Type of the highest Branch of the high Cedar, planted on an high and eminent mountain of Israel, ver. 22, 23, 24.

CHAP. XVII.

11. A refutation of the Jews impious Proverb against God, The fathers have eaten sower grapes, and the Childrens teeth are set on edge; Meaning that God did punish them unjustly for their fathers sins. Here 1. their taunting Proverb against God is propounded, Chap. XVIII. 1, 2. The CHAP. XVIII.

2. The confutation of the Proverb, by shewing that whomsoever God punisheth, he punisheth justly; and that as anothers righteousnes cannot profit a man, so anothers sins cannot hurt a man, (unless he make them his own) ver. 3. to 30. 3. The close of the Confutation inviting the Jewes to repentance for preventing of punishments, ver. 30, 31, 32.

CHAP. XIX. 12. A Lamentation for the Princes of Israel, bringing destruction upon the land by their cruelty and inhumanity. Here, 1. Under the Type of a Lioness and her two whelps, viz. Israel and her two Kings carried captive, the one into Egypt, the other into Babylon for their sins; is threatned the like condition of their present King and State. Ch. XIX. 1. to 10. 3. Under the Type of a Vine transplanted into a Wilderness and wasted, is set forth Jerusalems transplanting and destruction, ver. 10. to the end.

CHAP. XX. 13. A terrible denunciation of Judgements against the people for their abominations, upon occasion of certain of the Elders, coming to enquire of the Lord by the Prophet. Here note, I. The occasion and time of his Sermon, Ch. XX. 1. 2. II. The Sermon it self, wherein 1. The kindness of God to the Jewes, and their wofull ingratitude towards God from their first admission into Covenant with God to that day is described, ver. 3 to 30. 2. Temporal and external judgements by their Enemies, but especially spiritual and eternal judgements by himself, are threatned for their abominations, ver. 30. to 40. 3. Promises of preserving his Church, and his true worship therein notwithstanding, ver. 40. to 45. 4. Jerusalem's destruction is foretold under the type of a Forrest burnt with fire, ver. 45. to the end.

CHAP. XXI. 14. The grievous Babylonian war is foretold, whereby not onely Judea, but the neighbouring Nations, especially the Ammonites should be wasted and destroyed. Here 1 The destruction of Jerusalem and Judea is threatned by the Chaldeans, under the Type of Ezekiels fighting, Ch. XXI. 1. to 25. 2. The destruction of King and Kingdome, ver. 25, 26, 27. 3. The destruction of the Ammonites also by the sword, ver. 28. to the end.

CHAP. XXII. 15. The destruction of the Jewes for their sins is threatned under the type of Burning drosse in a Furnace. Here note 1. A Catalogue of Jerusalems sins, Ch. XXII. 1. to 13. 2. The destruction threatned for these sins, ver. 13. to 23. 3. The aggravations of their sins, 1 Partly by their universal extent over all degrees of men, ver. 23. to 30. 2 Partly by their general security, few or none standing in the gap for the land, ver. 30, 31.

CHAP. XXIII. 16. The idolatrous defection of both Israel and Judah from God is branded under the type of two Women notorious for whoredomes, viz. Aholah and Aholibah Here note 1. The Whoredome of Aholah, that is, the idolatry of Israel, Ch. XXIII. 1. to 9. and her overthrow by her Lovers the Assyrians, ver. 9, 10. 2. The whoredome of Aholibah, viz. the idolatry of Judah worse then Israels, ver. 11. to 22. who is therefore threatned with ruine by her Lovers the Chaldeans, ver. 22. to 36. 3. The joynt Repetition and Accusation of the notorious whoredoms, viz. idolatries of both Israel and Judah, ver. 36. to 45. 4. A Commination of the Judgement of them both, ver. 45. to the end.

CHAP. XXIV. 17. The destruction of Jerusalem by the Chaldeans, for her sins persevered in, is described in this Concluding Sermon. Herein 1. The very first day, wherein the King of Babylon set himself against Jerusalem is denoted, Ch. XXXIV. 1, 2. 2. Under the Type of A boyling pot whose scumme is in it, is described the uncleanesse of their sins, and irrevocableness of their judgements by the Chaldees, ver. 3. to 15. 3. Under the Parable of Ezekiel's not mourning for his wife now dead, is described their woful destruction beyond Lamentation, ver. 15. to 25. 4. The Confirmation of the Prophecy, by a [z] particular prediction of opening the Prophets mouth from his dumbness, when these Judgements should come upon Jerusalem, &c. ver. 25, 26, 27.

[z] This set fulfilled, ch. 33. ver. 21. 22.

Thus of his Prophecies against the Jewes.

II. His Prophecies against Gentiles, especially against neighbouring Nations, (who had vexed or oppressed the Church,) follow, from Ch. 25. to 33. viz.

CHAP. XXV. 1. Against the Ammonites, Ch. XXV. 1. to 8.
2. Against Moab and Seir, ver 8. to 12.
3. Against Edom, ver. 12. to 15.
4. Against the Philistines, ver. 15, 16, 17.

CHAP. XXVI 5. Against Tyre, where, 1, Tyre insultings over Jerusalem, Ch XXVI. 1, 2. 2. Her judgments threatned for her insolencies, ver. 3. to 7. 3. The ability of Nebuchadnezzar to destroy her, ver. 7. to 15. 4. The astonishment and lamentation of the Isles and Princes of the Sea at her terrible overthrow, ver. 15. to the end. 5. The Prophets Lamentation taken up for Tyrus, Partly describing and upbraiding her pride, vain glory and luxury, ch. XXVII. 1. to 26. Partly declaring her great and irrecoverable fall, to the amazement of all round about her, ver. 26. to the end. 6. The destruction of the Prince of Tyre is threatned for his intollerable Pride, and a Lamentation taken up for him, ch. XXVIII. 1. to 20.

CHAP. XXVII

CH. XXVIII. 6. Against Zidon, who is threatned with sword and pestilence, ver. 20. to 24. Amplified by contrary promises of safety and tranquillity to the Church of God, ver. 24, 25, 26.

CH. XXIX. 7. Against Pharaoh and Egypt, where consider 1. Their desolation and dispersion is threatned for their pride against God, and perfidiousness to Israel trusting in them, Ch. XXIX. 1. to 13. This threatning is a little corrected with promises of restoring them after fourty years to be a Kingdome, but the basest of Kingdomes, which shall rule over others no more, nor be trusted by Israel any more, ver. 13. to 17. 2. Egypt and the spoyl thereof is appointed to Nebuchadnezzar as his his wages for his service against Tyre, ver. 17. to 21. This is amplified, (1) Partly by the opposite advancement of Israel promised, ver. 21. (2) Partly by the pathetical description of the destruction of Egypt and her Cities, &c. by the Babylonians, Ch. XXX. 1. to 20. (3) Partly by the Lords threatning to strengthen the arms of the King of Babylon, to break Pharaoh's arme, ver. 20. to the end. 3. Egypts destruction is threatned under the example of Assyria's ruine for their pride, though far greater then Egypt in glory, Ch. XXXI. throughout. 4. Ezekiel is commanded to take up a Lamentation for Pharaohs and Egypts ruine, Ch. XXXII. Pharaoh for his cruelty and tyranny being compared to a Lion and a Dragon in the Sea, ver. 1. 2. His judgement set forth metaphorically, by his being taken in a Net, at the horrour whereof Heaven and Earth shall be astonished, ver. 3. to 17. Finally, how he shall be brought to Hell with all the rest of the uncircumcised Nations, ver. 17. to the end.

CHAP. XXXI.

CH. XXXII.

Thus of his Prophecies against forreign Nations.

III. Hortatory and Consolatory Prophecies to the Jews follow, wherein they are exhorted to repentance, and encouraged to hope, not only for an Inchoate typical deliverance by Cyrus, but also for a Consummate and true deliverance indeed by Christ, ch. 33. to the end of the book. Here note 1. The Proem. 2. The Prophecies themselves.

I. The Proem of the Prophets Sermons to the Jews, inciting him vigorously and faithfully to warn them, (after his long silence commanded in ch. 24.) Wherein 1. The Prophets duty is described under the type of a watchman, how he should warn them, and invite them to Repentance, Ch. XXXIII. 1. to 21. 2. Upon tidings of Jerusalems being smitten, the remnant of Jewes remaining in Judea, are threatned to be dispossessed for their sins, ver. 21. to 30. 3. The captive Jews in Babylon are threatned for their hypocrisie, ver. 30. to the end.

CH. XXXIII.

II. The Prophecies themselves, wherein

1. The Shepherds of Israel both Civil and Ecclesiastical are threatned for their unfaithfulnesse to his flock, Ch. XXXXIV. 1. to 11. Amplified 1. By the tender care that the Lord himself will have of his flock, ver. 11. to 23. 2. By the Promises of setting up Christ to be the true and happy Shepherd to his Church, ver. 23. to the end.

CH. XXXIV

2. Mount Seir is threatned with ruine for her hatred and cruelty against Israel, Ch. XXXV. throughout.

CH. XXXV.

3. Consolatory Promises are propounded to the Jews, I. Touching the Lords avenging them of their spiteful enemies by destroying them round about, Ch. XXXVI. 1. to 8. II. Touching their Restauration to, and Prosperity in their own Land, notwithstanding their sins, and this of his own meer grace, crowning them with spiritual and temporal blessings, ver. 8. to the end. III. Touching their recovery out of Babylon, though their condition therein was as hopeless as dead men in their graves, under the type of Dry Bones. Ch. XXXVII. 1. to 15. IV. Touching the happy union of Israel and Judah into one Nation, especially of Jewes and Gentiles under one King, Christ, represented under the type of Two sticks becoming one in the Prophets hand, ver. 15. to the end. V. Touching the glorious victory they shall have over a Gog and Magog, that shall distress them after their return from Captivity, Promises whereof are again renewed, Ch. XXXVIII. and XXXIX. throughout. VI. Touching their compleat spiritual Restauration by the Messiah, Jesus Christ, under the types of a New Temple, New Worship, New Land, and New City, (which as here described, surpass the glory of Zerubbabels Temple, &c. and therefore are to be referred to the times of the New Testament,) ch. 40. to the end of the Book. More particularly herein note a Gog and Magog] About them are very discrepant opinions who they are. 1. The Iewes, (whom Mahomed in his Alcoran follows) understand by Gog and Magog, the ten tribes of Israel shut up in the Caspian mountains by Alexander the Great, which towards the end of the world should break forth, take Antichrist for their Messiah, infest the Holy Land and people of God, and in the siege of Jerusalem should be conquered by the King Messiah. See this reported by Pet. Galat. de Arcan. veritat. Cathol. l. 5. c. 12. Et D. Hier. Com. in Ezek. 38. 2. Some understand a certain Nation, namely Scythians, i. e. Turks and Saracens, who anciently carried about their houses in wains, that they might more easily possess other places, they coming forth of the Rocks of Caucasus, wandred abroad in Asia, and by degrees possest the Coast of Pontus and Galatia, and laid waste the most flourishing Eastern Churches, &c. 3. Some understand other Scythians, viz. Huns, Gothes, Getes, and think that Gog is the proper name of Antichrist. Ambros. de fide l. 2. c. 4. 4. Some, the Scythians and Saranatans; and they understand by Meshech the Cappadocians; by Tubal the Spaniards, or Italians. As Hier. in Ezech. reports out of Josephus. 5. Divers of the Ancients, and Most Orthodox Writers, under Gog and Magog, understand generally Hereticks and Tyrants, and all the Churches enemies through the world. Gog signifies The House; Magog, Of the House: therefore all pride and false science, which exalts it self against the knowledge of the Truth, is set forth in these names; The chief Hereticks are Gog; they that have received their doctrines, Magog. *D. DANIEL Daniel.

§. I. Order.

DANIEL is (according to the usuall order of the Books in our Bibles) the last of the greater Prophets. But according to the Order of the Books in the Hebrew Bibles, (as hath been formerly noted out of [a] Mercerus,) it is ranked among the Hagiographa or Holy-writings, peculiarly so called; and that learned [b] Hierome himselfe advertiseth us, That Daniel is not to be found among the Prophets, but among them that wrote the Hagiographa. The Hebrews dividing the whole Scripture into three parts, viz. The Law, the Prophets and Hagiographa, that is into five and eight and eleven Books. And [c] elsewhere he shows particularly, the Hebrew order and names of all the Books of the Old Testament, which are received as Canonicall, which the learned may view at large.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book hath its denomination from DANIEL, the instrumentall Author or Penman of it. That this is Daniels Prophecy, our Saviour himselfe testifies; [d] When you therefore shall see the abomination of desolation spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, stand in the Holy Place——alledging that passage out of Daniel; [e] And for the overspreading of abominations, he shall make it desolate.——

[e] Dan. 9. 27.

דניאל viz Daniel, signifies The-judgement-of-the-Strong-God. This name not without singular Providence seems to be given him, who afterwards was to pronounce the sentence of [f] judgement of the mighty God upon all the foure great Monarchies of the world, viz. the Babylonian, Persian, Grecian and Romane, that they should all be destroyed and broken before the fifth Monarchy of Christ, which shall continue for evermore; And particularly Gods judgement upon the Babylonian Monarchy the chief of them all, compared to the Head of gold in Nebuchadnezzars image. this Daniel (if we may beleeve [g] Epiphanius) was sonne of one Sabæa, but herein Scripture is silent. Certainly he was [h] one of the select Jewes carried by Nebuchadnezzar into Babylon, in the third year of Jehoiakim King of Judah, to teach them the learning and tongue of the Chaldeans, that they might stand before the King. He is singularly commended in Scripture, and that in many respects but especially for 1 His faith, 2 His righteousnesse, 3 His wisedome, And 4 The eminent favour he had with God and Man.

overcame enemies when they overcame the world! For the Elements not knowing their own Nature, are changed to that which is profitable to them; and Wild beasts are no longer wild-beasts, nor a fornace a fornace; for hope in God composeth all things. The teeth were sharp and the Prison strait, their nature fierce, and hunger irritating nature; no partition to keep them off, yea their mouths were next to the Prophets body: but hope in God, which is stronger then any bridle, rushing into their mouths did draw them back. And [l] Ambrose ascribing this to his Fast, (understand his Fast of Faith) thus expresseth himself. Daniel, that man of desires, by a three weeks Fast, taught the Lyons also to fast, being thrown into the Den, having his members hardned to the hardness of adamant through the solidity of abstinence he could not be wounded.——The fierce Lyons kept their mouths shut, which the sanctity of the Prophets Fast pressed together, thatt hey could not open them, &c.

2. For his righteousnesse; He is foure times accounted by the Spirit of God, one of the three eminent instances of righteousnesse; [m] Though these three men, Noah, Daniel and Iob were in it, they should deliver but their own souls by their righteousnesse; [n] Righteousnesse saith the Proverb delivereth from death; eminent Righteousnesse eminently delivereth, such the Righteousnesse of those three Worthyes, and singular their deliverances thereby; ? b from his deep distresses, Daniel from the Den of cruel Lyons, and Noah from the flood wherewith the whole world was drowned. [o] Augustine thinks Scripture hardly gives to any such a Testimony of righteousnes as to these his three servants; and under them prefigures three sorts of men to be delivered; in Noe, (who governed the Ark) the righteous Governours of the Church, in Daniel the righteous continent or single Persons, in Job the righteous married Persons.

[n] Prov. 10. 2. & 11. 4.
[o] Nam ut ego arbitror, non facilè cuiquam Scriptura Dei tam magnum justitiæ perhibet testimonium, quam tribus famulis ejus, Noe, Daniel & Job, quos Ezechiel Propheta dicit ab imminente quadam iracundia Dei solos posse liberari. In tribus utique illis viris tria quædam hominum liberanda genera præfigurans; In Noe, quantum arbitror, justos plebeiorum præpositos, propter Arcæ tanquam Ecclesiæ gubernationem; in Daniele, justos continentes; in Job, justos coniugatos; & si quis est forte alius intellectus de quo nunc non est necesse disquirere; veruntamen quantum isti justitiâ præminuerint, & hoc Prophetico, & aliis testimoniis divinis, satis apparet. D. August. Conf. Pelagian. lib. 2. c. 10. Tom. 7. & Enarrat in Psal. 132. Tom. 8.

Whence Calvin Dan. 1. 1. saith, Daniel was as it were of the first-fruits of the Captivity; and here we may see how incomprehensible of us the judgements of God are; if then there was any integrity among the People, surely Daniel was the primary exemplar; For Ezekiel reckons him among the three just, by whom it was likely God would be pacified. [Fuit igitur tanta virtutum præstantia in Daniele, ut esset quasi cælestis angelus inter mortales,] Such excellency of vertues therefore was in Daniel, that he was as an heavenly Angel among mortal men. As for Daniel he was so righteous [p] that he would eat pulse rather then defile himself with the Kings portion; [q] That his enemies could find no matter of accusation against him, but for his Religion; [r] That he would rather adventure to be thrown into the Den of hungry Lyons, then cease to pray unto his God, and present idolatrous petitions; And [s] that the Lyons themselves had no power to hurt him.

3. For his wisdome; it is said [t] An excellent spirit and knowledge and understanding interpreting of dreams, and shewing of hard sentences, and dissolving of doubts, was found in this same Daniel, whom the King named (for honour sake) Belteshazzar, after the name of his God, and whom therefore King Nebuchadnezzar made Master of the Magicians; so that in this regard he was singularly renowned among the very heathens. And when God would sharply reprove the pride and insolency of the Prince

[t] Dan. 5. 11, 12.

Prince of Tyre, by reaſon of his wiſedome, he ironically tells him,[u] behold thou art wiſer then Daniel, there is no ſecret that they can hide from thee. This his penetrating wiſdome Daniel manifeſted in expounding [x] Nebuchadnezzars dreams, and Belſhazzars viſion, when all the wiſe men in Chaldea were non-plus'd with them.

4. Finally, Daniel is commended for the ſurpaſſing favour he was in both with God and man; with God, in which reſpect the Angel Gabriel ſtiled him [y] greatly beloved, or as the Hebrew words import, A man of deſires. That is, (ſaith [z] Gerhard) moſt deſirable, viz. moſt dear to God. Auguſtine thinks, That [a] Daniel, skilful in things future, a Knower of the Lords coming, and moſt manifeſt Preacher of Jeruſalems overthrow, is therefore called a man of deſires becauſe he did not eat the bread of deſire, nor drink the drink of deſire, becauſe he deſired Chriſt more then feaſts. God ſo loved him, that he revealed to him [b] ſtrange ſecrets; wonderfully delivered him from the [c] Lyons: appeared to him twice by the [d] Angel Gabriel, to inſtruct him in the great viſion of the Meſſiah; and graciouſly [e] heard his prayer at the beginning of his Supplication. With man alſo he was of no ſmall requeſt, greatly favoured and tenderly loved by the [f] Prince of the Eunuches; Highly [g] advanced by King Nebuchadnezzar; [h] Made the third Ruler in the Kingdome by King Belſhazzar; and [i] preferred by Darius poſſeſſing the Kingdome, to be the firſt of the three Preſidents over the one hundred and twenty Princes ſet over the whole Kingdome; and ſo he [k] proſpered in the Reign of Darius, and in the Reign of Cyrus the Perſian

This is that excellent Prophet Daniel, Penman of this Book. With what deſire ſhould we ſtudy, with what delight ſhould we underſtand this Prophecy, penned by ſuch a Daniel, and indited by the God of this Daniel.

§. III. Time, or Chronology.

Daniel being carried captive to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar [l] in the third year of Jehoiakim King of Judah, (which ſeems to be the firſt year of King Nebuchadnezzar, becauſe Nebuchadnezzars eighth year is made parallel to the cloſe of Jehoiakim's reign, who [m] reigned eleven years, and the [n] beginning of Jehoiachin's reign, his Succeſſor) Daniel I ſay, began to be prepared for, and called to the Prophetick Function, in the next year after he came into Babylon, viz. in the [o] ſecond year of Nebuchadnezzar, God then extraordinarily revealing Nebuchadnezzars dream unto him with the interpretation thereof, touching the foure Monarchies of the World, and the fifth Monarchy of Chriſt that ſhould deſtroy them all; and he prophecied till the [p] third year of Cyrus the Perſian, which was [q] a year or two after Cyrus had releaſed the Jewes out of their captivity, and they were now come to Jeruſalem, &c. which [r] Helvicus computes to be in all about ſeventy nine years; Jeremiah ceaſing to prophecy (according to him,) in Daniels 18 year; Ezekiel beginning in Daniels thirteenth year, and ceaſing to prophecy in Daniels thirty ſixth year. So that Daniel prophecied in the dayes of both Jeremiah and Ezekiel, and alſo many years after them both.

§. IV. Scope.

Scope of this Book is

I. More generally to diſplay unto Gods Church and People, God's wiſe and faithful dealings with them in all ſtates, from dayes of Nebuchadnezzar till Chriſt, for the comfort of the Jews, and from Chriſt to the end of the world, his peculiar Providence over his own in all their diſtreſſes, and deliverances, for the comfort of the Saints under New Teſtament.

II. More Particularly,

1. In reference to the Jewes, 1. To discover how careful God was over them under their afflictions, by special Providence sending Daniel afore into Babylon, and raising him up to great dignity and power there, (as of old, Joseph in Egypt,) that so the extremity of the Jewes bondage in Babylon might be somewhat abated. 2. To encourage the captive Jewes to hope for deliverance out of Babylon, because the Babylonian Monarchy should be broken and destroyed after seventy years by the Medes and Persians. 3. Least the Jewes after that their deliverance should dream of a golden age, Halcyonian dayes, and fancy to themselves nothing but outward Prosperity, to forewarn them, (and that in divers visions) of many sore troubles that should befall the Church, not onely for seventy years of dayes, as in Babylon, but for seventy years of weeks, that is for seven times so long space under Alexander and the Seleucides Kings of Syria, his Successours, &c. but especially under Antiochus Epiphanes, that cruellest Tyger and Persecutor of the Church, and enemy of all Religion, (notably prefiguring the Romane Persecutors of the Primitive Church, and Antichrists rage against the Church at last.) But withal to comfort the Church against all these Persecutors, by the coming of Christ the Messiah in the flesh, [s] To make an end of sinnes, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousnesse, &c. whereby his Church shall be redeemed and delivered spiritually; and by his second coming to judgement [t] whereby his enemies shall be destroyed, and his Church saved and glorified eternally.

s Dan. 9. 24.

t Dan. 12. 1, 2, 3

2. In reference to [u] us Gentiles also 1. To confirm our faith in the Messiah exhibited, that he is the onely true Messiah indeed, in whom the Prophecy of Daniel is so accurately and punctually fulfilled. And this one thing may stop the mouths of the incredulous Jewes for ever touching the incarnation of the Messiah already. 2. To let us see what the state and condition of the Church shall be under the New Testament, viz. full of troubles and Persecutions; that therefore we promise not our selves any long secular tranquillitie. 3. To comfort us with assured hope of deliverance at last from all these miseries by Christ, which according to Daniels Predictions shall as certainly be performed, as the miseries foretold by him are come to passe.

§. IV. Nature and Excellency of this Book.

The nature and excellency of this Prophecy may appear, if we consider 1 The Efficient, 2 The Matter, 3 The Form, and 4 The End of the Book.

1. The Efficient or Author of it, is either 1. Principal, viz. God himself; for who could have revealed such secrets, and such future events, not onely touching the Jewes, but also Gentiles, and that in reference both to all the four Monarchies of the world, and to the Church of God, not for a short time, but from Daniels days to the incarnation of Christ, yea to the end of the world? Which Predictions have hitherto exactly been fulfilled, and therefore this Book is of singular divine Authority, whatsoever that Atheistical [x] Porphyry babble out to the contrary. 2. Instrumental, viz. Daniel. A most excellent Prophet, and a great Prince in his dayes, So faithful, righteous, wise, respected of God and man (as hath been shewed.) When God is pleased to use so choice an instrument, the work must needs be transcendent.

2. The

2. The matter of it is admirable, whether Hiſtorical or Prophetical. I. Here are not vulgar, but extraordinary Hiſtories, viz. 1. Of Nebuchadnezzars myſterious dreams, and their notable interpretations in reference to all the grand Monarchies of the world. 2. Of ſtrange apparitions of an [z] hand-writing upon a wall, and the Contents of the writing againſt Belſhazzar ſtrangely expounded by Daniel, and fulfilled preſently according to that Expoſition. 3. Of Gods wonderful judgments upon his proudeſt Adverſaries, depriving [a] Nebuchadnezzar of his Reaſon and Kingdome, for a time baniſhing him from the ſociety of Men to live among Beaſts, that he did eat graſs as Oxen, and his Body was wet with the Dew of Heaven, that his Hairs were grown like Eagles Feathers, and his Nails like Birds claws, and after all this his Reaſon and Kingdome returning to him again, of a Man as it were transformed into a Beaſt, and again of a Beaſt re-transformed into a Man, and caſting proud profane [b] Belſhazzar out of his Kingdom for ever. 4. Of [c] Pagans rare acknowledgments of the Majeſty and Dominion of the true God, and their Decrees againſt all blaſphemers of him. 5. Finally, of peculiar providences of God over his own ſervants, Proſpering them with [d] pulſe, procuring them [e] favour among Heathens; keeping them pure and ſincere againſt all [f] temptations, preſerving them [g] un-torn in the Lyons Den, and [h] un-burnt in the midſt of the hot fiery furnace; and raiſing them up to high-power and dignity, for the comfort of his Church in her captivity. II. Here are alſo not vulgar but extraordinary Prophecies, viz. 1. Of the deſtiny of all the [i] foure grand Kingdomes or Monarchies of the world, (whence happily Hierome calls him [k] The manifold Hiſtorian of the whole world.) How they ſhould perſecute the Saints from time to time, but at laſt be utterly deſtroyed by the Kingdome of the Meſſiah. 2. Of the afflicted and perſecuted condition of the Church in this world, out of which afflictions notwithſtanding, it ſhall at laſt be abſolutely delivered. 3. Eſpecially of the [l] Kingdome of the Meſſiah paramount over all, deſcribing [m] his expiation of ſins; His introduction of the Goſpels [n] Everlaſting Righteouſneſs, His Unction as of the moſt-Holy, to be an everlaſting King: His abolition of the Jewiſh Temple and worſhip cauſing the dayly ſacrifices to ceaſe: that the ſpiritual Worſhip of the Goſpel may ſucceed: and his being cut off, not for himſelf, but for his Elect, after ſeventy weeks, viz. ſeventy weeks of yeares, not of dayes;) Thus he particularly foretells the very time when the Meſſiah ſhould be revealed and put to death, (which none of all the Prophets did before or after him) in which reſpect Daniel more clearly prophecies of the Meſſiah, then all the Prophets of the old Teſtament, as [o] Auguſtine and [p] Hierome, have well obſerved.

[p] Illud in Præfatione commoneo, nullum Prophetarum tam apertè dixiſſe de Chriſto: non enim ſolum ſcribit eum eſſe venturum, quod eſt commune cum cæteris: ſed etiam quo tempore venturus ſit docet, & Reges per ordinem digerit, & annos enumerat, ac manifeſtiſſima ſigna prænunciat. Quæquia vidit Porphyrius univerſa completa & tranſacta negare non poterat, ſuperatus hiſtoriæ veritate, in hanc prorupit calumniam, ut ea quæ in conſummatione mundi de Antichriſto futura dicuntur, propter Geſtorum in quibuſdam ſimilitudinem, ſub Antiocho Epiphane impleta contendat. Cujus impugnatio teſtimonium veritatis eſt. Tanta enim dictorum fides fuit, ut Propheta incredulis hominibus non videatur futura dixiſſe, ſed narraſſe Præterita. D. Hieron. in Comment. in Daniel. Proem. ad Pammach. & Marcell. Tom. 5.

3. The Forme of it: viz. The external Forme, in which the Prophecy is laid down, is great part of it viſional, and ænigmatical under Types, and therefore intricate, obſcure: and yet in ſome part punctually Chronological, defining the very times of future events particularly, and therefore narrowly to be obſerved. In the former reſpect it is (as [q] Hierome hath noted) one of the Books, hard to be underſtood, and requiring much ſtudy, and accurate comparing of it with [r] Hiſtories of following events; In the latter reſpect, being clearly underſtood, it will abundantly ſatisfie both Knowledge and Faith, and richly compenſate the moſt induſtrious ſtudies about it.

[q] Eſaiam, Jeremiam, Ezechielem, & Danielem quis poſſit vel intelligere vel exponere? Quorum primus non Prophetiam mihi videtur texere, ſed Evangelium. Secundus virgam nuceam, & ollam ſuccenſam à facie Tertius Principium & finem tantis habet obſcuritatibus involuta, ut apud Hebræos iſtæ partes cum exordio Geneſeos ante annos triginta non legantur. Quartus vero qui & extremus inter quatuor Prophetas, temporum conſcius & totius mundi Philoſtoros, [vel] Phylobiſtoricus, vel Polyhiſtor, aut certe Polyhiſtores, h. e. qui multa novit & memorat, vel Philiſtores, i.e. cognoſcendi cupidus. Eraſ. Schol. in loc.] lapidem præciſum de monte ſine manibus, & regna ora ſubvertentem, claro ſermone pronunciat. D. Hieron. Paulin. Tom. 3.

γ Ad intelligendas autem extremas partes Danielis multiplex Græcorum Hiſtoria neceſſaria eſt: Suctorii, viz. Callinici, Diodori, Hieronymi, Polybii, Poſſidonii, Claudii, Theonis, & Andronici cognomento Alipii, quos & Porphyrius eſſe ſequutum ſe dicit: Joſephi quoq; & eorum quos ponit Joſephus, præcipuéque noſtri Livii, & Pompei Trogi atque Juſtini, qui omnem extremæ viſionis narrant Hiſtoriam; & poſt Alexandrum uſque ad Cæſarem Auguſtum, Syriæ & Egypti, id eſt, Seleuci & Antiochi & Ptolomæorum Bella deſcribunt. D. Hieron. in Comment. Daniel. Proem. ad Pammach. &c. Tom. 5.

4. Finally, The End or Scope of this Book is of great and manifold Conſequence, as hath been evidenced, §. IV. And therefore by all this, how notably is this Book commended to ſuch as are ſtudious of the Scriptures, for the exerciſing and perfecting of their underſtanding therein.

§. VI. Principal Parts.

I. In this Book conſider 1. A Preface to the whole Prophecy, wherein is ſet forth A Deſcription of Daniels ſingular Call to the Prophetick Office. 2. The Viſions and Propheſies themſelves. The former Part is uſually counted Hiſtorical, This latter Prophetical.

THE PREFACE to the Prophecy, containing an Hiſtorical Narration of Daniels extraordinary Call unto the Prophetick Office, ch. 1. to ch. 7. where note his 1 Preparation, 2 Qualification, and 3 Confirmation therein.

CHAP. I. I. His Preparation for the Prophetick Function is ſet forth. 1. By the time when Daniel began to come into requeſt, viz. in King Jehoiakims third year, when King Nebuchadnezzar ſubdued him, and carried divers Captives to Babylon, Ch. 1. ver. 1, 2. 2 By the occaſion of Daniels noted fame, viz. King Nebuchadnezzars Command to the Maſter of the Eunuchs to bring to Babylon certain of the Kings and Princes and Iſraelites ſeed, ſpotleſs, well favoured and skilful in all Wiſedome, &c. whom they might teach the Learning and Tongue of the Chaldeans, that after three years they might ſtand before the King: among whom was Daniel, and three other his companions: named alſo with Chaldean names, ver. 3. to 8. 3. By Daniels favour and tender love with the Prince of the Eunuches, whereby he obtained for himſelf and his three companions liberty to be fed with pulſe, (they proſpering therewith) that they might not be ſ Defiled with the Kings Proviſion, ver. 8 to 17.

ſ Daniel feared Defilement by the Kings portion. 1. Either becauſe there might be ſome fleſh amongſt it prohibited to the Jewes as Ceremonially unclean. 2. Or becauſe the Kings meat was bleſſed with invocation of idols; or was conſecrate to idols. 3. Or becauſe thoſe Princely delicates ſhould not become a ſnare to him, to withdraw his heart from the Jewiſh to the Paganiſh Religion. 4. Or leaſt being fed with Court-like Delicates, he ſhould forget the afflictions of the Church. Pareus in Adverſ. in Dan. 1.8. And Diod. Anaz. ibid. But Calvin in loc. gives onely thoſe two laſt Reaſons of Daniels Actions.

CHAP. II. II. His Qualification for his Office is ſet down Comparatively, like his Companions; Superlatively, above them, ver. 17. Amplified by their joynt ten-fold excellency beyond all Chaldeans, ver. 18. to the end.

III. His Confirmation in the Prophetick Office, to the admiration of the Heathens, much more to the conviction of the Jews) divers wayes, viz.

1. By his Revelation of King Nebuchadnezzars Dream, (which he had forgotten) touching the Image, and his interpretation of it; Deſcribed I. By the Antecedent, viz. 1. The time of Nebuchadnezzars dreams, Ch. II. 1. 2. His trouble of ſpirit about them, ver. 1. 3. The inability of all the Chaldean wiſe-men to tell the King his Dreams, whereupon the King ſent out a Decree to ſlay all the Wiſe-men: Daniel and his fellows being ſought to be ſlain, ver. 2. to 14. 4. Upon Daniels obtaining reſpite of the Execution a little, after his and his fellows Prayer to God, in night viſion God reveals both dream and interpretation of it, for which Daniel bleſſed God, ver. 14. to 24. II. By the Matter of the dream and interpretation thereof revealed particularly by Daniel to the King, ver. 24. to 46. III. By the Conſequents thereof, viz. the Kings 1. Adoring of Daniel, ver. 46. 2. Magnifying of Daniels God, ver. 47. 3. Preferring of Daniel, who obtained preferment alſo for all his three companions, ver. 48, 49. 4. Hereunto is annexed Gods miraculous Preſervation of theſe three Companions of Daniel, (refuſing idolatrouſly to worſhip Nebuchadnezzars Image,) ſo that they were not burnt in the hot fiery Furnace, the Angel of God accompanying them there; whereupon their God is magnified by the Kings Decree, and they promoted, Chapt. III. throughout.

CHAP. III.

2. By

2. By his interpretation of Nebuchadnezzars Dream of a Great Tree contained in Nebuchadnezzars letters to all People, &c. wherein conſider I. The Inſcription and Salutation, Ch. IV. ver. 1. II. The ſcope or intent of the letter, for the extolling of God and his wonders, ver. 2,3. III. The Narration it ſelf, 1. Of Nebuchadnezzars Dream, which the wiſe men of Chaldea could not interpret, ver. 4. to 18. 2. Of Daniels interpretation of theſe Dreams, ver. 18. 28. 3. The ſtrange event upon Nebuchadnezzars according to Daniels interpretation of his Dreams; He upon his glorying in Babylon, being driven from his Kingdom, deprived of his reaſon, and baniſhed to eat graſſe among beaſts, till at laſt he was reſtored to his reaſon and Kingdome, and extolled the King of Heaven, ver. 28. to the end.

3. By his interpretation of King Belſhazzars Viſion of an hand writing on the Wall. Here note I. The Antecedent occaſion, viz. Belſhazzars impious feaſt with his thouſand Lords, Ch. V. 1. to 5. II. The viſion it ſelf related, ver. 5. III. The conſequents hereof, viz. 1. Belſhazzars extream trouble about it, eſpecially when his Chaldean wiſe-men could not interpret it, ver. 5. to 10. 2. Daniels being ſent for to interpret it upon the Queens motion, ver. 10. to 17. 3. Daniels reading and interpretation of the writing, touching the tranſlation of the Monarchy from the Chaldeans to the Medes and Perſians (having firſt ſharply reproved and warned the King, (by his fathers example) of his Pride and idolatry; ver. 17. to 30. 4. The event that night according to Daniels interpretation, Belſhazzar being ſlain, and Darius the Mede poſſeſſing the Kingdom, ver. 30, 31.

4. By his miraculous preſervation from death or harm in the Den of Lyons, deſcribed 1. By the occaſion of it, viz. 1. The envy of the Princes at Daniel, becauſe the King had made Daniel chief of the three Preſidents over the one hundred and twenty Princes ſet over the Provinces; who therefore procure of the King a Decree for the enſnaring of Daniel, Ch. VI. 1. to 10. 2. By Daniel perſevering in his ſupplications to his God as aforetime, with magnanimous Reſolution, though he knew the Decree was ſigned, ver. 10. 3. By the Princes accuſation of Daniel to the King, for praying to his God contrary to the Kings Decree, whereupon through their importunity he is caſt into the Den of Lyons, ver. 11. to 18. 4. By Daniels miraculous ſafety in the Den of Lyons, and deliverance thence, ver. 18, to 24. 5. By his accuſers deſtruction in the ſame Den, ver. 24. 6. By the Kings decree hereupon that all tremble and fear before the God of Daniel, ver. 24. to 28. 7. By the following proſperity of Daniel till the reign of King Cyrus, ver. 28.

Thus of Daniels Vocation to his Prophetick office.

THE PROPHECY it ſelf Ch. 6. to the end of the Book, containing divers Viſions and Predictions of things to come, till the incarnation of Chriſt, and afterwards (as ſome think) to the end of the World.

I. The firſt viſional Prediction, is of the four Beaſts, viz. the four grand Kingdoms or Monarchies of the World, the Babylonian, Perſian, Grecian and Roman. This viſion is the ſame in Subſtance with that firſt Dream of Nebuchadnezzars, ch. 2. Onely with this difference, 1. In this the foure Kingdomes are deſcribed more punctually and particularly then in that. 2. In that they are repreſented under the reſemblance of a man made up of four ſorts of materials, Gold, Silver, Braſs, Iron and Clay: In this under the ſimilitude of four Beaſts, becauſe of the beaſtly cruelty in obtaining and adminiſtring of theſe Kingdoms. In this viſion conſider I. The Preface, deſcribing the Time, Manner, Record and Report of the viſion, Ch. VII. 1. II. The viſion it ſelf, declaring 1. The ſucceſſive Riſe, Reſemblance, Diſpoſition and Acts of the four Kingdoms, ver. 2. to 9. 2. The fall and ruine of all theſe Kingdoms, by the everlaſting Kingdome of Chriſt the Mediator given to him of God, ver. 9. to 15. III. The interpretation of the viſion, 1 Deſired by Daniel, ver. 15, 16. 2. Performed particularly unto Daniel, both touching the ſeveral beaſts, the four Kingdoms; and touching their deſtruction, ver. 17. to 28. IV. The Concluſion, ver. 28.

II. The ſecond viſional Prediction, the ſame for Subſtance with the former, chap. 7. and with Nebuchadnezzars Dream, ch. 2. But with this difference that here's only mention of the three laſt Kingdomes, the Babylonians being omitted, becauſe within three years it was to be deſtroyed. Here are 1. The Preface, declaring the Time and Place of the viſion, Ch. VIII. 1, 2. II. The viſion it ſelf. 1. Of a Ram that had two horns very high, &c. ſignifying the Kingdome of two People, the Medes and Perſians united, ver. 3,4. 2. Of an Hee-Goat from the Weſt, (that is the Grecian Monarchy,) with a notable horne in his forehead, prevailing over the Ram, (that is, the firſt King of Greece, Alexander the Great,) which horn being broken, there aroſe up four horns inſtead thereof, and out of one of them a little horn came forth, which prevailed to take away the daily ſacrifice, and caſt down the trueth to the ground, [that is, Alexander being dead, the Kingdom was divided into four leſſer Kingdomes, viz. Macedonia, Aſia, Syria, (called by Hiſtorians from Seleucus Nicanor the firſt King, the Seleucidan's Kingdom) and Egypt; Seleucus being dead, Antiochus Epiphanes, a notable type of Antichriſt, roſe up, who by ſubtilty of their Government, drew many Jews from Gods pure Worſhip and Truth.] ver. 5. to 13. This is amplified by the time how long the daily ſacrifice and ſanctuary ſhall thus be trodden under foot by Antiochus, viz. two thouſand three hundred dayes; that is, ſix years, three moneths, and about eighteen dayes till the [u] Altar was purified, ver. 13. 14. III. The interpretation of the Viſion deſcribed, 1. By the Preparatories to it, ver. 15. to 20. 2. By the particulars of it, ver. 20. to 27. IV. The Concluſion, denoting the effects of the viſion in Daniel, ver. 27.

III. The third Prediction or particular Prophecy, touching the punctual time of the Messiahs coming in the Flesh, and suffering for sinners, after seventy weeks, by which the Lord would raise Daniels thoughts from the temporal deliverance out of Babylon by Cyrus, to the spirituall Restauration of the Church by Christ. Herein note 1. The time when this was revealed to Daniel, viz. in the first year of Darius son of Ahasuerus, Chap IX. 1, 2. II. The occasion whereupon this was revealed to Daniel, viz. 1. Partly upon Daniels understanding by Jeremiahs Prophecy the terme of the 70 years captivity in Babylon, ver. 2. 2. Partly upon Daniels zealous Prayer, after confession of their sins, for the Jews Restauration from Babylon, ver. 3. to 20. III. The narration of the time when the Messiah should come into the world, and be cut off to bring in everlasting righteousnes, &c. after 70 weeks (viz. 70 weeks of years) ver. 20. to the end.

CHAP. X.

IV. The fourth and last visional Prediction, containing future events from that time to the Messiahs coming, or (as some think) to the last judgement in chap. 10, 11, and 12. Here are considerable,

1. The Preface to the Prophecy, containing 1. The time and occasion of the vision in Cyrus his third year, and in Daniels three weeks mourning and fasting, (thought to be occasioned by reason of the obstructing of the Temple-building,) Chap. X. 1, 2, 3. 2. The glorious vision, of Christ, ver. 4, 5, 6. 3. The great Consternation of Daniel and his companions at the vision, ver. 7, 8, 9. 4. An Angels speech to Daniel, Partly erecting and comforting him, ver. 10, 11, 12. Partly shewing him the Reason why the answering of his Prayers was thus long delay'd, because he was thus long (viz. 21 dayes hindred by the Prince of Persia, ver. 13. to the end.

CHAP. XI.

2. The Prophetical Prediction, I. Touching the four Kings of Persia, whereof the last shall provoke the Realme of Gracia to his destruction, Chap. XI. 1, 2. II. Touching the King of Gracia, viz. Alexander, that shall translate the Monarchy from Persia to Gracia, ver 3. III. Touching the dissipation of Alexanders Kingdom, ver. 4. IV. Touching the wars betwixt the King of the South, [viz the King of Egypt that lay South from Judea;] and the King of the North, [viz. the Kings of Syria, the Seleucides, these were two of the four Kingdomes, that rose up out of Alexanders Kingdome,] ver. 5. to 30. V. Touching the invasion and Tyrany of the Romans, and the mischief thereby to the Church, permitted for the Churches good, ver. 30. to the end. VI. Touching the State of Church after Christ to the end of the World, that it shall be most afflicted, yet she shall have compleat deliverance by Christs second coming to judgement, Chap. XII. throughout.

CHAP. XII.

Hitherto of the four greater Prophets Isaiah Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel.

II. The twelve lesser Prophets follow, viz. The Books of Hosheah, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum; Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi: Called Lesser Prophets, Not for their lesser merit, but from the lesser number of verses, as [a] Ruffinus. Not because they or their Prophets had lesser Authority from God, but because their Prophecies and Sermons were written in far lesser volumes then the former, (as hath been noted out of [b] Augustine,) Yea these are so small, that the [c] men of the great Synagogue, or Ezra under Artaxerxes Longimanus, or some godly Jews digested them all into one volume, (called the [d] Book of the Prophets) perhaps least any of them should be lost [e] Hierome observes, That the twelve lesser Prophets were digested all into one volume, called therefore by the Jews Thare-Asar, i. e. Twelve: for תרי Thare signifies two; and עשר Asar ten. And this conjunction of them is not new as may appear in Ecclesiast. 49. 10.

These

These twelve Prophets, according to that which principally predominates in their Prophecies, are [f] counted either Minatory, Consolatory, or Hortatory.

1. Minatory, threatning the captivity or other punishments, as Hosea, Joel, Amos, Micah; They threaten either both the Kingdoms of Israel and Judah, or Judah alone, or Israel as the cause of Judahs errour, and sometimes all the neighbouring Kingdoms.

2. Consolatory to the Jewes, as Obadiah Jonah, Nahum, Habakkuk; who also threaten either the Idumeans, enemies to Israel; or Niniveh and the Assyrians that captived the ten Tribes; or Babylon and the Chaldeans that captived the two Tribes.

3. Hortatory, inciting and calling back the People out of Babylons captivity, as Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi. Zephaniah preaching of it as future; Haggai and Zechariah, as present; therefore incite the People to come forth of Babylon to rebuild Jerusalem; Malachi as past and actually fulfilled, wherenpon he exhorts them to Piety and Holyness Hosheah.

§. I. Order and Time.

IN what Order, and at what Time, or how long Hosheah Prophesied, See in the Chronological Table before Isaiah.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is by the Hebrews called ספר הושע Sepher Hoshea, i. e. The Book of Hosheah, from the Prophet Hosheah, Penman of it. Therefore in the inscription it is called [g] The word of the Lord that came unto Hosheah—— And [h] The beginning of the word of the Lord by Hosheah.

[g] Hos. 1. 1.
[h] Hos. 1. 2.

הושע Hoshea is for substance the same name with Joshuah or Jesus, and signifies a Saviour. Now though Parents in the imposing of this name upon their Children, perhaps knew not, nor intended any future events to them or by them, (as that learned [i] Rivet observes,) yet by God's disposition of things, (who foreknows all things,) they have become convenient, as Joshua was a Saviour to Israel against the Canaanites, having before that happy [k] omen in his name: So here Hosheah is of their number, [l] That (as Paul saith,) save themselves and them that hear them; for he preacheth salvation in Christ to the Jews, if they will not be obstinate. And they all were subservient, instrumental Saviours, and types of that onely true Saviour Jesus Christ, that [m] saves his People from their sins. Hosheah was the [n] son of Beeri; who this Beeri was, and what his office or condition was, is not discovered in Scripture. The Rabbines have a Rule (saith [o] Gerhard,) When in the beginning of any Prophet, his Fathers name is expressed, he is understood to have been a Prophet also; but the certain demonstration of that rule is still desired. Some [p] think he was of the Town of Belemoth in the Tribe of Issachar. Others [q] that he was born in Beth-shemesh, reckoned among the Cities of that Tribe, Josh. 19. 22. Hebrews think Beeri was a Prince of the Tribe of the Reubenites mentioned, 1 Chron 5. 5. But (as D. Rivet. [r] observes) that is scarce probable, and the termination of the two names plainly differs, that being Beera, this Beeri. Touching the life or death of this Prophet, Scripture is silent.

§. III. The Nature of this Prophecy.

This Prophecy principally deals against the ten Tribes, under the names of Israel, Samaria or Ephraim; because Samaria was the Royal City, and Jeroboam the first King of the ten Tribes was an Ephraimite: now and then against Judah. He principally inveighs against Israel for their idolatry. His stile is sharp and succinct, he speaks (saith s Hierome) as it were by sentences. His comperdicus conciseness and brevity, occasioneth his darkness and obscurity. In Augustine's judgement t he speaks profoundly, and the more profoundly he speaks, the more laboriously or difficultly he is penetrated or understood; we had need to pray to the Lord in the Explanation of Hosheah, (saith u Hierome,) and to say with Peter, Open unto us this Parable; especially when he himself that wrote it, testifies in the end of it, the obscurity of the Volume; x who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? which we are to interpret of the difficulty, not of the impossibility of understanding them.

s Osee commaticus est, & quasi per sententias loquens. Hieron. in 12 Proph. Præfat. Tom. 3.

t Osee igitur Propheta, quanto profundius quidem loquitur, tanto operosius penetratur. D. Aug. de Civ. Dei l. 18. c. 28.

u Quanto magis in explanatione Osee Prophetæ orandus est dominus, & cum Petro dicendum, Edissere nobis parabolam istam: Præsertim, cum obscuritatem voluminis in fine testetur ipse qui scripsit, Quis sapiens & intelligit ista? intelligens, & cognoscet ea? Quod non pro impossibili, sed pro difficili debemus accipere. Hier. Com. in Osee Proem ad Pammach. Tom. 6. x Hos. 14. 9.

§. IV. Occasion and Scope.

Occasion of Hosheah's Prophecy seems to be this; The ten tribes (usually called in this Prophet Israel, or Ephraim,) revolting from Rehoboam to Jeroboam son of Nebat, (who set up the two idolatrous Calves in Dan and Bethel,) they thereby also deprived themselves of the pure Worship of God at Jerusalem, and went a whoring after Jeroboams idols. From y whose sins Jeroboam sonne of Joash departed not; and Israel was still too prone to follow the lewd examples of their wicked Kings, especially if they prospered, as this z Jeroboam son of Joash did. In his days therefore God raises up this Prophet in Israel, to convince them of their Apostacy, and to recover at least the Elect among them by repentance.

y 2 Kings 14 24

f 2 King. 14. 25, 26, 27. compared with Hos. 2. 5. 7. and 12. 7, 8.

Scope, of this Prophecy therefore is

1. Immediately, in respect of Israel or the ten Tribes; 1. Partly, to detect, reprove and convince them of their many great iniquities, especially of their foul idolatries, with Jeroboams Calves and Baalim, (now and then, but more sparingly and gently, taxing Judah for their corruptions.) 2. Partly, to denounce (if they persisted still impenitent in these sinful and idolatrous courses,) their imminent and utter rejection, dispersion, final captivity and destruction by the Assyrians, notwithstanding all their vain carnal confidence they had in the broken reed of secular means or assistance. 3. Partly, to invite them to repentance, with hopes and Evangelical Promises of mercy to an elect Remnant repenting, of the Jewes future Conversion and Restauration by Christ, and of the blessed spiritual Priviledges they shall have by union to him, and communion with him.

2. Mediately, in respect of us, not only to warn us against all idolatry, and all idolatrous fellowship with idolaters, but also (as * Tarnovius hath well observed) 1 Partly, to teach sound doctrine, as is evident by Mat. 2. 15. from Hos. 11. 1. —— by Heb. 13. 15. from Hos. 14. 2. —— by Rom. 9. 26. 1 Pet. 2. 10. from Hos. 1. 10. —— by Rom. 9. 23. from Hos. 2. 23. 2 Partly, To convince of errour as may appear by Matth. 9. 13. and 12. 7. from Hos. 6. 6. 3. Partly, to admonish and warne of sin and judgement, by Luke 23. 30. Rev. 6. 16. from Hos. 10. 38. 4. And partly to comfort; by 1 Cor. 15. 55. from Hos. 13. 14. there alledged. And how notably the divine Authority of this Book shines forth, in these frequent allegations of it in the New Testament, is no hard thing to judge.

§. V.

§. V. Principal Parts.

In this Book consider 1. The Preface. 2. The Prophecy it self. And 3. The conclusion.

The PREFACE, describing, 1. The Principall Author of this Prophecy, viz. The LORD. 2. The Instrumental, Hoshеah, &c. 3. The time of his Prophecy, under four Kings of Judah, and one of Israel, ch. I. 1, 2.

The PROPHECY it self, which is laid down from ver. 2. to ch. 14. ver. 9. as it were under the a Person, 1. Of a Prophet. 2. Of a Judge. 3. Of an Herauld. 4. Of a Father. 5. Of a Friend. The whole being propounded Parabolically and Plainly.

I. Parabolically, and that in the person of a Prophet, he signifies in himself, the future events and evils that should befal the Kingdom of Israel, and the Kingly house under two types, viz.

1. under the type of the Prophets taking a wife of whoredomes, and having three children of whoredomes by her, is foretold the extraordinary punishment and destruction of Israel in three several ages for their spiritual whoredoms. This Type is Propounded, Corrected and Accommodated. I. Propounded, as prescribed of God to this end, ver. 2. As performed by the Prophet in a type, 1. Taking a wife of whoredomes, ver. 3. 2. Having by her b three children of whoredomes, viz. A son called Jezreel, i. e. The dispersion of God, denoting the destruction of Israel in the valley of Jezreel, ver. 4, 5. 2. A daughter called Lo-ruhamah, i. e. Not-having-obtained-mercy: because Israel shall not have any more mercy, as Judah shall, ver. 6, 7. 3. A son called Lo-ammi, i. e. Not-my-People: because they should not be Gods people, nor he their God, ver. 8. 9. II. Corrected, the sharpness of the former type is qualified by promises to an Elect remnant of Judah and Israel, that shall be united under one Head Jesus Christ, ver. 10, 11. III. Accommodated, ch. 2. throughout. 1. By an exhortation of the godly to incite their brethren and mother, Israel to repentance, Ch. II. 1. to 5. 2. By a Narration of the causes why they should thus move them to repent, Partly their own sins past and present, Partly God judgements that would befall them that remained obstinate, ver. 4. to 14. 3. By Publication of sweet Promises of grace and reconcilement in Christ with the fruits thereof, to the Elect of Israel, ver. 14. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. II.

b Hi autem liberi Tres ætates Israelitarum designant. Primus enim ætatem illam significat, quæ gravissimis & periculosissimis mortibus exagitata est, quando Schallum posteros Jehu sustulit. 2. Reg. 15. Secundus ætatem illam quæ a Tiglath-pilesere vastata, capta & deportata est, 1 Chron. 5. 26. Tertius denique ætatem illam, quæ tota eversa est per Shalmanasarem, quum regnum Israelis totum intercidit, 2 Reg. 17. *Jun. 2. Under another type of the Prophets loving an Adultеresse bought for money, and abiding many dayes without playing the harlot with another man, that so the Prophet might be for her: is set forth Gods love to Israel the spiritual adultеresse, who for her Idolatries shall be punished many dayes, but shall be converted to God in the latter dayes. Here I. The type is commanded, Ch. III. 1. II. The command is performed by the Prophet, where note 1. The type it self, ver. 2. 3. 2. The explanation and accommodation of it, Partly, by threats of desolation, ver. 4. Partly, by Promises of Restauration in Christ the true David, ver. 5.

CHAP. III.

II. Plainly and without Parable, the rest of the prophecy is laid down. And so it is 1. Comminatory, chap. 4. to 11. 2. Consolatory, chap. 11, 12, 13, 14.

I. Comminatory, or chiefly consisting in threatnings, In three Sermons, or speciall Prophecies, whereof the two first are set forth as under the Person of Judge, the last as under the person of an Herauld.

1. Sermon, against all Israel, which is partly Reprehensory, Partly monitory. I. Reprehensory, Wherein Israel is 1. Cited or summoned, Ch. IV. 1. 2. Accused and indited for offences against God and man, deserving grievous punishments, viz. Partly, the impieties and iniquities of the People, enumerated, aggravated and threatned, ver. 1. to 6. Partly, the corruptions of the Priests, mentioned, aggravated and threatned, ver. 6. to 12. Partly, the idolatry of Israel, ver. 12. to 15. II. Monitory, wherein Judah is dissuaded from Israels sins, both from the notoriousness of their offences, and grievousness of their punishment, ver. 15. to the end.

CHAp. IV.

2. Sermon against the Priests, House of Israel, and Kings House, and somewhat against Judah for following their sins, Ch. 5, 6, 7. wherein note The Summons, The Charge, The Confirmation of the Charge, and the Conclusion of the Sermon. I. The Summons, Ch. V. 1, 2. II. The charge or accusation laid against them, wherein 1. Their sins are propounded, ver. 3, 4, 5. 2. Their judgements for them are denounced, (Judah also being taken in,) ver. 5. to 11. 3. The Confirmation of the charge against both Israel and Judah touching their sins and judgements. This is done by a gradual Narration of certain hainous offences of theirs, with their particular judgements. As 1. Preferring mans Command before Gods will, ver. 11, 12. 2. Relying on forreign aid of the Assyrians when God would have reclaimed them by his corrections, ver. 13, 14. 3. Not renouncing of forraign aid that they might sincerely repent and return to the Lord, notwithstanding the warnings of his word and rod, ver. 15. and Ch. VI. 1. to 5. 4. Most perfidious violation of Gods Covenant, by their not knowing of God, unmercifulness, blood and whoredoms, ver. 5. to the end of the Chapter.

CHAP. V.

CH. VI.

5. Notorious

CH. VII.

5. Notorious provoking one another unto varieties of wickednesses, even against Gods remedies, Ch. VII. 1. to 8. IV. The Conclusion of the Sermon summarily comprising what had been spoken, viz. 1. A Narration of Israels obstinacy in sin, turning from God, and madness in relying upon forrain aid of Egypt and Assyria, ver. 8,9,10,11. 2. A Denunciation of Judgements thereupon, ver. 12,13. especially for their Hypocrisie described, ver. 14,15,16.

CHAP. VIII.

3. Sermon, under the Person of an Herauld with a Trumpet, proclaiming Gods judgements principally against Israel, partly also against Judah, ch. 8,9, 10. Herein consider I. A denunciation of speedy and imminent judgement, with intimation of the procuring Causes thereof, viz. 1. Breach of Covenant and Law. 2. Hypocrisie. 3. Casting off what is good. 4. Erecting Kings without God. 5. Idolatry, Ch. VIII. 1. to 5. II. A Reprehensory Confutation of the vain Pretexts, whereupon the wicked grew so insolent, which Pretexts are declared to be so many Causes hastening judgement, viz. 1. Their confidence in the two Calves, ver. 5,6,7,8. 2. Their Association with the Assyrian for assistance, ver. 9,10. 3. Their multitude of Altars, Sacrifices and Temples, ver. 11,12,13,14. 4. Judahs multitude of fenced Cities, ver. 14. III. A Confutation of their carnal joy and security, as altogether causeless, (notwithstanding all their present Prosperity,) 1. By the Prophets words denouncing against them, Famine, Captivity, loss of Gods Worship, Death and Desolation for their Prophets iniquities and their own horrid sins,

CHAP. IX.

Ch. IX. 1. to 10. 2. By the immediate words of the Lord himself more terribly, Partly upbraiding them for their extream ingratitude under Gods former mercies, ver. 10. Partly threatning them with utter destruction and dissipation among the Nations, ver. 11. to the end of the chapter. IV. The Commination of heavy judgements for their sins is continued, wherein 1. The vanity of their carnal hopes is discovered in their fruitful land, Ch. X. 1. In their Altars and Images wherein they pretended to worship God, ver. 1, 2. In their King, ver. 3. In their proud boastings and false confederacies, ver 4. In their Calves and High-places of Bethaven, ver. 5,6,7,8. Contrary judgements to their vain hopes all along being threatned. 2. The severity of Gods Judgements for their sins, as in the Person of God, is propounded, More generally, ver. 9,10. More particularly in the aggravation, Partly of some of their chief sins, ver. 11. to 14. Partly of terrible judgements against Israel and their King, ver. 14,15.

CHAP. X.

Thus of that part of the Prophecy which is chiefly Comminatory.

II. Consolatory, or chiefly spent in Comforts, and this in two Sermons.

CHAP. XI.

1. Sermon, under the Person of a Father; God promising in Christ that (though neither Prophet, Law, mercies nor judgements had brought them to Repentance, yet) his Elect should be converted, embrace Christ and the Promises. Here are 1. The Cause of Gods favour and promises to them, viz. his love in his Son Christ, ch. XI. ver. 1. 2. A Narration of Israels most ingrateful dealing with God, ver. 2. to 8. 3. A Declaration of Gods unchangeable promises for saving of Israel, miserably destroying himself, ver. 8. to 12.

CHAP. XII.

2. Sermon, wherein God dissuading Israel from perfidiousness, idolatry and inhumanity; declares and aggravates their avarice, idolatry and pride, and promiseth, (the wicked being destroyed,) to preserve an elect Remnant, and spiritually to heale the truly penitent. More particularly note here I. A summary proposal 1. Of the peoples sins, ver. 12. and Ch. XII. 1. to 6. 2. Of the Lords invitation of them to Repentance, ver. 6. 2. A more particular Explication of both these. viz. 1. Of the peoples sins, viz. their wicked and deceitful covetousness, ver. 7. to 11.

CHAP. XIII.

Their odious idolatry, ver. 11. to the end, and Ch. XIII. 1. to 6. Their intolerable confidence and pride in their wealth and largeness of their Kingdome, ver. 6,7,8. 2. Of the Lords invitation of them to Repentance, Partly by a Narration both of the evils that had befallen them for their sins, ver. 9. to 14. And of the good that would befall them upon Repentance, ver. 14. to the end. Partly, by a Pathetical exhortation to Repentance (under the person of a Friend) Ch. XIV. 1. Which Repentance is amplified, 1 By the form or manner of it described, ver. 2, 3. 2 By most sweet alluring Evangelical promises made unto it, ver. 4. to 9.

CHAP. XIV.

III.

THE CONCLUSION of the whole prophecy, 1. Notably inciting the good to understand, acknowledge, and advantage themselves by these things, admiring their singular excellency. 2. Dreadfully giving up transgressours to fall therein, ver. 9.

Joel.

§. I. Name and Penman.

AMong the Hebrews this Book is called ספר יואל Sepher Joel, i. e. The Book of Joel: and this from Joel the Penman of it: [a] The Word of the LORD that came to Joel the ſon of Pethuel.

יואל Joel (which ſeems to come from יאל Jaal (which in Hipbil ſignifies either To will, or To ſwear, or To begin,) ſignifies willing; or ſwearing; or (as [b] Hierome thinks,) Beginning? or [c] The-LORD God, as he elſewhere interprets it. [d] Some rather derives this name from יהוה אלה Jehovah Alah, i. e. The Lord hath curſed; Conjecturing he is called Joel, i. e. The curſe of the Lord; becauſe he grievouſly aggravates the Lords curſe and puniſhment inflicted on the Land. This Joel was 1 For his deſcent [e] the ſon of Pethuel; Pethuel ſignifies A-Perſwader-of God; who this Pethuel was is uncertain, becauſe here or elſewhere Scripture ſpeaks no more of him. Some [f] think he was Samuel, who obtained of God what he asked in Prayer; but that conjecture hath formerly been refelled in the Chronology of the Prophets, &c.) Some [g] ſay he was a Reubenite, but give us no ground for it. Hebrews have a tradition that when the Father of any Prophet is named, he alſo was a Prophet; but (in [h] Calvins judgement,) that is a frivolous Rule. Probably his Father named, was a man of ſome eminency and authority. 2. For his Office, Joel was a Prophet, as the [i] Scripture ſtiles him, therefore his Prophecy is of Divine Authority, and by the current of this his Prophecy he ſeems peculiarly to have directed his Prophecy to Judah and Jeruſalem, as Hoſheah had peculiar reſpect in his Office to Iſrael, as [k] Hierome alſo hath noted. 3. For his life, acts or death, we have little certainty. [l] Gerhard ſaith, he was born and buried in the Land of Canaan in Betboron; but he onely ſaith it, §. II. Order and Time.

In what Order this Book is to be ranked, and at what Time this Joel prophecied, hath [m] before been conſidered; there ſee the variety of opinions, and what ſeems moſt probable. That judicious [n] Calvin is of opinion that in the midſt of ſo much uncertainty it is beſt to leave the matter undetermined; eſpecially ſeeing this Prophet may be well underſtood without the punctual knowledge of the time of his Prophecy, though many paſſages in Hoſheah could not be rightly interpreted without the Precognition of his time. But that which is eſpecially conſiderable, is that Joel propheciedto Judah and Jeruſalem and not to Iſrael.

§. III. Occaſion and Scope.

Upon Occaſion of divers ſorts of inſects, as the Palmer-worm, Locuſt, Canker-worme, Caterpillar, &c. ſent upon Iudea, and extreamly devouring the fruits of the Land,

Land, therefore evident fore-runners and harbingers of a grievous Famine: He incites them of Judah to be ſenſible of the judgement and truly to repent under it, promiſing thereupon both divers Temporal and Spiritual bleſſings.

Scope therefore is, I. In reference to them of Judah and Jeruſalem. 1. To awake them out of their ſecurity under a preſent grievous Famine, that being truly ſenſible of Gods heavy judgement, all Degrees among them might with Faſtings, Prayers, and true Repentance, mourn, weep, and humble themſelves under his mighty hand. 2 To encourage them hereunto, by many ſweet and precious promiſes, not only of removing the preſent judgement, and reſtoring their former loſſes by ſubſequent plenty: but alſo of many ſpiritual bleſſings in Chriſt, whereof all temporalls were but dim ſhadows and pledges, and theſe, Partly inchoate in this Life, viz. The ° Plentiful gifts of the Holy Ghoſt to young and old; and ſeaſonable deliverance, by the utter deſtruction of all Gods enemies, from all the evils that might fall out, before or at the coming of Chriſt to judgement, Partly conſummate in compleat holineſs and happineſs in the world to come. II. In reference to us. To teach us in all like publike afflictions humbly and penitentially to behave our ſelves towards the Lord; and upon unfeigned returning unto God, to expect (ſo far as ſhall be good for us,) like bleſſings both Temporal, Spiritual and Eternal.

° Notably this was fulfilled, Acts 2. 16, 17. vid. Hieron. Ep. ad Paulin. Tom. 3.

§. IV. General Parts.

In this Prophecy are, 1. An Inſcription. 2. The Subſtance of the Prophecy. 3. The Concluſion.

I. The Inſcription, denoting the principal and inſtrumental Author of it, Ch. I. 1.

CHAP. I. The Subſtance of the Prophecy, which is 1. Reprehenſory. 2. Minatory. 3. Hortatory.

II. I. Reprehenſory, emphatically checking and upbraiding them of Judah and Jeruſalem, for their great ſtupidity and ſecurity under that heavy judgement of the Famine, where, I. An Exordium, 1. Atteſting all the inhabitants, how unparallel'd the Famine was. 2. Charging them and their children to tell it to after Generations, ver. 2, 3. II. The narratory deſcription of the Famine in brief, ver. 4. Aggravated alſo in many following paſſages throughout the Chapt. as motives to the Leſſons following. III. The uſe which they ſhould make of this judgement. 1. They ſhould be exceeding ſenſible of it, ver. 5. to 13. 2. They ſhould be ſincerely penitent under it with mourning, faſting, &c. ver. 13. to the end of the chapt.

CHAP. II. II. Minatory, ſharply threatning the people, (now ſecure under the judgement of the Famine) with an heavier judgement of the ſword, viz. the Sword of the Chaldeans, here 1. Sion is all arm'd by the Lord, Ch. II. 1. 2. This judgement threatned is deſcribed, More generally, by the Author of it, neerneſs, grievouſneſs and ſuddainneſs of it, ver. 1, 2. More particularly, by the terrible Character of the Chaldeans, that ſhall execute this judgement, ver. 2. to 12.

III. Hortatory, earneſtly exhorting them hereupon. 1 To ſincere Repentance, and 2 To ſolemn Humiliations, ver. 12. to 18.

This Exhortation is urged by divers Arguments, viz. I. By Promiſes. 1 Of temporal Bleſſings, namely, plentiful fruits of the earth, even to the Reparation of all their former loſſes by the Famine, and removal of the Northern Army from them, ver. 18. to 28. 2 Of ſpiritual and Evangelical Privileges, (whereof thoſe Temporals were but an imperfect Pledge) viz. Plentiful powring out of his ſpirit and his gifts upon all fleſh, Gentiles as well as Jewes, ver. 28, 29. Salvation and deliverance of an Elect Remnant in his Church, after the Lord hath manifeſted by dreadful ſignes the terrour of his coming, ver. 30, 31, 32. II. By Threatnings of deſtruction againſt all the oppreſſing enemies of the Church, where 1. Their judgement in the valley of Jehoſhaphat in the view of Jeruſalem [i.e. in the open view of Gods Church and People,] is generally propounded, Ch. III. 1, 2, 3. 2. God conteſts with his Churches enemies for all their wrongs to his People, ver. 4. to 9. 3. God ironically incites all Nations to come to fight in the valley of Jehoſhaphat, declaring their deſtruction there, ver. 9. to 17. 4. The end of all theſe Judgements is declared, ver. 17.

CHAP. III. The Concluſion of the whole Prophecy, 1. Metaphorically declaring the Lords bleſſings upon the Church, ver. 18. 2. Plainly deſcribing partly the judgements threatned to Egypt and Edom, viz. The Churches Enemies for their cruelty againſt her, ver. 19. Partly the mercies promiſed to the Church under the name of Judah and Jeruſalem, ver. 20, 21.

Hamos.

§. I. Order and Time.

Hierome [a] tells us that the twelve leſſer Prophets are ranked by the Hebrews in the ſelf-ſame Order as we have them, though the LXX. ſomewhat invert that order; ſo that Hamos is the third of the leſſer-Prophets. He prophecied [b] concerning Iſrael in the dayes of Uzziah King of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam ſonne of Ioaſh King of Iſrael, two years before the earthquake. (ſo that he was [c] contemporaneous to Iſaiah and Hoſheah.) But when this Earthquake was, (which more punctually denotes the time) is hard to determine. This Prophet, and [d] Zechariah mentions this Earthquake as an eminently known thing in Uzziahs time, but define not the particular yeare. Joſephus (as [e] Calvin and Pareus obſerve,) thinks this earthquake fell out at the ſame time that Uzziah was ſmitten with Leproſie, for preſuming to offer incenſe in the Temple, but thats uncertain. And [f] Junius conceives that moſt unlikely, 1. Partly becauſe then the time of this Prophet might rather have been deſcribedby the Leproſie of the King, which was more notable. 2. Partly becauſe that place, Iſa. 7. 8. whereon alone this opinion is grounded, is not a ſufficient proof. And he rather thinks (if it may be lawful to conjecture) it was at the death of Jeroboam, which was about the thirty ſeventh year of Uzziah, when ſuch horrid conſpiracies and bloodſheds began in the Kingdom of Iſrael, that the very earth quaked with the horrour thereof. However the dayes of Jeroboam were times wherein outwardly there was much Proſperity to Iſrael, and by this circumſtance of time mentioned (ſaith [g] Calvin,) the Prophet would intimate, That he denounced this ſharp and burdenſome Prophecy to them at that ſeaſon wherein they wer e moſt proſperous, and as it were drowned in their delights.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is ſtiled by the Hebrews ספר עמוס Sepher Hamos, i. e. The Book of Hamos: and in the the text it ſelf עמוס דברי Dibre Hamos, i. e. [h] The words of Hamos, becauſe Hamos was the Preacher and Penman of them.

[h] Am. 1. 1.

עמוס Hamos (as [i] Hierome thinks) ſignifies Bearing, or Carrying, ſo interpreting his name Actively. Others interpret it paſſively, viz. Burdened; Either [k] becauſe he was loaded with ſpiritual grace; (but thats an unuſual expreſſion, and probably he had this name long before he was furniſhed with this Prophetick grace,) or becauſe he had a burdened or ſtammering tongue; as Moſes had; as the Hebrews, eſpecially R. Phinees thinks; but this (ſaith [l] Tarnovius) is a vain tradition of the Jews. Some think this name is [m] compounded of two Hebrew words, which ſignifie The People hath removed, or [n] a People removed, or pulled away, becauſe the ten Tribes, againſt whom he chiefly prophecies, ſhould remove into Captivity for their Idolatry. Moſt uſually this name is interpreted A Burden, or An-heavy-load, and in this ſenſe its oppoſite, this Prophet being vehement and burdenſom in his threatings, he ſpake ſo burdenſome heavy words, as the very earth could not bear; As ſaid his Adverſary Amaziah, Hamos 7. 10.

But who this Hamos was is more considerable. Some from the o likeness of names, have thought he was the Father of the Prophet Isaiah. But that's a plain mistake, (as p Hierome hath noted, for these two names, viz. Amez the father of Isaiah, and Hamos the Prophet, as they are written in Hebrew, differ quite, both in their first and last letters; and in their significations; That signifies strong or valiant; This A People-pull'd-away. Therefore they were two distinct Persons. This Hamos was of the tribe of Judah at first. q No Prophet nor Prophets son but an Herdman of Tekoa, and a gatherer of Sycomore fruit: but the Lord took him as he was following the flock, and said unto him, go prophecy to my People Israel. Tekoa (thinks r Hierome) was six miles Southward from Bethlehem, where the Saviour of the World was borne, beyond which their's no village, no nor cottages: it is such a waste wilderness which is extended to the Red Sea, and the Persian, Ethiopan and Indian Coasts. And because that dry sandy ground yields no fruits, all is full of Herdmen that they may compensate the barrenesse of the ground with the multitude of Cattel. Of this number of Herdmen was Amos the Prophet; rude in speech but not in knowledge: for the same Spirit spoke in him, that spoke by all the Prophets. And as Calvin observes, God purposely raised up Amos of Judah, and a poor rustical Herdman of Tekoa, 1 Partly the more to cross and correct the pride of those times, glorying in their prosperity; when a rude Herdman must be their Reprover. 2 Partly to deale the more proportionably with the bruitishness of Persons in those dayes, that would not hearken to other Prophets, now an Herdman shall deal more roughly with them as with Kine of Bashan, Amos 4. 1. 3 Partly to evidence that any instruments shall serve Gods turn, who is wont t to choose the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and the weak things of the world, to confound the things which are mighty; And base things of the world, and things which are despised hath God chosen, and things which are not to bring to nought things that are; that no flesh should glory in his presence. He prophecied purposely and principally against the ten Tribes, more sparingly against Judah. He is thought to be slain by Amaziah the Priest of Bethel, whom he opposed stoutly, prophecying against him severely, Hamos 7. 10. to the end.

§. III. Occasion and Scope.

This Prophet seems to be called to prophecy upon the same Occasion for substance that Hoseah was, viz. Israels carnal security and confidence in their great outward Prosperity at that time, out of which God would awaken them with predictions of their final dispersion and captivity for their many great impieties and iniquities.

Scope, I. More generally, to hold forth the severity of Gods judgements against his Churches enemies, and his Church it self for their sins: annexing some Evangelical Promises to a remnant. II. More particularly, 1. To denounce Gods judgements against the Heathen enemies of Gods Church, viz. Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, Ammon and Moab, for their sins, especially their insolencies against Gods People. 2. To warn Judah and Jerusalem of their destruction for their sins; especially Israel, of their total and final captivity and desolation for their idolatry, violence, injustice, oppression and general corruption; and this is done both Plainly and Visionally; which u Hierome thinks cannot be expressed in few words. 3. To comfort,

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this Book consider 1. The Inscription. 2. The Prophecy it self.

1. THE INSCRIPTION of the Prophecy, describing 1. The Penman Hamos. 2. The Object to whom this Prophecy was chiefly directed, viz. Israel. 3. The time when, Ch. I. 1. CHAP. I.

2. THE PROPHECY it self, chiefly consisting of 1 Comminations, And 2 Consolations.

COMMINATIONS or Threatnings, and they are laid down, 1 More plainly, 2 More obscurely, and in visions. I.

I. Threatnings more plainly laid down, are comprized chiefly in four distinct Sermons, chap. 1. to 7.

I. The first Sermon, wherein note I. A General Proposition, of the threatnings against all worldly height and glory; Metaphorically, ver. 2. II A special Prediction of judgements.

1. Against the Gentiles enemies of the Church, especially for their enmity, oppression and cruelty against Gods People. As against 1. Damascus of the Assyrians, ver. 3, 4, 5. 2. Gaza, and other places of the Philistines, ver. 6, 7, 8. 3. Tyre, ver. 9, 10. 4. Edom, ver. 11, 12. 5. Ammon, ver. 13, 14, 15. 6. Moab, Ch. II. 1, 2, 3. CHAP. II.

2 Against the Jews for their sins also. Partly against Judah, ver. 4, 5. Partly and principally against Israel, viz. the ten Tribes, whose sins are 1. Mentioned, ver. 6, 7, 8. 2. Aggravated as contrary to Gods great Mercies to them, ver. 9. to 14. 3. Threatned, ver. 14, 15, 16.

II. The second Sermon, wherein I. The Exordium, 1 Partly declaring who speaks, and against whom, 2 Partly calling for attention, Ch. III. 1. II. A summary Proposition of Gods peculiar fatherly kindeness to him, and their ingratitude to him, for which he resolves to punish them. ver. 2. This Prophecy is illustrated 1 By divers elegant similitudes, ver. 3. to 7. 2. By an Apology for himself and other Prophets: shewing why they cannot chuse but prophecy, ver. 7. 8. III. The Amplification of the Proposition, 1. By Attestation even of the Gentiles themselves, to judge of the grosseness of Israels sins, deserving heavy judgements, ver. 9, 10. 2. By explication of the judgements that shall come upon them for these sins, ver. 11. to the end. CHAP. III.

III. The third Sermon, wherein are I. An Exordium, inviting attention, describing the vileness of Israel spoken to Ch. IV. 1. II. A brief Denunciation of their captivity and dispersion under a double Metaphor, ver. 2, 3. III. A Confirmation of this threatning by the procuring causes of judgements, viz. 1. Their delight in idolatry, in hypocritical and carnal pollutions of Gods Worship, (whereunto they are sarcastically invited,) ver. 4, 5. 2. Their incorrigibleness and impenitency under variety of former judgements, viz. Famine, ver. 6. Drought, ver. 7, 8. Blasting, Mildew, and Palmer-worme, ver. 9. Pestilence like that of Egypt and Sword, ver. 10. Subversion of some of them like Sodom, ver. 11. IV. The Conclusion inviting to repent, and meet God, 1. From the unexpressible [illegible]ness of their judgement threatned, ver. 12. 2. From the Majesty and Power of God. ver. 13. CHAP. IV.

IV. The fourth Sermon, wherein consider I. The Exordium, inviting to attention, and declaring both the object against whom the Sermon was intended, and the nature of it, a Lamentation, Ch. V. 1. II. The Proposition of Gods judgements laid down 1. More summarily, ver. 2, 3. 2. More particularly, Partly, by an invitation to repentance whereby these judgements may be prevented, ver. 4. to 10. Partly by a Commination against impenitent refractory Persons, for their many sins, ver. 10. to 21. III. The Confirmation of this Proposition from Gods hatred of their sins, viz. 1. Sins of impiety against God, ver. 21. to the end of the chap. 2. Sins of iniquity against man, especially their sensual wantonness, Chap. VI. 1. to 7. IV. The Conclusion 1. Denouncing speedy Captivity for their sins, ver. 7. 2. Declaring, and that under Gods Oath, both Gods abhorring of them, ver. 8. and the severity of his judgements upon them, ver. 9, 10, 11. 3. Intimating that notwithstanding their [x] secure preversness and vain confidence, they shall wholly be destroyed by their enemies, ver. 12, 13, 14. CHAP. V CHAP. VI.

Thus of the threatnings more plainly denounced.

[x] Vid. Calv. Com. in Amos 6. 12. &c.

II. Threatnings more obscurely laid down follow, and these under several Types and Visions, viz. under the Type CHAP. VII.

1. Of Grashoppers or Locusts, shadowing out Famine, Chap. VII. 1. to 4.

2. Of Fire devouring the great deep, adumbrating War, ver. 4. 5. 6.

3. Of a Plumb-line, signifying the overthrow of the Kingdom, and of the Kings house, ver. 7. 8, 9. This is Amplyfied by Amaziah the Priest of Bethel's opposition against Hamos thus prophecying; wherein note 1. Amaziahs instigation of King Jeroboam against Hamos, ver. 10, 11. 2. Amaziahs monition of Hamos to prophecy in Judah, but not at Bethel, ver. 12, 13. 3. Hamos his asserting of his Call and Commission from God to prophecy against Israel, ver. 14, 15. 4. Hamos his sharp Prophecy against Amaziah, foretelling withal the certainty of Israels Captivity, ver. 16, 17.

CHAP. VIII.

4. Of a Basket of Summer fruit, representing Israels final overthrow, Ch. VIII. 1,2,3. Amplified, 1. By a vehement exprobration of them for their sins, especially their oppression and impiety, deserving the threatned destruction. ver. 4, 5, 6. 2. By a severe denunciation of most lamentable judgements upon the land, without all light of consolation; especially of a famine of hearing the word of God, ver. 7. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. IX

5. Of Smiting the lintel of the Temple door, denoting the certainty and inevitableness of their destruction by the sword, without all possibility of escape, Ch. IX. 1,2,3,4. This is confirmed 1. From the Might and Majesty of God, able thus to punish them, ver. 5, 6, 7. 2. From their ingratitude under Gods greatest mercies shewed towards them, ver. 8, 9, 10.

Hitherto of the Comminations and Threatnings in this Prophecy.

II. CONSOLATIONS, or Comforts Evangelical to an Elect remnant follow; describing the Restauration of the Church by Jesus Christ, promised 1. Under the type of raising up the Tabernacle of David that is fallen, &c. ver. 11, 12. 2. Under magnificent outward blessings to them, viz. great plenty, return from captivity, and the re-establishment in their own land, ver. 13,14,15.

Hobadiah.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THis Prophecy is called by the Hebrews ספר עובדיה Sepher Hobadiah, i.e. [a] The Book of Hobadiah; and in the text it self חזון עבדיה Chazon Hobadiah i. e. The vision of Hobadiah; from Hobadiah the Preacher and Penman of this Prophecy עובדיה Hobad-iah, signifies either The-work-of-the-Lord; or The-Servant-of-the-Lord, as [b] Hierome hath well interpreted it. Who he was, is not evident by other Scripture, but onely by this Book that he was a Prophet. He prophecyed against the Edomites or Idumeans, who came of Edom, [c] which is Esau; and hated Israelites, Jacobs race, as Esau hated Jacob himself. [d] Hierom tells us, that the Hebrews think that he was that Obadiah in dayes of Ahab and Jezebel, who fed an hundred of the Lords Prophets by fifty in a Cave; and of the seven thousand that had not bowed a knee to Baal; ——and himself inclines to their opinion; saying, He therefore, because he nourished an hundred Prophets, received the Prophetical grace: and of a Captain of the Host, became a Captain of the Church. But that this is a mistake, hath partly been evidenced in the Chronological Table before Isaiah: and may further appear by this Prophecy it self, which seems plainly to have been after the captivity of Judah, and destruction of Jerusalem by the Chaldeans; by that passage, [e] In the day that thou stoodst on the other side, in the day that the Strangers carried away captive his forces, and forreigners entred into his gates, and cast Lots upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them, But thou shouldst not have looked on the day of thy brother, in the day that he became a Stranger: neither shouldst thou have rejoyced over the children of Judah in the day of their destruction.

§. II. Time.

At what Time Obadiah prophecied hath been partly intimated. §. I. Partly and principally in the Chronological Table before Isaiah.

§. III. Occasion and Scope.

Thus conceive of the Occasion of this Prophecy. h Israel and his posterity were the Elect People of God; to whom it was by divine Oracle promised, that i the elder shall serve the younger, i. e. Esau shall serve Jacob; yet divine dispensation so ordered affairs, that Jacob, i. e. Israel and his posterity were in much affliction, whilest Esau, i.e. Edom and his posterity were in most prosperous condition; and very apt to bear a grudge, and express their malice against Israel upon divers occasions, by reason of the blessing and promise of God: but especially they discovered the height of malice against Israel, at Jerusalems destruction by the Babylonians, 1 Partly by instigating the Babylonians against them, k Remember O LORD the children of Edom in the day of Jerusalem, who said, Raze it, raze it, even to the foundation thereof. 2 Partly by joyning with the Chaldeans, in l many Acts of cruelty upon the Jewes, when Jerusalem was destroyed. Hereupon this Prophet thus prophecied against Edom.

Scope, 1. To threaten utter and inevitable ruine to Edom, for their many sins, but especially for their enmity against Israel, and their cruel insolencies over Jerusalem in the day of her destruction by the Chaldeans. Notably to this purpose, Hierome saith; m Obadiah, (which is by Interpretation the servant of God) thunders against Edom, a bloody and earthly man, and he smites him with his spiritual Spear, that was alwaies envious against his brother Jacob. 2. To comfort the Church with Promises of Salvation and Restauration by Jesus Christ, whose Kingdom shall be exalted, especially by preaching the Gospel to the conversion of the Gentiles, as n August. hath observed.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this Book are considerable

The Inscription, The vision of Obadiah, ver. 1. I.

The Prophecy it self, which is 1. Minatory against Edom. 2. Consolatory, to Israel and the Church of God. II.

I. MINATORY, against Edom, threatning his destruction, where note a Description both of his destruction threatned, and of the procuring causes thereof. 1. The destruction of Edom threatned, is described emphatically, 1. By the chief Author thereof, the LORD, rousing it, and inciting instruments against Edom, ver. 1. 2. By the instruments thereof, the Heathen, viz. Chaldeans, ver. 1, 2. 3. By the inevitableness of it, ver. 3, 4. 4. By the extremity of it, it shall be an utter destruction, Edom shall be wholly spoyled, more then an house by Night-robbers, or a Vine by Grape-gatherers, ver. 5, 6. 5. By Gods removal of all impediments to Edoms destruction, and so preparing him for total ruine; His confederates and friends proving unfaithful, ver. 7. His Counsellors wisdome being destroyed, ver. 8. His Soldiers courage failing, ver. 9. II. The procuring causes of this destruction are described, More generally, his violence against his brother Jacob, ver. 10. More particularly, for his many insolent and cruel carriages against Israel, when the Chaldeans destroyed Jerusalem, viz. 1. His consenting with the Chaldeans therein, ver. 11. 2. His looking on. 3. His rejoycing at. 4. His speaking proudly in the day of his brothers distress. ver. 12. 5. His entring into Jerusalem with the Chaldeans, looking on their affliction; 6. His plundring of his substance, ver. 13. 7. His standing in the cross way to cut off those that escaped the Chaldeans. 8. His delivering up those that did remain in the day of his distress, ver. 14. All this minatory part is confirmed by the approach of the day of the Heathen, wherein Edom shall be brought to nought, ver. 15, 16.

II. CONSOLATORY, to Israel and the Church of God in divers precious Promises, viz. 1. Of Sions deliverance. 2. Of restored holiness, viz. Of Temple and worship. 3. Of Repossession of their possessions, ver. 17. 4. Of Israels victory over Edom, ver. 18. 5. Of the enlargement of the Jewes possessions, (most truly fulfilled in Christs calling the Gentiles,) ver. 19, 20. 6. Of Saviours on M. Sion, to judge the M. of Esau. 7. Finally of the Lords dominion over all, ver. 21.

Jonah.

§. I. Order and Time.

HAd this Book been ranked in our Bibles in that Order wherein it was prophecied, it ſhould have been placed before all the Prophets both greater and leſſer; The Time of Jonah's Prophecying being before them all, as hath been [a] formerly evienced.

[a] See the Chronol. Table before Iſa.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is called by the Hebrews יונה ספר Sepher Jonah, i. e. The Book of Jonah, from Jonah the Penman of it.

יונה Jonah in Hebrew (called Jonas in the New Teſtament,) ſignifies a Dove, (as [b] Hierom hath noted;) but why this Prophet is ſo called, is not ſo eaſie to define. [c] Some (deriving the word from ינה Janah, i. e. He hath afflicted or oppreſſed) think it ſignifies one afflicted or oppreſſed. And notably this Etymology agrees to Jonah, who was in a Tempeſt caſt over-board into the Sea, ſwallowed up of a Whale, and buried three dayes in his belly, before he was caſt upon dry ground, &c.

Who this Jonas was is diſputed.

I. The Hebrews, (ſaith [d] Hierome) and after them others take him to be the ſon of the Sareptan widow raiſed up from death to life by Eliah, whereupon ſhe ſaid to Eliah, [e] Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the Word of the Lord in thy mouth is Truth, and thus they ſeem to confirme that Jonah is called [f] the ſonne of Amittai; Amittai ſignifying Truth. But this ſeems to be a miſtake, 1. Partly, becauſe this widow was a Gentile, [g] Sarepta being a City of Sidon, wherein ſhe dwelt; but Jonah was of [h] Gath-hepher, which belonged to the [i] Tribe of Zebulun in Iſrael. 2. Partly becauſe the times do not agree; for the widows ſon was raiſed up by Eliah, in the dayes of Ahab, about the [k] beginning of his Reign; but [l] Jonah the ſon of Amittai prophecied in the dayes of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh. Now from the beginning of Ahabs reign, to Jeroboam the ſecond, are above ninety years, if the Chronology of the I. and II. Kings be compared together.

II. They more clearly follow the Scripture, who ſay, this Jonah 1. For Deſcent was [m] ſon of Amittai; who this Amittai was, is not certain. 2. For Country, of [n] Gath hepher, belonging to the Tribe of Zebulun in Iſrael. 3. For Office, he was a [o] Prophet of note in the time of Jeroboam ſon of Joaſh; he prophecied of Jeroboam's reſtoring and enlarging the Coaſt of Iſrael, which was then fulfilled, and this againſt Nineveh. And probably he prophecied other Prophecies, (though now not extant,) becauſe this Prophecy of his againſt Nineveh begins with a copulative. [p] And [or, Now] the Word of the Lord came unto Jonah. As [q] Pareus hath obſerved. 4. For the diſcharge or execution of his Office, His Commiſſion was ſtrange, that he ſhould be ſent to Preach to Nineveh a City of the Gentiles, the Metropolis of Aſſyria, whence [r] ſome call him The Prophet and Apoſtle of the Gentiles. His Infirmities great; he was firſt unwilling to be a publiſher of Gods Juſtice, and therefore fled from God; and after as unwilling to be a Spectator of Gods mercy, and therefore he fretted againſt God. His ſucceſs wonderful, Nineveh repented at his Preaching, and was ſaved from Deſtruction, whereupon one ſaith, [ſ] Many Noble;

bles and Monarchs, with the Peril of many ſeek themſelves a name, honour and wealth; but Jonas is above them all, who by his Sermon ſaved ſo many thouſands of men. His Typicalneſs herein remarkable; for Jonas was a ſingular type of Jeſus Chriſt; t For as Jonas was three dayes and three nights in the Whales belly; ſo (ſaith Chriſt) ſhall the Son of Man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

t Mat. 12.40.

And he herein typified 1. Chriſts Death, in that he was thrown into the Sea, and ſwallowed up of the Whale. 2. The effect of Chriſts death; as Jonas being caſt into the Sea, the tempeſtuous Sea was calmed: ſo Chriſt dying, the wrath of God againſt ſinners was appeaſed. 3. Chriſts burial, Chriſt being three dayes in the Grave: as Jonah was three dayes in the Whales belly. 4. Chriſts Reſurrection the third day, as the Whale caſt up Jonah alive on the ſhore after three dayes. And 5. Chriſts preaching to the Gentiles not till after his Reſurrection by his Apoſtles: as Jonas preached not to Nineveh till after he was vomited up out of the Whales belly alive.

Hereupon ſaid Auguſtine, u The Prophet Jonas prophecied of Chriſt, not ſo much by his ſpeech, as by his own paſſion; and that more clearly, then if by voice he had proclaimed his death and reſurrection, for why was he received into the Whales belly, and after three dayes reſtored, but that he might ſignifie Chriſt ſhould return the third day out of the depth of the Grave? And learned Hierome; x Jonas that faireſt Dove, by his ſhipwrack prefiguring the Lords paſſion, he calls the world unto Repentance: and under the name of Nineveh preacheth Salvation to the Gentiles. And excellently ſaid Tertullian, long before them both; y For a prophane City not yet Partaker of God, and ſinning of ignorance, the Prophet almoſt periſhed; but that hereby he ſuffered an example of the Lords Paſſion, whereby even the Gentiles repenting were to be redeemed. z Ambroſe alſo ſpeaks much to like purpoſe.

u Jonas autem Propheta, non tam ſermone Chriſtum, quam ſua quadam paſſionem Prophetavit: profectò apertius, quàm ſi ejus mortem & reſurrectionem voce clamaret; ut quid enim exceptus eſt ventre belluino, & die tertio redditus, niſi ut ſignificaret Chriſtum de profundo inferni, die tertio redditurum? *Auguſt de Civit. §. III. Occaſion and Scope.

It is very probable, that when Jonah * promiſed the reſtoring and enlarging of Iſraels Coaſts in dayes of Jeroboam ſon of Joaſh, (when both King and People were very wicked,) he alſo invited them to Repentance and Reformation. But Iſrael remaining ſtill impenitent and obdurate. God takes Occaſion to ſend him to Nineveh the Metropolis of Aſſyria, a City of the Gentiles, who declining the ſervice, was caſt into the Sea, and ſwallowed of a Whale, not that he might be ſwallowed up and totally periſh, (as ſaith a Irenæus,) but that by his miraculous deliverance out of the Whales belly, (preparing Jonah to preach more dutifully, and Nineveh to hear more effectually;) Iſrael might be provoked to repent by the Repentance of Nineveh; or at leaſt the impenitency of Iſrael might be the more aggravated and rendered inexcuſable.

* 2 King. 14. 4, 25.

a Patienter ſuſtinuit abſorberi Jonam à cete, non ut abſorberetur, & in totum periret, ſed ut evomitus magis ſubigeretur Deo: & plus glorificaret Deum, qui inſperabilem ſalutem ei donaſſet; & firmam pœnitentiam faceret [Ninevitis,] ut converterentur ad dominum, qui eos liberaret à morte, conteritos ab eo ſigno, quod factum erat circa Jonam. Irænæus Adverſ. Hæreſ. lib. 3. cap. 22.

Scope therefore of this Book is, I. Immediately, to ſhew. 1. How Jonah being ſent by God to preach to Nineveh, fled to Tarſhiſh by Sea, whom God followed with ſuch a Storme, that the Marriners caſt Jonah into the Sea, whom a Whale ſwallowed up, and after three dayes (upon his Prayer) vomited him out upon the dry land. 2. How Jonah being ſent the ſecond time, preached to Nineveh, ſo that Nineveh repented, and and was ſaved from deſtruction threatned; whereat Jonah repining, is (under the type of a Gourd, which he was unwilling to have ſmitten) reproved by the Lord. II. Mediately, to let us ſee, 1. How dangerous it is for Gods Meſſengers to diſobey the Lords Call and Command in their preaching. For (as [b] Ambroſe ſaith) Jonas was compelled to preach to the Ninevites. 2. How impoſſible it is for any offender to flee from God. Though Jonah (as [c] Tertullian ſaith) would ſail away from God, yet he could not eſcape him by Land nor Sea, nor by the Whale's belly, wherein he could not die, nor reſt. 3. How wonderfully Gods Power and Providence is in ſaveing his People in diſtreſſes, even by unlikely and contrary means; Jonah had been ſwallowed up, if he had not been ſwallowed up: The belly of the Whale ſaves him from the belly of the Sea. 4. How myſterious Gods diſpenſation is, in preaching Chriſts Death, Burial and Reſurrection in Jonah's being ſwallowed up, continuing in, and being vomited out of the Whales belly 5. How uſeful Prayer is even in the deepeſt afflictions, as in the belly of a Whale. 6. How merciful and long-ſuffering is God to Sinners, yea to ſinners of the Gentiles: In that he warned Nineveh ſinning, ſpared Nineveh repenting. 7. How notably the repenting of Nineveh a Gentiliſh City, aggravated the impenitency of the Jews, notwithſtanding the preaching of their own Prophets, yea of Chriſt Jeſus himſelf; thus our Saviour intimates, ſaying, [d] The men of Nineveh ſhall riſe in judgement with this Generation, and ſhall condemn it; becauſe they repented at the preaching of Jonas, and behold a greater then Jonas is here: whereupon ſaith Hiereme elegantly, [e] The generation of the Jews is condemned by the world believing; and unbelieving Iſrael periſheth, Nineveh repenting. They had the Books, we the Lord of the Books: they had the Prophets, we the underſtanding of the Prophets: The Letter kills them, the Spirit quickens us. With them Barabbas the robber is let go, with us Chriſt the ſon of God is looſed. And notably [f] Ambroſe, To reprove the Jews perfidiouſneſſe, the example of Jonas is brought, becauſe the Ninevites believed the ſign, and thought the preaching of Jonas, who was in the Whales belly, to be followed: but the Jews believed not, even after the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus, who after three dayes aroſe out of the heart of the earth, and lives and reigns for evermore. Amen.

AN APPENDIX TO JONAH, VIZ.

JONAH's Prayer to the LORD out of the Fishes belly Jonah. 2. 1. to 10.

Occasion. Jonah the Prophet refusing to Preach to Nineveh, as God commanded him, and thinking to sayle away from God, is overtaken with a Tempest, cast into the Sea, swallowed up by a great fish (viz. a Whale, as is by Christ himself interpreted,) prepared of the Lord; (note saith [h] Hierome, where Destruction is imagined, Preservation is provided) in whose belly Jonah perceiving himself safe, falls to Prayer. No affliction is so extreme, wherein Prayer is not a seasonable remedy: When Jonah's body could not breathe naturally, yet his soul could breathe out cries and groans to God spiritually.

This Prayer of Jonah was Mental in heart onely, not Vocal in voice. God can hear thoughts, as well as words. Hence Tertullian; Do Gods ears expect a sound. How then could the prayer of Jonah out of the Whales belly, through the bowels of so great a Beast, from the deeps, through the huge weight of Sea, come up into Heaven? Jonah made it in the Whales belly, penned it after he was vomited up, and digested it into this Book.

Scope. To shew the greatness of Gods mercy to him, in his extreme misery (which by his sin he had brought upon himself) and his firm Resolutions of thankfulness to the LORD, for his Salvation.

Principal Parts. In this Prayer Consider to this End. I. A Summary Proposition. 1 Of Jonah's misery, Praying, 2 Of Gods mercy, Hearing his Prayer, ver. 2. II. A larger Exposition or Narration, Partly of his Affliction. 1. By the Author of it, viz. God, ver. 3. 2. By Jonah's fluctuation in it betwixt Fear and Hope, ver. 4. 3. I. Order and Time.

THis Prophet propheſied (as hath [a] formerly been ſhewed,) [b] In days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah. He therefore was contemporary with Iſaiah, but a little after him. Calvin (that learned and judicious Writer) thinks, [c] He was joyned to Iſaiah, the more to ſtrengthen and confirme their Doctrine, againſt the hard-hearted and ſtiff-necked People of their times; they ſpeak as with one mouth and ſtile almoſt the ſame matters and words, for convincing the rebellious, and comforting the Elect by their mutual conſent.

He is among the twelve leſſer Prophets, the third in Order, according to the LXX. *verſion, but the ſixth according to the Hebrew verity, (*ſaith [d] Hierome) Therefore as it were put in the heart of the volume, he ought to contain profound myſteries. Our Engliſh Tranſlation follows this Order of the Hebrew.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Prophcy is called by the Hebrews ספר מיכה Sepher-Micah, i.e. The Book of Micah, from Micah the Preacher and Penman thereof.

This name מיכה Micah either may ſignifie Who-as? or Who-ſo? denoting his excellency, who like him: As e Hierome ſometimes interprets it, cutting the word into two. Or it may ſignifie Small, Poor, Humble, (from מך Mooc, to be ſmall, to be impoveriſhed,) either denoting the Poverty and low condition of him and his Parents, (Poverty being uſually the companion of Piety;) or the poverty and meanneſſe of Chriſt, of whom he prophecied; which interpretation no withſtanding ſeems ſomewhat forced. Hierome alſo elſewhere ſaith it ſignifies Humility; f The e Micheas, ὁ τίς ὧν ex duabus orationis partibus nomen compoſitum, quod apud nos ſonat, Quis quaſi? aut, Quis velut? Hier. Proœm. in Joel. Tom. 6. f Sermo Dei qui ſemper deſcendit ad Prophetas, deſcendit ad Micheam quoque, qui interpretatur Humilitas; Ad Michæam de Meraſthi, qui uſque hodie juxta Eleutheropolim urbem Paleſtinæ haud grandis eſt viculus: Moraſthi autem in lingua noſtra Hæredem ſonat. Pulchrè igitur Humilitas, quæ inter virtutes vel præcipua eſt, ſpe hæreditatis Dominicæ naſcitur. Hier. Prolog in Mic. Tom. 6.

Word

Word of God which alwaies deſcends to the Prophet; deſcends to Micah alſo, who is interpreted humility; To Micah of Moraſthi; which to this day is a little Village, neer Eleutheropolis a City of Paleſtine: now Moraſhthi in our tongue ſounds. An Heyre: Excellently therefore humility, which is chief among the Vertues, ariſeth in hope of the Lords heritage. And the ſame Hierome hereunto alluding in another place ſaith, [g] Micah of Moraſhthi co-heyre of Chriſt, declares the devaſtation of the daughter of a Thief, and layes ſiege againſt her, becauſe ſhe ſmote the cheek of Iſraels judge. But leaving theſe curious Criticiſmes about his name, come we to his Perſon.

Who this Micah was, we finde not expreſſed in other Scriptures, and not much in this his Prophecy. He is called from his Country מכתי המרשתי Micah Hammoraſhti, that is, [h] Micah the Moraſhtite, (for ſo it ought to be read.) Some think he is thus denominated from [i] Mareſha, a city of Judah. At Mareſha [k] was fought that famous Battel betwixt King Aſa and Zerah the Ethiopian. But the former of theſe two names Mareſha and Moraſhtite are ſo different, that it would be harſh and forced to borrow the Prophets denomination thence. Though Hierome (as here was noted) takes this Moraſhti to be a village near Eleutheropolis, (i. e. Hebron) in Paleſtine. But others more probably conceive that Micah is called the Moraſhtite, from Moraſhti of Gath, [m] mentioned in this Prophet afterwards, which ſeems to be a City of Benjamin; the ſonnes of Benjamin [n] driving away the inhabitants of Gath. This Micah was not that Micaiah [o] who lived in dayes of Ahab; For, 1. Their names quite differ, this Micah, that Micaiah, according to the Hebrew. 2. Their times much differ, this Micah being divers Kings Reigns after the other. Now though we finde little of this Micah in Scripture, yet by this Prophecy it is certain he was an [p] Holy-man of God, and a Prophet, by whom the Holy-Ghoſt was pleaſed to ſpeak.

§. III. Occaſion and Scope.

The People of Iſrael and Iudah being very prophane and impenitent in the dayes of the Prophet Iſaiah, for which the Aſſyrian captivity was even then haſtening upon Iſrael, and the Chaldean not long after to fall upon Iudah, upon this Occaſion the Lord raiſeth up Micah to ſecond Iſaiah, and to confirm his Prophecies againſt both Iſrael and Iudah, inviting them to repentance, both by threatned judgments and promiſed mercies.

Scope, I. In Reference to the Jews, was 1. Partly to convince and reprove them for their ignorance, ingratitude, oppreſſion and injuſtice, and other their grievous ſins, fomented among them by their Rulers and Prophets, but eſpecially for their idolatry. 2. Partly to invite them to Repentance and Reformation, leſt the wrath and heavy judgements of God, break forth upon them, both by the Aſſyrian and Chaldean captivity. 3. Partly to ſupport and comfort an Elect remnant of the godly among them with gracious Promiſes, not only of their temporal deliverance out of Babylon, but alſo of ſpiritual Priviledges by Jeſus Chriſt, who ſhall crown his Church with Honour, Unity, Peace, Comfort, and a reſtored Government; whoſe [q] Nativity in Bethlehem, Kingly office, and effects of his Mediatourſhip are clearly and ſweetly foretold, to the ſingular eſtabliſhment of the hope and comfort of the Church againſt all her enemies and afflictions. II. In reference to all Churches of Chriſt in after times, and ſo to us, 1. Both to warn them and us by the Jewes ſad examples, what ſad meaſure we are to expect from the righteous God, if we perſiſt impenitent in like abominations. 2. And alſo to inſtruct the Elect of God, whence to derive comfort and hope in times of publick ſinnes and miſeries, viz. onely from Jeſus Chriſt and his bleſſed office, the onely Cordial, and Antidote againſt all temporal, ſpiritual and eternal evils.

Nachum.

§. I. Order, and Time of his Prophecying.

According to the Greek Translation by the Lxx. Nahum is placed next in Order after Jonah, (saith [a] Hierome) because they prophecied both of them of the same city, viz. Nineve now called Ninus, the Metropolis of Assyria: But according to the Hebrew it is placed next after Micah.

[a] *Hieron. Proœm. in Nahum Tom.*6.

Of the Time when Nachum flourished and prophecied. hath [b] formerly been spoken: most likely it was in or after the dayes of Hezekiah, after the ten Tribes were captived, and cruelly used by the Assyrians.

§. II. Name, and Penman.

This Prophecy is by the Hebrew ſtiled ספר נחום Sepher Nachum, that is, The Book of Nachum; and in the inſcription it ſelf. [c] The Book of the viſion of Nachum; from Nachum the Preacher and Penman thereof.

נחום Nachum ſignifies, Conſolation, or Comforter; (ſaith Hierome,) [d] for now the ten Tribes were carried captive by the Aſſyrians, in the time of Hezekiah King of Judah, under whom alſo this viſion is ſeen againſt Nineveh for the comfort of the captived People. Nor was it a ſmall conſolation, both to them that ſerved in Aſſyria, and to the remnant under Hezekiah, of the Tribe of Judah and Benjamin, (who were beſet with the ſame enemies,) to hear that the Aſſyrians themſelves ſhould be captived by the Chaldeans.

[c] Nahum. 1. 1.

[d] Nahum παράκλησις ideſt, Conſolatio. Hier. Proœm. in Joel. Tom. 6. Sequitur Nahum, qui interpretatur Conſolator. Jam enim decem tribus ab Aſſyriis deductæ fuerant in captivitatem, ſub Ezechia rege Judæ, ſub quo etiam nunc in conſolationem populi tranſmigrati, adverſum Ninivem viſio cernitur. Nec erat parva conſolatio, tam his qui jam Aſſyriis ſerviebant, quam reliquis qui ſub Ezechia de tribu Juda & Benjamin ab iiſdem hoſtibus obſidebatur, ut audirent Aſſyrios quoque à Chaldæis eſſe capiendos. Hier. Proœm. in Nahum. Tom. 6.

Who he was, Scripture ſpeaks little; Here he is called [e] Nachum the Helkoſhean (ſo it may be written.) Some (ſaith Hierom) think Helkoſheus was Nachum's father; and that according to the Hebrewes tradition, he was a Prophet, ſeeing to this day there is in Galilee a village of Helkoſheus, a little one indeed, and ſcarce ſhowing the prints of the ancient buildings in the ruines; but yet known to the Jewes, and ſhowed alſo to me by my Guide. This Nahum was an holy Prophet, as appears by this his Prophecy. Further we read not of him.

§. III. Occaſion, and Scope.

The LORD having formerly warned Nineveh by the preaching of Jonah, after he was miraculouſly ſaved in, and delivered from the Whales belly, of its imminent deſtruction for its grievous ſins, within three dayes; whereupon Nineveh believed, repented, and was at that time ſpared: Afterwards Nineveh returned with the Dog to the vomit, and with the Swine that was waſhed, to the wallowing in the mire; eſpecially the Aſſyrians afterwards perſecuting the people of God, captivating and cruelly uſing the ten Tribes, and endeavouring to extirpate the Jewiſh Religion, as hath been [f] ſhewed. And probably all this, their former King, (who cauſed Nineveh to humble her ſelf,) being dead. Upon this Occaſion the Lord being greatly incenſ'd at Nineveh's ingratitude, and very jealous for his People, raiſes up Nahum, to denounce the final and inevitable ruine of Nineveh and the Aſſyrian Kingdome by the Chaldeans, comforting his People in the certainty of their deſtruction.

Scope, 1. To denounce againſt Nineveh (the Metropolis of Aſſyria, [g] An exceeding great city of three dayes journey, whoſe walls were an hundred foot high, ſo broad that Charets might meet, and paſſe by one another on the top of them, and wherein there were one thouſand five hundred Towers, as [h] Calvin noteth) her final, terrible and irrevocable overthrow, to the ruine of that ancient, potent and flouriſhing Monarchy of Aſſyria; by that fierce and bitter Nation of the Chaldeans, for their many horrid ſins, and eſpecially for relapſing after their repentance at Jonahs preaching, and cruel dealings againſt Gods People the Jews, at laſt carrying the ten Tribes captive, and greatly endangering Judah and Jeruſalem, in [i] and before the dayes of Hezekiah. 2. To comfort both Iſrael and Judah endangered, by denouncing fatal judgjudgments to their deadly enemies the Assyrians, who under Pul, Tiglath-pileser, Shalmaneser, Sennacherib, and Esarhaddon, had so wofully oppressed and wasted them. Hereupon saith [k] Hierome, Nahum the comforter of the world rebukes the city of bloods, and after the overthrow of it, saith; Behold upon the Mountains the feet of him that preacheth the Gospel, publishing Peace. 3. To teach all after ages by Assyria's example, that no State, Kingdome or Monarchy on earth, can be so potent and flourishing, but it shall be utterly broken by the Omnipotent LORD, when once they grow insolent against God, and cruel against his Church and People.

§. IV. General Parts.

In this Book consider 1. The Inscription. 2. The Preface or Exordium. 3. The Prophecy it self.

I. The Inscription, denoting 1. The nature or general Argument of the Prophecy, viz. The Burden of Nineveh, i. e. an heavy burdensom doom against her. 2. The divine Authority of it, The Book of the Vision; visions were from God. 3. The instrumental Author thereof, Nachum, &c. Ch. I. 1.

CHAP. I. II. The Preface or Exordium drawn from the nature of God, viz. from 1. His jealousie against his adversaries to be avenged of them, ver. 2. 2. His long-suffering, ver 3. 3. His Power, Majesty and terrible fury, ver 4,5,6. 4. His Goodness and Protection to them that trust in him, ver. 7.

III. The Prophecy it self, containing 1. A general denunciation of Nineveh's destruction. 2. An Amplification thereof.

I. A general Denunciation of Ninevehs Destruction, and therein synechdochically of Assyria's ruine, Here note I. The Nature of the destruction threatned; it shall be 1. Sudden, as of a flood, ver. 8. 2. Total, ver. 8, 9. 3 Irresistible, ver. 10. II. The Causes of this their destruction, viz. 1. Impulsive, their sins against God, ver. 11. 2. Finall, the deliverance of his Church from their tyranny, ver. 12,13. 3. Efficient, viz. The LORD and his Command, ver. 14. III. The Illustration of this ruine of Nineveh and of Assyria, by the contrary Restauration and prosperity of Judah, of the Church, ver 15.

II. A particular Amplification of former threatnings, or threatned judgments, 1. By an adumbration of the judgements. 2. Narration of the Causes. 3. Confirmation of the threatnings.

CHAP. II. 1. By an adumbration or description of Nineveh's destruction. I. By the Antecedents, viz. 1. The approach of the enemy, against whom Nineveh is ironically incited to prepare, Ch. II. 1. 2. The reason of this dealing of God with Nineveh for his Churches Restauration, ver. 2. 3. The terrour of the enemies Army, emphatically set forth, ver. 3,4. II. By the Concomitants accompanying Nineveh's ruine, ver. 5,6. III. By the Consequents thereof, viz. 1. Captivity of 1 Huzzab and her maids, with their mournful deportment therein, ver. 7. 2. Flight of the Citizens, ver. 8. 3. Spoiling and plundring of the City, ver. 9,10. 4. Astonishment of men at this blow; ver. 10. 5. Admiration and insultation of men at the desolation of the place of the Lion and his young Lions, viz. The State of the cruel King of Nineveh and his children, ver. 11,12.

CHAP. III. 2. By a Narration of the Causes of Nineveh's ruine. I. Efficient, viz. The Lord setting himself against her, ver. 13. II. Impulsive, viz. her sins, 1. Her cruelty and bloodinesse. 2 Her falshood. 3. Her robbery and oppression, for which she shall be destroyed terribly and cruelly, Ch. III. 1,2,3. 4. Her filthy idolatries, for which her filthiness shall be discovered, and she made a shameful gazing-stock, ver. 4 to 8.

1. Some interpret this of the Queen of Nineveh, that should be captivated with her maids, and think she was called Huzzab, i. e. Standing, because it was the custome of Queens to stand at Kings right hands, Psal 45.10. This Pagnine in Lexic. in verb. הוצב ascribes to R. Semuel and R. David. 2. But others apply this name Huzzab, rather to Nineveh, that had stood a long time, but should now stand no longer, but be carried away. And by her Maidens, they understand her lesser Cities and Villages round about her, that should be captivated and in extream distresse with her. A metaphor from women. Thus Hierome Comment. in Nahum 2. & Calv. Comment. in loc.

3. By a Confirmation of these threatnings, and the certainty of the threatned destruction upon Nineveh. This he doth by invalidating all the Grounds of Ninevehs vain confidence, viz. 1. Her Munition, Nineveh being naturally very strong, yet not comparable to populous No, i. e. Alexandria in Egypt, which yet was ruined; even so all Ninevehs strong holds shall easily fall, ver. 8. to 13. 2. Her numerous inhabitants. They shall be as women, ver. 13. 3. The strong Gates of her Land. They shall be set wide open, ver. 13. 4. Her repaired Towers. They shall not protect them from the sword, ver. 14,15. 5. Her relief by many Merchants. They shall fail her, ver. 16. 6. Her Captains of Warre. They in heat of danger shall flie away, ver. 17. 7. Her Shepherds and Nobles. They shall slumber and dwell in dust. ver. 18. 8. Her People. They shall be dispersed and none shall gather them, ver. 18. In all which respects her bruise shall be incurable, rable, yea all ſhall inſult over her deſtruction, becauſe of her wickedneſſe upon them continually, ver. 19.

Habakkuk.

§. I. Order and Time.

THe Hebrewes rank this Book in the ſame Order in this Volume of the Leſſer Prophets, as we have it in our Bibles.

At what Time this Prophet flouriſhed and prophecied, is not here or elſewhere expreſly declared, but from the current of the Prophecy, he ſeems to have lived before the Babyloniſh Captivity, in times of extream and univerſal corruption of all things, viz. about the dayes of Manaſſeh and Joſiah, as hath [a] formerly been intimated.

§. II. Name, and Penman.

This Book is ſtiled by the Hebrewes, ספר חבקוק Sepher Habakkuk, i. e. The Book of Habakkuk. And in the text it ſelf, [b] The burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee; becauſe it is the burdenſome Prophecy firſt againſt the Jewes, then againſt the Chaldeans; whereof Habakkuk was Preacher and Penman. There are four Prophets in the Volume of Leſſer Prophets, whoſe Prophecies are in whole or in part called Burdens, (as [c] Hierom hath noted,) viz. Nachum, Habakkuk, Malachy and Zechariah, about both the middle and latter end of his Prophecy.

[b] Hab. 1. 1.

This name חבקוק Habakkuk, ſignifies an embracing. (as [d] Hierom thinks,) either becauſe he was beloved of the Lord, and ſo embraced by him; or becauſe as it were [e] embracing God, he wraſtled with him, contended with him in this Prophecy. Or (as [e] Tarnovius notes out of Luther, it ſignifies, The-beſt-embracer; from חבק Habak, i. e. To embrace, the laſt letter being doubled for emphaſis ſake. This name had its Omen: for his afflicted People he in this Prophecy embraceth, loveth and claſps in his armes, comforts, and ſuſtains, even as a child ſadly weeping, is embraced by his mother, that he may hold his Peace.

[d] Habakkuk vel ex eo quod amabilis Domini eſt, vocatur amplexatio: vel quod in certamen & luctam, & ut ita dicam, amplexum cum Deo congreditur, amplexantis, id eſt, luctantis fortitus eſt nomen, &c. Hier. Prolog. in Habac. Tom. 6.

Habakkuk is not the ſame that is reported in the Apocryphal additions to Daniel, (viz. The book of Bell and the Dragon) to have brought Daniel food into the Lyons Den; (though [f] Hierom ſeem to incline to this opinion.) For 1. The truth of that Apocryphal ſtory may be juſtly doubted; becauſe in relating the occaſion of Daniels being caſt into the Lyons Den, it quite differs from Dan. 6. Suppoſe the Story true, yet the times much differ. For Daniel was caſt into the Den of Lyons by Darius the Mede in the dayes of Cyrus, Dan. 6. But this Prophet prophecies in or before Nebuchadnezzars dayes, threatning Judahs captivity by him, as [g] Pareus hath noted. Therefore he could not be the ſame Habakkuk, whoever he was; he for his office is here called by the Holy Ghoſt a [h] Prophet; and his Prophecy is not only found in the Hebrew text, but alſo divers times [i] alledged in the New Teſtament, whence the divine vine Authority of it is notably evinced. Of him faid Hierom, [k] The ſtrong and rigid wraſtler ſtands upon his watch, and ſets himſelf upon his Tower, that he may contemplate Chriſt upon the Croſs. As Nahum prophecied againſt Nineveh and Aſſyria: ſo Habakkuk prophecied againſt Judah and Jeruſalem.

§. III. Occaſion, and Scope.

The Kingdome of Judah in the dayes of Habakkuk being extreamly corrupt, the godly were miſerably compaſſed about with, and oppreſſed by the wicked; in ſo much that the righteous on the one hand, wondred at Gods patience that could endure ſuch wickedneſſe; on the other hand were ready to challenge God, for not delivering them according to his Promiſes; upon which Occaſion the Lord raiſeth up Habakkuk, to threaten the wicked with imminent and approaching captivity by the Babylonians, and alſo to inſtruct the godly in deepeſt and longeſt troubles to live by faith, expecting Gods ſeaſonable deliverance.

Scope 1. To denounce againſt Judah, the Chaldean captivity approaching, (a thing to them incredible,) for their many and great corruptions abounding: that ſo it might appear the wicked ſhould not ſtill go unpuniſhed. 2. To inſtruct his own People how to wait upon God, and live by faith in deepeſt and longeſt afflictions, till God reſcue them, and deſtroy the inſtruments of his wrath upon them, viz. the Chaldeans, that extream fierce, greedy, diſſolute and ambitious Nation. Whereupon the Prophet himſelf, (as a patterne to the faithful,) recounting in his Song, the experience of his people in their deliverances of old apprehendeth by faith like deliverances from preſent calamities, in greateſt wants and extremities, ſweetly reſting and rejoycing in Gods Salvation alone. All which are propounded in forme of a Dialogue betwixt God and the Prophet.

I. CHAP. I. II.

The Prophecy it ſelf, laid down Dialogue-wiſe, betwixt the Prophet and God himſelf, wherein note

I. The Prophets firſt complaint to the Lord againſt the extream wickedneſs of the Jews, wherein he expoſtulates with God. 1. For delaying to hear his Prayer againſt abounding ſins, *v.*2. 2. For forbearing ſo long to puniſh their offences, viz. 1 Violence, *ver.*2,3. 2 Striſe and contention, *ver.*3. 3 Slacking of the Law. 4 Suppreſſion of judgement. 5 Oppreſſion of the righteous by the wicked. 6 Corruption of Judicatures, *ver.*4.

The Lord anſwers to this firſt complaint. I. Prefacing, touching the wonderfulneſſe and incredibleneſſe of his work he will do in their dayes, *ver.*5. II. Declaring what his work ſhall be, viz. The raiſing up of the Chaldeans to lead Judah captive; which Chaldeans are deſcribed pathetically (as utterly irreſiſtible by the Jewes.) By their 1 Bitterneſſe, 2 Haſtineſſe, 3 Terribleneſſe, 4 Tyrannicalneſſe, 5 Horſemanſhip, their horſes ſwift and fierce, 6 Power to bear down all before them, as the Eaſt winde, 7 And by their pride through their ſucceſſe, wickedly aſcribing their power to idols, *ver.*6. to 12.

II. The Prophets ſecond complaint hereupon to the Lord againſt the Chaldeans, cruelly oppreſſing the Jewes, more righteous then themſelves, wherein note I. An Exordium, expreſſing his hope that the Jewes ſhould not periſh by theſe threatned miſeries; grounded on Gods 1. Eternity. 2. Covenant and Communion with them. 3. Power. 4 Providence, ordaining Chaldeans for correction, *ver.*12. 5. Purity, ſo that he cannot at all approve their enemies iniquity, *ver.*13. II. An Expoſtulation with God for his ſilent permitting of the Chaldeans, 1. To deale treacherouſly, *ver.*13. 2. To devoure like fiſhes or creeping-things the Jewes not ſo wicked as themſelves, *ver.*13,14,15. 3. To rejoyce in this their rapine, *ver.*15. 4. To attribute all their ſucceſſe to themſelves, &c. *ver.*16. III. A Concluſion, wherein he expreſſeth 1. His indignation by reaſon of all theſe particulars againſt the Chaldeans, ver. 17. 2. His reſolution vigilantly and intentively to wait for the Lords Anſwer, *Chap.II.*1.

CHAP. II.

The

The Lords answer to this second complaint of the Prophet, wherein note I. The Preface, 1. Requiring the Prophet, plainly to write the vision to the view of all, ver 2. 2. Declaring the determinate time, the certainty and seasonableness of the vision at last, though it be delayed for a time, ver. 3. 3. Intimating partly the miscarriage of the proud and impatient heart that cannot wait for the Promise; Partly the duty of the godly to live by faith during worst of troubles, till the vision be fulfilled, ver. 4. II. The Narration of the Substance of the vision, in reference both to the unjust Chaldeans, and to his own just people. In reference to the unjust Chaldean, that he shall for his many grievous sinnes have suitable judgements, and be wofully destroyed, 1. For his intemperance, pride and insatiableness, ver. 5. to 9. 2. For his covetousness, hurtfulness and cruelty, ver. 9, 10, 11. 3. For his bloodshed and iniquity, ver. 12, 13, 14. 4. For his drunkenness, ver. 15. to 18. 5. For his notorious gross idolatry, ver 18, 19. In reference to the just People of God are declared 1. Their priviledge of life and a safe state in midst of troubles; The Lord being in his Holy Temple. 2. Their duty. All the earth should quietly adore his Majesty, but his people should silently acquiesce in him, and in his dispensations, ver. 20.

III. The Prophet Habakkuks Prayer penned by him in his own and the Churches name, upon Occasion of the Babylonish captivity long before threatned, and now coming upon Iudah; The Scope whereof is to instruct himself and the people when they should come into Babylon, By Prayer to implore the Lords mercy in midst of their miseries, both from his former experienced Favours to his people, and his Promises; and triumphantly to glory over all distresses by confident acquiescence in their God alone.

Principal parts herein are

II. The Prayer it self, wherein consider

1. The Occasion of it, viz. The Lords Word touching the captivity, ver. 2.

2. The Petitions, 1. For reviving the Church in trouble. 2. For making himself and glory known in Babylon. 3. For remembring mercie in midst of the Churches miseries, ver. 2.

3. The Arguments whereby these Petitions are urged; drawn 1. From that famous experience of his bringing Israel out of Egypt; where are set forth, 1. His glorious presence on Mount Sinai, ver. 3, 4. 2. His active power is set forth under horns out of his hand, ver. 4. evident gloriously to his people by many Signes, ver. 5, 6. and terrible to forreign Nations, ver. 7. 3. The glorious acts or effects of his power, Partly in the waters, viz. dividing the Red-Sea and Jordan, ver 8, 9, 10. Partly in the Heavens, making Sun and Moon stand still, in Joshuahs time, ver. 11. Partly in the Earth, subduing the Canaanites, before Israel, ver. 12, 13, 14, 15. II. From his promise of delivering his people from their fears and enemies, ver. 16.

4. The glorying Triumph of the faithful in God alone, and his promises over all imaginable straits, ver. 17, 18, 19.

§. I. Order and Time.

THis Book is the [a] ninth in Order of the twelve leſſer Prophets, (ſaith Hierome,) and thus alſo he is ranked in our Bibles.

The Time wherin he flouriſhed and prophecied, is not preciſely defined, but only more generally. viz. [b] In the dayes of Ioſiah ſon of Amon King of Iudah, [c] Auguſtine ſaith, Zephaniah prophecied with Ieremiah. And its likely they were partly coetaneous, Zephaniah prophecying the ſame things for ſubſtance and in like phraſe that Ieremiah, but farre more briefly and ſuccinctly; and therefore he may profitably be compared with Ieremiah, till Ch. XXI. &c. where his prophecies during Ioſiahs reign ſeem to ceaſe. But at what time of Ioſiahs reign Zephaniah prophecied is not ſo evident, only this is obſervable; that whereas [d] Ioſiah reigned thirty one years, (in the [e] thirteenth of which Ieremiah began to prophecy,) and made his ſolemne Reformation in his [f] eighteenth yeare, reſtoring Gods worſhip, and aboliſhing idolatry, [g] putting down the Chemarims (or idolatrous Prieſts,) and them that burnt incence to Baal, to the Sun, and to the Moon, and to the Planets, and to all the Hoſt of Heaven. And this Prophet Zephaniah prophecieth againſt ſuch, ſaying, [h] I will cut off the remnant of the Houſe of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Prieſts; and them that worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven upon the Houſe-tops. Therefore hence its more then probable that this Prophet prophecied not after, but before Ioſiah's Reformation, which was in his eighteenth year: before theſe ſuperſtitions were removed; as Druſius, Tarnovius, and others have obſerved; unleſſe we ſay that after this Reformation, ſome of the Princes and people hankered after their ſuperſtitions, and ſecretly ſerved their idols.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is called ספר צפניה Sepher Tzephaniah, i.e. The Book of Tzephaniah, from Tzephaniah the inſtrumentall Author and Penman of it.

Tzephaniah צפניה is (ſaith [i] Hierom) as it were a Prophetical name, it ſignifies (as ſome think) The North-wind de-of-the-Lord, from צפון Tzephon, i.e. The North-winde; and i Nomine ut ita dicam Prophetico. Hier. Com. in Soph. 1. 1. Tom. 6.

and this because of the force of his sharp Prophecy threatning Iudah's captivity by the Chaldeans out of the North-Countrey. As [k] others, The-watch-tower-of-the LORD. or, The-watchman-of-the-LORD, from צפה Tzapha, to watch; the Prophets being watchmen by office, Ezek.3.2. and.33.7. but by reason of different pointings of these words, some dislike this Etymon. Or rather it signifies, as [l] Hierome interprets it, The-hidden-one-of-the LORD; from צפן Tzaphan, To hide: and so it notes one whom the Lord hide, and protects, (as *Psal.*27.5.) revealing also his hidden secrets and comforts to him, which he should make known to others, as THE LORDS SECRETARY. Thus its apposite to this Prophet, who foretels the captivity, though latent to the secure, and who promises great happinesse to the godly under Christs Kingdome in times of the Gospel, though the Iews oppressed with deep bondage could hardly perceive it by the eye of faith.

This Tzephaniah, 1. For his Progeny, is described to be the [m] son of Chushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah. Hereupon saith Hierome, [n] He was begotten of a glorious stock of Ancestors,——And there he adds; This Prophet which was set on his watchtower, and on his heights, and knew the Mysteries of the Lord, was the son of Cushi, which is interpreted Humility, or my-Ethiopian; His Grandfather was Gedaliah, who is called The greatnes of the LORD; His great Grandfather Amariah which may be rendred The-Speech of the LORD: And his great great Grandfather Hizkiah, which sounds The fortitude of the LORD. Therefore of the fortitude of the LORD, is born The Word of the LORD; and of the Word of the LORD, The greatnes of the LORD; and of the greatnes of the LORD, Humility. So he. The Hebrewes have a Tradition, that when the Parents names of any Prophet are mentioned, those Parents were Prophets also. But that all these four Ancestors of Tzephaniah were Prophets, its scarce credible (saith [o] Calvin;) and the Scripture hath not a word of any such thing. It may be all these four excelled in Piety; but that's uncertain also. 2. For his Office, doubtlesse he was a Prophet of the Lord, because he preached not his own will, but [p] The Word of the LORD which came unto him. More concerning him I find not in Scripture.

§. III. Occasion and Scope.

Upon Occasion of the manifold and great wickednes of the Kingdome of Judah, (not Israel, or the ten Tribes were long before carried captive to Assyria,) from which they would not be reclaimed by the Ministry of the Prophets, promising mercies or threatning judgements, especially the Chaldean Captivity; This Prophet as well as Jeremiah is raised up in the dayes of King Josiah, who might mutually confirm one anothers Doctrines and Prophecies, and the more effectually reclaim Judah, or more clearly leave them without all excuse.

Scope, 1. To invite Judah and Jerusalem to repentance, by threatning the approaching captivity and ruine by the Chaldeans for their idolatrous Apostacy, Pride, Oppression, Security, and other sins of all degrees among them; that so if possible the judgements might be prevented. 2. To denounce judgements and destruction against the deadly enemies of the Church, viz. Philistines, Moabites, Ammonites, Ethiopians and Assyrians for their sins, and particularly their proud and cruel usage of Gods People. That so the Church might be warned by their woes, and comforted in Gods vengeance upon her adversaries. 3. To support and comfort a faithful remnant of the Jewes, after their enemies destruction, and their deep afflictions, with promises of calling the Gentiles, returning their captivity, restoring their Prosperity, and bestowing Evangelical blessings upon them in Jesus Christ.

§. I. Order, and Time.

THis Book is in Order the tenth among the Lesser Prophets.

The Time of this Prophecy was after the Jewes were brought back from the Babylonish captivity, viz. [a] in the second year of Darius the King, in the sixth moneth, in the first day of the moneth; understand here not Darius Histaspis (as some do,) but rather Darius Nothus, as hath formerly been more particularly cleared in the [b] Chronology of the Persian Monarchs; and seems most consonant to the Scripture there alledged, if they be judiciously considered and compared together.

[b] See the Chronology of the Persian Monorchs, before Ezra.

§. II. Name, and Penman.

By the Hebrewes this Book is called סֵפֶר חַגַּי Sepher Chaggai, i.e. The Book of Haggai; from Haggai the Prophet, Penman thereof.

Haggai חַגַּי signifies (as [c] Hierom noteth,) A-Feast-observer; or A-solemne-festival-keeper. And this signification well agreeth to this Prophet, who exhorted the people vigorously to rebuild the Temple of the Lord, wherein festival solemnities were to be observed.

the Lord. That promiſe of the Lord in his Prophecy, [e] yet once it is a little while and I will ſhake the heavens and the earth, &c. is alledged in the New Teſtament as the Lords, and intimates the Authority of him [f] whoſe voice then ſhook the earth, but now he hath promiſed, ſaying, yet once more I ſhake not the earth only, but alſo heaven. When the Temple-building was hindred by King Artaxerxes Decree, procured by the Nations planted in Samaria and beyond the River, and ceaſed till the ſecond year of Darius; [g] Then the Prophets, Haggai the Prophet, and Zechariah the ſonne of Iddo prophecied unto the Jewes that were in Judah and Jeruſalem in the name of the God of Iſrael, unto them. Then roſe up Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel, and Jeſhuah the ſon of Jehozadak, and began to build the houſe of God which is at Jeruſalem: and with them were the Prophets of God helping them. Of theſe Prophets, hereupon ſaith Hierom, [h] Haggai and Zechariah were Prophets of great ſpirit, who againſt the Edict of King Artaxerxes, and the Samaritanes, and all the nations round about, hindring the building of the Temple, commanded the Temple to be built. Zerubbabel alſo and Jeſhuah ſon of Jehozadak, and the People that was with them was of no leſſe faith; who rather hearkened to the Prophets commanding, then to the Mandate of the King prohibiting.

§. III. Occaſion, and Scope.

Occaſion. The Jewes in the [i] firſt year of Cyrus, releaſed from the Babyloniſh captivity, returned to Hieruſalem to build the Houſe of the Lord, according to his Proclamation. In the ſeventh moneth they built the [k] Altar, and ſacrificed thereon, and kept the Feaſt of Tabernacles. In the ſecond year of their coming to Hieruſalem, the [l] foundation of the Temple was laid; But the perfecting of the building was [m] interrupted by the adverſaries of Judah and Benjamin, and by the Edicts of the Perſian King ſucceeding Cyrus, till the ſecond year of Darius the King: by reaſon of which impediments the people were diſcouraged from making further progreſſe in the building of Gods Houſe, and regardleſſe thereof, (as if the time were not yet come,) they only minded their own houſes and affairs; Hereupon the Lord inclined King Darius to renew Cyrus his Decree, and raiſed up [n] firſt the Prophet Haggai, who ſharply reproved them for ſeeking their own, and not the things of the Lord for which the Lord had ſent divers afflictions upon them; and exhorted them to build the Houſe of the Lord, and prevailed; and about two moneths after the Prophet Zechariah, who much encouraged and ſtrengthened them.

Scope. I. Immediately in reſpect of the Jewes returned from Babylons captivity, 1. To reprove them for their ſelf-ſeeking and minding only their own houſes, whileſt they ſluggiſhly neglected the perfecting of the Houſe of the Lord upon carnal pretences, whoſe foundation was long ſince laid, by reaſon of which ſins many heavy judgments (ſince their return from Babylon) fell upon them. 2. To quicken them ſpeedily to build and perfect the Temple, by promiſes of Gods preſence and aſſiſtance. 3. To comfort the Godly, who were exceedingly troubled in ſpirit, that this ſecond Temple was likely to come ſo farre ſhort of the firſt in magnificence and glory. Aſſuring them that the glory of this latter Houſe ſhould excell the glory of the firſt, by reaſon of the Meſſiahs incomparable preſence in it, in our fleſh, who as Head and King over all the world for the good of his Church, (typified by the Temple) ſhould deſtroy all oppoſite power in the world, and make his Church perfect in Holineſſe and Glory. II. Mediately in reſpect of Gods People in after ages, 1. To convince them how great a fault it is to neglect the repair of Gods Houſe, and Reformation of Religion once begun, more minding their own houſes and temporal affairs, for which Gods People may be afflicted with great judgments, after they have had wonderful deliverances. 2. To shew, that true zeal and deligence in repairing and reforming Gods house, shall be crowned with Gods special presence and assistance; and is the right way to bring all temporal blessings upon us and our Houses. 3. To comfort the Church under the New Testament, by the coming of Christ already in the flesh, by whom her glory farre surpasseth the glory of the Jewish Church, and shall be more and more perfected, all contrary power being overthrown.

1. Gods sharp Reprehension of the ingratefull and sluggish Jewes for their great sin, in not perfecting the building of the Temple, wherein 1. Their vain excuse for not building is detected, *v.*2. 2. Their neglect is taxed and aggravated, Partly by their inequal dealing with God, minding their own houses while his house lies waste, *ver.*3,4. Partly by the judgments of God inflicted on them, wherein they might read as it were their sin, *ver.*5,6

2. Gods Invitation and Command to them, so to consider their wayes, as to build his house, *ver.*7,8. This is urged 1. By propounding divers Promises to them for building of it, *v.*8. 2. By mentioning divers judgments inflicted on them, for not building it, *ver.*9,10,11.

3. The obedience of the Governours and the People to the Lords command, *ver.*12.

4. Gods singular encouragements of the Jewes now obeying, and setling to the building of the house of the Lord, by manifold Promises, viz. I. Of the Lords Presence and Assistance, *v.*13. which was performed, *ver.*14,15. II. Of the surpassing glory that he would communicate to this later Temple beyond that of the former Temple; where 1. Their doubt and discouragement is anticipated, who were troubled that the present foundation and structure was not so stately as of the former Temple, Chap. II.1,2,3. 2. The Lords Presence by his Spirit, according to his Covenant when they came out of Egypt, is assured them, for their encouragement in the work, *ver.*4,5. 3. Gods shaking o of heaven and earth, sea and dry land, and all Nations is promised in order to this Temples glory, viz. As God appeared in great Majesty and Power in giving the Law on Sinai, so he will manifest greater power to all the world in publishing the Gospel, whereat all nations shall be stirred and moved, *ver.*6,7. 4. The filling of the present Temple with more glory then the former, is promised, by the coming of the desire of all Nations, (which some interpret of the calling of the Gentiles to the Church; Others of Christs coming personally in the flesh, into the Temple. Why may not both be understood?) This is further confirmed, by Gods all-sufficiency to effect this Promise, *ver.*7,8,9. 5. Divine Peace with this glory is promised, ver. 9. III. Of Gods singular blessing to them, from the day they began to build the Temple. where 1. Under the type of a Question propounded to the Priest, touching legal cleanness or uncleanness, he convinceth the people that all their works in building the Altar, Temple, &c. hitherto were defiled with their sinful hearts and lives, *ver.*10. to 15. 2. From this their sinfulness of heart and life, and impenitency, he declares it was that hitherto Gods judgments came upon them, *ver.*15,16. 17. 3. He now promiseth to blesse the corne, and all the fruits of the earth to their use, from the day they began to build, *ver.*18,19 IV. Of the glorious excellency of Christs Kingdome, where are promised 1. Gods wonderful power and Providence, in the destruction of all power opposite to Christs, *ver.*20,21,22. 2. Gods making Zerubbabel a Signet, that is, making Christ, (who came of Zerubbabel.) his King in his Church, inviolably sealed up, as continually honoured, eyed, loved and cared for by God, as a Signet upon his own hand, *ver.*23.

Zechariah.

§. I. Order, and Time.

THis Book which is the obſcureſt and longeſt of all the twelve leſſer Prophets, (as [a] Hierome noteth) is deſervedly placed in Order next unto Haggai. For as Haggai [b] began to Prophecy in the ſecond year of King Darius, in the ſixth moneth, on the firſt day of the moneth: So Zechariah [c] began for Time in the ſame year, but about two moneths after him, viz. in the eighth moneth; Therefore (ſaith [d] Hierome,) according to the order of the Prophets, Haggai is rightly placed tenth, Zechariah the eleventh. Now Zechariah is added to Haggai, as his colleague and coadjutor in the Prophetick office, (as [e] Calvin well obſerves,) Partly the more to confirme the Authority of one anothers Doctrine; Partly the more effectually to comfort and encourage the People againſt all preſent and future difficulties, which they were to wraſtle withall, leſt they ſhould be diſcouraged and faint under them.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is, amongſt the Hebrews called ספר זכריה Sepher Zechar-jah, i. e. The Book of Zechar-jah; from Zechar-jah the Preacher of the ſeveral Sermons, and Penman of the Book.

Zechar-jah זכריה being interpreted, ſignifies (as [f] Hierome hath noted) either The-memory-of the-LORD, or Mindeful-of-the-LORD; which name and interpretation agree well to him, who was not only himſelf mindeful of the Lords words and works, but alſo careful that the People brought out of Captivity ſhould be mindeful of them and remember them.

This Zechar-jah had a famous ſtock of which he naturally deſcended, being [g] the ſon of Barachiah, the ſon of Iddo. He had alſo a ſacred office wherein the Lord imployed him; He was [h] a Prophet flouriſhing after the Jews return from Babylons Captivity, and (as Hierome truely ſaith of him) he was [i] manifold in Prophecy, and (I may adde) in Prophetick viſions. But who this Zechariah was, Writers much diſpute; and in Scripture we read of divers Zecharias, viz. 1. Of [k] Zechariah ſonne of Jehoiadah, whom the People ſtoned to death at King Joaſh his Command in the Court of the Houſe of the Lord. This is thought by learned and judicious men to be the ſame of which Chriſt ſpeaketh, ſaying —— [l] from the blood of righteous Abel, unto the blood of Zecharias ſon of Barachias whom ye ſlew between the Temple and the Altar: for both the names and the ſtory of their death agree: onely that is called ſon of Jehoiada, this ſon of Barachias. But to this it may be Anſwered; Jehoiada is called Barachias by Chriſt, either for honour ſake, to ſignifie he was The-bleſſed-of-the-LORD; or becauſe Jehoiada had two names, being alſo called Barachiah; or inſtead of Barachiah ſhould be read Jehoiadah, as Hierome ſaith the Nazarenes in their Goſpel read it. But this Prophet Zechariah could not be Zechariah ſon of Jehoiadah, (though called in the Goſpel ſon of Barachiah,) 1. Partly becauſe Scripture ſpeaks not of his being ſlain betwixt the Temple and the Altar, eſpecially ſeeing there ſcarce were the ruines of the Temple in his time; as [m] Hierome well obſerves. 2. Partly becauſe because Zechariah son of Jehoiadah was slain in King Joash his days, which [n] was above 200 years before the Babylonish captivity. But this Zechariah lived after the Jews return from Babylon, yea in the time of Darius, viz. of Darius Nothus, which was above 100 years after their return. Therefore (if he were the same,) he should have lived 200 or 300 years after his own death, (as [o] Calvin argues) which were intolerably absurd. II. Of [p] Zechariah father of John Baptist. But this Prophet could not be father of John Baptist, because he lived in the time of the Persian Monarchs, in the days of Darius; but the father of John Baptist lived in the time of the Roman Monarchy in the days of Augustus Cæsar, as the Evangelical History shows; now betwixt the Persian and Roman Monarchy, the Grecian intervened, which continued [q] above 200 years, no man in these days living so long. Therefore all things considered, this Prophet Zechariah seems to be distinct from those other mentioned in Scripture, though we cannot determine further of him, then that he was sonne of Barachiah, sonne of Iddo. Whoever he was, this Prophecy is of unquestionable Authority, and is often [r] alledged and approved in the New Testament.

§. III. Occasion, and Scope.

This Prophet was raised up to prophecy to the Jews, returned from Babylon, upon the same Occasion that [s] Haggai was. What Haggai speaks more plainly and briefly, he speaks more mysteriously and fully, with many additions, especially of Evangelical Prophecies touching Jesus Christ.

[s] See on Haggai § . III.

Scope, I. As to the Jews, 1. To invite them to repentance, whereby they might avoid judgements and obtain mercies. 2. To encourage and incite the People returned from captivity, especially their Governours Zerubbabel and Jehoshuah, to the building of the Temple, and settling of the Common-wealth, wherein the Church might have a seat till Christs coming; and this by many excellent Promises, whereof the truely pious should be partakers. 3. To raise them up from terminating their thoughts in Zerubbabel and Jehoshuah, and their repair of the Temple and the City, which were but Types of Christ and his Church, he passeth on to many Evangelical Promises, touching Jesus Christ and his Church particularly, as his Kingdome, Priesthood, Price for which he should be betrayed, Death, Effusion of his spirit, efficacy of his Gospel, Vocation of the Gentiles, and many spiritual Priviledges of the Church in Grace and Glory. And thus he leads them from earthly to heavenly, from corporal to spiritual, from present to future things. 4. To forewarne the carnal Jews, enemies to Christs Kingdome, how for their sins their City and Kingdom should be ruined by the Romans, till the time of their last conversion, when God will restore, enlarge and purifie his Church, that all shall be Holy to the Lord, and the Canaanite no more in the House of the Lord. II. As to us, to instruct us. 1. How useful repentance is before we set upon publick Reformation. 2. How zealously and hopefully we should act in the Repair and Reformation of the Church of God, (where the Temple and Jerusalem were but shadows,) knowing how wonderfully the Lord can effect the same by weakest and unlikeliest means against greatest difficulties. 3. How great cause we have to accept Jesus Christ by faith, in whom these particular Prophecies were so punctually fulfilled. 4. How confidently we should expect the promised purity, victory and happiness of the Church of Christ in the latter dayes.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this Book consider 1. The Inscription, 2. The Prophecy it self.

The INSCRIPTION, describing 1. The Time, 2. The Authors of this Prophecy; Principal, The LORD; Instrumental, Zechariah; described by his Descent and office. Ch. I. ver. 1.

The PROPHECY it self comprizing the sum of 5 Sermons severally preached by the Prophet, viz. his 1 Penitential. 2 Visional. 3 Casuistical. 4 Prophetical, and 5 Evangelical Sermon.

CHAP. I. I. II.

I. His Penitential Sermon calling the Jewes to repentance. 1 Partly from Gods displeasure at their impenitent forefathers. 2 Partly from his judgments on them for impenitency. This is prefixed as a Preface, before the following Sermon of mercy and judgment, to prepare for the receiving of that, the avoiding of this, ver.2.to 7.

II. His visional Sermon, viz. His Prophetical visions, which are in all eight, and some of them very abstruse; some light may be brought to them by comparing them with Daniels Prophecy. These Visions seem to be delivered at once; and are 1 Visions of Mercy, 2 Visions of Judgment, 3 Visions of Comfort.

I. Visions of Mercy, as

1. The Vision of a man on horseback among the myrtle trees in the bottome; pointing out Christs singular presence with, and providence over his Church in lowest state, ver.7.to 18. Here consider I. The Vision it self, described by the Time and Manner of it, ver.7,8. II. The Interpretation and application of it, for comfort of their present state; Dialogue-wise, 1. The Prophet desiring information about it, ver.9. 2. An inferiour Angel instructing him, ver.9. 3. Christ the chief Angel informing him that these were Angels sent as Spies and Intelligencers up and down the world, ver.10. 4. These Angels report to Christ of the secure, and quiet state of the world, v.11. 5. The chief Angel Christ hereupon prayes to his Father for his long afflicted Church, and receives a comfortable answer touching her Restauration, but her secure enemies destruction, ver.12, to 18.

2. The Vision of foure horns, and four Carpenters, &c. intimating how God would break and scatter the horns of his Churches enemies, ver.18.to the end.

3. The Vision of the man with the measuring line in his hand to measure Jerusalem, promising the Restauration and re-peopling of Jerusalem, wherein note I. The Vision it self, Ch.II.v.1,2. II. The Interpretation of it by two Angels and Zechary, promising 1. Re-peopling, 2. Safety, 3. Glory to Jerusalem, ver.3 to 6. III The Accommodation of it, 1 By inviting the remnant of the Jews that still lingered in Babylon, to hasten out, and this by divers Arguments, ver.6.to.10. 2. By comforting the Jews already returned home, with Promises 1 Of his Presence, 2 Of her enlargement by forreigners added to her; and 3 Of his gracious Covenant with her, ver.10,11,12. 3. By charging all the earth to be silent before the Lord, thus working for his Church, ver.13. CHAP. II.

4. The Vision of Jehoshua the high-Priest in filthy garments and Satan at his right hand accusing him; showing, though sins of people and Priest might be objected against them and their Intercessors, yet they had another High-Priest, who would plead their cause, pardon their sin, build the Temple, and quiet his Church, viz. Christ the Branch. Here are described, I. The Type, wherein consider 1. The Party accused Jehoshuah. 2. The Party before whom he was accused, viz. The Angel of the Lord, Christ. 3. The Accuser, Satan, Chap.III.ver.1. 4. The Apology for Jehoshuah, Satan being rebuked, ver.2. Jehoshuah being absolved, and his filthy raiments changed, ver.3,4. yea established in his office, ver.5,6,7. II. The Anti-type by whom Temple, Priesthood and People should be restored and preserved, viz. Jesus Christ, promised to Jehoshuah and his fellows, wondred at as monsters for their faith and obedience to God in these desperate times. Christ is described 1. By his double name, Branch and Stone, ver.8,9. 2. By his double Property as a Stone, viz Perfect Providence, and Compleatness of grace, ver.9. 3. By the two fruits of his Priesthood, Pardon of sin, and Peace of conscience, ver.9,10. CHAP. III.

5. The Vision of the golden Candlestick, and the two Olive trees standing by it: declaring that Gods grace alone is sufficient for the Reparation and Preservation of his Church, without all other created means, against greatest mountains of opposition. Where are 1. The Prophets Preparation to attend the vision, Ch. IV. ver. 1. 2. The Vision it self, described, ver. 2, 3. 3. The interpretation of the vision, which is either General, or Particular; I. The General interpretation of the whole vision, and of Zecharyes request, viz. That as the Candlestick was supplyed with oyle naturally dropping from the two olive trees standing thereby, without mans help or Art: so the Spirit of the Lord was sufficient without all humane means to rebuild and maintain both his Temple and Church, ver.4,5,6. God promising to that end. 1 Partly the removal of greatest impediments, ver.7. 2 Partly the perfecting of the Temple-building, though then very small, to the joy of the People, by the vigilant seven-eyed Providence of the Lord, v.7.to 11. II. The particular interpretation of part of the vision, viz. the two olive-trees, ver.11,12,13,14. CHAP. IV.

II. Visions of Judgment, viz. The Vision of the flying Book, and the vision of the Ephah; In generall evidencing to the Jews, that though their state should be restored, his Temple and Church re-established among them, according to the former visions: yet he would notwithstanding severely punish them for their sins and corruptions at present, according to the vision of the flying book; and would utterly destroy them if their sins grew riper and riper, when they had fulfilled the measure of their iniquity for the future, according to the vision of the Ephah. More particularly. CHAP. V.

1. The vision of the flying book, is 1. Described 1. By the speedinesse of it, flying, Ch. V. 1. 2. By the largenesse of it, containing curses enough for all sorts of sins, ver.2. II. Expounded 1. By the sins threatned with the curse in this Book, viz. The sacrilegious Thievery against the second Table, And false-swearing or Periury against the first Table. By which synechdochically understand all other their grosse sins, wherof at present they were guilty. 2. By the Author of the curse, The Lord of Hosts. 3. By the manner of the curses execution, Entring, Remaining in midst of, and consuming their houses, ver.3,4.

2. The Vision of the Ephah, &c. described and expounded by parts, viz. I. An t Ephah, w hereby the Jews were resembled in respect of the filling up of the measure of their sins, ver. 5, 6. II. A

III. Viſions of Comfort, viz.

1. The viſion of foure chariots, &c. where note I. The Deſcription of the viſion, viz. four chariots,coming out from between two mountains of Braſſe,drawn by four ſorts of horſes,*Ch.VI.*1,2,3. II. The interpretation of the viſion given by the Angel in a threefold deſcription, 1. Of the nature of the chariots and horſes,*ver.*4,5. 2. Of their imployment whither they ran,*v.*6,7. 3. The effect of this their employment,viz. they quieted Gods Spirit in the North-country,ver 8. This viſion comfortably pointing out, the provident Decrees and Counſels of God, immoveable as mountains of Braſſe; and directing (for his Providence begins and ſteers all actions.) the courſe and motion of the four chariots and horſes, (viz. either the four Empires of the earth; or, as ſome think, the Angels of heaven, thoſe miniſtring ſpirits,) for the fulfilling of his will for his Churches good; ſo that whatſoever his Church had or ſhould further ſuffer under them, was fore-ſeen and fore-appointed by God himſelf; a great comfort to them that were come out of captivity already, and to them that as yet remained in captivity.

CHAP. VI.

2. The Viſion, or rather the Hiſtorical Prediction of what was really to be done for his Churches comfort, viz. under the Type of the oblation of ſome Jews which came from Babylon as Embaſſadors from the reſt, and the Coronation of Jehoſhuah the High-Prieſt, is declared the Kingdom and Prieſthood of Chriſt, together with the re-eſtabliſhment and enlargment of the Church under him; Here note I. The external or viſible type, deſcribed by ſeveral circumſtances, *ver.*9,10,11. II. The explication of this type, and the application of it to the Antitype. Partly in reſpect of Perſons, Jehoſhuahs Perſon repreſenting the Perſon of Chriſt the BRANCH,*v.*12. Partly in reſpect of ſeveral properties in the Antitype,viz. 1. He ſhall grow up out of his Place. 2. He ſhall build the Temple of the Lord. 3. He ſhall bear the glory. 4. He ſhall ſit and rule upon his Throne, and he ſhall be a Prieſt upon his Throne. 5. The counſel of Peace ſhall be between them both, ver.12,13. III. The publike memorial of this Solemnity, by conſecration of theſe Crowns to the Temple as a Monument, ver. 14. IV. A Promiſe of Forreigners acceſſe from far to the Jews in Judea to help forward the Temple-building,ver. 15.

CHAP. VII.

III. His caſuiſtical Sermon, wherein the Prophet at large reſolves the Jews in a caſe of conſcience touching Faſting, propoſed to him and the Prieſts, with many other Leſſons excellently inſerted; wherein conſider I. The time of this Sermon, *Ch.VII.*1. II. The Occaſion of it, viz. The captives embaſſage to the Temple, ſending Embaſſadours to pray in the Temple, and there to be reſolved in a caſe of conſcience, touching the Fifth Moneths Faſt, obſerved for many years, whether they ſhould continue it,*v.*2,3. III. The Sermon it ſelf, wherin are, 1. The Preface, 1 Partly reproving their hypocriſie and prepoſterouſneſs, in ſtanding ſo much upon their own inventions and outward obſervations of faſting, mean while neglecting Gods Commands, and refuſing to obey them, for which all their calamities came upon them, v. 4. to the end of the chap. 2 Partly comforting them againſt their unbelief and diſtruſt of the good ſucceſs of things by divers promiſes, viz. Of Gods reconcilement with Zion for preſent, *Ch.VIII.*1,2,3. Malachi.

§. I. Order and Time.

MAlachi is in Order the last of all the twelve Prophets, (as [a] Hierom intimateth,) yea deservedly he is ranked the last of all the Prophets of the old Testament, 1 Partly because in the close of his Prophecy, he so cautions the Jewes to be mindful of the written [b] Law of Moses, till the Messiahs coming in the flesh, and to cleave to the pure Doctrine thereof; which he therefore doth, (saith [c] Calvin) because now the Series and continued Succession of Prophets was to cease, till Christ the great Prophet himself should come, that by this intermission and want of Prophecy, the Jewes might be stirred up, and pressed more intentively and earnestly to desire the Messiahs coming. 2. Partly because he concludeth his Prophecy with such an eminent Promise of [d] Elijah the Prophet, (i.e. John Baptist in the spirit and power of Elijah,) to be Christs Harbinger to prepare his way before him. Now what Prophet so fit as he who is the last Prophet of the Old Testament, to indigitate and point out as with the finger, John Baptist the first Prophet of the New Testament?

Time of his Prophecy is not particularly expressed, but the current of his Prophecy intimates it was not onely after the Jewes return from the Babylonish Captivity, but after their building of the Temple also, inasmuch as herein is no mention at all of the Temples lying waste, and unbuilt, nor is there any exhortation to the People, (as in Haggai and Zechariah,) to perfect the building, but rather the Temple being now finish'd, and the Temple-worship erected; the Sacriledge of the People and the corruption of Gods worship by the Priests is here taxed. How long time Malachi prophecied after the perfecting of the Temple is hard to define; [e] Helvicus thinks he began to prophecy about the 19 or last year of Darius Nothus, which was about foure hundred and four years before Christ. The Temple was finished in Darius Nothus his [f] sixth year. So that after Malachi, according to this account Prophecy ceased for about 400 years.

§. II. Name and Penman.

This Book is called among the Hebrewes ספר מלאכי Sepher Malachi, that is The Book of Malachi, and in the text, [g] The Burden of the Word of the LORD to Israel, by the hand of Malachi; from Malachi the Preacher and Penman thereof.

Malachi מלאכי signifies properly, My-Angel, or My-Messenger, (as [h] Hierome interprets it, who elsewhere [i] blames the LXX. for rendring it His Angel, viz. in those words, The Assumption of the Word of the LORD against Israel by the hand of his Angel.) And this interpretation well agrees to any Prophet, or Minister of God, being g Mal.1.1.

i Hier. Proœm. in Mal. Tom.6.

being the Lords Angel or Messenger to his Church and People. Though perhaps (as [k]Calvin intimates) this name might for honour sake be given to this Prophet in respect of some special service, unknown to us. The Hebrews and Origen (because Malachi signifies, my Angel,) have an Opinion, That Malachi was an Angel that came down from heaven, and assuming an humane body preached to Israel. But [l] Hierome rejects this, and [m] Calvin counts it an absurd fiction, and deservedly; 1. Partly because in these times God did not use to speak by Angels, yea, scarce by Prophets, because of the Peoples obduration, and because of the approach of Christs incarnation; but by ordinary ministry. 2. Partly because the last letter [י] as here, is usually annexed to proper names of men; therefore he was a man, not an Angel. [n] Some think he was Zechariah or Haggai, he being thus termed [o] an Angel or Messenger, but without any convincing ground for that Opinion. Hierom and Calvin (in the places fore-alledged) incline to think he was Ezra, but gives us no cogent Arguments to perswade thereunto. Their Opinion seems most probable, who take him to be a Prophet distinct from them all. Whoever he was, his Prophecy is Authentique, and the Authority of it notably confirmed by the New Testament [p] Allegation of it.

§. III. Occasion and Scope.

Occasion. The Jews being newly returned from captivity, did a little while more heartily serve God, and build the Altar, and lay the foundation of the Temple, and so for a long time the work ceast, Partly through opposition, Partly through their own sluggishnesse, till that in the days of Darius, Haggai and Zechariah encouraged them, and Darius countenanced them, they finished it, and erected the worship of God therein aright; But after relapsing to hypocrisie in Gods service, corruption and sacrilege in his worship, and loosenesse in their lives by mixt Marriages, Polygamies, Divorces, abuse of Gods Providences, &c. Hereupon God raises up this Prophet to endeavour to reform these corruptions by his ministry.

Scope. 1. To convince and reprove the Jewes for their great unkindnesse, walking so unworthy of Gods electing love and Covenant with them, and this by their irreligiousnesse, prophanenesse, idolatry, adultery, challenging of Providence, Rebellion, Sacriledge, Infidelity, and other corruptions abounding not only among the People, but among the Priests also: for which he sharply threatens them with Gods judgments. 2. To invite them to Repentance and Reformation of all these grosse evils, by promises of grace and manifold blessings which should especially be performed by the Messiah, the great Reformer and Refiner of his Church, at his coming in the flesh, which hastned; who would save the penitent, but destroy the obstinate sinners; who would abolish the typical ceremonies and worship, and set up a pure spiritual service throughout the world; before whom the New Testament Elijah, John the Baptist should be sent to prepare his way, and to fit a People for him.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this Book are, 1. The Inscription. 2. The Prophecy it self.

I. The Inscription or Title denoting 1. The nature of the Prophecy; A Burden. The Authors of it, Principal, the LORD. Instrumental, Malachi. 3. The Persons against whom this Burden was especially intended, viz. Israel, Chap. I. 1.

CHAP. I. II. The Prophecy it self, wherein are wrapped up in one continued Sermon, these Particulars principally.

I. A Preface, (aggravating the ingrateful wickednes of the Jews) drawn from Gods singular love in election of them in Jacob, when he rejected the Edomites in Esau, ver. 2. to 6.

II. A sharp Contestation against the people, especially the Priests, the Keepers of the Law for their corruptions, viz. 1. Against their contempt and pollution of the worship of God, which Priests Priests should have vindicated by office, ver.6. to the end. and Chap.II.1.to 10. 2. Against their corrupt marriages, both marriages with Infidels, and Polygamies, ver. 10. to 17. 3. Against the wickednesse and perversenesse of many, that made a mock at Gods Justice and Judgments, ver.17. to the end, and Chap. III. ver. 1. to 7. 4. Against their Sacriledge in robbing God of Tithes and Offerings, &c. ver. 7. to 13. 5. Against their Atheistical contempt of Gods fear, worship and true repentance, *ver.*15. *to the end, and Chap. IV. ver.*1. to 5.

III. An earnest invitation of all to Repentance, that so they might be prepared duly to entertain the Messiah, who (with his forerunner John the Baptist, in the spirit and power of Elias,) was now immediately to appear in humane flesh, *ver.*4,5,6.

THE

New Testament.

AND

The Order of the Books therein.

THE NEW TESTAMENT, revealing fully and clearely the NEW COVENANT in Christ, and the spiritual Administrations thereof; is contained in the Books written since Christs manifestation in the flesh. a In reading of the Old Testament, the veile is untaken away: But (in the NEW TESTAMENT,) the veile is done away in Christ.——And we all with open face, beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord are changed into the same image from glory to glory; even as by the Spirit of the Lord. In the Books of the Old Testament, God describes to us, The Old Covenant of Grace in Christ veiled under Promises, Prophesies and Types: In the Books of the New Testament, The Lord delineates to us The New Covenant of grace in Christ, un-veyled, actually exhibited and performed; b Christ being the truth, the body and substance of all those antient Types and Shadows, the Center and meeting place of all the c Prophecies and Promises.

The Books of the New Testament are either 1 Historical, 2 Epistolical, or 3 Prophetical, as further appears in the annexed Table.

a 2 Cor. 3. 14. 18.

b Joh. 1. 17. Heb. 10. 1. Col. 2. 17.

c Luk. 1. 70. and 24. 27. Act. 10. 43. 2 Cor. 1. 20.

The Books of the New Testament, are either

I. Historical, describing unto us the History of

1. Christ the Head of the Church; whose Genealogy, Birth, Life, Doctrine, Miracles, Death, Resurrection and Ascension are recorded by foure Evangelists.
   - Matthew.
   - Mark.
   - Luke.
   - John.
2. The Church, Christs body, whose Primitive plantation, state and augmentation both among Jewes and Gentiles, is declared in the
   - Acts of the Apostles

II. Epistolical, as all the Epistles written by the Apostles, either

1. To believing Gentiles, as Pauls Epistles
   1. Generall, which Paul wrote unto whole Churches about matters of general and publick concernment, as the Epistles to the
      - Romanes.
      - I. Corinthians.
      - II. Corinthians.
      - Galatians.
      - Ephesians.
      - Philippians.
      - Colossians.
      - I. Thessalonians.
      - II. Thessalonians.
   2. Particular, to particular persons touching
      1. Publique Ecclesiasticall affaires, as the Epistles to
         - I. Timothy.
         - II. Timothy.
         - Titus.
      2. Private Oeconomical affaires, as his Epistle to
         - Philemon.
2. To the believing Jewes, as it is probable all these Epistles were, viz.
   1. The Epistle (probably written by Paul) to the
      - Hebrews.
   2. The 7. Epistles commonly called, General, or the Catholique Epistles of
      - James. — James.
      - Peter — I. Peter. — II. Peter.
      - John — General — I. John. — II. John. — III. John.
      - John — Particular.
      - Jude. — Jude.

III. Prophetical, foretelling what shall be the future state and condition of the Church of Christ to the end of the World, written by John the Apostle, viz.
- The Revelation.

I. HISTORICAL BOOKS.

THE HISTORICAL BOOKS of the New Testament, are such as contain principally matters of Fact, though matters of Faith and Doctrine are also interwoven. The Histories of the New Testament, are I. Of Christ the Head of the Church. II. Of the Church of Christ, his body.

I. The HISTORY OF JESUS CHRIST himself is set forth by the four Evangelists; wherein Christs Genealogy, Nativity, Life, Doctrine, Miracles, Death, Resurrection and Ascension, are described. Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, are usually called (by way of emphasis) The four Evangelists, because they alone wrote the Evangelicall History of Jesus Christ. [d] Matthew and John were Apostles, Marke and Luke were; (though not Apostles, yet) holy Apostolical men, the Apostles disciples, Companions and Assistants in the work of the Ministry, as after will appear.

[d] Mat. 10 23. Mark 3.17,18. [e] John 20. 31.

The General and common End of these four Histories, and of the writing of them is that which John expresseth in particular, viz. [e] That we might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing we might have life through his name; Particular ends and occasions may be noted in the particular consideration of the Histories.

This History of Jesus Christ not onely incomparably surpasseth all humane, but also (as [f] Augustine f Auguſtine hath noted,) deſervedly excelleth even all Divine Authorities and Hiſtories in Sacred Scripture. As the Canticles are ſtiled the Song of Sings; So may this, the Hiſtorie of Hiſtories. For 1 The Subject-matter of this Hiſtory is moſt ſublime and ſingular, viz. The lineal Deſcent, Birth, Life, Death, Reſurrection and Aſcention of Jeſus Chriſt, God-man, the onely Saviour of ſinners, and Mediatour betwixt God and man. Whoſe Natures, Offices, Doctrines, Acts and Sufferings, are here on purpoſe fully deſcribed, which in other Books are but briefly touched upon and hinted. And what Hiſtories can treat of a nobler Theam; 2. This Hiſtory contains the accompliſhment of both the Law and Prophets, Jeſus Chriſt being the Truth of all the Types, the Center or meeting place of all the Promiſes, and the chief Performance of all the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, as is here teſtified by them that were eye and ear-witneſſes thereof. 3. This one Hiſtory of Chriſt is the onely Hiſtory in the ſacred Bible, which is written by four ſeveral Penmen, which eminently points out the unparalleld excellency of the Story, what ever other Hyſtery be implyed therein.

But why is Chriſts Hiſtory written by four ſeveral Penmen? Anſw. Antient writers (who much pleaſe themſelves with their fancies, about the myſteriouſneſs of numbers) have excogitated divers Reaſons thereof.

Irenæus ſaith g Becauſe there are four Regions of the world wherein we are; and four principal winds or ſpirits, and the Church is ſown throughout all the earth, and the Goſpel is the pillar and ground of the Church and the ſpirit of life: conſequently ſhe muſt have four pillars ſtanding on every ſide incorruptibly, and enlivening men.

Hierome ſaith, h The Church which by the Lords word is founded on a Rock, whom the King brought into his Chambers; to whom he put his hand through the hole of his ſecret deſcention,— iſſuing forth four Rivers like Paradiſe, (this is alſo Origens Argument,) hath four corners and rings by which as it were the Ark of the Covenant, and Keeper of the Law of the Lord, is carried by immoveable ſtaves. The firſt of them all is Matthew the Publican, &c.

Auguſtine ſaith: i To ſe foure Evangeliſts, well known in the whole World, even for this perhaps foure, becauſe there are four parts of the Earth, throughout all which they in a ſort have declared, by the myſtery of their number, that the Church of Chriſt ſhall be enlarged, are ſaid to have written in this Order. Firſt Matthew, Then Mark, Thirdly Luke, Laſtly John.

h Eccleſia autem quæ ſupra Petram, domini voce fundata eſt, quam introduxit rex in cubiculum ſuum: ad quam per foramen deſcenſionis occultæ miſit manum ſuam, ſimilis damulæ hinnuloque cervorum: quatuor flumina inſtar Paradiſi erudians: quatuor angulos & annulos habet, per quos quaſi Arca Teſtamenti & cuſtos legis domini, lignis immobilibus vehitur: Primum omnium Matthæus eſt Publicanus. —— Hier. Proœm. in Mat. Tom. 9.

i Illi igitur 4 Evangeliſtæ univerſo terrarum orbe notiſſimi, & ob hoc forraſſe 4 quoniam quatuor ſunt partes orbis terræ per cujus univerſitatem Chriſti Eccleſiam dilarari, ipſo ſui numeri Sacramento quodammodo declararunt, hoc ordine ſcripſiſſe perhibentur. Primò Matthæus, deinde Marcus, tertiò Lucas, ultimo Joannes. Aug. de Conſenſ. Evangeliſt. l. 1 c. 2. Tom. 4.

Thus the number of the four Evangeliſts is fetched from the four Cardinal winds: from the four Regions or Corners of the Earth: from the four Rivers of Paradice; and from the four Corners and foure Rings of the Ark of the Covenant. But moſt of them accommodate that of the k foure living creatures (which foure had the face of a man, and the face of a Lyon on the right ſide: and they foure had the face of an Oxe on the left ſide: they foure alſo had the face of an Eagle:) to the number of the four Evangeliſts, though ſeverally fitting them and interpreting them. Irenæus ſaith, l The firſt living Creature like a Lyon, ſignifies Chriſts Efficacy, Principality, Regality: viz. John: The ſecond like a Calf ſignifies his Prieſtly ſacrificing Order, viz. Luke: The third having as it were a mans face deſcribes his coming in the fleſh as man, viz. Matthew: and the fourth like a flying Eagle, manifeſting the grace of the Spirit, flying into the Church, viz. Mark. Hierom ſaith m The firſt face of a man ſignifies Matthew, who began to write of Chriſt as of a man. The Book of the Generation of Jeſus Chriſt ſon of David, ſon of Abraham. The ſecond Mark, in which is heard the voice of a Lyon roaring in the wilderneſs, The Voice of one crying in the Wilderneſs, Prepare yee the way of the Lord, make his Paths ſtraight: The third of a Calfe, which prefigures Luke the Evangeliſt, taking his beginning from Zacharie the Prieſt: The fourth John the Evangeliſt, who having taken the wings of an Eagle, and haſtening to higher matters, diſputes of the WORD of God. And the ſame Hierome upon this conſideration ſaith elſewhere, n Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, the Lords chariot drawn of foure, and the true Cherubims, which is interpreted the multitude of Science. are full of eyes throughout, ſparkles ſhine forth, lightnings runne about, they have ſtraight feet and tending upwards, winged backs and flying everywhere: They hold one another, and are infolded in one another, and are rowled about as a wheele in a wheele, and they go whitherſoever the inſpiration of the holy Spirit leads them.

Ambroſe alſo tells us, o That many think our Lord in the four Books of the Goſpel is figured by the four formes of the living Creatures: becauſe he is a Man, a Lyon, a Calf, an Eagle; A man becauſe he was born of Mary: A Lyon, becauſe ſtrong: A Calf, becauſe a Sacrifice, An Eagle, becauſe he is the Reſurrection. And to mention no more, Auguſtine ſaith, p Among them that out of the Revelation have interpreted thoſe foure living Creatures, for the underſtanding of the four Evangeliſts, thoſe ſeem to me to have conſidered ſomething more probable, who underſtand the Lyon in Matthew, the Man in Mark, the Calfe in Luke, the Eagle in John: then thoſe who give the Man to Matthew, the Eagle to Mark, the Oxe to Luke, and the Lyon to John: for they would take a kinde of conjecture, from the beginnings of the Books, not from the whole intention of the Evangeliſts, &c. —— Whereupon he afterwards calls the foure Evangeliſts, The Lords holy chariots drawn of foure, wherein being carried throughout the world he ſubdues People to his eaſie yoake, and light burden.

o Plerique---- putant ipſum Dominum noſtrum in 4 Evangelii libris 4 formis animalium figurari, quod idem homo, idem leo, idem vitulus, idem aquila. Homo. quia natus ex Maria eſt: Leo, quia fortior: vitulus, quia hoſtia: aquila, quia reſurrectio eſt, &c. Ambr. Prefat. in Lucan. Tom. 5.

p Mihi videntur, qui ex Apocalypſi illa 4 Animalia, ad intelligendos 4 Evangeliſtas interpretati ſunt, probabilius aliquid attendiſſe illi qui Leonem in Matthæo, hominem in Marco, Vitulum in Luca, Aquilam in Joanne intellexerunt: quam illi qui Hominem Matthæo, Aquilam Marco, Bovem Lucæ, Leonem Joanni tribuerunt. Evangeliſt. l.* 1. c. 6. Tom. 4. & Tract. 36. in Joan. ad init. Tom. 9

Sedulius the Presbyter elegantly deſcribes this reſemblance of the four Evangeliſts in his verſes: wherein he thus ſpeaks to Chriſt.

Hoc Matthæus agens hominem generaliter implet,
Marcus ut alta fremit vox per deſerta Leonis,
Jura Sacerdotii Lucas tenet ore juvenci,
More volans Aquilæ verbo petit aſtra Joannes.
Quatuor hi preceres una te voce canentes,
Tempora ceu totidem latum ſparguntur in orbem.
Iren. adverſ. Hereſ l. 3. c. 11. in Annot.

But leave we theſe ſubtilties and notions of wit, which ſeem to be Similitudes, Alluſions or Allegories uſed for illuſtration, rather then Arguments for demonſtration, why theſe four ſhould write our bleſſed Saviours Hiſtory;

We may rather conceive Chriſts Hiſtory was written by theſe foure.

1. Becauſe God, who appointed many q witneſſes of Chriſts doctrine and works, &c. not only to Jeruſalem, all Judea and Samaria, but to the utmoſt parts of the earth, did peculiarly ſtirre up theſe four perſons by his ſpirit to this work: for r holy men of God writ who were moved, and as moved by the Holy Ghoſt.

2. This Hiſtory of Chriſt is the choiceſt of all Hiſtories: of greateſt worth in it ſelf, of moſt concernment to us, and likely to be moſt oppoſed by the Devil, and the wicked world, &c. therefore God (that requires s two or three witneſſes for confirmation of things.) makes uſe of foure witneſſes to write Chriſts ſtory, that by the writings of foure every thing might be eſtabliſhed beyond ſuſpition.

3. That we may ſee the Authority of the Goſpel depends not upon the Penman thereof, but upon the Holy Ghoſt that indites it, and therefore this Hiſtory is written not onely by Matthew and John, Apoſtles, who were eye and eare-witneſſes of what Chriſt did and ſpake; but alſo, as t Auguſtine well noteth, by Mark and Luke, the Apoſtles followers, who u moſt ſurely and ſtedfaſtly believed the Apoſtles report, though not eye-witneſſes themſelves, yet were incited thereto by the ſpirit.

4. That this Goſpel-Hiſtory might be complcated, one explaining what another left obſcure, for matter or order, one ſupplying what another had omitted. For, (as that acute x Chemnitius hath learnedly obſerved:) Matthew who wrote firſt, viz. in the ninth year after Chriſts aſcention, as is commonly thought, y for the moſt part relates the things done, but ſeldom inſiſts upon the order of doing them. Mark who wrote next, viz. in the tenth or eleventh year after Chriſts aſcention, briefly relates what Matthew did more largely, (Mark being an Abſtract or Epitome of Matthew) but withal he inſiſts more upon the ordering and timing of things done. Luke who wrote in the fifteenth year after Chriſts aſcention, having ſeen others writings, propounds to himſelf to write of things from the very firſt, and that methodically. z It ſeemed good to me alſo, having had perfect underſtanding of things from the very firſt to write unto thee in order: in many things he ſhews the order of things by circumstances, and in most agrees with Mark: (whence Tertullian calls Lukes Gospel a An orderly digesting of the Evangelical story:) but sometimes things manifest in Matthew and Mark, he puts not in their own place. John who wrote his Gospel in the two and thirtieth year after Christs ascension, professedly addes the Acts of Christ in the first year of his ministry, omitted by the rest as b Eusebius testifies. And in the rest of his History he not onely insists much upon Christs Doctrine, formerly not spoken to, but also expressely notes the Feasts of certain distinct years, incident in the times of Christs ministry, intimating that the Evangelical History, penned by others, should be distributed into certain years, according to those Feasts, which being duly considered and compared together, may be of great use for the right timing of the Evangelical Story.

5. Finally though the Holy Ghost could by one and the same contexture of words, have given us the History of Christs words and deeds, (as c Chemnitius noteth out of Gerson.) yet not without some great mystery therein, he pleased under a certain Harmonius and concording dissonancy (if we may so speak) to excite the mindes of the faithful, to the more humble and vigilent investigation of the truth, that so it might appear, the foure Evangelists, did not speak by mutual Conspiration, but by divine Inspiration. Whence d Augustine hath well observed. They are not so much foure Gospels, as one Gospel in foure Books.

The Summe and principal Scope of all these foure Evangelists is to demonstrate, That Iesus Christ the sonne of the Virgin Mary, is that very Messiah the son of David and Abraham, that seed of the woman, from the beginning of the world promised, typified and fore-prophecied of in the whole Old Testament. This demonstration may be comprized in such a Syllogisme as this.

Whosoever he be, in whom all the Promises, Types and Prophecies of the Old Testament, concerning the Messiah are actually fulfilled: he, and he alone, is the true Messiah. This Proposition is undeniable; for in those Promises, Types and Prophecies onely the true Messiah is described and revealed under the Old Testament in many particulars. Here all the particulars of those Promises, &c. may be enumerated out of the Old Testament.

But in Jesus Christ, the Son of the Virgin Mary, all the Promises, Types and Prophecies, of the Old Testament, concerning the Messiah are actually fulfilled. This Assumption is proved by the History of the four Evangelists, purposely declaring how they were accomplished in him particularly. Here the Scriptures of the Old Testament, mentioned by the foure Evangelists as fulfilled in Christ, may be enumerated out of all the Gospels clearely.

Therefore Jesus Christ, Son of the Virgin Mary, and he alone, is the true Messiah.

Seeing therefore this is the primary Scope of these foure Evangelists, to bring Christ the onely true Messiah in their armes unto us, that we might know him certainly; believe in him onely; and be saved by him eternally: with what desire and delight should we exercise our selves in these Histories night and day, that therein we might spiritually kiss, embrace, adore and admire the blessed Babe, JESUS? Chemnitius professeth * That he loved, even from his tender age, the saving History of the life and acts of our sweetest Saviour Jesus Christ. And what sincere soul that ever truly tasted Christs sweetness in youth or age, can chuse but think himself in heaven, while he reads and meditates upon this heavenly Story?

Besides these foure Evangelists divers others have written Gospels, (as e Hierome noteth,) both from Lukes Testimony, Luke 1. 1. &c. and from monuments thereof remaining till his dayes: which Gospel (saith he,) were the beginnings of divers Heresies: as that of the Egyptians: of Thomas: of Matthias: of Bartholomew: of the twelve Apostles, of Basilides: of Apelles: and of others whom it would be too long to enumerate: onely its necessary to say this at present: There have been some who without the Spirit and Grace of God, have endeavoured rather to frame a Narration, then to compile the truth of History These and other spurious, adulterate and Apocryphal Gospels devised by subtile Heretiques, for the patronizing of their Heresies, the Church rejects, as f Eusebius, and g Nicephorus, have long since testified.

Matthew.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW.] The English word [Gospel] comes from the old Saxon word [God-spel] i. e. Good-Speech. The Greek word signifies Good-tydings, or a Good-Message: This word Gospel in New Testament, is of several acceptations; both in bad and good sense.

The word Gospel is used
- 1. In bad sense, for a false pretended Gospel, Gal. 1. 6, 7.
- 2. In good sense, and that either
  - 1. Properly, and so the word is used, either
    - 1. Generally for the Doctrine or promise of Salvation freely by Christ to all that will believe. Thus the Gospel is everlasting, Revel. 14. 6. one and the same under Old and New Testament, Gal. 3. 8.
    - 2. Specially, for the Doctrine of Grace in accomplishing the promise by Christ exhibited; this is peculiar to the New Testament, Rom. 1. 1. 2. 2 Cor. 4. 4.
  - 2. Metonymically.
    - 1. For the Preaching or Ministery of the Gospel, 1 Cor. 9. 12, 14.
    - 2. For the History of Christ, who is the prime Subject of the Gospel. Thus the Books of the four Evangelists are called Gospels.

This Book is called The Gospel according to Matthew, because he was Penman of it. Matthew, an Hebrew name; in Syriack, מתא Matthæ. Some derive it from מס Mas, i. e. Tribute. Others from מחה Mathach, i. e. To extend, to explain &c. So that Matthew should sound as much as, An explainer, viz. of Scripture. But [a] rather it is to be derived from נתן Nathan, i. e. He hath given or bestowed, whence מתן Matthan, A gift; so Matthew notes A gift, viz. of God. Matthew was also surnamed in Hebrew [b] Levi, i. e. Associated. (The first reason, and original of the name Levi, see in Gen. 29. 34.) so he had two names. He was the son of [c] Alpheus; by Profession a [d] Publicane, sitting at the receipt of Custome, so that his calling was very infamous among the Jews; yet Christ [e] calls him from the Receipt of Custome to be a Disciple, who presently obeyed, and made Christ a great feast, inviting also other Publicans, whom he doubtless brought along with him, that they also might heare Christs Sermons and repent. He was one of the twelve [f] Apostles. Penman of this Book, Authority whereof was never questioned by the Church of Christ. He is called by [g] Tertullian, A most faithful Commentator of the Gospel. He [h] preached the Gospel to sinners, not only by word, but by exemplary correcting his own life. He preached as some [i] think in a City of Ethiopia called Naddavar; as others, in Myrmena, a City of the Anthropophagi; where he is reported to work many strange wonders; and divers unsound Doctrines are falsly ascribed to him, too tedious to relate. At last he is reported to be fastned with nails or spears to the earth.

§. II. Time of his writing.

Matthew wrote his Gospel, as [k] Irenæus thinks, at that time when Paul was preaching the Gospel at Rome, and founding a Church there. Or in the fifteenth year after Christs Ascension, as [l] Nicephorus. Or in the ninth year after Christs Ascension as others observe out of Eusebius & Theophylact. By this difference of opinions it [k] Iræn. adverss. Hæres. l. 3. c. 1.

[l] Niceph. Hist. Eccles. l. 2. c. 45.

it appears the punctual time of his writing, is somewhat uncertain. But the most received opinion of Fathers and Historians is (saith m Pareus) That Matthew wrote in the ninth year after Christs Ascension, Mark two years after him, Luke in the fifteenth year after Christ, and John in the two and thirtieth year. And as for the former place of Irenæus, Pareus upon good ground suspects it to be corrupted, for the establishing of the Popish foppery of Peters Primacy at Rome.

m Pareus Proœm. in Mat. §. II. Hen. Alsted. Præcogn. Theol. l. 2. c. 103.

§. III. Language in which he wrote.

The Language in which Matthew wrote is worth the enquiring after, that so we may satisfie our jugements touching the Authentique copy whether it be the Hebrew or the Greek, which we are to follow. Some think he being an Hebrew, wrote in Hebrew to the Hebrews, among whom he had preached: Many ancient Writers embrace this Opinion. Irenæus saith, n Matthew published the Writing of the Gospel among the Hebrews in their Tongue, when Peter and Paul preached the Gospel and founded a Church at Rome. o Eusebius saith, Matthew having preached the Gospel to the Hebrewes and minding to go to other Nations, wrote his Gospel in his own Countrey Language. So also p Nicephorus, and q Augustine think.

o Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. l. 3 c. 18.

q Aug. de Conſenſ. Evang. l. 1. c. 2.

And r Hierome saith, Matthew in Judea first composed the Gospel of Christ in Hebrew letters and words, for them of the Circumcision that believed. Which who after translated into Greek, is not sufficiently certain. Further that Hebrew Gospel is had to this day in the Cæsarean Library, which Pamphilus the Martyr most studiously made; and I had liberty of copying it out, granted from the Nazaræans, who use this Volume in Beroea a City of Syria, &c.

r B. Hier. Catalog. Script. Eccl. Tom. 1. And Præfat. in 4. Evang. Tom. 3.

But notwithstanding this opinion of divers ancient and learned Fathers: Divers modern Writers, and those of no small learning and judgement dissent from them, and judge, that Matthew wrote not his Gospel originlly in Hebrew, but in Greek, and that upon these grounds. 1. The Hebrew Gospel of Munsterus his Edition is such for language, as it is improbable it should be written by Matthew, or any other skilful in the Hebrew Tongue, and Munsterus himself confesses he amended it in many places 2. The Greek Gospel of Matthew was received as Authentique in the purest primitive times. It is certain (saith that Learned s Rivet,) that even from the first times the Primitive Church used Matthews Gospel written in Greek, and accounted the Greek Text for Authentique. Athanasius in Synopſ. invita Matth. writes, The Greek Exposition was made by James the brother of the Lord according to the flesh. By John the Evangelist, saith Theophylact. By Luke and Paul, thinks Anastasius Serm. 8. in Genes. 3. The other Apostles originally wrote in the Greek Tongue, (as then most common) and that not onely promiscuously to all both Jewes and Gentiles, but peculiarly when they wrote to the Jewes. As Author of the Epistle to Hebrews, Peter, James. And their Apostolical function required then to write in the most known Tongue, as most to edifying. 4. Matthews stile plainly agrees with Marks, differs not much from John's; and though therein there be some Hebraismes, so there are in most Books of the New Testament. 5. Matthew interprets Hebrew names by Greek, therefore he wrote in Greek not in Hebrew; as for instance, t Immanuel, u Golgotha, x Eli, Eli, Lamasabachtani. 6. None can certainly tell who should be the Author of the Greek version, if Matthew wrote in Hebrew, it being translated into Greek by John the Evangelist, as some; By James, as others; By Luke and Paul, as others; By Mark, as others are of opinion. Some y think that he wrote not in pure Hebrew, but in Syriack, being the Dialect then most commonly used; and this opinion tends to destroy the credit and authority of Matthew's Gospel in Greek.

§. IV. Occasion and Scope.

Matthew, having preached the Gospel of Christ to the Hebrews, and being to depart from them to preach the Gospel to other people, upon this Occasion, (as z Euseb. Hist. Eccl. l. 3. c. 18. Nicephor. Hist. Eccl. l. 2. c. 45.

Scope, To evidence to all, but especially to the believing Hebrews, (with whom he had preached) that this Jesus Christ was the true Messiah, the true promised seed of a David and Abraham, in whom all the Nations of the world should be blessed.

This Gospel History by Matthew principally describes Christ's 1 Birth, 2 Life, 3 Death.

I. CHRISTS BIRTH, where are laid down 1 His Pedigree, 2 The Manner of his Birth, 3 His Education in Infancy.

CHAP. I. I. Christs Pedigree according to the flesh drawn down from David and Abraham of whom he descended. This Pedigree contains, 1. The Title or Inscription of it, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Genealogy it self, or the several Generations in it, ver 2. to 17. 3. The summary Recapitulation or Enumeration of those Generations, ver. 17.

CHAP. II. II. The manner of Christs Birth, described I. By the Antecedents, viz. 1 His Conception by the Holy Ghost during his Mothers Espousals, ver. 18. 2. Hereupon Joseph minding to put her away privily, suspecting her for fornication, ver. 19. 3. An Angel's satisfying of Joseph in a dream, about Maries conception, that he might take her to wife, promising Christs Birth, forenaming him Jesus, and interpreting that Name, ver. 20, 21. 4. The end of all this, that Scripture-Prophecies might be fulfilled, ver. 22, 23. 5. Josephs obedience in taking his Wife, and his continency till Christ's Birth, ver. 24, 25. II. By the Concomitants or Circumstances, accompanying Christs Birth, viz. 1. Place where Christ was born, in Bethlehem. 2. Time when, in Herods days, Ch. II. ver. 1. III. By the Consequents following his Birth, viz. 1. The wise-mens coming from the East to Jerusalem, to worship Christ, having seen his Starre, ver. 1, 2. 2. The trouble of Herod and Jerusalem hereupon, ver. 3. 3. Herods finding out by consulting with the chief Priests and Scribes, that Christ should be born in Bethlehem, ver. 4, 5, 6. 4. Herods sending the wise-men to Bethlehem, to find out Christ, (pretending himself to worship him) who were conducted to Christ by the Starre, ver. 7. to 11. 5. The wise-men's worshipping Christ, and giving presents to him, ver. 11. 6. The wise-men's departing into their own Country, (being warned of God,) not returning to Herod, ver. 12.

III. Christs Education in his Infancy, 1. In Egypt, till Herods death, whither his Parents fled with him at Gods appointment, for fear of King Herod, that so the Scripture might be fulfilled, ver. 13, 14, 15. This is amplified by Herods slaying all the Children in Bethlehem, and thereabouts, from two years old and under, that so he might murther Christ, ver. 16. 17, 18. 2. In Nazareth ver 19. to the end.

II. CHRISTS LIFE, viz not his Private but his Publique life; which is principally described by his publick Ministry, or Prophetick Office; Touching Christs Prophetick Office, note 1. The Preparation to it. 2. The Execution of it.

CHAP. III. I. The preparation to Christs Prophetick Office, whereby 1. The people are prepared to be Christs hearers, viz. By the Ministry of John Baptist, (as Christs Harbinger) described 1. By the time and place of his Ministry, Ch. III. ver. 1. 2. By the substance of his Doctrine, ver. 2. Amplified by the Prophets testimony thereof, ver. 3. 3. By his food and rayment, ver. 4. 4. By the effect of his Ministry upon them of Jerusalem and Judaa, whom he baptized, instructing the Scribes and Pharisees unto repentance; to whom he commends Jesus Christ, as far surpassing himself both Person and Office, ver. 5. to 13. II. Christ himself is prepared for his publick Ministry, 1. By being baptized of John B. ver. 13, 14, 15, 16. 2. By the Spirits resting upon him in form of a Dove, ver. 16. 3. By his Fathers Testimony of him from Heaven, ver 17. 4. By his temptation, the Devil tempting him, in the wilderness, to distrust Providence; On the pinacle of the Temple, to murder himself; On the Mountain to worship the Devil in Person; in all which Christ foiled the Devil, obtaining a signal victory, Ch. IV. 1. to 12

CHAP. IV. II. The execution of his Prophetick Office. Here are declared

I. His beginning of his publick Ministry in Galilee, where consider 1 When he preached there, ver. 12, 13. 2 Why, viz. That the Prophecy might be fulfilled, ver. 14, 15, 16. 3. What was his doctrine, v. 17. 4. How there he called Peter and Andrew James and John, v. 18 to 23. 5. How he confirmed his Doctrine with miracles, v. 23, 24. 6. How people resorted to him, v. 25.

II. His Sermon on the Mount, where consider 1. The Occasion. 2. The Substance. 3. The Effect of it.

1. The Occasion, Ch. V. ver. 1.

2. The Substance of the Sermon it self, wherein Christ I. Comforts all the godly, and particularly his new called Disciples, against all the miseries and persecutions in this life with blessedness promised them both in this and the life to come, ver. 2. to 13. II. Exhorts his Disciples by Arguments set out in divers similitudes, to preach pure Doctrine and live holy lives, ver. 13. to 17.

III. Declares

III. Declares 1. The immutability of the Law, which the Gospel destroyes not, but establisheth, ver. 17, 18, 19. 2. The true sense and meaning of the Law, that it requires not only external and corporal observance in the outward man, (as the Scribes and Pharisees corruptly taught,) but also and especially the internal and spiritual obedience of the heart. And this is done, Partly More generally, ver. 20. Partly More specially, in expounding some particular Laws, viz. 1 The sixth Commandment touching murther, ver. 21. to 27. 2 The seventh Commandment touching Adultery, ver. 27. to 33. 3 The third Commandment touching swearing, ver. 33. to 38. 4 The Law of Retaliation, ver. 38 to 43. 5. The Law of loving our Neighbour, ver. 43. to the end of the chapter. IV. Warns against the hypocritical Pharisees corruptions in divers Religious duties, directing withal how they ought to be managed, viz. Almes, Prayer and Fasting. 1. Almes to be given not with publick ostentation, but secretly, Ch. VI. 1. to 5. 2. Prayer to be made, not with open Ostentation, but private Devotion; not with vain repetitions, but according to the b Lords own Directory or Pattern of Prayer, ver. 5. to 16. 3. Fasting to be performed, not with hypocritical shews, but with sincerity, ver. 16, 17, 18. V. Directs his hearers and us in them, 1. How to lay up treasures not in Earth, but in Heaven, ver. 19, 20, 21. 2. How to guide themselves and actions by the c eye of the mind, enlightned, not darkned, ver. 22, 23. 3 To avoid covetous asking for food and rayment, (disswaded by many Arguments) and primarily to seek Gods Kingdome, and his Righteousnes Jesus Christ, ver. 24. to the end of the chapter. 4 To avoid censorious perverse hypocritical reproofs, Ch. VII. 1. to 6. 5 To forbear propounding holy things and Pearls to Contemners and Persecutors, ver. 6. 6. To ask necessary good things of God, ver. 7 to 12. 7. To observe that general golden Rule of Justice, To do to others, as we would they should do to us, ver. 12. 7. To enter the strait Gate of life with few, rather then the wide gate of destruction with many, ver. 13, 14. 8. To avoid false Prophets, though in sheep-skins, and to detect them by their fruits, ver. 15. to 21. 9. To adde true piety to a Christian Profession, ver. 21, 22, 23. 10. Finally, To do, as well as hear his words, ver. 24. to 28.

3. The effect of his Sermon, viz. The peoples astonishment and the Raeson thereof, ver. 28, 29.

III. His confirmation of his Doctrine by Miracles, viz. 1. Cleansing a Leper with his touch, Ch. VIII. 1. to 5. 2 Curing the Centurions servant of the Palsie, by his word, ver. 5. to 14. 3. Healing Peters mother in law of a Fever, by touching her hand, ver. 14. to 18. 4. (Having rejected a Scribe that would have followed him, ver. 18, 19, 20. And commanding a Disciple presently to follow him, that made some delay, ver. 21, 22. as he was going to ship) He calmed the winds and waves with his word, ver. 23. to 28. 5. Casting Devils out of two men possessed in the country of the Gergesens, permitting the devils to go into an herd of swine, ver. 28 to the end of the chapter. 6. Healing a Palsie man with his word, that he presently carried his bed, Ch. IX. 1. to 9. [Here among his miracles are inserted 1 His calling of Matthew ver. 9 to 14. 2 His excusing of his Disciples, for not fasting as Johns Disciples did, they being but as old garments and old bottles, too weak for such austere employments, ver. 14. to 18.] 7. Staunching the womans issue of blood upon her touching the hemme of his garment. 8. Raising to life the Rulers daughter, ver. 18. to 27. 9. Restoring to two blind men their sight by his word, ver. 27. to 32. 10. Casting out a dumb Devil, ver. 32, 33, 34. This Paragraph is closed up with a general condemnation of Christs Doctrine taught, and miracles wrought round about, ver. 35.

IV. His sending his 12 disciples to preach to the house of Israel. Here are described, 1. The Occasion of it, viz. The greatness of the harvest, and fewness of the labourers, v. 36, 37, 38. 2. The power of miracles wherewith they were furnished, Ch. X. 1. 3. The names of the 12 Apostles, v. 2. to 5. 4. Christs instructions to them for the right managing of their office, v. 5. to 16. 5. The consolations wherewith he arms them against all troubles and persecutions, v. 16. to 40. 6. Christs Promises to such as receive them, ver. 40, 41, 42.

V. His preaching and acts in their Cities after he had sent forth his twelve Apostles into Judea, Ch. XI. ver. 1. Many particulars whereof are mentioned, viz.

1. He answers John Baptists Disciples question about himself, ver. 2. to 7.

2. He preacheth to the Multitudes, (as Johns Disciples departed) 1 Commending John Baptist and declaring him to be Elias that was to come, ver. 7. to 16. 2. Complaining of the Peoples perverseness against both John Baptist and himself, verse 16. to 20. 3. Upbraiding Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum for their impenitency, ver. 20. to 25. 4. Comforting himself and his faithful Disciples against the scandal of so great blindness, ver. 25, 26, 27. 5. And sweetly inviting all labouring and heavy laden sinners to come to him, take his yoke and imitate him, with promise of Soul's rest, ver. 28, 29, 30.

3. He vindicates his Apostles act of plucking the ears of Corne and eating them on the Sabbath, against the Pharisees; proving it lawful, 1. By Scripture-examples, Ch. XII. 1. to 6. 2. By reason, ver. 6, 7, 8. 3. By miraculous restoring of a mans withered hand on the Sabbath-day, ver. 9. to 14. This is amplified, 1 By the Pharisees consultation hereupon to destroy him, ver. 14. 2 By Christs withdrawing thence, and charging them that he healed to conceal him, that so the Prophecy might be fulfilled, ver. 15 to 22.

4. He heals one possessed with a devil blinde and dumb, ver. 22. Consequents whereupon were, I. The Peoples amazement, ver. 23. II. The Pharisees blasphemy, saying, that he cast out devils through Beelzebub, ver. 24. Whereupon Christ 1 Confutes their calumny, ver. 25. to 31. 2 Pronounces the unpardonableness of that their Blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, ver. 31, 32. 3 Declares that evil hearts are the fountain of evil words, which shall at last judge men, ver. 33. to 38.

How oft we ſhould forgive an offending brother, *ver.*21,22. further clearing this by the Parable of a King, who had forgiven his ſervant ten thouſand Talents, but after puniſhed him for his not remitting to his fellow-ſervant his one hundred pence, ſhowing we ſhould pity and pardon one another much, ſeeing God pities and pardons us farre more. *ver.*23 to the end of the chap.

III. CHRISTS DEATH is ſet forth, 1. By the Antecedents, 2. The Manner, 3. The Conſequents of it.

I. The Antecedents, or things going before his death, were 1. In his journey from Galilee to Jeruſalem, 2. At Jeruſalem.

I. In his journey from Galilee to Jeruſalem, through Judea, where CHAP. XIX 1. He heals the diſeaſed, *Ch.XIX.*1,2.

2. He anſwers the Phariſees touching the caſe of Divorce, *ver.*3 to 10. And withal inſtructeth his Diſciples what Perſons have need of marriage, *ver.*10,11,12.

3. He puts his hands upon little children, as belonging to the Kingdome of Heaven, ver. 13. 14, 15.

4. He teacheth the young man how to attain to eternal life, who upon his Doctrine departed from him very ſorrowful, *ver.*16. to 23. whereupon 1. He declares how hard it is for a rich man to be ſaved saved, ver. 23. to 27. 2. He promiseth to the Apostles and others great rewards, for forsaking these worldly things for him, ver 27 to the end.

5. Under the Parable of an Housholder, hiring Labourers at several houres for his Vineyard, &c. he showeth that all ought to be Labourers, and that God most freely both calleth and rewardeth, Chap. XX. 1. to 17. CHAP. XX.

6. He the third time forewarnes his Disciples of his death at Jerusalem, ver. 17. to 20.

7. He teacheth his Disciples humbly to serve one another, and not to strive for Superiority, ver. 20. to 29.

8. He recovers sight to two blind-men, by the high-way, ver. 29. to the end.

9. He rideth to Jerusalem on an Asse, with great acclamations of the People, all Jerusalem being moved at his coming. Chap. XXI. 1. to 12. CHAP. XXI.

II. At Jerusalem, where

1 He drives the Buyers and Sellers out of the Temple, ver. 12, 13.

2. He heals the diseased, that came to him in the Temple. ver. 14.

3. He justifies the children crying Hosannah against the Priests and Scribes, ver. 15, 16. These things done, he went to lodge in Bethany, and returning in the morning, he curseth the fruitlesse fig-tree by the way, ver. 17. to 23.

4. He teacheth in the Temple, and being asked by the chief Priests and Elders, by what Authority, He replies, 1. By propounding to them another question touching Johns Baptisme, ver. 23. to 28. 2. By shewing them under the Parable of the two sons commanded to work, in the vineyard, that the Publicans and Harlots go into the Kingdome of God before them, though they made greater Profession, ver. 28. to 33. 3. By threatning them with the losse of the Gospel, (which should be given to the Gentiles,) under the Parable of an Housholder, who let out his Vineyard to Husbandmen, who rendred not the fruits thereof, but abused the servants, and slew his Son, ver. 33. to the end. 4. By foretelling (under the Parable of the marriage of the Kings son, whereunto the ghests refused to come, &c.) the rejection of the Jews, and calling of the Gentiles, and the punishment of him that wanted the wedding garment, Chap. XXII. ver. 1. to 15. CHAP. XXII.

These Answers of Christ are further amplified by the consequents hereupon, viz. I. His Adversaries attempts to entangle him in his talk, all which he shunneth, As 1 The Pharisees Disciples and the Herodians, about the lawfulnesse of giving tribute to Cæsar, ver 15. to 23. 2 The Saddnces about the doctrine of the Resurrection, ver. 23. to 34. 3 The Pharisees about the great Commandment in the Law, ver. 34 to 41. II. Jesus himself, 1. Propounds a question to the Pharisees, touching Christ, how he could be Davids son, and yet David call him LORD, which they could not answer, ver. 41. to the end. 2 Preacheth against the Scribes and Pharisees a severe Sermon in the audience of his Disciples and the multitude, wherein 1. He directs the People and his Disciples to follow the Scribes and Pharisees good doctrine, but to fly their bad conversation, and this he urgeth by divers Arguments, Chap. XXIII. ver. 1. to 13. 2. He denounceth eight woes against them for their hypocrisie and corruptions, ver. 13. to 34. 3. He prophecieth Jerusalems destruction, for her contempt of Christ and his Gospel, and persecuting the Preachers thereof, ver. 34. to the end. CHAP. XXIII.

5 He preacheth his Prophetical Sermons privately to his Disciples, not many dayes before the Passeover, when he was betrayed, viz. 1. As they were before the Temple, he Prophecieth, the Temples destruction. Chap. XXIV. 1, 2. 2. As they were on the Mount of Olives, he Prophecieth I. Of the grievous calamities which should befall the Jewes, before the Temple's and Cities destruction, v. 3. to 15 and of the wofulnesse of that destruction, v. 15. to 20. II. Of the coming of Christ to Judgment, setting forth 1. The manner of his coming, v. 29. to 32 2. The certainty of his coming, and of the former judgments upon Jerusalem, v. 32. to 36. 3. The time of his coming which is wholly unknown to men or Angels, but it shall be when men are involved in deepest security, v. 36. to 40. 4. The event of his coming, accepting some, rejecting others, v. 40, 41. 5. The duty of watchfulnesse and preparation incumbent on all by reason of this uncertainty of Christs coming; urged by divers Arguments, v. 42. to the end. This watchfulness is urged and explained in two Parables, viz. 1. Of ten Virgins, taking their Lamps to meet the Bridegroom, whereof five were not furnished with oyle when the Bridegroom came at midnight, and so were shut out: So when Christ shall come to be eternally married to his Church in a time unexpected, all that are not furnished with grace shall be excluded, Ch. XXV. 1. to 14. 2. Of a man travelling to a farre Country, and delivering several Talents to his servants to improve against his returne, who at his coming rewarded the diligent, punished the negligent: So Christ gives gifts or Talents to all his servants that professe him, expecting they should improve them, who at his coming will reward the faithful improvers plentifully, but punish the non-improvers severely, ver. 14. to 31. 6. The Proceedings of Christ in the last and universal judgment, where are pathetically described, 1 The Judge, Christ, ver. 31. 2 The Parties to be judged; All Nations, ver. 32. 3 The manner of his Proceeding, in severing Sheep from Goats, and pronouncing of sentence, ver. 32. to 46. 4. The event or execution of his sentence, ver. 46. CHAP. XXV.

II. The Manner of Christs death, is described 1 By the more immediate Harbingers or Preparatories to it. 2. By the judicial Progresse about it. 3. By the consummation of it. And in these Christ exerciseth his Priestly Office.

I. The more immediate Harbingers of Christs death, were

1. His own Prediction of his death near at hand, Ch. XXVI. 1, 2.

2. The Conspiracy of the chief Priests, Scribes and Elders against his life, ver. 3, 4, 5. CH. XXVI.

3. The womans pouring an alabaster box of very precious ointment on his head, anointing him for his burial, ver. 6. to 14.

4. Judas his covenanting with the chief Priests for thirty pieces, to betray him, *ver.*14,15,16.

5. Christ eating his last Passeover with his twelve Apostles, *ver.*17. to 21. At which 1. He intimateth that one of them should betray him; and which of them, *ver.*21 to 26. 2. He instituteth the Lords Supper *ver.*26. to 30. 3. They conclude the whole solemnity with singing an Hymne, *ver.*30.

6. His warning of his Disciples, how they all that night should be offended because of him, and how Peter should thrice deny him, *ver.*30. to 36.

7. His Prayer and Agony in the garden of Gethsemane, *ver.*36. to 47.

8. Judas his betraying of him in the garden with a kisse, *ver.*47. to 57.

II. The Judicial Progresse about Christs Death, both in their Ecclesiastical and Civil Consistory.

CHAP.XXVII.

1. In their Ecclesiastical Court, at Caiaphas the High-Priests Palace, where consider 1. The many injuries he suffered, *ver.*57. to 69. 2. Peters threefold denial of him, for which he wept bitterly, *ver.*69. to the end. 3. The chief Priests and Elders delivering of him bound to Pilate, *Chap.XXVII.*1,2. These proceedings are amplyfied by the dreadful event they had upon Judas that betraved Christ, who troubled in Conscience, brought again the 30 Pieces, confesses his sinne, casts down the pieces of silver, and hangs himself; with which Pieces the Potters field was bought to bury strangers in, *ver.*3. to 11.

MATTHEW,

VIZ.

The LORD's Prayer.

MAT. VI. ver. 9 to 14.

PRayer is an [d] offering up of our [e] desires to God in the Name [f] of Christ, [g] according to his will, for blessings upon our selves or [h] others with [i] Confession of sins, and [k] thankful acknowledgment of his mercies.

All these are in this Prayer of Prayers, usually called The LORDS Prayer; because the Lord Christ himself immediately framed it, and taught it to his Disciples, Partly as a Rule of Prayer, according to which all their Prayers were to be made, and the errours of their Prayers corrected, [l] After this manner pray yee. Partly as a Forme of Prayer, which they might use in praying. [m] When you pray, say, &c.

Principal Parts in this Prayer, are 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance of the Prayer. 3. The Conclusion.

The Preface, describing God to whom we pray, 1. By his dear relation to us, Our Father, therefore most [n] willing to succour us or others, with or for whom we pray. 2. By his greatness and Majesty in himself. Which art in Heaven. Therefore most [o] able to hear and help all his Children: and most justly to be [p] reverenced by them.

The Substance of the Prayer, which is 1. Petitory. 2. Gratulatory.

I. Petitory, containing six Petitions, wherein we ask things concerning 1. God, 2. Our selves. In Prayer we are to minde and seek the things of God, before, and more then our own.

1. Concerning God, we petition three things,

1. That his Name, [i.e. [q] All that whereby God makes himself known to his creatures, as men are known by their names] may be hallowed, [i.e. 1. That he will over-power and order all things for his own [r] glory. 2. That he would enable us and all his children to [s] glorifie him in all things.] Hallowed be thy Name.

2. That his Kingdome may come, [i.e. 1. That his [t] Kingdome of Power may be manifested in the destruction of Satan, and all Gods enemies. 2. That his [u] Kingdome of Grace may be advanced, both in our selves and in all belonging to the Election of grace. 3. That the [x] Kingdome of Glory may be hastned, that the Elects happinesse may be [y] full, Christ may [z] resign up the Kingdom to the Father, and God may be all in all. Thy Kingdome come.

3. That his will may be done in earth as it is in heaven, [i.e. That we, and all the Saints on earth, may 1 Purely, 2 Cheerfully, 3 Speedily, 4 Universally, 5 Constantly; Keep, Do and Submit to his [a] will, as [b] Angels and glorified Saints do in heaven.] Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

II. Concerning our selves, we petition also three things, viz.

1. That all temporal blessings may be bestowed upon us, ours, and his. Give us this day our daily bread [Herein 1. We acknowledge God the [c] Author and disposer of all these things. 2. We desire them of him as a meere [d] gift of his grace: [Give us.] 3. We beg only [e] competent necessaries: [daily bread:] not superfluities 4. We pray only for [f] present necessaries, [this day,] and that we may not sinfully care for future Provisions, because we pray for them only for the present day, and that every day.]

2. That all our sins may be pardoned, And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors.

Here 1. we confeſs, 1. That we g have ſins; 2. That thoſe ſins are h debts, to which without Chriſts ſatisfaction, Gods eternal judgement is due 3. That our ſelves cannot i ſatisfie for them. II. We pray, that in Chriſt theſe debts may be k pardoned, Freely, Fully, Daily. And we had need to pray daily for pardon, for we ſin l dayly: our m faith is but weak, and our n aſſurance of Pardon but imperfect. III. We profeſs we ought, and do forgive our debtors freely, fully and daily, their o wrongs, or injuries to us, (though not alwayes the p damage,) whence we confirme our q hope that God doth and will forgive us.

Mark.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK. So denominated from Mark the Penman of it.

MARK. Some derive from the Hebr. מרק Marak, i. e. He hath poliſhed, &c. As Hebrews. Others a rather take it to be a Latine name, (made Denizon in the Greek tongue,) and derived from the moneth of March, becauſe Mark was born in that moneth, it being uſual ſo to denominate men that were born in March. He was alſo called b John, viz. John Mark.

a Probus.

b Acts 12. 12, and 15. 37.

His

His father ſeems not to be mentioned in Scripture. His mother was that c Mary, in whoſe houſe they were praying for Peter, when Peter (brought out of Priſon by the Angel) came and knockt at the door. He was d Couſin to Barnabas; his Siſters ſon. Though he was not an Apoſtle, yet he was (as e Tertullian ſaith) an Apoſtolical man. Some f think he was one of the ſeventy diſciples; if ſo, he both heard and ſaw Chriſt. However, he was a great lover of the Apoſtles, the g follower of Paul and Barnabas; and h they had him to their Miniſter; afterwards when there aroſe a ſharp controverſie betwixt Paul and Barnabas about Mark, (who was with them at that famous Synod at Jeruſalem:) Paul and Barnabas departed aſunder, and i Barnabas took Mark along with him to Cyprus. Paul ſaith elſewhere of him, k Take Mark and bring him with thee, for he is profitable to me for the Miniſtry. And he was with Paul, when he was in priſon at Rome, under Nero; for he ſends his Salutation to l Philemon. As alſo to the Church at Coloſſe, ſaying, m Ariſtarchus my fellow-priſoner ſalluteth you, and Marcus Siſters ſon to Barnabas, (touching whom ye received Commandments, if he come unto you receive him.)

And after this (if there were not two Marks, which ſome n think there was,) Mark lived with Peter, who calls him o Marcus my ſon, either becauſe Mark was converted by Peters Miniſtry, or rather becauſe he was Peters companion and co-adjutor in the Goſpel, as an Evangeliſt, (an extraordinary Officer; ſome p being Apoſtles, ſome Prophets, ſome Evangeliſts; which Evangeliſts were employed by the Apoſtles to perfect and confirm the Churches which the Apoſtles had planted,) whom Peter made uſe of in the places where he had firſt planted the Goſpel, for the farther confirming and perfecting of the Saints. Irenæus ſaith thus of him, q Mark the diſciple and Interpreter of Peter, writing thoſe things which were preached of Peter, delivered them to us. Whereupon Euſebius r intimates, that Mark had his Goſpel from Peter, whoſe it is reported to be. Probably Peter might dictate this Goſpel to Mark as a ſummary Abridgement of that doctrine which he was to preach to thoſe Churches, whither Peter ſent him. He is ſaid firſt s to go into Egypt, and to have preached there the Goſpel which he had written; and to the Churches of Alexandria, and that ſuch a multitude of men and women, embracing the faith at his firſt coming, was won by his grave, holy, and ſevere example of living; That Philo himſelf thought it worth his labour to deſcribe in his writing, their ſtudies, exerciſes, manners, frequent meetings, the common way of maintenance among them, and all the manner of their living. To like purpoſe alſo Hierom, t Mark taking the Goſpel which he had writ, he went into Egypt, and firſt preaching Chriſt to Alexandria, he conſtituted a Church; He was ſuch for doctrine and continency of life, that he compelled all the followers of Chriſt to imitate him. And Philo the skilfulleſt of the Iews, ſeeing the firſt Church of Alexandria, yet Judaizing, as it were, in praiſe of his Nation, wrote a Book of their converſation. And as Luke ſaith, Believers at Jeruſalem had all things common. So he commemorates what he ſaw done at Alexandria, under Mark the Teacher there. The ſame Hierom alſo elſewhere thus deſcribes and commends him, u Mark the Evangeliſt of God, the diſciple of Peter, A Levite and Prieſt by ſtock wrote this Goſpel in Italy; who taking the beginning of his Goſpel from the words of the Prophets, proving John, Chriſts Forerunner by the Teſtimony of Malachi, i. e. The Angel, ſignifying the Word was made fleſh, from the Word of Iſaiah, he begins his Goſpel preaching; and findes in the VVord of the Voice what in Conſonants, that is, the Genealogies of God and man he had loſt. VVhence wholly he begins to preach at firſt from the Perfection of Christs Age: nor labours he about the Birth of the Infant, who speaks of the Perfection of the Son of God. But mentioning the Fast of the legal number, the Repulse of the Devil, the ministery of Angels, he comprehends much in a little: who was the first Bishop of Alexandria, whose work it was to know and dispose all the sayings of the Gospel in it self, and to know the discipline of the Law in it self, and to understand the Divine Nature in the flesh of the Lord. Who sowes after Matthew, who roares as a Lion, who soares as an Eagle, who learns as a man, who sacrificeth as a Priest, who waters as a River, who flourisheth as a field, who is hot as wine: for Christ of whom he speaks, was a man in being borne, a Calfe in dying, a Lyon in rising again, an Eagle in ascending. This Mark (as he [x] testifyeth,) died in the eighth year of Nero, and was buried at Alexandria, Ananius succeeding him. [y] Nicephorus saith, Mark at last returned to Alexandria, where he dwelt with certain brethren, freely preaching Christ. But there the idol-worshippers suddenly make force against him, binde his feet with ropes, and so in cruel manner drag him through the City. His body therefore being dashed against the stones, was exceedingly cut, and thence blood flowed out abundantly. That done, they shut the holy man in prison. There the Lord appeareth to him, declaring to him the future glory. But forthwith plucking him out of Prison, they draw him through the streets most barbarously. And being dragged in this sort, he at last commends his spirit unto God. Master Foxe reports thus of him, Mark the Evangelist, and first Bishop of Alexandria, preached the Gospel in Egypt, and there drawn with ropes unto the fire was burned, and afterwards buried in a place called there Bucolus under the reign of Trajanus the Emperour. But the time, place, and manner of his death, we must be content to leave in some uncertainty, the infallible Scripture being silent herein.

§. II. Time when, and Language wherein Mark wrote his Gospel.

As for the Time when Mark wrote his Gospel, (as hath [z] formerly been mentioned,) it was about two years after Matthew had written his, as Writers do conceive, though it be hard positively to determine herein.

Touching the Language wherein he wrote. Some of the Papists, (as [a] Baronius) think, That Mark wrote not his Gospel in Greek but in Latine, and that the Original Copy is reserved at Venice, among the Reliques of Saint Mark.

Answ. But as [b] Gerhard hath well observed, 1. The same Arguments whereby it was [c] formerly proved that Matthew wrote not his Gospel in Hebrew, may convince that Mark wrote not his Gospel in Latin. 2. Baronius proves not this opinion by any Author of sufficient credit. Damasus, whom he citeth, hath many things fabulous in him. 3. The Copy pretended to be reserved at Venice, we leave among their Romish Reliques, wherewith they delude the simple. 4. Bellarmine [d] himself (who thinks that Mark wrote his Gospel in Latine at Rome, yet) ingenuously confesseth, That it was turned into Greek by Mark himself — and at last concludes, Therefore the whole Greek Edition of the New Testament have the Apostles or Evangelists Authors therof. Let us therfore with the whole stream of ancient and modern Orthodox Authors, eminent for Piety, Learning and Fidelity, receive and account only the Greek Gospel of Mark Authentick; especially when adversaries themselves so far subscribe thereunto.

§. III. Occasion, and Scope.

The request of some brethren at Rome, is thought to be the Occasion of Marks writing this Gospel. Hierome thus declares it; [e] Mark the disciple and Interpreter of Peter, being intreated of the Brethren at Rome, according to what he had heard Peter relate, he wrote a short Gospel, which when Peter had heard he approved, and by his Authority published it to the Church to be read. As Clement writes, lib. 6. Hypotyposeon. The same for substance also is reported by divers [f] Ancient Writers.

Scope

Scope, (As of Matthew,) To evidence That Jesus is the Christ, the Promised Messiah: And to describe this Jesus Christ both in his life and death, in whom alone sinners are to believe for Salvation. Now as Matthew before had done this more copiously, So Mark here doth it more compendiously; noting also the series and order of the History; and yet in some things as in Christs Apparition after his Resurrection, &c. Mark is more full then Matthew.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In Mark's Gospel, An Historical narration of Christs life (Chap. 1. to Chap. 10.) and Death (Chap. 10. 1. to the end) is orderly and compendiously laid down; and therein how he discharged his Prophetical, Priestly, and Kingly Office.

CHRISTS LIFE (viz. his Publick, not his Private life) is described, Partly by the Preparation to; Partly by the Execution of his publick Ministry. I.

I. Preparation to his Publick Ministry, contains, I. The Preparation of hearers for Christ by the Ministry of John Baptist his Harbinger and forerunner, which is set forth. 1. By Title or Preface to it, and the whole History, The begining of the Gospel of Jesus Christ the Son of God, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2 By the Prophetical Prediction of it, ver. 2, 3. 3. By his Execution of it, ver. 4, 5. 4. By his singular habit and diet, ver. 6. 5. By his singular testimony to Christ, ver. 7, 8. CHAP. I.

II. The Preparation of Christ himself for Preaching to his hearers, which was done. 1. By his Baptisme of John, ver. 9. 2. By the Fathers sending the spirit, and giving Testimony to him, whereby he was both qualified, and approved for his Office, ver. 10, 11. 3. By the Spirit's driving him into the Wildernes to be tempted of Satan, that he might vanquish him by the Word, ver. 12, 13. II. Execution of Christs publick Ministry in his Oracles he preached, Acts and Miracles he wrought, is declared and described, as 1. Before his Ordination of his twelve Apostles. 2. From their Ordination till their sub-Mission, or sending forth. 3. At, and after their Mission.

1. Before Christs Ordination of his twelve Apostles, we have divers particulars of Christs publick Ministry; as his, 1. Preaching in Galilee, ver. 14, 15. 2. Calling Simon and Andrew, James and John, ver. 16. to 21. 3. Teaching in the Synagogue at Capernaum on the Sabbath day, ver. 21 22. 4. CHAP. XVI.

Luke.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THE Goſpel according to Luke] This Book is ſo denominated from Luke penman of it.

Luke, ſome [a] account an Hebrew name לוקם Lokam, which ſignifies To-him-the-Reſurrection, viz. To him the Reſurrection of Chriſt was made known, perhaps from the opinion of [b] Theophilact; who thinks Luke was one of the ſeventy Diſciples, and that Chriſt after his Reſurrection firſt appeared to Luke and Cleophas. But this is leſs probable, 1. Becauſe Luke himſelf intimates that he wrote this Hiſtory of Chriſt according as things were delivered by them [c] which from the beginning were eye-witneſſes and Miniſters of the Word, &c. 2. Becauſe Chriſt [d] firſt appeared to Mary Magdalene after his Reſurrection; afterwards to the two Diſciples. And Ambroſe ſaith it was one Ammaon, that was with Cleophas, but that is [e] uncertain. Hierome taking Luke for an Hebrew name, interprets it, [f] Upriſing; Becauſe Luke riſing up, is daily increaſed, and makes Progreſs, whileſt the world is filled with his Goſpel: and he as often encreaſeth, as being heard and read he edifyeth. But others take Luke or Lucas to be originally a Latine name, the ſame with Lucius; both derived (à Luce Oriente, i. e.) from the riſing light, or morning light. Theſe names being uſually impoſed on them, that were born in the morning about Sun-riſing; but enough of this name.

Who Luke was, is more conſiderable. For his Country he is [g] thought to be of Antioch in Syria, both by Hierome, Euſebius and others. For his Parents, probably they were honeſt and prudent, Luke being ſo brought up by them in literature. For his particular calling, he was a Phyſitian. [h] Luke the beloved Phyſitian, of whom [i] Hierome elegantly; Luke the Phyſitian, who (leaving his Goſpel and the Acts of the Apoſtles to the Churches,) as the Apoſtles of Fiſhers of Fiſhes, were made Fiſhers of men of a Phyſitian of bodies turned Phyſitian of ſouls, Of whom alſo in another place I have ſent with him the brother, whoſe praiſe is in the Goſpel throughout all the Churches; whoſe Book ſo often as it is read in the Churches, ſo often his Phyſick is continued and imparted to them. As Paul followed his Tent-making, ſo Luke followed his imployment of Phyſick, even after admiſſion to the publick miniſtry that the Churches might not be burdened, nor any advantage taken againſt their Miniſtry by falſe Apoſtles and Seducers. By [k] Nicephorus, he is ſuppoſed to be alſo an excellent Painter or Limner, and that he drew in colours the Pictures of Chriſt, Mary, Peter, Paul, and other Diſciples. But more antient Hiſtories ſpeak nothing hereof; and perhaps the [l] Art of Painting is aſcribed to him, and the drawing of thoſe pictures, (as the Centuriators obſerve,) becauſe he doth ſo accurately and to the life deſcribe the Vir- gin Mary. and Jeſus Chriſt in his Birth, Life and Death in his Goſpel, as alſo the Apoſtles, eſpecially Peter and Paul in the Acts, as if they had been repreſented to our very eyes. Luke in all likelihood was a good Scholar, otherwiſe he could not have been a Phyſitian, which neceſſarily pre-requires ſome competent knowledge in Natural Philoſophy. That he was moſt skilful in the Greek Tongue, not onely [m] Hierome teſtifies, but alſo his very Language and Stile clearly evidenceth; whereupon ſaith [n] Cauſabon, It is known to the Learned, that Luke obſerved a more pure Heleniſme, then the reſt of the Evangeliſts.

For his ſpirituals; He is [o] thought to be converted by the Apoſtle Paul at Thebes, where he came to him, and was added to Chriſt; but whence Nicephorus had this information is uncertain. This is certain, [p] he was a faithful and conſtant companion of the Apoſtle Paul, who forſook him not, though in bonds at Rome, and that when others left him. He was moſt dear to Paul, who ſtiles him [q] Luke the beloved Phyſitian, and he elſewhere ranks him among his [r] Fellow-labourers in the Goſpel. Whereupon Irenæus ſaith, [s] Luke was an inſeparable Companion of Paul, and his Fellow-labourer in the Goſpel. And [t] ſome of the Antients think, that Luke is intended by that brother, whoſe praiſe is in the Goſpel, throughout all the Churches, 2 Cor. 8. 18. Though Chryſoſtome thinks it was Barnabas, to whom [u] Calvin ſubſcribes. Thus Tertullian ſpeaks of him [x] Luke, not an Apoſtle, but an Apoſtolical man; not the Maſter, but the Diſciple, leſs then the Maſter, certainly ſo much after, as he is the follower of Paul an after-Apoſtle. Thus Hierome deſcribes and commends him, [y] Luke the Phyſician of Antioch, as his writings declare, not ignorant of the Greek tongue, the follower of the Apoſtle Paul, and Companion of all his travel. He wrote the Goſpel, of which the ſame Paul ſaith; We have ſent with him the brother, whoſe Praiſe is in the Goſpel throughout all the Churches. And to the Coloſſians, Luke the beloved Phyſitian ſalutes you. And to Timothy; Onely, Luke is with me. He publiſhed alſo another excellent volume, entituled THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES, which Hiſtory comes even to Pauls two years abode at Rome, viz. To the fourth yeer of Nero, whence we underſtand that Book was compoſed in that City. —— Some ſuppoſe as oft as Paul ſaith in his Epiſtles, (according to my Goſpel,) he underſtands it of Lukes Volume; and that Luke learned not his Goſpel onely of the Apoſtle Paul, who was not with Chriſt in the fleſh, but alſo of the other Apoſtles, which in the beginning of his Book he Declares, ſaying, As they delivered unto us, who from the beginning were eye-witneſſes and Miniſters of the Word. Therefore he wrote the Goſpel as he heard, but Compoſed the Acts of the Apoſtles as he ſaw. He exerciſed his Miniſtry (as Pauls fellow-labourer,) in [z] all theſe places, where he travelled with Paul, both in his journey from [a] Philippi, a City of Macedonia to Jeruſalem, and in his travels from [b] Jeruſalem to Rome; in the former whereof Paul was at liberty, in the latter in bonds. After Pauls deceaſe, as [c] Epiphanius thinks, he preached the Goſpel, not onely in Macedonia and Italy, but alſo in Dalmatia and France. His death is variouſly reported, [d] Dorotheus thinks he died at Epheſus. Hierome ſaith, [e] He lived eighty foure years, having no Wife, was buried at Conſtantinople, to which City in the twentieth year of Conſtantius his bones with the Reliques of Andrew the Apoſtle, were tranſlated from Achaia. Nicephorus reports of him; [f] That having been before with Paul at Rome, he returned into Greece, illuminating many with the Light of divine Doctrine and Knowledge, and at laſt by the Contemners of Gods Word being hanged on a fruitful Olive-tree, becauſe they wanted dry wood to make a Gibbet of, he commended his ſpirit unto God, having lived, (as it ſaid,) eighty years; * where his body was among many other Monuments buried, is ſhewed by the Prayers of the faithfull. For God ſent down from Heaven wholeſome eye-ſalve upon his Monument, in token (I think) of his cure and healing; whence his Sepulchre was known of all the faithful. Hierome ſaith, That [g] Conſtantine tranſlated the Reliques of Andrew, Luke and Timothy to Conſtantinople, at which the Devils roare, &c. Thus even in thoſe times they began to deal ſuperſtitiouſly with the Saints dead bodies. But enough of the Deſcription of Luke the Penman.

§. II. Time when Luke wrote.

Luke penned two excellent Books, viz. The Hiſtory of Chriſt in the Goſpel; and the Hiſtory of the Primitive Church of Chriſt in the Acts of the Apoſtles. The Acts he penned probably as he was with Paul at Rome, in bonds, for that Hiſtory is brought down even till Pauls two yeares bondage at Rome. But the Goſpel he is thought to have penned before; viz. whileſt he accompanied Paul at liberty, travelling and preaching in Macedonia and Aſia. For in the [b] ſecond Epiſtle to the Corinthians, he makes mention (as [i] Claſſick Doctors think) of Lukes Goſpel. [k] Hierome ſaith, He wrote his Goſpel in the parts of Achaia and Bœotia. And [l] Pareus noteth out of Theophylact, (and ſaith it is the common opinion of Fathers and Hiſtorians,) That Matthew wrote in the ninth year after Chriſts Aſcenſion, Mark two years after, Luke in the fifteenth year, and John in the thirty ſecond year; which opinion in a thing ſo indifferent we may follow, till we can meet with ſomething more certain.

§. III. Occaſion, Scope and Excellency of the Hiſtory.

Occaſion of his writing, both his Goſpel and the Acts, [m] Some ſay was the appointment of Paul; thats doubtfull. Probably the requeſt of Theophilus (ſuppoſed to be ſome eminent Senator,) to whom he [n] directs both his Goſpel and the Acts. Though ſome take this name Theophilus for any godly man, Lover of God. Luke himſelf clearly ſets down one [o] occaſion, viz. The unſucceſsful attempts of many who wrote falſe Goſpels. Whereupon ſaith [p] Euſebius, Luke in the beginning of his Goſpel propounds the Cauſe, why he ſet upon the compiling of it: to wit, becauſe many others had imprudently and inconſiderately attempted a Declaration of thoſe things, of the truth whereof he had perfect knowledge: and as it were compelled thereunto by neceſſity, he withdrawes us from opinions which among others were doubtful and controverted: manifeſtly delivering in his Goſpel, a certain and ſure explanation of thoſe things the truth whereof he had abundantly underſtood, partly by his familiarity and cuſtome with Paul, partly by his frequent Conference with the reſt of the Apoſtles.

Scope of this Hiſtory, (beſides the general aim of all the Evangeliſts formerly intimated from John 20. 31.) take as followeth. Luke ſeems particularly to intend the ſupply of what others had omitted; and to record things [q] from the very firſt, and that methodically in order; that Theophilus might know the certainty of things wherein he had been inſtructed. Nor is it to be neglected, which ſome ſay, viz. [r] That Luke ſeems to have compiled this Evangelical Hiſtory for the uſe of the Gentile Churches, for whoſe uſe the Apoſtle, (viz. Paul whom he ſtill accompanied,) was eſpecially appointed: having to that end indited it in a ſtile, which retaineth the character and property of the pure Greek Tongue, more then the reſt of the Evangeliſts.

[r] Dod. Argument of Luke.

The Excellency of this Goſpel therefore (as is implyed in all the premiſes) is very remarkable. For 1. The Penman Luke was not onely very learned, but ſingularly pious, a great lover of Paul, whom he conſtantly accompanied not onely in his Proſperity, but in his greateſt adverſity, in bonds and priſon at Rome, till the laſt; and in the midſt of all the ſhowers of Perſecution that fell upon Paul, it is ſcarce probable but that ſome drops fell upon Luke his dear Aſſociate. 2. The Language of Luke is more compt, accurate and elegant, then of the reſt. Luke was an expert Grecian. 3. The Goſpel of Luke hath been moſt anciently received by the Church as Authentique, and indited by the holy Ghoſt; and never contradicted, yea hath bin had in ſingular eſtimation. 4. But eſpecially this Goſpel of Luke ſurpaſſeth, (as [ſ] Irenæus and §. IV. Principall parts.

In Lukes accurate Evangelical History, we are to consider, 1 The Preface, 2. The body of the History.

I. THE PREFACE to the whole History. 1 Describing the causes of Lukes writing, viz. 1 Impulsive, the false or unfaithful attempts of many, not acted by the Spirit of God in writing, whose errours were to be corrected by a true Narration. 2 Final, that Theophilus might know the certainty of things believed. II. Commending this ensuing History from 1 The truth of it, delivered by them that were eye-witnesses and ministers of the word. 2 The method of it; in Order. 3 The perfection of it, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, all this in Ch. I. ver. 1. to 5.

CHAP. I.

II. The BODY, or SUBSTANCE OF THE HISTORY it self, which principally contains a Narration of Christs, 1 Birth, 2 Life, and 3 Death.

CHRISTS BIRTH is described by the 1 Antecedents, 2 Manner, and 3 Consequents thereof.

I.

I. The Antecedents, or things going before Christs Birth, were 1 The conception of John Baptist; 2 The conception of Jesus Christ. 3 The Birth of John Baptist.

1. The conception of John Baptist Christs fore-runner, and first publick witness. Where note, 1 The time when this came to pass, in the dayes of Herod King of Judea, ver. 5. 2 His Parents of whom he descended, ver. 5, 6, 7. 3 The promise of John's Birth and Office, by an Angel appearing to Zacharias in the Temple, as he was in his Order executing the Priests Office, and burning incense, which promise was confirmed by a sign, viz Zacharias his dumbness, ver. 8. to 24. 4. The conception of it self, ver. 24, 25.

2. The Conception of JESUS CHRIST himself. Where are described, The Antecedents, The Conception it self, and the consequent events. I. The Antecedents, contained in the Angels promise of his conception, viz. 1 Time when, in the sixth moneth after John Baptists conception, ver. 26. 2 Place where, in Nazareth a Citie of Galilee, ver. 26. 3 The Messenger revealing these tidings from God, the Angel Gabriel, ver. 26. 4. The Person to whom he was sent, to the Virgin Mary, ver. 27. 5. The conference betwixt the Angel and the Virgin Mary, containing the Angels, 1 Salutation of her, ver. 28, 29. 2 Promise of conception to her, foretelling the Name and Office of her Son that shall be conceived, ver. 30. to 34. 3. Instruction of her about the possibility of her Conception, ver. 34. to 38. II. The miraculous conception it self, as Mary assented to the promise, ver. 38. III. The consequent thereupon, viz. Mary's going speedily to visit her cosen Elizabeth mother of John Baptist, which is described 1 by Maries coming to Elizabeth and saluting her, ver. 39, to 40. 2 By the effects of Maries presence and salutation upon Elizabeth, viz. 1 Her babes leaping in her womb, 2 Her own Prophecying, wherein she congratulates Maries happiness, and confirms her faith in the Angels promises, ver. 41. to 46. 3 By Maries heavenly exultation and joyful thanksgiving to God for his great mercies to her self, to Elizabeth, and to Israel, ver. 46, to 56. 4 By the time of Maries abode with Elizabeth, ver. 56.

3. The birth of John Baptist is described, 1 By the time thereof, viz. at Elizabeths full time, v. 57. 2 By her friends congratulation at Gods great mercy to her therein, ver. 58. 3 By the circumcision of the child the eighth day, ver. 59. 4. By the imposition of the name, not Zacharias, but John, ver. 59. to 64. 5 by the reneval of Zacharias dumbness hereupon, ver. 64. 6 By the fear and wonder that possessed all round about hearing these things, ver. 65, 66. 7 By Zacharias his admirable Prophecy both touching Christ and John Baptist, and the Offices of them both, ver. 67. to 80. 8 By John's education and growth both in body and spirit, till the time of his publick ministery, ver. 80.

II. The manner of Christs Birth, is set forth 1 By the Time, viz. when Augustus Cæsar sent out his Decree to tax the Roman Empire, Cyrenius being Governour of Syria, Ch. II. ver. 1. 2 By the place, viz. Bethlehem the City of David, and the occasion which drew Joseph and Mary from Nazareth to Bethlehem, at that time, viz. the taxing of all in their own City, ver. 2. to 7. 3. By the meanness of his Birth, 1 Wrapped in swadling-cloaths. 2 Laid in a Manger. 3 No room for him in the Inne, ver. 7.

CHAP. II.

III. The consequents upon Christs birth. viz.

1. The Publication or Manifestation of his Birth. 1 By one Angel to the Shepherds by Night, Declaring both Time and place of his Birth, and Confirming the same with a Signe, ver. 8. to 13. 2 By many Angels together in their Triumphant Hymne, ver. 13, 14, 15. 3 By the Shepherds having been Ear-witnesses of the Angels Tidings; and by Eye-witnesses of Christ New-borne, ver. 15. to 21.

2. The circumcision of Christ the eighth day, being named JESUS, ver. 21.

3. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple by his Parents described, 1. By the time when, viz. Maries dayes of Purification being accomplished, ver. 22. 2. By the reason why he was presented; to fulfill the Law, ver. 22, 23, 24. 3 By Simeons Prophecy touching Christ, taking him up in his Armes, with a ravished heart in the Temple, ver. 25. to 36. 4 By the Prophecy of Anna the Prophetess touching Christ at the same time, ver. 36, 37, 38. 5. By his Parents return after this solemnity to Nazareth, ver. 39.

4. The growth of Christ, both in body and spirit, ver. 40.

5. Christs conferring and questioning with the Doctors in the Temple at 12. years old, being left there through his Parents neglect at the Feast of the Passover, therein giving a Specimen of his Prophetick Office, ver. 41. to the end of the ch.

Hitherto of Christs Birth, the Antecedents, Manner and Consequents thereof.

II. CHRISTS LIFE, which was spent in his Publique Ministry; is described, 1 Partly, by the Preparation for; 2 Partly, by the execution of his publique Ministry therein.

I. The preparation for Christs publique Ministry, was 1 By the Ministery of John Baptist his forerunner, Preparing the people to be Christs hearers; where note, 1 When John began his Ministry, viz. in the 15 year of Tyberius Cæsar, &c. Ch. III. 1, 2. 2 Where he preached, ver. 3. 3 What he preached to several sorts of hearers, ver. 3. to 15. 4 What publick testimony he gave touching Christ, ver. 15. 5. How he reproved Herod for marrying Herodias, and was by him imprisoned for it, ver. 19, 20. 6 How he baptized his hearers; and Jesus Christ, ver. 21.

2. By Christs Baptisme by John; (which was as it were Christs solemne Inauguration into his Office) where consider, 1. Christs prayer at his Baptisme, ver. 21. II. The return of his Prayer, viz. 1 Heaven being opened, ver. 21. 2 The Holy Ghost descending like a Dove upon him. 3 The Fathers voice from Heaven, acquiescing in Christ, ver. 22. III. Christs age when Baptized, about 30. years. IV. Christs * Natural Line by Mary, (as Matthew had described his legal Line by Joseph) ver. 23. to the end of the chapter.

* According to the Jewes manner of reckoning Genealogies by men, not by women; Mary is not expressed here in the Genealogy, but her Husband Joseph is called the Son of Heli, i.e. his Son in Law, having married Mary Heli's daughter. Joseph's natural Father being Jacob, for it is said, Jacob begat Joseph, Mat. 1. 16.

CHAP. IV.

3. By Christs signal victory over the Devil tempting him, Where consider I. The place, the wildernes, viz of Judea. II. The time, viz. presently upon his Baptisme in Jordan. III. The impulsive cause, viz. the Spirit, Ch. IV. 1. IV. The continuance of his temptations, viz. 40 dayes. Amplified 1 By his miraculous fasting all that while. 2 By his hunger afterward, ver. 2. V. The temptations themselves, which were three, with Christs repulses of them all, ver. 3. to 13. VI. The Event of his temptation, ver. 13.

II. The execution of Christs publick Ministry. 1 Before his last journey to Jerusalem, 2 In his journey. 3 After his journey, at Jerusalem.

I. Before Christs last journey to Jerusalem, from the time of his Baptism and temptation, Christs Ministry is described in many particulars of his doctrine and miracles in Galilee, ver. 14, 15. As

1 At Nazareth, Where he had been educated, where note, 1 The time and place, viz. On the Sabbath day in their Synagogue, ver. 6. 2 His Text read, and Sermon preached, ver. 7. to 28. 3 The events of his preaching there, the people filled with wrath, would have cast him down the brow of the hill, but he escaped, ver. 28. 29. 30.

2 At Capernaum, Where 1 He taught on their Sabbath dayes to the peoples Amazement, ver. 31, 32. 2 He in the Synagogue dispossesses a man of an unclean Devil, ver. 33. to 38. 3 Going thence into Simons house, he cures his wives Mother of a Fever, ver. 38, 39. 4 About Sun-setting he cured many diseases, and cast out Devils, ver. 40, 41. 5 He when it was day, departed thence into a desert-place, declaring to the people that followed him, and would have stayed him among them, that he must preach to other Cities also, ver 42, 43, 44.

CHAP. V. 3. At the Lake of Genneseareth, 1 He out of Simons Ship teacheth the people, Chap. V. 1, 2, 3. 2 He by the miraculous draught of Fishes, encourageth Simon, James and John how they shall catch men, and so he calls them, ver. 4. to 12.

4. In a certain City, he cleanseth a Leper, ver. 12. to 15. Amplified by the events, viz. 1 Christs fame, 2 The people flocking after him to hear him, and be healed of him, ver. 15. 3 His withdrawing into the wilderness to pray, ver. 16.

* Mat. 9. 1, 2. 5 (In his own City, as * Matthew calls it, or thereabouts) he taught and healed, ver. 17. more particularly, 1. He cures the Palsie-man, let down through the tiling in his couch, ver. 18. to 27. II. He calls Levi sitting at the recipt of Custome, v. 27, 28. This is amplified; 1 By Levi's feasting him, and many Publicans, v. 29. 2 By occurrents following, viz. 1 Christs excusing his Disciples for eating with publicans and sinners, v. 30, 31, 32. 2 Christs Apology for his Disciples not fasting, as John's did; Partly by a parable of the Bridegrooms presence with the Children of the Bride-chamber, v. 33, 34. 35. Partly by a parable of a new piece in an old garment, and new wine in old bottles, bottles, v. 36. to the end. III. He excuſeth his Diſciples act of plucking and eating the ears of corn on the Sabbath day, Ch. VI. 1. to 6. IV. He healed the mans withered right hand on another Sabbath, v. 6. to 12. V. He in thoſe dayes chooſeth out of his Diſciples 12. Apoſtles; where are declared, 1 His previous preparation to this great work, by continuing in a Mountain praying all night, v. 12. 2 His choice of his 12. Apoſtles next day with their names, v. 13. to 17. 3 His coming down afterwards into the plain, and preaching to them, and the multitude at the bottom of the mountain, ver. 17. to the end of the chapter. CHAP. VI.

In this large Sermon of Chriſt, conſider 1 The preparatory occaſions and circumſtances of it, v. 17, 18, 19. 2 The ſubſtance of the Sermon, which is directed, To his Diſciples, To all the hearers together, To his hypocritical hearers. I. To his Diſciples peculiarly, 1 Comforting and encouraging them now newly choſen, againſt all croſſes and perſecutions incident to their Office, by promiſes of bleſſedneſs, ver. 20. 24. 2 Amplifying theſe promiſes of Bleſſedneſs, by threatnings of contrary woes to all ſecure contemners of the Goſpel, as Scribes and Phariſees, ver. 24. to 27. II. To all the hearers together, directing and exhorting them; 1 How to love their Enemies, and to recompence good for evill, ver. 27, to 31. 2 To do to others, as we would they ſhould do to us, ver. 31. Theſe twos eſpecially the former are urged by divers Arguments, ver. 32. to 37. 3 To avoid raſh judging, ver. 37. 4 To forgive others, ver. 37. 5 To give to others, ver. 38. 6, To beware of following of blind guides, ver. 39. 7. To be content to be conformed to Chriſt in ſuffe-rings, ver. 40. 8. Not to be too ſevere in finding faults with others, whileſt they are more faulty themſelves, ver. 41, 42. but rather to evidence to others their inward goodneſs, By good fruits, ver. 43, 44. By good words, ver. 45. III. To his hypocriticall Hearers, directing them not only to profeſs him, and hear him, but to do his words; which he urgeth by a Parable of Builders on a Rock, and on the Earth, ver. 46. to the end.

6. In Capernaum, he healeth the Centurions ſervant at the point of death, Chap. VII. 1. to 11. CHAP. VII.

7. At Naim, 1 He raiſeth to life the Widows ſon, upon the Bier, ver. 11. to 19. 2 He anſwereth John's Diſciples, asking if he were the Meſſiah, charging them to tell John what they had ſeen and heard, ver. 19. to 24. Whereupon he takes occaſion, 1 Partly to commend Iohn Baptiſt and his Miniſtery, v. 24. to 31. 2 Partly to condemn that Generation for contempt both of John's and Chriſt's Miniſtery, ver. 31. to 36. 3 Being invited to eat with a Phariſee, He ſheweth in the example of the woman that waſhed his feet with teares, &c. How he entertaineth and pardoneth poor penitent and beleeving ſinners, ver. 36. to the end.

8. As he went through every City and Village preaching the Goſpel, the twelve being with him, Ch. VIII. 1, &c. are recorded, I. The women that miniſtered to Chriſt of their ſubſtance, ver. 2, 3. CHAP. VIII.
II. His Sermon to the people, containing, 1 The Parable of the Sower Propounded, ver. 4. to 9. Expounded, ver. 9 to 16. 2 The Parable of a Candle on a candleſtick, ver. 16, 17. 3 An admonition to take heed how they heare, ver. 18. III. His declaring them to be his Mother and Brethren that hear and do the Word of God, ver. 19, 20, 21. IV. His calming the Tempeſt by his Word, as he ſailed over the Lake, ver. 22. to 26. V. His caſting a Legion of Devils out of the Man in the Gaderenes Countrey; not ſuffering the Man to be with him, ver. 26. to 40. VI. After his return thence, are declared, 1 His ſtaunching of a womans iſſue of blood, at her touching of the hem of his Garment, as he was going to Iairus his Daughter that lay a dying. 2 His raiſing of Iairus Daughter being dead ere he came to her, ver. 41. to the end. 3 His ſending forth of the twelve with power and authority, and inſtructions, Ch. IX. 1. 17. 4 Herods perplexity about Chriſt, and his deſire to ſee him, ver. 7. to 10. 5 His Diſciples return and report, ver. 10. 6 His departure with them into a Deſert place belonging to Bethſaida, where (the people flocking to him) he preached to them, healed them, and fed five thouſand with five Loaves and two Fiſhes, ver. 10. to 18. 7 His private Conference with his Diſciples, 1 Asking them whom the people and they thought he was, ver. 18, 19, 20. 2 Charging them to conceal him, ver. 21. 3 Foretelling his own Paſſion and Reſurrection, ver. 22. 4 Forewarning them of Croſſes and Perſecutions, ver. 23. to 27. 5 Yet comforting them with a Promiſe, that ſome ſtanding there, ſhould ſee the Kingdome of God come with Power, before they dye, ver. 27. 8 His Tranſfiguration about eight dayes after on the Mount, before Peter, John and James, as he prayed, ver. 28. to 37. 9 His diſpoſſeſſing the mans ſon next day, whom his Diſciples could not diſpoſſeſs, ver. 37. to 43. 10. His prediction of his death again to his Diſciples, wondering at the things he did, ver. 43 to 46. 11. His teaching his Diſciples contending for Priority, by the example of a childe to practice Humility, ver. 46. to 49. 12. His charge to his Diſciples, not to forbid him that caſt out Devils in his name, ver. 49, 50. CHAP. IX.

Thus of Chriſts Doctrine and Acts from his Baptiſm, till his laſt journey to Jeruſalem.

II. In Chriſts laſt Journey to Jeruſalem, Antecedent to his paſſion there, his Acts and Doctrine are further deſcribed; As

1. His non-entertainment by the Samaritanes in his journey, * Becauſe going to Jeruſalem, whereupon the Apoſtles, deſiring to be revenged of them, are reproved by him, ver. 51. to 57.

* For there was much enmity betwixt Jewes and Samaritaner.

2. His dealing in the way with ſeveral Perſons ſeverally. 1. Repelling one that would have followed him, ver. 57, 58. 2. Commanding another to follow him, that would firſt have buried his father, ver. 59, 60. 3. Repelling another that would firſt bid them farewel at his houſe, ver. 61, 62.

3. His

CHAP. X.

3. His sending the seventy by two and two before him into all places, where himself would come to preach and do miracles, Ch. X. 1. Described, 1. By the occasion, viz. The greatness of the Harvest, ver. 2. 2. By his instructions to the seventy, both in reference to them that received them, ver. 3. to 10. and in reference to them that received them not, denouncing woe to certain Cities that profited not by the Gospel, ver. 10. to 17. 3. By the seventies return, and joyful report of their success, upon which Christ shewes, that to have their names written in Heaven is greater matter of joy, ver. 17. to 21. 4. By Christs exultation in Spirit at his Fathers Spirituall Dispensations, ver. 21, 22. 5. By Christs magnifying his Disciples condition, in respect of what they saw and heard, ver. 23, 24.

4. His instructing of the Lawyer tempting him how to inherit eternal life, and who was his neighbour, by the Parable of the man that fell among thieves, ver. 25. to 38.

5. His reproving Martha careful about many things, and commending Mary for minding the one thing needful, ver. 38. to the end.

6. His instructing his Disciples about Prayer, 1 How to pray, where is laid down * The Lords Prayer, Ch. XI. 1. to 5. 2. To be instant in Prayer, encouraging hereto, Partly by promises of Audience; Partly with promises of best blessings upon Prayer, verse 5. to 14.

CHAP. XI.

7 His casting out of a dumb Devil, ver. 14 Amplified by the consequent events, viz. I. The dumbs speech. II. The peoples wonder, ver. 14. III. The Blasphemy and Temptation of others, ver. 15, 16. To both which he replies, 1. To the Blasphemy of those that said he cast out Devils through Beelzebub. Confuting their calumny by divers Arguments, ver. 17. to 23. Reproving such as took not his part against those blasphemies, ver. 23. Declaring the danger of Satans re-possessing a man through his security, after he was cast out, ver. 24. to 27. And showing them that hear and keep Gods Word, to be the truly blessed, ver. 27, 28. 2. To the temptation of those that sought a Signe from Heaven, He replieth, 1 Partly denying any signe to them, but that of Jonas, ver. 29, 30. 2 Partly threatning them with condemnation for contempt of Christ and impenitency, ver. 31, 32. 3 Partly admonishing them to communicate their Light, as a Candle on a Candlestick to others, ver. 33. 4 Partly warning them of an evill darke Eye, ver. 34, 35, 36.

8. His Sermon when he was invited to dine with a Pharisee, wherein he sharply reprehends and threatens I. The Pharisees, 1. For their Avarice, ver. 37. to 42. 2. For their want of Love to God and Man, ver. 42. 3. For their Pride, ver. 43. II. The Scribes and Pharisees, for their Hypocrisie, ver. 44. III. The Lawyers, or Expounders of the Law; 1. For their inequal dealing with the People, ver. 46. 2. For their cruelty against the Godly, ver. 47. to 52. 3. For taking away the Key of Knowledge, ver. 52. The Event of this Sermon is also mentioned, ver. 53, 54.

CHAP. XII.

9. His Sermon to his Disciples, wherein 1. He warns them of the leaven of the Pharisees, Ch. XII. 1. 2. He encourages them to preach the Word boldly, notwithstanding all danger of Persecutions for so doing, and this by many Arguments, ver. 2 to 13.

10. His Sermon occasioned by the mans request to Christ, to speak to his brother to divide the inheritance, ver. 13. wherein I. He refuseth that imployment, ver. 14. II. He dissuades his hearers from Covetousness, showing the vanity of Riches without Grace, ver. 15. to 22. III. He teacheth his Disciples, 1. To avoid carking and sollicitude about food and rayment, and to seek Gods Kingdome first, ver. 22. to 33. 2. To give Almes, ver. 33, 34. 3. To be vigilant and diligent in their Callings, till their Lords coming, ver. 34 to 41. 4. To dispense the Word of God, faithfully, wisely, diligently, till his coming: which is urged by divers Arguments touched in the Parable of a Steward, ver. 41. to 49. 5. To expect the fire of Persecutions after his departure, which fire is already kindled, ver. 49. to 54. IV. He instructeth the people, 1 To discern the present season of Grace, ver. 54. to 58. 2. To agree quickly with their Adversary, and not to persist in an ill cause, ver. 58, 59.

CHAP. XIII.

11. His Sermon occasioned by some who told him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate mingled with their Sacrifices, Ch. XIII. 1. wherein 1. He exhorts them by Gods judgements to repent, ver. 2. to 6. 2. He warns them to bring forth Gospel-fruit, by a parable of the Fruitless Fig-tree, ver. 6. to 10.

12. His curing the crooked woman of her eighteen years infirmity, on the Sabbath day, in one of their Synagogues, and his defence of this act against the Ruler of the Synagogue, ver. 10. to 18.

13. His comparing the Kingdome of God; 1. To a grain of Mustardseed, ver. 18, 19. 2. To Leaven, ver. 20, 21.

14. His preaching as he journeyed on towards Jerusalem, ver. 22. 1. Exhorting to enter in at the strait gate, rather then curiously to enquire how many shall be saved, ver. 23. to 31. 2. Answering the Pharisees, telling him that Herod would kill him, that he fled not from Galilee, from Herods cruelty, but rather went to Jerusalem that he might suffer, upbraiding Jerusalem for her cruelty, ver. 31. to the end.

CHAP. XIV.

15. His eating bread on a Sabbath day with one of the chief Pharisees, Ch. XIV. 1. where 1. He healed a man of the Dropsie, ver. 1. to 7. 2. He teacheth the invited Guests Humility, ver. 7. to 12. 3. He teacheth the Pharisee to feast the poor and impotent rather then the rich, ver. 12. to 15. 4. Upon the Speech of one that sate at meat, viz. Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the King-

Kingdome of God, He ſhowed under the Parable of a Great Supper, that God invites many by the miniſtry of his Goſpel, to ſpiritual and eternal Communion with him, who yet upon vain pretences refuſe to come in; and notwithſtanding he will furniſh himſelf with Gueſts, even of the moſt deſpicable among the Jews, and of the miſerable Gentiles, ver. 15. to 25.

16. His inſtructing of the multitude following him, 1. To deny themſelves, ver. 25, 26. 2. To bear their Croſſe and follow Chriſt, caſting up what Chriſtianity will coſt them, like a man building a Tower, and a King going to war, ver. 27. to 34. 3. To retain the Salt of grace in themſelvs, leſt they be uſeleſſe, ver. 34, 35.

17. His Sermon to the Publicanes and ſinners, Chap. XV. 1, 2. wherein he declares what great joy there is in heaven, at the converſion of one ſinner, and how ready God is to receive them, and this in three pathetick Parables, 1. Of the man rejoycing at finding of his Loſt ſheep, ver. 3. to 8. 2. Of the woman rejoycing at finding of her Loſt groat, ver. 8. to 11. 3. Of the father rejoycing at the finding of his Loſt Son, ver. 11. to the end of the chap. CHAP. XV.

18. His Sermon to his Diſciples, wherein note I. His Doctrine, exhorting them 1. Under the Parable of the Unjuſt Steward dealing wiſely to make themſelves friends for eternity with the unrighteous Mammon, Chap. XVI. 1. to 10. 2. To be faithful in imploying of theſe Temporals, ver. 10. to 13. 3. To avoid worldlineſſe, ver 13. II. The Event hereof, the covetous Phariſees derided him, ver. 14. III. His directing his ſpeech hereupon to the Phariſees, 1. Reproving them for their abominable pride and hypocriſie, ver. 15. 2. Showing 1 The Efficacy of the Goſpel from John Baptiſts time, which they deſpiſed, 2 The permanent Authority of the Law, which they violated, as in the particular of Divorce, ver. 16, 17, 18. 3 Declaring under the Parable or Hiſtory, or rather Paraboliſcal Hiſtory of the Rich man and Lazarus, that in the life to come the godly-poor ſhall be moſt happy, when the graceleſſe rich ſhall be moſt remedileſſely miſerable; and that warnings from the dead will not bring men to faith and repentance, if the Word of God do not, ver. 19 to the end. IV. His turning his ſpeech again to his Diſciples, 1. Diſſwading them from offending the little ones, Chap. XVII. 1, 2. 2. Exhorting them to reprove and forgive one another, ver. 3, 4. 3. Showing the force of faith, ver. 5, 6. 4. Declaring how we are debt-bound to God, and not God to us at all, ver 7. to 11. CHAP. XVI. CHAP. XVII.

19. His cleanſing ten Lepers as he entred into a Village, paſſing through the midſt of Samaria and Galilee to Jeruſalem, ver. 11. to 20.

20. His Doctrine upon ſeveral occaſions: 1. Showing the Phariſees that Gods Kingdome comes not with obſervation, but is within, ver. 20, 21. 2. Inſtructing of his Diſciples of the coming of the Son of man, when the world ſhall be in deepeſt ſecurity, ver. 22. to the end. 3. Encouraging the Elect by the Parable of the Unjuſt Judge, and the Widow, alwaies to pray and not to faint, Chap. XVIII. 1. to 9. 4. Evidencing in the Parable of the Phariſee and the Publican, that they who truſt to their own righteouſneſſe, deſpiſing others, are not juſtified of God, like thoſe that humbly abhor themſelves, ver. 9. to 15. 5. Inviting little children to come to him, the Kingdom of God being of ſuch, ver. 15. to 18. 6. Directing a certain Ruler what to do to inherit eternal life, verſe 18. to 31. 7. Foretelling to his Diſciples his Death and Reſurrection, verſe 31. to 35. CHAP. XVIII.

21. His Acts and Doctrine as he approached nigh and paſſed through Jericho, viz. 1. His recovering ſight to the blind-men ſitting by the way-ſide-begging, ver. 35. to the end. 2. His Converſion of Zacheus the Publicane, who alſo made him a Feaſt, Chap. XIX. 1. to 11. 3. His Parable, the Ten pounds delivered to his ten ſervants, ſpoken to them that thought, he drawing nigh to Jeruſalem, the Kingdome of God would immediately appear, wherein 1 He refutes this opinion, ſhowing that his glorious Kingdome was afarre off, firſt to be obtained by his Death, Reſurrection, Aſcenſion, and preaching of the Goſpel to all Nations, 2 He ſhows how fruitfully every ſervant ſhould imploy his Talent in the mean time, 3 He comforts them againſt the ingratitude of many, ver. 11. to 28. CHAP. XIX.

Thus of Chriſts Acts and Doctrine in his laſt journey to Jeruſalem.

III After Chriſts journey, at Jeruſalem, are recorded his words and works moſt memorable, viz.

1. His entering into Jeruſalem with Kingly-ſtate, ver. 28. to 41.

2. His weeping over Jeruſalem for her preſent ſtupidity, and future ruine that ſhould come upon it, ver. 41. to 45.

3. His purging the Temple of Prophanations by buying and ſelling there, ver. 45, 46.

4. His preaching daily in the Temple, ver. 47, 48.

5. His implicit aſſerting of his Authority from heaven, by a queſtion propounded touching the Baptiſme of John, who bare witneſſe of him, Chap. XX. 1. to 9. CHAP. XX.

6. His Parable of the Vineyard, let out to unthankful Huſbandmen, wherein he ſhowes the deſtruction of the chief Prieſts and Scribes, with the Jews for killing Gods Prophets, and at laſt Chriſt his Son, ver. 9. to 19. Amplyfied by the events, viz. 1 The chief Prieſts and Scribes ſeeking to entrap him about paying Tribute to Cæſar, that they might deliver him to the Power of the Governour, ver. 19. to 27. 2. The Sadduces Caſe againſt the Reſurrection, againſt whom Chriſt aſſerts and proves the Reſurrection out of the Old Teſtament, ver. 27. to 39. which one of the Scribes approveth, after which none durſt aſk him any Queſtions, ver. 39, 40, 41. 3. Chriſts queſtion how Chriſt could be Davids ſonne, when David calls him Lord, ver. 41. to 45. 4. Chriſts Dehortation of the People, from the Ambition, Avarice and Hypocriſie of the Scribes, verſe 45, 46, 47.

CHAP. XXI.

7. His commending the Widow for her two Mites cast into the Temples Treasury, Chap. XXI. 1,2,3,4.

8. His Prophecies, 1. Of the Temples destruction, *ver.*5,6. 2. Of Jerusalems ruine, together with signes foregoing, *ver.*7. to 25. 3. Of the last coming of the son of man to judgment, ver. 25. to 29. These Prophecies are amplyfied, 1 Partly by an illustration and confirmation of them, *ver.*29. to 34. 2. Partly by an exhortation to watchfulnesse, *ver.*34,35,36.

9. His teaching in the Temple by day, his lodging in the Mount of Olives by night: and the peoples resort to the Temple to hear him, *ver.*37,38.

Hitherto of Christs life, and his Publick Ministry therein, before, in and after his journey to Jerusalem.

III. CHRISTS DEATH is described by the 1 Antecedents, 2 Manner, 3 Consequents thereof.

CHAP. XXII.

I. The Antecedents or Passages more immediately forgoing his Death, were

1. The conspiracy of the chief Priests and Scribes against him, *Chap. XXII.*1,2.

2. The treacherous contract of Judas to betray him to them, *ver.*3. to 7.

3 His last Paschal supper with his Disciples, *ver.*7. to 19. At which supper 1. He instituteth The LORD'S Supper, *ver.*19,20. 2. He telleth them that the Traytor was at the Table with him, ver. 21, 22, 23. 3. He dissuades them from ambition, *ver.*24. to 28. 4. He promises to them glory in his Kingdom. *ver.*28,29,30. 5. He promises their, and particularly Peters Perseverance against temptation, *ver.*31,32. 6. He forewarns Peter of his denial, *ver.*33,34. 7. He prepares the Disciples for their eminent Persecution, *ver.*35. to 39.

II. The Manner of his Passion, is described 1. By the Beginning, 2. By the Progresse, 3. By the Period of it.

1. The Beginning of it, in his Agony in the Garden, *ver.*39. to 47.

2. The Progresse of his Passion, I. In his Apprehension upon Judas his kisse, whereat he healed Malchus his ear smote off, *ver.*47. to 55. II. In his Arraignment, 1. Before their Ecclesiastical Councel, in the High-priests Palace, where 1 Peter denyed him thrice, and wept bitterly for it, *ver.*55. to 63. 2 They that held Jesus blasphemously abused him, ver. 63. to 66. 3 The Elders, Chief-Priests and Scribes examine and condemne him, *ver.*66. to the end. 2. Before their Civil Power, where 1 He is accused for sedition before *Pilate, Chap. XXIII.*1. to 6. 2 He is sent to Herod, and accused before him, mocked and remanded to Pilate, whereupon Herod and Pilate were made friends, *ver.*6. to 13. III. In his Condemnation by Pilate to be crucified, to satisfie the clamour of the People after Pilate had three times justified him, and desired to release him; instead of whom he released *Barabbas, ver.*13. to 26. IV. In their leading him on to the place of execution, described 1. By Simons carrying his Crosse after him, *ver.*26. 2. By Christs exhorting the people that lamented him, rather to weep for themselves and their children, in respect of the destruction that was coming upon them, *ver.*27. to 32. 3. By leading two other Malefactors to be put to death with him, *ver.*32.

CHAP. XXIII.

3. The Period of Christs Passion is set forth in divers particulars, viz. 1. He is crucified on Calvary betwixt two Thievs, and prayes for his executioners, *ver.*33,34. 2. His Garments are parted by lots, *ver.*34. 3. He is derided by People, Rulers and Souldiers, *ver.*35,36,37. 4. A Superscription was set over his head, *ver.*38. 5 He is reviled by one of the Thieves crucified with him, the other being miraculously converted, *ver.*39. to 44. 6. The Sun was dark from the sixth to the ninth hour, *ver.*44,45. 7. The vaile of the Temple rent, ver. 45. 8. Christ yields up the Ghost, the Centurion justifying him, the People smiting their breasts, and his acquaintance and followers beholding these things, *ver.*46. to 50.

III. The Consequents of his Passion, viz.

1. His Burial by Joseph of Arimathea, the women observing, who prepared spices and ointments for his body, *ver.*50. to the end.

2. His Resurrection, declared, 1. By two Angels to Mary Magdalene and other women, who report it to the Apostles, *Chap. XXIV.*1. to 13. 2. By himself appearing to the two Disciples travelling towards *Emmaus, ver.*13. to 36. 3. By himself to the Disciples together, 1 Confirming his Resurrection to them, by showing them his hands and feet, eating with them, urging the Scriptures for his death and rising again, and opening their understandings that they might understand them, *ver.*36. to 49. 2 Promising the Spirit to them, *ver.*49.

CHAP. XXIV.

3. His Ascension, set forth by the Antecedents, Manner and Consequents thereof, *ver.*50. to the end.

AN

AN APPENDIX TO LUKE.

VIZ.

The blessed Virgin MARY's Song of Praise, after she had Conceived JESUS CHRIST, by the Holy Ghost.

§. I.

PEnman, This thankful Song of Praise, The Blessed Virgin Mary inspired with the Holy-Ghost [a] first uttered; and Luke only Penned it, digesting it methodically into his Evangelical History.

a Luke 1. 46.

§. II.

Occasion hereof, was as followeth, The Angel Gabriel [b] appears to the Blessed Virgin Mary in Nazareth, a City of Galilee, promises to her from God that she should conceive in her wombe, and bring forth a sonne, and call his name JESUS. —— And to that end that the Holy Ghost should come upon her, and the Power of the highest should overshadow her. These Promises [c] Mary believes, and believing [d] conceives. Whereupon she goes [e] in haste into a City of Judah, to visit her cousin Elizabeth, conceived with John Baptist six moneths before. Upon Mary's salutation of Elizabeth, Elizabeths childe skipt in her belly for joy; and her self, filled with the Holy Ghost, most joyfully congratulates Mary's conception, and confirmes her faith touching the accomplishment of the Angels Promises from the Lord; upon which Mary her self, ravished in spirit at the unspeakable goodnesse of God to her, uttered this Song and said, My Soul doth magnifie the Lord, &c.

b Luke 1. 26, 27, 31, 35.

c Verse 38.

d Et quoniam diabolus per serpentem Evæ locutus, per Evæ aures mundo intulit mortem, Deus per Angelum ad Mariam protulit verbum, & cunctis secutis vitam effudit. Angelus sermonem ejicit, & Christum virgo concepit. O conjunctio sine sordibus facta, ubi maritus Sermo est & uxor auricula. Hoc splendore concipitur Dei filius, hac munditia generatur. Aug. de Tempore Serm. 15. Tom. 10.

e Verse 39. to 46.

§. III.

Scope of Mary herein is, Most thankfully to blesse and magnifie the Lord, 1. Partly for his wonderful mercy, actually conferred upon 1 Her self, in her blessed conception of JESUS the Sonne of God; and 2 Upon her Cousin Elizabeth, in her Conception of John Baptist, the forerunner of Jesus Christ, and this in her barren years. 2. Partly for his singular benefits conferred in Christ, the fruit of her womb, upon the whole Church of God.

How Excellent is this Song! 1 Uttered by the mother of Jesus Christ according to the flesh; 2 Occasioned by that miraculous mystery of Christs Conception by the Holy Ghost; 3 Expressed in heavenly strains of a ravished and transported Spirit, exalting the Lord and his free mercy, debasing her self and her meanness. Much like that excellent [f] Song of Hannah, upon the Birth of the Prophet Samuel, formerly parallel'd with this Song of Mary in divers particulars.

[f] See in the Appendix to I. Sam.

§. IV.

Principal Parts. In this Song of Praise

I. The blessed Virgins thankfulnesse is propounded; describing 1. The Subject praising, viz. Her soule and spirit. 2. The Object praised, viz. The Lord God her Saviour. 3. The Acts of Praise, viz. doth magnifie, doth rejoyce, or doth exult joyfully, ver. 46,47.

II. The grounds or reasons of this her thankfulnesse are expounded, viz. 1. Gods particular favours to particular Persons. 2. Gods general benefits to Israel.

I. Gods particular favours, 1. To the Virgin Mary herself in honouring her so highly, as that she should conceive Christ by the Holy Ghost. This benefit is amplyfied 1. By an Antithesis of the corrupting cause removed, viz. her mean condition. 2. By the Testimony of all the Elect that should count her herein happy, ver. 48. 3. By the greatnesse of the benefit, ver. 49. 4. By the causes of this benefit, viz. Gods Power, Holynesse, and constant mercy to them that fear him, ver. 49,50. 5. By the effects of Gods Power, Holinesse and Mercy, both upon the proud, Potentates, and rich of the world; and upon them of low degree, hungering after heavenly supplies, ver. 51, 52,53. II. To Elizabeth in that in her old age she conceived John Baptist intimated in the words plural, ver. 50. to 54.

II. Gods general benefits to his Israel in Christ, according to his mercy, and promise to Abraham and his seed, ver. 54,55.

(This may be sung as Psal. 113.)

LUKE I.

46. And Mary said;

MY Soul the Lord doth magnifie.
47. My spirit exulteth-joyfully
In God my Saviour [g] no-lesse.
48. That on his Hand-maid [h] state-so-low
He-look'd; For lo, ev'n from this now,
All generations shall me blesse.
49. For unto me the-mighty-one
Most graciously great-things hath done:
And-I his name shall Holy call.
50. His mercy also doth appear
On them that him sincerely fear,
Ev'n [i] unto Generations all.

51. He with his Arme great [k] strength hath
He-hath-quite-scattered the proud, (show'd,
In their own hearts [l] imaginings.
52. Hath put-down Potentates from Thrones:
And hath exalted lowly-ones.
53. Hath fill'd the hungry with good-things:
Hath empty sent the rich away.
54. He [m] mindful of his mercy [n],
Hath holpe his servant Israel,
55. As to our Fathers he decreed
And spake, to Abraham and his seed
For ever, as the Prophets tell.

[g] Gr. Also. [h] Gr. Demission, or Abjection of minde. [i] Gr. Unto Generations of Generations. [k] Gr. hath made dominion. [l] Gr. Imagination or thought. [m] Gr. To remember his mercy. [n] Gr. His childe.

The Prophecy of Zacharias Touching both JESUS CHRIST and JOHN BAPTIST, Luke 1. 67. to 79.

§. I.

Occasion and Penman. Zacharias the Priest [o] of the course of Abia, the father of John Baptist, on the eighth day after John's Birth, when he was circumcised, [o] Luke 1. 5.

p being

p being filled with the Holy Ghost, Prophecied and uttered this Thankful Song of Praise to the Lord, both in reference to Jesus Christ our Saviour, now conceived by the Virgin Mary, and to John Baptist Christs forerunner, now brought forth by Elizabeth. Of which Song Luke is Penman, by the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, orderly digesting it in his Gospel-History. q How ready is the Lord to pardon his servants failings! Zacharias struck dumb for his unbelief; is now upon his Reformation filled with the Spirit, and prophecieth.

p Luke 1.59.to 68.

q Vide quam bonus Deus & facilis indulgere peccatis. Non solum ablata restituit, sed etiam inspersta concedit. Ille dudum mutus Propheta. Hæc enim gratia Dei maxima, quam eum qui negaverant confitentur. Nemo ergo diffidat, nemo veterum conscius delictorum præmia divina desperet. Novit Dominus mutare sententiam, si tu noveris emendare delictum. B. Ambros. Comm. Luc. 1. de Prophet. Zacharia Tom. 5.

§. II.

Scope. Thankfully to blesse the Lord, both for his gracious visiting and redeeming his People from their enemies to serve him in holyneſſe, &c. by Jesus Christ now incarnate according to his Promises, Covenant, and Oath of old to his People: and also for sending John Baptist, the Prophet of the Highest now under the New Testament before his face, to prepare his way before him, and fit a people for him, by preaching remission of sins, and salvation by Jesus Christ.

§. III.

Principal Parts. In this Prophecy of Zacharias, note 1. The Inscription. 2. The thankful Prophecy it self.

I. The Inscription, declaring 1. The Causes of this Song: Principal, the Holy Ghost: Instrumental, Zacharias. 2. The Nature of it, He prophecied: its a prophetical Thanksgiving, or a thankful Prophecy, ver. 67.

II. The thankful Prophecy it self, 1. Concerning Jesus Christ. 2. Touching John Baptist his forerunner.

1. Concerning Jesus Christ, now incarnate and conceived of the Virgin Mary, blessing the Lord, God of Israel, I. More generally, for his merciful visitation of them in Christ, ver. 68. II. More particularly, for his redemption and salvation of his people by Christ, ver. 68, 69. This is Amplified by a Declaration 1. Of the house whence the Redeemer came, viz. Davids, ver. 69. 2. Of the outward impulsive cause of this Redemption, viz. His word by all his Prophets, ver. 70, 71. His promise to the Fathers, ver. 72. His Covenant and Oath to Abraham, ver. 72, 73. 3. Of the end of this Redempeion or fruit thereof to his, viz. their constant service of God without fear in holineſſe and righteouſneſſe, ver. 74, 75.

2. Touching John Baptist then circumcised, Prophetically describing 1. His Office, viz. The Prophet of the Highest, ver. 76. 2. His execution of his Office in preparing Christs way before him, by revealing to the people sitting in darkneſſe, salvation, remission of sins, and the way of peace in Jesus Christ, ver. 76. to 80.

(This may be sung as Psal. 113.)

LUKE I.

67. And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophecied, saying,

68. Th: Lord, Isr'el's great God be blest,
For he hath visited th'oppreſt,
And for his folk redemption wrought:
69. And in r his servant David's house, r Gr. His Child.

Horne of Salvation glorious
He hath rais'd up for us, low brought:
70 As by his holy Prophets mouth,
(Which have f of old declar'd his truth,)
He spake of this our happy state;
71. To wit, salvation from our foes,
And from the hand cu'n t of all those,
That us maliciously do hate.

f Gr. from eternity; or from aye.

t Gr. Of all hating us.

72. u To do the mercy promis'd to
Our holy Fathers long ago,
And to remember (for his Name)
His holy Covenant so dear.
73. The sacred Oath which he did swear Unto our father Abraham:
74. x That he would grant to us, that we
From our foes harmful hand set free,
Might without fear him sweetly serve:
75. Before him both in holyneſſe,
And incorrupted righteousneſſe,
All our life's dayes, and never swerve.

u Gr. To do mercy with our Fathers x Gr. To give to us.

76. And thou child shalt be called now
The Prophet of the High'st: for thou,
To y fit his wayes, (ere he begins)
Before the Lords own face shalt go,
77. To give salvation's knowledge to His folk, by z pardon of their sins.
78. Through our God's a tender clemency,
Whereby the Sun-rise from on high
Us visited, with joy's increase.
79. Them to enlighten that reside
In darkneſſe, and death's shade; To guide
Our feet into the way of peace.

y Gr. To prepare.

z Gr. Remission.

a Gr. Bowels of mercy

Simeons thankful Song, Having JESUS CHRIST in his Armes, when he was Presented in the Temple, Luke 2. 29. to 33.

§. I.

OCcasion. When Jesus Christ was brought by his Parents, b according to the Law, to be presented to the Lord in the Temple; c There was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon; and the same man was d just and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel; and the Holy Ghost was upon him. And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ. And he came by the Spirit into the Temple, and when the Parents brought in the childe Jesus, to do for him after the custome of the Law, Then took he him up in his Armes, and blessed God, and said, Lord, &c. Upon this sight of Jesus Christ, and this happy embracement of him in his Armes in the Temple, the good old man was so transported and ravish't in spirit, that by the special motion of the Holy Ghost he uttered this his Swan-like Song before his death, now most willing to dye, having seen his hearts desire, the Lord's Christ. And by the same Spirit Luke penned this Song, digesting it orderly into his History.

b Luk. 2. 22, 23, 24.

c Luk 2, 25, 26, 27, 28.

d Non solum ab Angelis & Prophetis, & à Pastoribus & Parentibus, sed etiam a senioribus & justis generatio domini accepit testimonium. Omnis ætas & uterque sexus, eventorumque miracula fidem astruunt. Virgo generat, sterilis parit, mutus loquitur, Elizabeth Prophetat, Magus adorat, utero clausus exultat, vidua confitetur, justus expectat. Et bene justus, qui non suam sed populi gratiam requirebat. —Vide justum velut corporeæ carcere molis inclusum velle dissolvi, ut incipiat esse cum Christo. Dissolvi enim & cum Christo esse, multo melius est. Sed qui vult dimitti, veniat in Templum, veniat in Hierusalem, expecter Christum domini accipiat in manibus verbum Dei, complectatur velut quibusdam suæ fidei brachiis. Tunc dimittetur ut non videat mortem, qui viderit vitam. D. Ambros. Comment. in Luc. 2. de Simeon. &c. Tom. 5.

§. II.

Scope; To declare how fully Simeons ravisht spirit was contented and satisfied with the beholding and embracing of Jesus Christ, wishing the Lord now to release him as having lived enough, that he had seen Jesus Christ in the flesh, prepared to be Gods Salvation, the Gentiles light, and Israels Glory.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THE Goſpel according to JOHN. This Book is thus intituled from the Penman of it, viz. Not John the Baptiſt (as he is [a] ſurnamed). Nor John [b] ſurnamed Mark, but John the Apoſtle, whom Jeſus loved, [c] This is the Diſciple which teſtifieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things. He wrote alſo three Epiſtles; and the Revelation in Patmos.

JOHN is Originally an Hebrew name, viz. יוחנן [d] Jochanan, it is alſo ſometimes written יהוחנן [e] Jehochanan; It is compounded of יהוה Jehovah, The LORD, the proper and eſſential name of God; and of חנן Chanan ſignifying, He hath been gracious; whence comes חן Chen, viz. Grace; ſo that this name JOHN imports, The Lord hath been gracious; or, The Grace of the Lord.

This John was of Bethſaida, which was after called Julias from Julias the daughter of Auguſtus, the [f] ſon of Zebedee, and brother of James, Fiſhermen by trade, whom Chriſt called forth to be fiſhers of men. Salome (mentioned [g] in the New Teſtament) is ſuppoſed to be John's mother. As John was with his Father and Brother in the Ship, mending their Nets, Jeſus [h] called him and James his Brother; theſe two Jeſus [i] ſurnamed Boanarges, that is, the ſons of Thunder. *Hierome ſtiles John, The Evangelical Trumpet, ſon of Thunder, whom Jeſus loved very much: who drank the ſtreams of Doctrines from our Saviours boſome.

Je

It is a Tradition [k] that John lived a ſingle life, yet ſome are of opinion that John was [l] the Bridegroom at Cana in Galilee. It is certain that John was highly honored of Chriſt; Before his Death; After his Reſurrection; and After his Aſcention. I. Before Chriſts Death, 1. John was one of the three [m] whom Chriſt took up with him into the Mount to behold his glorious tranſ-figuration. 2. One of the two, [n] whom Chriſt ſent to prepare his laſt Paſſeover. 3. That Diſciple whom Jeſus peculiarly [o] loved above all the reſt for his ſingular graces and endowments. 4. Who [p] leaned on Jeſus breaſt at Supper. 5. To whom Chriſt by a [q] private token diſcovered that Judas ſhould betray him. 6. One of the Diſciples, [r] whom Chriſt would have nigh to him in his Agony in the Garden. And though John through humane frailty when Chriſt was apprehended by the Jewes, fled among the reſt, leaving his garment in their hands, eſcaped, (for ſo [s] ſome interpret that of the young man in Mark 14. 51, 52. underſtanding it of John) yet he ſpeedily returned and [t] followed Chriſt even into the High-Prieſts Palace, to ſee the end. For John is thought to be that Diſciple who was known unto the High-Prieſt, and went in with Jeſus, and afterwards brought in Peter alſo. 7. The onely Diſciple to whom Jeſus Chriſt [u] commended his own mother, as they both were ſtanding under his Croſs, when he was a dying. II. After Chriſts Reſurrection, 1. Mary Magdalene declaring the ſweet news of Chriſts Reſurrection, [x] John and Peter runne to the Sepulcher, but John out-ran Peter, as he out-loved Peter. 2. John was preſent at all Chriſts Apparitions, for 40. dayes. 3. John [y] firſt knew Chriſt ſtanding on the ſhore as they were fiſhing at the Sea of Tiberias. III. After Chriſts Aſcention. 1. John and Peter [z] miraculouſly healed the lame man as they were going into the Temple. 2. They [a] preached boldly againſt all Prohibitions. 3. And [b] Samaria being converted by Philip, they were ſent by common conſent of the Apoſtles to Samaria, where at the impoſition of their hands the Holy Ghoſt was given. 4. And Paul reckons [c] John among the Pillars of the Church of Chriſt, who among others gave him the right hand of fellowſhip at Jeruſalem; which ſeems to be done at the famous Jeruſalem [d] Councell.

And afterwards when the Apoſtles ſpread themſelves farther into the World, to preach the Goſpel, Johns lot was to preach in [e] Aſia; and as ſome think, at Epheſus; where Paul founded a Church; but John lived there till the dayes of Trajane the Emperour, thinks [f] Irenæus; and that he was there [g] when he wrote his Goſpel, wherein as alſo in his Epiſtles he oppoſes divers Hereſies, eſpecially againſt Chriſts perſon, denying his Divinity or Humanity; againſt ſuch Antichriſtian Hereſies he had much conflicting, as his firſt Epiſtle evidenceth. Tertullian [h] reports, That John the Apoſtle, after he in Rome had been caſt into burning oyle, and ſuffered nothing thereby, was baniſhed into an Iſland. (Though ſome [i] think this was done not at Rome, but at Epheſus.) Nero is thought to have flung him into the buring oyle: and Domitian to have baniſhed him into an Iſland, viz. [k] Patmos, where on the Lords day he was in the Spirit, and had the Revelation given to him of God by an Angel. This exile of John is thought to be in the [l] fourteenth year of Domitian, when he raged ſo againſt the Church of Chriſt. From which baniſhment, after one years ſpace, Nerva ſucceeding and reſcinding Domitians impious Decrees, John is thought to have returned again to Epheſus in the ninety ſeventh year of his age, and there to have lived and taught till he was ninety nine. Irenæus hath a very obſervable ſtory of him, ſaying, [m] Polycarpus not only taught by the Apoſtles, and converſing with many of them which have ſeen our Lord: but being conſtituted Biſhop in the Church at Smyrna which is in Aſia, whom we ſaw in our firſt age, for he continued very long. — There are that heard him ſay, that John the Diſciple of the Lord, when he went to waſh himſelf in the Bath at Epheſus, and eſpied Cerinthus within it, he leapt out of the Bath unwaſhed, and used these words, Let us flee least the Bath fall, because Cerinthus the enemy of the Truth is in it. Also Polycarpus himself, when Marcion sometime came into his sight, and said, Acknowledge us; He answered, I acknowledge thee the first-begotten of Satan. With such study did the Apostles and their Disciples take heed lest they should have so much as any exchange of speech with any of them that did adulterate the Truth. [n] Eusebius also reports the same, and he records also out of Clement Alexandrinus another memorable story [o] of Johns recovering of an Apostate disciple to repentance and reformed life, who had fallen to common robbing and stealing, and was a Captain of the Thievs, but thats too large here to recite. They that pleale may read it Englished by Mr. Fox in his [p] Book of Martyrs.

Touching Johns death reports of Writers are various and uncertain, and some circumstances thereof related, seem fabulous and incredible. Nicephorus saith, [q] That John fore-seeing the day and hour of his dissolution, went forth at last (the Elders and Ministers accompanying him) out of Ephesus to a neighbouring tomb where he was wont to pray, and there praying earnestly he commended the Churches to God, Takes his leave of them and covered with grave cloaths went into the Sepulcher and fell asleep in the 68 year after Christs Passion; whence his body was translated and carried up to Heaven. Sophronius (as Parens hath noted) reports, That John dyed in the third year of Trajane the Emperour, that is in the 68 year after Christ Resurrection. Hieron writes [r] That John in the fourteenth year of Domitian, who raised up the second Persecution after Nero banished by him into the Isle of Patmos, wrote his Revelation, which Justine Martyr and Irenæus interpret. But Domitian being slain, and his Acts being for their too much cruelty rescinded by the Senate, he returns to Ephesus under Nerva the Emperour, and there continuing till Trajane the Emperour, he founded and governed all the Churches of Asia, and being worne with old age, he died in the 68 year after the Lords Passion, being buried nigh that City. And Augustine, Commenting of those words of Jesus to Peter touching John, [t] If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? &c. saith thus, [u] John by occasion of these words, is believed to sleep alive under the Earth. Of whom they have a Tradition which is found in some writings though Apocryphal, that when he commanded a Sepulcher to be made for him, he was present and well; it being digged and diligently prepared, there he laid himself, as in a bed, and presently dyed But as these think, that thus understand the Lords words, he dyed not, but lay down like one dead: and when he was supposed to be dead, he was buried sleeping, and so remains till Christs coming, and declares his life by the bubling up of the dust, which dust is supposed to ascend from the bottom to the top of the tomb by the force of his breath that resteth in it. And yet some report, [x] John made his Sepulcher with his own hands; and left his Disciples, Overseers of several Churches, viz, Papias of Jerusalem, Polycarp of Smyrna, and Ignatius of Antioch.

§. II. Time when, and Occasion whereupon John wrote his Gospel.

Time, John wrote his Gospel last of all the Evangelists, as [y] Hierome testifieth. Irenæus saith, [z] John the disciple of the Lord, who also leaned upon his breast, he published his Gospel while he dwelt at Ephesus in Asia. * Eusebius also citeth this Testimony out of Ireneus. Hence it is very probable, that John wrote his Gospel towards the end of his life; Having preached (as some think) 65 years, till the last times of Domitian, and that without any help of writing.

Occasion of Johns writing his Gospel, Ecclesiastical Writers tell us was twofold, viz. 1. To oppose and [b] confute the blasphemous heresies of Ebion and Cerinthus, who denied the Divinity of Christ, and of the Nicolaitans before them, who held divers horrid and absurd opinions touching Christs Person. Hence John in the beginning of his Gospel, so notably asserts the Divinity and Humanity of Christs Person. Hierome thus relates this Occasion, [c] When John was in Asia, and the seeds of Hereticks, Cerinthus, Ebion and others, denying Christ to be come in the flesh, be- gan to bud; whom he in his Epistles calls Antichrists, and the Apostle Paul often smites; He was compelled by almost all the then Bishops of Asia, and messages of many Churches, to write more highly of our Saviours Divinity, and to break in (as I may say,) to the very WORD of God, not so much with a bold as an happy temerity. Whereupon Ecclesiasticall History declareth, when he was compelled by the Brethren to write, he answered he would do so, if they appointing a Fast would all joyntly intreat the Lord; which being performed, he being filled with Revelation, uttered that Proœm comming from Heaven. In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God.——2. To supply what the other three Evangelists had omitted, who principally and for the most part relate things done by Christ, but for that one year wherein Christ suffered, after John was cast into Prison; as [d] Eusebius at large explaineth. Thus Hieremie; [e] when John had read Matthew's, Mark's and Luke's volumes, he approved the Texture of the History, and confirmed that they had spoken Truths, but had framed the History onely of one year, in which he suffered, after Johns imprisonment. That year therefore being passed by, the Acts whereof were declared by three, he declared the things done in the former time before John was shut up in Prison, as may be manifest to them that shall diligently read the volumes of the four Gospels.

§. III. Scope, and Excellency of John's Gospel.

Scope of John's writing his Gospel History, himself expressely noteth, [f] These are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ the Sonne of God, and that believing, yee might have life through his Name. To this end he asserteth both the Divinity and Humanity of Christs Person, against the Heresies of his times: and also describeth his Mediatory Office, especally his Prophecy and Doctrine * in many particulars, which none of the other three Evangelists had touched.

[f] John 20.31.

* A Catalogue of Christs Sermons and Miracles recorded only by John; See in Piscator. Arg. in Ioan.

Excellency of this Gospel is very great, for 1. The Instrumental Author or Penman of it, John, was not onely an Apostle, but an Apostle of many eminent Priviledges, (as afore was noted,) such a compound of grace and sweetness, that above all the rest he drew Christs heart after him. He was (saith [g] Chrysostome,) most holy, full of admiration, abounding with secret wisdome, conferring so many and so great good things, that they who diligently read, and accurately observe him, may now not be accounted men and inhabitants on Earth, but above all good things of this world, may be placed in the rank of Angels, not otherwise inhabit Earth, then as it were heaven it self. 2. The Matter of this History is most sublime and Cœlestiall, viz. Christs ineffable Divinity; and incomparable Doctrine most insisted upon. Iohn hereupon is deservedly compared (saith [h] one,) to the flying Eagle, that soars higher then other Birds, and looks upon the rayes of the Sun with undazled eyes. For the other Evangelists, who sufficiently declare Christs Temporal Nativity and Acts, which he did in his manhood, but spoke little of his Divinity, like going Creatures walk with the Lord on earth. But he speaking little of his Temporal deeds, but more sublimely contemplating the power of his Divinity flyes with the Lord to Heaven: for he that leaned upon the Lords breast at Supper, did more excellently then the rest, drink a draught of Cœlestial wisedome from the fountain of the Lords breast. And John notably supplyes the Doctrine which Christ taught in the first years of his Ministry, before John Baptists imprisonment which others had omitted. 3. The form of Iohns writing is singular in Mysteriousness and Sweetnesse; In Mysteriousness, so often stiling Christ the [i] WORD, because as man expresseth his minde and will to another by a Word, so God hath made himself, and all his pleasure known by his substantiall word, the Son, unto us. In Sweetnesse, this gracious Disciple of Christs love, breathing out such tenders of grace, and Torrents of love all along his Gospel. 4. Finally this Gospel hath been alwayes alwayes had in most high esteem among the ancient learned Fathers. Augustine [k] reports that a Platonist was so taken with the beginning of Johns Gospel, That he said it was to be written in letters of gold, and to be set up in the most eminent places throughout all Churches. And elsewhere, [l] The Gospel excells all pages of Divine Scripture; for what the Law and Prophets foretold to come, the Gospel saith is come to passe. But among the Gospel-writers John excels in the Profoundnesse of divine mysteries. Ambrose saith, [m] Saint John who wrote his Gospel last, as a necessary requisite and Elect of Christ, poureth out eternal mysteries with a greater Trumpet; whatsoever he spoke, is a mystery. And elsewhere, [n] None, I dare say, saw the Majesty of God with such sublimity of wisedome, and unfolded them to us in our language. He transcends the cloudes, transcends the powers of Heaven, transcends the Angels, and findes the Word in the beginning, and sees the Word with God. And of the first chapter he saith, [o] Our Fisher hath excluded all Heresies in this short chapter. For that which was in the beginning, is not included in time, nor prevented by the beginning, therefore let Arrius hold his peace. And that which was with God, is not confounded with commixtion, but distinguished by the solid Perfection of the VVord abiding with the Father; that Sabellius may be dumb. And the VVord was God, therefore this Word is not in the Pronounciation of speech, but in that designation of cœlestial power; that Plotinus may be confuted. And that which was in the beginning with God, is taught to be the inseparable Unity of the eternall Divinity, in the Father and Son: that Eudoxius and Eunomius may blush. Lastly, when all things are said to be made by him, the Maker of the Old and N. Testament is signified, that Manichæus may have no place of Temptation. Thus the good Fisher hath enclosed all in one Net, that he might make them unfit to deceive, though they were unprofitable to be taken. In a word, Chrysostome affirmeth, [p] That this Fisher brings to us such and so profound Doctrine, good Life and Phylosophy, as is evident, he received from the Treasures of the Holy Ghost, as if he had now descended from heaven it self; yea it is credible that even all that are in Heaven do not know these things.

§. IV. Principal parts.

In this Gospel History, JESUS CHRIST is described according to 1. His Person, 2. His Office, 3. His execution of his Office.

CHRISTS PERSON is described as being God-man in one Person, I. The Godhead of Christ the WORD, is gloriously asserted, and clearely proved, 1. By his Eternity, Ch. I. ver. 1, 2. 2. By his Efficiency, Partly in Naturals, viz. creating the world, and all therein; and so enlightning all men with natural light, as John Baptist also testified, ver 3 to 11. Partly in supernaturals, giving the Prerogative of Sonship or Adoption to all regenerate Believers, ver. 11, 12, 13. II. The Manhood of Christ is set forth, 1. By his incarnation. 2. By his cohabitation with men. 3. By his apparently Divine qualifications, ver. 14.

CHRISTS OFFICE is declared, as it was attested by John Baptist, I. More generally, as a full and communicative Saviour, the Substance of the legal types and shadows, ver. 15, 16, 17. II. More particularly, 1. As a Prophet, declaring God to us, ver. 18. II. As King and Priest, 1. Partly John testifying that he was the Christ, viz. Annointed to be both Prophet, Priest and King, and that John himself was only his forerunner, ver. 19. to 29. 2. Partly, John next day pointing him out as with the finger, that he was the Lambe of God, &c. which Testimony, He amplifies, showing that he therefore baptized with water, that Christ might be made manifest to Israel, ver. 29, 30, 31. He confirmes by the Testimony of God at his Baptisme, ver. 32, 33, 34.

CHRISTS EXECUTION of his OFFICE, 1 Before, 2. In his foure eminent Journeys to Jerusalem, at foure solemne Feasts, wherein are described the chief passages of Christs Publick ministry, both in his Life and Death.

I. Before Christs last journey to Jerusalem after his Baptism, are recorded, I. The calling of certain disciples to Christ, viz. 1. Andrew, and another Disciple not named, called to Christ by John Baptists Testimony, ver. 35. to 42. 2. Simon Peter brought to Christ by his brother Andrew, ver. 42, 43.

III. His return from Jerusalem, Partly through Judea, where 1. He by his Disciples baptizeth, ver. 22. 2. Iohn baptizing in Ænon near Salim, gives a most excellent testimony touching Christ to the Iews, complaining that Christ baptized more then he, wherein he debaseth himself that he may exalt Christ, ver. 23. to the end. Partly through Samaria, Ch. IV. 1. to 5. where 1. He conferreth with the Samaritan woman at Iacobs Well, Declaring himself to be water of life, ver. 5. to 16. Convincing her of her adultery, ver 16,17,18. Instructing her in the true Worship of God, ver. 19. to 25. And Declaring himself to be the Messiah, ver. 25, 26. This is amplified by the event of this conference, Upon the Disciples, they wondred, ver. 27. Upon the woman, running to call the Samaritanes to see Christ, ver. 28,29. And upon the Samaritans coming to see him, ver. 30. 2 He showeth to his Disciples mean while, His zeal to his fathers work, ver. 31. to 35. The spiritual harvest of souls ripe already, that the Apostles might reap what the Prophets had sown, v. 35. to 39. 3. He converteth many Samaritanes, tarrying with them two days, ver. 39. to 43. 4. Thence he returneth into Galilee, where he miraculously healeth the Noble-mans son at Capernaum, ready to die, ver. 43. to the end.

CHAP. IV.

II. At another Feast (probably the Feast of Pentecost which next follows the Passeover, as (q) some judge, though others think it was the (r) second Passeover at which Christ was; compare Ioh 6. 4. and that in the second year of his ministry,) when Jesus went up to Ierusalem, Ch. V. 1. At which season. I Jesus cureth on the Sabbath, a man lying at the pool of Bethesda, that had been sick of the Palsie thirty eight years, v. 2. to 10. This act is amplified, 1. By the Jews offence at Christ, and persecuting him for healing on the Sabbath, v. 10. to 17. 2. By Christs Apology for himself and his Act, declaring to them who himself is by a manifold Testimony, viz. Of his father, v. 17. to 32. Of John Baptist, v. 32. to 36. Of his works, v. 36. to 39. And of the Scriptures, ver. 39. to the end. II. Christ feedeth the multitude, about five thousand, with five loaves and two fishes, Ch. VI. 1. to 15. III. Christ walketh on the Sea to his Disciples, v. 15. to 22. IV. Christ preacheth a Sermon to the Capernaites touching himself the true Bread of life, here note 1. The occasion of the Sermon, ver. 22. to 26. 2. The Sermon it self, principally instructing them therein, That himself is the Author of everlasting life, and that faith is the instrument whereby we apply him, ver. 26. to 59. 2. The Events of this Sermon, ver. 59. to the end.

III At the Feast of Tabernacles, In reference to which consider

1. How Christ ascended up to the Feast privately, not openly, as his brethren with ill intent incited him, Ch. VII. 1. to 11.

CHAP. VI.

2. The Jews seeking for him at the Feast, and their various opinions of him, ver. 11. to 14.

3. His Sermon in the Temple in the middle of the Feast to the Jews wonder, ver 14,15. wherein 1 He asserts the Divinity of his Doctrine, ver. 16,17,18. 2 He reproves the Jews for seeking to kill him for healing on the Sabbath, justifying his fact by Circumcision on the Sabbath, ver. 19. to 25. 3 He answers the peoples false Argument that he was not the Christ, because they knew whence he was, ver. 25. to 32. 4 Upon occasion of the Pharisees and chief Priests sending Officers to take him, he threatens after a little while his departure from them, ver. 32. to 37.

CHAP. VII.

4. His Sermon on the last day of the Feast, whereof note 1. The matter, viz. his invitation of all spiritually-thirsty souls to believe in him, promising to them the Spirit, ver. 37. to 40. II The events, 1. The peoples various opinions of him, ver. 40 to 45. 2. The Officers sent to take him, were so taken themselves with his Doctrine, that they could not apprehend him, ver. 45. to 50. 3. Nicodemus his Apology for Christ, ver. 50. to the end.

CHAP. VIII.

5. His teaching the people in the Temple next morning, Ch. VIII. 1, 2. where I. He Catechiseth the consciences of the Scribes and Pharisees asking him what punishment should be inflicted upon the woman taken in adultery, urging her to repent, ver. 3. to 12. II. He preacheth, 1. Declaring himself the light of the world, ver. 12. 2. Asserting the truth of his Doctrine and testimony touching himself by his Fathers joynt testimony also, ver. 13. to 33. 3. Confuting the Jews vain and hypocritical boasting that they were Abrahams seed, by their degenerate wicked practices, showing they were neither children of Abraham, nor of God, but of the Devil, ver. 33. to the end.

6. His

6. His curing the man on the Sabbath day that was borne blinde; Described I. By the Occasion and precedent circumstances, Chap. IX. 1. to 6. II. By the Manner of the cure, ver. 6, 7. III. By the Events ensuing thereupon, viz. 1. The neighbours bring the man to the Pharisees, informing them of Jesus his cure, ver. 8. to 14. 2. The Pharisees enquire of him how Christ cured him, and of his Parents, chiding with him for confessing Christ, and Excommunicating him, ver. 14. to 35. 3. Christ hereupon finds the man, and reveals himself more fully to him, ver. 35. to 39. 4. Christ upbraids the Pharisees for their blindnesse, ver. 39, 40, 41. — CHAP. IX.

7. His Sermon wherein he preacheth himself the True Shepherd and doer of the Sheep, I. Propounding a Parable, wherein he sheweth 1. Who is the true Shepherd, Chap. X. 1, 2, 3. 2. Who the true sheep, ver. 4, 5, 6. II. Expounding the Parable, wherein, 1. He declares himself the onely door of the sheep, and those that guide not to him to be thievs, ver. 7, 8, 9, 10. 2. He asserts himself the good shepherd, upon divers grounds, farre beyond all hirelings, ver. 11. to 19. This Sermon is amplyfied by the Event, viz. The Peoples different opinion of him, ver. 19, 20, 21. — CHAP. X.

8. At Jerusalem at the Feast of Dedication, in Winter, I. Jesus resolves the Jewes that he was Christ, 1. Reproving their unbelief, ver. 22, 23, 24, 25. 2. Proving himself to be the Christ by his works, ver. 25. 3. Comforting himself against their unbelief, Partly by Gods decree, v. 26. Partly by the faith of his sheep, to whom he promiseth perseverance, ver. 27. to 31. II. Jesus expostulates with them against their unjust endeavours to stone him, ver. 31. to 39. III. Jesus escapeth from them seeking to take him, to beyond Jordan, where many believe on him, ver. 39. to the end.

9. His raising of Lazarus of Bethany to life, after he had been four dayes dead, described I. By passages Antecedent, viz. 1. His not coming though sent for, whilst Lazarus was sick, Ch. XI. 1. to 7. 2. His going to raise Lazarus being dead, ver 7. to 18. 3. His entertainment there by Mary, Martha, and the Jews, ver. 18. to 33. 4. His trouble and tears at the sight of Mary's and the Jewes weeping, ver. 33. to 39. II. By the manner of his raising him, ver. 39. to 45. III. By the Events, viz. 1. Many believe, ver. 45. 2. Some tell the Pharisees what he had done, ver. 46. 3 The consultation of the chief Priests and Pharisees how they might destroy him, whereat Caiaphas prophecied that Christ should dye for the Jewes, ver. 47. to 54. 4. Jesus his withdrawing hereupon into Ephraim, near the wildernesse, ver. 54. — CHAP. XI.

IV. At the Feast of the Passeover, viz. The last Passeover Christ, kept with his Disciples: (Himself our true Passeover, being immediately thereupon sacrificed for his Elect.) Where Christs Passion and Death is described by the 1 Antecedents, 2 Manner, And 3 Consequents thereof. — CHAP. XII.

1. The Antecedents or passages going before his death, were I. The Jewes inquisitivenesse after him at the Feast, ver. 55, 56. II. The chief Priests and Pharisees command to detect him, ver. 57. III. Christs coming to Bethany where Lazarus was, six dayes before the Feast, where Mary annointed his feet, wiping them with her hair, Chap. XII. 1. to 9. Amplyfied by the Peoples flocking thither, and by the Jews consulting thereupon to put Lazarus to death also, ver. 9, 10, 11. IV. His entring Jerusalem riding upon an Asses Colt with the Peoples Hosannah's, &c. ver. 12. to 20. This is Amplyfied, Partly by the Greeks desire to see Jesus, who came to worship at the Feast, ver 20, 21, 22. Partly by his Sermon to his Disciples and the People touching Death, Self-denial for Christ, and walking in the light, ver. 23. to 37. Partly by a Declaration, 1. Of the Jewes general blindnesse and unbelief; though some of the Rulers believed in him, but confessed him not; 2. Of the benefits of faith, and mischiefs of unbelief, ver. 37. to the end. V. His Paschal-Supper with his Disciples; at which 1. He washeth the Disciples feet, teaching thereby his spiritual washing them, and humility one to another, *Chap. ACTS

The Acts:

§. I. Order and Name.

HItherto of the History of Jesus Christ, the Head of the Church described by the foure Evangelists.

THE HISTORY OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, his mystical Body, and that in the purest primitive Apostolical times, next followes; and is contained in the ACTS OF THE HOLY APOSTLES. So denominated, from the principal Subject-matter of this Book, viz. The Acts of the * Apostles in the infancy of the primitive Church, therein recorded Historically.

* Object. But how can this Book be called The Acts of the Apostles, when it almost writes of Paul alone?

Answ. Many things are in this History recorded of all the Apostles, to chapter 13. But more of Paul then of any of the rest; Partly because Luke that penned it, was almost Pauls Companion in all his travels; Partly because as Pauls conversion was more miraculous, so his Ministry and course was more illustrious. He laboured more abundantly then they all, 1 Cor. 15. 10. Partly most of the other Apostles after the dispersion, exercised their Ministry among Gentiles, less famous then Jewes, Greeks and Romans. But its specially observable in this History, here's nothing at all mentioned of any Bishoprick that Peter had at Rome. And Funccius (Com. l. 5. in Chronol.) demonstrates that Peter never was at Rome. D. Par. in Prolog. in Act. Ap.

§. II. Penman.

Penman of this History was Luke (the beloved Physitian) who also wrote the Gospel, (of whom [a] see what is there spoken,) as appears, 1. By the Testimony of the ancient Complutense-Manuscript-Copy, wherein Lukes name is prefixed. 2. By the Preface or Introduction of this Book, wherein he mentions the former Treatise of the Gospel penned by him; names Theophilus, to whom he directed particularly this History of the Apostles, as well as that History of Christ, and also he connects or knits this Book to his Gospel, by continuing the History where he formerly left, viz. At the Resurrection and Ascension of Jesus Christ, which [b] here is somewhat more fully described, and what followed hereupon, so that his Gopel and the Acts of the Apostles, are but as one continued History. 3. By the very stile, which seemes notably to indigitate Luke unto us, Partly it being compleat and polished Greek, becoming Luke an accurate Grecian, who had also most diligently perused the Septuagint version; Partly it being replenished with Hebraismes, suitable to Lukes native Genius, being by countrey a Syrian of Antioch, the Syrian Language being one of the Hebrew-Dialects,) Partly because herein sometimes is the Language of a Physitian, very agreeable to Lukes profession, as [c] his Spirit was stirred in him. [παροξύνω ἐπο, His spirit was in a Paroxysme;] the word is used by Physitians to signifie a sharp fit of an Ague, Fever, &c. And again, [d] The contention was so sharp, [ἐγένετο παροξυσμὸς, there befel a Paroxysme,] —— This word is not used in all the New Testament by any, but Luke and [e] Paul, (whose companion Luke was.) 4. By the consent of ancient and modern Writers; Hierome saith, [f] Luke the follower of the Apostle, and companion of all his travel, wrote the Gospel. —— and put forth also another excellent Volume intituled, The Acts of the Apostles; which History was even to Pauls two years abode at Rome, that is the fourth year of Nero, whence we understand this Book was composed in that City —— He wrote the Gospel as he heard: but he composed the Acts of the Apostles as he saw. And again,

[a] See §. I. upon Luke, where he is at large described.

[b] Acts, 1. 1, 2. &c.

[c] Acts 17, 16.

[d] Acts 15. 39.

[e] 1 Cor. 13. 5. Heb. 10. 24.

[f] Lucas medicus Antiochensis — Sectator Apostoli Pauli, & omnis peregrinationis ejus comes scripsit Evangelium — Aliud quoque edidit volumen Egregium quod titulo πράξεις Ἀποστόλων prænotatur, cujus historia usque ad biennium Romæ commorantis Pauli pervenit; id est ad quartum Neronis Annum. Ex quo intelligimus in eadem urbe librum esse compositum — Evangelium sicut audierat scripsit; Acta vero Apostolorum sicut viderat, composuit. Hieron. Catal. Script. Eccles. Tom. 1.

again, g The Acts of the Apostles seem to import a bare History of the Infancy of the new-born Church, but if we know Luke the Physician to be the Penman of them, (whose praise is in the Gospel, we shall consider also that all his words are a Medicine for a languishing Soul. Oecumenius stiles h Luke the Evangelist, the Declarer of the Acts of Apostles. Erasmus saith, None but the unlearned and unskilful can doubt whether Luke were Penman of the Acts, &c. And Chrysostome testifies, i That the greater part of things here handled are the Acts of Paul, who laboured more then they all; which is the cause that he wrote this Book, who was the Disciple and follower of Paul, namely blessed Luke, &c.

g Actus Apostolorum nudam quidem sonare videntur Historiam, & nascentis Ecclesiæ infantiam texere sed si noverimus Scriptorem eorum Lucam esse medicum, (Cujus laus est in Evangelio,) animadvertemus pariter omnia verba illius, animæ languentis esse medicinam. Hieronym. Paulino Tom. 3. Sic etiam ex eo Beda. Vid. etiam Hieronym. Com. in Ep. ad Philem. ver. ult. Tom. 9. Afore cited on Luke 6. i. Ἔστιν ὁ συγγραφεὺς τῶν πράξεων τῶν Ἀποστόλων, Λουκᾶς ὁ Εὐαγγελιστής. Oecum. Arg. Act. i Ioan. Chrysost. Homil. 1 in Act. Apost. Tom. 3. in Nov. Test.

§. III. Occasion, and Time of the History.

k Hieron. Catalog. Script. Eccles. Tom. 1. l Niceph. Hist. Eccles. l. 2. c. 43. Hen. Alsted Præcog. Theol. l. 2. c. 123.

It is thonght that Luke wrote this History at k Rome, during Pauls imprisonment there, and that l at the request of the brethren at Rome, and by the command of Paul. The time of Lukes writing it, is referred to the sixtieth year of Christ, the fourth of Nero, twenty seventh after Pauls conversion; it contains an history of m about twenty seven years, viz. from Christs Ascention unto the second year of Paul's imprisonment at Rome, which was about the fourth year of Nero.

m D. Pareus in Prolegom. in Act. Apost.

But the peculiar guidance of the Holy Ghost was the principal cause of Luke's writing both this and the former Book.

§. IV. Scope, and Usefulness of this Book, is;

n Acts 1. 2, 3.

To describe unto us the Rise, Growth, State and Practice of the Primitive Christian Church in her infancy in the purest Apostolical times, how she observed and obeyed Christs n Commandements to his Apostles, after his Resurrection and before his Ascention, speaking to them of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, and this both in 1 Matter of faith, 2 Worship and Church-Communion. And 3 Church-Government; that herein the Primitive Church might be an exemplary Pattern to the following Churches in all succeeding ages. So that this is a most useful Book to the Church of God Highly commended by both • Antient and p Modern Writers.

o Hierom stiles all the words of Luke the Physitian in this Book, A medicine for a languishing soul. Hieronym. Paulino. Tom. 3. Chrysostome counts this History such a treasure as is not fit to lie hid in obscurity. Whence no less profit will redound to us then from the Gospels themselves; Here Christs Promises to his Disciples being fulfilled, here the Apostles being described aswonderfully changed for the better, doing the things that Christ did, and greater John 14. 11. preaching the Gospel to the whole World, &c. Ioan. Chrysost. Homil. 1. in Act. Apost. Tom. 3. in Nov. Test.

p Calvin reckons up divers utilities of the History of the Acts, viz. 1. It (relating his sending of his spirit upon his Apostles) confirmes Christs Truth in his Promises, and that he is the mindefull and constant Governour of his Church, no distance of place hindering his promised presence. 2. It points out the beginning of Christs Kingdome, and as it were the renewing of the World; For though the Sonne of God had gathered some Church before he departed out of this World, yet the due forme of the Christian Church then began, when the Apostles furnished with new power, began to preach Christ the onely Shepherd, dead and risen from the dead, to gather all the dispersed to him. Therefore from Christs Ascension, whereby he was declared King of Heaven and Earth, the Rise and progresse of the Church is reckoned, Christ subduing the whole World to the Obedience of the Gospel by a few meere illiterate and contemptible Men, against all tempestuous Oppositions. 3. It sets forth GODS marvellous Protection of his Church, exercised with great Trials and persecutions, yea, continuall Deaths. 4. It declares divers excellent Sermons of the Apostles, wherein the pure Doctrine of the Primitive times was contained. 5. It certainly informes us of of the affaires of the primitive Church under the Apostles; which had we not this History, those spurious Books would have made doubtful and suspected: as the Book touching Peter and Paul, ascribed to him; The fained and ridiculous dispute betwixt Peter and Simon Magus, &c. Joan. Calv. Argum. in Act. Apost. Notably Pareus; This History contains, 1. Eminent Testimonies of Christs Resurrection, Ascension, and Exaltation. 2. The fulfilling of the old Promises of the plentiful effusion of the Holy-Ghost, of the Churches Preservation in midst of her Enemies, of the propagation of the Gospel to the Gentiles. And as the beginning was small and grievous, perhaps so will the end be Luke 18. When the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth? 3. The forme, condition and state of the Apostolick Church, that is, of a Church best constituted. A distinct order of teachers, and them that are taught, &c. 4. In the Disciples, examples of Ministers prudence, faithfulness: what they did, how they taught, how they dealt with the obstinate, how with the infirme, how with foes, how with friends, how they managed prosperity and adversity, how they acted in the doubtful and controversal affaires of the Church. D. Pareus in Prolegom. in Act. Apost.

§. V. Principal parts.

As in the four Gospel-histories, The Birth, Life, Doctrine, Miracles, Sufferings and Death of Christ are described in his state of Humiliation: So in this History of The Acts are described his the glorious Operations of Christ, in and by his Disciples, in his state of Exaltation. Herein consider, 1. The Preface. 2. The History it self.

I.

The PREFACE to the History contains, I. A Summary Repetition, of the termes of Lukes former History of Christ, till his Ascention, so knitting the Histories together, Ch. I. ver. 1, 2, 3. II. A Narration of Christs glorious Ascention into Heaven, described 1 By the Preparation to it, ver. 4. to 9. 2. By the Manner of it, ver 9. 3. By the consequent of it, viz. The Apparition of two Angels to the eleven, gazing up after Christ, and their Prediction of Christs second coming in like manner, ver. 10, 11. CHAP. I.

II.

The HISTORY it self, describing 1 More generally, the Acts of the Apostles in common. 2. More specially, the Acts of Peter and Paul in particular.

I. More generally, The Acts of all or many of the Apostles are described, what they were in the first foundations of the Primitive Church, 1. Before, 2. At, 3. After the Feast of Pentecost.

I. Before the Feast of Pentecost, viz. from Christs Ascention to the Feast, are declared 1. Their joynt devotion at Jerusalem with certain women and brethren, ver. 12, 13, 14. 2. Their calling of Matthias by lot to the Apostleship in the roome of Judas, upon occasion of Peters Sermon inciting thereunto. This was the first Synod at Jerusalem, ver. 15. to the end.

II. At the Feast of Pentecost are set forth, I. The receiving of the Holy-Ghost promised, which is described. 1. By the Time when, Ch. II. 1. 2. The Form or Manner how, viz. Partly with a sound from Heaven, even as a rushing wind, ver. 2. Partly with cloven tongues, as of fire sitting on them, ver. 3. 3. The effects hereof, Upon the Apostles themselves, speaking with other tongues, ver. 4. Upon their hearers, some being astonished, some mocking, ver 5. to 14. II. Peters Sermon occasioned hereupon, wherein, Partly he confutes the false calumny of them that mocked at the Apostles, ver. 14, 15. Partly he informs the Hearers, 1. That the Apostle thus spoke with other tongues by the instinct of the Holy Ghost, ver. 16. to 22. 2. That Jesus Christ, whom they had wickedly crucified, but God had gloriously raised from the dead, and exalted at his Right Hand, had poured forth these gifs of his Spirit, ver. 22. to 34. 3. That God had made this Jesus Lord and Christ, ver. 34. to 37. III. The Effects or fruits of Peters Sermon; viz. 1. The Hearers heart-compunction for crucifying Christ, ver. 37. 2. Their inquiry what they were to do, ver. 37. 3. Peters direction of them in the way of salvation, ver. 38. to 41. 4. The conversion of about three thousand, ver. 41. IV. The conversation and condition of this infant-Church. ver. 42. to the end. CHAP. II.

III. After the Feast of Pentecost are declared,

1. How the Apostles (upon report of the miracles that Peter and John had wrought on the lame man; and the Doctrine they had boldly taught against alll the oppositions and threats of the Priests and Elders) poured forth their Prayers against the Enemies of Christ and his Gospel, Ch. 3 and 4. to ver. 32. Here note I. The miraculous healing of the lame man by Peter and John; described, 1. By the Occasion, Ch. III. 1, 2, 3. 2. By the manner, ver. 4. to 8. 3. By the events of this cure, both on the lame man and the People, ver. 8. to 12. II. Peters Sermon hereupon, wherein, 1. He declares the cause of this cure; Negatively, not any thing in the Apostles; Affirmatively, the power of Christ and faith in him whom they crucified, but God raised again, ver. 12. to 17. 2. He comforts them against their sin of crucifying Christ ver. 17, 18. 3. He exhorts them to repentance and faith in Christ ver. 19. to the end. CHAP. III.

III. The Events of Peters Sermon, viz. 1. The Apprehension and imprisonment of Peter and John by the Priests, Ruler of the Temple, and Sadduces, Ch. IV. 1. to 5. 2. The Rulers proceedings against Peter and John, (who boldly preach Christ before them,) ver. 5. to 23. 3. The Apostles prayer upon report of the whole matter, with the Lords gracious and present answer, ver. 23. to 32. CHAP. VI.

2. How sweetly the believers conversed together, 1. In unity of heart, ver. 32. 2. In community of state, ver. 32. 3. In Authority of the Apostles preaching Christs resurrection, ver. 33. 4. In Beneficence to them that wanted, by sale of their possessions, and depositing the prices thereof at the Apostles feet to be distributed, ver. 33. to the end. This is amplified by the Hypocrisie of Ananias and Sapphira his wife, who sold their possessions, pretended to lay down all the price at the Apostles, but kept back part, and were both smitten dead for lying to the Holy Ghost, Chap. V. 1. to 12.

3. How the Apostles wrought many wonders, 1. To the terror of some. 2. To the conversion of many, ver. 12. to 17.

4. How the Apostles were persecuted, being imprisoned and beaten for preaching Christ Jesus, and how stoutly they behaved themselves under these sufferings, and after them, rejoycing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for Christ, and persisting still in preaching, ver. 17. to the end of the chapter.

CHAP. VI.

5. How the Apostles appointed seven Deacons to take care of the poor; This Act is described 1. By the occasion and moving-cause of erecting such an office, Ch. VI. 1. to 5. 2. By the manner of calling the Deacons to their office, whose names are recited, ver. 5, 6. 3. By the Event hereof, ver. 7. This Narration about the Deacons is amplified by the History of Stephen and Philip, two of the most eminent of the seven Deacons.

CHAP. VII.

Touching Stephen here is declared how he I. Wrought great miracles, ver. 8. II Disputed prevalently against several adversaries, ver. 9, 10. III. Hereupon persecuted by his adversaries. In his persecution, 1. He is accused before the Councel for blaspheming God and the Law of Moses, ver. 11. to the end. 2. He is examined by the Councel touching things laid to his charge, Ch. VII. 1. 3. He makes his Apology before the Councel, answering his accusation, wherein he proves (against the ground of their accusation,) That God was not so pleased with Mosaical Rites and Temple in themselves, as that he would have them to be perpetuated, or could not be worshipped without them; Partly by the example of Abraham and the Fathers, who worshipped God aright, and were chosen of God, before there was either Tabernacle or Temple, v. 2. to 37. Partly by the Testimony of Moses, who prophesied of Christ the Prophet like unto him, who should institute a new way of worship, whom Moses commanded the Jews to obey, v. 37. to 42. Partly by the example of the wicked Jews, who when they had the Tabernacle, worshipped not God aright, in that they served idols, ver. 42, 43. Partly by the nature of the Tabernacle after the heavenly pattern, and of the Temple, which were but to last for a time, and wherein God did not chiefly delight to dwell, ver. 44. to 51. From all which Stephen sharply reproves the Councel for Rebellion against God, v. 51. Cruelty against Gods Messengers, v. 52. Violation of the Law, v. 53. 4. Upon his answer he is barbarously stoned to death, Saul consenting to his death, verse 54. to the end, and Chapter VIII. 1.

CHAP. VIII.

Touching Philip it is storied, I. How he converted the Samaritanes, which is set forth, 1. By the accidental occasion of it, viz. A great persecution of the Church at Jerusalem, to the dispersion of all the preaching Disciples, except the Apostles, (Saul particularly making havock of the Church) v. 2. to 5. 2. By Philips preaching and working miracles in Samaria, to their conversion, whereupon they believing were baptized, ver. 5. to 14. 3. By the Event hereof, viz. The Apostles at Hierusalem, hearing that Samaria had received the faith, sending Peter and John to confirm them with their doctrine, and miraculous giving of the Holy Ghost, by laying on of hands; which power Simon Magus desiring to purchase with money is sharply reproved, v. 14. to 26. II. How he converted the Ethiopian Eunuch, where consider, 1. The Antecedent Preparations thereto, ver. 26. to 30. 2. The Manner of his conversion, ver. 30. to 36. 3. The Events hereof, ver. 36. to the end of the chapt. To this History of Philip, and of the great persecution of the Church at Jerusalem, is annexed the History of Sauls miraculous Conversion, who was one of the chief Persecutors. Sauls Conversion is described, 1. By the season and state wherein the Lord took occasion to convert him, viz. in his heat of persecuting the Church, Ch. IX. 1, 2. 2. By the miraculous manner of his conversion, by the voice of Christ from heaven, and his vocation to the Apostleship, ver. 3. to 20. 3. By the various Events following upon his conversion, verse 20. to 32.

CHAP. IX.

Hitherto of the Acts of the Apostles, described more generally.

II. More specially, The Acts of Peter and Paul, are described in particular.

Peter.

I. The particular Acts and Affairs of Peter, were 1 His Miracles, 2 His Doctrine, 3 His Sufferings. I. His Miracles wrought, viz. 1. Recovering at Lydda a man from the palsie, after he had kept his bed eight years, ver. 32. to 36. 2. Raising Tabitha, called Dorcas, from the dead at Joppa, where many believing, he abode many days, ver. 36. to the end. II. His Doctrine, 1. Preached to Cornelius the Centurion; Described, Partly by the Antecedent causes of his preaching, Ch. X. 1. to 34. Partly by the matter of his Sermon preached, ver. 34. to 44. Partly by the events or issues of his preaching, ver. 44. to the end. 2. Defended against them of the circumcision, that opposed his communion with the uncircumcised Gentiles, by his Narrative of the whole matter, Ch. XI. 1. to 19. [Here the History of Peter is interrupted, by a Narrative inserted Touching 1. The conversion of many in Phenice, Cyprus and Antioch, by them that were dispersed upon the persecution about Stephen, ver. 19. to the end. 2. The Martyrdome of James the brother of John by Herod Agrippa, Ch. XII. 1, 2.] III. His sufferings under Herod who imprisoned him, thinking to kill him; here note 1. Peters imprisonment, ver. 3. to 7. 2. Peters miraculous enlargement by an Angel at the Churches prayers, ver. 7. to 11. 3. The Events upon that enlargement; Partly upon Peter himself, Partly upon his friends; Partly upon the Keepers of the prison, ver. 11. to 20. This Story is amplified, ed, 1. Be a Narration of King Herod the Persecutor his miserable end, ver. 20. to 24. 2. By the Success of the Word afterward, ver. 24.

II. The particular Acts and Affaires of Saul, (after Sergius Paulus his conversion, named Paul,) are recorded chiefly according to five remarkable Peregrinations or Journeyes which he took, viz. Paul.

1. His first journey with Barnabas, to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles, (John Mark being their Minister.) Touching which note I. The Antecedent preparation of them for their journey; 1. By the returne from Jerusalem, whether they were sent with Almes to the poor Saints from Antioch. in Syria, ver. 25. 2. By their solemne Call to this work and travell, Ch. XIII. 1, 2, 3. II. Their journey it self, 1. To Seleucia, ver. 4. 2. To Cyprus, ver. 4. Preaching the word there at Salamis, ver. 5. And at Paphos, before Sergius Paulus Deputy of the Countrey, where Elymas the Sorcerer withstanding them is smitten blind, whereupon the Deputy believed, ver. 6. to 13. 3. To Perga in Pamphylia, where John deserted them, verse 13. 4. To Antioch in Pisidia; where, on the Sabbath-day, at the request of the Rulers of the Synagogue, Paul preached Christ to both Jewes and Gentiles, the Gentiles desiring the same Doctrine might be preached to them the next Sabbath-day, and all the City being come together, the Jewes filled with indignation, blasphemed and contradicted their Doctrine, whereupon Paul and Barnabas turns to the Gentiles, the Jews rejecting the Gospel, v. 14. to 51. 5. To Iconium, where at their preaching and miracles many Jews and Greeks believed, but others raised up persecution against them, ver. 51, 52. and Ch. XIV. 1. to 6. 6. Thence they flee to Lystra and Derbe, Cities of of Lycaonia; where, They preach the Word; they heal the Creeple at Lystra, upon which the People would have sacrificed to them as to Gods, had they not been hindred; Paul at the Jews instigation is stoned almost to death, ver. 16. to 21. III. Their return from their journey, 1. Travelling back through all the places where they had preached, to confirme the Disciples converted, ver. 21. to 26. 2. Coming to Antioch whence they were sent forth, ver. 26. 3. Making report of the successe and affaires of their journey, ver. 27, 28. CHAP. XIII. CHAP. XIV.

2. His second journey with Barnabas, Judas and Silas, from Antioch to Jerusalem, to that famous Synod there, Described by the 1 Occasions, 2 Acts, and 3 Events thereof. I. By the * Occasions or procuring causes of the Synod, which were, 1. The Doctrine, which certain coming from Jerusalem taught the Convert-Gentiles, viz. That the observance of Circumcision (and consequently of the Ceremonial Law,) was necessary for them to Salvation, Ch. XV. 1. 2. The Schisme, [σχίσις] raised by them that troubled the Disciples, ver 2. 3. A great dispute of Paul and Barnabas with them about this question, ver. 2. 4. The Churches determination to send Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, as Delegates to Jerusalem, to the Apostles and Elders about this matter, who accordingly went, ver. 2, 3. 5. The Delegates Narration of the whole business to the Apostles, Elders, and Church when come to Jerusalem, ver. 4 5. II. By the Acts of the Synod convened about this Matter, v. 6. &c. which were, Partly Deliberative, Partly Decisive, both of them in an ordinary Synodall, not in an extraordinary and infallible way. Deliberative, 1. In much disputation, ver. 7. 2. In Peters discourse or suffrage, wherein he clears the point of Justification by faith, and of Salvation, without the works of the Law, by the instance of Cornelius and other Gentiles with him, who at Peters Preaching believed, and received thereupon the gifts of the Holy-Ghost as well as the Jewes, and yet were not circumcised ver. 7. to 12, 3. In Barnabas and Pauls Narrative of the successe of their Ministry among the Gentiles, whereby also Peters sentence is confirmed, ver. 12. 4. In James his sentence, Partly confirming Peters discourse, By the testimony of the Prophet Amos, ver. 12. to 18. By the decree of God that the Gentiles should be received in without Circumcision, ver. 18. Partly adding his own advice touching an expedient, for removing and preventing of the Scandal of the weak Jewes, viz. That the believing Gentiles gratifie them in abstaining from four things mentioned, which occasioned the scandal, ver. 19, 20, 21. Decisive, having thus debated and stated the question, the whole Synod, according to what Peter and James had spoken, determines and makes authoritative Decrees, imposing them upon the Churches; imparting them to the Church of Antioch, both by word of mouth, and by Epistle, which is expressely recited, ver. 22. to 30. III. By the Events of these Synodall Acts, ver. 30. to 36. CHAP. XV.

*There were three great evils which were the Occasion of that meeting together of the Apostles and Elders. 1 Heresie taught, asserting the necessity of observing the Ceremoniall Law, and that believers could not be saved without it. 2. The Scandal of the weak Jewes, and their alienation of mind from the Gentiles, who did neglect those Ceremonies. 3. The Schisme, or σχίσις raised by those who troubled the Disciples. And accordingly there was a threefold power or Authority, put forth in this meeting, 1. The Dogmatick Power, confuting the Heresie and vindicating the Truth. 2. The Diatactick Power, making a practical Canon for avoiding the scandal, and abstaining from such things as gave Occasion of it. 3. The Critick Power, ver. 24. Branding those Teachers with the black Marks of Lyars, subverters of souls and troublers of the Church. Answer of the Assembling of Divines to the Reasons of the Dissenting Brethren, pag. 65. 66.

3. His third journey with Silas (Barnabas parting from him through the contention about Mark,) to visit the Brethren in every City, where he and Barnabas had preached the word, ver. 36. to 41. viz. I. Through Syria and Cilicia confirming the Churches, ver. 41. II. Then to Derbe and Lystra, Cities of Lycaonia; where 1. Paul circumciseth Timothy, Ch. XVI. 1, 2, 3. 2. They delivered the Decrees of the Synod to the Churches as they went, ver. 4, 5. 3. Through Phrygia and Galatia, being forbidden by the Spirit to preach in Asia, v. 6. IV. To Mysia, where the Spirit suffered them not to go into Bithynia, v. 7. 5. Thus, of all the Books of the New Testament which are Historical; Next in order follow those Books which are Epistolical.

II. EPISTOLICAL BOOKS.

THE EPISTOLICAL BOOKS of the New Teſtament are all the Epiſtles, written by the Apoſtles; the Apoſtles being oft-times unable to inſtruct by their perſonal preſence, ſupplyed that by writing Epiſtles. Thoſe Epiſtles are either written, 1. To the Beleeving Gentiles. Or, 2. To the Beleeving Jewes, as was formerly noted.

1. To the beleeving Gentiles, The Apoſtle Paul wrote his Epiſtles; which are 1. General, written to whole Churches: 2. Particular, to ſome ſelect particular perſons.

a Hen. Alſted. Praecog. Theol. l. 2. c. 124.

I. Some a do rank Pauls Epiſtles thus according to the Churches and Perſons to whom they were written, viz.

Pauls Epiſtles were written:
- 1. To whole Churches, either in
  - 1. Europe, as to the Churches at
    - Rome — in Italie.
    - Corinth, Theſſalonica — in Grecia.
    - Philippi — in Thracia.
  - 2. Aſia, as to the Churches at
    - Galatia, Epheſus, Coloſſe — in Aſia Minor.
  - 3. Judea, and in other Nations diſperſed, as the Epiſtle to the Hebrews.
- 2. To particular Perſons; as to — Timothy, Titus, Philemon.

II. Others b endeavour, and that not unprofitably to marſhall Pauls Epiſtles, in the Order of times and ſeaſons, wherein they were ſeverally written, which Order is not obſerved as they are placed in our Bibles. And though the punctual time when every Epiſtle was written, cannot evidently and infallibly be demonſtrated either by the Epiſtles themſelves, or other Eccleſiaſtical Hiſtories, yet we may have good probabilities hereof, as may appear in this Type or Table enſuing.

A Chronological Table, deſcribing the Order and Time wherein Pauls Epiſtles were written.

PAuls Epiſtles were written 1. Before his Bonds and Captivity at Rome. 2. In his Bonds and Impriſonment there.

I. Before his Bonds and Captivity at Rome, as theſe ſeven Epiſtles in this Order, viz.

1. Firſt

1. First of all seems to be written the I. To Thessalonians, From Athenes by Tychicus. For Paul by reason of the tumultuous Jewes going from Thessalonica to Berea, and thence to Athens, Act. 17. Thence he confirmes the Thessalonians in the faith by his first Epistle, as appears by 1 Thes. 3 1,2. and by the subscriptions of both the Epistles to Thessalonians, (if Epistolical Subscriptions may be credited.) There are who think this and the other Epistle were written at Corinth, because Paul stayed not long at Athenes, and because Timotheus and Silas came not to Paul at Athens, but at Corinth, and there abode a while with him, Acts 18. 1,5. This Epistle written about seventeen years after his Conversion, in the eighth or ninth year of Claudius, and nineteenth year after Christs Passion, wherein (according to Hierome) the Councel at Jerusalem, was held.
2. About the same time, and in the same place Paul seems to have written the II. To Thessalonians, by Tychicus also. For what he had written in the former of Christs coming, and of the end of the World, he further explains in this, and vindicates.
3. The I. To Timothy seems to be written by Paul from Laodicea of Phrygia, Pacatiana sent by Tychycus the Deacon, when returning the second time from Jerusalem, he passed through the Region of Galatia and Phrygia, Acts 18.23. and before he returned to Ephesus, Acts 19.1. For he promiseth to Timothy, being at Ephesus, that he would shortly come thither, 1 Tim. 1.3. and 3.14. viz. in the nineteenth year after his Conversion, (as is thought) in the tenth or eleventh of Claudius, and the one and twentieth after Christs death.
4. Next seems written the I. To the Corinthians, from Ephesus while Paul stayed there, from Acts 19. 9, 22. compared with 1 Cor. 16.8. (and this rather then from Philippi, as the Greek Postcript intimates, and before he went through Macedonia,) 1 Cor. 16. 5. for he passed through Macedonia, after his three years abode at Ephesus. See Acts 19. 1, 8, 10, 21, 22. compared with Acts 20. 1. about the end of which time he is supposed to write this Epistle at Ephesus, before Pentecost. For he saith, I will tarry at Ephesus, untill Pentecost, 1 Cor. 16. 8. which when he wrote he seems plainly to be at Ephesus. And Chrysostome so interprets it, saying, When he wrote this Epistle he was at Ephesus, it being winter. Joan Chrysost. in 1 Cor. 16. 8. Hom. 43. Vid etiam Athan. in Synopsi. And this Pentecost went before that Pentecost when he intended to be at Jerusalem, Acts 20. 16. which fell out about the sixty fourth year after Christs death, in the ninth of Nero, which year coming to Jerusalem with the contribution, he was cast into Bonds: in the thirtieth year after his Conversion.
5. Not much after this first Epistle: Paul wrote his II. To Corinthians from Philippi, when after Demetrius his tumult, he left Ephesus and came into Macedonia, Acts 20. 1, 2, 3. for then he must needs come to Philippi, (which was the first city upon the coast of Macedonia, Acts. 16. 12.) Hither referre that intimation of his coming to Corinth, with them of Macedonia, 2 Cor. 9. 4. that is there said to be done, when after he had passed through Macedonia into Greece, he had stayed three moneths, Acts 20. 2, 3. And after we never read that he returned into Greece.
6. In the same passing through Macedonia: At Nicopolis (as the Postscript intimates,) not farre distant from Philippi before he came into Greece, Paul is supposed to have written his Epistle to Titus, whom he calls from Crete to Nicopolis, because there he had determinated to winter, Tit. 3. 12. though he seems after to have altered his purpose, and to have wintred in Grecia, as is thought at Corinth. Some think it was written from Ephesus.
7. The eminent Epistle to the Romans seems to have been written, whilst Paul was wintring at Corinth: for after that, we read not that he returned to Corinth, but having wintred in Greece, because of the treacheries of the Jewes, returning through Macedonia, he came to Syria with the Contribution, whence at last he was carried bound to Rome, in the sixty fourth year of Christ, in the ninth of Nero, and in the thirtieth year after his own conversion. So that these three Epistles, viz. The II. to Corinth, To Titus, And To the Romanes, seem to be written as is said, and all within the space of half a year: but the Epistle to the Romanes seems to be the last he wrote before he came captive to Rome. Origen and Chrysostome prove it was written after both the Epistles to the Corinthians, because in both those Epistles he stirs them up to a collection for the poor Saints at Jerusalem, 1 Cor. 6. 1. to 6 2 Cor. 8. 9. which contribution he saith he had received from the Churches of Macedonia and Achaia, to carry it into Judea, Rom. 15. 25, 26. and he brought it to Jerusalem, in his last journey into Syria, described Acts 20. and 21. as himself testifies in his Apology before Felix, Acts 24. 17.

II. In his Bonds and Imprisonment at Rome, and this under 1. His former, 2. His later Imprisonment there.

I. Under his former Imprisonment when he was in more free Custody, at his first coming to Rome, Acts 28. 16, 20, 30, 31. Then probably he wrote his Epistle to the Hebrewes; For declaring that his brother Timothy was set at liberty, he promiseth the Hebrewes to come with him and see them. Heb. 13. 23. therefore then he had some hopes of liberty, or it may be had liberty at that time and preached in Italy, whence perhaps the Epistle is said to be written, not from Rome, but from Italy.

II. Under his latter Imprisonment, when he was clapt up in closer restraint. Then he wrote his other six Epistles, (in all which he mentions his chains,) and probably he wrote them in this Order, viz.

1. To the Galatians by Tychicus, to whom he writes that he bears in his body the marks of the Lord Jesus, Gal. 6. 17. viz. either his chains, torments, or brands.
2. To the Ephesians by Tychicus also, to whom he mentions his chain, Eph. 6. 20.
3. To the Philippians by Epaphroditus, them he salutes in the name of divers of Cæsars houshold, Phil. 4 22.

4. To

4. To the Colossians by Tychicus and Onesimus, them he requests to remember his bonds, Col. 4. 18.
5. To Philemon by Onesimus Paul wrote, being a Prisoner and now aged, Phil. 9. and it is thought he wrote this Epistle after his first Apology, in which all men forsook him, but the Lord stood by him, and delivered him from the mouth of the Lyon, 2 Tim. 4. 17. Therefore having some dawnings of hope that he should be delivered, he desires Philemon to prepare him a lodging, for I trust (saith he) that through your prayers I shall be given unto you, Philem. 22. but the Lord had otherwise determined. Some think this Epistle was written after the II. to Timothy, because there he bids Timothy and Mark to come to him, whom here he intimates to be with him, ver. 1, 24. But others collect rather the contrary, 1 Partly because here he desires a lodging to be provided for him, ver. 22. but in that Epistle he is not solicitous about his lodging, but about his departure out of this life, 2 Tim. 4. 6. 2 Partly because there he complains that Demas had forsaken him, 2 Tim. 4. 10. But here he salutes Philemon in Demas his name, ver. 24. Therefore this Epistle was written before Demas his desertion, or Demas had returned again unto him.
6. Last of all, a little before his Martyrdome, (which fell out in the thirty seventh year after Christ, in the fourteenth year of Nero, (as Hierome thinks, Hier. in Catal. Script. Eccl. Tom. 1.) and in the thirty fifth year after his own Conversion, or thereabouts,) Paul wrote his II. To Timothy, as all Circumstances evince, and the Epistle it self intimates. I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand, 2 Tim. 4. 6.

This noting of the several times of the Apostle's writing his Epistles is useful, To let us see why the Apostle wrote so variously about the same things, as Circumcision and other Ceremonies, For to the Romanes he exhorteth that they should receive the weak, &c. about Ceremonies and indifferent things, Rom. 14. 1. &c. But to the Gallatians and Colossians, utterly condemns use of Circumcision, &c. Gal. 5. 2. &c. Col. 2. the reason is the difference of times, as Chrysostome hath noted. Ceremonies were alwaies in themselves Mortales, Mortal: At Christs death became Mortuæ, Dead; only Moses must be honourably buried; for the weak Jewes the use of them was permitted a while; But after that they became Mortiferæ, Deadly to them that used them.

But here Pauls Epistles shall be considered according to the method and distribution of all the Books of the New Testament first proposed, and that the rather because so we shall view them, as they stand in order in our Bibles.

And fir st of all Pauls general Epistles to whole Churches, which are nine, viz To the Romanes.

I. Order of this Epistle.

THis Epistle to the Romanes, though not first written yet is set first, 1. By reason of the dignity of the Romanes to whom it was written, Rome being the Seat of the Empire, and Head of the World. 2. Because of the largenesse of this Epistle, this being the longest of all the Epistles: As Isaiah is set first, being the longest of all the Prophets. 3. But especially from the dignity of the matter, and dexterity in handling it, The Body of Divinity is so admirably herein handled, especially the principal points of Election, Reprobation, Redemption, Faith, and Justification by Faith, &c. That it is deservedly called by some [Clavis Theologiæ,] The Key of Divinity, and [Methodus Scripturæ,] The Method of Script ure.

§. II.

§. II. Name, and Penman.

The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the ROMANES.

So denominated, 1. Partly from the object to whom the Epistle is written, viz. The beleeving [a] Romanes; when this Epistle was written, there was so famous a Church at Rome, that their [b] Faith was spoken of throughout the World. Yea there were even in Cæsars [c] houshold that had received the Faith.

But by whom or when was the Church of the Romanes first planted?

Answ. Scripture is silent, [d] Papists say by Peter; But Peter never was at Rome, as learned men [e] demonstrate, much lesse planted the Church there. Barnabas is supposed to have preached Christ at Rome, and to have converted the Romanes, under the Reign of Tyberius, if [f] Clement may be believed. But now Rome is as infamous; as once it was famous; being the [g] Seat of Antichrist; The [h] Spiritual Egypt; [i] Sodome; and [k] Babylon devoted to destruction, &c. 2. Partly from the Penman of the Epistle, viz. [l] Paul.

Paul is a Latine name originally; from Paulus signifying A-little-one. So the Romanes were wont to call them that were Little of Stature. Paul being appointed the Apostle of the Gentiles, seems most to be delighted with this Romane name. He was before his conversion [m] called Saul; an Hebrew name, signifying Desired, Asked, &c. from the Hebrew שָׁאוּל Shaal, To ask, desire, &c. but after his conversion he is for most part called Paul. Augustine saith, [n] Christ with one voice prostrated Saul, erected Paul; that is, he prostrated a proud one, erected an humble one. For what is the reason of changing his name, that being called Saul before, he would be called Paul afterwards: but that he acknowledged that the name of Saul was in him while he persecuted, a name of pride? Therefore he chose an humble name, to be called Paul, that is, A little one,——Of which name he now glorying, and commending his humility, saith, I am the least of the Apostles, &c. Ambrose also to like purpose, [o] Amongst our Ancients, names were framed upon some reason, as Isaac for Laughter, Jacob for supplanting; so he is called Saul for his restlessencsse, but after he believed, of Saul he calls himself Paul, that is changed. And because Saul according to the foresaid sense, is interpreted unquietnesse or tentation, when he came to the Faith of Christ, he calls himself Paul; that is, as it were of a Tempter made quiet and humble, or little, and because our Faith is Peace. For whereas formerly he brought temptations upon Gods servants by his zeal of the Law: himself afterwards suffered temptations for the hope, which through the love of Judaisme he had before denyed. Some think he first had this name Paul given him, upon occasion of his conversion of Sergius [p] Paulus the Deputy. Where upon excellently Hierome; [q] Attend diligently, that here first he received the name of Paul. For as Scipio having subjected Aphrica, assumed to himself the name of Aphricanus: and Metellus having subdued the Island of Crete, took to his family a Cretian Ensigne, &c. So Saul being sent to preach to the Gentiles, from the first spoil of that Church, Sergius Paulus the Proconsul, he carried away the Trophees of his victory, and erected a Banner, that of Saul he should be called Paul. But if the interpretation of the name be sought, Paul in Hebrew sounds Wonderful: Wonderful indeed, that after Saul who is interpreted Desired, because he was desired of the Devil to vex the Church, he of a Persecutor should become a vessel of Election. Notwithstanding (as [r] some conceive,) it is not likely that he changed his name Saul into Paul; but rather that he had two names, as all the Jewes had that were freemen of Rome. Sa^u^l then denoted his Nation and Religion, Paul imported his Romane freedome. [s] And Scripture favours this that he had two names, saying; [t] Saul which also is Paul.

The History of this Paul is notably described in the New Testament, as is evident, if the Acts of the Apostles, and his Epistles be exactly compared together. He was a man so singularly observable both before and after his conversion, that to make a full description of him, would fill a considerable volume. In so much that Hierome coming to speak of him among other Penmen of Holy Writ, saith, [u] Concerning him I think better to be silent, then write a few things; yet as of other holy Penmen, take a short tast of Paul also.

I. Touching his Nation, Descent and Education; He was a [x] Jew, [y] Of the stock of Israel, of the Tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews; (yet his Parents names are not recorded.) [z] Borne in Tarsus a City of Cilicia, a Citizen of no meane City, (which being a Colony, and having the Priviledge of the Romane-freedome, Paul, though of Jewish Parents, yet saith he was a [a] Roman, free-borne.) [b] Circumcised the eighth day; [c] Brought up in the City Jerusalem, at the feet of Gamaliel, and taught according to the perfect manner of the Law of the Fathers.

II. Touching his Religion and life before his conversion; [d] he profited above many his equals in the Jewish Religion; [e] After the most strictest Sect of their Religion he lived a Pharisee; [f] He was blameless in legal righteousnes, [g] he was a most zealous Persecutor of the Church of Christ; held the Garments of those that stoned Stephen, consenting to his death; Made havock of the Church, entring into every house, and haling men and women, committed them to Prison; [h] Breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the Disciples of the Lord, (and being a fit instrument for exercising the Priests cruelty against the Christians,) [i] he received authority from the chief Priests, and shut up many of the Saints in Prison, and when they were put to death, he gave his voice against them, and punished them oft in every Synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being exceedingly mad against them, persecuted them even unto strange Cities; [k] But he obtained mercy because he did it ignorantly in unbelief.

III. Touching his Conversion, it was most singular and miraculous; For at last as he was in his Circuit of Persecution, travelling towards Damascus, [l] in the way suddenly a light from Heaven shined round about him, and he fell to the Earth, and heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? I am Jesus whom thou persecutest; it is hard for thee to kick against the Pricks, &c. Whereupon (as Augustine saith,) [m] He was sent to the Gentiles, of a Thief a Shepheard, and of a Wolfe a Sheep. Of a Destroyer, he became a Master-builder of the Church, and of a pernicious Persecutor, a precious Preacher, yea, a prime Apostle of Jesus Christ; while he was a Saul, Christ had not a more bitter foe; when he became a Paul, Christ had not a better friend; The worst child of nature, the best child of grace.

IV. Touching his Conversation and Apostolick Function, after his Conversion it was most pious, laborious and efficacious. 1. In Preaching the Gospel, (having received the same by [n] Revelation of Jesus Christ, [o] being wrapt up into the third Heavens, which is Paradise,) He [p] laboured more abundantly then all the Apostles; And [q] from Jerusalem to Illyricum he filled all places with the Gospel of Christ; both planting it where it was not, and confirming the faithful therein where he had planted it. To which end he undertook divers tedious and hazardous [r] voyages both by land and sea with indefatigable Activity and incomparable success. Whereupon saith Hierome excellently, [s] Paul was the ARROW OF THE LORD; who after he had flown hither and thither, being shot in the Lords Bowe from Hierusalem to Illyricum, he hastned to go into Spaine, That as a swift Arrow he might make both East and

West fall under the feet of his Lord. And elsewhere he elegantly stiles him: The Vessel of Election, The Trumpet of the Gospel, The roaring of our Lyon, The Thunder of the Gentiles, The flood of Christian Eloquence: who rather admires then speaks the mystery unknown to former Generations, and the depth of the riches both of the wisdome and knowledge of God. II. In Penning the Sacred Scriptures he had no small share, writing divers admirable Epistles, both to whole Churches, and to particular Persons, fourteen in all, (The Order and Time whereof hath been formerly noted.) In which the sublimity of the Matter, the Majesty, Gravity and Elegancy of the stile, and the pathetical quickness of the Arguments, are such as are able marvellously to penetrate all Readers hearts. By which, he then absent, instructeth the Churches: he now dead, yet still liveth, and speaketh to all succeeding Churches. These Epistles of his [u] Ambrose, and after him, [x] Augustine compares to the Land of Canaan flowing with milk and honey, yea saith, which of his Epistles are not whiter then milk, sweeter then Honey? which Epistles at the Churches Breasts nourish People to salvation. Learned Hierome thus extols them; [y] I will bring forth the Apostle Paul, whom as oft as I read, methinks I do not so much hear words as thunders; read his Epistles, especially to the Romanes, Galatians, Ephesians, in which he is wholly in Controversie; and you shall see him in the Testimonies which he takes out of the Old Testament, how artificiall, how prudent, what a dissembler of that which he doth. Some words seem simple, and as it were of an ignorant rustical man, who neither knows to do, nor decline deceits: but what way soever thou look'st, they are thunderbolts; He sticks in his cause; He takes every thing which he toucheth; he turns the back that he may conquer; he feigneth flight that he may kill. III. In [z] Miracles and signs which he wrought, he was none of the meanest among the Apostles. 1. He [a] struck Elymas with blindness, seeking to turn Sergius Paulus the Deputy from the Faith. 2. He [b] healed at Lystra, a man lame from his mothers wombe. 3. He [c] cast out of a maid a spirit of divination. 4. He [d] did speciall maracles at Ephesus, curing the sick, and casting out Devils, by hand kerchiefs or aprons brought from his body to the sick. 5. He [e] raised up Eutichus. 6. He [f] shook the Viper off his hand into the fire, not hurt thereby. 7. He [g] cured the Father of Publius of a Feaver and a bloody flix; besides many other [h] miracles which he wrought for confirming his Ministry among the Gentiles. IV. In Revelations and Visions he excelled, For, 1. He [i] received his Gospel from Jesus Christ by Revelation. 2. He [k] was caught up into the third Heaven, Paradise; and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for man to utter. 3. He [l] was commanded by Revelation to depart quickly out of Jerusalem. 4. He [m] by Revelation ascended to Jerusalem after fourteen years. 5. He [n] is by Vision called to preach in Macedonia. 6. He [o] at Corinth is by vision encouraged to preach boldly. 7. He [p] in Jerusalem was incouraged by the Lord in a night-vision, that as he had testified of him there, so should he bear witness of him at Rome. 8. He [q] was informed by an Angel of the Lord, of the shipwrack and safety notwithstanding of all that sailed with him. V. In the Extraordinary gifts of the Spirit he abounded, nor was therein [r] behind the chief Apostles. He had 1. The gift of Miracles, as was shewed. 2. The gift of Tongues, [s]

The gift of Prophecy; For x he foretells to the Elders of Ephesus, that wolves should come among them after his departure, &c. y He paints out Antichrist in lively colours, foretelling his Rise and Ruine; z He prophecied of the extreme corrupt manners of the last times. And (as a Lactantius reports) Paul being at Rome foretold, that after a short time God would send a King, who should fight with the Jews, levell their Cities to the ground, besiege them worn with hunger and thirst, that they should eat the bodies of theirs, and consume one another. Lastly, that being taken they should fall into their enemies hands, and see their wives bitterly vexed, their Virgins violated and prostituted, their Sons destroyed, their children dashed, and all things laid waste with fire and sword, and the captive Jews to be banished from their Land for ever, because they insulted over the most beloved and approved Son of God. All which Vespasian effected, extinguishing the Nation and Name of the Jews.

VI. In Sanctifying Graces and Holinesse of Life, adorning his calling, he was most eminent and exemplary. His Faith, Repentance, Self-denial, Courage, Zeal, Contentment, Patience, Uprightnes, Heavenlines and good Conscience in all things are abundantly declared. VII. Finally, In Sufferings b for Christ and the Gospel, he was incomparable, rejoycing and triumphing under them.

In a word, what may be sufficiently spoken of Paul, in whom as in a Center the choicest virtues and perfections of the Saints did meet? c Paul was a second Abel, not once but every day sacrificed: Paul another Noah, sailing over the floods of ungodlinesse rising up against him, but without an Ark: Paul another Abraham, taken away not only from Countrey and Nation, but after his calling, even from Life it self; Paul another Isaac, willingly bound for a Sacrifice: Paul another Jacob, always watching for that one Flock of the whole world: Paul another Joseph, distributing the food of Truth to the world, pining away with spiritual hunger: Paul another Moses, who brought back all Nations from the devils Tyranny unto Christ: Paul another Aaron, annointed as a Priest to the People of the whole world: Paul another Phinehas striking through the impiety of Jews and Gentiles, as the fornication of minds, with the Javelin of Faith: Paul another David, who in combate provoked the devil as another Goliah: Paul another Elias, more clearly rapt up into heaven: Paul another Elisha, who cleansed the Nations from the inward pollution of Leprosie: Paul another Hezekiah, who drew divers people to the one Faith of Christ: Paul another Josiah, who dissipated and destroyed the Gentiles abominations, &c. Chrysostome d compares Paul to the choicest Saints and Angels, and elegantly spends seven Homilies in the Praises of Paul the Apostle. And elsewhere he saith, e I love all the Saints, but especially blessed Paul, that Vessel of Election, that Cœlestial Trumpet, that Guide of the Spouse of Christ.

V. Finally, Touching Pauls death; After he had wrastled with many difficulties, and waded through many troubles, he was carried bound to Rome, and there beheaded by Nero, that most beastly and cruel Tyrant, in the thirty seventh year after Christs Ascension, the fourteenth year of Nero, and about the thirty seventh after Pauls conversion, as Ecclesiastical f Histories inform us. g Chrysostome saith he was put to death on the twenty ninth day of Iune, and relates the occasion of Nero's beheading him to have been, h because he converted Nero's whore, from her filthines to the faith of Christ, so that she would no longer live with him in uncleanesse. i Ambrose and k Augustine report, That when he was beheaded, milk issued out instead of blood. And as l Hierome writeth, he was buried in the Ostiense way. But whatever were the circumstances of his death, this is certain, He is now with Christ which is best of all, rewarded with a Crown of Life and Glory, 2 Cor. 5. 1. 2 Tim. 4. 7, 8.

§. III. When, and Where this Epistle was written.

When it was written, See in former Table. Where it was written, is to be considered. It is m thought to be penned by Paul at Corinth: 1. Because herein he commends n Phœbe to the Romans. She was a servant to the Church at Cenchrea, which is a Port of Corinth. 2. Because he salutes them in the name of o Gaius his Host, and of the whole Church. And Gaius a Corinthian, p and there baptized by Paul. 3. Because he salutes them in the name of q Erastus Chamberlain of the City, r who abode at Corinth. 4. The Postscript testifies thus much.

§. IV. Occasion, and Scope.

Occasion and Scope of this Epistle seems to be as followeth. The report that Paul had received of some disagreements both in judgement and affection in them of the Church of Rome, who were partly believing Jews, partly believing Gentiles. The Jews either wholly opposing the Gospel, or mingling Law and Gospel together in the case of Justification, and all of them excluding the Gentiles from the fellowship of Christ, and despising them, insisting too much upon the Prerogative of the Jew: Contrariwise the Gentiles, knowing that the Jews were rejected of God, and the Gentiles implanted in their stead, too much insulted over them, as a People cast away, boasting of their own wisdome and virtues, and using their Christian Liberty with offence.

Now to reconcile these Controversies, and to settle them both in the Truth, and in unity of judgement and affection, the Apostle (being hindred from coming to them) deals by letters: Demonstrating that neither Jews had cause to boast of their Righteousnesse and Prerogatives, nor Gentiles of their wisdome; both of them naturally being liable to Eternal Condemnation notwithstanding, and both of them being to be justified by faith in Christ alone, and that they should not abuse grace, but walk in newnesse of life, &c. And therefore the Apostle, I. Removing the false cause of Justification, viz. the works of the Law which some rested in; II. He asserts the true cause both Immediate and Remote. 1. Immediate, viz. True Faith which he concludes upon, confirming it by the example of Abraham, and explaining it by the excellent effects thereof, Peace of Conscience, Assurance of Faith, Joy in God himself, as reconciled in Christ, Newness of Life, Freedome from the malediction of the Law, and Constancy against all Reliques of corruptions or afflictions. 2. Remote, viz. Gods Predestination, where he declares how the Jews, rejected by the pleasure of God for their unbelief, were left in ignorance till the fulness of the Gentiles should be come in, when the Jews should be restored. III. Having thus cleared and proved the Truth of Justification, he proceeds to practical exhortations. 1. Generally to duties belonging to God and Man. 2. Specially how to behave our selves towards Superiours in matters necessary, how towards Inferiours and infirm ones in things indifferent; and so with certain Rules of life and salutations shuts up his Epistle.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this accurate and excellent Epistle to the Romans, are chiefly three parts, viz. 1. A Preface. 2. A Treatise, containing the substance and body of the Epistle. 3. A Conclusion.

THE PREFACE to the whole Epistle, containing 1. An Inscription describing both Paul the Apostle, who wrote; and the Romans to whom he wrote, Ch. 1. ver. 1. to middle of ver. 7. 2. A Salutation, ver. 7. 3. Pauls Gratulation at their eminent faith, v. 8. 4. Pauls Supplication to the Lord, that he might see them, for his and their Spiritual good, in imparting the Gospel to them, v. 9. to 17. I.

THE TREATISE, comprizing the chief Subject-Matter of the Epistle, which is either 1. Informatory and Doctrinal; or, 2. Hortatory and Practical. II.

I. The Informatory or Doctrinal part of the Epistle, wherein the Apostle discourseth and accurately rately disputeth about the true cause of our Justification before God. Declaring what is 1 The immediate; 2. The Remote Cause thereof.

I. The Immediate, or more neer Cause of Justification after he had briefly propounded and hinted it, ver. 17. he describes 1 Negatively. 2. Positively.

1. Negatively, Declaring what it is not, viz. Not Good works according to the Law, because all are under sin. Now he convinceth all of sin, and consequently of the utter impossibility of their Justification by Good works, viz. I. That the Gentiles are under sin. 1. Because they with-hold the Truth of God in unrighteousnes: 2. Because they thereby pulled down Gods wrath upon themselves, ver. 18. This is farther amplified by a Declaration, Partly of Gods way of revealing himself and his Truth to the Gentiles by light of nature, in the Book of the creature, v. 19, 20. Partly of their sinning against this light, v. 21, 22, 23. Partly of Gods heavy spiritual judgements upon them for this sin, viz. Giving them up to all excess of lusts and wickedness, v. 24. to the end of the chapt. Partly of the equity and righteousnes of the judgements of God, whether upon Jews or Gentiles, Ch. II. 1. to 17. II. That the Jews also are naturally under sin, notwithstanding their confident boasting in all their Jewish priviledges, v. 17. to 21. he proves by the fruits thereof in them, viz. 1. Not teaching themselves, v. 21. 2. Stealing, v. 21. 3. Adultery, v 22. 4. Sacriledge, v. 22. 5. Breach of the Law, thereby even provoking Gentiles to blaspheme God, v. 23. to the end. These particulars are amplified, by answering to certain Objections which hereupon the Jews might make, viz. Objct. I. Then the Jew hath no advantage above Gentile, no profit of Circumcision. Answ. Jew had much advantage, especially by having Gods Oracles, Ch. III. 1, 2. Objct. 2. Oracles no advantage, because not believed. Answ. Yet some believed; and God is faithful, though man believe him not, v. 3, 4 Objct. 3. If mans unrighteousnes commends Gods righteousnes, then God is unjust in punishing it. Answ. Yet God cannot be unjust, being the Judge of the world; but they are unjust that hence encourage themselves in evil, because accidentally God brings good out of evil, v. 5. to 9. 6. That the Jews are naturally under sin as well as Gentiles, he further proves by Scripture Testimonies, v. 9. to 20. From all this he draws his Conclusion, Negatively, That no man can be justified by the deeds of the Law, v. 20.

2. Positively, Declaring what it is whereby we are justified, viz. By True faith alone in Jesus Christ, according to the Grace of God, as the only instrumental means whereby Jew or Gentile can be justified. This Justification by Faith alone is 1 Proved. 2 Explicated.

1. Proved, by divers Arguments, viz. 1. Because God hath without the Law revealed another way of justifying sinners, viz. remitting their sinnes by true Faith in Christs blood, redeeming them of free Grace for declaration of Gods righteousnesse; (Grace being the Motive or Impulsive, Christs Blood the Material, Faith the instrumental Cause of Justification.) v 21. to 27. 2. Because our Justification by Faith excludes all boasting, v. 27. Therefore all, both Jew and Gentile, must be justified only by Faith; God being one, and his way of justifying one, v. 28, 29, 30. And yet this Justification doth not evacuate, but establish the Law in Christ, v. 31. 3. Because Abraham, the Father of the Faithful, was justified without the deeds of the Law by Faith only, and that in his state of Uncircumcision, and consequently so must all the spiritual children of Abraham be justified, Ch. IV. throughout.

2. Explicated; Justification by Faith is explained by divers fruits or effects ensuing thereupon; viz. I. Peace with God, Ch. V. 1. II. Joy in hope of the glory of God, v. 2. (which tribulation cannot prevent, but rather promote, v. 3, 4, 5.) this hope being strengthned by this Argument, We were justified by Christs blood when we were enemies, therefore we shall be saved by his life much more being justified, v. 6. to 11. III. Rejoycing in God himself as reconciled through Jesus Christ, v. 11. This our rejoycing in God through Christ, is amplified by the transcendency of Christ, the second Adam's righteousnes, beyond the first Adam's unrighteousnes, which are therefore thus paralleld together, both in respect of their Similitude and Dissimilitude. 1. Their Similitude, As by Adam sin entred upon all his posterity, and by sin Death: So by Christ righteousnes came upon all his posterity, and by righteousnes life; This reddition is implied in those words, who is the Figure of him that was to come, v. 12, 13, 14. 2. Their Dissimilitude; The sin of Adam, whereby the judgement came upon all men to death and condemnation, was but one: but the free-gift of righteousnes by Jesus Christ, hath much more abounded unto many for their Justification from many offences, and not only from that one sin of Adam, v. 15, 16, 17. 3. Their similitude is again repeated and cleared, Thus: As by Adam Judgement abounded to all unto condemnation by one offence of Adam: So by Christ the grace of God abounded to all, to Justification of life by one righteousnes of Christ, v. 18, 19. This Parallel is amplified by preventing an objection against it. Objct. If sin were in the world before the Law, to what end was the Law given? Answ. To these ends, 1. That sin might abound, viz. in the clearer manifestation of it to us. 2. That grace might superabound, viz. might appear more conspicuously, prevailing over such sin, v. 20, 21. IV. Mortification of sin, and Newness of life as another effect of Justification, 1. Is evidenced by our fellowship with Christ both in his Death and Resurrection, Ch. VI. 1. to 12. 2. Is urged upon believers, v. 12, 13. Partly from the nature of Christian liberty, consisting in freedome from sin, and in the service of righteousnes, v. 14. to 21. Partly from the evil effects of sin, shame and death, v. 21. Partly from the good effects of freedom from sin, holiness and eternal life, v. 22, 23 V. Freedom of justified persons from the Law (viz. 1. From malediction and condemnation. 2. From its invitation to sin) This is proved and amplified. Proved

Against the Reliques of sin, they that are in Christ are comforted, Partly, by their security from condemnation, Partly, by their spiritual Conversation, Ch. VIII. 1. Their security from condemnation is evidenced, 1. By the efficacy of the Spirit of life in Christ, ver. 2. 2. By the merit of Christ incarnate for us, fulfilling the Law, and condemning sin, ver. 3, 4. Their spiritual conversation is proved 1. Hitherto of the more immediate cause of Justification, viz. Faith, and the consequents thereupon.

II. The more remote cause of Justification, viz. Gods Predestination to eternal life; brought in to prevent an objection against Justification by faith in Christ, as not true, because the Jewish Nation received it not. Answ. The Apostle therefore shows that Justification belonged not to the whole Nation, but to them onely that believe in Christ; and none believe in Christ but the Elect, others being justly rejected of God according to his eternal counsel, till the Gentiles fulness be come in; and then the remnant of the Elect Jews shall be converted and implanted unto Christ. This the intent of Ch. 9, 10, 11. Predestination is described, 1. By the object Rejected. 2. By the Object Elected.

1. The object Rejected, were the carnal Jewes. Their rejection is declared by preventing certain objections which Jewes might make, viz.

1. Object. Paul thou insultest over the Jewes, flattering the Romans. Answ. Paul insults not over but grieves for the Jews, being most zealous for them as his brethren and kinsmen, honored with many Prerogatives, Ch. IX. 1. to 6.

CHAP. IX.

2. Object. If the Jews be rejected, then Gods Promise hath failed, I will be thy God, &c. Answ. 1. By denying the consequence, for the word hath taken some effect, ver. 6. 2. By distinguishing the seed of Abraham, to whom the promise was made, into children of the flesh and of the Promise; those being rejected, but these being the true elect children of God, ver. 6. to 14.

3. Object. But then God is unjust, loving some, hating others, when both were equal. Answ. 1. By the denyal of Gods injustice, ver. 14. 2. By declaring the just cause of Gods dealing diversly with them, viz. His absolute power and soveraignty, to have mercy on some, and harden others at his pleasure, ver. 15. to 19.

4. Object. Then God finding fault with those whom he hardens, is cruel; for they are necessarily such, not being able to resist his will, ver. 19. Answ. 1. Reproving such replyes against God, ver. 20. 2. Clearing Gods absolute power over his creature, by the Potters power over the clay, ver. 21. 3. 2. The Object elected, viz. both the called Jewes and Gentiles, ver. 24. That the pious Jewes and Gentiles were elected. 1. He proves. 2. He defends against objections.

1. He proves by Scripture-Testimonies, viz. 1. Touching the Gentiles, ver. 25, 26. 2. Touching the Jewes, ver. 27, 28, 29.

2. He defends against Objections to the contrary. As Object. I. It seems absurd that profane Gentiles should attain to righteousness, and not the holy Jewes. Answ He answers, 1. Asserting the thing objected, seem it never so absurd, ver. 30, 31. 2. Evidencing it by the contrary fruits thereof thereof in both Jew and Gentile, *ver.*32,33. Object II. But Paul thou sayst these things out of hatred of the Jewes. They have a great zeal of God, therefore are not rejected. Answ. He

CHAP. X. answers 1. By friendly compellation, *brethren, Chap.X.ver.*1. 2. By testification of his contrary desires and prayers for the Jewes salvation, *ver.*1. 3. By concession that they have zeal, but onely a blinde zeal, which he proves, By their ignorance of Gods righteousnesse; By their adorning their own righteousnesse; By withstanding Christs righteousnesse; which is the complement and end of the Law for righteousnesse, *v.*2,3,4. whose righteousnesse he proves to be the only true righteousnesse, Both by the nature of the righteousnesse of the Law, which is impossible to be attained by sinners, *ver.*5. And by the nature of the righteousnesse of faith; The properties whereof are described, *ver.*6. to 14. The means whereof are vindicated from calumnies, *ver.*14. to the end. Object. III. If God rejects the Jewes, then he rejects his own People. Answ. He answers, 1. By CHAP. XI. denying it, *Ch.*XI. *ver.*1. 2. By demonstrating the contrary, that God hath not cast away the elect Jews, *ver.*2. to 7. 3. By distinguishing betwixt the Jewes, Elect, and Non-Elect; those being saved, these hardened, as the Scriptures testifie, *ver.*7. to 11. Object IV. God by rejecting and blinding the Jewes, that they might fall and be destroyed, seems to be cruel, &c. ver. 11. Answ. He Answers, I. Denying the false end of their rejection objected, they were not rejected that they might fall, *ver.*11. II. Explicating the true ends intended by their fall; viz. 1 Salvation to the Gentiles; 2. Provocation of the Jewes thereby to Jealousie, *ver.*11. 3. Much more advantage by the Jewes plenary conversion, *ver.*12. which the Apostle urgeth, that he might provoke the Jews to humiliation, and save some of them, *ver.*13,14,15,16. III. Dehorting the Gentiles from glorying over the rejected Jewes, 1. From the condition of the Jews, onely some of them being broken off; and of the Gentiles, who were wilde branches, but now partake of the Olive-tree, *ver.*17,18. 2. From the absurdity of the branches boasting against the root that bears them, *v.*18. to 21. 3 From Gods impartiality to the natural branches, *ver.*21. 4. From the cause of the Gentiles insition, Gods meer grace, *ver.*22. 5. From the condition of their standing, faith, *ver.*22. 6. From the exemplary severity of God upon the Jewes, *ver.*22. which is amplyfied by the contrary conditional effect promised the Jewes, viz. They if they continue not in unbelief, shall be graffed in again; This he proves by divers Arguments, *ver.*23. to 32. IV. Admiring and adorning the unsearchable depth of Gods dispensation herein, *ver.*33. to the end.

Hitherto of the Informatory and Doctrinal part of this Epistle.

II. The Hortatory or Practical part, inferred from the former, follows; wherein he exhorts to good works, and duties of Sanctification, 1. More general, 2. More special.

I. More general duties, as CHAP. XII. 1. To present their bodies a spiritual sacrifice to God, in their service according to the Word, *Chap.XII.*1.

2. To be transformed by renovation of minde, and not conformed to this world, *ver.*2.

3. To be humble under all the spiritual gifts, which God hath given, and to use them aright, *ver.*3. This is urged, I. From Gods intent in giving divers gifts, or offices, viz. the good of the whole body of the Church, not that one member should insult over another, ver. 4, 5. II. From a distribution or exact enumeration of the several * offices in the Church, and the several duties imposed upon them therein; and this 1. More generally, into 1 Prophecy, 2 Ministry, ver. 6, 7.

* The Church Officers under the New Testament. 2. More particularly sub-distinguishing, Prophecy and Ministry. 1 Under Prophecy, comprehending The Teacher, *ver.*7. The Pastor, *ver.*8. 2 Under Ministry, comprizing Him that giveth, i. e. the Deacon; Him that Ruleth; And Him that shewed mercy to them in distresse, in use in the primitive Church, *ver.*8.

4. To several Christian Duties necessary to the right managing of our Christian conversation; which are laid down in holy Aphorismes; As, 1. Sincere love, *ver.*9. 2. Flight of evil, and following what is good, *ver.*9. 3. Brotherly-kindnesse, *ver.*10. 4. Mutual honouring one another, *ver.*10. 5. Fervency of spirit in the Lords service, *ver.*11. 6. Managing afflictions with Hope, Patience and Prayer, *ver.*12. 7. Beneficence and Hospitality, ver. 13. 8. Blessing our Persecutors, *ver.*14. 9. Sympathizing with one another in joy and grief, ver. 15. 10. Mutual unanimity, *ver.*16. 11. Patience under injuries, *ver.*17. 12. Honesty of life before all men, ver. 17. 13. Peaceableness with all, *ver.*18. 14. Recompensing of good to our enemies in stead of revenge, *ver.*19,20,21.

II. More special duties to be exercised in things, 1 Necessary, 2 Arbitrary.

CHAP. XIII. 1. In things necessary, duties required, are 1. Subjection to the higher Powers, urged by divers Arguments, *Chap.XIII.ver.*1. to 8. 2. Brotherly love as the fulfilling of the Law, ver. 8, 9, 10. 3. The putting off all corruptions inconsistent with Christianity, and putting on the armour of light, &c. *ver.*11. to the end.

2. In things arbitrary or indifferent, (which yet were not indifferent under the Law,) viz. Meats and Dayes. About which the weak, not instructed throughly in their Christian-liberty, took offence at the strong, in that they used them, and so censured them; the strong on the other hand offending and despising the weak. Here therefore the Apostle, I. Directs the strong how to receive CHAP. XIV. the weak, and not to despise him, *Chap.XIV.*1,2,3. II. Dissuades both strong and weak from censuring or rash judging one another, by divers grounds, *ver.*4. to 13. III. Directs the strong to take heed of giving offence to his weak brother, who esteemeth things that are clean to be unclean, *ver.*13,14. This he urgeth by many Arguments, viz. 1. To offend a weak brother is to walk uncharitably, *ver.*15. 2. To destroy him for whom Christ dyed, *ver.*15. 3. To expose thy good, i. e.

Thy

Thy Christian liberty, to be ill spoken of, ver. 16. 4. The Kingdom of God, consists not in meats and drinks; therefore we are not to contend for them as necessary to salvation, ver. 17, 18. 5. To walk contrary to peace and edification, ver. 19. 6. To destroy Gods work, viz. Faith in the weak. Object. I. But all things are pure. Answ. Though all things be pure in themselves, yet we must not use them to our weak brothers offence, ver. 20, 21. Object. II. But I have faith, and am satisfied in what I do, therefore I may use my liberty. Answ. It follows not: Thou mayst enjoy thy liberty to thy self before God: Needst not use it to thy brothers prejudice, ver. 22. IV. Warns the weak to do nothing doubtingly, ver. 23. V. Repeats the Exhortation about things indifferent, 1. Charging the strong to bear the infirmities of the weak, Chap. XV. 1. 2. Proving this to be their duty, Partly from the end of Gods giving his gifts to them, viz. Edification, ver. 2. Partly from Christs example, ver. 3, 4. 3. Amplifying this by a suitable Prayer for them, that herein they may walk as they ought, ver. 5. to 14. CHAP. XV.

Hitherto of the Horatory, or Practical part of this Epistle.

THE CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle follows; wherein the Apostle III.

1. Excuseth himself, 1. Partly for his boldness in thus writing to the Romans, ver. 14. to 22. 2. Partly for his not coming to them hitherto, being detained in planting the Gospel in Greece, ver. 22.

2. Promiseth to come to them after he had been at Jerusalem, when he should take his journey into Spain, ver. 23. to 30.

3. Earnestly craveth their prayers, in Reference to his journey, to Jerusalem, and to them, ver. 30. to the end.

4. Commendeth Phœbe to their kind entertainment and assistance, Ch. XVI. 1, 2. CHAP. XVI.

5. Saluteth the Saints at Rome, both in his own and the Churches name, ver. 3. to 17.

6. He warns them to take heed of Schismaticks, that cause divisions among them; whom he notably describes and dehorts from, ver. 17. to 21.

7. Sendeth to the Saints at Rome salutations from particular brethren, ver. 21. to 25.

8. Finally, closeth up the Epistle with a Doxology, or giving praise to God through Jesus Christ, ver. 25, 26, 27.

I. Corinthians.

§. I. Order and Time of writing it.

AS the Epistle to the Romanes is in our Bibles set first, (though not written before all the following Epistles,) besides other Reasons probably for the Doctrine of Justification by Faith, therein so Excellently handled: So this I. Epistle to Corinthians may deservedly be thought to be placed next in Order for the Doctrine of Church-Government, and Rules of Publick-worship therein notably prescribed.

When and where this Epistle was written: hath been [a] formerly Declared.

[a] See in the Table before the Epistle to the Romans.

§. II. Name, and Penman.

The first Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the CORINTHIANS.] So denominated, Partly from the Penman thereof, Paul (formerly [b] described at large) Partly from the Object to whom he wrote it, viz. The Corinthians; or the [c] Church of God at Corinth.

[b] See on Romanes §. II.

[c] 1 Cor. 1. 1, 2.

CORINTH was an [d] eminent City of Achaia, (which Achaia by an Isthmus was annexed to Greece, neer to Athens,) seated in an Isthmus, or a little Tract of Land betwixt two Seas; the Ægean and Jonian Sea; A most famous Mart, very populous and flowing with wealth; it was (saith [e] Cicero) the Light and Glory of all Greece: yet very infamous for luxury and multitudes of Vices. Once utterly destroyed by L. Mummius the Roman Consul; but after for the opportunity of situation restored to its ancient splendour by Augustus. Paul coming from Athens to Corinth, [f] laid the first foundation of a Church there. He was their [g] spiritual Father that begot them through the Gospel; Converting by his preaching [h] Crispus and Sosthenes, chief Rulers of the Jewish Synagogue there; and many other Corinthians; among whom Paul continued preaching, above a year and six moneths; God assuring him by night in a Vision, that he had much people in that City. And this Church of Corinth, grew one of the [i] most eminent Churches for all manner of spiritual gifts.

[d] Parens in Proleg. in I. ad Cor. Corinth, (as Chrysostome saith) is now the prime city of Grecia, and of old it abounded with many commodities necessary for this life, also with plenty and wealth above all others. And therefore some of the forrain Writers have called that place Ἀφνειὸν, viz. Fruitful or Plentiful. Its situate in the Peloponnesian Isthmus, and had ample matter for Merchandize. It was a city full of Rhetoricians and Philosophers, and of the seven which were called wise men, one was of this City. Chrys. in Ep. 1. ad Cor. Arg. [e] Lumen & decus totius Greciæ. *Cic. pro Leg. §. III. Occasion.

Occasion of writing this Epistle, seems from the whole tenour of the Epistle it self to be twofold, I. The information that Paul had from them of the house of Cloe, of the many and woful distempers that infested the Church of Corinth after Pauls departure; as, 1. Schisms and [k] Divisions; 2. Many notorious scandals, [l] as lusts, incest, covetousness, Law-suits of Christians before infidel-Magistrates, &c. 3. Idolatrous communion with Infidels in their [m] Idol-feasts. 4. Uncomely habits in [n] publick Assemblies. 5. Gross Prophanations of the [o] Lords Supper. 6. Barbarous [p] confusion in their publique Church-Assemblies. And 7. such Epicure-like Atheisme and Profaneness to [q] deny the Resurrection and Eternal Life. II. The writing of some of the Corinthians unto the Apostle for satisfaction in some particular cases; As 1 About [r] Marriage. 2 About [s] things sacrificed to idols. 3 About [t] Spiritual gifts. 4 About [u] prophecying. And 5 About [x] charitable Collections for the poor Saints in Judea. Divers of the ancients, as [y] Ambrose, [z] Chrysostome, [a] Theodoret, [b] Oecumenius, have intimated also the occasion of this Epistle to this purpose.

[y] Præcepto domini admonitus Apostolus resedit apud Corinthios Annum & menses sex docens inter eos verbum Dei. Hinc est unde magna cum fiducia charitatis affectu agit cum eis, aliquando commonens, aliquando arguens, aliquando blandiens ut filiis. Nam multæ causæ sunt propter quas scribit ad eos; quarum prima hæc est, quod more hæreticorum dissentientes ab invicem, hominibus devoti, Pauliani & Petriani, & Apollonjaci dici volebant, non Christiani, quod valde exprobrat Apostolus. Erant tamen inter eos qui ab his dissentirent Christo soli dicati. Secunda hæc est, quia eloquentia dilectari cæperant & terrena Philosophia ut sub nomine Christi iis imbuerentur quæ contraria sunt fidei, &c. Ambr. Præfat. in 1. Ep. ad Cor.

[z] Πολλὰ δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς ἔπαθεν ὁ Παῦλος ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ πόλει, &c. i.e. Paul suffered many things in this City, (viz. of Corinth.) Christ appearing to him in it said, Hold not thy Peace, but speak, for I have much people in this City: and he abode there two years. In it the Devil went out, by whom the Iews adjuring him suffered grievous things. In it they that repented burnt their Conjuring Books, valued at 50000 pieces of silver. In it, the proconsul Gallio sitting on the judgement-seat, Paul was beaten. The Devil therefore perceiving that great City and multitude of People to have received the truth, and for wealth and wisedome to be had in admiration, and to be the Head of all Greece, for the affairs of the Lacedemonians and Athenians were in a miserable state, when their ancient Kingdome fell,) when he saw they had received the Word of God with a ready and cheerful mind, what doth he? He divides the men, for he knew that the strongest of all Kingdomes divided could not stand. And for the practising of his deceits he took occasion from the wealth and wisedome of the inhabitants, &c. Jo. Chrysost. in Ep. 1 ad Cor. Arg.

[a] The Devil seeing Corinth a populous City, and formerly given to idolatry, to believe in God, he subornes certain rich men and Philosophers among them, and had set up themselves that they might rule over the People in spirituals. Which done, many of the vulgar sort were joyned to the rich as more potent; and to the Philosophers, as to those who could teach some more excellent thing then the Apostles doctrine: and that hence discords and contentions might be raised up among them. They therefore wrote to the Apostle by Fortunatus, Stephanus and Achaicus, touching marriages and Virginity: whom he wrote back to them, both touching these and other things, sending Timotheus also. Because therefore rich men and Philosophers through arrogance divided the people, he first of all

o This Epistle Paul wrote from Ephesus, thinks Oecumen. Arg. in 1 Cor.

§. IV. Scope.

The Apostle therefore in this Epistle principally intends and endeavours, 1. To apply healing medicines speedily to all the forementioned evils and maladies that began to grow in the Church of Corinth 2. To give the Corinthians satisfactory Resolutions in all the particulars wherein they craved his advice from the Lord. Both these ends will more evidently appear upon consideration of the several parts of the Epistle in the V. Section here following.

§. V. Principal Parts.

In this I. Epistle to the Corinthians, consider 1. The Preface. 2. The Body, or Substance of the Epistle. 3. The Conclusion.

THE PREFACE to the whole Epistle, which contains I. The Inscription, describing 1. The Persons writing, Paul and Sosthenes, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Persons to whom they wrote, viz. Principally, to the Church at Corinth. Secondarily, to all the Saints in Achaia, ver. 2. II. The Salutation, ver. 3. III. The Testification of his benevolent affection to the Corinthians, 1. By his Thanksgiving to God, for the singular gifts of God wherein they then excelled, ver. 4. to 8. 2. By his assuring them of Perseverance to the end; upon divers grounds, ver. 8, 9. I. CHAP. I.

THE BODY, or SUBSTANCE OF THE EPISTLE; which containes a Treatise of severall subject-matters, according to the present condition and neccessity of the Church at Corinth; And is 1 Reprehensive, 2 Instructive, 3 Doctrinal. II.

1. In the Reprehensive part, the Apostle sharply reproves and taxeth, their 1. Shismes. 2. Contempt of the Apostles ministry. 3. Neglect of Church-discipline. 4 Contentious Law-suits before Infidels. 5. Slight account of Fornication.

I. Their Schismes and Divisions about their Ministers and their diverfity of gifts, for which some admired one, some another, he sharply taxeth, ver. 10. to chap. 4. ver. 1. Here note I. An emphaticall exhortation of them to unity both in word and judgement and dehortation from Schismes; whereof consider 1. The manner, with beseeching, ver. 10. 2. The occasion, their grosse Schismes whereof the house of Cloe informed him, ver. 11, 12. 3. The arguments for unity against Schisme, drawn from 1 Christs unity, 2 Christs death, 3 The forme of baptisme, ver. 13. II. Pauls tacit clearing himself from being any cause of those divisions among them, either by his baptizing or preaching, 1. By his baptizing, he baptizing very few among them, that not being the chief imployment to which Christ called him, ver. 14, 15, 16, 17. 2. Not by his preaching among them, to which some affecting Pompe, and embracing Eloquence: others Plainnesse in preaching, whereby their divisions were occasioned.) This he proves, Partly in that he preached not Christ crucified with wisedome of words to entice them: 1 That being contrary to his Mission, verse 17. 2 That tending to make Christs Crosse of none effect, ver. 17. 3 That being contrary to Gods intent, viz. To confound the wisedome of the world, by the plain preaching of Christ crucified; whilst the People usually converted hereby, are not wise, mighty, noble, but foolish, weak and base, that no flesh might glory in it self but in the Lord, ver. 18. to the end of the chap. Partly in that he preached in the plaine demonstration of the spirit and power to save them, Chap. II. 1. to 6. This he amplyfies, showing that his preaching was with such mysterious spiritual wisedome, as far surpasseth all carnal mens capacities, yet is apprehended by them that are spiritual through the help of Gods spirit, v. 6. to the end. Partly in that he was necessitated to feed them with milk, more plain, easie, familiar doctrines, because of their carnalnesse and weaknesse, which still remains, as appears by their carnal divisions, Chap. III. 1, 2, &c. III. His convincing them of the evil of their divisions, by reason of their ministers, by divers Arguments, viz. 1. The carnalnesse of their divisions, ver. 3, 4. 2. Their attributing more to their Teachers hereby then is meet, they being not Lords and Heads, but Ministers, the efficacy of whose ministry depends only upon Gods blessing, ver. 5, 6, 7. 3. The unity of their Teachers, which should teach them unity, ver. 8. This unity of Teachers he proves by their office, they being Co-workers with God, ver. 9. This their office is illustrated by a double Metaphor, viz. of Husbandry, ver. 9. Of Architecture or building, himself being the Master-builder that laid the foundation Jesus Christ, others building thereon, whom he warnes to take heed of laying unsuitable superstructions upon Christ, ver. 10. to 16. 4. Their own Sanctity, they are the holy Temples of God, and must not defile themselves with unholy Schismes, ver. 16, 17. 5. The folly and vanity of all their enticing Teachers wisedome in the sight of God, (which occasioned these divisions) ver. 18, 19, 20. 6. The vain-glory of this admiring their Teachers Persons; all their Teachers with all their variety of gifts, yea all things in the world being theirs in Christ for their good, ver. 21, 22, 23 CHAP. II. CHAP. III.

II. Their contempt of the Ministry of the Apostles and others, he blameth; I. Showing in what account they ought to be had by them, viz. as Christs Ministers and faithful Stewards of Gods mysteries, Chap. IV. 1, 2. II. Declaring how little he values their judgment of him, viz. in CHAP. IV.

preferring their eloquent Teachers before him.) For 1 This is but mans judgement, ver. 3. 2 He dares not judge himself how much he is to be esteemed, much less should they that knew him not so well, ver 3,4. 3. It is the Lords Prerogative to judge how every one is to be esteemed, ver. 4,5. III. Tacitly preventing an Objection; Thou dost meanly compare thy self and Apollos to Husbandmen, that could do nothing without God, and now takest thou it ill to be low esteemed of? Answ. He proposed himself and Apollos, as examples of modesty for their imitation, that they be not puffed up one against another for their Teachers, 1. Because God only discriminates them from others. 2. Because they have received all they have, ver. 6,7. 4 Upbraiding their swelling haughtiness, because of their supposed absoluteness without the Apostle, 1. By an ironical concession, ver. 8. 2. By an option or wish that they were so, ver. 8. 3. By an argumentation that they were not so absolute, nor as yet reigned: because the Apostles themselves reigned not, but rather were under great contempt and afflictions in the world, ver. 8 to 14. This sharp reproof he mitigates, 1 Partly by intimating his intent therein, ver. 14. 2 Partly by assuring them of his fatherly affection to them as his spiritual children in the Gospel, ver. 14,15 Hereupon he exhorts them to imitate him as a spiritual father; which that they may do, For Present sent Timothy to them, to inform them of his wayes imitable; And For Future he promises to come to them himself, to exhibit himself exemplary to them, ver. 16. to the end.

CHAP. V.

III. Their neglect of Church-discipline, in case of the Incestuous Person, who married his mother in law, he reproveth I. Describing the offence; 1 By the fame of it. 2. By their grievousness of it, Ch V. ver. 1. 3. By their extream neglect about it, being so farre from mourning for it, to punish the offender, that they were puffed up, ver. 2. II. Prescribing the punishment, viz. * Excommunication set forth by the 1 Matter of it, viz. him that hath so done this deed; 2. Efficient causes of it, viz. ye gathered together, and my Spirit, in the Name and Power of our Lord Jesus Christ. 3. Forme of it, Delivering to Satan, 4. End of it, Partly for destruction of the flesh, Partly for salvation in the spirit in the day of the Lord, ver 3,4,5. III. Pressing them to inflict this punishment, apply this medicine, 1 From the evil of their former neglect and glorying. 2. From the peril of the sin unpurged out; it would leaven them all, ver. 6,7. 3 From the state of the Christian Church, which is now keeping a spiritual Feast, Christ our Passeover being sacrificed for us; as therefore at the typical Passeover, corporal leaven, so now at the true paschal feast, spiritual leaven is to be purged out, ver. 7,8. 4 From his former command to them, to avoid the society of Fornicators and scandalous persons, though not of the world without, which is impossible; yet of the Church within, which properly comes under Church power, ver. 9, to the end.

* Excommunication described.

CHAP. VI.

IV. Their Contentious Law-suits, with one another before infidels, he utterly condemns and dissuades from them, by divers Arguments; 1 By this course they preferre the sentence of infidels, before the judgement of Saints, Ch. VI. 1. 2. The Saints shall judge the World and Angels, how much more are they worthy to decide temporal differences, ver. 2,3. 3. They shame the Church of God, by appointing insufficient men among them to judge in temporal affairs, whence they were necessitated to appeal to the Pagans, as if they had not a wise man among them, v. 4,5,6. 4. These vexatious law-suits are unbrotherly, and they should rather suffer wrong, ver. 6,7. 5. Hereby they wrong and defraud their brethren unjustly, ver. 8. which injustice is aggravated; Partly, in that it and like sins shut out of Gods Kingdom, ver. 9,10. Partly, in that its most unsuitable to their present justified and sanctified estate, ver 11.

CHAP. VII.

V. Their slight account of Fornication, he reproves, I. Preventing their excuse about fornication, That it is indifferent, therefore might be done by them. Answ. He answers, 1. By way of Caution; were fornication indifferent, yet may it not be used, either when it is unexpedient, or when it brings us under its dominion, ver. 12. 2 By way of Negation, denying fornication to be of the number of indifferent things, as meats; for these are fitted for some use in this life, and accordingly bodily instruments for them, as the belly; which use yet shall at last be abolished: but the body is not fitted for fornication, but for the Lord, nor shall it be abolished but raised again, ver. 13,14 II. Deborting them from fornication; For, 1. This is extream repugnant to that holy relation, which the Saints bodies have to the Lord Christ as his members, ver. 15,16,17. 2. This sin is peculiarly against his own body, ver 18. 3. Their bodies are the Temples of the Holy Ghost, therefore not to be defiled, ver. 19. 4. They ought to glorifie God both in body and soul, being not their own, but the Lords, bought with a price, ver. 19,20.

Hitherto of the Reprehensive part of this Epistle.

II. In the Instructive Part of this Epistle, The Apostle resolves, directs, or instructs them about divers practical matters; as about 1. Marriage. 2. Idolothytes. 3. Habits in publick Assemblies. 4. The Lords Supper. 5. Use of spiritual gifts. 6 Prophecy. Touching all which, or at least divers of them, they had written to him for his advice, Ch. VII. 1.

I. Touching Marriage, he resolves divers questions or cases of conscience. As,

1. About Marriage of Christians; that its useful for avoiding fornication, ver. 1,2.

2. About conjugal benevolence; that man and wife ought mutually to render it each to other, ver. 3, to 8.

3. About the Unmarried and Widows; That its good to remain single, yet better to marry then to burne, ver. 8,9.

4. About Divorce, without the case of adultery, 1. In case of discontents, 1 That the wife is not voluntarily to depart, ver. 10. 2 If she depart she is to remain unmarried; or to be again reconciled to avoid avoid incontinency. 3. The husband is not to put her away, v. 11. II. In case of unequal yoaking of a believer and an unbeliever. 1. That they should dwell together, because thereunto the unbeliever is sanctified by the believer, otherwise their Children were not Federally holy, v. 12, 13, 14. 2. That in case the unbeliever voluntarily depart, the believer in such case is free, Provided 1. That all peaceable endeavours be used for retaining him or her, there being possibility of gaining the unbeliever to the Faith, ver. 15, 16. 2. That the believer abiding within the limits of his calling, use the gifts God hath given him, for gaining the unbeliever, ver. 17. And so he passeth from the Hypothesis to the Thesis, intimating that what he had said of the state of Marriage, that it was not to be deserted for Religion sake: the like they were to think of other States of life, and of all externals, whether one be circumcised or uncircumcised, bond or free, &c. not to be sollicitous of changing them, because these are nothing with God; yet he cautions servants, 1. Rather if they can conveniently to accept of freedome. 2. Not to subject their Consciences to men whom they serve, ver. 18. to 25.

5. About Virgins, whether they should marry? I. Those Virgins that are at their own disposal, (Parents being dead) he dissuades from marriage, not as unlawful, but as inconvenient, in respect, 1. Of the present distress of the Church persecuted. 2. Of the troubles of the flesh. 3. Of Worldly cares, ver. 25. to 36. II. Those Virgins that are under others Tuition, ought to be disposed in marriage, if they have not the gift of Continency; otherwise they may be better continued in Virginity, ver. 36, 37, 38.

6. About second Marriages; that they are lawful, the former being dissolved by death, ver. 39, 40.

II. Touching eating Idolothytes, or Things sacrificed to idols, I. He refells the Arguments brought in defence thereof. Argum. 1. They that have knowledge are sufficiently instructed of the lawful use of idolothytes, they may eat them; But, &c. Answ. He Answers, 1. By denying the Proposition, knowledge is not a sufficient warrant for thine eating without Charity to thy brother. 2. By denying also the Assumption, they had not sufficient knowledge; Partly because they were proud, Partly because they were uncharitable to their brethren, Ch. VIII. 1, 2, 3. Argum. 2. They that know an idol is nothing, and that therefore they are not defiled with eating Idolothytes may eat them; But we are such. Therefore, &c. Answ. He Answers, 1. By Concession, That an idol is nothing, ver 4, 5, 6. 2. By limitation of the Assumption, All have not this knowledge of idols and idolothytes, and those that are ignorant will be offended. ver. 7. Argument 3. But if we eat not, we deprive our selves of our right. Answ. Eating betters not, Not-eating makes not worse, ver. 8. II. He dissuades from publique eating things sacrificed to idols, by many Arguments, 1, From Christian liberty which is not to be abused to the offence of the weak, ver. 9, 10. 2. From the weak brother, who is not to be destroyed by their Christian liberty, ver. 11. 3. From Christ who is not to be sinned against herein, ver. 12. 4. From Pauls example, Partly resolving never to eat flesh, rather then offend his brother, ver. 13. Partly denying to make use of his Apostolick power in receiving maintenance from the Church of Corinth, for his Ministry, though he proves this due, From the example of Peter, James and others, From comparison of the like; From the Laws typical Testimony; From equity; From example of false Apostles; From the Levites example; From Christs Ordinance, Ch. IX. 1. to 19. Partly abridging himself in the use of his whole Christian liberty, for the gaining and saving of the more, v. 19. to the end. 5. From the idolatrousness of partaking in these idol-feasts. Thus: Ye ought to flee from idolatry, But to communicate in idol-feasts is idolatry, Therefore to be avoyded. The Proposition, that we ought to fly from idolatry, He partly proves from Gods vengeance upon Israel for that sin, notwithstanding they had the same ordinances for substance that we have Ch. X. 1 to 6. Partly amplifies by the concomitant sins and punishments in the Israelites example, (five being instanced in) all which are recorded for our example and admonition to warn us against idolatry, ver. 6. to 15. The Assumption, That to communicate in idol-feasts is idolatry, he proves Analogically, Partly from the Lords Supper, they that partake that Bread and Cup have Communion with Christs Body and Blood signified thereby, v. 15, 16, 17. Partly from the Jewish sacrifices, they that eat of the sacrifices have Communion with the Altar as members of the Jewish Church, v. 18. So they that communicate in idol-feasts have tacite Communion with the idols to whom they are offered; yea Communion with Devils, seeing idols are nothing, Jv. 19, 20. 6. From the impossibility of having Communion with Christ in his Supper, and with Devils in these idol-feasts, ver. 21. 7. From the desperate folly of this sin, ver. 22. III. He adviseth them, touching private buying, or private eating things sacrificed to idols; 1. Premising general Rules about things indifferent, viz. That they consider expediency as well as lawfulness, That they study edification of others, ver. 23, 24. 2. Resolving them that they may buy what is sold in the Shambles, and eat privately what is set before them, asking no question, unless some shew that it is sacrificed to idols, ver. 25. to 31. IV. He concludeth this whole subject with three excellent Rules, 1. To do all to Gods glory, ver. 31. 2. To offend none, ver. 32. 3. To succour the infirmity, and seek the salvation of all, after the Apostles example, ver. 33. whom they are to follow as he follows Christ, Ch. XI. 1.

III. Touching decent habits of men and women in Church-Assemblies. Premising a commendation of them for observing him. He directeth 1. Men to worship with their heads uncover'd, 1. Because hereby the mans superiority over the woman, according to Gods ordinance; is testified. 2. Because even nature teacheth it is a shame for men to have long hair, and so consequently to be covered. II. Women to worship with heads covered, 1. Because it is a shame for a woman to be shaven, and to be uncovered is as if she were shaven. 2. Because hereby the woman testifies her subjection to the man according to Gods ordinance. 3. Because otherwise she will offend the Angels. 4. Because her hair is given her for a covering, ver. 2. to 17.

IV. Touching the Lords Supper, and the right Administration thereof. Here I. He sharply reproveth them. More generally dispraising them for coming together for worse, not for better, v. 17. More particularly, taxing them for prophanation of the Lords Supper, 1. By Schismes or Divisions, every one taking before other his own Supper, ver. 18. to 21. 2. By drunkennesse, ver. 21. These evils he sharply blames and aggravates, ver. 22. II. He recites the Primitive Institution of the * Lords Supper formerly delivered by him to them, against which they had offended. In which institution, note the Efficient, Matter, Forme and end of the Lords Supper, 1. The Efficient, The Lord Jesus; Amplyfied by the circumstance of time, when; the same night in which he was betrayed, ver. 23. 2. The matter, Outward, viz. The signs, Bread and Wine; with the actions pertaining to them, Taking, Giving thanks, Breaking, Giving. Inward, viz. the spiritual mysteries signified Christs body and blood, Spiritually Taken, Blessed, Broken, Given for and to us. 3. The forme, viz. That Sacramental union betwixt these signs and these mysteries in these phrases, This is my body, this is my blood, &c. which union consists in the instituted Signification, Obsignation, Exhibition. 4. The end, especially the Remembrance of Christ, and constant shewing forth his death till his second comeing, ver. 24, 25, 26. From all he by way of corollary inferres, that unworthy partaking of the Lords Supper renders Persons guilty of the Lords Body and blood, ver. 27. III. He instructs them and us how to communicate worthily, viz By Self-examination before communicating, ver. 28. This is urged, 1. From the peril of eating and drinking judgment to themselves that eat unworthily, ver. 29. This he proves by the Corinthians sad experience, ver. 30. 2. From the benefit of self-judging, whereby the Lords judgment is prevented, ver. 31. which judgment of the Lord on his People is but a chastisement to prevent condemnation, ver. 32. IV. He concludes this matter with an exhortation, 1. To unity in communicating. 2. To eating at home, (so laying aside Love-feasts,) promising to order other things at his coming, ver. 33, 34.

* The Lords Supper described.

V. Touching their spiritual gifts, I. He declares, That their right use is, when they are employed, not to the contempt of their brethren, but for the common good and profit of the Church, they being given to this end by the Spirit. This he proveth by divers Arguments, As 1. None of their gifts are from themselves, but all from one and the same Spirit of God; This he declares Experimentally in the Corinthians wonderful conversion by the Spirit, Ch. XII 1, 2, 3. Positively in that all diversities of gifts are from the Spirit, ver. 4, 5, 6. 2. The end of the Spirits gifts is for common profit, ver 7. 3. No one Person hath all gifts, but several men are severally gifted by the spirit, that the members may be mutually obliged one to another, ver. 7. to 12. 4. We are all members of one and the same Organical body of Christ, 1 Being joynt-Partakers of Baptisme and the Lords Supper. 2 Resembling a natural body, which though it have many members, and they their several offices, yet is but one body, ver. 12. to 21. 5. The meanest and basest members are necessary and useful to the excellentest and noblest, as in the natural so in the organical body of Christ, so that the meanest cannot be despised without injury to the whole, ver. 21. to 28. 6. This difference of members and their offies, some superiour, some inferiour, God hath set in his Church for the good of the whole body, ver. 28, 29, 30. II. He exhorts them to covet earnestly the best gifts, ver. 31. III. He undertakes to show them a way more excellent than gifts, ver. 31. viz. The grace of Christian Charity, as being 1. More necessary then all gifts, Ch. XIII 1, 2, 3. 2. More excellent in effects, which are described Affirmatively and Negatively, ver. 4. to 8. 3. More permanent then all gifts, which shall cease in heaven; but charity shall never faile; nay in durableness it is beyond Faith and Hope, ver. 8. to the end.

CHAP. XII.

CHAP. XIII.

VI. Touching the gift of tongues, and Prophecying, he gives divers directions; As I. That in their Church-assemblies, they should more indeavour after prophecying then to speak with tongues, Chap. XIV. 1. And this for divers reasons; 1. Because prophecying is more profitable to the edifying of the Church, then speaking with tongues, whereby a man edifieth only himself, ver. 2. to 6. This Argument he amplyfies, Partly by an hypothesis or supposition in his own Person, ver. 6. Partly by a similitude drawn from musical instruments, especially warlike, which cannot be understood unlesse they give a distinct and certain sound; no more can they be understood speaking strange languages, ver. 6. to 10. 2. Because to speak with tongues, renders hearers and speakers Barbarians to one another, which is absurd and ridiculous unlesse they be interpreted, ver. 10. to 16. 3. Because the unlearned cannot say Amen to a Prayer or Thanksgiving in a strange tongue, v. 16, 17. 4. Because Paul himself prefers profiting the Church by a known tongue, farre before tongues, though he spoke more then they all, ver. 18, 19. 5. Because the use of strange tongues, and not understood, may be a sign to unbelievers to astonish them: But Prophecy is a means of good to believers to edifie them, ver. 20, 21, 22. 6. Because, whereas speaking with tongues only amazeth and astonisheth unbelievers, Prophecying may so effectually convince them, as to convert them, ver. 23, to 26. II. That every of them use their gifts to the Churches edification, ver. 26. To this end he shows them, 1. How to use tongues profitably, ver 27, 28. 2. How to prophecy to the Churches best advantage, ver. 29. to 34. III. That women be silent in their Churches, and ask their husbands at home, ver. 34, 35. IV. That all things about Prophecy and Tongues be done decently and in order, premising a sharp reproof to their haughtinesse and contempt of others, by reason of their gifts, ver. 36. to the end.

CHAP. XIV.

Thus of the Instructive Part of this Epistle.

III. In the doctrinal part of this Epistle, He asserts the Doctrine of the * Resurrection from the dead, against the heresie of them that denied it in the Church of Corinth. Here note 1. A Preface, 2. A Treatise, 3. A Conclusion.

I. A Preface, wherein Paul recites the summe of the Gospel which he had preached to them; which they beleeved: wherein they stand; whereby they are saved, Chap. XV.1,2. viz. I. That Christ died for our sins, ver.3. II. That he was buried. III. That he rose again the third day, ver.4. Evidencing his Resurrection, 1. To Cephas. 2. To the twelve, ver.5. 3. To above five hundred brethren at once, ver.6. 4. To James. 5. To all the Apostles, ver.7. 6. To Paul himself, ver.8. to 12.

II. A Treatise of the Resurrection, wherein I. He Asserts and proves the Resurrection by many Arguments, 1. From the faith of the Gospel hitherto preached and received, That Christ is risen, therefore it is false that there is no resurrection of the dead, ver.12,13. This Argument is amplyfied by divers absurdities that would otherwise ensue; As, Our preaching is vain and false, Our faith is vaine, ver.14. to 18. The dead in Christ are perished, ver. 18. Christians of all men were most miserable, ver.19. 2. From the Resurrection of Christ, Partly as the first fruits of them that sleep, ver.20, Partly as a Second Adam quickening all his, as the First Adam deadned all his, ver.21,22,23. 3. From the duration of Christs mediatory Kingdome, till he had subdued all his enemies, whereof death shall be last; death subdued, resurrection must needs follow, ver.24. to 29. 4. From divers absurdities that would otherwise follow, if the dead should not rise: As, In being baptized over, or for the dead, ver.29. In running hazards of Afflictions and Persecutions, ver.30,31,32. In abstaining from Epicurisme and Luxury, ver. 32. to 35. II. He Defends the Doctrine of the Resurrection, against them that Objected, How rise the dead: with what body do they come? ver.35. showing, 1. That its as possible for the body to rise, as for corne sown to be quickned after it die, ver.36. 2. That our bodies shall not rise the same in qualities as they are buried, but farre more excellent, that so they may be conforme to Christ, and be capable of inheriting Gods Kingdome, ver. 37. to 51. III. He reveals the great mystery of the Change of the living, at Christs coming to judgment, when death shall be swallowed up in victory, ver.51. to 58.

III. A Conclusion, exhorting in hope of the Resurrection to constancy and abounding in the Lords work, ver.58.

THE CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle, containing I. Certain advertisements, touching 1. Their Collections for the Saints at Jerusalem, Chap.XVI.1. to 5. 2. His own coming to them, ver.5,6,7. 3. His present abode at Ephesus, and the reason thereof, ver.8,9. 4. Their entertainment of Timothy if he come to them, ver.10,11. 5. Apollo's not coming as yet to them, ver. 12. II. Exhortations to certain duties, viz. 1 Watchfulnesse, 2 Stedfastnesse in the faith; 3 Courage, ver.13. 4 Charity, ver.14. 5 Reverend respect to Stephanas and his household and such like, ver.15. to 19. III. Salutations, 1. From others to the Corinthians, ver. 19,20. 2. From Paul himself to them, Denouncing Anathema Maranatha to the non-lovers of Christ; Praying Christs grace to be with them, Remembring his own love to them, ver.21. to the end.

* The Doctrine of the Resurrection asserted, and explained. HAP. XV.

§. III. Occasion.

f Jo. Chrys. Homil. 5. in 2. Ep. ad Corinth. Theod. apud Oecum. in Arg. in II. Cor.

g Secundam Epistolam Apostolus scribit Corinthiis, cujus hæc principalis est causa, quoniam in prima pro quorundam peccatis doctores eorum præcipue corripuerat, & multum fuerant contristati. Nunc eos consolatur, suum eis proponens exemplum, & docens non debere ægrè ferre quod pro aliorum sunt salute correpti, cum ipse pro aliena salute periculis quotidie & morti subjacerat. Ambr. Præfat. in 2 Cor.

h Jo. Calv. in 2 Epist. ad Cor. Arg.

i Joan. Chrysost. in 2 Ep. ad Cor. Homil. 1.

Occasion of this Epistle seems to be, I. Partly those calumnies and aspersions cast upon Pauls words and actions by false Apostles and other his adversaries after his former Epistle. They charged him, 1. With levity, that he came not to them according to his Promise. 2. With pride and tyrannicall severity, because of the Incestuous Person. 3. With arrogancy and vain-glory in his ministry, therein lessening the Authority of the Law. 4. With personal contemptibleness, insinuating that however he was glorious in his letters, yet in person he was but base, &c. II. Partly the good effect that in some measure his former Epistle had upon them, (as f Chrysostome saith,) putting them upon mourning and reforming, (especially their Teachers, (as g Ambrose intimates,) though it did not so much profit them as was meet, some impious ones despising Pauls Authority, and persisting still (as h Calvin noteth,) in their contumacy and haughtiness. III. Partly their forwardness in their contribution to the Saints in Judea, which the Apostle had formerly commended to them. IV. Partly their benevolent and kind receiving of Titus, (as i Chrysost. observeth.) These things especially gave the Apostle Occasion of writing to the Corinthians this his second Epistle.

§. IV. Scope.

k 2 Cor. 1. 8, &c. l 2 Cor. 2, 3, 4.
m 2 Cor. 2. throughout.
n 2 Cor. 3. 1, 2, &c. o 2 Cor. 4. 2, &c.
p 2 Cor. 5. throughout.
q 2 Cor. 6. throughout. and ch. 7.
r 2 Cor. 8. & 9.
s 2 Cor. 10, and 11. and 12, and 13.

Proportionably therefore the Apostles Scope in this Epistle is principally, 1. To shew that he came not so soon to them as he promised: Not out of levity, But partly by reason of his k troubles in Asia, that hindred him; Partly that he might give them the more time to set their Church in better order, that so he might l come more comfortably to them. 2. To declare, that his sentence against the m incestuous Person was not rigid or tyrannicall, but necessary and pious: and now that Excommunication had wrought so good an effect upon him; He (commending their obedience therein,) exhorts them to absolve him from that sentence and restore him. 3. To intimate his great successe in preaching the Gospel, which he doth not for his own but the Gospels glory, which had peculiar efficacy upon the n Corinthians above others, and farre surpassed the Ministry of o Moses, and was hid only to them that are lost. In preaching which Gospel he used all diligence and faithfulness, notwithstanding all his afflictions for the Gospel, which did but prepare a greater weight of glory for him in heaven p whereunto he aspired, inviting others to do the like, in accepting the grace of Reconciliation, tendred in the Gospel. 4. To stirre them up to an q Holy-life, and the eschewing of fellowship with infidels and idolaters. 5. To incite them to perfect their r Contribution for the poor Saints at Jerusalem. 6. To Apologize for himselfe against the s Personall contemptibleness imputed to him by the false Apostles, whereupon he reproving their vain-glory, enters upon an high commendation of his Apostolick office, and Power, and his extraordinary Revelations, farre out-shining all the counterfeit glory of false Teachers: yet declaring he had rather use meekness then his power, if he be not forced thereto by their contumacy and impenitency. So that great part of this Epistle, both in the begin-beginning and latter end is Apologetical, and may in that regard be ſtiled, Pauls Apology, or Apologetick Epiſtle againſt his Adverſaries calumnies.

§. V. Principal parts.

In this Epiſtle are conſiderable, 1. The Preface, 2. The Subſtance of the Epiſtle. 3. The Concluſion.

THE PREFACE or Introduction to the Epiſtle, contains I. The Inſcription, denoting 1. The Parties writing, viz. Paul and Timothy. 2. The Parties written to, viz. The Church at Corinth, and all the Saints in all Achaia, Ch. I. ver. 1. II. The Salutation, ver. 2. III. The Apoſtles Gratulation, or Thankſgiving to God for his comforts in tribulation. Here 1. God, the object of his Thankſgiving is deſcribed, As Father of Chriſt, As Father of mercies, As God of all comfort, ver. 3. 2. The ground of the Thankſgiving, Gods comforting him in tribulation, is Amplyfied. Partly by the extent of it, in all tribulation: Partly by the end or intent of it, that the Apoſtle may be able by his own experimental comforts in diſtreſſe, to comfort others in like caſe; and particularly the Corinthians, whom he hopes to be ſharers in comforts, as well as in croſſes, ver. 4. to 8. I.

CHAP. I.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Epiſtle, conſiſts in a Treatiſe, 1. Excuſatory, or Apologetical. 2. Hortatory, or Practical. 3 Minatory, or Threatning. II.

I. In the Excuſatory or Apologetical part of the Epiſtle, 1. He purgeth himſelf from ſome Imputations. 2. He commends and magnifies his Miniſtry.

I. He purgeth himſelf from the unjuſt imputations of 1. Levity and Temerity, 2. Severity.

1. From the imputation of Levity and temerity in that he came not to them, as he * formerly promiſed. He excuſeth himſelf, I. By the extremity of his afflictions even to deſpair of life, which befel him in Aſia, whereby partly his coming to them was hindred, v. 8. to 12. II. By the teſtimony of his Conſcience touching the ſimplicity and godly ſincerity of his converſation in the world, and eſpecially towards the Corinthians, as themſelves will teſtifie; upon which confidence he was minded to come to them before, therefore none had cauſe to taxe him for levity or breach of Promiſe, ver. 12. to 17. III. By the truth of his preaching among them, ſtill conſtant to it ſelf, whence he proportionably proves the truth and conſtancy of his purpoſe in coming to them, ver. 17, &c. This his truth and conſtancy in preaching he amplifieth, 1. Partly by his ſolemn Oath confirming it, ver. 18. 2. Partly by the conſtant matter of his preaching among them, viz Chriſt Jeſus, in whom all Gods Promiſes are Yea and Amen, v. 19, 20. 3. Partly by the efficient cauſe of both his and their eſtabliſhment in preaching and receiving the Goſpel, viz. Gods Annointing, Sealing, and giving the earneſt of his Spirit to both, v. 21, 22. IV. By his end in delaying hitherto to come to them, viz. To ſpare them, that they might have time to repent and put their Church in order before his coming, v. 23. This he amplyfies. 1. Showing that he and the other Miniſters had not dominion of their faith, but were helpers of their joy, v. 24. 2. Declaring that he purpoſed not to come again to them in heavineſs, as he came unto them in his former Epiſtle, leſt thereby he deprive himſelf of all comfort, none being able to comfort him like them, Ch. II. ver. 1, 2. * 1 Cor. 16. 2. to 8.

CHAP. II.

2. From the aſperſion of too much Severity and Tyranny, in writing to them formerly to excommunicate the Inceſtuous Perſon, he clears himſelf, I. By declaring why he wrote his former Epiſtle to them, viz. 1. To prevent his matter of ſorrowing in them, and to provide for his and their joy at his coming, by their Excommunicating the inceſtuous Perſon before, v. 2. 2. To teſtifie his entire love in writing to them with ſo many tears, v. 4. II. By ſhowing that the inceſtuous Perſon was a grief to them as well as to him, therefore he was not too rigid againſt him, v. 5. III. By making it his preſent requeſt to them to reſtore and abſolve the Inceſtuous Perſon excommunicated, now repenting, and this he urgeth, 1. Becauſe his puniſhment hath been ſufficient already, v. 6. 2. Becauſe that otherwiſe he may be ſwallowed up of overmuch ſorrow, v. 7. 3. Becauſe hereby they ſhall confirme their love to him, v. 8. Object. But why doſt thou now write to reſtore him, whom formerly thou wroteſt to have caſt out. Anſw. He anſwers, becauſe now he had obtained his end in writing, viz. A diſcovery of their obedience, ver. 9. 4. Becauſe Paul himſelf had abſolved and forgiven him for their ſakes, therefore ſo ſhould they, ver. 10. 5. Becauſe Satan ſhould get no advantage, either againſt the inceſtuous Perſon, driving him to deſpair; or againſt the Corinthians, raiſing hereupon diviſions among them, or falſely perſwading them that the lapſed are not to be reſtored, ver. 11.

II. He commends and magnifies his miniſtry, (and therein tacitly wipes off the imputation of Arrogance and falſe Doctrine.) I. By his ſingular care that he had therein of the affairs of the Corinthians, being reſtleſſe at Troas, (where notwithſtanding an opportunity of preaching Chriſt was offered,) becauſe he there met not Titus to informe him of their ſtate, ver. 12, 13. II. By the general ſucceſſe of his preaching in every place. Amplified 1. By the cauſe thereof, God. 2. By the event thereof in the Apoſtle, Thankfulneſſe to God, and Triumph in Chriſt. 3. By the nature of this ſucceſſe upon ſeveral objects, viz either to life or death. 4. By his inſufficiency to this work. 5. By his ſincerity of Doctrine, whilſt many others contrariwiſe corrupt the Word, ver. 14 to the end. III. By the particular efficacy of his Miniſtry upon the Corinthians themſelves converted thereby, who therefore are his Epiſtle of commendation to all, Chap. III. 1. to 6.

CHAP. III.

CHAP. IV.

IV. By the Subject-matter of his Ministry, viz. The New Testament farre surpassing the Ministration of Moses; This New Testaments ministry, being 1. A Ministry of the Spirit; that of the letter. 2. A Ministry of Life, that of death. 3. A Ministry engraven in the heart, that in stones. 4. A Ministry excellently glorious, that in comparison unglorious. 5. A Ministry of righteousnesse, that of condemnation. 6. A Ministry remaining, that abolished. 7. A Ministry perspicuous, that of the Law being very dark and obscure, ver.6. to the end. V. By the Manner of his Ministry, in undaunted constancy and incorrupted fidelity, Ch.IV.1.2. This he amplifies by preventing divers exceptions against his Ministry, showing 1. That if it be hid, it is only hid to them that are lost and blinded by Satan, ver.3,4. 2. That he preaches not himself arrogantly, but Christ Jesus humbly, ver.5.6. 3. That though he be exposed in his Ministry to many heavy sufferings; yet it is, Partly that all may see the efficacy of the Ministry is of God, not of him, ver 7. Partly, for evidence to all that his sustentation in his troubles is not of himself, but onely of Jesus Christ, ver. 8. to 13. 4. That he hath many grounds of Comfort, whereby he encourageth himself against all crosses unto constancy in his Ministerial office. As, 1 Faith enabling to confesse Christ in preaching, ver.13. 2 Hope of Resurrection, ver.14. 3 The Churches good, and 4 Gods glory, v.15. 5 The Advantage of his inward man by the Crosse ver.16. 6 The promoting of his surpassing eternal weight of glory by his momentany light afflictions, ver.17,18.

CHAP. V.

This Glory he Amplifies, Partly by his Assurance of it, and groaning after it, upon divers grounds, Ch.V.ver.1. to 9. Partly, by his improving of this assurance of glory, and the terreur of the Lord in the judgement to come, to make him earnest in his Ministry, perswading men to believe, ver.9,10,11. And this not for his own praise, but the Churches profit, ver. 12, 13. Therefore being overcome with Christs love in dying for him; He desires to live onely to Christ as a New-creature: and to reconcile others to God by his Ministry of Reconciliation in Christ, ver.14. to the end.

Thus of the Excusatory part of the Epistle.

II. In the Hortatory, or Practical part of the Epistle, He earnestly exhorts the Corinthians,

CHAP. VI.

I. To walk worthy of the Gospel, and not to receive Gods grace of Reconciliation preached therein in vain; And this 1. More Generally, that receiving the Grace of Reconcilement, they bring forth the fruit thereof in obedience and thankfulnesse to God. This is urged, 1. From the duty of the Apostles office as Co-worker with God, therefore bound to presse them to it, Chap. VI. 1. 2. From the condition of the present season of the Gospel, this being the very time wherein God had promised to work more effectually upon mens hearts by Christs Doctrine, ver 2. 3. From his own exemplary Pastoral care in the Ministry of the Gospel, Both to prevent offence therein, ver.3. And to approve himself in all things as the faithful Minister of Christ; in all ministerial Graces, Properties, &c. most elegantly described, In like manner they, as his flock, should proportionably in their places imitate him, ver.4. to 14. II. More Particularly, that they avoid all intimate fellowship, by marriage or otherwise, with Infidels and Idolaters. 1 Because of the extream disparity and contrariety betwixt them whereby they are inconsistent one with another, v. 14, 15, 16. 2 Because of the singular benefits that will ensue upon their separating from Infidels and Idolaters, viz. Gods Reception of them, and Paternal Relation to them, according to his Promises, v.16,17,18.

CHAP. VII.

Therefore they should have no fellowship with Idolaters, by presence of body or allowance of spirit, but contrariwise should perfect holinesse in Gods fear, Chap.VII 1.

II. To bear him like affection in receiving his Doctrine and Exhortation, as he beares to them; Receive us, i. e. as into the bosome of your love, ver.2. I. Because he had given them no cause of Disaffection, either by 1. Injury to any. 2. Corruption of any by false Doctrine. 3. Or Defrauding any of their state, ver 2. II. Because he singularly testified his dear affection to them, 1. Having them in his heart to live and dye with them, ver.3. 2. Speaking freely of them only to themselves, but glorying of them to others, ver. 4. 3. Being Comforted exceedingly in all his tribulations by the report that Titus made to him of their affairs; Partly, what good effect his former Epistle had upon them, especially in reference to the incestuous person, working them to godly sorrow and reformation, ver.4 to 13. Partly, what kind respects and obedience they manifested to Titus, according as Paul had boasted of them to Titus. ver.11. to the end.

CHAP. VIII.

III. To a liberal and cheerful Contribution to the poor Saints at Jerusalem and in Judea; and this by many emphatical Arguments, viz. 1. The exemplary bountifulnesse of the Macedonian Churches, notably described, Ch. VIII.1. to 6. 2. The expectation of the Macedonian Churches that the Corinthians should be liberal, ver.6. 3. The Corinthians abounding in other vertues, therefore should proportionably abound in liberality, ver.7,8. 4. The example of Christ impoverishing himself to enrich us, ver.9. 5. This course would be expedient and profitable for them, that having a year ago begun not onely to contribute, but to be willing and chearful in it, they should labour to perfect it; willingly and cheerfully according to their ability, v. 10. to 16. This he amplifies by commendation of the care and willingnesse of Titus and other brethren, who upon Pauls request, exhortation and commendation, were come to the Corinthians purposely about the perfecting of their charity, ver.16. to the end. 6. The Corinthians forwardnesse herein; Not needing many Arguments, Boasted of by Paul, Provoking very many in Macedonia, yet quickened by Pauls sending of the brethren, lest they should come short of his boasting, Ch.IX 1. to 6. 7. The Reward will be proportionable to the gift, therefore they should give, not sparingly, but bountifully and cheerfully, ver.6,7. 8. Gods All sufficiency to supply them with all blessings for present and future, both for their own and others good, ver.8,9,10,11. 9. This will cause the Churches many thanksgivings to God, for your professed subjection herein to the Gospel. 10. Hereby the want of the Saints shall be supplied, ver. 11, 12, 13. II. The prayers of the Saints highly valuing the grace of God in them, shall be hereby engaged for them, ver. 14. This exhortation Paul shuts up with thanks to God, as being confident he herein had obtained his desire in them, ver. 15.

IV. To behave themselves with such dutiful Obedience to and due estimation of his Doctrine and Ministry, that he may have cause to use lenity and gentleness towards them, and not be forced to exercise that severity against them, which he intended against some, Ch. X. ver. 1, 2, &c. To this end, CHAP. X.

1. He wipes off that Aspersion cast upon him by false Teachers; That his personal presence was Base, but his Letters Bold; shewing; 1. That at his coming he purposeth to be bold against some, that traduced him as walking carnally, ver. 1, 2. 2. That though he walk in the flesh, he wars not after the flesh, ver. 3. 3. That he hath a powerful Ministry, as weapons of an heavenly warfare, committed to him, able, Partly to subdue some to the Obedience of Christ, ver. 3, 4, 5. Partly to take revenge on all contrary disobedience, ver. 6. 4. That as others are Christs, so he is Christs, having Apostolical authority from him, of which he need not be ashamed to boast, ver. 7, 8. 5. That he will be found as potent in his Presence, as by his Letters, ver. 9, 10, 11.

2. He taxeth the false Apostles for their self-applause, and that beyond their line, boasting of other mens labours: which himself did not, ver. 12. to the end.

3. He vindicates himself and his Apostleship from contempt in their eyes who preferred the false Apostles before him, entring upon a necessitated and forced commendation of himself and his Apostleship. Here, I. He prefaceth, desiring them to bear with him in this his just and necessary self-commendation, Ch. XI. ver. 1. And this 1. Because it is in his zeal to God and Christ. 2. Because he doth it out of holy jealousie to them, whom he had espoused as a chaste Virgin to Christ; but now fears they are corrupted from Christs simplicity, in that they were so prone to receive them who preached a false Jesus, a false Spirit, a false Gospel, ver. 2, 3, 4. CHAP. XI. II. He commends himself and his Apostleship, upon many considerations, viz. 1. By his equality to the chief Apostles, ver. 5. Object. But thou art rude in speech. Answ. 1. Yet not in knowledge. 2. In all things I have been throughly made manifest among you, v. 6. 2. By his preaching the Gospel freely to the Corinthians, taking wages of other Churches to that end, ver. 7. to 11. Not that he loves not the Corinthians, ver. 11. But Partly, that thus he may cut off occasion from the false Apostles who sought to traduce him, ver. 12. Partly, That he may not be herein inferiour to false Apostles, who pretended to preach the Gospel gratis, that they might be like Christs Apostles; whose hypocrisie he illustrates and threatens, v. 12. to 16. Object. But this thy glorying is foolish. Answ. He answers, 1. By Concession, yet as a fool suffer me a little, ver. 16, 17. 2. By explication of his Reasons why he will boast himself, Partly, because others glory, ver. 18. Partly, because themselves suffer fools gladly, (ironically calling them wise;) yea suffer false teachers to smite them on the face by reproach, ver. 19, 20, 21. Partly because whereinsoever false Apostles did boast themselves, he dare also, ver. 21. 3. By his Parity, yet Superiority to all these false Apostles. Partly in outward priviledges, ver. 22. Superiority, not only in his Office, but also in his intollerable Sufferings, Labours and cares therein, ver. 23. to the end of the chapter. 4. By his extraordinary Visions and Revelations being wrapt up into the third Heaven, which is Paradise, hearing their unspeakable words, Ch. XII. 1. to 5. This he amplifies, Partly showing that he would rather glory in his infirmities, (instancing in his being buffeted by Satan, that he should not be immeasurably exalted by Revelations,) that Christs power may shine in his infirmities, v. 5. to 11. Partly intimating that they have compelled him to this glorying, whose duty rather it was to have commended him, and that for divers reasons, ver. 11, 12, 13. CHAP. XII. 5. By his singular fatherly affection to the Corinthians, seeking not theirs but them, willing to spend and be spent for them, and neither by himself nor by others making a gain of them, v. 14. to 19. This his commendation of himself he amplifies by a prolepsis, shewing Negatively that he did it not out of any self-guiltiness; Affirmatively, That it was for their edification, ver. 19.

Hitherto of the Hortatory, or Practical part of the Epistle.

III. In the Minatory, or Threatning part of the Epistle.

1. He intimates his fear, that at his coming to them, 1. He shall find them, such as he would not, viz. guilty of divers offences enumerated, and impenitent notwithstanding. 2. He shall be found of them such as they would not, viz. sharp and severe, ver. 20, 21.

2. He threatens impenitent offenders with the Severity and Power of his Apostolical Office, at his coming to them; 1. Because he had now thrice admonished them, which was as much as three witnesses in the law convincing them of obstinacy, Ch. XIII. 1, 2. 2. Because they as it were provoke him to severity, seeking a proof of Christ speaking in him, which to them was not weak but powerful; for though he was weak among them as a man, yet he was powerful as Christs Minister: As Christ himself was crucified as a weak man, but rose as a powerful God, v. 3, 4. This power of Christ in him to them, he proves by his Converting of them to the faith, wherein he appeals to their own experimental Self-probation, unless they be reprobates, as he trusts they shall know he is not, v. 5, 6. CHAP. III.

3. He lenifies this threatning, 1. By his Prayer for them that do no evil, but that which is honest; what account soever he be of with them, ver. 7. This he confirms, Partly from his customary manner of acting, viz. not against but for the truth, ver. 8. Partly from his earnest affection to their spiritual good, ver. 9. 2. By intimation of his intent in writing thus sharply to them, viz. that he may spare sharpness at his coming, ver. 10.

THE CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle; containing his farewel and valedictory. 1. Exhortation to them, ver. 11. 2. Salutation of them, ver. 12, 13. 3. Petition for them, ver. 14. III.

Galatians.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THE Epiſtle of Paul the Apoſtle to the GALATIANS.] So intituled from the Penman a Paul who wrote it, and from the Churches in Galatia, to whom he wrote it.

a Gal. 1. 1, 2.

Galatia ſo called from Galli, viz. The French, that came and inhabited there, who called the country after their name. That they were French, all agree, (ſaith b Calvin,) whence aroſe the name of Gallogrecians; but from what part of France they came is leſs evident; but he thinks they moſt probably came from the utmoſt Tract of Rhene, towards the Britiſh ſea. Galatia c was an ample Province of Aſia minor; neer to Phrygia, into which anciently entred a People from Gallia of Europe, and ſeated themſelves betwixt Bithynia and Cappadocia, as is teſtified by d divers Authors. The more principal cities in the Province of Galatia, (as e Appianus notes) were theſe; Synopa, Pompeiopolis, Claudiopolis, Ancyra, (the Metropolis, famous for an ancient Councel there,) Laodicea, Antioch and Nicopolis. Paul with f Silas and Timothy, travelled through the Region of Galatia once, but were then forbidden of the Holy Ghoſt to preach the Word in Aſia. But afterwards he g went over all the Countrey of Galatia and Phrygia, in order, ſtrengthening all the Diſciples. In which Countrey of Galatia, in moſt of the famous cities, (it is conceived) Paul had planted famous Churches of Chriſt, becauſe he mentions the h Churches of Galatia.

§. II. Occaſion.

It ſeems by the current of this Epiſtle, that after Pauls departure from Galatia, having planted the Goſpel there: there came among them falſe Apoſtles and corrupt teachers, who to advance their own doctrine, (as Chryſoſtome i hath obſerved) endeavoured to diſgrace Pauls Apoſtleſhip, as if he were not ſo much an Apoſtle, as the Apoſtles diſciple; and to pervert the purity and ſimplicity of the Goſpel of Chriſt among them, by mixtures of legal doctrines; urging the obſervance of both moral and ceremonial law, and particularly of Circumciſion, Ceremonial Sabbaths, and New-moons, as neceſſary to Juſtification; ſo mingling and blending together Law and Goſpel, Works and Faith, Judaiſme and Chriſtianiſme, tending dangerouſly to the ſubverſion of that Church. Hereupon he took Occaſion to write this Epiſtle to them.

Οἱ ἐκ Ἰουδαίων πεπιστευκότες, &c. viz. The beleeving Jews, Partly poſſeſſed with a good opinion of Judaiſme, Partly drunk with the thirſt of vain-glory, whilſt they deſire to procure to themſelves the dignity and authority of Teachers, went to the Galatians, taught that they had need of Circumciſion, that Sabbaths and New-moons were to be kept, nor was Paul to be endured, that took away the obſervations of theſe things. For (ſaid they) Peter, James and John forbid not theſe things, who are chief among the Apoſtles, and have been converſant with Chriſt.——Paul was but a Diſciple of the Apoſtles, but theſe of Jeſus Chriſt. He is but one, they many, and Pillars of the Church. And they calumniouſly charged Paul with ſimulation, taking away Circumciſion from them, allowing it to others, &c. Therefore when he ſaw all Galatia in an inflammation, and a dangerous fire to be kindled againſt their Church, and the weakned houſe to be in hazard, leſt it ſhould fall, partly moved with juſt anger, partly poſſeſſed with extreme grief of ſpirit, he wrote this Epiſtle to them all, anſwering to theſe things.——And thus begins; Paul an Apoſtle, not of men, not by men, &c. Ioan. Chryſ. Com. in cap. 1. Ep. ad Gal. Tom. 5. in N. T.

§. III. Scope.

Hence the Apostle yearning over those Churches, with much anger and great Spirit, (as k Chrysostome and Oecumenius have well observed) writes this Epistle to them. Partly to assert the Divine Authority of his Apostleship; Partly to recover them out of their errour in that fundamental point of Justification: both by convincing them of Justification by Faith only, and by demonstrating unto them the true nature and use of moral and ceremonial Law. And partly to incite them to a holy Christian Conversation.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this notable and vehement Epistle to the Galatians, consider principally, 1 A Preface, 2 A Treatise, 3 A Conclusion.

A PREFACE or entrance to the whole Epistle, containing 1. The Apostles Inscription, describing 1. The Parties writing, viz. Paul (whose Apostolick office is notably asserted, not upon an humane but divine foundation, and this against the false Apostles denying it to the Galatians,) and the brethren with him. 2. The Parties written to, viz. The Churches of Galatia, Chap. I. ver. 1, 2. II. The Apostles Salutation, showing 1. What he wishes to them; Grace and Peace. 2. From whom, from God the Father and our Lord Iesus Christ. To Christ he ascribes, 1. Expiation of our sins, as wrought by his death, v. 4. 2. Eternal glory, as therefore due to him, v. 5. I.

CHAP. I.

A TREATISE, containing matters, 1. Reprehensory or Elenctical, 2. Informatory or Doctrinal, 3. Mortatory or Practical. II.

I. Reprehension; wherein 1. Partly he blames them. 2. Partly he convinceth them.

1. He blames and sharply taxeth them, that they had so soon fallen from the Gospel-doctrine of Justification by faith, which he had preached to them: to that Anti-Gospel opinion of Justification also by the works of the Law. Here consider 1. His pathetick admiration at their so speedy defection from the Gospel, and him that called them into Christs grace, to a false Gospel, of some that troubled them and would pervert the Gospel, ver. 6, 7. 2. His double execration of every one, Man or Angel that should preach to them any other Gospel then he had preached and they had received, v. 8, 9.

II. He endeavours clearly and fully to convince them of their great errour in forsaking the Gospel he preached to them, and undervaluing his Apostleship, showing to them the 1. Integrity of his Ministry. 2. Divinity of his Gospel-doctrine preached to them.

1. The Integrity of his Ministry; he therein aiming not to please men, but Christ, v. 10.

2. The Divinity of his Gospel-doctrine preached to them, he labours especially to clear, I. Asserting 1 Negatively, as not received from man, or by humane instruction. 2 Affirmatively, as received of Christ by divine revelation, ver. 11, 12. II. Proving it to be divine, from the Divine Authority of his Apostleship, which (because false teachers among them had called it in question that so they might seduce them from his doctrine,) he elaborately evidenceth, 1. From his Antecedent enmity, and Antipathy against the Gospel and Church of God, beyond measure persecuting and wasting it through Zeal to the Jewish Religion, ver. 13, 14. 2. From his miraculous Conversion, and Divine Call by Gods grace to preach Christ among the Gentiles, ver. 15, 16. 3. From his Consequent Apostolical deportment in, and execution of his office, to which he was called, fully approving himself an Apostle in divers Acts, viz.

1. In going immediately upon his Call to the Apostleship, (not subjecting the same to any humane counsel, no not of the Apostles themselves at Ierusalem, so fully was he assured of the divine Authority of it,) to preach the Gospel in Arabia for three years, ver. 16, 17.

2. In going up to Ierusalem, (after he had exercised his Apostleship among the Gentiles three years,) to see the Apostles, where 1. He saw only Peter and Iames. 2. He abode only fifteen days with them, ver. 18, 19. (hereby intimating, that as he derived not his Apostleship from them, so there was no dissent betwixt him and them therein. And the truth of this Narrative he confirms with an Oath, ver. 20.)

3. In passing thence into the Regions of Syria and Cilicia, and being approved in his Apostolick Ministry by all the Churches of Judea, glorifying God in him, upon the report of his preaching the faith, which he once destroyed, (though by face he was unknown to them, who therefore could confer nothing to his Apostleship,) ver. 21. to the end.

4. In his going up again to Ierusalem after fourteen years, with Barnabas and Titus a Greek, Ch. II. ver. 1. by which expedition the divine authority of his Apostolick office was notably confirmed. For 1. The cause of that going up was divine Revelation, ver. 2. 2. The end was not to learn any doctrine from them, but to communicate to them that Gospel he preached among the Gentiles, v. 2 CHAP. II.

3. There Titus, though an uncircumcised Greek, was acknowledged a brother by the Apostles, and not suffered by Paul to be Circumcised, lest false brethren should thereby have taken occasion to traduce him and his doctrine, for circumcising him through fear of the Apostles, contrary to his doctrine of freedome from the Law, preached among the Gentiles, ver. 3, 4, 5. 4. There James, Cephas, and John, who seemed Pillars, yet in conference added nothing to Paul, but contrariwise, perceiving by the efficacy of his Apostleship to the Gentiles, as of Peter's toward the Jews, that the Gospel of the uncircumcision was committed to him, as of the circumcision to Peter, they gave to Paul and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, approving their preaching among the Gentiles, and desiring them to commend the poor state of the Saints at Jerusalem, to the Gentiles charity, ver. 6. to 11.

5. In his not private but publique withstanding even Peter himself to the face at Antioch, (such was his Apostolical equality to him,) for his Judaizing in favour of certain Jews come from Jerusalem, to the offence of the Gentiles, and prejudice of the Gospel-doctrine of Justification. (thus he slides into the point of Justification controverted.) ver. 11. &c. This act of Pauls is described, I. By the Occasion, or procuring cause of it, viz. Peters miscarriage, in withdrawing himself from the Gentiles for fear of the Jews, and so repelling the Gentiles from Church Communion, unless they would reject the liberty of the Gospel, and come under the yoke of the Law, ver 12. This is amplified by the ill events, 1. Upon the other Jews, 2. Upon Barnabas, ver. 13. II. By Pauls Reprehensory Speech to Peter; wherein 1. He blames Peter, being a Jew, for Gentilizing, and yet compelling the Gentiles to Judaize, which was unequal, ver. 14. 2. He demonstrates the point in question, viz. Justification by faith; by the Jews own conviction thereof. Thus; We, though Jews, to whom the Law was given, yet taught by the word and experience that a man is justified by faith and not the works of the Law, because no man can keep it, have beleeved in Christ that we might be justified by faith: therefore much more the Gentiles to whom the Law was not given, are to be justified by faith, and not by the works of the Law, ver. 15. 16. 3. He refels a contrary Objection. Object. But if we Jews seek to be justified by Christ, then our selves are found sinners, and if we be found sinners, is not Christ the Minister of sin? doth not Christ open a door to sin? Answ. He answers, Partly by denying the inference, v 17. Partly by proving the contrary in the Hypothesis of his own person by divers reasons, (1) Because, then Justification by faith should build up what it had destroyed, and so should destroy it self, which were absurd, v 18. (2) Because the Scope of the Gospel is contrary, viz. That by the law discovering sin, we should be dead to the Law, as to the seeking of Justification from it, that we might live to God, v. 19. (3) Because they that are Christs are crucified with Christ, that they might not live in sin, v. 20. (4) Because they that are justified by faith in Christ, live by faith in Christ crucified, yea, Christ lives in them, v. 20. 4. He confutes Justification by the works of the Law, from a double absurdity that would follow thereupon, viz. Then the grace of God were frustrated: Then Christ were dead in vain, ver. 21.

Hitherto the Reprehensory Part of the Epistle.

II. Informatory or Doctrinal; wherein he treats of Justification by faith without the deeds of the Law; 1 Reproving, 2 Proving, 3 Refelling, 4 Dehorting.

CHAP. III.

I. Reproving the Galatians most sharply for their folly in being bewitched from this truth, so clearly taught them, Ch. III. 1.

II. Proving Justification by faith without legal works by many Arguments. I. Because they received not the Spirit (viz. the Spirit of Grace, Adoption and Miracles,) by the works of the Law, but by the faith of the Gospel, v. 2. II. Because it is a point of folly and absurdity in them, to begin in the Spirit (viz. To begin to be justified by faith, as Paul taught them,) and to end in the flesh, (viz. to perfect their Justification by legal works, as the false Apostles taught them,) v 3 This he amplifies, 1. By the vanity of all their former sufferings for the faith now deserted, ver. 4. 2. By repetition of the first Argument, ver. 5. III. Because Abraham the father of the faithful was justified by faith; Consequently so must all his faithful children be justified, whether Jews or Gentiles, ver. 6. to 10. IV. Because they that seek Justification by the works of the law, are under the curse, they not being able perfectly to fulfil the Law; now that which curseth them, cannot justifie them, ver. 10. V. Because Habakkuk testifies that men shall be justified by faith; now the Law is not of faith, but of works, ver. 11, 12. VI. Because Christs redemption of us from the curse, by being made a curse for us, that by him the blessing of Abraham might come upon the Gentiles, is received only by faith, ver 13, 14. VII. Because the Earthly and Heavenly inheritance was given to Abraham by Covenant and Promise, and also confirmed to him in Christ his promised seed, four hundred and thirty years before the Law was published, and therefore cannot be disannulled by the Law, that righteousnesse should come by the works of the Law, and not by faith, ver. 15. to 19.

III. Refelling divers Objections that might be made by legall Justitiaries, against the doctrine of Justification by faith, viz.

1. Object. To what use serveth the Law, if we are not to be justified by it? Answ. He answers, 1. Explaining the true intent of the Law, viz. To convince of sin, v. 19. 2. Limiting the continuance of the Mosaical dispensation, viz. till the coming of Christ, to whom the Promise was made, ver. 19. 3. Commending the administration of the Law; Partly from the Ministry of Angels used therein, ver. 19. Partly from the mediation of Moses therein betwixt God and the People, which implyed a discord betwixt them by reason of the Peoples sin, ver. 19, 20.

2. Object. Is not the law then against Gods Promises? Answ. He answers, I. Denying the inference, God forbid. II. Confirming by reason, That the Law is not against Gods Promises. 1. Because it was was never given to afford life and Justification by it, but rather to seal up condemnation by convincing all of sin, that despairing in themselves, they might go to Christ for life, ver. 21, 22. 2. Because the Law (under which we were kept in our minority, distinct from all People in hope of the Gospel-faith to be revealed,) was as our School-master to bring us to Christ, (viz. The moral law, by convincing of sin; The Ceremonial by pointing at Christ the remedy against sin,) that so we might be justified by faith in Christ, ver. 23, 24. III. Declaring the abrogation of the Mosaical dispensation of the Law at Christs coming, the ends thereof being fulfilled. This he sets forth under a double Metaphor, 1. Of the Law, as a Schoolmaster, from whose servile state the faith of the Gospel frees us, ver. 25. to the end. 2. Of the Law as a Tutour or Governour, under which the Church of the Jews, in her minority and non-age was kept, till the coming of Christ, when the Church came to her Maturity and full age, and by Christ was freed from that bondage, Ch. IV. 1. to 8.

CHAP. IV.

IV. Dehorting; The Apostle more gently rebuking them, dehorts the Galatians from adhering to legal observances, and this by divers Arguments; I. From comparison of their former state of ignorance when they served idols, with their present state of faith and knowledge, wherein they would enslave themselves to the beggarly Elements of the world, ver. 8, 9. II. From the Apostles fear that his preaching the Gospel to them will be rendred vain by their legall observances, ver. 10, 11. III. From the Apostle Pauls example, who was once as zealous of the Law as they, but renounced all for Christ, ver. 12. This Argument he pathetically urges upon divers grounds; 1. His not writing these things out of any revenge against them, ver. 12. 2. His afflictions he endured in preaching the Gospel to them, ver. 13. 3. Their former zeal and fervent love to him and his Ministry, ver. 14, 15, 16. 4. Their false teachers ill-grounded love and zeal to them, ver. 17, 18. 5. His tenderest affections to them, travelling in pangs as a mother for them, desiring to be with them, and change his voice towards them, because he is afraid of them, ver. 19, 20. IV. From the very testimony of the law it self which did prefigure its own abolition, and the establishment of grace alone, and this in the Allegory of Abrahams two sons by Agar and Sarah; and therefore concludes the inheritance not to be of the law, and the works thereof, but of grace. More particularly, 1. He propounds the history of Abrahams two sons, the one of the bond-woman after the flesh; the other of the free-woman by promise, ver. 21, 22, 23. 2. He allegorically expounds this history of the Two Covenants; the one from Mt Sinai in Arabia, which answereth to Ierusalem, and gendreth to bondage; the other from the Hierusalem above, ver. 24. to 28. 3. He applyes this to the Galatians, that they as Isaac are children of the Promise, and therefore not to expect the eternal Inheritance by the works of the law, but by faith, ver. 28. 4. He comforts them against the persecutions of legal Justitiaries; Partly by the example of Isaac persecuted by Ishmael, ver. 29. Partly by the event hereof; as persecuting Ishmael was cast out, that he should not inherit with Isaac: so the persecuting legal Justitiaries shall not spiritually inherit with the free-born believers, ver. 30, 31.

Hitherto of the Informatory, or Doctrinal Part of this Epistle.

III. Hortatory or Practical. The Apostle having thus cleared the point of Justification by faith alone and not by works of the law, closeth up the whole dispute with a double Exhortation to the Galatians, viz.

CHAP. V.

I. To persist stedfastly and constantly in their Christian-liberty from the bondage of the Mosaical yoke. This he presseth by divers Arguments, Directly and Indirectly; I. Directly; 1 Because Circumcision deprives of all benefit by Christ, Ch V. ver. 1, 2. 2. Because Circumcision ingages the circumcised as debters to keep the whole law, ver. 3. 3. Because they who seek Justification by the law are fallen from grace, ver. 4. 4. Because God hath but one way of justifying both Jews and Gentiles, viz. By a lively faith: ver. 5, 6. II. Indirectly, 1. Reproving them that they did not Persist in their good course wherein they began, through ill perswasion, to their own leavening, ver. 7, 8, 9. 2. Translating their faultinesse, especially to their seducers troubling them, ver. 10. 3. Clearing himself from the Aspersion of preaching Circumcision, from his sufferings for Christ, ver. 11. 4. Wishing that their troublers were cut off, ver. 12.

CHAP. VI.

II. To take heed they abuse not their Christian-liberty To this end he lays down several Precepts, General and Special. I. General; 1. That they use not their liberty as an occasion to the flesh, v. 13. 2. That they serve one another in love, v. 13, 14, 15. 3. That they walk in the spirit, and so they shall be preserved from the contrary works of the flesh; Here many works of the flesh and spirit are enumerated; and by divers Arguments the works of the flesh dissuaded from, v. 16. to the end. II. Special; 1. That they exercise Christian meekness in restoring a lapsed brother, Ch. VI. 1, 2. 2. That every of them think humbly and modestly of themselves, ver. 3, 4, 5. 3. That they exercise Bountifulnesse, Towards their Ministers, ver. 6. to 10. Towards all, but especially the houshold of faith, ver. 10.

III.

A CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle, containing 1. A Testification of his love in writing to them with his own hand, ver. 11. 2. A Commonefaction, or warning of them against false teachers, who urge Circumcision, Partly that they may avoid Persecution for Christ, Partly out of hypocrisie and ambition that they may glory in their flesh, ver. 12, 13. 3. An opposition of his own example, against that of the false Apostles; he preaching the Gospel sincerely, and walking accordingly, ver. 14. 15. 16. 4. An Apostolical Protestation against the arrogance of the false Apostles, whom he sleights as not having the honourable * Marks of sufferings for Christ, like himself, ver. 17. 5. §. I. Name, and Penman.

THE Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the EPHESIANS.] So denominated from the [a] Saints at Ephesus, to whom principally Paul wrote. Marcion the Heretick, pretending to be a curious Searcher of the Title, calls it Pauls Epistle to the Laodiceans, (as [b] Tertullian hath noted,) but contrary to the truth of the Church. Hierome calls it [c] The Apostles middle Epistle, both in order and in sense; as the heart is in the middle of the creature; hence intimating with how many difficulties and profound questions it is involved.

[a] Eph. 1.1.

[b] Ecclesiæ quidem veritate Epistolam istam ad Ephesios habemus emissam, non ad Laodicenos; sed Marcion ei Titulum aliquando interpolare gestiit, quasi & in isto diligentissimus explorator. Nihil autem de Titulis interest, cum ad omnes Apostolus scripserit, dum ad quosdam, &c. Tertullian. adverf. Marcion. lib. 5. cap. 17.

[c] Nunc ad Ephesios transeundum est. Mediam Apostoli Epistolam, ut ordine ita & sensibus. Mediam autem dico, non quod primas sequens, extremis major sit: sed quomodo cor animalis in medio est: ut ex hoc intelligatis quantis difficultatibus, & quàm profundis quæstionibus involuta sit. Hier. Proœm. in Ep. ad Eph. Tom. 9.

EPHESUS was [d] the Metropolis of Asia minor, a city on the shore of the Ionian sea, looking towards the west of Asia minor, or as Herodotus thinks, in Iyaia, of old a city of great traffique, but much addicted to idolatry and superstition, and to Magick Arts and Witchcrafts, which always follow idolatry, (in [e] Hieromes judgment,) there being the [f] Temple of the great goddesse Diana; Not Diana the Huntrix, girt and bearing the Bow; but the many breasted Diana, whom by the very effigeis they falsly pretended to be the Nurse of all beasts and living creatures; saith [g] Hierome. Paul came to Ephesus at first, and reasoned with the Jewes in their Synagogues, [h] but tarried not there at that time, because he hasted to keep the feast at Jerusalem, after that he [i] came a second time to Ephesus, preaching and disputing there for two years and three moneths, not [k] ceasing to warne every one night and day with tears; that so the Tower of idolatry being destroyed, the Temples of lesser Cities might easily be taken; as [l] Hierome noteth. And so Paul planted a famous Church at Ephesus, continuing there, till by the [m] uproare at Ephesus he was necessitated to depart thence; and so he went into Macedonia —yet after his departure into Macedonia, he committed the care and inspection of the Church at Ephesus unto [n] Timothy. And Paul being afterwards at Miletus, [o] called thither the Elders of Ephesus, exhorting and incouraging them in their charge, knowing they should see his face no more. After Timothy it is supposed [p] John the Evangelist was Bishop of this Church.

§. II. Occasion.

Occasion of Pauls writing to the Ephesians, was not Schismes and Scandals in Ephesus, as in the Church of Corinth; nor false doctrine supplanting Justification by faith, that fundamentall point as in the Church of Galatia, that mingled the works of the Law with faith; But (as [q] Calvin observeth,) it was very probable the Apostle

[q] Io. Calv. Arg. in Ep. ad Eph.

stle was afraid lest false Apostles should trouble their faith, as if they had been only instructed by halfes. For they were Gentiles, and having embraced pure Christianisme, they heard nothing of Ceremonies, nothing of Circumcision; Whereas they that urged the Law upon Christians, counted all profane that were not initiated by Circumcision. For this was their common song, None ought to be reckoned among Gods People, unlesse circumcised; all the rules commanded by Moses were to be observed. Therfore they calumniated Paul, that he made Christ equally common to the Gentiles and Jewes; and asserted his Apostleship to be a Prophanation of the heavenly doctrine, because he prostituted the Covenant of grace to impure men, without distinction. Therefore the Apostle in singular tenderneſſe and provident care of this Church, (he being not now farre from his death,) leſt they ſhould faint or be diſcouraged by his bonds at Rome, and be weary of the Goſpel, either through the Groſſe, or through any ſuch calumnies of falſe teachers, writes this Epiſtle to confirme them.

§. III. Scope.

The Scope of this Epiſtle, is 1. From the due conſideration of their r Election, ſ Predeſtination, t Redemption, u Effectual vocation, out of their woful Gentiliſh condition by nature, into the fellowſhip of Gods People in Chriſt by grace, and the x publication of the Goſpel to this end among the Gentiles, by Paul eſpecially, to hearten and encourage the Epheſians unto conſtancy in Faith and Piety, and eſtabliſhment therein, notwithſtanding all y his tribulations for the Goſpel, or their diſcouragements by any falſe teachers whatſoever. 2. To provoke them to z walk worthy of their Chriſtian vocation; in the faithfull diſcharge, both of the Generall and Common duties of Religion, and of the a Speciall duties of particular relations. 3. To arme themſelves ſo with the b whole Armour of God, that they may ſtand conſtant and triumphant againſt fleſh and blood, and againſt all Satans crafty and violent temptations.

CHAP. I.
II.

THE BODY, or SUBSTANCE of the EPISTLE is 1. Partly Informatory or Doctrinal, 2. Partly Hortatory or Practical.

I. In the Informatory or Doctrinal part of this Epiſtle are laid down, not Controverſally but Dogmatically, Gods ſaving benefits to the Ephesians (and proportionably to us,) or the cauſes of ſalvation; now theſe are declared, 1. More Summarily, 2. More particularly.

I. More Summarily, in forme of a Thankſgiving, wherein note 1. The Praiſe it ſelf. 2. The Object of this Praiſe. 3. The Arguments or grounds of this Praiſe, ver 3.

II. More particularly, divers cauſes of ſalvation are inſiſted upon, as the particular grounds of the Apoſtles thankfulneſſe, both in reſpect of Jewes firſt, and Gentiles afterwards, viz.

1. Election, deſcribed by its 1. Author, 2. Object, us in Chriſt, 3. Eternity, 4. End, ver. 4.

2. Predeſtination, deſcribed alſo by the 1. Object predeſtinated, us. 2. Benefit whereto we are predeſtinated, Adoption by Chriſt. 3. Inward impulſive cauſe, good-pleaſure, &c. 4. End, ver. 5,6.

3. Redemption, ſet forth by the 1 Author redeeming, and Price, Chriſt by his blood, 2 Benefit by Redemption, Remiſſion of ſins, 3 Fountain of it, Grace, ver. 7. 4 Manifeſtation of it, in all wiſedome and prudence according to his purpoſe. 5 End; for the gathering together in one all things in Chriſt, ver. 8,9,10.

4. Vocation of both Jew and Gentile, to the Participation of this Redemption according to Gods purpoſe, of the Jew firſt, ver. 11,12. Of the Gentile afterwards, particularly of the Epheſians themſelves, 1. By operation of the Word, 2. By Obſignation of the ſpirit, ver. 13,14.

This Vocation of the Epheſians, he amplyfies, I. By the fame of their growth in faith and love, which he heard, v. 15. II. By the effect of that report upon himſelf in reference to the Epheſians, viz. III. Thankfulneſſe to God, and Prayer for them, v. 16. wherein conſider 1. To whom he prays, v. 17. 2. What he prays for in their behalf, viz. The increaſe of the ſpirit of Wiſedome and Revelation, &c. ver. 17,18. 3. To what end; that they may know more and more, Partly the hope of their calling, Partly the riches of the glory, &c. v. 18. Partly the surpassing greatness of his power towards them believing, ver. 19.

This exceeding greatness of Gods power, is described by its effects, On Christ, and On themselves. I. On Christ their Head, viz. 1. Quickening and raising him from the dead, v. 20. 2. Exalting him at his own right hand far above all creatures, as Head over all to the Church, his body, v. 20, 21, 22, 23. II. On the Ephesians themselves, Christs members. 1. Quickning them with Christ from their spiritual death, Ch. II. ver. 1. &c. This is described, Partly by their sad state of sin and wrath before they were quickned, v. 1, 2, 3. Partly by the impulsive causes moving God thus to quicken them, rich mercy, great love and grace, v. 4, 5. 2. Raising them with Christ, ver. 6. 3. Exalting them to sit in heavenly places in Christ, ver. 6. This their Exaltation is described and amplified, Partly by the end of it, viz. The manifestation of Gods riches of grace towards the Ephesians, saved by grace through faith; not of works; which are effects, not causes of this grace, ver. 7, 8, 9, 10. Partly by the singular Priviledges thereupon redounding to the Ephesians, thus Quickned, Raised, Exalted, viz. whatever were their former misery and distance from God, yet now they are in Christ brought nigh as well as Jews; are fellow-Citizens with the Saints, Of the Houshold of God; yea an Holy Temple and Habitation of God, v. 11. to the end of the Chapter.

CHAP. II.

5. Publication of all these rich benefits of Christ to the Gentiles by the Ministry of the Apostle Paul especially, that thereby the Gentiles might be built up as Gods Temple, Ch. III. Here note, I. Pauls call to preach Christ to the Gentiles, described 1. By the Event of his preaching to the Gentiles, viz. his own imprisonment, v. 12. 2. By the divine Revelation of that great mystery to Paul (in other Ages unknown) that the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body with the Jews, and enjoy Christ in the Gospel, v. 3. to 7. 3. By the ministerial Commission which God gave him towards the Gentiles; set out by the Author, v. 7. Instrument, v. 8. Matter of his Ministry, v. 8, 9. End, making known even to Angels by the Church, the Wisdom of God according to his purpose in calling the Gentiles, v. 10, 11, 12. II. Pauls hortatory inference hereupon to the Ephesians, that they shrink not from his doctrine, fainting by reason of his sufferings; As being 1. For them. 2. Their glory, v. 13. III. Pauls prayer for them, where note 1. To whom he prays, v. 14, 15. 2. For what he prays in their behalf, viz. Their strengthning in the inward man by the Spirit, v. 16. Christs inhabiting their hearts by faith, v. 17. Their rooting and grounding in love, v. 17. Their comprehension of Christs boundless love, v. 18, 19. Their replenishing with all the fulness of God, v. 19. 3. The Conclusion of his Prayer, with a Doxology, or Giving-Glory to God, v. 20, 21.

CHAP. III.

Hitherto of the Informatory, or Doctrinal part of this Epistle.

II. In the Hortatory or Practical part, He stirs up and exhorts the Ephesians to divers Christian duties, in testimony of their gratitude for all the former benefits. These duties are 1. More general. 2. More special.

I. More general duties, common to all Christians, viz. To walk worthy of the heavenly vocation wherewith they are called, Ch. IV. ver. 1. To this end he particularly directs them how to walk worthily, viz. with

CHAP. IV.

1. Humility and Meekness, ver. 2.

2. Long-suffering, and loving forbearance of one another, ver. 2.

3. Unity of the Spirit in the Bond of Peace, ver. 3. Because there is 1. One Body. 2. One Spirit. 3. One Hope, ver. 4. 4. One Lord. 5. One Faith. 6. One Baptism, ver. 5. 7. One God, ver. 6. 8. One common end of all the extraordinary and ordinary Ministers of the Gospel, (those gifts of Christ as fruits of his Ascension,) and of their Ministry, viz. The perfecting of the Saints in the unity of faith, full knowledge of Christ, and compleat growth up unto him in all things, as the body in the head, ver. 7. to 17.

4. Holiness of life; which consists 1. In Mortification or putting off the old man. 1. Because Gentiles unconverted walk in the lusts of the old man, v. 17. to 20. 2. Because they have better learned Christ, ver. 20, 21. 3. Because the old man is to be put off. 4. Because the old man is corrupt, ver. 22. II. In Vivification, or putting on the New Man in Righteousness and Holiness, verse 23, 24.

5. Truth, putting away lying; This is urged from our Co-membership in Christ, ver. 25.

6. Speedy placableness in anger; Because else we give place to the devil, ver. 26, 27.

7. Diligent labour, that they may give to others, and not steal from others, ver. 28.

8. Profitable, not corrupt Communication, urged 1. From the commodity of good Communication to others, v. 29. 2. From the mischief of bad to themselves, v. 30.

9. Brotherly love; which is Described and Urged, I. Described, 1. Negatively, by the opposite vices from which they are dehorted; ver. 31. 2. Positively by the acts of brotherly love required, v. 32. II. Urged 1. From Gods love to us, whom we are to follow as children, v. 32. and Chap. V. v. 1. 2. From Christs love in dying for us, v. 2.

CHAP. V.

10. To avoid fellowship with divers lusts of carnal men. Here I. These lusts or corruptions are described, 1. Fornication. 2. All uncleanness. 3. Covetousness. 4. Filthiness. 5. Foolish talking. 6. Jesting, verse 3, 4. II. The avoiding of these corruptions, is urged upon divers considerations. 1. They are uncomely for Saints, ver. 3. 2. They are inconvenient, ver. 4. 3. They exclude from Gods Kingdome, and incur his wrath, ver. 5, 6. 4. They were darkness, are light, therefore therefore must walk as children of light, proving what is acceptable to the Lord, ver. 8, 9, 10, 11. 5. These are unfruitful works of darkness, and shameful to be spoken of; therefore to be reproved by light, ver. 15. 6. Gods people should walk better, and that upon divers grounds, ver. 15, 16, 17.

11. To shun drunkenness, and as an Antidote against it. 1. To be filled with the spirit. 2. To exercise themselves in spiritual melody to the Lord. 3. To inure themselves continually to thankfulness in all things, ver. 18, 19, 20.

12. To submit themselves one to another; which Subjection is limited, in the Lords fear, ver. 21.

II. More special duties, peculiar to some particular Relations; As betwixt 1. Husbands and Wives. 2. Parents and Children. 3. Masters and Servants.

1. Betwixt Husbands and Wives; Here I. Wives are exhorted to submit themselves to their own Husbands, v. 22. This Submission is set forth by the 1. Manner of it, as to the Lord, ver. 22. 2. Grounds of it, Partly the Husbands Headship; Partly the Husbands Protection of her, ver. 23. 3. Pattern of it, the Churches subjection to Christ, ver. 24. 4. Extent of it, v. 24. II. Husbands are exhorted to love their wives, 1. From the example of Christs love to his Church, giving himself for it, to cleanse it, &c. ver. 25, 26, 27. 2. From the neer union betwixt husband and wife, they being one flesh morally, ver. 28, 29, as the Church is one flesh with Christ mystically, ver. 30. to 33. Whence the husband is to love his wife as himself, which is amplified, by the wives relative duty of Reverencing her Husband, ver. 33.

2. Betwixt Parents and Children. Here I. Children are charged to obey their Parents, ch. VI. ver. 1. This is 1. Limited, in the Lord. 2. Urged, Partly from the equity of it, Partly from the commodity of it, ver. 1, 2, 3. II. Parents are charged 1. Not to provoke their children. 2. To educate them Christianly, ver. 4.

3. Betwixt Masters and Servants, Here I. Servants are charged to be obedient to their Masters. This obedience is 1. Described by its adjuncts or properties, viz. 1. Fear to offend, 2. Singleness of heart, Amplified by its opposite eye-service. 3. Good will. 2. Urged partly from the Agreeableness of this to the Will of God and Christ, Partly from the commodity of so doing, v. 5. to 9. II. Masters are charged 1. To do the same things to their servants, viz. the things that are good and just. 2. To forbear too much austerity; because they have a Master in heaven, who respects not persons, ver. 9.

THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle, wherein

1. He encourages them to be strong and constant in the Lord, against all Satans subtil temptations through the help of the whole * Armour of God, ver. 10, 11. This he doth I. Urging it, with arguments drawn 1. From the greatness and danger of the adversaries, ver. 12. 2. From the necessity of this course, that they may stand in the evil day, v. 13. II. Describing the whole Armour of God particularly, which is 1. Defensive only: As Girdle of Truth, Breast-plate of Righteousness, v. 14. Shoes of the preparation of the Gospel of Peace, ver. 15. Shield of faith, especially commended for quenching all the devils fiery darting temptations, v. 16. Helmet of salvation, ver. 17. 2. Offensive as well as Defensive, viz. The sword of the Spirit, the Word, v. 17. Prayer for themselves, for all Saints, and for the Apostle himself particularly, ver. 18, 19, 20.

2. He shows why he sent Tychicus to them, 1. To inform them of his affairs. 2. To comfort them, ver. 21, 22.

3. He concludes with an Apostolical Salutation, wishing them Peace, Love with Faith and Grace, ver. 23, 24.

Philippians.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THE Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the PHILIPPIANS.] So entituled, because written by a Paul to the Saints, Bishops and Deacons at Philippi.

PHILIPPI was the name of two Cities, viz. One in Thessalie, at first called Dathos, but after Philippi from b Philip of Macedon, who repaired it. Another a City a Phil. 1. 1.

b Alsted. Præcog. Theol. l. 2. c. 124.

of Macedonia, the first City of that part of Macedonia, c and a Colony: situate in the confines of Thracia, in the fields whereof Pompey was overcome by Cæsar, and after Brutus and Cassius by Anthony and Octavius. This latter Philippi is here meant, to this Philippi Paul came, being warned by d Vision to go into Macedonia, and there he abode certain dayes. Here Lydia and the Jaylor were converted. Here (as Chrysostome in his Preface to the Philippians saith,) The Ruler of the Synagogue believed. Here Paul and Silas was beaten with rods: Here they were intreated by the Magistrates to go out, and they were a feare to them; Here the preaching of the Gospel had a splendid beginning. And Paul here laid the foundation of a flourishing Church. Which (as e Ambrose and Chrysostom note) did not after the Apostles departure, fall off from the faith and purity of Gospel-doctrine, through the enticements of false Apostles, as the Galatians did: nor to other offences as the Corinthians did: but were constant in Faith and Piety, and increased both in number of believers and their graces; as their commendations in this Epistle testify.

In this Epistle to the Philippians are 1 The Preface, 2 The Matter, 3 The Conclusion.

I. CHAP. I.

THE PREFACE to the Epistle, which contains I. The Inscription, denoting 1. The Parties writing, 2. The Parties written to, Ch. I. ver. 1. II. The Apostolical Salutation, ver. 2.

II.

THE MATTER, or SUBSTANCE of the Epistle, wherein

I. He confirmes and encourages them in the Faith, 1. By declaring his constant thankfulneſs to God on their behalf, ver. 3,4. Here the matter of his Thankfulnesse, is 1. Propounded, viz. their fellowship in the Gospel from the first day till then, ver. 5. 2. Amplified by his confidence of their Perseverance, Partly from the nature of God, who begins and perfects his good work in his people, ver. 6 Partly from their zeal towards him in his sufferings, illustrated by his reciprocal dear love to them, v. 7,8. II. By his Prayer for their abounding and Perseverance in grace, and that inoffensively to Gods glory, v. 9,10,11. III. By removing the scandal of his Cross and Sufferings, that might discourage them, which he doth 1 Declaring that his bonds at Rome were so farre from hindring, that they have furthered the course of the Gospel; Partly because his bonds for Christ were manifest to all Cæsars house, ver. 12,13. Partly because many brethren of the Ministry were by his bonds emboldened to preach without fear, ver. 14. And however some preached

Christ

Christ not so sincerely as others, yet Christ was preached, and he joyed therein, ver. 15. to 19. 2. Intimating his assurance that all these his sufferings should turn to his good; Partly through their Prayer, Partly through the supply of Christs spirit, *ver.*19. Partly from his own hope upon his former experience, that Christ shall be magnified by him both in life and death, and himself should gain by both, ver 20,21. though the Philippians would gain more by his life, which puts him upon a strait, whether he should chose life or death, yet he is confident he shall live longer, for furtherance of their faith and joy, *v.*22. to 27.

II. He exhorts them to a pious Conversation becoming Christs Gospel, *ver.*27. &c. To this purpose he inciteth them particularly

1. To joynt stedfastnesse of spirit and minde in contending for the Faith, or Doctrine of the Gospel, notwithstanding all the terrors of their Persecutors, v 27,28. To the induring of whose persecutions, he encourages them, 1. Because their Persecutions are an evident token of their Persecutors destruction, but of their salvation, *ver.*28. 2. Because its a greater gift to suffer for Christ, then to believe in him, *ver.*27. 3. Because hereby they shall have communion with the Apostle himself, *ver.*30.

2. To unity in minde and heart; from divers pathetick Arguments in reference to himself, Ch. II. *ver.*1,2. CHAP. II.

3. To lowlinesse of minde. I. Dissuading from the contrary vices, viz. 1. Contention. 2. Vainglory, *ver.*3. II. Describing this lowlinesse of mind; As whereby 1. We esteem others beyond our selves, *ver.*3. 2. We regard others affairs as well as our own, ver 4. III. Urging it, 1. From Christs example, who though equal to God, yet debased himself in the forme of a servant to the death of the Crosse, and was therefore most highly exalted: so proportionably shall they be that debase themselves like him, *ver.*5. to 12. 2. From their former constant obedience to him; whence he now expects the like obedience in working out their salvation with fear and trembling, *ver.*12. 3. From Gods grace, which alone works in them to will and to do, therefore they have no cause at all to be high-minded in themselves, *ver.*13. 4. From the good end or event that hence will ensue, Partly in respect of themselves, their inoffensivenesse, as becomes the sons of God in a corrupt age, ver. 14, 15, 16. Partly in respect of the Apostle, his joy in them as their Minister in the day of Christ, *ver.*16. This his affection to them he Amplyfies by rejoycing to be poured forth, even as a drink-offering upon the service of their faith, by his death, wishing them also therein to rejoyce with him, *ver.*17,18.

III. He declares to them, both his purpose of sending Timothy to them for future, and his Reason of sending Epaphroditus their Minister to them for present. I. His Purpose of sending Timothy shortly to them to know their state, as soon as he sees how it will go with himself, commending Timothy, As 1. Like-minded. 2. Naturally caring for their state, while others seek their owne, not the things of Christ. 3. Serving with Paul in the Gospel as a son with a father, ver. 19. to 24. This he amplyfies by his hopes of coming himself to them shortly, *ver.*24. II. His present sending of Epaphroditus to them; Here 1. He commends Epaphroditus singularly, ver. 25, 26. 2. He shows why he sent him back to them, viz. that they might be comforted, in seeing him recovered who had been sick nigh to death, ver. 26,27,28. 3. He exhorts them gladly to receive, and highly to esteem him, who had so hazarded his life for the work of Christ, ver. 29,30.

IV. He warns them against the false doctrine of false Apostles, that would mingle the works of the law with faith in the point of Justification. Here I. He cheers them up in the Lord, against all contrary discouragements of false teachers, *Ch.*III. *ver.*1. II. He excuseth his inculcating the same things unto them, because safe for them, *ver.*2. III. He cautions them against false Apostles, branding them, As 1. Dogs, that for their bellies bark'd and snarl'd against the truth. 2. Evil-workers, that builded not, but destroyed the Church. 3. Concision, rending asunder the Churches unity by obtruding Circumcision, *ver.*3. Amplifying this by his and their opposite Circumcision of the heart, the true matter of glorying in Christ, *ver.*4. IV. He opposeth his own example against them, As 1. Farre surpassing these false Apostles in legal Priviledges and Works; enumerated particularly, *ver.*4,5,6. 2 Denying notwithstanding and debasing all these his Priviledges and Works as losse and dung for the excellency of Christs knowledge and righteousnesse by faith, and experimental Communion with and Conformity to Christ, both in his Death and Resurrection, ver. 7. to 12. 3. Yet not counting himself Perfect in Christ, but through Christs assistance, contending daily after Perfection, *ver.*12. to 15. This he amplyfies, Partly exhorting them that were more perfect among the Philippians to be like-minded with him. Partly comforting them that were more imperfect with hopes of a clearer Revelation; only cautioning them, so farre as they have attained to walk by the same rule, *ver.*15,16. 4. Exhorting the Philippians herein to follow his example, ver. 17. which he urgeth, Partly from the sinfulnesse, earthlinesse and damnablenesse of the false Apostles course; therefore to be avoided, ver. 18,19. Partly from the heavenlinesse and hopefulnesse of his course of life, ver. 20, 21. CHAP. III.

V. He exhorts to Christian duties, I. More particular, viz. 1. The Philippians to stedfastnesse in the Lord, *Ch IV.*1. 2. Euodias and Syntyche to concord, *ver.*2. 3. His true yoke-fellow, to help his helpers and fellow-labourers, verse 3. II. More generally. As, 1. To rejoycing in the Lord, ver. 4. 2. To Moderation; because the Lord is at hand, ver. 5. 3. To tranquillity and composednesse of minde, against all carking sollicitude, verse 6. And to this end, (1) He directs them to disburden all their cares and troubles into the bosome of the Lord by Prayer, verse 6. (2) He Promises them in their so doing, CHAP. IV.

doing, the unconcieveable peace of God, to keep their hearts and mindes from distempered passions and imaginations, ver. 7. 4. To truth. 5. To gravity. 6. To Justice. 7. To purity. 8. To amiable manners. 9. To things of good report. 10. To every thing vertuous and praise-worthy, ver. 8. 11. To all things which he had commended to them, by his doctrine or life, ver. 9.

VI. He most gratefully commendeth and commends their bounty sent to him by Epaphroditus their Pastor: Here he 1. Rejoyceth in the Lord, at their care they took of him though they lacked opportunity, v. 10. 2. Declareth that his spirit was not weakned and broken with adversities and wants, (though they had not supplied him,) because he could be content in any condition, although Christ instructing and strengthening him, ver. 11. to 14. 3. Thankfully acknowledging their communicating to his necessity both now and heretofore, v. 14, 15, 16. 4. Clears himself from suspicion of avarice intimating that the thing he desired, was fruit abounding to their account, ver 17. 5. Commends their present expression or bounty by Epaphroditus, as being an abundant supply to him, and an acceptable sacrifice to God, ver. 18. 6. Promiseth them a supply of all their wants from God, ver. 19. 7. Praiseth God, ver. 20.

III. THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle, with 1. Salutations. ver. 21, 22. 2. An Apostolical valediction, or farewell-Prayer, ver. 23.

Colossians.

§. I. Name.

THe Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the COLOSSIANS.] So intituled from the Colossians; to whom Paul wrote this Epistle, [a] To the Saints and faithful brethren in Christ which are at Colosse.

These Colossians were [b] not that People dwelling in Rhodes, called Colossians from that huge Colossus or Image of the Sun seventy cubits high, there erected: But rather those inhabitants of Colosse a [c] chief city in Phrygia in Asia minor, near unto Hierapolis and Laodicea; as [d] Chrysostome thinks. And this Epistle it self seems to intimate thus much, wherein he mentions Epaphras his [e] zeal for them at Colosse, Laodicea and Hierapolis; Bids them [f] salute the brethren which are in Laodicea, and that [g] this Epistle be read in the Church of the Laodiceans. Now Laodicea and Hierapolis are near Colosse, but farre distant from Rhodes, as learned Writers import. Xenophon writes, [h] That after Cyrus entred into Phrygia, he went straight unto Colosse, a city of universal resort, flourishingly rich and great. Ozorius, and also Eusebius report, [i] That three cities of Asia, Laodicea, Hierapolis and Colosse, fell with one and the same earthquake, and this in the time of Nero's reigne, in the very next year after Pauls death. And [k] Pliny seats not Colosse in any Island, but among the Cities of the Continent.

When and Whence this Epistle was written, see in the former Table.

§. II. Occasion.

Epaphras fellow-labourer with the Apostles, had in Colosse with other Ministers planted a Church. The Faith preached to the Colossians was impugned by two sorts of adversaries, viz. Partly by some converted out of Judaisme, who urged the Ceremonies of the Law, Circumcision, New-moons, Sabbaths, and Differences of meats, as necessary to salvation, confounding Christ and Moses together: Partly by some converted out of Gentilisme, who obtruded Philosophical subtilties upon them, counting the simplicity of the Gospel too much below wise men; especially babling many things touching Angels and their Ministry, as by whom salvation was to be obtained, and so they blended Theology with Philosophy. The Apostle therefore being Πασαι ὡδὲ ἁγιαι αἱ Ἐπιστολαὶ Παύλου, &c.] i. e.

All Pauls Epistles are holy, but they have something more that are sent from him in bonds; as the Epistles to the Ephesians, to Philemon, to Timothy, and this present Epistle. ——But why say I these Epistles have more than others? Because he wrote them when he was in bonds As if a valiant man should write, mean while desisting from slaughter and trophies: so he also did. Himself also knew this was a great matter. For writing to Philemon he saith, whom I have begotten in my bonds. Jo. Chrysost. in Ep. ad Colos. Homil. 1. Tom. 6. in N. T.

§. III. Scope.

The chief intent and Scope of this Epistle is 1. To shew, that all [m] hope of mans salvation is grounded on Christ our Redeemer, enjoyment of him, and perseverance in him, as in whom alone all [n] compleat fulness, perfections, and All-sufficiencies to that end do meet; and therefore Christians should fully rest themselves satisfied in the faith of Christ only. 2. To caution the [o] Colossians, and all Christians against all Mosaical Ceremonies, Philosophical speculations and deceits, and humane traditions, as inconsistent with Christ and his fulness for our salvation. 3. To incite the Colossians to seek their happiness [p] higher, then in those low earthly and external things, and to exercise themselves more spiritually and Evangelically, in Mortification of sin, and Sanctity both in heart and life, in General and Particular duties of Christianity.

In this Epistle to the Colossians are 1. The Preface, 2. The Body of the Epistle, 3. The Conclusion.

THE PREFACE to the Epistle, contains I. The Inscription, describing 1. The Parties writing; 2 The Parties written to, Ch. I. ver. 1, 2. II. The Salutation, ver 2. III. The Exordium, or Entrance unto the Epistle, to procure benevolence with the Colossians, wherein note 1. His Gratulation in their behalf, ver. 3. 2. The grounds of this his Gratulation, viz. Partly their faith in Christ. Partly their love to all the Saints, ver. 4. Both which are amplified, By their final cause, viz. their hoped happiness in heaven. By their instrumental cause, viz. The Gospel preached to them by Epaphras, who declared their spiritual state to Paul, ver. 5. to 9. 3. I. CHAP. I.

THE BODY or SUBSTANCE of the Epistle, consists of matters, 1 Doctrinal, 2 Practical. II.

I. In the Doctrinal part, he 1. Asserts the truth positively 2. Confutes errour polemically.

1. He positively asserts the Truth, laying down the summe of Christian doctrine, touching the primary causes and benefits of salvation, in way of thankfulness for them, ver. 12. &c. Here are therefore described,

1. The saving benefits ascribed to the father, I. More generally, viz. his fitting us to partake of glory, ver. 12. II. More particularly how he thus fits us, viz. 1. Privatively, by delivering us out of the Kingdom of darkness. 2. Positively, translating us into the Kingdom of Christ, the son of his love, viz. by Effectual calling, ver. 13.

2. The saving benefit ascribed to the Son, viz. Redemption, ver. 14. This Redemption is set forth, I. By the price paid, His blood, ver. 14. II. By one eminent benefit purchased, Remission of sins, ver. 14. III. By the compleatness and all-sufficiency of Christ the Redeemer, described, and confirmed. 1. Described magnifically by divers glorious Titles attributed to him; As (1) Image of the invisible God, ver. 15. (2) First-born of every creature; Because he created all things, ver. 15, 16. Because he is before all things, Because all things consist by him, ver. 17. (3) Head of the Church, ver. 18. (4) The beginning, the first-born from the dead. v 18. 2. Confirmed, Partly from the final cause hereof, that in all he might have the Preheminence, ver. 18. Partly from the efficient ordaining cause, it pleaseth the father, ver. 19. Partly from the formal cause, All fulness dwelling in Christ as Mediatour, v. 19. IV. By the manner of this Redemption, and the benefit of Reconciliation to God thereby; Spoken of, 1. As concerning all more generally, ver. 20. 2. As concerning the Colossians more particularly; where note (1) Their natural misery, and the cause thereof, (2) Their spiritual delivery, and the means thereof, (3) The glorious end of that delivery, v. 21, 22.

(4) The

(4) The condition upon which they shall enjoy benefit by Christs Redemption and Reconciliation, viz Perseverance in the faith of the Gospel; which Perseverance is closely urged by many Arguments, Partly because this is necessary to their enjoying Benefit by Christs Redemption, ver. 23. Partly because this is the faith which all beleevers generally have received, ver. 23. Partly because Paul himself divinely called to this Ministry, preached this doctrine to them, and suffered persecution for it joyfully, ver. 23, 24, 25. Partly because of the singular excellency and dignity of this Doctrine, and of the mystery contained therein to the Gentiles, viz. Christ in them the hope of glory. ver. 26, 27. Partly because of the Apostles singular labouring and striving to preach this mystery of Christ in the Gospel throughout the world, ver. 28, 29.

II. He polemically confutes the errours contrary to this faith of the Gospel. In which confutation note,

CHAP. II.

1. His Preface, for procuring of their attention and benevolence, wherein I. He declares what great conflict and care he had for the Colossians, Laodiceans and others confirmation in the faith, Ch. II. ver. 1. II. He gives the reasons of this his care for them, 1. For Their manifold good, viz. Comfort, Union in love, and Full-assurance of understanding to the acknowledgement of the mystery of God and Christ, ver. 2. This Mystery of Christ, is commended gloriously, as having all treasures of saving wisedom and knowledge hid therein, ver. 3. 2. To prevent their peril of seducement by false teachers, ver. 4. 3 From his inward affection to them, and spiritual Presence with them, though corporally absent from them, Described, Partly by the manner of his affection, Joying, Contemplating upon them, Partly by the grounds thereof, viz. Their order, Their stedfastnesse of faith, ver. 5. III. He concludes exhorting them constantly to adhere to Christ, as Epaphras had taught them, 1. With firmness of faith. 2. With abounding therein. 3. With thankfulness in that behalf, ver. 6, 7.

2. His Proposition, touching the errours to be confuted, he lays down; I. Cautioning them against impostures. II. Referring these impostures to three heads, 1. Philosophy, viz. that which is deceitful, vain 2. Traditions of men. 3. Mosaical Ceremonies, called the Rudiments of the World. III. Hinting a general rule, whence we may discover they are to be rejected, viz. if they withdraw from Christ, ver. 8.

3. His Confutation of these errours propounded and stated, I. More generally by Arguments against them all, drawn 1. From the infinite Perfection of Christ in himself, in whom the perfect Deity dwels personally, therefore he neither needs nor admits these Additionals, ver. 9. 2. From their compleatness in Christ, in whom they have compleat furniture for salvation, ver. 10. 3. From Christs absolute Headship and Supremacy, ver. 10. II. More particularly, by Arguments against these errours severally. 1. Against Mosaical Ceremonies, as Circumcision, &c. which he proves needlesse to Christians. (1) Partly because they have in Christ a Circumcision far better in respect of the Author, Christ; Manner, without hands; Effect, True Sanctification; and Visible sign, Baptism, succeeding in room of Circumcision, ver. 11, 12. (2) Partly because they have in Christ perfect Justification, in remission of all their sins, ver. 13. Now sin being removed, the Ceremonial law, (which was a sign of guiltiness,) is removed by Christs death, ver. 14, yea all Spiritual enemies are by his death spoiled, captivated and triumphed over, ver. 15. (3) Partly because all Mosaical Ceremonies were but the shadows of Christ the body now come; therefore ye Christian Colossians are not to be censured and judged for not observing these vanished shadows; and if judged, ye need not regard it, ver. 16, 17. 2. Against Philosophical Seducers, he argues, (1) Branding them, Partly for usurping to themselves (like that of Judges in a race.) a Judiciary Authority to determine any thing about Gods worship; Partly for their assuming this power to beguile the People withall. (2) Showing wherein they fraudulently usurp this power, viz. in imposing upon them A voluntary humility, and worship of Angels. (3) Confuting and condemning these doctrines; Partly because they arise from ignorance, Partly because they flow from pride, ver. 18. Partly because they draw from the Head Christ, who affords all necessaries to his mystical body, who knits the members together whereby they grow, ver. 19. 3. Against superstitious Traditions of men, in outward Rites and Observances, he argues, (1) Propounding a general Argument; The death of Christ hath freed them from Mosaical Ceremonies, though imposed by God himself, much more from superstitious traditions meerly imposed by Man, ver. 20. (2) Instancing in some particular traditions condemned, ver. 21. (3) Condemning these particular Traditions, Partly from their own perishableness, Partly from their weak foundation, mens Commands and Doctrines, ver 22. (4) Declaring with what specious pretences these Seducers varnish over these Commands and Doctrines, wherein notwithstanding there's no true Wisedom or Piety, ver. 23.

Hitherto of the Doctrinal part of this Epistle.

II. In the Practical part of this Epistle are Corollaries from the former; he Instructs them in, and Exhorts them to divers Christian duties. 1. General. 2. Special.

I. General duties of Christianity, commonly concerning all believers, are divers, As

CHAP. III.

1. Seeking and setting their minde and affections on things above, not on things on the earth, 1. Because they are risen with Christ. 2. Because Christ sits at Gods right hand, Ch. III. 1, 2. 3. Because they are spiritually dead to those earthly things, ver. 3. 4. Because our life is now hid with Christ in God, will hereafter appear gloriously in Christs appearing, ver. 3, 4.

2. Mortification of their corrupt lusts, Carnal or Spiritual. I. More carnal corruptions, Here 1. Mortification is generally prescribed. 2. The lusts to be mortified, are instanced in ver. 5. 3. This Mortification of these lusts is urged, Partly, from the pernicious event that will follow upon these these lusts, ver. 6. Partly, from their carnal course herein, formerly, ver. 7. II. More Spiritual corruptions. Here 1. The evils to be put off are enumerated, v. 8, 9. 2. This putting them off is urged, from their present spiritual estate, having put off the old man, and put on the New-man, ver 9, 10. 3. These Reasons are strengthned by removing false causes of Helping or Hurting us before God: viz. all outward Priviledges, Conditions or Relations; Christ being all in point of Religion to commend us unto God, ver. 11.

3. Putting on and exercising of divers vertues, Here I. He exhorts to certain vertues, intermingling divers Arguments urging thereunto, ver. 12. to 16. II. He incites to the Study, Knowledge and use of the Word of Christ, as a singular guide and furtherance in all the former vertues, v. 16. III. He prescribes a general Rule for all their actions, 1. That all be done in Christs Name. 2. That all be done with thankfulness to God in Christ, ver. 17.

II. Special duties of Christianity, peculiarly concerning some particular Relations, prescribed and urged by divers Arguments, As 1. Of Wives and Husbands, ver. 18, 19. 2. Of Children and Parents, ver. 20, 21. 3. Of Servants and Masters, v. 22. to the end, and Chap. IV. 1.

CHAP. IV.

THE CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle, wherein

1. He exhorts the Colossians to divers necessary duties, As 1. Continuance and watching in Prayer with thanksgiving, and Prayer for Paul himself in particular, ver. 2, 3, 4. 1. Walking wisely towards them that are without, by redeeming time, ver. 5. 3. Discreet savourines in Communication, ver. 6.

2. He declares why he sent Tychicus and Onesimus to them, whom he notably commends to them, ver. 7, 8, 9.

3. He sends divers salutations to the Colossians and others, from several Persons singularly commended, ver. 10. to 16.

4. He directs the Colossians, 1. To cause this Epistle to be read in the Church of the Laodiceans, and themselves to reade the Epistle from Laodicea, v. 16. 2. To admonish Archippus to be diligent and faithful in his Ministry, ver. 17.

5. He closeth up the Epistle, 1. Showing that he was wont to send his salutation under his own hand. 2. Craving the remembrance of his Bonds. 3. Apostolically saluting them, wishing Grace to be with them, ver. 18.

I. Thessalonians.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe first Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the THESSALONIANS.] So denominated, because written by [a] Paul to the Church of the Thessalonians. And they from their City Thessalonica, which was the [b] Metropolis, or Mother City in Macedonia, situate on the edge of the Macedonian shore. Anciently it was called Therma, and thence the Thermaick Haven. [c] Some give this Reason of the change of the name; Philip King of Macedonia, in a memorable battel in these parts overcame the People of Thessaly. For monument of which Victory, the neighbouring City was re-edified and enlarged, and named Thessalonica; as it were (Θὶς ἄλλο νίκην) i.e. Put the Victory to another. It was sold by Andronicus to the Venetians, but they did not long joy it, for it was (as other parts of Greece,) quickly possessed by the Turks. Is now a famous Empory for Indian Merchandize, (but under the dominion and idolatry of the Turks,) [d] known by the name of Saloniki.

In Thessalonica God pleased to plant a Church; by the Ministry of Paul and Silas, converting both Jewes and Greeks. See the History of it in the [e] Acts. There the unbelieving [f] Jews, moved with envy, raised tumults against Paul and Silas, and also against the Saints that entertained them, Jason, &c. so that [g] Paul and Silas were glad to flie away by night to Berea, and after that to [h] Athens, whence he is thought to have written this Epistle.

§. II. Occasion.

The Occasion of Pauls writing this Epistle seems i evidently to be this, viz. Paul being forced by tumults to depart from Thessalonica, & fearing lest the Church there newly collected, should be hazarded through fear k of troubles and persecutions; and going to Athens he sends Timothy back to confirm the Thessalonians in the faith, and report their state to him. Whereupon Timothy informing him of their constancy notwithstanding persecutions, and of all their Affairs, from Athens Paul wrote this Epistle to them for their encouragement. When this Epistle was written, see in Table above.

§. III. Scope.

The Scope of Paul in this Epistle, is, 1. To encourage the Thessalonians to l constancy and perseverance in the Faith and Grace received, by means of the Apostles m faithful Ministry, which the Lord made exceeding effectual upon them; and that they n faint not by reason of his or their sufferings and afflictions for the Gospel. 2. To incite them unto all holiness of conversation, o pleasing to God, branched out into many Christian duties; and to progress therein unto p perfection. 3. To urge all Christians proportionably, to constancy in the Faith received against all tribulations, and to sanctity of Life in all holy Performances, till they came to be compleat.

§. IV. Principal parts.

In this I. Epistle to the Thessalonians are 1. A Preface, 2. The Matter, or Substance of the Epistle, 3. The Conclusion.

I. CHAP. I. THE PREFACE, contains I. The Inscription, describing 1. The Parties writing. 2. The Parties written to. II. The Salutation, or Apostolical Prayer, Ch. I. ver. 1.

II. THE SUBSTANCE, or MATTER of the Epistle is chiefly Hortatory. Herein he exhorteth the Thessalonians, 1 To Constancy and perseverance in the Faith and Grace received, 2. To Sanctity of Life, and progress in Grace unto perfection.

I. To Constancy and Perseverance in the Faith and Grace received, he exhorts them by many Arguments. As

1, From the consideration of Gods rich Grace, bestowed on them by the Apostles Ministry, and the general Fame thereof in the Churches of Christ, from which consequently they should not go back. Here note, I. The Apostles constant thankfulness and Prayer for them, ver. 2. II. The Grounds of this his Thankfulness, &c. viz. 1. His remembrance of their graces, especially Faith, Love and Hope, which are Amplified (1) Severally, by their several and peculiar effects, (2) Jointly, by the sincerity of them all, ver. 3. 2. His knowledge of their divine Election, (the Fountain of all their grace, ver. 4. The evidences whereby he charitably judges them Elect, are (1) The power of his Ministry upon them, (2) The gift of the Holy Ghost annexed, (3) The fruit of the Spirit, viz. much assurance, in which things he appeals to their own Consciences, ver. 5. (4.) Their holy practice, following the Apostles and Christ, upon their receiving of the word with patience and joy, v. 6. This grace of theirs is Amplified by the eminent events thereof, viz. Partly their exemplariness to all believers in Macedonia and Achaia, ver. 7. Partly the fame of their Faith, not onely in Macedonia and Achaia, but in every place, ver. 8. Partly the testimony which other Churches gave to the Apostle touching the Thessalonians Conversion by his Ministry, which Conversion is notably described by the parts of it, ver. 9. 10.

CHAP. II. 2. From the faithfulness of the instrument, whereby they were effectually converted, viz. Paul, Here I. The efficacy of his first preaching to them is declared, Ch. II. ver. 1. II. The means or helping cause to this efficacy, viz. Pauls faithfulness in his Ministry, is described and amplified. 1. By his Boldness in his Ministry; set forth, Partly by the measure of it, holding up even against all his afflictions. Partly by the Author of it, God, ver. 2. 2. By his Sincerity, in his Ministry according to the trust committed to him of God; which Sincerity he evidenceth: Partly by removing from himself the evil properties of hypocritical false-hearted Ministers. As [1] Impetuine, [2] Impurity, [3] Guile, ver. 3. [4] Men-pleasing, Amplified, by his contrary care to please the heart-searching God, ver. 4. [5] Flattery, [6] Covetousness, ver. 5. [7] Vain-glory, or, (as it may be rather interpreted) Mercenariness, ver. 6. Partly by ascribing to himself the properties of a sincere and faithfull full Minister, viz. (1.) Nurse-like gentleness towards them, *ver.*7 (2) Affectionate love and desire after them, ver. 8. (3) Constant laboriousnesse and diligence in his employment, that he might not be chargeable to them in preaching the Gospel, ver. 8. (4) Unblameablenesse of life among them, set forth, Partly by the witnesses thereof, God and them. Partly by the branches thereof Holiness and Righteousnes, ver.10.(5)Faithful discharge of his ministerial acts,Exhorting,Comforting, Charging. Amplified, Partly by the manner thereof, As a father doth his children, ver. 11. Partly by the matter thereof. That they would walk worthy of God, who had called them, ver. 12.

3. From their own experience of the efficacy of the doctrine of faith upon themselves. Here note I. The Manner of their receiving the Word, viz. Not as Mans, but Gods. II. The fruit of this their receiving the Word, 1. Upon the Apostle, constant Thankfulness, ver. 13. 2 Upon themselves, viz. Effectual Operation,*ver.*13. This effectual operation upon them, is evidenced by their willing suffering afflictions of their own Countrey-men for the Gospel, as the Churches in Judea did of the Jews, *ver.*14. The Jews cruel persecuting acts being mentioned particularly, *ver.*15.16.

4. From the Apostles singular care and tenderness over them, who (though he could not come to them himself, yet) sent Timothy to them, to comfort and stablish them in the faith, notwithstanding the Apostles afflictions. Here 1. He makes Apology for his absence from them, showing 1. That his absence from them was Forced, Short, Not in heart, *v.*17. 2. That his desire to see them was great, and his endeavours divers, but hindred by Satan, *ver.*17,18. 3. That this his desire did arise from the high esteem he had of them, and hope of reward, occasioned by them in their conversion, in the Day of the Lord, *v.*19,20 II. He declares his sending Timothy to them from Athens, to compensate his absence. Here note 1. The moving cause of sending him, his love to them, he could no longer forbear, *Chapt. III. v.*1. 2. The Commendation of Timothy sent, v. 2. 3. The end of his sending him to them,viz. To comfort and stablish them in the faith, least they should be staggered through Pauls afflictions, *ver.*2.3 Against which afflictions he comforts them, Partly from divine Appointment, *v.*3. Partly from the Apostles Prediction thereof unto them aforehand, *ver.*4. 4. The repetition of his former end in sending Timothy, ver.5. III. He mentions Timothy's good report to him of their spiritual state at his return, where consider 1. The matter of his report, viz. Their faith, love, good remembrance of the Apostle, desire to see him, *ver.*6. 2. The event of his report in Paul, viz. Partly his enlivening comforts in all their sufferings by their stedfastness, ver. 7,8. Partly his thankfulness for his joy in them, ver. 9. Partly his constant Prayer and earnest desire to see them, for further perfecting of their faith, ver. 10. beseeching the Lord to direct his way to them, to increase their love, and establish them unblameable in holiness at the coming of Christ, ver. 11, 12, 13. CHAP. III.

II. To Sanctify of life and Progresse in grace unto Perfection therein, he exhorts them 1. More generally. 2. More particularly.

I. More generally, where observe, I. The Manner of his exhortation,we beseech, &c. II. The matter exhorted, to abound in walking acceptably before God. III. The motives or reasons whereby this is urged, 1. Their receiving and knowing the Apostles commands to this end, Chapt. IV. 1, 2. 2. Gods Will. *ver.*3 3. The end of Gods calling, *ver.*7. 4. The haynousnes of the neglect hereof, despising God, ver. 8. 5. The bounty of God in giving his spirit, *ver.*8. CHAP. IV.

II. More particularly, he exhorts them to divers duties; (wherein perhaps they were defective or endangered;) As

1. To Chastity, not in fornication and the lust of Concupiscence, according to the manner of the Gentiles, ver. 3,4,5.

2. To Justice, where note 1. The sin to be avoided, viz. Over-reaching and Fraud, *ver.*6. 2. The reasons against it,viz. (1) Their relation of brotherhood. (2) The Lords avenging of such, *v.*6. [Here are annexed divers Reasons to the general duty aforementioned, ver.7,8.]

3. To brotherly love, 1 Acknowledging they are taught hereunto of God, *ver.*9. 2. Commending them for practising it towards all the brethren in Macedonia, ver. 10. 3. Inciting them yet to abound more and more, ver. 10.

4. To care of quiet and peaceable living together in Christian society, where note I. The duty, study to be quiet. II. The means helpful thereto, 1. Doing their own business. 2. Industry in their private callings; urged, Partly from Pauls former command. Partly from the benefits thence ensuing, whereat they should aim, *ver.*11, 12.

5. To Moderation of sorrow and lamentation for the dead in Christ, where consider I. The duty it self required, viz. Moderation in mourning &c. II. The Arguments upon which its urged; 1. Because immoderate mourning for them, Partly discovers their ignorance of the deceased Saints happy condition. Partly makes Christians appear like hopeless Heathens. 2. Because their death is but a sleep, *ver.*13. 3. Because the Resurrection of the Saints at Christs coming is certain, in as much as Christ (their head) is risen, ver. 14. 4. Because the dead in Christ shall at his coming have this Preheminence beyond the Saints then found living, that they shall rise first at Christs glorious coming, and afterwards they with those that remain alive, shall be caught up together to meet Christ in the ayre, and so be ever with him, ver. 15, 16, 17, 18. The coming of Christ he amplifies by way of Prolepsis, meeting with that curious question, when shall Christs coming to judgement be? Showing (1) That though the particular time be not known; yet themselves know it shall be sudden, and this when the world is in deepest security. This is illustrated by two similitudes, viz. Of a Thiefs coming in the night. Of travel coming upon a woman, Chapt. V. ver. 1, 2, 3. CHAP. V.

(2) That they ſhould not be diſcomfited by the ſuddenneſs of that dreadful day of Chriſts coming; Partly becauſe they are not in the ſad ſtate of darkneſs liable to ſurprizal, ver. 4. Partly becauſe they have the Priviledge of being children of the light and of the day, ver. 5. whence they are exhorted not to ſleep, but to watch; be ſober, and put on the ſpiritual Armour, that they may ſtill be prepared for Chriſt, *ver.*6, 7, 8. Partly becauſe God hath ordained them in Chriſt, not to wrath, but to ſalvation and life, whether they wake or ſleep; to which end they ſhould comfort and edifie one another, ver. 9, 10, 11.

6. To give due reſpect to the publique Miniſtry ſet over them, where I. The Object of their duty, the Miniſters are deſcribed. 1. As labouring among them. 2. As over them in the Lord. 3. As admoniſhing them, ver 12. II. Their duties to their Miniſters are ſpecified, viz. 1. Knowing them, ver. 12. 2 Loving them; ſet forth, Partly by the meaſure of it. Partly by the ground of it, *ver.*13. 3. Peace and concord with them, (as * ſome Greek Copies intimate.) *ver.*13.

* Pacem habete.

Quanquam hic locus variè legitur etiam apud Græcos, mihi tamen magis arridet ea lectio, quam reddidit vetus interpres & ſequutus eſt Eraſmus: nempe, Pacem habete cum eis, vel colite. Voluit enim (meo judicio) Paulus Satanæ artibus obviam ire, qui non ceſſat omnia moliri, ut vel jurgia, vel diſſidia, vel ſimultates excitet inter Plebem & Paſtorem, &c. Joan. Calv. Com. in loc.

7. To warning of the unruly.
8. To comforting of the feeble-minded.
9. To ſupporting of the weak.
10. To Patience towards all.

} ver. 14.

11. To forbear revenging of injuries, rather overcoming them with good, ver 15.

12. To conſtant rejoycing, ver. 16. For maintaining whereof they muſt; 1. Pray unceſſantly, ver. 17. 2. Give thanks in all things, this being Gods will, *ver.*18. 3. Not quench the ſpirit, *ver.*19. 4. Rightly uſe prophecying, viz. (1) Not deſpiſe publike preaching, *ver.*20. (2) Prove all they hear. (3) Hold faſt what is found to be good, ver. 21.

13. To abſtain from all appearance of evil, ver. 22.

III. The CONCLUSION of the whole Epiſtle, contains I. His ſupplications for them. 1. That the God of Peace would ſanctifie them wholly. 2. That they wholly may be preſerved blameleſs till Chriſts coming, ver. 23. in hope whereof he confirms them from Gods fidelity calling them, *v.*24. II. His requeſting of their Prayers for himſelf, *ver.*25. III. His Saluration, ver. 26. IV. His charge to read this Epiſtle to all the Brethren, ver. 27. V. His Valediction, or Farewel-Prayer for them, ver. 28.

II. Theſſalonians.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe ſecond Epiſtle of Paul the Apoſtle to the THESSALONIANS.] So denominated from [a] Paul the Penman thereof, (of whom ſee what hath been [b] formerly ſpoken,) and from the Church of the Theſſalonians written to, [c] formerly alſo deſcribed.

When and Whence this Epiſtle was written, ſee in the Chronological Table before the Epiſtle to the Romans. It is of like Argument with the former; and probably written not long after it. In [d] Calvins judgement, It is not probable it was written from Rome, for then he would have touched ſomething of his bonds, as he doth in others. And about the beginning of the third chapter he intimates ſome inſtant peril upon himſelf from abſurd men; whence it may be conjectured he wrote it in his journey, when he went to Jeruſalem. And that it was written long before at Athens, is the commonly received opinion among Latine Writers. The Poſtſcript (if it may be credited,) ſaith, it was written from Athens.

§. II. Occaſion.

Occaſion ſeems to be; 1. Partly the intimation of Pauls [e] fervent love to them, and earneſt [f] deſire to come and ſee them, in his former Epiſtle: whereupon being detained detained from coming to them according to his desires, he labours by this Epistle to supply the want of his Presence, and to perfect what was lacking in their faith; lest the Thessalonians should think themselves neglected, by Pauls hastening some whither else, and not coming to them, as g Chrysostome and h Calvin hath well noted. 2. Partly the information or reports which the Apostle had received, 1 Touching the Persecutions which the Church of the Thessalonians had undergone for the Gospel; 2 Touching false teachers, who (perhaps taking occasion by some passages of the i former Epistle, about Christs second coming to judgment,) insinuated to them, (pretending they had it from Paul himself, k by Spirit, by Word, or by Letter,) That the day of Christ was at hand; that his coming would be speedily and in that age; and 3 Touching the l exorbitant walking of some in idleness, neglecting their particular callings, Church-discipline mean while sleeping among them; the whole current of the Epistle intimates these Occasions.

§. III. Scope.

The Scope and intent therefore of the Apostle in this II. Epistle to Thessalonians proportionably is 1 To testifie his m sincere love to them and care of them, and their spiritual welfare by writing, though he should not as yet attain to them, according to his longing Desires and Prayers. 2 To encourage and comfort them against all the n Persecutions and Tribulations they endured for Christ and his Gospel. 3 To convince them of the vanity and falshood of that opinion spread among them, o That the day of Christ was presently at hand; forasmuch as before the day of judgment, there must first be an Apostacy, and Antichrist must be revealed, whose mystery of iniquity even began to work in the Apostles dayes, but his Revealing was hindred, till he that letted should be taken out of the way. And so he takes occasion notably to describe Antichrist, by his Properties, Revealing, Reign and Ruine. 4 Finally to exhort them to p divers Christian duties, and particularly to q withdraw themselves from those disorderly and idle Persons, (if they should contumaciously disobey this Epistle,) separating them from Church-communion.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this II. Epistle to the Thessalonians, are 1 The Preface, 2 The Substance, or Subject-matter of the Epistle, 3 The Conclusion.

THE PREFACE contains I. The Inscription, denoting 1. The Parties writing. 2. The Parties written to, Ch. I. ver. 1. II. The Apostolick Salutation, ver. 2.

THE SUBSTANCE or SUBJECT-MATTER of the Epistle, is 1. Consolatory, 2. Informatory, or Monitory, 3. Hortatory.

I. Consolatory. In this part he comforts the Thessalonians against their Persecutions and Tribulations which they endured for Christ and his Gospel. Herein

1. He insinuates his dear affection to them, in that expression of true love, viz. his singular Gratulation or thankfulnesse for their spiritual welfare. In this Gratulation note I. The Act, viz. Constant Thanksgiving to God for them, ver 3. II. The ground thereof, we are bound, Which Obligation ariseth, 1. From their neer spiritual Relation, Brethren. 2. From Congruence of the duty, As is meet. III. The matter of his Thanksgiving, viz. Their eminent growth, 1. In faith. 2. In brotherly love, ver. 3. 3. In Patience and faith under all their persecutions and tribulations. Amplyfied by the effect thereof in the Apostle his glorying in them in the Churches of God, ver. 4.

2. He comforts them over all their Persecutions and Sufferings, upon divers grounds. As I. From Gods just judgment to come hereby manifestly vindicated. II. From the end to which these sufferings are subordinate, viz. fitting the Thessalonians for Gods Kingdom. III. From the cause of their sufferings, For which, &c. v. 5. IV. From the Justice of God, which shall be especially manifested for his People, against their Persecutors at the day of judgment; where note 1. The Acts of Gods Justice, (1) Punitive, to wicked Persecutors, ver. 6. (2) Remunerative on persecuted Saints, viz. Rest, ver. 7. 2. The time of this Justice at Christs glorious coming to judgment, with his mighty Angels, ver. 7. 3. The terrible manner of his coming, in flaming fire, ver. 8. 4. The notable effects or events of his coming, Partly to them that know not God, nor obey Christs Gospel, most terrible damnation, ver. 8, 9. Partly to Saints and Beleevers, Gods most comfortable Glorification, and Admiration in them, ver. 10.

CHAP. I.
II.

3. He prayes for the Theſſalonians, in order to their comfort herein. Here note 1. The Occaſion of his Prayer, Wherefore, or as the Greek (εἰς ὃ) Unto which, viz. for fitting you for which glory at Chriſts coming. 2. The conſtancy of his Prayer. 3. The bleſſings prayed for, viz. That God would (1) Count them worthy of his calling, (2) Fulfill all the good pleaſure of his goodneſſe, (3) Accompliſh the work of faith with power, ver. 11. 4 The end of this Prayer, the mutual glorification of Chriſt in them, and them in Chriſt, ver. 12.

II. Introduction or Division. In this part he warnes the Theſſalonians againſt that erroneous opinion which falſe teachers ſuggeſted to them, touching the time of Chriſts ſecond coming. Touching which 1. He cautions them, 2. He confutes the errour, 3. He comforts them, 4. He directs them.

CHAP. II.

I. He cautions them againſt this errour, wherein conſider, 1. The Manner, how he cautions them, viz. with 1 Meeknelle, We beſeech you. 2. Love, Brethren. 3. Earneſtneſſe, by Chriſts coming and our gathering together to him, Ch. II. ver 1. II. The Matter, againſt which he cautions them, viz. unſetledneſſe of minde, and trouble of ſpirit about the Inſtant approach of the day of Chriſt. Amplyfied by the methods which falſe teachers uſed to unſettle them herein, 1. By Spirit, i.e. Revelations or Prophecies. 2. By Word of mouth. 3. By Letter, all pretended to be from the Apoſtle, ver. 2.

* Judgment-day not at hand in the Apoſtles days.

II. He confutes the errour, * That the day of Chriſt was at hand, by a prophetical Prediction of two notable Antecedents, which muſt be before Chriſts coming, neither of which was yet come to paſſe, and therefore Chriſts coming could not be inſtant and at hand in their dayes, ver. 3. &c. Theſe Antecedents are

* Antichriſt, deſcribed.

1. A general Apoſtacy, from true faith and Religion in the Church, ver. 3.

2. The revealing of Antichriſt, ver. 3. This * Antichriſt is notably deſcribed by his 4 Properties, 2 Revealing, 3 Ruine, 4 Reigne. I. By his Properties, 1. That man of ſin. 2. That ſon of Perdition, ver. 3. 3. Who oppoſeth all that is called God, ver. 4 4. That exalteth himſelf above all thats called God. 5. Who as God ſitteth in the Temple of God, viz. in the Church, ver. 4. Theſe things are amplyfied, By the Apoſtles intimation of his informing them in theſe thing formerly, ver. 5. II. By his Revealing and the time of it, where he declares 1. That Antichriſt was not yet revealed, there being an Impediment hindring it, (viz. according to the general conſent of Writers, the Roman Empire, and that as it was both Heathen and Chriſtian,) conſequently Chriſts coming could not be inſtant, v. 6. 2. That the myſtery of iniquity even then was working, though obſtructed, v. 7. 3. That the ſaid Impediment ſhall be taken out of the way, v. 7. 4. That when the Impediment ſhould be removed, That wicked ſhould be revealed, ver. 8. III. By his ruine and deſtruction, ſet forth 1 By the Author of it, The Lord Chriſt. 2. By the manner whereby Chriſt ſhall conſume him, viz. Partly by the ſpirit of his mouth, Partly by the brightneſſe of his coming, ver. 8. IV. By his Reign and Dominion betwixt his Revealing and Ruine. I. Timothy.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THE first Epistle of the Apostle Paul to TIMOTHY.] So denominated from [a] Timothy to whom Paul wrote.

TIMOTHY is a Greek name; signifies, An Honourer of God. Probably his godly Parents desired he might be such an one when they gave him his name: and he proved an excellent Instrument of Honour to God, both in Doctrine and Conversation, according to the happy Omen and Presage of his name. He is supposed to be of [b] Lystra a city of Lycaonia in Asia; [c] because there Paul first found him, and there the brethren reported well of him, as familiarly knowing him. His [d] father was a Greek, and a Proselyte; His Mother a Jewesse who believed, her name [e] Eunice, daughter of Lois, his Grandmother: both sincere believers; [f] from a child they trained him up in the knowledge of the holy Scriptures. Whence Paul is perswaded that the [g] like unfained faith dwelt in him, as did in his Mother and Grandmother. His father being a Greek, he was not circumcised in infancy after the custome of the Jewes, but being come to maturity, [h] Paul circumcised him for the gaining of the Jews by his Ministry. And having [i] good commendation of him by the brethren of Lystra and Iconium, Paul made him his companion in travels throughout the Churches farre and neer; whom he most diligently and faithfully served and assisted in the work of the Ministry, sometimes being left with the Churches by the Apostle, further to instruct them by his preaching: sometimes being sent as a Messenger to the Churches, to comfort and stablish them. So that Chrysostome deservedly saith of him [k] He was an admirable young man,——who at once became both a Disciple, and a Master. Though he had many bodily [l] infirmities upon him, yet he abounded with many eminent graces, gifts, and spiritual endowmenrs, as [m] sincere faith, [n] saving wisedome, [o] faithfulnesse, [p] temperance, &c. And in processe of time being ordained a Minister of the Gospel; [q] with imposition of the hands of the Presbytery, He so uprightly approved himself, that he became most affectionately dear to the Apostle, of whom therefore he often makes such honorable mention, especially to the Philippians, For [r] I have no man like-minded, who will naturally care for your estate: for all seek their their own, not the things which are Jesus Christs; but yet know the proof of him, that as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the Gospel. And elsewhere he dignifies him with divers excellent Titles, calling him [f] His brother, [t] His beloved son and faithfull in the Lord. [u] His naturall son in the faith. [x] His dearly beloved son. [y] The Minister of God, and his fellow-labourer in the Gospel of Christ. [z] His work-fellow. Yea Paul joyns Timothy with himselfe in the [a] Inscriptions of divers Epistles to the Churches, that so he might both commend Timothies worth and authority to the Churches, as also propound him as an exemplary pattern to all faithfull Ministers. Paul made use of his Ministry in his travels in preaching with him; and in messages from him to the Churches. He [b] leavs him and Silas at Thessalonica and Berea, himself being persecuted thence by the Jewes. Paul going thence to Athens, sends for [c] Timothy and Silas to come to him; Who came to him [d] at Corinth. Whence he again sends Timothy into Macedonia, to [e] Thessalonica, to comfort the beleevers against tribulations and persecutions. Thence returning to Paul, he comes to Corinth, whence he accompanies Paul into [f] Asia; where, as Paul (knowing him to be most able and trusty,) besought him: so he [g] abode still at Ephesus. There to instruct that Church, (touching which employment Paul gives him Precepts and Directions throughout this whole I. Epist. to Timothy.) Thus Paul committed the care of the Church of Ephesus to Timothy. Which Church he with other Overseers, [h] happily taught and governed. But how long, (though [i] some determine,) is most [k] uncertain. And some apprehend when Paul wrote his second Epistle to Timothy, Timothy seems not to be at Ephesus, because Paul therein tells him, [l] Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus. His death is uncertainly reported; but some think that at last more grievously inveighing against the idolatrous worship of Diana neer unto her Temple, he was slain of the Gentiles with arrows and stones, as is testified by [m] Ecclesiastical History. Some think that his Bones, together with the reliques of Andrew and Luke, were translated to Constantinople by Constantine the Emperour, as [n] Hierome is of opinion: By Constantius, as [o] Nicephorus.

§. II. Occasion.

Paul [p] being to depart into Macedonia, besought Timothy to abide still at Ephesus, for the better ordering, instructing and establishing of that eminent Church, which the Apostle had there planted, and particularly that he might charge some that they teach no other doctrine, nor give heed to fables and endlesse genealogies, which Minister questions rather then edifying in the faith. And Timothy being at Ephesus about this work, Paul upon this Occasion (not knowing how long he might tarry elsewhere,) writes this I. Epistle to him, purposely to encourage and [q] instruct him in his duty, about managing all Ecclesiasticall affaires there. Chrysostome moving this question, [r] Why should Paul write onely to Timothy and Titus, and not also to Luke, Silas and Clemens his other Associates; Answers it thus, because to Timothy and Titus he had committed the Care and Government of the Church: but the others did still accompany him.

§. III. Scope.

Scope therefore of the Apostle in this Epistle is 1. Immediately, to furnish Timothy with all necessary directions and instructions in the Apostles absence, touching his ministeriall duty to the Church of Ephesus, [s] That if Paul tarried long, he might know how he ought to behave himselfe in the house of God, which is the Church of the living God, the Pillar and Ground of truth. And this 1. Touching the maintaining the [t] truth of Faith and Gospel-doctrine against false teachers of the Jewes, corrupting the same. 2. Touching due managing of publick worship, [u] for whom and how they were to pray; and how to demean themſelves in publike Aſſemblies. 3. Touching Church-Officers, x Biſhops and Deacons, and their qualifications. 4. Touching the groſs corruptions in y Faith and Manners, which in the laſt Times would befall the Church: of which the Church was to be forewarned. 5. Touching z his Doctrine and Life, how he ſhould teach and behave himſelf towards a all ſorts of Perſons in the Church reſpectively. II. Mediately, to furniſh all faithful Paſtors and Miniſters of the Goſpel, with rules and directions how to manage their Miniſteriall Function faithfully, in Doctrine, Worſhip, and Government in the Church, and exemplary Converſation before the Church, and how they are to arme themſelves and their flocks, againſt future corruptions in Faith and Life. So that this Epiſtle may not unfitly be ſtiled Saint Pauls Directory for the due managing of the Miniſterial Office in the Church of God.

§. IV. Principal Parts.

In this I. Epiſtle to Timothy, are 1. The Preface. 2. The Matter, or Subſtance of the Epiſtle. 3. The Concluſion.

THE PREFACE contains (as in other Epiſtles) I. The Inſcription. Wherein are ſignified, 1 The Perſon writing; Paul, deſcribed, Partly, by his Office; Partly, by the Divine Authority of his Office, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Perſon written to; Timothy, deſcribed by his ſpiritual Relation to Paul, ver. 2. II. The Apoſtolical Salutation, ver. 2.

I. CHAP. I.

THE MATTER, or SUBSTANCE of the Epiſtle, is chiefly Practical. Herein the Apoſtle inſtructs Timothy in the due diſcharge of his Miniſterial Office. More Particularly,

II.

I. He directs him in point of Faith, How to maintain againſt the teachers of the Law, the Truth of the Goſpel (wonderfully committed to Paul) inviolable againſt all impediments and oppoſitions, with a good conſcience. Here conſider,

1. The charge formerly impoſed on Timothy by the Apoſtle, whereof he is now remembred in reference to the Church of Epheſus. This is ſet forth, I. By the Occaſion of it; viz. Pauls going to Macedonia, ver. 3. II. By the Matter of it, viz. Timothy's Reſtraining and charging falſe Teachers, that they preach not 1. Heterodox Doctrines, other then Pauls, viz. mingling works and faith in point of Juſtification, ver. 3. 2. Fabulous Speculations, ver 4. 3. Endleſs Genealogies; condemned Partly, As Matter of Contention. Partly As Unedifying, ver. 4. III. By the ground of this charge, drawne from the right uſe b of the Law, ſo much abuſed by falſe Teachers. Here 1. The true end of the Law is propounded, viz. Love; which Love is deſcribed by the root thereof, A pure heart, A good Conſcience, An unfeigned Faith, ver. 5. 2. The Deviation of falſe Teachers from this true end of the Law is blamed, Partly, from the ill effect enſuing thereupon; vain jangling, ver. 6. Partly, from the bad cauſe thereof, the ignorance of theſe falſe-Teachers of the Law, ver. 7. 3. The uſual Objection made by falſe Teachers when their abuſe of the Law was taxed by the Apoſtle, viz. That he wholly deſtroyed all uſe of the Law, is here by way of Prolepſis prevented. Wherein (1) He grants that the Law, lawfully uſed, is good, ver. 8. (2) He Aſſerts that the Law was not given (in reſpect of the damnatory and terrifying uſe of it) to the righteous, but to the unrighteous; and therefore the regenerate of all men have leaſt cauſe to oppoſe the Law, ver. 9, 10. (3) He Declares that the Law rightly underſtood and uſed, is not contrary, but conſonant to the Goſpel, which was committed to him by Jeſus Chriſt, ver. 11, &c. Here he takes occaſion, Partly, to magnifie Chriſts incomparable grace to himſelf in calling him, being ſo unworthy, into the Miniſtry, ver. 12. to 16. Partly, to extol Chriſts wonderful long-ſuffering towards all ſinners, that hereafter ſhould believe, in his exemplary dealing with Paul, ver. 16, 17.

b Right uſe of the Law.

2. The Re-inforcement of this former charge upon Timothy. Wherein note I. The Duty impoſed, againſt all impediments or difficulties from falſe-teachers, intimated in a Warfare, ver. 18. II. The grounds, whereby its urged, are drawn, 1. From his Relation to Paul, Son Timothy. 2. From the Prophecy touching Timothy. 3. From the goodneſs of this Warfare, ver. 18. III. The way how he ſhould fulfill this charge, 1. By holding the Faith 2. By maintaining a good Conſcience, without which, Faith will be ſhipwrackt, as in Hymenæus and Alexander, delivered therefore to Satan by the Apoſtle for their blaſphemy, ver. 19, 10.

II. He inſtructs him in point of Eccleſiaſtical worſhip. And particularly,

1. Touching c Publike Prayer. I. For whom Prayer is to be made, Generally, for all ſorts of men, Chapter II. ver. 1, Particularly, for Kings and all in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godlineſs and honeſty, ver. 2. This is urged from divers Reaſons 1, Becauſe, this courſe is good and acceptable with God, ver. 3. 2. Becauſe God will have all men (i.e. all ſorts of men) to be ſaved, which he proves; Partly, by Chriſts dying for all ſorts; Partly, by his own Miniſtry even to Gentiles, the worſt of men. Now if all ſorts of men ſhall be ſaved, conſequently all ſorts are to be prayed for. v 4. to 8. II. Where Prayer is to be made, In every place; All Ceremonial diſtinction of place being now removed, v. 8. III How Prayer is to be performed; 1. Holily. 2. Charitably. 3. Believingly, v. 8.

c publick Prayer, how to be managed.

CHAP. II.

2. Touching Womens deportment in Church Assemblies, Whom he Regulates both in their Habits and Actions there. I. In their Habits, that Women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefastnes and sobriety; 1. Forbearing the contrary excess in apparel. 2. Chiefly minding the spiritual adorning with good works, as most becoming their profession of godliness, ver. 9, 10. II In their Actions. Here 1. They are commanded to learn: (1) with Silence, (2) with Subjection, v. 11. 2. They are forbidden to d Teach, because that were to usurp authority over the man. ver. 12. which usurping over the man he condemns, Partly, from the Order of the womans creation, after the man, v. 13. Partly, from the Order of the womans sinning before the man, and being Satans instrument to seduce the man; whence God imposed upon her subjection to her Husband, ver. 14. which subjection and sorrows in child-bearing he comfortably lenifies, assuring women, that notwithstanding this their condition they may be saved by perseverance in Faith, Love, Sanctity and Sobriety, ver. 15.

d Women not to Teach in the Church.

III. He instructs him touching Church-Officers, Bishops and Deacons, and their due Qualifications, viz.

CHAP. III.

I. Touching Bishops or Over-seers; here are 1. The Commendation of the Office it self, as A good work Ch. III. ver. 1.

2. The Qualification of the Persons that are to be admitted into that Office of a Bishop or Overseer. (All which Qualifications agree as well to the meere Ruling Over-seer, or Ruling-Elder, as to the Over-seer that Teacheth also; except that [Apt to teach,] which yet in some sort in a lesser measure and degree ought to be in the Ruling-Elder, in reference to Admonition, and other publike Censures; compare with this place, Tit. 1, 6, 7.) These Qualifications, are I. More general, he must be blameless, ver. 2. II More particular, that he be 1. The husband of one wife. 2. Vigilant. 3. Sober. 4. Of good behaviour. 5. Given to Hospitality. 6. Apt to teach, ver. 2. 7. Not given to Wine. 8. No striker. 9. Not greedy of filthy lucre. 10. Patient. 11. Not a brawler. 12. Not covetous, ver. 3. 13. One well ruling his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity, ver. 4. This is urged as necessary by an Argument from the less to the greater, ver. 5. 14. Not a Novice (viz. newly converted to the Faith,) which is urged from the spiritual danger that may ensue, ver. 6. 15. Well reported from them that are without; this is urged from the inconvenience of the contrary, ver. 7.

e Qualifications of Bishops or Overseers: And of Deacons.

II Touching Deacons, I. He declares their Qualifications, viz that they be 1. Grave. 2. Not double tongued. 3. Not given to much wine. 4. Not greedy of filthy lucre, ver. 8. 5. Holding the Mystery of Faith in a pure conscience, ver. 9. 6. Blameless, upon tryal before they exercise their Office, ver. 10. 7. Husbands of one wife; And their (as also the Bishop's) wives, (1) Grave. (2) No slanderer, or as the Greek, not Devils, (3) Sober, (4) Faithful in all things, ver. 11, 12. 8. Ruling their children and their own house well, ver. 12. II. He exhorts Deacons to the well-managing of their Office, from the double benefit thence ensuing, 1. An f honourable esteem in the Church, they purchase to themselves a good degree. 2. Great boldness in the Faith in Christ, viz. from conscience of their faithful discharge of their Office, they serve Christ with greater confidence, &c. ver. 13.

f Jo. Calv. Com. in loc.

III. Touching both Bishops and Deacons, (and proportionably other Ecclesiastical matters in this Epistle) Paul showes, Timothy why he wrote these things to him, viz. That, in his absence; he might sufficiently instruct Timothy how to behave himself in the Church of God, ver. 14, 15. This Church of God he commends as most worthy of his utmost care, it being I. Gods habitation, the House of God. II. Truths publisher and maintainer, The pillar and ground of Truth or Gospel-Doctrine is 1. Singularly commended, without controversie great is the mystery of Godliness. 2. Particularly described in some particular heads of it, viz. (1) God manifest in the flesh. (2) Justified in the Spirit. (3) Seen of Angels. (4) Preached to the Gentiles. (5) Believed on in the world. (6) Received up to Glory, v. 16.

g Apostacy of later times foretold.

IV. He Prophetically fore-warns Timothy (that he may fore-warn the Church) of the g Apostacy of some from the Faith in the latter times. This Apostacy is described, 1. By the certain Detection of it, viz. by the Spirit, Ch. IV. ver. 1. II. By the time of it; in the latter times. III. By the means or Causes procuring it, viz. Seducing spirits, and their doctrines of Devils, which Seducers are branded, 1 For Hypocritical lying. 2 For their seared Conscience, ver. 1, 2. IV. By the errours that shall be introduced, 1. Forbidding Marriage. 2. Forbidding of Meats (which not to agree to Romish Doctrine) ver. 3. This forbidding of Meats he condemns, Partly, as repugnant to Gods end in creating them, ver. 3. Partly, as derogating from the creature; which is good, if rightly used, viz. If it be received with thanksgiving; it being Sanctified by the Word and Prayer, ver. 4, 5.

CHAP. IV.

V. He practically exhorts and directs Timothy,

1. How to behave himself both in Doctrine and Conversation, in reference to his Ministerial function, viz. I To remember the brethren of these things, which Paul had written to him. This is 1. Urged from the benefit ensuing, the approving himself thereby a good Minister of Christ, &c. ver. 6. 2. Amplified by the opposite old wives fables, which he is to shun, v. 7. II To exercise himself unto Godliness in the spirituality of it. 1. Because outward corporal exercise comparatively profiteth little. 2. Because godliness in the spirituality of it, is profitable for all things, as having the Promise of this and the life to come, ver. 7, 8. This he confirmes and amplifies, Partly by his vehement asserting and commending the saying, ver. 9. Partly by mention of his labour and sufferings for the truth undergone in confidence of Gods salvation according to this promise v. 10. Partly by charging him to command and teach these things, v. 11. III To compensate his youth, by his exemplary gravity in manners, which may procure respect and reverence from all, instancing in divers particulars, ver. 12. IV. To improve h his ministerial faculty and ability. 1 By diligent reading the Scriptures, ver. 13. 2. By frequent preaching, v. 13. To which he presseth him from the consideration of his solemn h Ministerial abilities, how improved.

call to the Ministry, *ver.*14. 3. By Meditation, ver, 15. 4. By devoting and addicting himself wholly to these things, ver. 15. 5. By especial heedfulnesse to himself and doctrine, *ver.*16. 6. By Perseverance in these courses, ver. 16. All which are pressed upon him as conducible, (1) To his own: (2) To his hearers salvation, *ver.*16.

2. How to order and temper his Reproofs, to Elder or younger, men and women, with respect to their age, with all love and purity, Chapt. V. ver. 1, 2.

CHAP. V.

3. How poor i widows are to be provided for by the Church, which is called Honouring them, v.3 Here he directs, I. what Widows are to be taken into this number, viz. Those 1. That are destitute of children and nephews, by whom upon divers grounds they should be maintained, ver. 4.8. 2 That trust in God. 3. That are constant in devotion, v. 5. Opposite to whom are they that live in pleasure, dead while they live, ver.6, 7. 4. That are sixty years old, *ver.*9. 5. That have been the wife of one husband, *v.*9. 6. That are well reported of for good works: sundry particulars being instanced in, *ver.*10. II. What Widows are to be refused, viz. 1. The younger widows, Partly because of their inconstancy and levity, unbecoming that state, ver. 11,12. Partly because of their idlenesse, ver. 13. Partly because of their tatling and pragmaticalness, ver. 13. Whereupon these younger widows he directs to marry, and in that state to walk inoffensively; and this because some had already turned aside after Satan, v.14,15. 2. The widows of believers, who are appointed to Relieve their own widows, that the Church be not needlesly charged, *v.*16.

i What Widows are to be relieved by the Church.

4. How Presbyters or Elders are to be dealt with, in regard of their 1 Maintenance, 2 Accusation, 3 Reproof, 4 Ordination. I. That, in point of Maintenance, they are to be counted worthy of double honour by the Church. This is 1. Amplified by a clear distribution of the Elders, (thus to be honoured) into two sorts, (1) Those that rule well, (2) Those that labour in the Word and Doctrine, who especially are to be thus honoured, *ver.*17. 2. Pressed with Reasons, Partly from the Analogy of that Law of Moses, Against muzling the oxe that treads out the corn. Partly from that rule of Christ, The labourer is Worthy of his reward, ver. 18. II. That no accusation be received against an Elder, but under two or three witnesses, ver.19 III. That Elders offending be reproved before all. 1. That others may fear, *v.*20. 2. That so Ecclesiastical administrations may be don without partiality or respect of Persons, which he most solemnly charges to be observed, v. 21. IV. That no Elders or Church-officers be suddenly ordained with laying on of hands. This is, 1. Urged from the peril of partaking in other mens sins, in sudden laying on of hands, *v.*22. [Here in a short digression he adviseth Timothy for his healths-sake to drink a little wine, ver. 23.] 2. Qualified, by intimation of the difference of both mens sins and good works who desire Ordination, Some mens sins are open aforehand, such are presently to be rejected: Some follow after, and therefore require a longer time to detect them. Again some mens good works are so manifest aforehand, that they may be presently admitted; others cannot long be hid, and will need more time to approve them, *ver.*24,25.

5. To teach Christian servants to honour and serve their Masters, whether infidels, or beleevers. 1. Their Infidel-masters, lest otherwise infidels blaspheme Gods name and doctrine, Ch. VI. *ver.*1. 2. Their believing Masters, so much the rather because they are such, *ver.*2.

CHA. VI.

6. To withdraw fellowship from unsound Heterodox Teachers, that teach otherwise, then Paul hath directed Timothy. And this he enforceth, I. Partly from the evil properties of those teachers. 1. Dissenting from the wholesome doctrine of Christ, v.3. 2. Proud. 3. Ignorant. 4. Doting about questions and strifes of words, v.4. II. Partly from many ill effects of their doctrine, 1. Envy, 2 Strife, 3. Railings, 4. Evil-surmisings, v.4. 5. Perverse disputes of corrupt-minded men, who measure Religion by worldly gain, and are therefore to be avoided, ver. 5. In opposition unto which he asserts, Godlinesse with Content to be great gain, ver.6. which Content he urgeth (1) From the like naked state of our birth and death, *v.*7. (2) From supposed enjoyment of necessaries, food and raiment, *v.*8. (3) From the manifold and damnable mischiefs ensuing upon a fixed resolvedness to be rich, and the love of money; particularly enumerated, *ver.*9,10.

7. How to approve himself as a faithful Minister and man of God, in better courses, and contrary to these of false teachers. I. By flying all those evil ways and manners of false teachers, *ver.*11. II. By following the contrary vertues and pious courses, 1 Righteousness, 2 Godliness, 3 Faith, 4 Love, 5 Patience, 6 Meekness, 7 Fighting the good fight of faith, 8 Laying hold of eternal life. To which he is incited, Partly from his calling thereto. Partly from his former good Profession thereof, wherein he therefore should persevere, *v.*11,12. III. By the faithful, spotless, and constant discharge of his ministerial function in all the duties of it, commanded and prescribed in this Epistle, whereunto he solemnly chargeth him. In which Charge, note, 1. The manner of it, most gravely and solemnely, viz. (1) Before God, who quickens all things, and therefore can quicken those that suffer for the faith. (2) Before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good Confession, and therein gave us an example of confessing the truth even to the death, *ver.*13. 2. The matter of it, to keep this Commandement without spot unrebukeable, *ver.*14. 3. The Continuance of it, how long; until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ; this respects not only Timothy but all Ministers, till Christs second coming to judgement ver. 14. This appearing of Christ is Amplified, (1) By the time when it shall be, viz. in Christs time, v 15. (2) By the glorious description of Christ that shall appear. *ver.*15,16. (3) By a Doxology to Christ, *ver.*16.

8. Finally, what charge Timothy is to give to them that are rich in this world, viz. I. Forbidding them, 1. To be high-minded. 2. To trust in the uncertainty of riches, ver.17. II. Commanding them, 1. To trust in the living God, because he richly gives all things, ver. 17. 2. To do good, to be rich rich in good works &c. ver. 18. because in so doing they lay up a good foundation of future happiness for themselves, ver. 14.

III. THE CONCLUSION of the whole Epistle, which contains I. His final exhortation to Timothy, 1, To keep faithfully the Gospel-doctrine committed to him in trust. 2. To avoid prophane vain bablings and oppositions of science, &c. because they cause men to erre from the faith, ver. 20, 21. II. His Apostolical Valediction, ver. 21.

II. Timothy.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to TIMOTHY. So denominated from Timothy, to whom Paul wrote now this second time. A description of this Timothy see in former Epistle. But (saith [b] Chrysostome,) what means is that he sends to Timothy even a second Epistle? He had said, I hope to come to thee shortly. This came not to passe; he therefore comforts him by letters, in stead of his Presence, perhaps sorrowing for this, and for that he had now began to take upon him the burden of Government, &c.

§. II. Time.

Though there be some difference about the particular circumstance of time when this Epistle was written, some taking it to be written a little before Pauls death, as was [c] formerly intimated: Others [d] supposing it to be written a little before Pauls first liberty, and before his bringing to Rome from Jerusalem, because this Epistle seems to mention divers things done about that time. Yet herein all agree that it was the last of all these Epistles which Paul wrote. [e] Calvin doubts not, but betwixt the time Paul wrote his 1. Epistle to Timothy, and this second, Paul spoke with Timothy, and used him as his associate and fellow-helper in many places, and he collects that Timothy was yet at Ephesus, when this Epistle was written, because herein Paul salutes Priscilla and Aquila, and Onesiphorus, the last of whom was an Ephesian, and the other stayed there when Paul sailed into Judea, as Luke testifies. [f] And this (saith he) is the chief hinge upon which he turns, to confirm Timothy both in the faith of the Gospel and sincere preaching thereof. But the circumstance of time is of no small moment to these exhortations. Paul had death before his eyes, which he was ready to undergo for the Teſtimony of the Goſpel. Whatſoever things therefore we read here touching Chriſts Kingdome, The hope of eternal life, The Chriſtian Warfare, Faithfull Confeſſion, and certainty of Doctrine, we ſhould take them as written, not with ink, but with the blood of Paul himſelf; for he aſſerts nothing, but what he is ready to ſeale with his death. Therefore this Epiſtle is as A certain ſolemne ſubſcription of Pauls Doctrine. So that this Epiſtle written at ſuch a time, and being Pauls concluding Epiſtle, and laſt farewell-letter before his death, and as it were the ſealing up of all his other Epiſtles, and of all the doctrines, exhortations, conſolations, &c. contained in them; ſhould make great impreſſion upon all Readers, as being the words of a dying Apoſtle.

§. III. Occaſion.

The Apoſtle having left Timothy at g Epheſus to take care of the Church there: when he departed from the Elders of Epheſus, after he had called them to Miletus, and given them charge of the flock, h they all wept ſore. Probably, k Timothy was one of thoſe that poured out tears; and perhaps the Apoſtle that he might comfort Timothy, lamenting him, l intimated ſome hopes of his return unto him to Epheſus. But Paul mean while being carried away captive to Rome, and by his bonds hindred from comming thither again to Timothy, (though perhaps he might ſee him elſewhere, and employ him alſo,) thought it neceſſary by this Epiſtle to ſtabliſh and comfort him, both againſt the m Apoſtles ſufferings and martyrdome approaching, as alſo againſt all the preſſures and perſecutions of the Church, and that he ſhould be moved by none of them, to deſert and neglect the faithfull, keeping of that excellent Treaſure of Truth and Goſpel-doctrine, commited of truſt to him, and that they might more effectually be comforted in one another, he deſires him to n do his diligence to come ſhortly to him, that ſo they might take their laſt farewell one of another. For this was o Pauls laſt Epiſtle, (as his Swan-like Song,) a little before his death.

§. IV. Scope.

The Apoſtles Scope in this Epiſtle, is I. More Immediate, in reference to Timothy, p moſt effectionately dear to Paul; Partly to exhort and encourage him to conſtant faithfulneſſe in his miniſterial office; and to that end, 1 To q ſtirre up the gift given him. 2 Not to be aſhamed of the r Lords teſtimony, nor of Pauls ſufferings. 3 To ſ hold faſt the Patterne of ſound words. 4 To t keep inviolable that Depoſitum of Goſpel-truth and Miniſtry committed to him. 5 To u propagate this Goſpel-truth to other faithfull men. 6 To x endure hardneſſe and perſecutions for the Goſpel. 7 To y ſuppreſſe Logomachies. 8 To z approve himſelfe to God in his miniſteriall dexterity. 9 To ſhun a prophane and vain bablings of proud Heretiques. 10 To decline b ſtrifes and contentions in the execution of his miniſtry. Partly To c forewarne Timothy of the perilouſneſſe of the laſt days, by reaſon of wicked hypocriticall ſeducers, and enemies of the truth, even beginning to ariſe in the Church: whom he warns him to flie, preſcribing him divers remedies againſt them. II. More mediate in reference to all true Timothies, the faithful Miniſters of the Goſpel in after times, To incite and provoke them unto all faithfullneſſe and diligence in their miniſteriall calling, notwithſtanding all difficulties or ſufferings. And to caution and arme them againſt evil men and ſeducers, endangering the Church of God.

§. V. Principal Parts.

In this II. Epiſtle to Timothy are 1. The Preface. 2. The ſubſtance of the Epiſtle. 3. The concluſion.

I. THE PREFACE to the Epistle, contains I. The Inscription, denoting, 1. The Person writing described, [1] By his name, Paul. [2] By his office, An Apostle of Jesus Christ, which Office is Amplyfied, Partly from the Divine cause thereof, by the will of God. Partly, By the matter of his Apostolical Doctrine in that Office, viz. The promise of life in Christ Jesus, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Person written to, set forth [1] By his name, Timothy. [2] By his spiritual relation to Paul, his dearly beloved son, ver. 2. II. The Salutation, wherein, 1. The blessings wished and prayed for; Grace, Mercy, Peace. 2. The fountain from whom they are desired, viz. God the Father, and Christ Jesus our Lord, ver. 2. III. The Introduction, or Entrance into the Epistle. Wherein Paul (to winne more benevolent obedience to what he wrote) affectionately testifies his dear spiritual love to Timothy, 1. By the Signes of this love in Paul, viz. [1] His constant remembrance of Timothy in his prayers, ver. 3. [2] His great desire to see him, ver. 4. 2. By the grounds or causes of Pauls love to Timothy, viz. [1] Timothies tender affection to Paul, testified with tears, ver. 4. [2] Timothies unfeigned faith, like that of his parents, ver. 4, 5.

CHAP. I.

II. THE SUBSTANCE of the Epistle is chiefly, 1. Hortatory and Consolatory. 2. Monitory.

I. Hortatory and Consolatory (divers Consolations being interwoven among the Exhortations.)

He exhorts and encourages Timothy chiefly to Constant faithfulnesse in the discharge and execution of his Ministerial Calling. And to this end

1. To stirre up (like fire under the ashes) and expresse that Ministerial Gift which he received by imposition of Pauls hands, as one of the [d] Presbytery, ver. 6. This is urged from the nature of the Spirit which God gives his Ministers, described 1. Negatively, Its not a Spirit of fear, that we should sluggishly and cowardly let our gifts lye idle. 2. Affirmatively, It is a Spirit of Power, of love and of a sound minde; that against all heights and difficulties we should be thereby enabled and guided sweetly to act to the Churches edification, ver. 7.

[d] 1 Tim. 4. 14.

2. Not to be ashamed of the Testimony of our Lord, the Gospel; nor of Pauls sufferings for it: but rather to be willing himself to take part of the Gospels afflictions, ver. 8. Hereto he encourageth him, I. From Gods Power, engaged for his Ministers in such sufferings, ver. 8. II. From the greatnesse of the benefit, viz. Eternal Salvation, preached in the Gospel to the Gentiles, richly worth all manner of suffering for. This Salvation is described, 1. By the actual application of it to us, in effectual Calling, ver. 9. 2. By the Impulsive cause of it, set forth Negatively, not our works, Affirmatively, but Gods eternal purpose and Grace in Christ, ver. 9. 3. By the meritorious cause of it, Christ abolishing death, &c. ver. 10. 4. By the instrumental cause, manifesting, and bringing to light this Salvation in Christ, viz. the Gospel, ver. 10. III. From his own example; who, being the Apostle and preacher of this Gospel to the Gentiles, and suffering for that cause, yet is not ashamed of these sufferings. And this from his own assurance, 1. Of Gods faithfulnes in his prayses, whom he hath beleeved. 2. Of Gods Power in keeping his Salvation for him, with which he hath betrusted him, ver. 11, 12.

3. To hold fast the Platforme of sound words, which he heard of Paul. Consisting chiefly of two branches, which comprehend the two chief Parts of Divinity, viz. 1. Faith, under which are all things to be beleeved. 2. Love, under which are all things to be observed, ver. 13.

4. To keep constantly inviolable that excellent Treasure of Gospel Truth, Ministry and Ministerial endowments committed of trust to him, ver. 14. This he Amplyfies I. By directing him how to keep it, viz. By the holy Ghost inhabiting in him, ver. 14. II. By warning him of the contrary known Defection, 1. Generally, Of all in Asia. 2. Specially, Of Phygellus and Hermogenes, v. 15. From which Defection he prays the Lord mercifully to preserve the house of Onesiphorus; As one who [1] Often refreshed Paul. [2] Was not ashamed of his chain, but diligently sought him out in Rome. [3] Ministred unto him in many things, v. 16, 17, 18.

[e] J. Calv. in loc. Piscat. in loc.

5. Strenuously and courageously to communicate Gospel-truth received from Paul, to other faithful Ministers that may teach and propagate it to others, Ch. II ver. 1, 2.

CHAP. II.

6. To endure hardnesse and persecutions for the Gospel and the Ministry thereof, ver. 3. This he urgeth upon divers grounds, I From the Nature and Obligation of his Calling; He hath as a good Souldier listed himself under Christ, and therefore neglecting private affairs, he must endeavour to please his Commander in chief, ver. 3, 4. II. From the happy fruit and reward which he shall reap hereupon at last, set forth under a double Metaphor, 1. Of a man striving for masteries lawfully, who is therefore crowned, ver. 5. 2. Of an Husbandman labouring, who first partakes of the fruits, ver. 6. These he amplyfies by wishing him understanding in all things upon due consideration thereof, ver. 7. III. From Pauls exemplary sufferings for the truth of the Gospel. Here 1. Some special Gospel-truths for which he suffers, are instanced in, viz. (1) Christs Manhood of Davids seed. (2) Christs Resurrection, ver. 8. 2. His Sufferings for this truth are described; Suffering trouble as an evil doer unto bonds. Against which he comforts himself, Partly from the Gospels free course notwithstanding his bonds, ver. 9. Partly from the end of his Sufferings, viz. for promoting the salvation of the Elect thereby, ver. 10. Partly from our future conformity to Christ in his Crowne, as well as at present in his Crosse, ver. 11, 12. which he amplyfies by the contrary perill of denying Christ, Christ will deny them; yet in so doing is faithfull and just, consistent with himselfe, and cannot deny himselfe, ver. 13.

7. To Suppress Logomachies or strifes about words. As 1. Unprofitable. 2. Pernicious, ver. 14.

8. To

8. To approve himself to God in his Ministry, as 1. A laborious Workman that need not be ashamed, 2. A Right Divider or Distributer of the Word of Truth, ver. 15.

9. To shun prophane and vain bablings of proud Hereticks and erroneous persons, I. Because they will increase to more ungodliness, ver. 16. II. Because they will by degrees mortally eat like a f Gangrene in the Church, ver. 17. This mischief, he 1. Evidenceth by a notorious instance of the Heresie of Hymeneus and Philetus, affirming that the Resurrection was past already, v. 17, 18. 2. Qualifieth; by obviating the offence that might arise by reason of such Apostacy, viz. Partly comforting Gods Elect that they shall escape such Apostacy, being immoveably his, ver. 19. Partly cautioning Professors of Christ, sincerely to depart from iniquity, lest they fall, v. 19 Partly declaring that its not unsuitable to the state of the visible Church, Gods great house to have in it several sorts of vessels, some to honour, some to dishonour, viz. both Elect Saints, and reprobate Apostates, Heretiques, &c. ver. 20. Partly directing how a man may approve himself a vessel of honour, viz. by purging himself from these, i. e. these heretical and Apostatical Teachers or their evil ways, ver. 21.

10. To avoid distempered strifes and contentions in the course of his ministry. As to that end, I To flee youthful lusts, i. e. impetuous and arrogant heats to which youth is subject; as the pindar that kindles these contentions, ver. 22. II. To follow the contrary vertues opposite to contentiousnesse, which are instanced in, ver. 22. III To shun foolish and unlearned questions, as gendring strifes, ver. 23. Here 1. This striving is prohibited to him that serves the Lord in the Ministry. 2. The contrary Gentlenesse, Patience and Meeknesse in instructing Opposers is prescribed to him, ver. 24, 25. And urged from the hopes of winning opposers to repentance; which Repentance is described, Partly by the Author of it, God. Partly by the consequent effects of it, viz. Acknowledging of the truth; and recovery out of the devils snare, under whom they were utterly captivated, ver. 25, 26.

II. Worthy, wherein the Apostle Prophetically forewarns Timothy of the Dangerous Seducers and Enemies of the Truth that were even then arising, and should much more in future times arise in the Church; charging him to turn away from such. Here we have 1. A discovery of these Seducers. 2. A Remedy against them and their Seducements.

1. These Seducers are described and discovered to us. 1. By the time when they should spring up; In the last days, viz. in all these Gospel-days since Christ, for even in Timothies days there were such Seducers, from whom he must turn away, Ch III. ver. 1. II. By the evil influence they should have upon their days wherein they appeared, rendring them perillous times, ver. 1. III. By the notorious and prodigious abominations wherewith they should abound; eighteen of them being enumerated, ver. 2, 3, 4. IV. By their specious hypocrisie, (under which they cloak all the former villanies) Here these hypocrites are delineated, 1. By what they have; viz. besides their foresaid corruptions; A forme of Godlinesse. 2. By what they want, viz. The power of Godlinesse, ver. 5. V. By their Art in seducing, 1. Slily, creeping into houses, ver. 6; 2. Craftily inveighing and captivating silly women; described. Partly by their corrupt consciences, laden with sins, &c. Partly by their ignorant minds; as fitting them for such seducements, ver. 6, 7. VI By their Opposition of the Truth; which is, 1. Illustrated by the similitude of Jannes and Jambres withstanding of Moses in Egypt. 2. Evidenced by the Causes of their Opposing the Truth; they being (1) Men of corrupt mindes (2) Reprobate (or void of judgment) concerning the Faith, ver. 8. 3. Threatned, Partly with a stop to their seducing proceedings; Partly with a manifestation of their folly to all, as it fell out to Jannes and Jambres ver. 9.

2. The remedy against these Seducers and their Seducements is prescribed to Timothy, viz. I. A careful imitating of Pauls Exemplary Doctrine and Conversation. Here are set forth, 1. Timothies full knowledge of them. 2. The Doctrine and vertues wherein Timothy should follow him, especially in suffering Persecutions for the Gospel. 3. The Lords delivering him out of them all; for his encouragement, ver. 10, 11. 4. The inevitable lot of Persecution to all the godly: therefore godly Ministers should not think much at it in themselves, ver. 12. II. A due consideration of the vile Condition of Seducers, which shall waxe worse and worse, 1 Deceiving. 2 Being deceived; may arme against them ver. 13. III. A Constant continuance in the Gospel truths, which he had learned and been assured of, ver. 14. This is pressed upon him, 1. From the Authority of Paul of whom he learned them, ver. 14. 2. From his long acquaintance with the Scriptures, from a child, which are able to make him savingly wise, through Faith. v. 15. 3. From the g SCRIPTURE'S (1) Divine Authority, v. 16. (2) Manifold utility, For Doctrine, of Truth; For convincing-Reproof, of Errour; For Correction, of corrupt manners. For Instruction in righteousnesse. v. 16. (3) Compleat Perfection, able perfectly to furnish the man of God to all good works, v. 17. IV. A Diligent and faithfull preaching of the word, whereby others may be preserved from seducements. Here 1. He most solemnly chargeth him before God and Jesus Christ, Judge of quick and dead to performe this duty, Chap. IV. ver. 1. 2 He prescribeth and describeth this diligent and faithfull preaching of the Word, in severall parts of it, ver. 2, 3. 3. He presseth this diligent preaching upon him; (1) From the future Apostacy of men from sound Doctrine and the truth to fables; After their own lusts getting an heap of teachers, having itching ears. Therefore he must make advantage of the present opportunity, ver. 3, 4. (2) From the instant approach of Pauls death, (by whom Timothy was guided and encouraged in his Ministry hitherto.) ver. 5, 6. Against his death he comforts both himselfe and Timothy; Partly by the nature of his Death. His Offering for sealing of the truth, and His Departure, ver. 6. Partly from his sincere and full discharge of his Apostolicall function, metaphorically described, ver. 7. Partly from the glorious Crowne of Righteousnesse, reserved for him by Christ the Righteous Judge, and for all that love his appearing, ver. 8.

CHAP. IV.

III. THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle; wherein

1. He earnestly desires Timothy, I. To come shortly to him before his death, and to bring Mark with him. And this 1. Because Demas had forsaken him through worldlinesse. 2. Because he had sent upon publick service, Crescens to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia, and Tychicus to Ephesus. 3. Because only Luke was with him, ver.9.to 13. II. To bring with him at his coming the Cloak, and Books, but especially the Parchments which he left at Troas, ver.13.

2. He warns him against Alexander the Copper-smith, who did him much evil, greatly withstanding his preachings, upon whom he imprecates a reward according to his works, ver 14,15.

3. He gives him a brief Narrative of his first Answer, viz. before Nero, I. How no man stood with him, but all deserted him; praying that this may not be laid to their charge, ver.16. II. How yet the Lord stood with him, 1. Strengthening him, to make the preaching fully known to the Gentiles. 2. Delivering him out of the Lyons mouth, viz. Nero's devouring wrath, ver.17. Upon which experience he takes occasion, Partly to assure himself of the Lords Protection from all evil, and of his Preservation of him to his heavenly Kingdome, Partly to glorifie the Lord, ver 18.

4. He desires Timothy to salute divers Persons, ver. 19.

5. He signifies to him, Erastus his abode at Corinth, and Trophimus his being left sick at Miletum, ver.20.

6. He importunes him to come before winter, ver.21.

7. He sends him salutations from all the brethren, ver.21.

8. Finally, he closeth up his Epistle with a valedictory Prayer, 1. For Timothy. 2. For the brethren with him, ver.22.

Titus.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe Epistle of Paul to TITUS.] So intitu'ed from the name of the [a] Person to whom Paul wrote. Titus is evidently a Greek name, either derived [b] from (Τίτος) Titos; A little Bird, or Dove; (as Jonah in Hebrew hath his name from a Dove; or rather from (τίω) Tio. i.e. To honour, esteem, &c. thence τίτος Titos, Honoured, whence Titus is named, a fit name for him, that was truly Honoured both by God and man.

Titus was by Nation a [c] Grecian a Gentile, and uncircumcised probably till his death; yet effectually converted by Paul to the faith, hence called his [d] naturall son after the common faith. Yea he calls him his [e] Partner and fellow-helper concerning the Corinthians, and his [f] brother; having enjoyed him as a [g] companion in his travels, A [h] comfort in his sorrows, and having used him as a Legate or Messenger unto divers [i] Churches, and betrusted him with the [k] Collections for the poore Saints in Judea. Paul having planted a Church in the Isle of Creta, (now called [l] Candy, situate upon the Ægean sea, opposite to Morea or Peloponnesus southwards, at this day subject to the Venetians,) he left Titus there behind him to finish the work, [m] appointing him to set in order things that were wanting, and to ordain Elders in every city. And in that Island of Crete, there were (as the [n] Centuriators and others note,) an hundred cities. So that there was ample matter and opportunity for enlarging the Church of Christ. And there it is thought [o] Titus died and was buried.

§. II. Occasion, and Scope.

planted there, and p perceiving that in his abſence, many ambitiouſly aſpired to the Paſtorall office; and falſe teachers, erroneous in judgement, and ſcandalous in life, crept in, ſeeking Partly to deſtroy the faith, by mingling Chriſt and Moſes together, Partly to diſturbe Church Government planted, and Partly to disjoyne the practice from the Profeſſion of Piety.

Paul therefore ſolicitous for the Church, writes this Epiſtle to Titus from Nicopollis, 1. To ſtrengthen and gain Authority to his Miniſtry there againſt all contempt. 2. To direct him in this Epiſtle, (which is of the like Argument with the I. and II. Ep. to Timothy,) (1) How to q order and ſtabliſh things wanting in the Church; eſpecially in due ordaining of well qualified Biſhops or Presbyters, of whom ſee the ſence of the Apoſtle r Paul, as alſo of ſ Hierom. §. III. Principal Parts, or Analytical Explanation.

In this Epiſtle to Titus (of like nature with the two Epiſtles to Timothy, eſpecially the former) are conſiderable, 1. The Preface. 2. The Matter, or Subſtance of the Epiſtle. 3 The Concluſion.

THE PREFACE contains 1. The Inſcription. 2. The Salutation.

1. The Inſcription Expreſſeth, I. The Perſon writing this Epiſtle; Paul. Described by his Office in the Church; 1. More Generally, x A ſervant of God. 2. More Specially and Particularly, And an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt. This his Apoſtleſhip he commends by the Harmonious concord betwixt it, and the Common Faith of all the Elect in all ages, as preaching no other Doctrine then what the Elect had profeſſed, According to the Faith of Gods Elect. This Faith he Exegetically Explains, (1) By the Nature of it, An acknowledging of the Truth which is after Godlineſs, Ch. I. ver. 1. (2) By the end of it, In hope of Eternal life. This Hope of eternal life he deſcribes, Partly by the ground of it, Gods faithful and ancient Promiſe, which God that cannot lye, promiſed before the world began. (Greek, before Times of ages,) v. 2. Partly by the Inſtrumental Means diſcovering it to men in due time, viz. The preaching of his Word; But hath in due times manifeſted his Word through preaching. This preaching of Gods Word he Amplifies, by the Divine Commiſſion and Command thereunto given Paul himſelf particularly; which is committed unto me, according to the commandment of God our Saviour, v. 3. II. The Perſon written to, Titus; deſcribed by his Spiritual Relation to Paul who converted him to the faith; To Titus mine own Son according to the common faith v. 4.

2. The Salutation, wherein are 1. The bleſſings prayed for in Titus behalf. 2. The fountaine whence they flow, v. 4.

THE SUBJECT-MATTER, or SUBSTANCE of the Epiſtle. Here

I. Paul Declareth for what ends he left Titus in Creet, viz. 1. To ſet in order the things that were wanting, in theſe new planted Churches. 2. To ordain Presbyters (or Elders) in every City; both to be done, As Paul had appointed, v. 5.

II. Paul directeth Titus in reference to theſe ends. 1. Touching Ordination. 2. Touching the faithful Execution of his Miniſterial Office.

I. Touching Ordination, what y Qualifications are requiſite in the Perſons that are to be ordained Biſhops, or Presbyters (whom he here makes one and the ſame) and this 1. In life. 2. In Doctrine.

1. In life, The Qualifications of a Biſhop or Elder, are laid down, I. More Generally, If any be blameleſſe. II. More Particularly; His Particular Qualifications are either Relative or Abſolute. 1. Relative in reſpect of his Family Relations (1) To wife, Coniugal Chaſtity; The Husband of one wife. (2) To children, Religious and inoffenſive education of them, having faithful children, and these, Neither intemperate, not accused of Riot. Nor disobedient, Or unruly, ver. 6. These Qualifications are urged from the Nature of his Office, Partly in that he is a Bishop or Overseer to others, Partly in that he is the Steward of God, ver. 7. 2. Absolute, his Absolute Qualifications are Propounded Negatively and Positively; Negatively, showing what a one he must not be, viz. (1) Not self-willed. (2) Not soon angry. (3) Not given to wine. (4) No striker. (5) Not given to filthy lucre, ver 7. Positively, showing what a one he must be, viz. [1] A lover of Hospitality. [2] A lover of good men; or good things. [3] Sober. [4] Just. [5] Holy [6] Temperate, ver 8.

2. In his Doctrine; His Qualification is Described by the Matter, End and Ground thereof. I. By the Matter, that he Hold fast the faithful Word, in Doctrine. II. By the End, that he may be able by sound Doctrine, 1. To exhort, viz. the flock. 2. To convince Gain-sayers, ver. 9. III. By the Grounds or Reasons why he must be thus Qualified to these ends, viz. both in respect of the false-teachers in Crete: and in respect of the people of Crete. 1. The false-teachers in Crete, (to be convinced, whose mouthes must be stopped,) He describes, (1) By their multitude, Many. (2) By their Adjuncts or Manners, viz. Unruly, Vain-talkers, Deceivers, especially they of the Circumcision, ver. 10. (3) By their Practice, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre sake. (4) By the pernicious effect of this their Practice, Subverting whole houses, ver. 11. 2. The people in Crete, to be reproved and exhorted, are Described, By their corruptions testified by one of their own Prophets, viz. Epimenides the Cretian Poet, ver. 12. Which testimony the Apostle, Partly Ratifies, This witness is true. Partly Improves, hence inferring a Duty of reproving them, wherefore rebuke them sharply, Gr. cutting ly. This Rebuke is Amplified by the end thereof, That they may be sound in the faith, ver. 13. Which soundness in Faith should discover it self. (1) By their rejecting of errour; Not giving heed to Jewish Fables, and Commandments of men, &c. ver 14. (2) By their right apprehension and notion of Christian liberty, viz. That to the pure all things are pure. This is Amplified, and Confirmed; Amplified by the Opposite state of impure ones, But unto them that are defiled, and unbelieving is nothing pure: but even their minde and conscience is defiled, ver 14. Confirmed by the Reasons hereof, Their Hypocrisie, Their wickedness. They profess they know God, but in deeds they deny him, &c. ver. 16.

II. Touching the faithful discharge of his Ministerial Office; Paul Directs Titus.

1. More Generally, what to preach, But speak thou the things which become sound Doctrine. Ch. II. ver. 1.

2. More Particularly, how to accommodate his Doctrine. 1. More Peculiarly to some Sorts of persons. 2. More Commonly to all sorts of Christians.

1. How to fit and accommodate sound Doctrine more peculiarly to some sorts and ranks of persons. Here consider, 1 The Directions themselves. 2 The Grounds thereof. I. The Directions themselves shew how Titus was to teach. 1. Aged men, to be (1) Sober. (2) Grave. (3) Temperate. (4) Sound in Faith, in Charity, in patience, ver. 2. 2. Aged women to be (1) In behaviour as becometh holiness. (2) Not false accusers, Gr. not Devils. (3) Not given to much wine. (4) Teachers of good things, that they may teach young women their duties, Gr. That they wise the young women, &c. ver. 3, 4. 3. Young women to be [1] Lovers of their husbands [2] Lovers of their children. [3] Discreet. [4] Chaste. [5] Keepers at home. [6] Good [7] Obedient to their own husbands. And all this, That the Word of God be not blasphemed, ver. 4, 5. 4. Young men to be sober minded, v. 6. Upon occasion of this Direction to young men, he gives Titus himself, (perhaps he was young, like Timothy) his Lessons, exhorting him [1] In his life, to be Exemplary to the flock; In all things showing thy self a Pattern of good works. [2] In his Doctrine to show, Incorruptness, Gravity, Sound speech that cannot be condemned. All being urged from the End, viz. The Shaming, and Silencing of Opposers hereby, ver. 7, 8. 5. Servants, (1) To be obedient to their own Masters. (2) To please them well in all things. (3) Not answering again. (4) Not purloyning, but showing all good fidelity. These are urged from the commodity thence redounding, That they may adorn the Doctrine of God our Saviour in all things, ver 9. 10. II. The grounds upon which all these more Peculiar Directions foregoing, (as also these more common directions following) are urged, are; Partly the Doctrine of the Gospel. Partly the End of Christs death. 1. The Doctrine of the Gospel; Here, The Gospel is Described, and The Doctrine of the Gospel is Declared. The Gospel is Described, (1) By the Denomination of it. The Grace of God. (2) By the blessed tidings it brings, or chief Subject matter of it, bringing Salvation to all men, i. e. to all sorts of men. (3) By the Manifestation of it, hath appeared, ver. 11. The Doctrine of this Gospel is Summarily Declared, Teaching us; Partly for this present world, (1) What to shun or deny, viz. Ungodliness, i. e. All sins against the first Table. Worldly lusts, i. e all sins against the second Table. (2) What to do, or how to live, viz. Soberly, in respect of our selves. Righteously, in respect of our brethren. Piously, in respect of God, ver. 12. Partly for the world to come, to expect (1) Eternal Salvation, and bliss hoped for, looking for that blessed Hope. (2) The glorious coming of Christ to judgement, and the glorious appearing of the Great God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ, ver. 13. 2. The End of Christs Death, viz (1) Redemption of us from all iniquity. (2) Sanctification or purifying of us to himself, Partly In our persons, to be a peculiar people. Partly in our Actions, to be zealous of good works, ver 14. These more peculiar Directions he closeth up with a command to Titus, that he press these things with all authority, so as none may despise him. v. 15.

2. How

? Here betwixt Gravity and sound speech, our English Translation hath inserted, Sincerity, which I finde not in the Greek Original. Beza confesseth that in some Ancient Greek Copies he findes ἀφθαρσίαν added, (which ours do Translate Sincerity, more properly signifies Incorruption,) but he thinks this word is redundant, and to have crept out of the Margent into the Text, in stead of ἀδιαφθορίαν incorruptness, Bez. Ann. in Tit 2. 7. This Exhortation to Titus somewhat troubles Interpreters, and me thinks they force the words too much to a sense scarce genuine. I have in this Analysis hinted what to me seems most natural.

2. How to accommodate ſound Doctrine More commonly to all ſorts of Chriſtians, touching their behaviour and converſation. Here I. Their duties are propounded, 1. Towards Civil-powers and Magiſtrates, that they be ſubject to them, and obey them, Ch. III. ver. 1. 2. Towards one another; More generally, to be ready to every good work, ver. 1. More particularly, (1) To ſpeak evil of no man, (2) To be no brawlers. (3) To be gentle ſhowing all Meekneſſe to all men, ver 2. II. Theſe duties are urged by divers Arguments, 1. From their preſent Chriſtian condition, farre differing from their former carnall ſtate. Both their ſtates are deſcribed; Their former carnal condition in which they were, (1) Fooliſh, (2) Diſobedient, (3) Deceived, (4) Serving divers luſts and pleaſures. (5) Living in malice and envy. (6) Hatefull. (7) Hating one another, v. 3. Their preſent Chriſtian condition of ſalvation into which they are happily brought; whereof note [1] The cauſes, Efficient. God. Impulſive. laid down, Negatively, Not works of righteouſneſſe which we have done. Affirmatively, Gods kindneſſe, love to men, mercy. [2] The Manner; Externally, By a Baptiſm the viſible Seal of Salvation, by the waſhing of Regeneration. Internally, by the Spirit the inviſible worker of grace and ſalvation, by the having of the Holy Ghoſt abundantly ſhed on us through Chriſt, ver. 4, 5, 6. [3] The end; viz. Juſtification by his grace. Adoption and Heireſhip of eternal life, ver. 7. 2. From the ſingular excellency of this Doctrine. That believers maintain good works, This is a faithful ſaying,——That they that have beleeved in God, might be carefull to maintain good works, v. 8. Here Titus is directed, [1] To urge and affirme theſe things conſtantly; becauſe they are good and profitable to men, ver. 8. [2] To avoid contrariwiſe, fooliſh queſtions and genealogies, and contentions, and ſtrivings about the law; becauſe they are unprofitable and vain. v. 9. [3] To reject an Heretick, after the firſt or ſecond admonition. Partly becauſe ſuch an one is ſubverted, or turned from the foundation. Partly becauſe ſuch a one ſinneth againſt his own conſcience, ver. 10, 11.

THE CONCLUSION of the Epiſtle, contains I. Several directions, 1. Touching Titus his coming to Paul to Nicopolis, whence he ſhall ſend Artemas or Tychicus, to ſupply in his abſence, ver. 12. 2. Touching Zenas and Apollos, that Titus bring them on their journey, and ſupply them with neceſſaries, ver. 13. 3. Touching the Cretians Charitableneſſe, for good uſes, leſt the be unfruitfull. ver. 14. II. Salutations. III. The Apoſtolicall Valediction, or Farwel-Prayer for them, Grace be with you all, Amen. ver. 15.

PHILEMON, as [b] ſome think ſounds like an Hebrew name, and ſignifies, either Marvellouſly beſtowed, or The mouth of bread, ſo denoting his beneficence and bounty, [c] releiving them with bread, &c. that were poor and needy. [d] Others rather taking this Etymon to be uncertain, count Philemon a Greek name, ſignifying kiſſing, from (φίλημα) Philema, i. e. A kiſſe, So intimating his kindneſſe.

This is not e that ancient Comick Poet called Philemon, which Paul seems to have read, by some f expressions in his Epistles; The fragments of which Poet are extant, collected by Hen. Stephen. But this Philemon is supposed by g Theodbylact, to be by Countrey a Phrygian, and in particular by Hierome to be a h Colossian, and one of the Ministers of the Church at Colosse, an eminent Town in Phrygia. Paul here calls him i fellow-labourer, viz. in preaching the Gospel, and a k Partner. He is called a Bishop by Anselme, an Evangelist by Hierome; As l Gerhard hath observed. And elsewhere saith Hierome, m Paul and Timothy write to Philemon, Dearly beloved, and a fellow-labourer: who therefore is called dearly beloved, because he was exercised in the same work of Christ. And here is mention of the n Church in his House. Probably Philemon was converted, or much edified by Pauls Ministry, from that intimation: o Albeit I do not say unto thee how thou owest unto me, even thine own self besides. Was dear to Paul, he calls him p brother, and his q Dearly beloved. He is commended for his r Faith in Christ, and bountiful love to all the Saints. Though rich, yet is suspected to be somewhat too covetous, from that expression, s If he hath wronged thee, or oweth thee ought, put that on mine account. I Paul have written it with mine own hand, I will repay it. We finde no mention of him in Scripture, but onely in this Epistle.

§. II. Occasion.

Onesimus servant to Philemon, had much wronged him in purloyning his goods, (it is probably thought he stole some money from him,) and so ran away from him to Rome, where (Providence so ordered things,) hearing Paul preach he was converted, gave good evidence of his true Repentance and Faith, and ministred to Paul in prison. But Paul understanding the cause of his departing from his Master sends Onesimus back again to his Master with this Epistle, written upon that Occasion, perswading him to forgive the injury he had done unto him, to be reconciled to him, and entertain him again into his service.

§. III. Scope.

Pauls Scope in this Epistle, is to reconcile Onesimus (now converted to Christ by Pauls preaching,) to Philemon his Master, whom he had much wronged formerly, in purloyning his goods, (being unconverted,) and had thereupon run away from him, deserting his service.

[u] Sic doctissimus ille interpres, viz. Io. Calv. in loc.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Epistle, is touching the Reconcilement of Onesimus a false and fugitive servant, (but now converted by Pauls Ministry in his bonds) unto Philemon his Master. Here note, 1 The Matter. 2 The Manner. 3 The Motives or Reasons of Pauls request. II.

I. The Matter requested by Paul is intimated 1. More generally, I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, &c. v. 10. 2. More particularly, Thou therefore receive him, v 12.

II. The Manner of Pauls propounding this his request, 1. Not by way of commanding or enjoyning him what was meet, though in Christ he had power so to do, v. 8. 2. But rather by way of beseeching, and that because of the love he bears to Philemon, v. 9.

III. The Motives or Arguments, (every word almost being an Argument,) wherewith Paul emphatically urgeth his request, are drawn, I. From the Person requesting or beseeching, being such an one, as 1. Paul the aged; beseeching him by his grey hairs. 2. Paul a Prisoner of Jesus Christ, beseeching him by his Chains for Christ, v. 9. II. From the Person intreated for, Onesimus; To be received again. 1. Because he is Pauls Convert son, and begotten in his bonds, v. 10. 2. Because though in times past he was unprofitable to Philemon, yet now he will be profitable both to Philemon and Paul, ver. 11. 3. Because he is most dear to Paul, even his own bowels, v. 12. 4. Because his service was now so valuable, that Paul had a desire to have retained him, to have ministred to himself in his bonds in Philemons stead, but that he would do nothing without his consent, and he shows why? That Philemons benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly, v. 13, 14. 5. Because providence seemed so to order and over-rule his departure, (making it an occasion or opportunity of his Conversion by Paul) as if God did thereby prepare and intend him for his service for ever, ver. 15. 6. Because he went away a Servant, but returns a brother beloved, both to Paul and Philemon, temporally and spiritually, ver. 16. III. From the mutual dearness, interest and obligations, between Paul intreating, and Philemon intreated, 1. They are partners, and therefore wishes him to receive Onesimus as himself, ver. 17. 2. Paul engages himself to Philemon, to repay all the damage and injury he hath sustained by Onesimus, ver. 18, 19. 3. Philemon himself is much more in Pauls debt, then all this amounts to; albeit I do not say to thee, how thou owest unto me even thine own self besides, probably being converted by Paul, ver. 19. 4. Hereby Philemon shall rejoyce Paul, and refresh his bowels in the Lord, ver. 20. 5. Finally, Paul wrote in confidence of Philemons obedience, knowing he would do more then was desired, ver. 21.

THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle, contains 1. Pauls request to Philemon, to prepare him a lodging, hoping through their prayers to be given unto them, ver. 22. 2. Salutations from divers brethren to Philemon, ver. 23, 24. 3. The Apostolical Valediction, or farewell-Benediction to them whom he wrote unto, ver. 25. III.

Hitherto of the Epistles written to the Believing Gentiles, whether whole Churches, or particular Persons, and all by Paul: Now of the Epistles written to the Believing Jews by several Apostles.

Hebrewes.

§. I. Name.

THE Epiſtle of Paul the Apoſtle to the HEBREWS.] So intituled in the Greek Copies, from the Penman writing it, Paul: and the Parties to whom he wrote, The Hebrews. The Syriack verſion hath it, The Epiſtle to the Hebrews.

HEBREWS, viz. Jews, ſo denominated; Not from [a] Heber, Selahs ſon, Sems grandchild: But rather from [b] Abram, the father of the faithful. And that not from the name Abram, or Abraham, (as it were Abrahæans, as ſome think, becauſe Abrahams Poſterity were beloved of God,) which is written with (א) whereas Hebrews is written originally with (ע) viz. עברי Hhhibri: But from the Epithet given firſt to Abram, viz [c] Abram the Hebrew, Abram being called [עברי Hhhibri, i. e. the Hebrew; from עבר Hhhabar, ſignifying To paſſe over, or paſſe through: becauſe from Meſopotamia he paſſed over Euphrates into Canaan, and ſo [d] paſſed through the land. So that Abram the Hebrew, ſounds as much as Abram the Paſſenger, or the Paſſer through. Hence Abrams poſterity are called Hebrews, which name ſeems ſomwhat more worthy then the name Jews, becauſe the name Jews came but from Judah, Jacobs ſonne the Kingly ſtock.

To Hebrews by nation, but now become Chriſtians by Profeſſion, This Epiſtle was written. [e] Some think the Apoſtle wrote onely to thoſe Hebrews that dwelt in Jeruſalem and Judea; for whom Paul had made many Collections among the Gentiles in Aſia, Achaia, &c. As [f] James, Cephas and John had requeſted him, whom he ſomtimes ſtiles [g] the poor, ſomtimes [h] the Saints, ſomtimes [i] the poor Saints at Jeruſalem. To theſe Hebrews only this Epiſtle is thought to be written by the Apoſtle, becauſe in the latter end thereof he [k] promiſeth to ſee them. But Peter ſeems remarkably to teſtifie that this Epiſtle was written to the [l] Diſperſed Hebrews, who believed in Chriſt. Why might not the Epiſtle be written to them all?

§. II. Penman of this Epiſtle, Paul.

Penman of this Epiſtle is not ſo infallibly agreed upon, by learned men.

Some of old [m] aſcribed it to Luke, or Barnabas or Clement, or ſome uncertain Author. Some [n] to Barnabas, Some to [o] Apollos. Calvin himſelf, though in his Argument before this Epiſtle, he ſaith, [p] he cannot be brought to think it was Pauls, yet [q] after ſeems to incline to that Opinion that Paul wrote it.

But that Paul was Penman of this Epiſtle, was the unanimous opinion of all the ancient Greek Writers, (except Caius mentioned by [r] Nicephorus and Hierome, who onely relates thirteen Epiſtles of Paul,) and of many Latin Authors, ancient and moderne, Is evident to them that will diligently conſult their writings; And is particularly cleared out of multitudes of Authors, by Jo. [s] Gerhard that learned Lutheran, by [t] David Pareus that induſtrious and elaborate Commentator upon Scripture; And by that acute [u] Dr. Whittaker, in his time The Glory of Cambridge, eſpecially for polemick Divinity, who ſaith, Should I reckon them all up who aſcribe this Epiſtle to the Apoſtle Paul, I ſhould be infinite. And he recites very many, to whom I refeere the learned Reader; though for his own judgment, he leavs the determination of it in medio, as being ſomewhat unreſolved. I like well that paſſage of

Hieromes, [x] This I say to ours, This Epistle which is inscribed to the Hebrews, is received as the Apostle Paul's, not only by the Oriental Churches, but of all the Ecclesiastical Greek Writers backwards, though many think it is the Epistle of Barnabas or Clement; but it matters not whose it be; seeing its the Epistle of an Ecclesiastical man, and is daily celebrated by the Churches reading of it. And since we are sure it was inspired and indited by the Holy Ghost, we may be lesse sollicitous what Instrument he used in penning of it. Yet That the Apostle Paul was Penman of this Epistle, may be evinced by divers considerable Arguments, As

I. All the Greek Copies of the Epistle to the Hebrews, as [y] Beza testifies, (except one wherein the Title was only, πρὸς Ἑβραίους, i.e. To the Hebrews) have this Title (Παύλου τοῦ ἀποστόλου ἡ πρὸς Ἑβραίους ἐπιστολή) i.e. The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews.

II. The Testimony of Peter is most considerable, [z] As our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisedome given unto him, hath written unto you. As also in all his Epistles speaking in them of these things, in which are some things hard to be understood, &c. 2 *Pet.*3,15,16. wherin note with [a] Gerhard, Piscator, and others, for the strengthning of this Argument, these ensuing particulars, viz.

1. That Paul wrote to them also to whom Peter wrote. But Peter wrote to the Hebrews, [b] both his Epistles. Therefore Paul wrote to the Hebrews, and either this Epistle is that which Paul wrote to the Hebrews, or its lost. That it should be lost is unlikely, when Gods Providence hath preserved such a small Epistle, and of private concernment, as his Epistle to Philemon, for the use of the Church: but doubtlesse what Paul wrote to the Hebrews was more large and full, and touching the mystery of Salvation by Christ crucified, as most necessary to them, who stuck too much to the Levitical Priesthood, as if it should be perpetuated; and stumbled at Christ crucified: and this is the Argument of this Epistle.
2. That Paul wrote to them of the same things that Peter wrote. Now herein Peters Epistle, and this to the Hebrews agree; as 1 Peter writes, [d] That by Christ are given to us all things pertaining to Life and Godlinesse. That Jesus Christ is [e] the Son of God in whom the father is well pleased with us, of whom the Prophets spoke. So these things are largely handled [f] in this Epistle to the Hebrews. 2. Peter exhorts them to [g] faith and holinesse. So the Epistle to the Hebrews largely inciteth, [h] to faith and holinesse. 3 Peter shews the [i] danger of Apostacy. So the Epistle to the [k] Hebrews.
3. That Paul wrote wisely; now much wisedome appears, both in Words, Matter, and Method of this Epistle to the Hebrews.
4. That herein (viz. in Pauls Epistles,) are some things hard to be understood. As touching [l] Predestination, Election, and Reprobation. Touching [m] Antichrist and his Revealing, and divers other intricate points. So this Epistle to the Hebrews, hath its remarkable difficulties, as touching [n] Apostates, and the Sin against the Holy-Ghost, &c.

III. Pauls zeal and affection was great to the [o] Hebrews: And can we think he should never write to them that were so exceeding dear to him? And what could he write more proper and necessary for them, then touching the abrogation of the Levitical Priesthood, and the surpassing excellency of Christs Person and Office, especially of his true spiritual and eternal Priesthood, whereof the Levitical was but a dim shadow, which this Epistle treats of, above any other?

IV. Mention is here made of [p] Timothy his brother, and that he is set at liberty. Now elsewhere Paul calls Timothy, [q] his brother; And in what account Timothy, (Pauls Companion) was with Paul, hath [r] before been evidenced.

V. The Author of this Epistle mentions his [s] bonds. And this is Pauls manner in his other Epistles, which were written after he came into bonds for Christ and the Gospel, to make some [t] mention or other of his Bonds.

VI. The character of the stile and language in this Epistle, seems so plainly to be the same with Pauls in his other Epistles, that they indigitate Paul to be the Penman. Well consider and parallel the ensuing places.

VII. Finally, that which the Apostle himself counts as it were the Character and Seale of all his Epistles, his [u] Token, [x] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen: is the valedictory close of this Epistle, [x] Grace be with you all. Amen. These

These Arguments may strongly perswade that the Apostle Paul was Penman of this Epistle, and consequently that this Epistle is of Apostolical, yea, of Divine Authority, as well as his other Epistles. Nor are the objections usually brought to the contrary, of such difficulty, but that they may easily receive satisfactory Answers: and are answered by Beza, Pareus, Piscator, in their Prologue before this Epistle, and y others.

When and Whence this Epistle was written, see in the Chronological Table, before Epistle to Romanes.

§. III. Language, in which this Epistle was written.

That it was written in Hebrew, by Paul an Hebrew, to the Hebrews, and so translated into Greek by Luke or Barnabas, z some think; Hierome notably inclined to this opinion, saying, a The Epistle to the Hebrews is not thought to be Pauls, because of the difference of stile and speech, but either Barnabas's according to Tertullian; or Luke's the Evangelists according to some; or Clement's, after Bishop of the Roman Church, whom they report to have ordered and adorned Pauls sentences in his own Language. Or certainly because Paul wrote to the Hebrews, and by reason of the Jews envy against him, in the beginning of the Salutation cut off his name. He wrote as an Hebrew to the Hebrews in Hebrew, i. e. most skilfully in his own tongue, that those things that were eloquently written in Hebrew, might more eloquently be transl ated into Greek. And this is the cause, why it seems to differ from the rest of Pauls Epistles. But b others rather are of opinion that Paul wrote this Epistle at first in Greek; which may be probably believed upon these ensuing grounds.

1. The stile and phrase of this Epistle, seems rather to Grecize, (and to consist of pure and elegant Greek, as * Eusebius noteth out of Origen,) then to Hebraize, there being fewer Hebrasms in this Epistle, then in Pauls other Epistles. But there would have been more, had it been writ in Hebrew.

* Euseb. Hist. Eccles. l. 6. c. 19.

2. The places alledged out of the Old Testament, are not alledged according to the Hebrew Original, but the Greek Version of the Septuagint.

3. The Hebrew names are interpreted, as c Melchisedech, King of Righteousness, and Salem, Peace.

c Heb. 7. 1, 2.

4. Most Jews then understood the Greek Tongue, especially those that lived in Asia minor, and therefore there was no inconvenience in writing to them in Greece.

5. Peter and James wrote their Epistles to the dispersed Jews in Greek, and Paul wrote all his other Epistles to the Gentiles in Greek; why then should we imagine this to be written in Hebrew?

6. To think that Paul wrote in Hebrew to the Hebrews, is an opinion attended with divers incommodities, (as that learned and acute d Junius hath well observed,) especially with these two, 1. That at that time Paul could not determine with himself in what Dialect he should write to the Hebrews, which all the Hebrews might understand. For there was then pure Hebrew Language in the Scriptures, but not in popular use. Among the people there were many Dialects, Chaldee, Syriack, Jerusalem, Samaritane, and others: which also by reason of the places, where the Jews were dispersed, at that time suffered many alterations and corruptions; whence it came to pass, that neither the Hebrew tongue was understood of many, nor this or that Dialect of these or those. Had Paul therefore writ in Hebrew, he had thereby taught none but the learned Hebrews; had he writ in any of the other Dialects, he had only taught some, not all. 2. That by this Forme of writing in Hebrew, he had only taught his own Nation; and this Argument thus written by him, the good (which among the Jews were few,) would have accepted: but the impious ones (which were many,) would more audaciously have mocked Pauls Doctrine, and more maliciously have traduced it to unskilful ones and strangers: unless he had written in that tongue, which might both have instructed his own people, and also unto others have approved and asserted his faithfulness against their virulent calumnies.

d Fran. Iun. l. 3. Paral. in c. 9. Ep. ad Hebr. p. 1595. in fol. Tom. 1. Genev. 1613.

Now

Now hence contrariwise the commodities and advantages accrewing by his writing to them in Greek, are evident. For, 1. This his writing might be understood of all the Jews, in what places soever they were, (and they were chiefly in Asia minor, as by the beginning of Peters first Epistle, and of the Revelation is confirmed,) as using the popular language of the places wherein they lived. 2. It should also be understood of all the Gentiles, for whom also consequently the Apostle would provide by this writing. For why did he write to the Romans in Greek, but for this cause? therefore by the like ground he wrote to the Hebrews in Greek. For though then the Romanes had the Empire, yet the Greek Language remained in most parts of the World.

7. The Ancient Writers testifie not that they have seen any Original Hebrew Copy of this Epistle.

§. IV. Occasion.

The Occasion of the Apostles writing to the Hebrews, seems to be the infirmity and affliction of the believing Hebrews. For the whole current of this Epistle seems to intimate, That though they had entertained Christ, yet they adhered too much to Moses and the Levitical Priesthood, and perhaps some of them had some hesitancy about Christ, whether he were the promised Messiah: and yet for their entertaining of Christ so far as they did, they seem not only to be reproached by their Countreymen, as Apostates from the Law, but were greatly persecuted for Christ; the Apostle understanding this their state, [e] wrote to instruct and support them herein.

§. V. Scope.

The Apostles Scope in this Epistle, is (in order to the Confirmation and Consolation of the weak and afflicted Christian Hebrews.) 1. To inform them, [f] That the Gospel under the New Testament by Jesus Christ, farre excelleth the Ministry of the Law under the Old Testament by the Prophets: Jesus Christ incomparably surpassing all the Ministers of the Old Testament in Person and Office. In Person, being both [g] Eternal God, even above Angels, and therefore his [h] Gospel more to be attended to then the Law spoken by Angels: and also [i] True man, like us in all things, (sin only excepted,) and therefore the only true Messiah, promised in the Old Testament, and exhibited in the New. In Office, being 1. The Churches only King; 2. The chief [k] Prophet and Apostle, more faithful in the Church then even Moses himself, whom therefore they must [l] believe and obey, lest by unbelief they lose the spiritual and eternal, as Israel did the temporal Rest of Canaan. 3. The great High-Priest; farre surpassing Aaron the Levitical High-Priest, (1) In [m] Call unto his Office; (2) In eminency of [n] his Sacrifice: (3) In Order of Priesthood, being of [o] Melchizedech's everlasting Order, and so able to save to the uttermost all that come unto God by him. (4) In [q] Heavenliness, Spiritualness, and Truth of his Office. (5) In Excellency of [r] Covenant, viz. the New Covenant, whereof he is Mediatour; (6) In Excellency of [s] Tabernacle, his own body, and of his Ministry therein; (7) In Efficacy of his [t] own Sacrifice of himself for purging of sin, and perfecting us for ever. II. To Exhort them hereupon. 1. To constancy in the [u] Faith and Confession of this Doctrine of Christ, from the Peril of Apostacy, and the exemplary [x] cloud of faithful witnesses of old. 2. To a suitable framing of their Conversation, agreeable to this Gospel-doctrine of Christ. (1) By patient [y] bearing the Cross without fainting. (2) By following [z] Peace with men, and Holiness towards God. (3) By [a] Brotherly-love. (4) By [b] Marriage-chastity. (5) By true [c] Contentment. (6) By following the [d] faith and constancy of their Teachers. (7) By [e] Beneficence. And (8) By due [f] submission and obedience unto their Church-Governours, that have the rule over them.

§. VI. Principal Parts.

In this Divine, Elegant and sweet Epistle to the Hebrews, (viz. Those Believing Jews, who were with much difficulty won from Levitical Observances unto the Simplicity and Spirituality of the Gospel: and were in great danger of Departing from the Gospel-Faith, through manifold tribulations and persecutions;) The Apostle 1. Doctrinally informs them. 2. Practically Exhorts them. 3. And so finally concludes his whole Epistle.

1. Christs Godhead is Evidenced Absolutely and Comparatively, I. Absolutely, Christs Godhead is evidenced; in that, 1. He is heyre of all things. 2. He made the worlds, ver. 2. 3. He is the brightnesse of the Fathers glory, and expresse character of his person. 4. He sustaineth all things by the word of his power. 5. He by himselfe expiated, or purged our sins. 6. He sits on the right hand of God, ver. 3. II. Comparatively Christs Godhead is evidenced by his infinite Superiority to the Angels. In as much As, 1. He is the Eternal Son of God, and so hath a more excellent name then they, ver. 4, 5. 2. Divine worship is due to him, even from all the Angels, ver. 6. 3. All the Angels are but his servants, ver. 7. 4. He is eternall God, and King over all, Annoynted with the spirit, as man, to this office above all his fellowes, ver. 8, 9. 5. He is the Eternall unchangeable Creator of Heaven and Earth, ver. 10. 11, 12. 6. He sits at Gods right hand, in supreme Authority, ver. 13. 7. Angels Minister to him and to his Elect, ver. 14.

CHAP. II.

2. Christs Godhead is Applyed, by the Apostles inferring thence, That seeing Christs person is so excellent, therefore his Gospel-Doctrine is the more heedfully to be believed and stedfastly retained, Ch. II. ver. 1. This exhortation is further urged. I. Because the Neglect of Christs Doctrine is dangerous; which is proved by an Argument from the lesser to the greater, the neglect of Moses Doctrine (spoken but by Angels,) was justly punished, ver. 2, How much more shall the neglect of the Gospel Doctrine, (that reveales so great Salvation, Spoken by the Lord, and confirmed both by the Apostles testimony, and the Holy Ghosts gifts) be severely plagued, ver. 3, 4. 1. Because God hath not put the world to come, here spoken of (viz. the world as Restored to man by Christ) in Subjection to Angels, ver. 5. But unto Christ, which is proved by the Testimony of David. This Testimony is. 1. Propounded, viz. That God so visited man, viz. in Christ, made a little lower then Angels, that he crowned him with glory and honour, putting all things without exception in subjection under him, ver. 6, 7, 8 2. Applyed to Christ, Partly by way of Concession, That we see not yet all things compleatly put under him, ver. 8. Partly by way of exposition, That Jesus made a little (or, a little while) lower then Angels, for the suffering of Death, was crowned with Glory and Honour, viz. At Gods right hand, ver. 9. Object. But why must Jesus suffer Death? Answ. 1. Because so it pleased the grace of God. 2. He tasted death, not for himselfe, but for man, for every man, i. e. For every one of the Elect sons of God, ver. 9, 10. 3. It became the Justice of God, to consecrate the Captain of our salvation through Death, that so God might bring many sons unto Glory, ver. 10.

h Christs Manhood

II. Christs true Manhood is also evidenced and cleared, (besides divers intimations thereof in the former passages.) by many causes of his Incarnation, laid down, viz. 1. That he that Sanctifieth & they that are Sanctified in their nature by him might be all of one, & they his brethren, as was in the Old Testament fore-prophecyed, ver. 11, 12, 13. 2. That partaking flesh and blood with us he might dye, and by dying both destroy the Devill that had the power of Death, as also deliver his own from bondage and fear of Death. (As in the Law the right of Redemption belonged to the next kinsman) v. 14, 15. That he thus partook flesh and blood. He Partly proves by Scripture testifying he was to descend of Abraham and his seed; Partly amplifies by denying this priviledge to the Angelicall Nature, Christ took not hold of Angels, ver. 16 3. That being made like to his brethren in all things, he might be a mercifull and faithfull high-priest for them, ver. 17. Which he further clears from Naturall Sympathy betwixt partners in afflictions, Christ himself being more experimentally prepared to succour and sympathize with us in Temptations and afflictions, in that himself hath suffered being tempted, ver. 18.

i Christs Kingship. k Christs Prophecy.

II. The surpassing excellency of Christs Office, is asserted and proved in the three Principall Parts thereof viz. 1. His Kingship. 2 His Prophecy, 3. His Priesthood.

I. The Kingship of Christ is but briefly and accidentally touched. As Ch. I. 2, 3, 8, 13. II. 9, VII. 2. VIII. 1.

II. The Prophecy or Prophetick Office of Christ, is preferred farre before that of Moses, whom therefore the Christian Hebrews must much more believe and obey, lest as unbelieving Israel came short of the temporall, they also misse of the eternall rest. Here therefore the Dignity of Christs Prophetick office, is 1. Asserted. 2. Applyed.

CHAP. III.

1. The dignity of Christs Prophetick office especially, is asserted. Here note, I. The Preface to this assertion, containing 1. An insinuative Compellation of the Christian Hebrewes, Holy Brethren, Partakers of the heavenly calling. 2. An Exhortation of them upon the former dignity of his Person, to consider Christ in his office, wherefore consider Christ Jesus —— Ch. III. ver. 1. II. The Grounds whereupon the dignity of Christs Prophecy is asserted, viz. 1. He is the Apostle and High priest of our Profession, ver. 1. 2. He is as faithful in his message, in changing the Levitical Ordinances and Priesthood; as Moses was in his message, in delivering the same, ver. 2. 3. He is farre more honourable then Moses himself. [1] Partly in as much as he being God, is the Builder of the house, the Church; of which house Moses himself is but a part. v. 3. 4. [2] Partly because Moses was faithfull in the Church onely as a Servant, v. 5. But Christ as a Son, and Lord over his own house, ver. 6. This he amplifies showing how we may approve our selves to be Christs house, viz. by Stability and Constancy of our Faith and Hope, ver. 6. 2. This

2. This Dignity of Christs Office is Applyed by way of Earnest Exhortation. The Apostle Exhorts the Hebrews, Faithfully to hearken to and obey Christs Doctrine, and constantly to persevere in the Faith of the Gospel, & that against all grounds or occasions of Apostacy, 1 From the Holy Ghosts Authority, who 1. Commands them to day to hear Christs voice. 2. Prohibits their hardning of their hearts, like erroneous Israel in the wilderness, under the severe penalty of being excluded from entring into Gods rest, v. 7. to 12. II From the benefit of enjoying communion with God and with Jesus Christ Here 1. Unbelief is declared to be the ground of Apostacy from God, v. 12. 2 The deceitfulness of sin is intimated to be the cause of hardning, To prevent which they are to exhort one another, v. 13. 3. Stedfast perseverance in the Faith, is commended to them as the only means making them Partakers of Christ, ver. 14. III. From the peril of being shut out of Gods rest, through unbelief, as the provoking and unbelieving Israelites were. Here 1. This exclusion of Israel is limited, Not all that came out of Egypt, ver. 15, 16. 2. This exclusion of some is evidenced, Partly by the death of the murmurers in the Wilderness, ver. 17. Partly by the Oath of God against their entring into his Rest, because of their unbelief, ver. 18, 19. 3. Upon this exclusion of Israel of old, the Christian Hebrews are charged to fear lest they also through unbelief come short, and be shut out of Gods promised Rest, Ch. IV. ver. 1. And this for divers Reasons; [1] Because the tender of this Rest is made to us in the preaching of Christs Gospel, as well as to Israel, ver. 2. [2] Because, The Word preached, tendring this rest to Israel, became unfruitful to them through unbelief: so it will to us, ver. 2. [3] Because, By Faith we enter into rest, as Israel contrariwise entred not through unbelief, ver. 3. Object. But what is that Rest which we are invited by Christs word to enter into? Answ. This he resolves, by giving distribution of several Rests mentioned in Scripture, 1. There's The Seventh-Day's Rest, wherein God rested from his works of Creation finished at the beginning, ver. 3, 4. But this rest is not intended here, [1] Because, The prolongation of the rest is repeated [2] Because, long after the seventh-Day's rest, Another day is limited, ver. 5, 6, 7. 2. There's Canaans Rest given Israel by Joshuah; but that's not meant, because after Jesus (viz. Joshua) had given them possession of Canaan, he speaks still of another day of Rest, ver. 8. 3. There's therefore another Rest besides both these, and shadowed out by them, especially by the seventh dayes Rest, viz. A Spiritual and Eternal Rest remaining to the people of God, wherein they cease from their own works, v. 9, 10. And this Rest all should labour to enter by Faith, taking heed they miss not of it by unbelief, v. 11. IV. From the lively penetrating and searching nature of Gods word: And from the All-seeing eye of God with whom we have to do, whereby all the unbelief, hypocrisie, and back-sliding Principles of our hearts are most accurately discovered and laid naked; so that no unbeliever or back-slider, though but in heart may think to escape his notice and judgment, ver. 12, 13. V. Finally, From Christs Priesthood, these Hebrews are encouraged to Perseverance and stedfastness in their profession of Faith (taught them by Christ their great Prophet.) Here 1 Christ our Priest is commended, as [1] Most High, We have a great High Priest. [2] Most glorious, that is passed into the Heavens, v. 14. [3] Most compassionate over our infirmities, being in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin, ver. 15. 2. They are here exhorted hereupon to come boldly to Christ as to a Throne of Grace, for obtaining all seasonable Grace and Assistance in the way to Heaven, v. 16. And thus the Apostle passeth from consideration of Christs Prophecy, to his Priesthood, upon which he treateth most largely.

CHAP. IV.

III. The I Priesthood, or Priestly Office of Christ; That is our great High Priest, most faithful, merciful, and in all points compleat, he demonstrates, by comparing him with, and preferring him before Aaron in all Priestly requisites and perfections, To this end

1 Christs Priest-hood.

1. The Requisites and Perfections of Aarons Priesthood are reckoned up. A Levitical High Priest, 1. Was of kin to them for whom he was constituted, in things pertaining to God. 2. Offered Gifts and Sacrifices for sin. Ch. V. ver. 1. 3. Could compassionate sinners, ignorant and out of the way; himself being compassed with infirmity, ver. 2. 4. Ought therefore to offer for his own sins, as well as the peoples, ver. 3. 5. Must be called of God as Aaron, and not take the honour of that Office to himself, ver. 4.

2. Christs Priestly Perfections are Declared as Equalizing, yea far excelling all those perfections of the Levitical High-Priest, viz.

1. Christ assumed not the Glory of his Priesthood to himself, but was called thereto of God; As is proved by a double Testimony. 1. More obscurely, by a Testimony Synechdochally [m] alledged, the words wherein the Argument lies not being expressed, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee; Ask of me, &c. This Asking implyes his Priesthood. v. 5. 2. More clearly, Thou art a Priest, &c. v. 6.

m Vid. Jo. Piscat. in loc. Et Fran. Jun. Parallel. in loc.

2. Christ Offered up Sacrifices farre beyond the Levitical, viz. Prayers and Supplications, and himself by dying, v. 7, &c. which are Amplified. 1. By the circumstance of Time, when he offered up these Sacrifices, viz. In the dayes of his flesh. So that he was able to Sympathize with us, v. 7. 2. By the Adjuncts, Object and Success of his Prayers. (1) The Adjuncts of his Prayers, with strong crying and tears. (2) The Object to whom he prayed, to him that was able to save him from Death. (3) The success of his Prayer, He was heard, in that he feared, v. 7. 3. By the eminency of his Obedience, Though he were the Son of God (and so without sin), yet by his Actual suffering the learned experimental Obedience, v. 8. 4. By the effect of his sufferings, being made perfect, he became Author of Eternal Salvation to all that obey him, therefore he suffered for them, not for himself, v. 9. 6. By Gods Authorizing and calling him hereunto, v. 10.

3. Christ was of Melchizedek's everlasting Order, far surpassing Aarons, ver. 10. In the farther unfolding of this, 1 He Prefaceth. 2 He Paralleleth Christ and Melchizedek together.

He PREFACETH to the Christian Hebrews to stir up their Attention to this Mystery of Christs being after Melchizedek's Order. Herein I. He propoundeth to speak much of Christ as a Priest of Melchizedek's Order, of whom we have many things to say, v. 11. II He intimateth the difficulty of their Doctrine, by reason of their incapacity, being Dull of hearing, v. 11. Their Duinesse he reprehensorily evidenceth, 1. In the Hypothesis, declaring, Partly, what they might and ought have been for their long time of learning, for the time ye ought to be Teachers. Partly, what they were notwithstanding, viz. Such as needed to be taught the first Principles of Gods Oracles, needing milk not strong meat, ver. 12. 2. In the Thesis, Describing (1) Who are babes, viz. they that use milk, and are unskilful in the word of righteousnesse, v. 13. (2) Who are riper Christians, grown men, viz. Partly, they who can digest strong meat, more perfect Doctrines. Partly, they who by use have their spiritual Senses exercised to discern Good and Evil, v. 14. III. He earnestly exhorts them hereupon to Go on with him to perfection, and stedfastly to Persevere to the end. And this by divers Arguments; 1. From the absurdity of sticking still in Principles, and laying again the foundation, which is but once to be laid. Here he recites divers n Fundamenta's of Religion, viz. (1) Repentance from dead works. (2) Faith towards God. (3) The Doctrine of Baptisms. (4) Laying on of hands. (5) Resurrection of the dead. (6) The last judgment. Ch. VI. v. 1, 2. 2. From his own Resolution to lead them on to perfection of knowledge, &c. if God permit, v. 3. 3. From the great peril of utter Apostacy, that o Sin against the Holy-Ghost viz. impossibility of renewing them again by repentance. Here (1) Those that are in danger of Apostatizing, are described by five Perfections, yet all such as are incident to Hypocrites and Temporary believers, v. 4, 5, 6. (2) Their impossibility of being renewed again to Repentance that thus Apostatize, is confirmed, Partly from the haynousnesse of their sin, seeing they crucifie to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame, v. 6. Partly, from the justice of God, who as he blesseth the ground that yeelds fruit according to the means of fruitfulnesse, so he reiecteth, curseth and burneth that which brings forth thorns and briars, v 7, 8. (3) The Apostle (lenifying former passages) testifies his better hopes of these Hebrews, then that they should thus fall away; Partly, from Gods righteousnesse to reward their goodnesse. Partly, from their fruits of grace past and present, v. 9, 10. (4) The Apostle yet upon consideration of the premises presseth them diligently to presse after full assurance of hope to the end, v. 11. 4. From the imitable examples of the Saints, who through faith and patience inherited the Promises. As Abraham in particular after he had patiently endured, obtained the Promise, which God confirmed to him by Oath, v. 12, 13, 14, 15 5. From the certainty and immutability of Gods Promise (still to be adhered unto.) being confirmed by Gods Oath. This is Amplified, (1) By an Argument from the lesser to the greater, Mans Oath is certain and sure, much more Gods, v. 16. (2) By the Nature of Gods Promise and Oath, they are two immutable things, wherein its impossible God should lye. (3) By the end of this Oath, viz. That the heyrs of Promise might have strong Consolation. (4) By a Description of these heyres of promise, viz. who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us, v. 16, 17, 18. 6. From the surenesse and stedfastnesse of Hope, as the Soules Anchor, entring into that within the veyle, viz. Heaven it self, v. 19. Which firmnesse of Hope is evidenced (1) By Christs entring for us into Heaven as a fore-runner. (2) By Christs acting in Heaven for us, as an High-Priest for ever after Melchizedecs Order, v. 20.

He PARALLELETH p Christ and Melchizedec together, And thence infers the excellency of Christs Priesthood beyond Aarons. I. Christ and Melchizedec are compared together, Melchizedec being described, As 1. King of Salem, and Priest of the most High God. 2. Blessing Abraham, meeting him returning from the Slaughter of the Kings, Ch. VII. ver. 1. 3. Receiving Tenths of all the spoyls from Abraham. 4. Being mystically. (1) King of Righteousnesse. (2) King of Peace. v. 2. (3) Without Father, (4) Without Mother, (5) Without Discent, (6) Without beginning of dayes, (7) Without end of life, as he stands mentioned in Scripture. 5. Abiding a Priest continually. Herein resembling the Son of God, Jesus Christ. v 3. II. Hence the excellency of Christs Melchizedec like Priesthood above Aarons is inferred and evidenced by divers Arguments, 1. From the excellency of Melchizedec, (the Priest of God and type of Christ, above Abraham and all the Levitical Priests. Above Abraham, Partly in that Abraham himself paid him Tenths, whilst only Abrahams Posterity paid the Levitical Priests Tenths, upon which ground yet the Levites were superiour to their brethren, ver. 4, 5, 6. Partly in that he blessed Abraham, the lesse being blessed of the better, ver. 5, 7. Above all the Levitical Priests. Partly, in that they receive Tithes, who yet die; but he receiveth Tithes who liveth, ver. 8. Partly, in that Levi himself being in Abrahams loynes when Melchizedec met him, in Abraham paid Tithes to Melchizedec, ver. 9, 10. 2. From the insufficiency of the Levitical Priesthood, (and of the Ceremonial Law, stablished by that Priesthood.) to bring any Persons to true Perfection, whereupon they were to be abrogated, and to give place to Christs Melchizedec-like Priesthood bringing to Perfection. That Perfection came not by Levitical Priesthood, he proves, Because the Priesthood was changed from the order of Aaron, to the order of Melchizedec, which needed not, had Aarons Priesthood been sufficient, ver. 11. And with the Priesthood the Ceremonial Law also was consequently changed and abrogated, ver. 12. This change of Priestood and Law he evidenceth, (1) By the translation of the Priesthood to another Tribe, Christ our High-Priest Springing out of Judah, which tribe afforded no Levitical Priests, ver. 13, 14. (2) By the testimony touch-p Christ a Priest after Melchizedecs Order.

CHAP. VII.

touching another Priest after Melchisedec's Order, constituted not by the law of a carnal commandement, but by the power of an endlesse life, v. 15,16,17. [3] By the declaring the true cause why the Ceremonial law was changed, viz. the Laws weaknesse and unprofitablenes, making nothing perfect, which is Amplyfied by the contrary perfection of Christs Priesthood, but the bringing in of a better hope, did, by the which we draw nigh to God, ver. 18,19. 3. From the different manner of the constitution of these two Priesthoods; the Levitical Priests were made without an oath. But Christs Melchizedec-like Priesthood with an Oath, that it might be unalterable. In which respect Christ is surety of a better Testament, ver. 20, 21, 22. 4. From the different continuance of the Levitical Priests and Christ. They were Many and Mortal, and therefore continued not. Christ but One, and Immortal: and therefore executing an everlasting Priest-hood: and consequently able everlasting to save all that believe in him, v. 23,24,25. 5. From the different condition of Christ and those Levitical Priests, in Purity and Glory. Christ (as was necessary) is pure, being holy, harmelesse, undefiled, separate from sinners, and therefore needs not offer sacrifice for his own sins: Christ is glorious, being made higher then the heavens. But these High-Priests need daily to sacrifice for their own sins, &c. v. 26,27. 6. From the different efficacy of their sacrifices; the Levitical Priests perfect not, though they offered daily sacrifices: Christ perfects by offering himself once; and no wonder, for the Levitical Priests were sinners; but Christ constituted by Oath since the Law, is the spotlesse and perfect Sonne of God, ver. 28.

4. Christs Priesthood, (which is a capitall, or chief matter herein to be considered,) is Celestial, Spiritual, and True; and therefore far more excellent then Aarons, which was but Earthly, Carnal, and Typical. This is evidenced 1. By the heavenly state of Christ our High-Priest, at Gods right hand, Ch. VIII. ver 1. 2 By the heavenly place wherein he ministers, viz. in the Sanctuary of heaven, and the true Tabernacle, viz. of his body,) pitched by the Lord, not by man, ver. 2. 3. By the spiritual and true sacrifice which he offered, viz. the true Tabernacle of his body wherein he ministers, v. 2. This is proved, Partly because every High-Priest must have some gifts and sacrifices to offer; and therefore so must Christ, ver. 3. Partly because though Christ were on earth, yet he could not offer the typical sacrifice by the law, forasmuch as he was not of Levies tribe, who medled with shadows of heavenly things, according to the Patterne in the Mount, ver 4,5.

5. Christ is Mediatour of a Better Covenant then Aaron was, therefore his Ministry or Priesthood is more excellent then Aarons. That the Covenant whereof Christ is Mediatour, is better then that of the Levitical Priests, is proved, I. Because Christs Covenant is stablished upon better Promises, ver. 6 II. Because the former Coverant was faulty and defective, as is evidenced by the Prophet Jeremiahs testimony touching a New Covenant, largely recited, ver. 7,8, &c. wherein note, 1. Gods Promise of making a [q] New Covenant, containing [1] The Author of this New Covenant, The Lord. [2] The Parties with whom the Lord will Covenant, the house of Israel and the house of Judah, viz. 1 All the Elect which shall be gathered into one body. [3] The time when this Coverant shall be made, The days come, viz. The days of Christs coming under the New Testament, ver. 8. 2. Gods opposing of this New Covenant to that Old Covenant, as unlike to it, and short of it; Not according to the Covenant &c. That Old Coverant he describes, [1] By the Parties with whom it was made, with their Fathers, viz. the Israelites that came out of Egypt, [2] By the time when it was made, In the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the Land of Egypt. [3] By the insufficiency or faultinesse of that Covenant, (which occasioned their making of a New Covenant) discovered, Partly in the Israelites breach of it; because they continued not in my Covenant. Partly, in the Lords punishing of them for that breach, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord, ver. 9. 3. Gods preferring the New Covenant (to be made after those dayes, viz. after the days of the Old Covenant, in the days of Christ) before the former Covenant, in respect of the excellent Nature and Promises thereof. He Promiseth [1] A new promulgation or inscription of his Laws, viz. Not in Paper, Parchment, or Tables of stone, &c. but in their minds, enlightning them in the knowledge of God and his will: and in their hearts, enclining and enabling them to the Love and performance of Gods Will and Lawes known; I will put my Lawes into their mind, and write them in their hearts. [2] A new Stipulation, or Covenant-Obligation betwixt God and them in respect of their gratuitous Adoption; wherein God undertakes for both Parties to the Covenant, viz. For himself, That he will be to them a God; This is the highest Promise in the world, God being the only Supream Good that can be enjoyed. For them with whom he Covenants, That they shall be to him a People: This is the fullest and yet sweetest Obligation upon them; Fullest in that they must be wholly Gods people; Sweetest, in that God undertakes they shall be his, v. 10. [3] A new Illumination touching God and his ways. And this Partly in respect of the Intensivenesse or degree thereof, they shall not be so ignorant even of Principles of Faith, and stick in first Rudiments as they of old, not knowing who God was; but they shall discerne more deep, intimate and perfect mysteries of Religion; And they shall not teach every man his Neighbour, and every man his Brother, saying, Know the Lord. Partly in respect of q The New Covenant described out of Jer. 31.31. &c.

r I. Calv. in loc.

s Object. If under the New Testament, a man shall not teach his neighbour or brother, but all shall know the Lord; Then farewel Publick Ministry, farewel private instruction; There's now no need of either, but only of Gods inward inspiration to teach all under the Gospel.

Answ. The weaknesse of this Objection (commonly made from this and the like Scriptures ignorantly perverted by them that separate themselves, and are adversaries to the publick Ministry, and all Ordinances of the Gospel,) may appear upon these ensuing considerations, I. Under the New Testament private instruction is necessary; For the Gospel commands, 1. That wives learn of their husbands at home, 1 Cor. 14.35. 2. That Parents bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, Eph. 6.4. 3. That private Christians exhort, instruct and admonish and edifie one another, 1 Thes. 5.11. 2 Thes. 3.15. Col. 3.16. Therefore private instruction is still necessary, even under the Gospel, and that by necessity of Gospel-Precept. II. Under the New Testament, The Publick-ministry, and instru- ction of the whole militant Church of God by the publick Ministry, is and will still be necessary till the coming of Christ to judgment. For 1 Christ hath ordained a Publike Ministry, giving Pastors and Teachers, for the perfecting of the Saints, for the work of the Ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ. Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulnesse of Christ; which Perfection will not be attained till the Judgement-day; therefore till then the whole Church is to be instructed by the publick Ministry, *Eph.*4.11,12,13. And as Christ hath commanded his Ministers to teach and dispense his Sacraments; so he hath promised to be with them always to the end of the world; therefore his Ministry shall continue till then, teaching his Church, *Mat.*28.19,20. Further, ordinarily Faith comes by hearing, but how shall men heare without a Preacher? or how shall they preach except they be sent? Rom.10.14,15,16,17. Therefore whosoever despiseth the publick Ministry and instruction thereby, trampleth upon a Gospel-ordinance of the Lord Jesus Christ. 2. The whole Church of Christ, and every particular member in this life know but in part. Yea Paul himself knew but in part, and confessed himself imperfect, (though he had been in the third Heavens,) See 1 *Cor.*13.9.12. Phil. 3. 10, 12. 13. and therefore all need constant instruction, especially by the publick Ministry. And that man who is conceited of his own knowledge, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know, 1 Cor. 8. 2. Thus the publick Ministry's instruction is still necessary, both by reason of Christs Institution, and the Churches Imperfection in this world. III. Hence, This New-Covenant-Promise of illumination, that they shall not teach one another, &c. cannot intend to shut out private Instruction, or the publike Ministry, because since that Covenant was promised, Christ hath ordained and appointed Both in his New Testament. And this may further appear, 1. Partly, because the true intent of this Promise is to show, that under the New-Covenant God would give a more plentiful and perfect knowledge of himself and divine mysteries to his Covenant-people, then he did to his People under the Old-Testament, in their Non-age and Minority. Hereupon Saith Calvin, they pass by that which is chiefly worthy consideration. The Prophet doth not wholly deny that they shall teach one another, but these are the words, They shall not teach, —— saying, Know the Lord. As if he had said, such ignorance shall not possess mens mindes as heretofore, that they should not know who God is. Joh. Calv Com. on Heb. 8 11. 2. Partly, because the Promise of the Principal cause of illumination of the Spirit of God, shuts not out the Instrumental cause thereof, the Publick Ministry, or private instruction, but rather implies and includes them, as the means prescribed to that end by God. For (saith Pareus) as it followeth not, God feeds all, therefore there's no need of bread or husbandry; for by these means God feeds: so it follows not, God teacheth all, therefore there's no need of the Word, for by the Word heard and preached, he teacheth all. D. Pareus Com. on Heb. 8.11.

the Extensiveness thereof, to all that are in Covenant with God of all ranks or conditions, for they shall all know me from the greatest to the least, ver. 11. (4) A new Provision against all their corruptions, whereby their Covenant might be violated, viz. Gods gratuitous Remission, and utter Obliteration of all their sins; For I will be merciful to their unrighteousnesse, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more, ver. 12. Now from this Testimony of Jeremiah touching a New Covenant, the Apostle infers two Corollaries to his present purpose, viz. 1. That God by saying a New Covenant, hath antiquated, or made the other Old. 2. That that Covenant which decayeth and waxeth old, vanisheth away, and is abrogated by the New Testament, *ver.*13.

t Christs Tabernacle, and Ministry therein, beyond the Levitical.

CHAP. IX.

u Jo Cal. Com. in loc. D. Pareus in loc.

6. Christs Tabernacle and his Ministry therein discharged under the New Covenant, or Testament, far excels the Levitical Tabernacle; and the Ministry therein under the first Covenant, or Old Testament: Christ by his own blood and entring into Heaven it self, having obtained eternal redemption for his Elect, and fulfilled what was prefigured in those Types, and so abrogated those Levitical shadowes. For clearing this, 1. The Levitical Tabernacle, and ministration therein, with the infirmity thereof, under the first Covenant are described, Ch. IX. v. 1. &c. 1. The Levitical Tabernacle is described by the two chief parts thereof (the Court of the people, as not belonging to the Priests, being omited) viz. (1) The Sanctuary with its sacred Utensils; The Candlestick, The Table, and Shew-bread, v. 2. (2) The Holiest of all after the second veyl, with its holy furniture; The Golden Altar of Incense, (rather then the u Golden censer). The Ark of the Covenant containing in it, the golden pot that had Manna, Aarons Rod that budded, and the Tables of the Covenant. Over the Ark the Cherubins of Glory shadowing the Mercy-seat, v. 3, 4, 5. 2. The Levitical Ministration in this Tabernacle is described also; Partly, what it was in the Sanctuary or first Tabernacle, The Priests alwayes accomplished Gods service therein, ver. 6. Partly, what it was in the Holiest of all, the second Tabernacle, The High-Priest alone entred once a year, not without blood, for himself and the errours of the people, ver 7. 3. The infirmity or weakness of this Levitical ministration is hence inferred, and that in divers respects; (1) In that hereby the way into Heaven, the Holiest of all was not manifested, because the High-Priest entred into the Holy of Holies only once a year, *ver.*8 (2) In that the Tabernacle was but typical, a figure for the time then present. (3) In that the Tabernacle-gifts and Sacrifices were but carnal and external, perfecting none as pertaining to the Conscience. (4) In that they were but Temporary, till the Gospel, time of Reformation, ver. 9, 10. II. Christs Priesthood and Ministry is preferred far before the Levitical in many respects. As, 1. Christ is an High-Priest, of good things to come; and not of shadows. 2. Christ exercised his Priesthood in a greater and more perfect Tabernacle, not made by men but by God, viz. His own body, *ver.*11. 3. Christ offered not blood of Goats and Calves, but his own blood. 4. Christ entred into Heaven it self, not into an earthly Sanctuary. 5. Christ entred into this Holy-place once for all, not often. 6. Christ obtained not temporal, but eternal redemption for us by his blood, *ver.*12. That Christ obtained eternal redemption by his blood, is proved, By the Efficacy of Levitical Sacrifices purifying Ceremonial uncleannesses, ver. 13. Whence, from the lesser to the greater, it followes; That Christs true Sacrifice of himself by by death, purgeth our consciences from all spiritual uncleanness of sin, ver. 14. Why it was needful that Christ should obtain redemption for us by his Death. He proves; (1) Because it was necessary that by dying for purging the sins of the first Testament Christ should confirm the New Testament, whereof he is Mediatour, *ver.*15,16,17. 2. Because, as by the Levitical blood all typical things in the Law were Ceremonially purged, so it was necessary, That the things typified, the heavenly things themselves, should be purified with better Sacrifices, even the blood of Christ himself, *v.*18. to 24. Better Sacrifices they must be. Partly, because the Sanctuary into which Christ entred, was better, viz. Heaven it self, therefore the Sacrifices brought into it must be proportionable. Partly because the end of his entring was better, viz. not to come thither again yearly, but constantly to appear in Gods presence for us, as our Advocate, ver. 24. Nor yet to offer himself often, as the High-Priest entred the Holy-place yeerly with the blood of others; for then Christ should have suffered often since the beginning of the world, which were absurd to grant; Both because its repugnant to the Story of Christs death, who hath once purged sin by sacrificing himself, *v.*25,26. And also because its contrary to the common law of nature, touching mens once Dying, and after being brought to Judgment: suitable whereunto Christ was but once offered to bear the sin of many, till he appear again without sin at the judgment day for our Salvation, *v.*27,28.

7. Finally, Christs [x] one Sacrifice of himself, once, offered is far more Efficacious, then the many Levitical Sacrifices often repeated year by year. This he evidenceth, two wayes; I. By demonstrating the insufficiency of the Levitical Sacrifices offered year by year, to make the commers thereunto perfect, which he doth by divers Reasons, 1. Because the Law had but a *shadow of good things to come, not the very image of the things, Ch. X. ver.*1. 2. Because, had they purged and Perfected the worshippers, they would have ceased to be offered, as needlesse any more: but they did not cease, v 2,3. 3. Because in the re-itteration of these Sacrifices, there was a yearly re-iterated remembrance and acknowledgment of sin, v. 3. 4. Because it is impossible that such weak Sacrifices as the blood of Bulls and Goats, should purge away sins in the sight of God, *v.*4. 5. Because, as the Psalmist testifieth God rejected those Levitical Sacrifices and Offerings, therefore they were insufficient and ineffectual, *v.*5,6. II. By proving the surpassing excellency and effectualnesse of Christs once offering up of himself for compleat perfecting of them that will beleeve in him. This he clears by divers Arguments; 1. From Davids Testimony in *Psal.*40. Evacuating all Levitical Sacrifices, and establishing Christs true Sacrifice. This Testimony is Propounded and Expounded. [1] Propounded; Here Christ as Gods Priest designed, is brought in, speaking; Christ speaks, Partly of Gods rejection of all Levitical Sacrifices. Partly of Gods calling and fitting him for offering a better Sacrifice, *but a body hast thou fitted me, ver.*5,6. Partly, of his own readiness to obey Gods call, and do his will, according as Scripture had promised of him, *v.*7. [2] Expounded and accommodated to the present case. Here he declares, Partly the taking away of the Levitical Sacrifices of the Law, by Christs *coming to do the will of God, ver.*8,9. Partly. How Christ fulfils the will of God to our sanctification, viz. by offering up his own body once for all, *v.*10. 2. From Christs sitting down (after he had once for ever offered himself for sin,) at Gods right hand, till his foes became his footstool. i.e. till the judgment day; whence he concludes, though the daily repeated Sacrifices of the Levitical Priests could never take away sin, yet Christ hath by this one Offering perfected for ever them that are sanctified. Otherwise if sin had been upon him by imputation, and not been fully purged, he could have had no place in heaven, much lesse at Gods right hand. So that here [1] This Argument is illustrated, *v.*11. [2] The Argument it self is propounded, *v.*12. [3] The conclusion inferred, *v.*13. 3. From the Testimony of the Holy Ghost by Jeremiah in the Promise of the New Covenant, whereof Christ is Mediatour, *v.*15. &c. Here [1] The Testimony it self is recited, especially for that clause, *And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more, v.*16,17. [2] The inference hence is made, Now where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin; so that this one offering of Christ, the Mediatour of this New Covenant, is for ever effectual and sufficient, *v.*18.

Hitherto the Apostle hath Doctrinally informed the Hebrews, That the Gospel Ministry under the New Testament by Jesus Christ God-man, our great Prophet and High-Priest, farre excelleth the Levitical Ministry under the Old Testament.

He PRACTICALLY EXHORTS the beleeving Hebrews (as it were by way of Application of all that hath been said touching Christ, but especially touching his Priesthood) To divers Christian duties inferred hereupon. Principally, 1. To sincere and constant Faith in Christ. 2. To a Christian conversation correspondent to this Gospel Doctrine of Christ

I. To sincere and constant faith in Christ. That seeing he is such an High-Priest, they accept him by Faith, and constantly persevere therein. This Exhortation is 1. Propounded. 2. Urged.

1. He [y] Propounds this Exhortation in three suitable branches mutually depending upon each other, and pressed briefly with some particular Arguments, viz. I. To draw neer, viz. to Jesus Christ. Here he showes them both How, and Why, they should draw neer. 1. How to draw near, viz. (1) With a true heart, (2) In full-assurance of Faith, (3) Having their hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, viz. by Justification and remission of sinnes through the sprinkling of Christs blood. (4) Their bodies washed with pure water, viz. Sanctified by the Spirit of Christ. 2. Why they should thus Draw nigh to God, (1) Because, they have boldnesse to enter into the holyest, viz. Heaven; not by the blood of beasts, but by the blood of Jesus; and that not through the old way the vaile, but through a New and living way, viz. Christs flesh. (2) Because they have an High-Priest over the house of God, v.19,22. II. To hold fast the profession of their Hope without wavering. This is urged from the fidelity of God in his Promises, *v.*23. III. To maintain Christian communion (as an help to their stedfastnesse and perseverance in faith,) And this Privately and Publiquely. 1. Privately in considering one another, another, to provoke to love and good works ver. 24. 2. Publikely, in frequenting and not forsaking their Assembling together, viz. as z some think with the convert Gentiles, whom the Jewes were prone to despise.) This is pressed, (1) From the evil practice of some, forsaking publike Assemblies. (2) From the hastning of the day of Judgment, v. 24, 25.

z Ie. Calv. Com. in loc.

II. He urgeth this exhortation to stedfastness in the faith of Christ, &c. by divers Arguments viz.

1. From the peril of Apostacy from the Christian Faith, viz. Eternal destruction. Here I. The sin is described, A sinning wilfully after receiving the knowledge of the Truth. The Apostle here intends the a Sin against the holy Ghost. II. The judgement against this sin is threatned, 1. Privately, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sin, ver. 26. 2. Positively, most dreadful destruction, ver. 27. III. This threatning is confirmed, 1 By the punishment inflicted upon Contemners of Moses Law, ver. 28. whence he argues, as from the less to the greater, that much sorer punishment is due to the Contemners of Christ. Whose sin is aggravated in that they [1] Tread under foot the Son of God, and count the blood of the Covenant as an unholy thing. [2] Do despite to the Spirit of Grace, ver. 29. 2. By testimonies of Scripture asserting Gods vengeance upon the wicked, Amplified, Partly from the joynt witness of conscience, knowing this to be Gods nature, ver. 30. Partly from the dreadfulness of their condition, that fall into Gods sin-revenging hands, ver. 31.

a The Sin against the Holy Ghost; What it is; and who they are that fall into it, See at large handled in my Beleivers Evidences. Ch. II. p. 60. to p. 127. London, 1649.

2. From their former zealous beginnings, enduring (after their conversion) a great fight of afflictions, for the faith of Christ, therefore they should not cast away their confidence, but persevere, v. 3. &c. They endured afflictions, 1. Partly, whilest they were made a gazing-stock by their sufferings. 2. Partly, whilest they became companions of them that were so used, (1) By compassionating the Apostle in his bonds. (2) By taking the spoyling of their goods joyfully; moved thereunto from their assurance of their better and more enduring Substance in heaven, ver. 33, 34. Whence he infers, cast not away therefore your confidence, ver. 35.

3. From the great reward of eternal salvation promised to them that persevere in faith to the end. Here, I The great recompense to persevere in faith is propounded, v. 35. II. Their perseverance in respect of that reward, is pressed, 1. From the necessity of patience to wait and wrastle, till the promised happiness be received, v. 36. 2. From the certainty of Christs coming after a little while to reward them, v. 37. 3. From the command of living by faith till then. 4. From Gods abhorring of Apostates, v. 38. Of which number the Apostle hopes the Hebrewes are not, v. 39

4. From the Singular b excellency of Faith, and living thereby, they are exhorted to persevere therein. To this end here. 1 Faith is described. 2 This Description is confirmed. 3 This confirmation is illustrated. 4 This illustration is concluded.

(1) Faith is described more generally, as in respects all Gods promises (wherein that of Christ is included) and all Divine revelations, past, present, and future. And thus its described 1. As realizing all things hoped for, and making them actually subsist to the believer. Now Faith is the substance of things hoped for. 2. As clearly and convincingly evidencing invisibles, making them as visible to the believers, And the evidence of things not seen, Ch. XI. v. 1.

(2) This description of Faith is confirmed more Generally by two instances, showing that this is the nature of Faith. 1. Of the Fathers of the Old Testament, that by Faith obtained a good report, v. 2. 2. Of all (as well as them) understanding the worlds creation out of nothing by Gods Word, v. 3.

(3) This Confirmation is more particularly illustrated by an Induction of particular instances of the Fathers of the Old Testament from the beginning of the world, who were no otherwise approved of God, and united to him, but by true faith, whose faithful steps therefore these Hebrews should follow if they expect like divine approbation. These faithful Fathers of the Old Testament, were; I. Before the flood; As 1 Abel, who by Faith, (1) Offered a more excellent sacrifice then Cain. (2) Obtained Gods testimony, that he was righteous. (3) Speaketh being dead, which is miraculous. He By his blood, spake to God for vengeance: By his Sacrifice and Martyrdome, speaks to us for imitation, v. 4. 2. Enoch, who by Faith (1) Was translated alive from Earth to Heaven. (2) Had testimony before his translation, that he pleased God, which without faith none can possibly do. This is proved from the necessity of Faith in him that comes to God, He must believe, 1 arly That God is: Partly That God is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him, ver. 5, 6. 3. Noah, who by Faith, (1) Was moved with fear, upon Gods warning him of things not seen (2) Prepared an Ark, To his families Salvation, but the worlds Condemnation, (3) Became heire of the Righteousness which is by Faith, ver. 7. II. After the Flood till Moses, and Israels departure out of Egypt. As 1. Abraham, who by Faith (1) Readily obeyed God, calling him from UR, his own Countrey, and leading him he knew not whither, v. 8. (2) Patiently sojourned as a Stranger in the Land of Promise, as did Isaac and Jacob also, v. 9. The ground whereof is given, Because he lookt higher then Canaan, even to Heaven it self, v. 10. 2. Sarah, who by Faith (1) Conceived and brought forth a son; Both, beyond the ordinary course of Nature, ver. 11. This her bringing forth of a Son is Amplyfied, Partly from the effect hereof, viz. Abrahams numerous seed according to the Promise, ver. 12. Partly from the event hereof, viz. the Faith of Abrahams posterity (as well as of the Fathers fore-cited) whose Faith appeared in their Professed living as Strangers on earth, and expecting an heavenly country. v. 13. to 17. Abraham again; who by Faith (1) Offered up Isaac, which is Amplyfied, Partly by the Impediments that might have hindred, viz. Isaac being his onely begotten Son by Sarah. And the Promise in Isaac, ver. 17, 18. Partly by the Acting of his faith upon Gods Omnipotency to raise Isaac from the dead, which

which encouraged the offering of him. (1) Received Isaac from death in a figure, ver. 19. 3. Isaac who by faith blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come, ver. 20. 4. Jacob, who by Faith (1) Blessed Josephs sons. (2) Joyfully worshipped God, having sworn Joseph to bury him in Canaan, ver. 21. 5. Joseph, who at his Death by Faith, (1) Mentioned Israels future Departure out of Egypt. (2) Commanded that his bones should be buried in Canaan, ver. 22. III. From Moses till the possession of the Promised Land; As, 1. Moses and his Parents. His Parents by Faith hid him three moneths after he was borne contrary to Pharaohs command, ver. 23. Moses himself by faith. (1) Refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter, preferring the afflicted condition of Gods People before the pleasures of sin for a season, and all Egypts treasures, having an eye to the future reward, ver. 24. to 27. (2) Forsook Egypt not fearing the Kings wrath, eying the invisible God, v. 27. (3) Kept the Passeover and Sprinkling of blood, that when Egypts first-borne were destroyed, Israels might be preserved, v. 28. 2. All Israel who by faith, (1) Passed through the Red-sea safely, Amplyfied by the contrary event to the Egyptians, v. 29 (2) Compassed Jericho seven times till the walls thereof fell down, v. 30. 3. Rahab A Gentile, who by faith, (1) Received the Spies in peace, (2) Thereupon perished not with the unbelievers, v. 31. IV. Finally, From the Pollution of the Promised land till the time of the Maccabees, under Judges, Kings and Prophets, the faith of many is commended. Here, lest he should be endless in particular instances, he closely heaps together, 1. The names of some eminent faithful ones, among Judges, Kings and Prophets, for the rest, ver. 32. 2. The eminent acts of their faith, and of the faith of others in their times, viz. (1) Subdued Kingdoms, as Joshuah [c] subdued thirty one Canaanitish Kings, and after him the Judges subdued divers others, viz. The [d] Canaanites, [e] Midianites, [f] Philistines, [g] Ammonites, [h] Moabites and Aramites. (2) Wrought Righteousnesse, as [i] Samuel, and [k] David. (3) Obtained Promises, viz. The performance of Promises, not of that great Promise of Christ, but of some more special and particular promises, as of [l] the land of Canaan to Israel, of the [m] Kingdome to David, &c. (4) Stopped the mouths of Lyons, as did [n] Sampson, [o] David, [p] Daniel, ver. 33. (5) Quenched the violence of fire, as [q] Daniels three companions, (6) Escaped the edge of the sword. as [r] David escaped the sword of Saul, [s] Elijah of Ahab, [t] Elisha of the Syrians, (7) Out of weaknesse were made strong, as [u] King Hezekiah, (8) Waxed valiant in fight, As many Judges and Kings, but especially [x] Sampson, and David. (9) Turned to flight the Armies of the Aliens, As [z] Gideon the Midianites, with three hundred men with lamps and pitchers, [a] Jonathan and his Armour-bearer the Philistines, v. 34. (10) Women received their dead raised to life again, as the [b] widow of Zarephath that entertained Elijah, and the[c] Shunamite that lodged Elisha. (11) Others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; The cause whereof was, Their hope of a better Resurrection. As [d] divers by Antiochus in the days of the Maccabees, v. 35. (12) Finally, Others had Tryal of many cruel persecutions, enumerated, v. 36. to 39. Thus of the illustration of faith in this induction of many particulars.

(4) This illustration is concluded with I. A Commendation of all the persons instanced in for their faith; whereby they obtained a good report. II An Amplyfication of their praise they were thus faithful, yet received not the Promise, viz. the accomplishment of their promise, in the exhibition of the Messiah. This he confirmes by two reasons, (1) Because God hath reserved the exhibition of the Messiah, till the times of the New Testament, having provided some better thing for us. (2) Because, they without us should not be made perfect, v. 39, 40. III. An exhortation to the Hebrews, from the consideration of this so great a cloud of witnesses, whom they are to follow, to run the race of Faith with Patience; and to this end, to remove all impediments, viz. 1. Every weight of this present world. 2. The easily-encompassing sin. Ch. XII. v. 1. &c. And so he passeth from constancy in faith, to exhort unto Constancy and Patience in bearing afflictions and other duties of a Christian Conversation.

II. To a Christian Conversation correspondent to this Gospel Doctrine of Christ. Here he exhorts to sundry Christian duties; As

I. To constant [e] Patience in bearing of the Crosse in our Christian Race, Ch. 12. v. 1. This is Urged, 1 From the former cloud of Witnesses, v. 1. II. From Christs example in suffering. Here, 1. Christ is commended as the Author and finisher of their Faith, therefore to be followed as the chief Captain of beleevers. 2. Christs exemplary suffering is propounded and described. [1] By the Motive wherewith he encouraged himself to suffer, The joy set before him. [2] By the Manner of his suffering, Endured the Cross, Despising the shame. [3] By the happy event of his suffering, his enthronment at Gods right hand, ver. 2 3. Christs suffering is Amplyfied [1] Partly by the Dignity of his person, Consider him that endured, &c. [2] Partly by the indignity and extremity of his sufferings, such contradiction of sinners,—And to blood: wheras the Hebrews had not yet resisted to blood, &c. v. 3, 4. III. From their spiritual condition and relation to God, As sons to a Father, under whose rebukes and chastisements consequently they should not faint, 1. Because Scripture so prescribes, v. 5. 2. Because the Lord chastiseth all his sons in love. v. 6. 3. Because, right filial enduring of chastisements shewes they are dealt withal as Sons, and not as Bastards, v. 6, 7, 8. 4. Because they submit to their Natural Fathers chastisements, how much more should they submit to Gods? (1) They being Fathers of flesh: God Father of Spirits. (2) They correcting for their own pleasure, or passion: God for our profit, viz. Life and Holyness, ver. 9, 10. IV. From the Nature of Affliction. 1. Though for present not joyous, but grievous, yet 2. For future advantagious, yeelding the peaceable fruit of righteousnesse, ver 11. From all these Arguments he drawes an enccuraging Conclusion, Exhorting them 1. To courage and alacrity notwithstanding the Crosse, ver. 12. 2. To uprightness, or evenness of course, for avoiding of Apostacy. 3. To healing of their former lameness and defectiveness, v. 13.

IV. From the danger of deſpiſing or rejecting Chriſts voice in the Goſpel, which danger is 1. Proved, from their not eſcaping puniſhment that rejected Moſes voice in the Law; whence he argues, from the leſſe to the greater, much more they ſhall not eſcape, that reject Chriſts voice. Moſes ſpeaking but on Earth: Chriſt ſpeaking from Heaven, ver. 25. 2. Amplifyed, by the greater Majeſty and efficacy of Chriſts voice under the New Teſtament then under the Old. For, (1) Then his voice only ſhook the Earth. (2) But now (according as was promiſed by Haggai) he yet once more ſhakes not only Earth, but Heaven alſo, ver. 26. By which ſhaking once more, is ſignifyed, the removing of thoſe things that are ſhaken, for the eſtabliſhing of New heavens, and New earth, viz. the unſhaken Kingdome of Chriſt; From the receiving of which Kingdome he incites them To have grace for ſerving God acceptably with reverence and godly fear; threatning them; that otherwiſe God will be to them a conſuming fire, ver, 27, 28, 29.

CHAP. XIII.

IV. To conſtancy in Brotherly-love, whereunto he Exhorts I. More Generally, Ch. XIII. ver. 1. II. More ſpecially, to ſome particular branches of it; As 1. Hoſpitality towards ſtrangers. Urged, becauſe hereby ſome have unawares entertained Angels, ver. 2. 2. Sympathizing with them that are in bonds and adverſity; As if ſuffering with them, v. 3.

V. To Marriage-chaſtity. 1. From the honourableneſſe of marriage to all ſorts and degrees 2. From the Purity of Marriage-ſtate. 3. From Gods judgement upon Whoremongers and Adulterers, ver. 4.

VI. To Contentment with preſent enjoyments; (dehorting alſo from the contrary vice of covetouſneſſe,) Urged 1. From Gods ſingular Promiſe, Never to leave nor forſake us, ver. 5. 2. From the All-ſufficiency of this promiſed preſence and help of the Lord, againſt all fears and enemies, evidenced in Davids Teſtimony, ver. 6.

VII. Finally, he exhorts them to the due Performance of certain Duties in reference to their Church Governours and Teachers, whether (1) Already Deceaſed, or (2) Yet living.

1. In reference to their Church-Governours and Teachers (g) Deceaſed, To remember them and follow their Faith. This urged 1. From the end of their Converſation. viz. Either, that they ſealed the Faith they preached with their blood (thinks (h) Calvin); Or, that they perſiſted ſound in the Faith to the Death, ver. 7. 2. From the conſtant ſameneſſe of Jeſus Chriſt our Mediatour, the chief Object and Foundation of Faith; who for the ſubſtance of his Manifeſtation is ſtill the ſame; Yeſterday, under the Old Teſtament; To day, under the New Teſtament; And for ever, to the worlds end, and to all eternity, ver. 8.

2. In reference to their Church-governours and Teachers yet living, 1 Bad or 2 Good.

(1) In reference to Bad Teachers, more Generally, That they be not carried about with their divers and ſtrange Doctrines. More Specially, that they mingle not Legal Ceremonies as difference of meats, &c. with the Goſpel. This is urged, I. From the profitable effect of the Goſpel, whoſe grace ſufficeth to ſtabliſh the Heart. II. From the unprofitableneſſe of this Ceremoniall difference of Meats, to them that have exerciſed themſelves therein, ver. 9 III. From the miſchiefe of ſeeking for righteouſneſſe by obſerving Levitticall Ceremonies; whereby they debarre themſelves from Partaking of Chriſt with us. This he Proves and Applyes, 1. He proves this by the Analogy betwixt the Type and Anti-Type. (1) The Levitticall Type ſtood thus; The High-Prieſt who ſerved the Tabernacle, had no right to eate of the bodies of thoſe beaſts, whoſe blood he brought once a yeere into the moſt holy place for ſin; and this, becauſe by the i Law their bodies were to be burnt without the Camp. (2) The Anti-Type thus; even ſo they that ſtill ſerve the Tabernacle, & adhere to Levitticall Ceremonies, have no right to eate of Chriſt, who that he might ſanctifie us with his own blood, ſuffered without the City gate, v. 10, 11, 12. 2. He applyes this, inferring from Chriſts ſuffering & ſacrificing himſelf without the gate, theſe two conſectaries, viz. (1) That we ſhould go forth with Chriſt without the camp, bearing his reproach. And this, Partly becauſe here we have no continuing City; Partly

(2) In reference to their good Church-governours and Teachers, duties are exhorted to, More generally and more particularly, I. More generally to them all, That they obey them, and submit themselves unto them. Hereunto they are urged, 1. From the utility of their Office, they watch for souls 2. From the difficulty of their service, as they that must give an account. 3. From the benefit of their obedience to them, An account with joy. 4. From the sad event of their disobedience, An account with griefe, unprofitable for them, ver. 17. II. More particularly to the Apostle himself, that they would pray for him, 1. Because he had a good Conscience to God, in all things willing to live honestly, though he dissuaded them from Levitical Ceremonies, ver 18. 2. That he might the sooner be restored to them, v. 19.

HE CONCLUDES his whole EPISTLE, III.

1. With a Supplication to God for these Hebrews, In which note I. A Description of God to whom he prayes. 1. By his Attribute of Peace, The God of Peace 2. By his Act of raising Christ from the dead, Christ being honourifically stiled (1) The Lord Jesus. (2) The great Shepherd of the sheep, redeemed by the blood of the everlasting Covenant, ver. 20. II A Signification of the blessing for which he prayes in their behalf, viz. 1. Gods perfecting them in every good work to do his will. 2. Gods working in them to this end, that which is well-pleasing in his sight through Iesus Christ. III. A Doxology to Christ, ver. 21.

2. With an Obtestation beseeching them to suffer the word of exhortation by this short Epistle, v 21.

3. With an Intimation, 1. Of Timothies being set at liberty. 2. Of his intent to see them shortly with him, ver 23.

4 With Salutations, ver. 24.

5. With an Apostolical Valediction, ver. 25.

Thus of the Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the believing Hebrews.

NOw follow seven other Epistles, some of them Evidently, and the rest of them Probably, written to Believing Hebrews, viz. The Epistle of a James; The two b Epistles of Peter; The first Epistle of John seems probably written to all the Believing Hebrews, especially in Asia minor For, 1. The Greek Title calls it a Catholique, or General Epistle, as c Zanchy and Beza think. Because generally written to all the Jews, (Though some think it was written to the d Parthians, among whom were many of the Jews of the old Captivity and dispersion of the ten Tribes, whence Parthians, are thought to be nam'd in the first place in that enumeration of the dispersed Jews in the e Acts.) 2. The very matter of the Epistle, being directed against the blasphemous errours broached among the Jews, especially those of Ebion and Cerinthus against the Divinity of Christ, seems to imply that it was principally written to the Iews. The second Epistle of John, is to an f Elect Lady, probably a believing Hebrew, of great wealth and worth. For he warns both her and her children, of the Heresies and Seducers that opposed the person of Christ, after the manner of his first Epistle. And he intimates his intention of h visiting them personally. Gaius, to whom he wrote his Third Epistle, is not obscurely i intimated there to be a believing Jew, as Piscator notes. Finally, the Epistle of Jude seems written to the dispersed believing Jews. 1. In the Greek Title, it being called Catholick or General. 2. And for the matter of it being of like nature with 2 Pet. (even as an Abstract of part of it,) against the Seducers of those times as the sameness of words and phrase import.

Of these Epistles Hierome uttereth this Elogy. k James, Peter, John, Jude, Apostles, put forth seven Epistles, as Mystical, as Succinct: and both short, and long; short in words, long in senses: so that he is a rare man that is not dwelling in the reading of them

These* seven Epistles are by some called Catholique; by some Canonical.

Catholique or General, not in respect of the universal concernment of the matters contained in them, for such is the matter of Pauls Epistles also: but in respect of the Parties to whom these Epistles are written, viz Not to any particular Church, as the Epistles to the Romanes, Corinth, &c. Nor to particular persons as the Epistle to Timothy, Titus, Philemon: But Generally to the believing Jews, dispersed in several Countreys. In this respect divers l Latin, especially m Greek Writers call them Catholique. Though properly the Second and Third Epistle of John cannot be called Catholique, yet being joyned to Johns first Epistle, which is Catholique, by use they come to be so called, though abusively.

Canonical, not that these seven Epistles only or peculiarly among all others are Canonical and Authentique; for, that were to derogate from other Epistles of Paul: but because they contain [n] Canons or Rules of Christian life. [o] Beza thinks they were by mistake called Canonical, (perhaps for Catholical,) for 1. Why should not also Pauls Epistles be called Canonical? 2. Greek Writers do not so call them. 3. Latins have (though groundlesly,) doubted of the Authority of the Epistle of James, and second of Peter: therefore its not probable they would call them Canonical.

James.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe Catholique Epistle of JAMES the Apostle. So stiled in the [a] Greek Copies. Tremellius in his Translation of this Epistle out of the Syriack, prefixes this Title before this Epistle in reference to the rest, viz. [b] The three Epistles of the three Apostles, before whose eyes our Lord transfigured himself, that is of James and Peter and John. And Beza adds the reason, [c] For the second of Peter, the second and third of John, and the Epistle of Jude, are not with the Syriack counted Canonical.

Penman hereof was [d] James. James in Greek and Latine is the same with the Hebrew Jacob, which signifies [e] A Supplanter.

But what James this was, is not so easily determined. There were three of that name, (as some [f] learned Authors are of opinion) two of them Apostles, and the third one of the seventy Disciples, viz. 1. James [g] the son of Zebedee, brother to John, He was with Christ at his [h] transfiguration, He was called [i] James the greater, either in respect of his age, or of his stature, or of his calling to the Apostleship. The Syriack Interpreter seems to ascribe this Epistle to this James, as Tremellius renders it. [k] Three Epistles of three Apostles before whose eyes our Lord did transfigure himself, that is, Of James, Peter and John. But (as Pareus notes,) the Kings edition translated by G. Fabritius hath it thus; [l] In the Name of the Lord Jesus the Messiah, we Seal the three Epistles of Iames and Peter and John. This speaks not particularly of Iames the greater. Besides this James was put to death by [m] Herod Agrippa in the second year of Claudius, but this Epistle seems to be written afterwards to the convert Iews Dispersed, after [n] Claudius had cast both Jews and Christians out of the City of Rome. 2. James the son of Alpheus, an [o] Apostle also, [p] Brother of Iude, Called sometimes [q] Iames the lesse, either for distinction from the former James, or for distinction from his Uncle James, the brother of Alpheus, as [r] Piscator (following Junius) thinks; and [s] the brother of the Lord, Either; 1 Because he was the son of Joseph (the supposed father of Christ,) by a former wife, as divers both Greek and Latine [t] Fathers think. Or rather, 2. He is called the Lords brother, (after the Hebrews manner of speaking) because he was Cousin german to him, his mother being that [u] Mary, which was sister to the blessed Virgin, called in the original Greek, [x] Mary of Cleophas, viz. either the daughter of Cleophas, or the wife of Cleophas, as our Translators put it in Italick letters: perhaps following following y Beza, who thinks that Title, Mary of Cleophas, which is to be interpreted, Mary the wife of Cleophas, rather then Mary the daughter of Cleophas, because it is more usual to denominate women from their Husbands. But as z Ludovicus de Dieu obſerves; Both are uſual. For Anna the Propheteſſe is called daughter of Phanuel, her Husbands name not being mentioned, with whom yet ſhe had lived ſeven years. And the Arabick Verſion hath it, a the daughter of Cleophas. Now that this Mary of Cleophas, was the Mother of this James, is not only the Opinion of b Hierome, c Theodoret, and other Writers both Ancient and Modern; but it may be evinced by divers Arguments from the Text, viz. Partly, Becauſe as d John, mentioning the woman that ſtood by Chriſts Croſs, beſides Mary Chriſts Mother, reckons up his Mothers ſiſter Mary of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene: So e Mark ſaith, Among the women looking on, were Mary Magdalen, and Mary the Mother of James the leſſe, and of Joſes, &c. f Matthew alſo to like purpoſe. So that Mary of Cleophas, and Mary the Mother of James was one and the ſame, Partly, becauſe after Chriſts death other Scriptures teſtifie, That g Mary Magdalene and Mary the Mother of Joſes beheld where he was laid. That h Mary Magdalene, and Mary the Mother of James —— had bought ſpices that they might come and anoint him. That i it was Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the Mother of James,——that reported Chriſts Reſurrection to the Apoſtles; by which it is evident, that this Mary the Mother of James was Mary of Cleophas, becauſe we read not of any other Mary, beſides Chriſts Mother, and this Mary of Cleophas that accompanied Mary Magdalene at Chriſts death, at his Sepulchre, &c. relating his Reſurrection. Obiect. But how can James be the ſon of Mary, the Wife of Cleophas; whom James is elſewhere called the k ſonne of Alpheus? Anſw. To this it may be anſwered, either that this Alpheus had two names, (as the Jews had,) and was called alſo Cleophas; Thus l Hierome; or that this m Mary had two Husbands, viz. firſt Alpheus, of whom ſhe had James and Joſes; after his death Cleophas, of whom ſhe had Judas and Simon, whence they are all called ſons of Mary, but Iames peculiarly the ſon of Alpheus, and Simon the ſon of Cleophas, as n Euſebius hath it out of Hegeſippus. This James ſon of Alpheus, o is by Pareus, Calvin, and others, conceived to be Penman of this Epiſtle. (1) It being moſt ſuitable to an Apoſtle of unlimited Commiſſion to take care of all the Tribes diſperſed. (2) The matter of the Epiſtle becoming an Apoſtolical Spirit. Nor (ſaith Pareus) doth any thing ſolidly contradict this opinion, who alſo anſwers Objections brought to the contrary. Therefore if the Epiſtle be Apoſtolical, it is queſtionleſſe of Divine Authority. 3. As for the Third James called Obias, The juſt, of the number of the ſeventy Diſciples, q Hierome ſingularly commends him from the teſtimony of Hegeſippus, That he was holy from his Mothers Wombe, drank neither wine nor ſtrong drink, ate no fleſh, was never ſhorne; nor anointed with oyntments, nor uſed Bath. To him alone it was lawful to enter into the Holy of Holyes. He uſed no Woollen but Linnen Garments, alone entred into the Temple, and with bended knees prayed for the People ſo long, till his knees were ſuppoſed to have contracted the hardneſs of Camels, &c. thinks he was that James, the brother of the Lord, whom Paul mentions in the Epiſtle to the Galatians, which opinion r Calvin diſlikes,) That after the Apoſtles he was ordained Biſhop of Jeruſalem; That Joſephus himſelf counts him to be of ſuch holineſſe and repute, that for his cruel death, by the command of Ananus the Prieſt, the City Jeruſalem, was ſuppoſed to be deſtroyed. And that he wrote this Epiſtle. In an Epiſtle aſcribed to Ignatius, but in Latin, he is called s That venerable James, ſurnamed juſt, whom they reported to be moſt like to Ieſus Chriſt in face, life and manner of Converſation, as if he were a twin-brother of the ſame wombe, whom they ſay if one ſee, they ſee Ieſus himſelf according to all the lineaments of his body. But (to omit, that ſome queſtion, whether there was ſuch a James or no,) it is moſt unlikely that he ſhould be Penman of this General Epiſtle, that was confined himſelf to a Particular charge.

§. II. Occasion, and Scope.

James taking notice, that [t] twelve Tribes dispersed, were under great temptations and tryals of afflictions, and also that divers grois corruptions had prevailed over many of them, and that too many among them contented themselves with a fruitless formal Profession of faith, without the concurrent practise of holiness; upon this Occasion he writes this Epistle to them. His intent and Scope therein, being principally to exhort them, 1. To have a right judgement of Temptations, whether outward tryals of the Cross, that they are [u] all matters of joy, therefore to be born comfortably and patiently; Or inward solicitations to sin, [x] that God is not at all the Author of them, but mans one original concupiscence. 2. To be [y] ready to hear, receive and do the word of God. 3. To avoid having [z] respect of persons, for carnal and worldly differences of their state and condition. 4. To joyn [a] good works, and an holy life to their faith, without which faith is not living, but as a dead carcase without a soul. 5. To shun [b] Censoriousness of one another, and all other [c] abuses of the Tongue. 6. To reforme [d] their corrupt worldly lusts, by [e] submitting to God, resisting the Devil, true repentance and brotherly love. 7. To depend upon [f] Divine Providence for their lives and actions. 8. To use [g] Riches aright. 9. To forbear all [h] rash swearing whatsoever, by any kind of thing. 10. To improve [i] their own and others Prayers against all inward and outward afflictions. 11. And diligently to reduce an [k] erring brother from his sinful way.

§. III. Principal parts.

In this General Epistle of James, consider 1. The Preface. 2. The Subject-Matter of the Epistle.

THE PREFACE contains, I. The Inscription, denoting 1. The Person writing, viz. James a servant of God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ. 2. The Parties written to, viz. The twelve Tribes which are scattered abroad. II. The Salutation, Greeting, Ch. I. ver. 1.

THE SUBJECT-MATTER of the Epistle, is chiefly Hortatory (here and there some few Doctrinals being inserted). James Exhorts the twelve Tribes dispersed,

I. To a right apprehension and judgment of temptations, 1 Outward. 2. Inward.

I. Outward Temptations or Tryals of the Cross, he Exhorts them to Account all matter only of rejoycing, Count it all joy, &c. ver. 2. This he urgeth by divers Arguments, viz. I Because, These afflictions are Tryals of Faith, ver. 3. II. Because, These Tryals work Patience, ver. 3. Which Patience should have its perfect work in them and upon them, 1. In the Integrity and Sincerity of it, that ye may be perfect and entire. 2. In the constancy of it to the end. wanting nothing, (Gr. Deficient in none, i. e. in no Temptation Patience failing.) v. 4. III. Because, Thus to account of Temptations is a point of Divine Wisedome; which wisedome they that lack are Directed to seek it by Prayer. Here he shewes, 1. Of whom they are to ask it, viz. of God; This is urged, (1) From the Nature of God; He gives liberally to all that ask aright. He upbraids not for often asking; yea, the oftner we come to him, the better-well-come. (2) From the Promise of granting it, And it shall be given him. ver. 5. 2. How they are to ask, viz. in Faith, nothing wavering, because a wavering man (1) Is uncomposed, and unquiet in himself, like a wave of the sea, tossed of the wind, ver. 6. (2) Obtaines nothing in Prayer of the Lord, ver. 7. (3) Is double minded, and unstable in all his wayes, ver. 8. IV. Because, the brother of low degree in temporals, yet is exalted in spiritualls, and therefore should rejoyce, ver. 9. This is illustrated by an opposite exhortation to the Rich and great ones of the world, that they rejoyce not in their wealth or outward prosperity, but rather in their low and humbled frame of Spirit, denying these things, being prepared for the Crosse. This is urged from the vanishing instability of wealth and all worldly glory, like the flower of Grasse withering at the Suns burning heat, ver. 10, 11. V. Because, right enduring of Temptation renders a man blessed, in that after his Crosse he shall receive the Crown of life promised, ver. 12.

II. Inward Temptations, or Sollicitations unto sin, he Exhorts them not to ascribe them to God. And this he presseth, 1. From the Nature of God altogether incapable hereof; 1. Passively, he cannot be tempted with evil. 2. Actively, he tempteth no man to sin, ver. 13. II. From the true inward immediate efficient cause of these Temptations, viz. A mans own lust, or Original Concupiscence; The [m] gradual Motions of which concupiscence unto sin, are 1. The Sollicitation of concupiscence (1) Drawing a man away from Good. (2) Enticing him unto Evil, v. 14. 2. The Conception of lust, by the consent of the Will. 3. The Birth, or bringing forth of sin conceived, viz. bring-bringing sin into Act. 4. The finishing of sin by the [a] habitual course in it. Sin when it is finished. 5. The Production of Death, as the due wages of all, ver. 15. III. From the inconsistency of this solliciting unto sin, with God and his wayes, (and they erre that think otherwise of him, v. 16.) For, 1. Generally, He is the Author of every good and perfect gift, yea he is immutably the Authour of good, and therefore cannot be the cause of evil, v. 17. 2. Particularly and Specially, He is the Author of that singular Benefit of our Regeneration, which Regeneration is described by (1) The Impulsive cause, of his own will begat he us. (2) The Instrumental cause, with the word of Truth. (3) The final cause, That we should be a kinde of first fruits of his Creatures. Hence he inferreth, That they should so hear and do this word as becomes those persons that are regenerated by it, v. 19, &c.

II. To a right use of the word, as becomes them that are regenerated by it, v. 19, &c. Here he exhorts them, 1. To a ready Disposition and forwardness unto Hearing, let every man be swift to hear. And in order thereunto, 1. To be slow to speak against what we hear. 2. To be slow to wrath, viz. in respect of the convictions, corrections, or reproofs, &c. of the word heard, because such wrath works not what is just in Gods sight, v. 19, 20. II. To a due receiving or Entertaining of the Word heard. Here 1. He Directs them how to receive the Word, viz. (1) Penitently, laying apart all filthiness, and superfluity of naughtiness, opposite to the Word. (2) Meekly. (3) Believingly, having the Word ingraffed, viz. by Faith in our hearts. 2. He urges them hereunto, from the Excellency of the Word, able to save their soules, ver. 21. III. To a real practice of the Word thus heard, and received. Because, 1. Meere Hearers, and not doers, deceive their own selves, ver. 22. Which is Elegantly illustrated by a similitude of a man, That beholding his face in a Glass, presently forgets what manner of man he was: so he that hears only speculatively, not practically, ver. 23, 24. 2. True doers of the Word contrariwise, (1) More o intentively and accurately look into the intrinsecal nature of the Word; called the perfect Law of liberty, because by regenerating us, it brings us into the perfect liberty of the sons of God. (2) Continue constantly in that Divine knowledge by the Word, and are not like Hypocrites for a flash. (3) Become blessed in their Deed, ver. 25. This right doing of the Word is Described, Negatively, It is not in greatest shows of Religion, accompanied with an unbridled tongue, rendring all vain, ver. 26. Affirmatively, pure and undefiled Religion indeed externally declares it self, Partly, in Charity to the afflicted fatherless and widows. Partly, in self-preservation from the spots of the world, ver. 27.

III. To avoid respect of Persons, for their outward different conditions. This Exhortation is 1. Propounded, Ch. II. ver. 1. II. Explained and Exemplified in a supposed case of a rich man Honoured, and a poor man Neglected in their Assemblies, ver. 2, 3. III. Urged upon divers grounds, viz. because 1. Thus to respect persons, argues them of partiality, and perverse judging, ver. 4. 2. Poor Saints are not to be despised for their poverty, being (1) Elected. (2) Rich in Faith. (3) Heirs of the Kingdom promised, ver. 5, 6. 3. They have no such cause to honour and prefer Rich men; In that (1) They oppress them. (2) They draw them before the Judgement-seats. (3) They blaspheme Christs Name whereby they are called, ver. 6, 7. 4. Hereby they are convinced not to be fulfillers, but transgressors of the Law of brotherly love, ver. 8, 9. Yea, though in all other points they keep the Law, yet failing in this one point, they break the whole Law, in as much as they offend against the Authority of one and the same Law-giver, ver. 10, 11. IV. Concluded. He concludes this Exhortation, cautioning them so to speak and do without respect of Persons, as those that are to be judged by the Law of liberty, the Gospel. For 1. Unmerciful men to their brethren, shall have judgement without mercy. 2. Merciful men on the contrary shall glory against fear of judgement, and Mercy rejoyceth, or glorieth against judgment, ver 13.

IV. To joyne unto Faith, its proper Fruits, good Works; without which Faith is but false and dead, and not that Faith that saveth, or is profitable to salvation, ver. 14, &c. This he proveth, 1. By Parity of Reason, thus; As professions of love, without performances, are wholly unprofitable: so is Faith without works unprofitable and dead, ver. 14. to 18. II. By the Impossibility of Demonstrating and Evidencing truth of Faith without works, laid down Dialogue-wise, ver. 18. III. By the example of the Devils, who have Faith without works, (for they believe that there is one God, and thereupon tremble) yet for all this shall not be saved: nor shall men that have only Faith, like that of Devils, ver. 19. IV. By the examples of persons justified of old, not by a dead workless, fruitless faith, but by a faith bringing forth good works (which works justified their Faith before men, as their faith justified their persons before God.) Here two examples are produced, viz. 1. Of Abraham by Faith offering up Isaac, ver. 20 to 25, 2. Of Rahab, by Faith receiving the Spies, and sending them away in peace, ver. 25. From all this he concludes, As the body without the spirit, so Faith without works is dead, ver. 26.

V. To avoid the sinful abuse of the Tongue and the occasions thereof. Here 1. The abuse of the Tongue is dehorted. 2. Remedies against the abuse of the Tongue are Prescribed.

1. The Abuse of the Tongue, is Dehorted, 1. More Particularly. 2. More Generally.

1. More Particularly, That they do not rashly, masterly and superciliously censure one another, My brethren be not many Masters. This he urgeth 1. From the peril of such Censures; They bring greater judgment, heavier Censures from God and man, Ch. III. ver. 1. From all mens common frailty and infirmity, In many things we offend all, therefore all should rather watch over themselves, then Censure others, ver. 2.

2. More

CHAP. III.

2. More Generally the abuse of the Tongue is Dehorted, and contrariwise the right use is exhorted to, upon divers considerations. I. The inoffensive use of the Tongue is an excellent point of perfection. This he proveth, because they that can bridle the Tongue, can bridle the whole body, ver. 2. For clearing of this, He propounds two similitudes, and applies them. 1. He propounds two pregnant Similitudes, viz. (1) Of a little bit in an Horses mouth, whereby we turn what way we list the horses whole body, v. 3. (2) Of a very small Helme, whereby the Governour turns about the greatest ship though driven of fierce winds whithersoever he listeth, v. 4. 2. He applies these similitudes to the present case of the Tongue, Even so the Tongue, though but a little member, boasteth great things, viz. p Effecteth great things; therefore he that can Rule his little Tongue, can Rule the whole body, v. 5. II. The sinful abuse of the Tongue is most grievous and intolerable. This is Evidenced, 1 By the mischievousness of an evil Tongue, set on fire of Hell: (1) It is as a fire; now a little fire kindleth a great Wood. (2) It is a World of iniquity. (3) It hath such influence among the Members, that it defileth the whole body. (4) And it sets on fire the course of Nature, Gr. q The wheel of Generation, i.e. The whole course and revolution of our life from morning to evening, from year to year, from youth to Manhood, from Manhood to old age, &c. ver. 5. 6. 2. By the untameableness of an evil Tongue, which untameableness is 1 Aggravated, as far worse then that of all kinds of Beasts, Birds, Serpents and things in the Sea: all which have been tamed by man, but the tongue can no man tame, ver. 7, 8. 2 Evidenced, Partly because the tongue is unruly evil. Partly because its full of deadly poyson, ver. 8. 3. By the monstrousness of an evil tongue; the same tongue blessing God, and cursing men which are made after Gods similitude, which ought not to be, ver. 9, 10. That herein the tongue is monstrous and unnatural, he shows in three similitudes, viz. (1) Of a Fountain that at the same place sends not forth sweet and bitter, salt and fresh water. (2) Of a Fig-tree, that bears not both Figs and Olive-berries. (3) Of a Vine, that bears not both Grapes and Figs, v 11, 12.

p So also Jo. Calvin. D. Pareus. Jo. Piscator. Jo. Diodate, expound this place.

q ὁ τροχὸς τῆς γενέσεως. Vid. Joan. Cal. Com. in loc.

II. The Remedies against both the former abuses of the Tongue are Prescribed and Urged. I. Prescribed, viz. 1. Meekness of wisedome expressed in their whole Conversation: an opinionative wisdome being one great cause of the former distempers of the Tongue, v. 13. 2. Avoiding of bitter envying, and contentiousness in their hearts, whereby the tongues censoriousness and other abuses are bred and nourished, v. 14, &c. II Urged by divers arguments. 1. Because, They that are envious and contentious in glorying in their Christianity, lye against the Truth, ver. 14. 2. Because Envious and Contentious wisdom is not from God, but Earthly, Sensual, Devillish, v. 15. This he proves; Partly, by the Devillish effects of Envie and Strife, viz. (1) Confusion. (2) Every evil work, v. 16. Partly, by the contrary Divine Properties and fruits of that wisedome which is from God. which is (1) Pure. (2) Peaceable. [3] Gentle and easie to be intreated. [4] Full of mercy and good fruits. [5] Without partiality. And [6] Without Hypocrisie, v. 17. 3. Because the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by them that make peace, v. 18.

VI. To reform their corrupt worldly lusts, and the pernicious fruits thereof. To this end, 1. He dissuades them from their carnal lusts. 2. He Prescribes Remedies against them.

CHAP. IV.

I. He dissuades them from their corrupt worldly lusts warring in their Members, especially inordinate love of the world. 1. Because these lusts are Original causes of warres and brawlings among them, Ch IV. v. 1. 2. Because these lusts, and the fightings thence arising, are insatiable, meerly vain and unprofitable to them, v. 2. 3. Because these lusts hinder the obtaining of our Prayers, v. 3. 4. Because these spiritual adulterous lusts are inconsistent with the love of God, and make men his enemies, as the Scripture saith, and not in vain, (for that phrase Doe ye think that the Scripture saith it in vain? is to be referred to that which goes before, not to that which follows, as Calvin hath well observed, because neither that passage that follows, nor other equivalent to it, is found in Scripture,) v. 4, 5. 5. Because these lusts are unsuitable to the holy Spirits inhabiting in us. Doth the spirit that dwelleth in us lust to envy? as if he should say; No, its impossible. This also he proves from the contrary Operation of the Spirit, He gives more Grace, &c. He is liberal in his gracious Dispensations, and that's quite repugnant to the Nature of Envy, (this interpretation of all other I meet with, seems most clear, facile and genuine,) v 5, 6.

r Jo. Calv. Com. in Ep. Iac. c. 4. ver. 4, 5, 6.

II. He prescribes divers remedies against these corrupt lusts. As, I. Humble Submission of themselves to God, as an Antidote against their pride. II Resisting of the Devil, Tempting to these evils. This is urged, by a Promise of his flight thereupon, v. 7. III. True Repentance laid down in divers expressions: As in 1. Drawing nigh to God. To which is promised Gods drawing nigh to them. 2. Cleansing and purifying themselves, Outwardly, and Inwardly, v. 8. 3. Penitential Mourning and godly Sorrow, v. 9. 4. Humbling themselves in the sight of the Lord. Whereunto is promised, The Lords lifting them up, v. 10 IV. Brotherly love, to be evidenced, In not speaking evil of one another. They are not to speak evil of their Brethren 1. Because, that were to traduce and judge the Law, not to do the Law, ver. 11. 2. Because, that were to invade the Prerogative of God, That One Lawgiverable to save and destroy, ver. 12.

VII. To undertake Humane or worldly Actions, as of Commerce, &c. Not with vain peremptory Carnall Confidence, but with dependance upon Gods Providence, ver. 13. 1. Because, By reason of the frailty of their Life, which is as a Vanishing Vapour, they cannot know what shall be on the Morrow, ver. 14. 2. Because, they ought to submit their Lives and Actions to the LORDS Will, ver. 15. 3. Because its evill to rejoyce in these carnal boastings, ver. 16. 4. Because, herein they sinne against Knowledge, which aggravates their offence, ver. 17.

CHAP. V.

VIII. To use Riches aright, This Exhortation is implyed in his Threatning of rich men for the abuse of their Riches. Here 1. The threatning is propounded, wherein 1. Their miseries coming upon them are intimated. 2. They are summon'd to weep and howle for these miseries, Ch. V. v. 1. II. The Cause of this threatning is expounded, viz. Their sinful abuse of their Riches, divers ways, As 1. By their Covetous hoarding: which is [1] Aggravated, In that rather then they will imploy their wealth to good uses, they keep up their hoard, till their Riches be corrupted, Their Garments Moath-eaten, Their Gold and Silver Cankered. [2] Threatned; That the rust of their wealth shall be a witnesse against them. That it shall eat their flesh as fire. That they have treasured up for the last days, v. 2, 3. 2. By their oppression, in fraudulent delaying the hire of the labourers which have reaped down their fields. This sin is aggravated (1) In that its declared to be a r Crying Sin. (2) In that the Lord of Hosts hath already heard this cry, ver. 4. 3. By their voluptuous Epicurisme and sensual luxury, ver. 5. 4. By their Cruelty in condemning and killing the just, he not resisting them, v. 6. These righteous so cruelly persecuted by graceless rich men, he Exhorteth to Patience under their sufferings, till the Lords coming, v. 7 And this he presseth, (1) From the example of the Husbandmans long patience for the fruit of the earth, ver. 7, 8. (2) From the hastning of the Lords coming, who will avenge their wrongs, ver. 8. (3) From the peril of vindictive impatient Grudging, or Groaning against their oppressors, whereby they shall expose themselves to be condemned. This is Amplyfied, by the Celerity of the Judges approach, behold the Judge standeth before the door, ver. 9. (4) From the Example of the Prophets Patience under afflictions, ver. 10. (5) From the happiness of them that endure. (6) From the Exemplary Patience of Job, and the sweet end which the most pitiful and compassionate Lord afforded him, ver. 11.

r If rich mens keeping back the hire of harvest-labourers be a Crying Sin: much more their witholding the Hire of the Ministers, who labour in the Spiritual Harvest of the Gospel, is a Loud Crying Sin. The Sin of England at this Day. Divines mention four sorts of Crying Sins, viz. 1. Wilful and deliberate Murder, Gen. 4. 10. 2. That unnatural Sin of Sodomy, Gen. 18. 20, 21. and 19. 5. &c. 3. Cruel Oppression, Exod. 3. 7, 8. 4. Defrauding Labourers of their wages, James 5. 4. All these they comprehend in this Distich——.

Vox (3) Oppressorum; (4) Merces detenta laborum. Vide Jacob. Laurent. Com. in Ep. Jacob. 5. 4.

IX. To avoid rash swearing. Here note 1. The importance and vehemency of the prohibition, But above all things swear not. So hainous a sin it is to prophane Gods Name. 2. The Extent of the Prohibition, reaching to all manner of rash swearing. 3. The Prescription of veracity of speech without swearing. 4. The peril of condemnation to offenders, ver. 12.

[Vid. Aug. de verb. Apost. Serm. 28. Tom. 10.

X. To use their own and others Prayers as an especial Antidote against afflictions I. Their own Prayer, in soule-Affliction, which is Amplyfied by a Direction, To Sing Psalmes in mirth, ver. 13. II. The Prayers of the Elders of the Church in case of bodily sickness. Here 1. The Elders are directed how to deal with the sick, viz. (1) They must pray over them, (2) Annoint them with oyle, as a signe of healing in the Name of the Lord. (This anointing belonged onely to them in the Primitive times, that had the miraculous gift of healing.) ver. 14. 2. Promises are made to such Prayer, viz. (1) Recovery of the sick. (2) Remission of his sins, ver. 15. III. The mutual Prayers of Christians confessing their faults one to another. To the use whereof in distress they are encouraged, 1. From the singular Prevalency of the effectual fervent Prayer of a righteous man, ver. 16. 2. From the example of Elijah, subject to like passions as we are, who shut and opened Heaven by his Prayers. So that Elijah's Prayer was the Key of the Clouds, the Key of Heaven, ver. 17, 18.

XI. To reduce and Convert an Erring Brother if possible. This is urged from the double benefit thereupon ensuing. 1. Saving a Soule from death. 2. Covering a multitude of sins, ver. 19, 20.

I. Peter.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe first Catholique Epistle of PETER the Apostle.] So called, partly in reference to the dispersed Jews to whom generally this Epistle is directed, (as was forenoted); partly in respect of [a] Peter the Apostle Penman of it,

PETER [Πέτρος] a Greek name. Not the proper name, but rather the [b] Surname of this Apostle. His proper name was [c] Simon; an Hebrew name, שִׁמְעוֹן i.e. An Heater; From שָׁמַע To Hear. Christ surnamed him Peter; But when he so surnamed him is doubted; whether when [d] Andrew first brought him to Christ, or when Christ called him and his brother from their Fishing, saying [e] follow me. Or when he was appointed an [f] Apostle with the eleven. Or finally when he made that excellent [g] Confession of Christ, that he was the Son of the living God. Answ. This doubt we may thus resolve; This surname of Peter was Promised, Imposed, Confirmed to him by Christ. 1. Promised to him by Christ, when he was [h] first called to be Christs Disciple, 2. Imposed or given to him by Christ, when he called him to the [i] Apostleship, &c. 3. Confirmed to him by Christ also, upon Peters firm and excellent Confession of Christ, saying, [k] Thou art Peter; as if he had said, By this Confession thou showest thy self to be a Peter indeed, as at first I promised thee to be, and after denominated thee; because thou hast confessed me to be the true Rock, against which all the Gates of Hell shall not prevaile &c. For Peter in Greek, is the same with [l] Kephas or Kipha, in Syriack, both signifie a Stone. Christ gave him this name by Anticipation, in reference to that firm and solid Confession of Faith touching Christ, which Peter should, yea did make; and on which Faith confessed, as on [m] a Rock, Christ did Promise to build his Church, &c. Which was fulfilled, Peter preaching the [n] first Sermon, whereby both Jews and Gentiles were converted to Christ, and the first foundation of the Christian Church, after Christ, was laid. Which was the Priviledge conferred by Christ upon Peter, peculiarly above all the Apostles.

Peter was the [o] son of Jona, and [p] brother of Andrew; by trade they were [q] Fishers in the sea of Galilee; whence Christ called them to be Fishers of men.

By Country a [r] Galilæan; probably a Citizen of Capernaum; for there was [s] his house, and there he paid [t] Tribute. By Relation a married man, as is testified both by [u] Scriptures, and [x] Ecclesiastical Writers. It is likely he, as well as Andrew his brother was an [y] Hearer of John Baptist, who shewed to Andrew the true Messiah, whereupon Andrew brought Peter also unto Christ. After this [z] Christ called both Andrew and Peter, who followed him as his Disciples. After this Peter was made one of the [a] twelve Apostles, and he still named the first in order; and with the rest he received power of preaching and working miracles. He beheld Christs glorious [b] transfiguration on the Mount. He caught the [c] fish, in whose mouth was the peice of money which he paid as Tribute for Christ and himself. He made that faithful [d] Confession of Christ. He accompanied Christ in his [e] Agony, wherein his soul was sorrowful to the death, and his body sweat drops of blood falling down to the ground. He followed Christ after his apprehension, into the [f] High Priests Palace, to see the end, where he of a self-confident Presumer, became a cowardly denyer of Christ; but afterwards penitently lamented his fall with bitter tears. He at the womans report of Christs Resurrection, [g] ran to his Sepulchre and entred in, &c. He at the [h] sea of Tiberius, did cast himself into the sea to swim to Jesus, appearing on the shore; where Jesus charged him thrice to feed his sheep and lambs, and foretels him with what manner of of death he should glorifie God. He visibly beheld [i] Christ ascending into heaven. Among others received the [k] gifts of the Holy Ghost at Pentecost, and then preached so effectually that three thousand souls were converted at that Sermon. This was a glorious draught of spirituall fishes indeed. He was very laborious and successefull in his Ministry, and seems to have preached the Gospel at [l] Samaria, [m] Lydda, Ioppa, Cæsarea, and most places of Palestine; At [n] Antioch, In [o] Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, writing his Two Epistles to the dispersed therein. In Babylon, [p] and (as Nicephorus thinks,) in [q] Alexandria, where afterwards he ordained Mark. He was by a [r] vision of a great sheet; &c. instructed touching the Calling and Conversion of the Gentiles. He was a member of that famous [s] Synod at Hierusalem where he showed that the Mosaicall Ceremonies were abolished by Christ, and that they were not to be imposed upon the Gentiles, and that all both Jews and Gentiles beleeving, were accepted and justified. He foretold future events, especially touching [t] Antichrist, and the [u] Day of Judgement. He had the miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghost, and especially after Christs Resurrection wrought many Miracles; [x] Spake with Tongues; [y] Healed the lame man, at the beautifull gate of the Temple, with his word. Makes [z] Ananias and Sapphira fall down dead at his word, [a] Gives the Holy Ghost to the beleevers at Samaria, by Imposition of hands. [b] Recovers Æneas that had been sick of the Palsie eight years, Raiseth [c] Tabytha from death to life. And at his preaching the word to Cornelius, [d] the Holy Ghost fell upon all them that heard it. He suffered many things for Christ and his Gospel; was [e] Threatned by the Councel for preaching Christ, was [f] Beaten by the Councel, and rejoyced that he was counted worthy to suffer shame for his name; Was [g] imprisoned by Herod (after he had murdered Iames, who intended to kill him also, but an Angel brought him out of Prison, the night before his intended execution, at the Churches instant Prayers. And at last as [h] Hierome and [i] Hegesippus report, He was crucified with his heels upwards and his head downwards, (as himselfe desired,) because he was unworthy to be crucified in the same manner, as was the Sonne of God, his Lord.

Finally, it is worthy observation that as Peter had his Notable Eminencies, so he was not without his remarkable infirmities. I. Peter had his notable Eminencies, As 1. He had singular [k] Courage, [l] Zeale, and [m] boldnesse for expressing himselfe. Hereupon counted one of the three [n] Pillars of the Primitive Church. 2. He made that admirable [o] Confession of Christ. 3. He was [p] one of the three which Christ took up into the Mount to see his glorious Transfiguration. 4. He was [q] one of the three which Christ took out from his Apostles to accompany him in his bitter Agony. 5. Christ after his Resurrection, eminently restored him to the exercise of his Pastoral office, by [r] his threefold Profession of his sincere love to Christ, after his threefold denyall of Christ. II. Peter had also his remarkable infirmities. 1. Inconsiderately [s] cut off Malchus his eare. 2. Self-confidently [t] presumed against denying Christ, 3. Shamefully [u] denyed Christ thrice, and every time worse then other. 4. And [x] walked not with a right foot in the beginning of his Ministry, drawing the Gentiles to Judaize among the Jews, &c.

§. II. To Whom, Whence, and When this Epistle was written.

1. That Peter wrote this Epistle to the beleeving Jews or Hebrews dispersed, in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, and not unto the believing Gentiles in these parts, may appeare upon these considerations, 1. There were at that feast of Pentecost, waiting at Jerusalem [y] Jewes, devout men out of every nation under heaven, dwellers in Cappadocia, Pontus, and Asia, &c. Therefore the Jews were dispersed in those parts. 2. Peter, by agreement among the Apostles, had [z] the Ministry of the Circumcision, commited to him peculiarly; therfore its more likely he wrote to Jews then to Gentiles. 3. These to whom Peter writes, are here called [a] Strangers scattered (παρεπιδημοις) which word signifies strangers properly from another country; such were the Jews who through persecution in Judea, fled into forrain nations, whereas beleeving Gentiles were called rather [b] Proſelytes. 4. They are ſaid here [c] to be redeemed from their vain Converſation, received by Tradition from their fathers; wherein he ſeems plainly to have reſpect to the Traditions of the Jewiſh Rabines, and Elders. 5. Theſe to whom Peter writes are ſtiled [d] A choſen generation, A Royal Prieſthood, An Holy Nation, A Peculiar People: which are the Praiſes of the [e] Jewiſh People. So that Peter wrote to thoſe diſperſed Hebrews, afflicted in their diſperſion, to whom James wrote after him, and Paul his Epiſtle to thoſe Hebrews, after both.

2. Its more then probable that Peter wrote this Epiſtle by [f] Sylvanus, to the Jews of the diſperſion while he was now at Babylon. But what Babylon this was, is doubted; becauſe there were divers Babylons. 1. There was a [g] Babylon in Chaldea, 2. A Babylon in [h] Egypt, 3. And in reſemblance hereunto the [i] myſticall Babylon, viz. Rome. Now [k] Papiſts themſelves upon this place generally contend, that here by Babylon is meant Rome, that thereby they may prove Peter was at Rome. But they forget how herein they confeſſe Rome to be that wicked [l] Babylon, Mother of Harlots, deſtined to deſtruction. Luther leaves every man to abound in his own ſenſe, which Babylon it was. [m] D. Pareus and Diodate [n] think, that Babylon in Chaldea is to be here underſtood, where Peter the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion preached to the Jews: and that no one reaſon can be given, why Peter ſhould conceal the name of Rome, had he intended Rome.

3. When this Epiſtle ſhould be written, Peter himſelf ſomewhat inſinuates by that phraſe, [o] If any man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, which intimates that this Epiſtle was written after Antioch had received the Faith, for there the Diſciples were firſt called [p] Chriſtians, which was about the ſame time that [q] James was crowned with Martyrdome. And [r] Pareus is of opinion that Pauls Epiſtle to the Hebrews, the Epiſtle of James and Peter, were all written to the ſame Believing Hebrews diſperſed; but that Peters Epiſtle was written firſt, James his Epiſtle ſecond; But Pauls Epiſtle to the Hebrews, laſt of all.

§ III. Occaſion.

The [s] ſtrangers that came up to Jeruſalem at Penteceſt, were many of them converted by Peters Sermon, and ſo baptized. To whom therefore Peter here writes, as to [t] New-born babes, weak, and as yet unſetled in the faith; and upon their return into their own Countrys, much exercile for Chriſts ſake, with [u] afflictions and croſſes, as the current of the Epiſtle manifeſts.

§. IV. Scope.

That therefore the Apoſtle at a ſpirituall father, might confirme theſe his children in faith, againſt all trouble and perſecution, he writes to them all this Epiſtle; Therein I. Aſſuring them, and [x] teſtifying to them, that the Faith or Doctrine of grace, wherein they ſtood, was the true grece of God. [y] Foraſmuch as They were 1. Begotten again, [z] to a lively hope of the heavenly inheritance. 2. Preſerved [a] unto this ſalvation. 3. Rejoycing in [b] hope thereof, notwithſtanding all their preſent preſſures. 4. Believing in [c] Chriſt, and loving him though corporally unſeen. 5. And Partakers of the myſtery of [d] ſalvation through Chriſt, by the Preaching of the Goſpel to them. II. [d] Exhorting them, conſequently; 1. More generally to common Chriſtian duties, viz. (1) To conſtant [e] hope of ſalvation. (2) To an [f] holy life in order thereunto. (3) To [g] brotherly love. (4) To improve the [h] word for further growth, as becoms regenerate Perſons. (5) To be [i] built up more and more in Chriſt, the chief Corner-ſtone. (6) And to [k] converſe with the Gentiles as becomes Chriſtianity. 2. More ſpecially to the particular duties of ſeveral Relations and Conditions, viz. (1) Of [l] ſubjects to Magiſtrates. (2) Of [m] ſervants to their Maſters. (3) Of [n] Husbands and Wives. (4) Of [o] Chriſtian-Brethren to one another. (5) Of [p] afflicted ones in reſpect

§. V. Principal Parts, or Analytical Explication.

In this I. General Epistle of Peter, are chiefly considerable 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance of the Epistle. 3. The Conclusion.

THE PREFACE to the Epistle, contains 1 The Inscription. 2 The Salutation. 3 The Gratulation, or Gratulatory Introduction.

I.

CHAP. I.

1. In The Inscription note I. The person writing, described 1. By his Surname, Peter. 2. By his Office, An Apostle of Jesus Christ, Ch. I. ver. 1. II. The Parties written to, the Christian Jews of the Dispersion; who are here Described, 1. By their present Outward Temporal Condition in the world; being Strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, &c. 2. By their present Inward Spiritual state to God; being Elect. Of this their Election he declares, (1) The Cause or Fountain, Gods own Purpose, According to the foreknowledge of God the Father. (2) The effect, discovering their Election through Sanctification of the Spirit. Which Sanctification is Amplified by the ends thereof, viz. Partly, The obedience of Faith; unto obedience. Partly, the t Actual Application of Christs blood by Faith for purging of sin, And sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ, ver. 1, 2.

t Joan. Calv. Com. in 1 Pet. 1. 2.

2. In the Salutation, he wisheth the multiplying of Grace and Peace to them, ver 2.

3. In the Gratulatory Introduction, he blessed God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, for his Spiritual Benefits unto them; viz. I. Their Regeneration to a lively hope of the Heavenly Inheritance. Here note, 1. The moving Cause of this Regeneration; Gods much mercy. 2. The Meritorious Cause of their Regeneration to this Hope of life; by the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, v. 3. 3. The Excellency of the inheritance whereunto they are begotten; it being, (1) Incorruptible. (2) Undefiled. (3) Immarcessible, or unwithering. (4) Reserved in Heaven for them, ver. 4. II. Their u Preservation-as-in-Garison unto this salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time. The causes of which Preservation are 1. Principal, The power of God. 2. Instrumental, Faith, ver. 5. III. Their exulting-joy in their hoped for Salvation, notwithstanding their present sadness by reason of manifold Temptations of affliction. Their afflictions he lenifies, and comforts them under them, in that 1. They are but for a season. 2. They are necessary (if need be.) 3. They are Gainful, Tryals of Faith; which Tryal of Faith is Described (1) By the Excellency of it, Being much more precious then of Gold which perisheth. 2. By the end, or issue of it, That it may be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ, ver. 6, 7. IV. Their Faith in Christ though not corporally seen by them; from which Faith, 1. They love Christ, though unseen. 2. They rejoyce in Christ; which joy is Amplified. (1) By the Excellency of it, Ineffable, and Glorious, ver. 8. (2) By the procuring Cause of it, their certain hope of receiving the end of their Faith, their Souls Salvation, ver. 9 V. The full Manifestation of the Mystery of Salvation by Jesus Christ unto them, by the preaching of the Gospel. This Benefit is Amplified, 1. By the diligent search and enquiry of the Prophets after this Salvation by Christ, and particularly of the time of his Exhibition and suffering in our flesh to accomplish our Salvation, ver. 10, 11. 2. By the Persons to whom this full manifestation of Christ was vouchsafed, viz. Not to the Prophets themselves, but to us. 3. By the Authority of them that published these things in the Gospel to us, viz. The Apostles furnished with the Holy Ghost from Heaven. 4. By the Angels desires to look into these things, ver. 12.

THE SUBSTANCE of the EPISTLE is chiefly Hortatory. Herein upon Consideration of the forementioned Preface, he Exhorts them to divers Christian duties, 1. More General, concerning them as Christians. 2. More Special, appertaining to them as in such or such particular Relations or Conditions.

II.

I. More Generally, he Exhorts them as Christians to the constant Exercise and improvement of the Regenerating and Sanctifying Grace of God conferred upon them. As

1. To constant hope of salvation by Christ. Here are expressed 1. How they are to help on this their hope, viz. (1) Girding up the loynes of their minde. (2) Being sober. 2. What they are to hope for, viz. for the Grace that is to be brought to them at the Revelation of Jesus Christ, ver. 13.

2. To an Holy life in order to the salvation hoped for. Here this Holy Conversation is Described, and urged. I. Described, as Consisting 1. In the Renouncing of their former lusts, in their ignorance. 2. In their conformity to their holy heavenly Father in all manner of Conversation. II. Urged by divers Arguments. 1. Hereby they shall testifie themselves to be Gods obedient children, ver. 14. 2. God that called them is holy: therefore so should they be holy, as Scripture chargeth them, ver. 15, 16. 3. The Father whom they call upon, will judge according to every mans work without respect of persons. 4. Their time in this world is but a Time of their Sojourning, and therefore to be passed in fear, ver. 17. 5. They are redeemed from their vain conversation, not with corruptibles, as silver and Gold, but with the precious blood of Jesus Christ, as of a Lamb without blemish and spot, ver. 18, 19. This Redeemer is further set forth, As, [1] Fore-ordained of God before the foundation of the world. [2] Manifested in these last times for them, believing and hoping in God through Christ Raised from the Dead, and glorified, ver. 20, 21.

3. To unfeigned brotherly love. Here, I. He Directs them how to love one another, viz. 1 With a pure heart. 2 Fervently. II. He incites them thus to love one another. 1. From their Obedience to the Gospel-Truth; described (1) By the cause of this their obedience, viz. the Spirit. (2) By the effect of their Obedience, purifying their soules thereby, ver 22. 2. From their Regeneration whereby they are become spirituall brethren, enabled to love one another. This their Regeneration he Amplifies, By the Instrument all mean, or spirituall seed regenerating them; Negatively, not of Corruptible seed. Affirmatively, but of the incorruptible Word of God. Here (1) He proves that the Word of the Lord is uncorruptible because it abides for ever, when all flesh, and all the Glory of man withereth, and fadeth, as the Scripture testifieth, ver. 23, 24, 25. (2) He declares what this Word of the Lord is, viz. The Gospel preached to them, ver. 25.

4. To improve the word to growth, as becomes them that are Regenerated by the word. (This is inferred from the Regeneration fore-mentioned;) I. In laying aside all corruptions contrary to the efficacy of the Word; As 1. All malice. 2. All Guile. 3. All Hypocrisies. 4. All Envies. 5. All Evil-Speakings, Ch. II. ver 1. II. In earnest desires after the word. Here note 1. How they are to desire the word, As new born babes. 2. What they are to desire in it, The sincere milk of the Word. 3. To what end, That they may grow thereby. 4. Upon what ground, viz. seeing therein they have experimentally tasted the Lords graciousnesse, v. 2. 3.

CHAP. II.

5. To spiritual Edification more and more upon Christ the chief corner stone. Here I. The Duty exhorted to, is Propounded; yee also as lively stones (x) be yee built up a spirituall house, An holy Priesthood, to offer up spirituall Sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ. Wherein consider 1. The Materials of this building, the Regenerate; yee as lively stones. 2. The Structure or Fabrick to be built with these Materials, viz. (1) A Spiritual House, not a material Temple. (2) An Holy Priesthood, to Ministers in this spiritual House. 3. The end of this spirituall Edification, To offer up spirituall Sacrifices; which Sacrifices are commended, as Acceptable to God in Christ. II. The Arguments, whereby this duty is prested, are Annexed. They are thus to be built on Christ. 1. Because, they are already come to Christ as to a living stone, &c. by Faith: therefore they should be further built up in him. 2. Because, Christ is in himself the most excellent Foundation to be built upon; being (1) A living stone. (2) Chosen of God, though disallowed of men. (3) Precious, or honourable, ver. 4, 5. These three excellencies of Christ the chief Corner-stone, are proved by Testimonies of Scripture, ver. 6. 3. Because, to be built upon Christ by Faith is very advantageous. For, (1) They that beleeve on him shall not be confounded, ver. 6. (2) Consequently, to them that beleeve Christ is precious, or an honour, ver. 7. 4 Because, contrariwise to the disobedient, that beleeve not to be built upon him, Christ is a stone of stumbling, and a Rock of offence. Which he evidenceth (1) By the Testimonies of Scripture, foretelling this judgment as such. (2) By the nature of their sin deserving this judgment. They disallow Christ, They stumble at the Word, They are disobedient. (3) By the Decree of God appointing them hereunto, ver. 7, 8. 5. Because these believing Jews of the dispersion, (contrary to the other incredulous disobedient Jews) were dignified by God in Christ with many singular honours and priviledges, for this end, that they might shew forth his vertues that called them, and so offer up spiritual Sacrifices; in that they were, (1) A chosen Generation. (2) A Royal Priesthood. (3) An holy Nation. (4) A peculiar people. (5) Called out of darkness into his marvellous light. (6) Were not a people in times past, but now are the people of God. (7) Which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy, ver. 9, 10.

(x) ὑμεῖς δὲ] verbum hoc, tam Indicativi, quam Imperativi modi esse potest. Nam apud Græcos, quoque ambigua est terminatio. Io. Calv. Com. in 1 Pet. 2. 5.

6. To Converse Christianly among the Gentiles. I. Partly in abstaining from fleshly lusts; 1. Because, they are in this world but as Strangers and Pilgrims. 2. Because, these lusts warre against the soul, ver. 11. II. Partly in having their conversation honest among the Gentiles; 1. That they may have no occasion to speak against them as evil-doers. 2. That they may by their good works, have cause to glorifie God in the day of visitation, v. 12.

Hitherto of the Apostles Exhortation to Duties more Generally concerning all, as Christians.

II. More Specially he Exhorts them to certain duties appertaining to them in respect of their particular Relations, Callings or Conditions. Shewing

I. How as Subjects they are to behave themselves towards Magistrates, viz. They are to submit themselves to every Ordinance of man. Here I. He distributes Magistrates to be submitted to, into 1. Supream, As the King. 2. Subordinate, As Governours sent by him. II. He urgeth this submission to both upon divers grounds, viz. 1. From Gods Instituting of Magistracy, implied in that phrase, For the Lords sake. 2. From the benefit of Magistracy intended. [1] For the punishment of evil-doers. [2] For the praise of them that do well. ver. 13, 14. 3. From the benefit ensuing upon such submission to Magistrates. For, (1) Thus, they shall do well. (2) Thus, they shall by well-doing, (as is the Will of God) put to silence the ignorance of foolish men, ver. 15. (3) Thus, they shall rightly improve their spiritual freedom, Partly, whilest they use not their liberty for a cloak of maliciousness: Partly, whilest they herein, as the servants of God, fulfil his will, ver. 16. III. He concludes this Exhortation with divers other suitable directions, 1. To honour all men. 2. To love the Brotherhood. 3. To feare God. 4. To honour the King. ver. 17.

II. How as Servants they are to demean themselves towards their Masters, viz. To be subject to their masters with all feare. Here, I. He distributes Masters, (to whom they are thus to yield subjection,) into two sorts, viz. 1. The good and gentle. 2. The froward. ver. 18. II. He urgeth their subjection to both, withal comforting Christian-servants against all injuries of froward persecuting ring Masters, and this upon divers grounds. 1. Because it is thank-worthy and acceptable with God, Patiently to suffer injuries, for conscience towards God; whereas on the contrary, it would be no glory to them to be buffeted for their faults, ver. 19, 20. 2. Because Christians are called to suffering wrongs for well-doing, v. 21. 3. Because Christ hath given us a notable example of patient-suffering for well-doing, when he suffered for us, v. 21. Which example of Christ is notably Amplified: (1) By Christs innocency, no way deserving to suffer in respect of himself, v. 22. (2) By Christs patience under his sufferings, not avenging himself, but committing his cause to him that judgeth righteously, v. 23. (3) By the excellent ends and benefits of Christs suffering; viz. Expiation of our sins, bearing them on his own body on the tree. Sanctification of our hearts and lives, that we being dead unto sin, should live unto righteousness. Both which fruits are illustrated by a double Metaphor, viz. Of diseased Patients, healed by Christs stripes, v. 24, 25. Of stray-sheep brought home to Christ the Shepheard and Bishop of our Souls, ver. 26. All which may oblige them to follow Christs example.

III. How as Wives and Husbands they should carry themselves towards one another. I. Wives should look to the discharge of these Duties, viz. 1. To be in subjection to their own Husbands. That so they may be won to obey that word, which instructs their Wives unto such purity and fear in their Conversations, Ch. III. v. 1, 2. 2. To adorn themselves: Not outwardly in their bodies, with curious or costly Array, v. 3. But inwardly in the hidden man of the heart with a meeke and quiet spirit. For, [1] This is not corruptible. [2] This is in the sight of God of great price, v. 4 [3] This was the Adorning in use and fashion with Holy Women of old, and of Sara in particular. Whose daughters they shall be, Partly whilest they do well, Partly whilest they depend upon the Lord in their well-doing, not being afraid with any amazement through their husbands contrary carriages, ver. 5. 6. II. Husbands should dwell with their wives according to knowledge, giving convenient Honour to them. 1. Because, the wife is the weaker Vessel. 2. Because, she is joynt heyre with her husband of the Grace of life. 3. Because, otherwise their Prayers would be hindred, ver. 7.

IV. How as Brethren they are to maintain and nourish mutual love and dearness to one another, viz. by being 1. Same minded. 2. Sympathizing. 3. Brotherly-loving. 4. Pitiful; that is, To their infirmities, and to their Miseries. 5. Courteous, or (as y Calvin rather thinks) Humble, for the Greek here hath two readings, v. 8.

y Jo. Calvin. Com. in 1 Pet. 3. 8.

V. How as distressed and afflicted ones they should demean themselves towards their Oppressors and Persecutors, viz.

1. To forbear revenge, not rendring evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing. 1 Because, they are called hereunto. 2. Because, hereby they shall inherit a blessing, ver. 9. This he confirms by a testimony of David, Promising life and good dayes to them that eschew evil and do good, and threatning them that do contrary, ver. 10, 11, 12. 3. Because, if thus they follow that which is good, scarce any are so vile as to wrong them, v. 13. 4. Because, though they should suffer for righteousness, yet are they therein happy, v. 14.

2. To Sanctifie the Lord in their hearts, relying on his protection, and not to be afraid of their Persecutors terrour, nor to be troubled, v. 14. 15.

3. To be ready always to give an answer to every one that asketh them a Reason of the hope that is in them. i.e. To be ready to make Confession of their Christian Faith before any, even their adversaries, especially them that are in Authority. This must be done 1. With Meekness. 2. with Fear, ver. 15.

4. To adde to their Christian Confession, a good life, having a good Conscience. And this for many Reasons: 1. Because, hereby they shall shame their adversaries that falsly accuse their good conversation in Christ, ver. 16. 2. Because, if the Lords will be that they must suffer, it is better to suffer for well doing then for ill doing, v. 17. 3. Because Christ himself hath suffered once for our Sins: Therefore they should not think much to be conform to Christ in suffering for well-doing: but should notwithstanding their sufferings have a good Conscience and cease from sin, after Christs example. (This seems evidently to be the intent of the whole context, from v. 18. to ch. 4. v. 3. and well considered, serves much to clear this most intricate place puzling all Interpreters.) Here for farther pressing and clearing of this Argument, Christs Suffering is 1. Amplified. 2. Applied.

I. Christs suffering is Amplified [1] By the innocency and righteousness of Christs Person suffering, the just for the unjust. (2) By the intent or end of his suffering; that he might bring us to God (3) By the happy events or consequents of his suffering; viz. His Resurrection, Ascension unto Heaven, Session at Gods right hand, and the Subjection of all the Angels unto him. 1. His Resurrection. Though he was put to death in the flesh, viz. As man: yet he was quickened, or raised again, by the Spirit, viz. by his Godhead, v. 18. This efficacy of Christs Spirit or Divinity, Quickning Christ, is further Amplified by the notable Quickning Efficacy and Activity thereof towards others, manifested (thinks z Calvin even to the Dead; By which he also went and preached to the spirits in prison, &c. Here note (1) What Christ by his spirit did, viz he went and preached. (2) To whom, viz. To the spirits in prison, disobedient sometimes. (3) When he thus preach'd, viz. When once the long suffering of God waited in the dayes of Noah, while the Ark was a preparing. The benefit of which Ark is, Partly described, wherein few, that is, 8 souls were saved by water, v. 19, 20. Partly illustrated by a like spiritual befit of Baptisme, (not the outward washing of the body, But the inward washing of the soul and Conscience, which thereupon comfortably answers and witnesses for us before God) which now saveth us by vertue of Christs Resurrection, ver. 21. 2. His Ascension into Heaven. 3. His being on Gods right-hand. 4. His having Angels and Authorities and Powers made subject to him, ver. 22.

II. Christs suffering is Applyed; in that from Christs suffering for us, he exhorts them to Arme themselves likewise with the same minde, as suffering with him, and in him; And consequently (1) That they cease from sin, not living any longer the rest of their time in the flesh, to the lusts of men. (2) That they live to the will of God, Ch. IV. ver. 2. Hitherto of his third Reason for their keeping a good Conscience drawn from Christs suffering. 4. Because their present changed State and Time calls them to conscientious walking, it being enough (and farre too much) that they have spent the time past of their life, (while they were carnal,) in Gentilish lusts, divers whereof are mentioned, ver. 3. This their changed condition he Amplifies by the events thereof upon them, whose carnal wayes and lusts these Convert Jewes had renounceds [1] Their strranging or wondring, that as formerly they run not with them to the same excesse of Riot. [2] Their speaking evil of them, therefore, v. 4. Against which evil carriages of their carnal adversaries, he comforts them, Partly, From consideration of Christs future judgement, to whom quick and dead, and so these men must give account, v. 5. which he proves, in that not only Christians now, but also the people of the old world, though dead, were under one and the same Gospel of Christ, which is as the Law or Rule whereby Christ will judge all, v. 6. Partly, from the hastning of the day of judgment, v. 7. 5. Because, The world hasteneth to an end, But the end of all things is at hand, whence he inferreth Exhortations to divers Christian duties of a good life, viz. [1] To Sobriety. [2] To Vigilancy unto Prayer, v. 7. [3] To fervent charity, especially among themselves, Because charity shall cover a multitude of sins, ver. 8. [4] To mutual Hospitality without grudging, v. 9. [5] To mutual communication of their spiritual gifts to one another, according to their respective callings in the Church, As good Stewards of the manifold Grace of God. And he particularly instanceth in two more eminent, viz. Preaching the Word, which their Pastors and Teachers are to handle as the Oracles of God. And Ministration, viz. to the Saints miseries and wants, which Deacons are to discharge, As of the ability which God giveth; That God in all things may be glorified through Christ, to whom he ascribes praise & dominion for ever, v. 10, 11.

5. Not to think strange at the sharpest fiery tryals for Christ and Christianity, as if some strange thing happened to them, but rather to rejoyce therein. 1. Because, These sharp sufferings are for their Tryall, as gold is tryed by the fire, v. 12. 2. Because, hereby they become conform to Christ. (1) Now conform to him in his Crosse, ye are partakers of Christs sufferings. (2) Hereafter in his joy and Crown, when Christs glory shall be revealed, v. 13. 3. Because, in thus suffering for Christ, the Spirit of Glory and of God resteth upon them. Though revyled on the Persecutors part, yet he is Glorified on such sufferers part, ver. 14. 4. Because, to suffer (not as evil doers, but) as Christians, is not matter of shame, but matter of praise to God, ver. 15. 5. Because, This Gospel-Time brings inavoidable chastisements upon the Church; for the time is come that judgement must begin at the house of God v. 16. 6. Because, consequently the calamities of ungodly Persecutors will be at last most woful. This is inferred from the former most Pathetically; (1) By way of Interrogation; If it begin at us, what shall be the end of them that obey not the Gospel? ver. 17. (2) By way of Admiration; If the Righteous scarcely be saved (viz. shall not be freed in this life from judgements, afflictions, &c.) Where shall the ungodly and sinner appear! ver. 18. These Arguments he closeth up with an Encouraging Exhortation to them that suffer according to the will of God, To commit the keeping of their souls to him in well-doing; In asmuch as he is 1. Most willing to preserve them in all their sufferings, being faithful. 2. Most able also, being their Creator, ver. 19.

VI. How the Presbyters or Elders in Office should therein discharge their duty in feeding the flock of God among them. This duty is Described, and Urged. 1. Described, they are to feed the flock, taking the over-sight thereof. 1. Not by constraint, but willingly. 2. Not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde. 3. Neither as Over-ruling, or Lording it over the Heritages. viz. Particular Churches; but being ensamples to the flock. II. Urged by divers Motives; drawn, 1. From the Example of the Apostle Peter himself, exhorting them to this duty; (1) Being a Co-Presbyter also, and a witness of Christs sufferings. (2) Being by hope a partaker of the Glory that shall be revealed. 2. From the Nature of the Church to be thus fed and overseen by them; being (1) The flock of God. (2) Gods Heritage. 3. From the Glorious reward promised to the faithful performers of this Duty at the appearing of Christ the Chief-Shepherd, or Arch-Pastour, viz. A Crown of Glory that fadeth not away, Ch. V. ver. 1, 2, 3, 4.

VII. How the younger among them should submit themselves towards the Elder: Yea, How all of them should subject themselves, in Christian love, to one another; being cloathed with humility, to that end. This is urged, 1. From the Beauty of Humility, be ye cloathed (Gr. b Knot-

THE CONCLUSION of the EPISTLE contains I. An intimation by whom the Apostle Peter sent this Epistle to them of the Dispersion; By Sylvanus, whose fidelity to them he commends. II. A Summary Recapitulation of the Substance and Scope of his Epistle, viz. 1. Testifying that this is the true grace of God wherein they stand. 2. Exhorting them, ver. 12. III. Salutations 1. Sent to them, (1) From the Church at Babylon, elect with them. (2) From Marcus his son, ver. 13. 2. Enjoyned to them, That they greet one another with a kisse of charity, ver. 14. IV. The Apostolical valediction, or Fare-well-Prayer for them, Peace be with you all that are in Christ Jesus, Amen. ver. 14.

THe II. Catholique Epistle of PETER the Apostle.] The Apostle himself calls this his [a] Second Epistle. He writes it to the same People to whom he wrote his first, viz. To the [b] beleeving Jews dispersed, and in effect to the same end.

Some few Writers have doubted of the Authority of this Epistle, (as also of that of James, of the second and third of John, and of the Epistle of Jude,) as [c] Eusebius, and after him [d] Hierome intimates. Nor is it found in the Syriack Version.

But divers cogent Arguments perſwade us that this is an Apoſtolical Epiſtle, and written by Peter. As 1. The inſcription mentions the ſame Penman of this Epiſtle with the firſt, viz. [e] Simon Peter a ſervant and an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt. He that wrote this Epiſtle teſtifies, that he [f] muſt ſhortly put off this his Tabernacle, as our Lord Jeſus Chriſt hath ſhewed him. Now to whom did Chriſt ſhew this, but to [g] Peter. 3. He that wrote this Epiſtle, was with Chriſt upon the Mount at his tranſfiguration, beheld his Majeſty ——and heard that voice of the father from Heaven when he was with Chriſt on the holy Mount, [h] This is my beloved ſon in whom I am well pleaſed. Now there were onely [i] three, viz. Peter, James and John in the Mount with Chriſt, at his tranſfiguration; and therefore it muſt be written by one of them three, (and by whomſoever of them, it is of Apoſtolical, yea of divine Authority;) but unto James or John none ever yet aſcribed it, nor is there any reaſon ſo to do, but many to the contrary; therefore it muſt needs be confeſſed to be written by Peter. 4. He that writes this Epiſtle calls it his [k] Second Epiſtle, and intimates he wrote them both to the ſame perſons, viz. the diſperſed believing Jews. 5. He that wrote this Epiſtle calls [l] Paul his beloved brother, commends him, and approves the Authority of his Epiſtles; which were too much for any but for an Apoſtolical pen. 6. An holy Apoſtolical ſpirit breaths throughout this whole Epiſtle, both in his exhortations to holy duties, monitions againſt falſe teachers and Apoſtacy, and predictions of things to come. 7. The [m] ſtile and Phraſe Apoſtolicall and conſonant enough to that of Peters firſt Epiſtle. 8. To all theſe may be added the conſent of [n] antient Writers, that count this Epiſtle Canonical and Apoſtlical. And [o] Beda wonders how any ſhould doubt of the Authority of this Epiſtle, when the Penman hath put his name in the beginning, and teſtifies he was with the Lord in the holy Mount.

So that this Epiſtle is of unqueſtionable Authority.

§. II. Time, when this Epiſtle was written.

Peter wrote this Epiſtle a little before his death; for he ſaith herein, [p] I think it meet as long as I am in this Tabernacle, to ſtir you up by putting you in remembrance, knowing that ſhortly I muſt put off this my Tabernacle, even as our Lord Jeſus Chriſt hath ſhewed me. But at what time Peter did put off his Tabernacle, is hard particularly to determine. And learned Writers are not agreed among themſelves about it.

§. III. Occaſion.

The holy Apoſtle Peter conſidering, That [q] ſhortly he was to put off his Tabernacle of the fleſh, as the Lord Jeſus Chriſt ſhewed him. And knowing that among the ſcattered tribes, ſome were too negligent of [r] Progreſs in faith, and other accompanying vertues, and of making their Calling and Election ſure, and that thoſe who were beſt [s] inſtructed and eſtabliſhed herein, had need be put in remembrance and ſtirred up hereunto; And fore-ſeeing by the ſpirit of Prophecy, that as even then there were, and afterwards there would be much more in the Church among them, [t] Heretical ſeducers and falſe teachers, of notorious ungodly manners, bringing in the moſt impious and damnable Hereſies, and walking in a moſt carnal, diſſolute, unclean and offenſive courſe of life, to the ſhame of the Church, yea, that in the laſt days, [u] Prophane ſcoffers ſhould ariſe, that ſhould deride the ſecond coming of Chriſt to judgement, The Apoſtle hereupon takes Occaſion to write this Epiſtle.

§. IV. Scope.

The Scope, and intent therefore of the Apoſtle in this Epiſtle, is 1. More generally, [x] to ſtirre up the pure mindes of the ſcattered Jews, by putting them in remembrance brance, both of the Prophets words, and the Apostles Commands; and this he aims at in both his Epistles. 2. More Particularly, (1) To encourage them from their large experience of Gods spiritual bounty unto them, y having given them all things pertaining to life and godliness, hopefully to expect from him a multiplication of Grace and Peace unto them. (2) To incite them to z adde to Faith vertue and other graces, and to have these blessings abounding in them, that so they may make their Calling and Election sure, and never fall. (3) To forewarn and fore-arm them against a false teachers, and Heretical Impostors that should rise up among them; whose damnable Heresies he describes; whose destruction he threatens; and whose cursed manners, and abominable properties he detects, characterizing them to the life, as unclean and impure livers, enemies to Dominions and Magistrates, Riotous voluptuous Epicures, Scandalous Seducers, Covetous Practitioners, and Empty proud Vain-glorious boasters, who therefore must carefully be abandoned. (4) Finally, to foretel them, and the Church of Christ, b of Prophane Scoffers, that shall deride and deny Christs second coming to judgement, which having asserted and described, as also the New-heavens and New-earth afterwards expected, he exhorts them to prepare themselves by all Holy conversation, Godliness and Unblameableness for the coming of the Lord.

§. V. Principal parts.

In this II. Epistle of Peter are 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance of the Epistle. 3. The Conclusion.

THE PREFACE contains, 1. An Inscription. 2. A Salutation. I.

1. An Inscription of the Epistle, denoting 1. The person writing; who is here described, (1) By his name and Surname, Simon Peter. (2) By his Office, More Generally, A Servant. More specially, And an Apostle of Jesus Christ. 2. The persons written to, viz. The believing c Jews scattered up and down the Roman Empire; Here described especially by their true faith which God had vouchsafed them; To them that have obtained like precious faith with us, &c. This their faith being amplified, (1) by the worth and excellency of it, Precious Faith. (2) By the sameness of it for nature and substance, with the faith of all Gods people, yea of the Apostles themselves, like precious Faith with us. (3) By the causes of it, Efficient; God and our Saviour Jesus Christ. Impulsive, through the Righteousness of God and Christ, Ch. I. ver. 1.

c For clearing this, compare 2 Pet. 1. 1. and 3. 1. with 1 Pet. 1. 1.

2. A Salutation; where note, 1. The Benefits which he wisheth to them, or prays for in their behalf, viz. The multiplication of Grace and Peace. Grace and Peace be multiplied unto you. II. The means whereby those benefits are to be multiplied to them; Through the knowledge, (1) Of God; And (2) Of Jesus Christ our Lord, v. 2. III. The ground whereupon he encourages them, to hope for further multiplication of these benefits upon themselves this way, viz. Their former experience of Gods grace and bounty to them herein, (who is still like himself in his acts of special grace and favour,) According as his Divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain to Life and Godliness, &c. Which experience of theirs is Amplified, 1. By the plenty of Benefits conferred upon them, All things pertaining to Life and Godliness, viz. To spiritual and eternal (not natural) life, and to godliness the soul thereof, (as d Calvin speaks.) 2. By the Original causes of these benefits, viz. Christs power and Free-grace. His Divine Power hath given unto us all things. 3. By the inward and immediate means, whereby these benefits were conveyed to them, viz. Through the knowledge of him, (i. e. Jesus Christ,) that hath called us by Glory and Vertue, (i. e. eby his own Glorious Vertue; Or by his own Glory and Vertue, as some Greek Copies read it. Our Translation unto Glory and Vertue, seems improper, and not to the Apostles sense, ver. 3. 4. By the outward instrumental means, whereby these benefits are tendred and applyed, viz. The Promises; By which are given unto us the greatest and precious Promises, &c. These promises are described, (1) Partly by their Fountain whence they freely flow; By which are given, &c. δι' ὧν i. e. By which Glory and Vertue of Christ immediately forementioned. Or δι' οὗ i. e. By whom, (as some Greek Copies read it,) that is, By which Christ. For Substance they come both to one. (2) Partly by their Adjuncts, viz. Greatest and Precious Promises. (3) Partly by their end why they are conferred on them, viz. That by these you might be Partakers of the Divine Nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust, ver 4. THE SUBSTANCE of the Epistle, which is 1. Hortatory, 2. Monitory, 3. Prophetical. II.

I. The Hortatory part of the Epistle, He exhorts them to abound in Faith and other Graces, accompanying Faith. This Exhortation (inferred upon things forementioned, And besides this; or, And for this same thing,) is 1. Propounded. 2. Urged.

1. Propounded. In the propounding of this Exhortation; note, I. The singular diligence required about about this duty, Giving all diligence, ver. 5. II The Duty it self, which is twofold. 1. To adde unto faith vertue, and other graces enumerated, as in a Gradation, fit companions of Faith, ver. 5, 6, 7. 2. To endeavour that these things may not only be in them, but abound, ver. 8.

2. Urged by divers Arguments. They should give all diligence to have faith and all these other graces abounding in them. I. Because in so doing, they shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of Christ, ver. 8. II. Because he that lacks these things, 1. Is blinde and cannot see afar off 2 Hath ingratefully forgot that he was purged from his old sins, ver. 9. III. Because thus, They shall make their Calling and Election sure, viz. by these fruits and effects thereof. IV. Because in doing these things they shall never fall, for as much as abounding in these graces is the ready way to Christs everlasting Kingdom; for so an entrance shall be ministred unto you abundantly, &c. ver. 10, 11. V. Because it was no way unbecoming but necessary for the Apostle Peter thus to exhort them and put them in remembrance of these things, who therefore excuseth himself for so doing, upon divers considerations, viz. 1. This is for their benefit, though they know these things and are established in the present truth. Wherefore (i. e. seeing this is course is so many ways beneficial to you;) I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance, &c. ver. 12. 2. Thus to stir them up and put them in remembrance is the Apostles duty, yea, I think it meet, &c. v. 13. 3. The Apostle was shortly to put off his Tabernacle, as Christ had shewed him, ver. 14. 4. The Apostle desired and endeavoured that they might be able to have these things alwayes in remembrance after his decease, ver. 15. VI. Because the Doctrine of the Gospel preached to them by the Apostles, (wherein these duties are required.) was not fabulous, but most certain and Divine. Here 1. He declares the sum of the Gospel, (as Calvin observes,) viz. (1) The exhibition of Christ. (2) The power and efficacy of Christ exhibited. When we made known unto you the Power and Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, ver. 16. 2. He Evidences to them, that this Gospel was no cunningly devised Fable, but a certain Divine Truth; (1) From the certainty of the Apostles Testimony, who were, Partly, Eye-witnesses of Christs Majesty, ver. 16. Partly, Ear-witnesses of Gods glorious voice from heaven touching Christ, as the beloved Son of f Christi Potentiam & adventum] Non dubium quin his vocibus, Evangelii summam comprehendere voluerit: ut certe nihil præter Christum continet, in quo absconditæ sunt omnes sapientiæ thesauri. Duas autem partes distincte ponit, nempe Quod exhibitus in carne fuerit Christus? Deinde qualis sit virtus ejus & efficacia. Sic enim integrum habemus Evangelium, &c. Joan Calv. Comment. in 2 Pet. 1. 16.

God, and great Prophet of the Church to be heard, when the three Apostles were with Christ in the Holy Mount at his Transfiguration, v. 17, 18. (2) From the sweet consent and Harmony betwixt the Prophetical and Apostolical Doctrine. Here, Partly, He extols the Prophetical word as more firm (viz in respect of the account and apprehension of the Jewes who undoubtedly received the Prophets) then this voice from heaven. We have also a more sure word of Prophecy. Partly, he commends these Christian Jews for attending thereto, whereunto ye do well that ye attend. Partly, he prefers the Apostolical Doctrine before the Prophetical. This being but as a light shining in a dark place, That as the Day dawning and the day-star arising in their hearts, v. 19. Partly, he cautions them how to understand the Scriptures of the Prophets, not according to every mans private fancy, but according to the sense and minde of the Holy Ghost; The Penmen of Scripture speaking not by the will of man, but the motion of the Holy Ghost, ver. 20, 21.

Hitherto of the Hortatory part of the Epistle.

II. In the Monitory Part of the Epistle, He fore-warnes them of False-Teachers, Heretical and blasphemous Seducers that should creep in among them, and were even then arising up; lest they should either be seduced or discouraged by them. To this End 1. He foretels them of these false Teachers. 2. He threatens them. 3. He characteriseth and describeth them, that so they may be the better avoided.

CHAP. II.

I. He fore-tels them of false Teachers that should arise among them, as there were false-Prophets of old among their fore-fathers, (It being the Churches lot in all ages to be pestered with such.) More Particularly, 1. Of the Heresies which their false-teachers shall sub-introduce, or privily-bring-in; viz. (1) Damnable Heresies. (2) Impious and Antichristian, Even denying the Lord that bought them. (3) Destructive, And bringing upon themselves swift destruction, Ch. I ver. 1. 2. Of the prevalency of these Heretiques pernicious wayes. They shall [illegible] many followers, by reason of which (many followers) the way of truth shall be blasphemed, ver. 2. [illegible] the intent of these false-teachers, viz. to make merchandize of them, both in their souls and estates. This their merchandizing is Amplified, (1) By the Root whence it springs, viz. Covetousness. (2) By the Art whereby many shall compass this End, viz. By feigned words, pretending more then ordinary Piety, Purity, Moderation, Love, &c. under which they shroud their damnable Heresies, ver. 3.

II. He threatens the false-teachers with speedy judgement, and damnation, ver. 2. This threatning he 1 Confirms and 2 Amplifies. 1 He confirms this threatning of these wicked Heretiques damnation, by three remarkable instances of Gods vengeance. 1. Upon the Angels that sinned, cast down to Hell, and reserved in chains of darkness to further judgement, v. 4. 2. Upon the old World, of the ungodly, drowned with a flood, when Noah a Preacher of Righteousness was preserved, [illegible]. 3. Upon the wicked Cities of Sodome and Gomorrha, overthrown, and turned to ashes, when Righteous Lot, whose righteous soul was daily vexed with their wicked and filthy deeds, was delivered, v. 7, 8. II. He Amplifies this threatning tacitely comforting the Godly 1. Against the delay of their own deliverance; The Lord knowes

how to deliver the godly out of Temptation, viz. he knowes what's the best way, and when the best season. 2. Against the delay of wicked Heretiques punishment, The Lord knowes how to reserve them till a fit time of punishment, ver. 9, 10.

III. He lively [8] characterizeth these Heretiques that they may be shunned, by divers infamous and odious Properties in them, viz. They are

1. Impure and Unclean livers. That walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanesse, ver. 10.

2. Enemies to Magistrates, Civill Dominions and Dignities. Here 1. Their Anarchicall Opposition to Magistracy is described, 1. By their evill and sinfull carriages against them, viz. [1] They despise Government, or Dominion. [2] They are not afraid to speak evil of Dignities. 2. By the root of these evill carriages, viz. [1] Their Pride, Presumptuous (or, Audacious) are they [2] Their willfulnesse; And self-willed, or, self-pleasers, ver. 10. II. This their Anti-Magistraticall disposition and demeanour is Aggravated, 1. By the contrary example, even Angels themselves Greater in Power and might, who (though God imployes them to protect his Church, and to withstand and punish the tyranny and rage of wicked Rulers, yet) bring not in a Railing accusation against them before the Lord, that we can finde in all the Scripture, ver. 11. 2. By their brutishnesse herein, As wild-Beasts sottishly runne upon their own destruction, being made to be taken and destroyed: So these, speak evill of things they understand not, and shall utterly perish in their own corruption; receiving the reward of unrighteousnesse, ver. 12, 13.

3. Riotous Sensualists and voluptuous Epicures; They that count it pleasure to riot in the day time, ver. 13.

4. Scandalous Seducers of unstable Soules, with whom they feast themselves, enticing them at their Feasts, by their lascivious Gestures, and whorish looks, to uncleanesse. Spots and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings, while they feast with you; Having eyes full of adultery (Gr. of the adultresse; or, of the Whore,) that cannot cease from sin, beguiling unstable soules, ver. 13. 14.

5. Covetous Practitioners, plodding and contriving in their hearts how to compasse money and wealth from others. An heart they have exercised with Covetous Practises. This is Amplified, I. By the Cursed Condition into which they cast themselves, by this and their other corruptions. Cursed children, ver. 14. II. By their Resemblance herein to Balaam the false Prophet, who for gain was willing against his conscience, to have Cursed Gods blessed people Israel. Which have forsaken the right way, and are gon astray following the way of Balaam son of Bosor. Balaams erroneous way is Aggravated, 1. By the unrighteousnes of his course, intimated, viz. His endeavour to curse Gods people. 2. By the Root whence this unrighteousnesse sprang, viz. His Covetousnesse, He loved the wages of unrighteousnesse. 3. By the Madnesse of the Prophet herein, striving for hire, to go against Gods will. 4. By the Prodigious reproof of Balaams iniquity and madnesse, by a Dumb Asse speaking with mans voice. He was unworthy of mans reproof, therefore is deservedly reproved by a foolish and despicable Asse, ver. 15, 16.

6. Proud, bragging Teachers, speaking great swelling words of vanity. This vicious Property of their Big, vaine, empty speaking, is 1 Illustrated. 2 Threatned. 3 Aggravated. I. Illustrated elegantly by a double similitude. 1. Of Wells without water. 2. Of Clouds. (viz. without raine) carried away with a Tempest. II. Threatned; To whom the mist of darknesse is reserved for ever, ver. 17. III. Aggravated, by the pernicious effect hereof upon divers of their Seduced hearers, allured hereby under specious pretences of Liberty, unto uncleanesse and other lusts, to their destruction. Here More Particularly, 1. The Garb of their Seducers language, or Teaching; They speak great swelling words of vanity; as (h) Calvin saith, boasting aloud of the Spirit, and Spirituals, &c. 2. The Subtilty of their speech to Seduce, For when they speak—— they allure. 3. The Persons seduced hereby, Those that were cleane escaped from them who live in errour, viz. Who had renounced Gentilisme, and embraced Christianisme. 4. The Art, or Bait whereby they allure and deceive them, viz. By allowing them to live in their carnall lusts under specious pretences of Christian liberty from the Law; they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonnes —— while they promise them liberty. Which pretended Liberty, the Apostle evidences to be real Bondage under corruption, inasmuch as they are overcome by corruption, ver 18, 19. 5. The miserable End of these that profess and know Christ, but are seduced again to Error and Corruption by such false teachers. ver. 20. Aggravated, in that, [1] Such Apostates condition is farre worse then that of ignorant unconverted Heathens, ver. 21. [2] The true Proverb is verified in them; The Dog is turned to his vomit again; and the Sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the mire, ver. 22.

I. In the Preface to this Prophecy, by way of Transition from his former Matter, he declares the End and Scope which he aimed at in writing both his I. and II. Epistles, viz. To stirre them up, and put them in remembrance, That they be still mindfull of the Doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, Ch. IV. ver. 1, 2.

CHAP V.

1. He Prophetically declares the Error of the scoffers in the last dayes, about Christs coming; 1. Describing the Persons that shall broach it, to be [1] Scoffers [2] Walkers after their own lusts, ver. 3. 2. Indigitating the point of their scoffing Error, Saying, where is the Promise of his coming? 3. Expressing their manner of reasoning against Christs coming; The World and all things therein continue as they were from the Creation? therefore it shall continue still, and consequently Christ shall never come to judgment, ver. 4.

2. He Doctrinally refutes this Error; Showing, 1. That As God made Heaven and Earth consisting out of the water and in the water, by his word (whereof these Scoffers are willingly ignorant:) So he is able by the same word again to destroy them, ver. 5. 2. That, all things have not continued as they were from the Creation, because the old world perished by water, ver. 6. 3. That the present Heavens and Earth are reserved by Gods word, to be burnt up by fire at the day of judgment, when ungodly men shall be destroyed, ver. 7. 4. That, though the Lord seem to delay his coming long, yet no time is long to God, a thousand years being but as one day, &c. Nor doth he defer his coming out of slackness to performe his Promise, but out of long-suffering, that his Elect may have opportunity of Repentance, ver. 8, 9. 5. That, The day of the Lord shall come (1) Suddenly, As a thief in the night. (2) Terribly, in respect of the whole frame of the Creation. The heavens shall passe away with a great noyse; The Elements shall melt with fervent heat. The Earth, and the works therein shall be burnt up, ver. 10.

3. He Practically improves this Confutation, By Exhorting them upon consideration; Partly, of the certain, sudden and terrible coming of Christ to judgment; Partly, of their hopes of new Heavens and a new Earth: To certain suitable Duties, viz. 1. To be singular persons in all holy conversation and godlinesse, ver. 11. 2. To expect with patience and holy desire the coming of the day of God. And this (1) Partly, because then this world shall terribly be dissolved, ver. 12. (2) Partly, because after this worlds Dissolution, they expect according to Gods Promise, [1] New Heavens and a New Earth, wherein dwels righteousnesse, ver. 13. 3. To be diligent that they may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blamelesse, as may become that New pure world expected, ver. 14. 4. To interpret and account the Lords delay in coming, to be for the better preparing of them for Salvation, which he confirmes by Pauls Testimony, Both in his Epistle written to these dispersed Jewes, viz. the Epistle to the Hebrews: And in his other Epistles writing of these things. In which Epistles some things are hard to be understood, which unlearned and unstable men wrest, as they do other Scriptures, to their own destruction, ver. 15, 16.

[1] New Heavens & New-Earth.

III. THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle contains I. Summary Exhortations, 1. To stedfastnesse against all the Errors of the wicked. This is urged, from their Knowing of these things before. 2. To Growth in Grace and in the knowledge of Christ. II. A Doxology to Christ, To him be glory both now and for ever. Amen. ver. 17, 18.

I. John.

§. I. Name.

THE first Catholique Epistle of JOHN the Apostle.] This Epistle hath this Title in all the ancient manuscript-Copies; As [a] Beza in his Annotations before this Epistle hath observed.——Which as Beza there well advertiseth us, we are thus to understand, viz. The first Epistle of John the Apostle, which is Catholique; for of all Johns Epistles, this only is Catholique or General, the other two being Particular, viz. The second to the Elect Lady and her children; The third to Gaius, and therefore it were improper to call it the first General Epistle in any other sense.

§. II. Penman.

Penman of this Epistle is John the Apostle, as is evident, 1. From the Greek Title, [Ἰωάννου τοῦ Ἀποστόλου ἐπιστολὴ καθολικὴ πρώτη.] i. e. The first Catholique Epistle of John the Apostle; [b] Thus all ancient Greek Copies have it. 2. From his manner of speaking of Christ, asserting his [c] Divinity in divers passages of this Epistle, and calling him the [d] Word; John being most sublime in asserting the [e] Godhead of Christ in his Gospel, and in the Revelation often; and no Writers in the New Testament, stiling Christ

Christ the Word, but John in his f Gospel, in his g Revelation, and here in this h Epistle. 3. From that eminent and singular Character of Johns Spirit, viz. The Spirit of Love, most predominant and conspicuous all along this Epistle, as in his Gospel and Revelation. John was i the Disciple whom Jesus loved above all his Disciples. He was a meer compound of sweetest love; in all his writings, breaths nothing in a manner but Love. Hence excellently k Calvin, This Epistle is altogether worthy the Spirit of that Disciple, which was therefore beloved of Christ above the rest, that he might render him familiar unto us. And in this respect Hierome relates a most remarkable story of John; saying, l Blessed John the Evangelist, when he abode at Ephesus even to extream old age, and was hardly carried to the Church betwixt the hands of the Disciples, nor could weave up his voice into many words, was wont to pronounce nothing else at their several meetings together, but this; Little Children love one another; At last the Disciples and Brethren that were present, being tyred out because they alwayes heard the same things, said, Master why dost thou alwayes speak this? who gave an answer worthy of John; Because it is the Lords command, and if it alone be done, it sufficeth.

Of this John, his life and death, hath formerly been spoken at large, on the Gospel of John, §. 1.

John therefore being the undoubted Penman of this Epistle, it is of unquestionable Authority. m Eusebius, and n Hierome testifie, that there never was doubt in the Church, about the Author or Authority of this Epistle, but that it was generally received, and constantly approved by all. Augustine saith, o This Epistle is Canonical, is recited among all Nations, is held by Authority of the whole world, it hath edified the whole world. And elsewhere intending to expound this Epistle to his People, he gives this reason thereof; p Because love is especially commended in this Epistle, most sweet to all that have a sound spiritual palate to relish the bread of God, and most memorable in the Holy Church of God. For he speaks many things, and almost all things of love, &c. so that he counts it a most sweet Epistle, and most memorable in the Church of God.

§. III. When, and Whence this Epistle was written.

John wrote his Gospel at Ephesus, as q Irenæus, and r Eusebius think. This Epistle seems (in s Zanchy's judgement,) to be written after his Gospel. And he wrote it when he was now old, as Hierome saith; and being old he departed not from Asia, therefore its probable he wrote it at Ephesus. John lived after the other Apostles, t and wrote after them all.

§. IV. Occasion.

The Occasion of Johns writing this Epistle was chiefly threefold. I. John observed that in his days there were many Heretical Teachers and Seducers, which he calls u Antichrists, (and by a Prophetical Spirit foresaw, that afterwards there would arise many many more.) [x] Epiphanius reckons up these Hæretical Antichrists in Johns days, and [y] Aug. out of Epiphanius & Eusebius tels us, what cursed heretical opinions they held, viz. 1. Simonians, so called from Simon Magus; He held the filthy promiscuous use of women; said, Christ neither was come, nor suffered any thing of the Jews: affirmed that himself was Christ. He was the Ringleader of Heretiques. 2. Menandrians, from Menander a Sorcerer, Simons disciple; held, the world was not made by God, but by Angels. 3. Saturnilians or Saturninians, from Saturninus; held the Simonian filthiness, and the Menandrian errour 4. Basilidians, from Basilides; held, the world and man were not created of God; Believed not that Christ was crucified of the Jews, but Simon the Cyrenian who carried his Cross. 5. Nicolaitans, from Nicolas one of the seven Deacons, (thinks [z] Augustine,) who being accused for jealousie over his fair wife, and would have deserted her, and prostituted her as common to all: Hence arose a most filthy sect maintaining the community of women, &c. But Clemens Alexandrinus commends that Nicolas for Piety and Continency; and saith, his daughters remained unmarried, and his son lived holily. Whence [a] Pareus thinks, its Probable it was not Nicolas the Deacon, but some other Nicolas that was Author of that impure and prodigious Sect; though those Hereticks made use of that holy mans name, to countenance their odious filthiness. 6 Gnosticks, who would be so called from the excellency of their knowledge, worse then all the former; are thought to have risen from the filthy Nicolaitans. 7. Carpocratians, from Carpocrates in Asia; who taught every filthy operation and every invention of sin, that men must sin, and do the will of all the Devils: otherwise they could not evade Principalities and Powers, whom these things please, that they might come to the superiour Heavens; And that Jesus was only man, descended of both Sexes; Rejected the Law; Denyed the Resurrection, &c. 8. Cerinthians and Merinthians, from Cerinthus, (for shunning of whom; John is reported to have leaped out of the Bath at Ephesus unwashed, as hath been [b] formerly noted,) and Merinthus; who said, the world was made by Angels: men ought to be circumcised and keep the Ceremonial Law; who denyed Christs Divinity; said, he was not before Mary, that he was a meer man, that Christ is not risen, but hereafter should rise again. And fabulously conceited, that after Christs resurrection, Christ shall reign on earth a thousand years, in which earthly Kingdom of Christ, men shall live according to the carnal pleasures of their belly and lust, &c. whence also they were called Chiliasts, or Millenaries. 9. Nazareans, who though they confess Christ the Son of God, yet observe all things of the old Law, which they say Christians learned by the Apostolical Tradition, not to observe carnally, but to understand spiritually. 10. Hebionites, from Hebion; who held that Christ was only man, and observe Circumcision, and other Commands of the Ceremonial Law, from which we are freed by the N. Testament. All these Heretical Antichrists were in John's dayes. II. John took notice of divers carnal believers, who made great profession of Knowledge, Faith and Piety towards God, and of love towards their brethren, who yet lived impiously towards God, and uncharitably towards their brethren, to the scandal of the Gospel. III. Finally, John considered how necessary it was to encourage true belivers in Communion with God, Stedfastness in the true faith, holiness of life, Sincere brotherly love, Growth in grace; and to promote the assurance of their eternal life. These things principally gave John Occasion of writing this Epistle by way of remedy.

§. V. Scope

The blessed Apostle John, in this Epistle principally scopes and levels at these three ends.

1. To detect and confute Heretical and [c] Antichristian seducers, and warn the believers against them and their false Doctrine. [d] These things have I written to you, concerning them that seduce you; Particularly and especially proving, (1) That Christ is true and eternal e God, against the Carpocratians, Cerinthians and Hebionites, c 1 John 2. 18, 19, 22. and 4. 1, 2, 3.

d 1 John 2. 26,
e 1 John 1. 1, 2, 3. and 2. 22. 23 and 5. 5, 6, 7, 10, 13, 20.

onites. (2) That Christ is truly come in the flesh already, is true [f] man, and assumed true flesh, against the Simonians, and also against the Cerdonians, Manichees, Priscillianists and Valentinians, (which by a Prophetical spirit he foresaw would follow,) (3) That Jesus is the true [g] Christ, the promised Messiah, against the Simonians, Jews and Nazareans. (4) That the [h] Father, Word and Holy Ghost, are three true distinct Persons of one Essence, against Sabellians, &c. (5) That they that are born of God, ought not, (nay, as such, cannot) [i] commit sin; and such as do not righteousnesse are of the devil, not of God, against the Carpocratians.

2. To stir up all that professe to know God, to have communion with him, and believe in him, [k] that they walk in light, not in darknesse, in Sanctity not in sin, [l] walk as Christ walked, that they [m] keep the Commandements, and especially abound in [n] sincere brotherly-love to one another.

3. To help forward and provoke true believers to true [o] communion with God and Jesus Christ, [p] constancy in the true faith against all that seduced them, [q] Purity and Holinesse of life, Sincere [r] brotherly-love, Growth in [s] faith and grace. And peculiarly to promote their Assurance of their interest in eternal life.

This last End is clearly professed: [t] These things have I written unto you, that believe on the Name of the Son of God, that yee may know that yee have eternal life.—And therefore it is most singularly observable, of this Memorable, Sweet and precious Epistle, what a multitude of Marks, Signes or Discoveries of Believers spirittual state, are here plainly and purposely laid down for this end, more then in any other so short a piece of Scripture in the whole Bible. Which [u] Signes or Evidences are here reduced to several heads, and set down for the help and comfort of the Readers, in some of which, at least the weakest Christian, (if sincere,) may finde abundant soul-refreshing, and heart-establishment.

I. Evidences, Signes or Discoveries of Gods love to us.
1. Christs being sent to die for us, that we might live by him, 1 John 3.16. and 4.9,10.
2. Adoption, That we should be called the sons of God, 1 John 3.1.
3. Our not loving the world, nor the things of the world, inordinately, 1 John 2.15,16,17.
4. Our love to God, which is an effect, or reflexive beame of Gods love to us, 1 John 4.19.

II. Evidences or Signes of our Regeneration, Adoption, Sonship.
1. That the world knoweth us not, 1 John 3.1.
2. True beleeving that Jesus is the Christ, 1 John 5.1.
3. Not committing, or practising of sin, 1 John 3.8,9. Especially not that great sin of sins, The sin against the Holy Ghost; So, The wicked one toucheth him not, 1 John 5.18.
4. Overcoming erroneous heretical spirits and their seducements, 1 John 4.1,4.
5. Overcoming the world by faith, 1 John 5.4,5.
6. Doing, or Practising of righteousnesse, 1 John 2.29. and 3.10.
7. True love of the brethren. 1 John 3.10,14. and 4.7.
8. Hope (if not assurance in some measure) that we shall be conforme to God and Christ in his glorious appearing, 1 John 3.2,3.
9. In hope of glory, purifying our selves as God is pure, 1 John 2.3.

III. Evidences or Signes that we are of the truth, of the true number of Gods people.
1. Having an unction from the holy one teaching us all things, 1 John 2.19,20,27.
2. The Testimony of an upright heart or conscience touching our real and true love of the brethren. 1 John 3.18,19,20,21.
3. Perseverance with the faithful in Christ and in the truth, 1 John 2.19,27.

IV. Evidences or Signes of being in light, not in darknesse, in life not in death.
1. Having the Son, viz. Actual interest in, and enjoyment of Jesus Christ, 1 John 5.11,12.
2. Loving, and not hating of our brother, 1 John 2.9,10,11. and 3.14,15.

V. Evidences, or Signes of our true knowledge of God, and of Jesus Christ.
1. Real and sincere keeping of his Commandements, 1 John 2.3,4.
2. Not sinning, or denial of sin, 1 John 3.6.
3. A right entertaining and hearkning to the true Apostolicall Doctrine, 1 John 4.5,6.
4. Mutuall brotherly love, 1 John 4.7,8.

VI. Evidences or Signes of our true love to God, and to Jesus Christ.
1. When our love to God, flowes from Gods love to us, 1 John 4.19.
2. The casting out of base servile fear, 1 John 4.18,19.
3. Not loving the world, and things in the world, inordinately, excessively, 1 John 2.15,16.
4. Keeping Gods Word and Commandements, and that cheerfully, 1 John 2.5. and 5.3.

5. Our true love to Gods children, for the heavenly Fathers sake who begat them: Opening our bowels of compassion to brethren in need, 1 John 5.1. and 4,11,12,20,21. and 3.17.

VII. Evidences or Signes of our Communion with God and with Jesus Christ.

1. The Holy Spirit of God, and of Jesus Christ given us, 1 John 3.24. and 4.13.
2. The true abiding of the ancient Primitive Truth and Doctrine of Christ in us, 1 John 2.22, 23,24.
3. True confessing that Jesus is the Son of God, 1 John 4.15.
4. Not doing, or practising of sin, John 3.6,8.
5. Unfained love to God, and dwelling therein, 1 John 4.16.
6. Walking in light, not in darkness. 1 John 1.5,6,7.
7. Walking as Christ walked, 1 John 2.6.
8. Keeping his Word and Commandments, 1 John 2.5. and 3.23.24.
9. True Brotherly-love, 1 John 4.12.

VIII. Finally, Evidences or Signes of true Brotherly-love, or unfeigned love of Gods children, 1 John 5.1,2.

1. True Spiritual knowing of God, 1 John 4.7,8.
2. Sincere loving of God, 1 John 5.1,2.
3. Right keeping of Gods Commandments, 1 John 5.2,3.
4. Loving the Brethren peculiarly as they are begotten of God, &c. 1 John 5.1,2.
5. When we love the brethren not complementally and verbally only, but really and sincerely: Opening tender bowels of compassion to them in need; yea if the cause require, hazarding our dearest lives for the children of God, 1 John 3.16,17,18,19.

By these Evidences, Signes, or Characters of our spiritual Estate, clearly laid down in this Excellent Epistle, the weak in faith may become strong in Assurance, and the strong may become stronger: yea all that truly beleeve in the Name of the Son of God, (if the fault be not their own,) may hereby come to know. that they have eternal life. All which Evidences I have more fully opened and unfolded in a distinct Treatise, entituled The Beleevers Evidences for eternal life. A subject which I hope, to gracious hearts will be alwayes most welcome and seasonable, but especially in these sad afflicting dayes; To help forward their Assurance for Heaven, when they can have no Assurance of any thing on earth.

CHAP. I.

THE PROEM, or INTRODUCTION, making Entrance into the Epistle; shewes, 1. What Subject-matter the Apostle propounds principally to treat of in this Epistle, viz. of the great Theam of the Gospel; Jesus Christ the Word of Life. 1. Of Christs Person, God-man. [1] Christs Godhead is intimated in these Phrases; That which was from the beginning.—— The Word of Life.—— The Life.—— That Eternal Life which was with the Father. [2] Christs Manhood, implyed in these expressions; which we have seen with our eyes, which we have look't upon, and our b hands have handled of the Word of Life:—For the life was manifested, and we have seen it.—And was manifested unto us. 2. Of Christs office, To be the Author of life to us, implyed in that Christ is called, The Word of Life;—The Life;—That Eternal Life which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us. Ch. I. v. 1,2. II. What the Apostle intends to clear touching Christ, viz. 1. Not any novelty, but That which was from the beginning. 2. Not any uncertainty, but that whereof the Apostles were infallible witnesses; Which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which our hand have handled, &c. v. 1,2,3. III. To what End or Purpose he will treat of these things, viz. 1. That those

to

to whom he writes might have communion or fellowship with the Apostles, which fellowship of the Apostles is sweetest and Highest, And truly our fellowship is with the Father and his Son Iesus Christ, This Communion is even Heaven on Earth, ver. 3. 2. That having such fellowship, their [c] joy might be full; and so they at last become eternally happy, ver. 4.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Epistle it self is, 1. Practical. 2. Doctrinal

I. The Practical Part, is full of Holy and Heavenly Exhortations unto Sanctity of life and Conversation, as becomes them that have communion with the holy God; And that in divers Particular Duties of Christianity, sometimes pressing the same Duties again and again, (as that of Brotherly-love) but with new Motives or Arguments. Now herein John exhorts them,

I. To walk in light, (viz. of Purity and Holiness) not in darkness (viz. of Impurity and Sinfulness,) if they profesſe communion with God. This is urged, 1. From the Nature of God, revealed to, and by the Apostles. [d] God is light, and in him is no darkness at all, ver. 5. 2. From the falshood and Hypocrisie of them that profesſe communion with God, and yet walk in darknesse, v. 6. 3. From the benefit of walking in the light, as God is in the light; laid down, (1) More Generally, Then we have fellowship one with another, viz. we with God and Christ, and they with us. (2) More Particularly, And the blood of Iesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin, ver. 7.

II. Not to deny sin to be in them, or to be done by them, yea though they be regenerate, but rather penitentially to confesse it before God. 1. Because, if we say we have no sin, (1) We deceive our selves. (2) The truth is not in us, ver. 8. 2. Because if we confesse our sins, God is faithful and just, (1) To forgive us our sins, viz. in Justifying us. (2) To cleanse us from all unrighteousnesse, viz. In both Justifying and Sanctifying us, ver. 9. 3. Because, If we say we have not sinned, viz. Actually; (1) We make God a lyer. (2) His Word is not in us, ver. 10.

III. To walk innocently in avoiding sin so farre as is possible, and yet if sin overtake them to repaire by Faith unto Christ as a remedy against all sin. He encourages to come to Christ for relief against sin, from the two chief Acts or Parts of Christs Priesthood, viz. 1 His Intercession in heaven with the Father for us; which is Amplyfied by the Righteousnesse of the Intercessor, able to prevaile. If any man sin we have an Advocate with the Father, Iesus Christ the righteous, Ch. II. ver. 1. 2. His Satisfaction for, and Expiation of sin, on earth, by his Death; and this, (1) Not only for the sins of Jewes, to whom he wrote; And he is the Propitiation for our sins. (2) But also for sins of Gentiles of every Nation through the world; And not for ours onely, but also for the sins of the whole world, ver. 2.

CHAP. II.

[e] Non dixit, habetis, nec me habetis dixit, nec ipsum Christum habetis, dixit: sed & Christum posuit, non se; & habemus dixit non habetis. Maluit se ponere in numero peccatorum, ut haberet Advocatum Christum: quam ponere se pro Christo Advocatum, & inveniri inter damnandos superbos. Aug. Tract. 1. in Ioan. Tom. 9.

IV. To adde to this knowledge of Christ, true obedience to his Word and Commandments. 1 Because, hereby we may know that we truly know Christ, ver. 3. 2. Because, to make [f] profession of knowing Christ, without keeping his Commandements is Hypocrisie, ver. 4. 3. Because, the keeping of Christs Word by any one, evidenceth (1) That the love of God is truly perfected in him. (2) That such are in Christ, and have communion with him, ver. 5. 4. Because, its the Duty of such as profess communion with Christ, to walk as Christ walked, ver. 6.

[f] Frustra nobis in eo plaudimus, cujus mandata non facimus. Hier. adverſ. Jovin. l. 2. p. 69. Tom. 2 Basil. 1553.

V. To love the Brethren; Touching this Duty, 1 He Prefaceth to it. 2 He presseth it. And 2 Declares why he so urgeth it, and other duties of holy life. I. He Prefaceth to it, showing that this Duty whereunto he exhorts them, is not any New, but an Ancient Duty; being grounded not on a New, but an Old Commandement. This is 1. Asserted and proved, in that he writes no other Commandment to them, then what they had heard preached to them from the beginning, ver. 7. 2. Corrected by a Concession, that this his Exhortation unto Brotherly-love, is in some sort A New Commandment. Here; Partly, he explains how, or in what respect it is New, viz. (1) In respect of Christ, who renews this Old Commandment. (2) In respect of themselves who receive this Commandment as renewed by Christ. Again a New Commandment I write unto you, which thing is true in him and in you. Partly he proves this old Commandement to be new in these respects; because the darkness is past, and the true light now shineth, viz. The bright day of the Gospel shineth, by the appearing of Christ the Sun of righteousnesse, ver. 8. II. He presseth it by divers Arguments, viz. 1. Because he that hates his brother, is in darkness, even until now, ver. 9. 2. Because he that loveth his brother, thereby evidenceth himself. (1) To abide in the light. (2) To be inoffensive, And there is no occasion of stumbling in him, ver 10. (3) Because, he that hateth his brother, not only is in darkness, but walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, ver. 11. III. He declares who he so much urgeth Brotherly-love, and other Christian duties upon them. Which he doth by distributing them into three Ranks, viz. Little children, Fathers, and Young men. And by annexing reasons [g] peculiar to these Ranks respectively. He wrote to those among them, that were 1. Little Children, (such chiefly rejoycing in their Parents love and countenance:) (1) Because, their sins were forgiven them for his Names sake. (2) Because, they have known the Father. 2. Fathers, (such chiefly delighting in the commemoration of ancient things;) Because they have known him that is from the beginning. 1. Young-men, (such chiefly glorying in their strength, activity and valour;) Because, (1) They are strong. (2) The Word of God abideth in them; whereby they are strengthened, (3) They have overcome the wicked one, ver. 13, 14.

VI. To take heed of the inordinate love of the world, and of the things in the world. This is urged, 1. From the inconsistency of the love of God and the world, in the same heart, at the same time, with intense degrees. If any man h love the world, &c. ver. 15. 2. From the Nature of all things in the world. All things in this world, that can invite to the love of them, are reducible to one of these three heads, viz. (1) The lust of the flesh; to which refer all carnal corporal delights and pleasures. (2) The lust of the eye; to which reckon all visible possessions, and riches of outward state. (3) The pride of life; to which reccunt, all Honours and high-rooms in the world. Yet all these are terrene and earthly, not divine and heavenly: not of the Father, but of the world, ver. 16. 3. From the vanity of the world, And the world passeth away and the lust thereof. Which is Amplified by the contrary perpetuity of him that doth the will of God, who abideth for ever, ver 17.

h Duo sunt amores, mundi & Dei. Si mundi amor habitet, non est quò intret amor Dei: recedat amor mundi, & habiter Dei. Melior accipiat locum. August. Tract. 2. in Epist. Joan. Tom. 9.

VII. To beware of the dangerous Antichrists and heretical Seducers that should come in the last times, yea were already come in Johns dayes, especially those that denyed Christ, either in Person or Office; as Simonians, Basilidians, Carpocratians, Cerinthians, Hebionites, &c. Against which he arms them, and encourageth them to persevere in the truth by divers considerations. As 1. That, it is the last time, forasmuch as divers Antichrists are already come, which are fore-runners of that great Antichrist, foretold by the Apostles to come in the last dayes, v. 18. 2. That, these Antichrists separated, and went out from the Church of Christ, and from the truth: because they were not of Christs true Church for true believers continue, v. 19. 3. That, those to whom John writes, had an Unction from the holy One, and knew all things, viz. had the Annointing of the illuminating and sanctifying Spirit from Christ, teaching them all things necessary to their salvation and preservation from seducers, v 20. This he Amplifies shewing hereupon why he wrote to them; not so much to inform them of the truth which they knew not, as to Confirm them in the truth which they knew, v 21. 4. That, if there be any heretical liar, he is that liar, that denyes Jesus to be the Christ; who is a liar, but he that denyeth that Jesus is the Christ? v. 22. 5. That, whosoever denyeth the Father and the Son is Antichrist, ver. 22. 6 That, whosoever denyeth the Son, denyeth the Father also, ver. 23. 7. That, their abiding in the true faith of the Father and the Sonne, according to the Doctrine which they had heard of the Apostles from the beginning, (whereunto he exhorts them,) would bring them to eternal life, promised to them, ver. 24, 25. 8 That, though he hath writ those things to them, concerning those that seduce them: yet forasmuch as the Annointing, (viz. Christs Spirit,) abideth in them, and teacheth them all necessaries to salvation, &c. He encourageth them that they shall persevere and abide in him, ver. 26, 27. 9. Finally, That, if they persevering in his truth abide in him, they shall have confidence to look Christ in the face, and not be ashamed before him at his coming, ver. 28.

VIII. Sincerely to practise righteousness and abandon the practising of sin; (contrary to the cursed and devillish doctrine of the Carpocratians, who taught men to sin.) This is urged by many cogent Arguments. As

1. Because, the true practice of righteousness, evidenceth him that so practiseth to be born of God, who is righteous, ver. 29.

2. Because, the heavenly Father hath vouchsafed us no vulgar favour in adopting us to be his children; which singular mercy should kindle in us an earnest indeavour to be conform unto him in purity. That this Argument may be the more prevalent, He Amplifies this great benefit of Son-ship. 1. By the singular and admirable love of the Father in adopting us. Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God. 2. By the worlds contempt or disregard of this their Privileged-state of adoption. Against which he comforts them, from consideration of the true cause thereof, viz. Their ignorance of the Father adopting; Therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not Ch III v. 1. 3. By the unspeakable glory that at his appearing shall certainly be conferred on them, because they are the Sons of God; which glory shall chiefly consist, (1) In conformity to him; we shall be like him. (2) In perfect vision of him; for we shall see him as he is ver. 2. 4. By the property and disposition of all that have this hope of glory, to purifie themselves as he is pure, viz. in some true spiritual resemblance, though not in equality of purity, ver. 3.

CHAP III.

i Ergo visuri sumus quandam visionem, quam nec oculus vidit, &c. visionem præcellentem omnes pulchritudines terrenæ, Auri, Argenti, nemorum atque camporum, pulchritudinem maris & aëris, pulchritudinem Solis & Lunæ, pulchritudinem stellarum, pulchritudinem Angelorum: Omnia superantem, quia ex ipso pulchra sunt omnia. Quid ergo nos erimus, quando videbimus? Aug. Tract. 4. in Ep. Joan. Tom. 9.

3. Because,

3. Because, the Commission of sin is the transgression of the Law: which therefore believers should shun, ver 4.

4. Because, Christ in whom was no sin, was manifested to take away sin, viz. by his death, &c. therefore Christians may not continue in sin, *ver.*5.

5. Because, whosoever have Communion with Christ, and abide in him, sin not; But they that sin, have not seen him, nor known him, ver.6.

6. Because, he that truly doth righteousnesse is righteous, (whatsoever seducers suggest to the contrary,) This he proves from Christs example, *ver.*7.

7. Because, he that committeth sin is of the devil. This is proved; 1. From the devils sinful nature: for the devil sinneth from the beginning. 2. From the end of Christs manifestation, which was; That he might destroy the works of the devil, viz. Sins. Therefore they that commit sin cannnot be of Christ, but of the devil, *ver.*8

8. Because, Regenerate Persons do not commit sin, nor k can they sin, (viz. as carnal unregenerate Persons do,) because they are borne of God, and have a seed, repugnant to sin, remaining in them, ver. 9.

k How they that are borne of God, do not, cannot commit sin; See cleared at large in many particulars, in my Believers Evidences, &c. *ch.*2.§ *III.p.*29 to 127.

Qui in Generatione domini perseverant, peccare non possunt. Quæ enim communicatio luci & tenebris? Christo & Belial? Quomodo dies & nox misceri non queant: sic nec justitia & iniquitas, peccatum & bona opera, Christus & Antichristus. Si susceperimus Christum in hospitio nostri pectoris; illicò fugamus diabolum: Si peccaverimus, & per peccati januam ingressus fuerit diabolus: protinus Christus recedit. *Hier. adverſ. Jovinian. l.*2.*p.*69.*Tom.*2. *Basil.*1553.

9. Because, the manifest character, distinguishing the children of the devil from the children of God, is 1. More generally, the not doing of righteousness. 2. More particularly, the not loving of their brethren. (And so he passeth again to exhort to brotherly-love.) ver. 10.

IX. To unfeigned brotherly-love Hereunto he exhorts them by many prevalent Arguments, viz. 1. From Gods message or command, preached to them at first by the Apostle, to love one another, *ver.*11. 2. From Cains contrary evil example of hating and slaying his brother for his righteousnesse, whereby he evidenced himself to be of that wicked one the devil, v.12. Whence he comforts the Regenerate against the worlds hatred of them, because thus it was of old, *ver.*13. 3. From the benefit of brotherly-love, whereby we know that we have passed from death to life, ver.14. 4. From the mischief of hating, or not loving the brethren, viz. (1) Such a man abideth in death. (2) Is a l Murderer. And (3) Consequently hath not eternal life abiding in him, ver.14.15. 5. From Christs own example, Christ so loved us as to lay down his life for us: so should we love the brethren, as in some m cases to hazard our lives for the brethren, ver.16. 6. From the impossibility of having Gods love to dwell in them, if having these worlds goods, they shut up their Bowels from their Brethren in need. Therefore they should love them not in word and in tongue, but in deed and in truth, ver.17,18. 7. From the excellent effects or benefits which will redound to them, from upright and real loving of the brethren, viz. (1) Hereby ebey shall know that they are of the truth, viz. of the true number of Gods People. (2) Hereby they shall have assured confidence of heart and conscience towards God: who being greater then conscience, will much more condemn if conscience condemn, ver. 19,20,21. 3. Hereby their n confidence in God, is crowned with his hearing of their Prayers; because in so doing they keep his Commandements, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight, ver.22. His Commandement being; Partly, that we should beleeve on the Name of his Son Jesus Christ. Partly, that we should love one another, ver.23. The keeping of his Commandement being a fruit of our communion with God dwelling in us, which abiding of God in us, is assured to us by his Spirit, *ver.*24.

CHAP. IV.

X. To beware of heretical Seducers, and of believing every Spirit, (viz. every teacher that pretends the spirit.) but to try the Spirits, whether they be of God. Here, I. He confirms this Exhortation; because many false Prophets are gone out into the world, Ch.IV, ver.1. II. He directs them how to try and discover the Spirits, viz. 1. Affirmatively. Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God ver 2. 2. Negatively, Every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God. This he brands as the Spirit of Antichrist. Partly, foreprophecied off by the Apostles, that it should come into the world. Partly, in some degree was even now already in the world, v.3. III. He comforteth them, 1. Against the danger of their being overcome by these seducers; yea that they have overcome these seducers already; Partly, because they are of God. Partly, because Greater is God in them then Satan in these Seducers, ver 4. 2. Against the Prevalency of these Seducers Doctrine in the world. (1) It is only the world that heareth them. (2) The world therefore heareth them; Partly, because these seducers are of the world. Partly, because they therefore speak of the world; that is, agreeably to the corrupt humor and disposition of the world, world, *ver.*5. 2. Against the contempt or neglect of the Apostolicall Doctrine in the world, by showing [1] That the Apostles are of God, though the world heare them not. [2] That he that knoweth God, heareth the Apostles (3) That he that is not of God, heareth them not; none but such despise their Doctrine, ver. 6. IV. He concludes this whole exhortation with this intimation, Hereby know we the Spirit of truth, and the spirit of errour, ver. 6.

XI. Finally, He exhorts again to Brotherly love; by divers Arguments. As,

1. Because, God is the Authour of it; Love is of God, ver. 7.

2. Because, this love of the brethren, is a Signe 1. Of Regeneration; Every one that loveth is borne of God. 2 Of true knowledge of God, and knoweth God, ver. 7. This is illustrated by its contrary. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; and he confirms it by a reason from Gods nature; for God is love, ver. 8.

3. Because, God hath taught us by his own example to love one another in sending his Son into the world for us In this sending consider, 1. Who did send, God. 2. Who was sent, his only begotten Son. 3. Whither he was sent, into the world; there in to be Born meanly, Live afflictedly, and Die cruelly for us. 4. For what end he was thus sent, viz. (1) To be the Propitiation, for our sins. (2) That we might live through him. 5. What's the singular moving cause of all this; Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us. Therefore if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another, ver. 9, 10, 11.

4. Because, if we love one another, (though corporally, no man hath seen God at any time, yet) spiritually we see and know that God dwelleth in us, and we in him, perfectly and sincerely loving him, 1. Partly, by this fruit of the spirit in us, brotherly love, ver. 12, 13. 2. Partly, by Confession that Jesus is the Son of God, sent to be the Saviour of the world, as the Apostles knew and testified, ver. 14, 15. 3. Partly, by dwelling in this brotherly-love, in as much as (o) God is love, ver. 16.

o Quia deus dilectio est.] Quid amplius dici potuit, fratres? Si nihil de laude dilectionis diceretur per omnes istas paginas hujus Epistolæ, si nihil omnino per cæteras paginas Scripturarum, & hoc solum unum audiremus de voce Spiritus Dei, Quia deus dilectio est: jam videte, quia facere contra dilectionem, facere contra Deum est Aug. Tract. 7. in Ep. Ioan. Tom. 9.

And again elsewhere; Nescio utrum magnificentius nobis charitas commendari potuit, quam ut diceretur, Deus charitas est. Brevis Laus, & magna Laus: brevis in Sermone, & magna intellectu. Quam citò dicitur, Deus dilectio est. Et hoc breve est, Si numeres unum est: Si appendas, quantum est? Deus dilectio est, & qui manet in dilectione, in Deo manet, & Deus in illo manet. Sit tibi domus deus, sto domus Dei; mane in Deo, & maneat in te Deus. Maneat in te Deus ut te contineat, maneas in Deo ne cadas: —— quomodo cadet, quem continet Deus? Aug. Tract. 9. in Ep. Ioan. Tom. 9.

5. Because, by this brotherly-love (if sincere and perfect,) we shall be enabled to appear with confidence and boldnesse in the day of judgment. This is confirmed, 1. From our conformity to, and resemblence of God, (who is love,) by this sincere brotherly-love; Because as he is so, are we in this world, ver. 17. 2. From the nature of sincere and perfect love, inconsistent with slavish tormenting feare; there is no feare in love, but perfect love casteth out feare, because feare hath torment, &c. ver. 18.

p Statim fidei conjunxit dilectionem, quia sine dilectione fides inanis est; cum Dilectione, fides Christiani: Sine dilectione, fides Dæmonis, Qui autem non credunt, pejores sunt quam Dæmones. Aug. Tract. 10. in Ep. 1 Ioan. Tom. 9.

6. Because, we cannot evidence our true love to God, (which originally ariseth from Gods loving us first,) if we be without true brotherly-love. If a man say he loveth God and hateth his brother, he is a lyar; This is confirmed, 1. By the impossibility of loving God whom we have not seen, if we love not our brother whom we have seen. (Seeing and Knowing being the ground of Loving) ver. 19, 20. 2. By Gods joynt command to love both, And this Commandement have we from him, that he who loveth God, love his brother also, v. 21. 3. By the near relation betwixt God and the brethren, who (beleeving (p) that Jesus is the Christ.) are born of God. Whence every one that loves him that begat, viz. God, loves him also that is begotten of him, viz. the Regenerate child for the Fathers sake, Ch. V. ver. 1. 4. By the dependance of our love to the children of God, upon our true love to God, the cause of brotherly love. By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep his commandements, ver. 2. This love of God is Amplified by the peculiar signes or discoveries thereof, viz. (1) Keeping his Commandements. (2) Not counting his Commandements grievous, ver. 3. That the Regenerate, the true lovers of God count not his Commandements grievous, he proves; because the Regenerate do by true faith in Christ conquer the world, which hinders their cheerfull keeping of Gods Commandements, ver. 4, 5. (So he passeth to the Doctrinall part of the Epistle concerning Christ.)

II. The Doctrinall part of this Epistle, declares that Jesus is the Christ, true God and man that should come into the world. This is (1) Proved. (2) Applyed.

I. This Truth is Proved by many Testimonies viz. 1. Of the Law, under the Old Testament, Typically prefiguring Christ, This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ, not by water only, but by water and blood. This points at, and alludes to (q) the type & Anti-type. The Type is Summarily reduced to two heads, viz. water, i.e. The Ceremoniall washings by water. And Blood, i.e. The blood of Expiatory Sacrifices. The Anti-type Christ, Answers to both these branches of the Type, And that two wayes; Partly, Symbolically in giving a visible signe of the fulfilling of those Types in him upon the Crosse, (r) water and blood mysteriously coming out of his side. Partly, really in vouchsafing us compleat spiritual purifying from sin; From guilt of sin, by his blood, fully expiating

II. This truth thus Proved is Applyed, by way of Exhortation. John exhorts them to give credit to these testimonies touching Jesus being the Christ, and that for divers Reasons; 1. Because this Testimony of the Father touching his Son is Divine, farre transcending the Authority and credit of all Humane testimonies, ver. 9. 2. Because, He that beleeves on the Son hath the witnesse in himself, viz. the Spirit and his own conscience testifying that Jesus is the Christ, ver. 10. 3. Because He that believes not God, [1] Makes God a Lyer, in not beleeving his record, that he hath given us eternall life in his Son, ver. 10, 11. [2] Testifies he hath not the Son, nor life by him, as contrariwise he that beleeves hath, ver. 12. 4. Because they that beleeve on the name of the Son of God, have great advantages thereby, (for promoting of which faith, and benefits thereof, John wrote this Epistle) viz. [1] Have eternall life. II. John.

§. I. Name.

THE second Epistle of JOHN the Apostle] This Epistle of John is not, as the first, Catholique or Generall, but Particular; being written to Particular persons. viz. (a) To an Elect Lady and her children. Who she was, is not known: Some think that ELECT was her proper name, but thats improbable: for then John would not have said, To the Elect Lady: but, To the Lady ELECT.

(a) 2 John 1.

Some

Some turn this into an Allegory, and ſay that by the Elect Lady John intended the whole Chriſtian Church: but this is moſt unlikely; and plainly repugnant to this Epiſtle it ſelf. For 1. To write to the whole Chriſtian Church, under the notion of an Elect Lady, is ſo unuſual, that we find no ſuch thing done in all the New Teſtament. 2. This Epiſtle not onely mentions this [b] Lady and her children. But alſo ſends her ſalutations from the [c] children of her Elect Siſter. 2. The Apoſtle ſpeaks of his intention, [d] to come and ſee her, and ſpeak face to face. Which cannot be underſtood of the whole Chriſtian Church. She is [e] thought to be ſome eminent religious Matron of great eſtate, who much relieved and ſupported the members of the Church in her days.

§. II. Penman.

Some think the Penman of this Epiſtle, was another John then the Apoſtle; [f] Euſebius reports it out of Papias, the diſciple of John the Presbyter: that beſides John the Apoſtle, the beloved diſciple, there was another of that name, viz. John the Presbyter. That they both lived in Aſia, and that each of them had a Sepulcher at Epheſus, and that its very probable John the Presbyter ſaw and wrote the Revelation. (But this laſt I ſhall evidence to be a miſtake when I come to the Revelation.) And [g] Hierom after him notes, That ſome think this ſecond and the third Epiſtle of John, were not the Epiſtles of John the Apoſtle, but of John the Presbyter, who alſo is reported to have publiſhed that opinion of Chriſts reign in the fleſh with the Saints, after the Reſurrection a thouſand years, &c. But this opinion that another John then John the Apoſtle, ſhould be Author of theſe two Epiſtles, ſeems to be a plain miſtake; for, 1. The Greek Copies call it in the Title, The ſecond Epiſtle of John the Apoſtle. 2. The Matter of the Epiſtle is not only Divine and Apoſtolical: but notably owns John to be the Writer, wherein the Old and the New Commandment; Chriſtian-love; walking in the truth; and taking heed of Seducers and Anti-chriſts, are preſſed at in the firſt Epiſtle of John. So that this is Johns genuine language. And almoſt in the [h] ſame words and manner of phraſe, if well compared together. 3. The [i] Salutation is plainly Apoſtolical. And notably reliſheth of John's Spirit. 4. Both [k] ancient and [l] modern Writers account this Epiſtle Canonical, and aſcribe it unto John the Apoſtle. So that this Epiſtle, being written by John the Apoſtle is of unqueſtionable Authority.

Some turn this into an Allegory, and ſay that by the Elect Lady John intended the whole Chriſtian Church: but this is moſt unlikely; and plainly repugnant to this Epiſtle it ſelf. For 1. To write to the whole Chriſtian Church, under the notion of an Elect Lady, is ſo unuſual, that we find no ſuch thing done in all the New Teſtament. 2. This Epiſtle not onely mentions this [b] Lady and her children. But alſo ſends her ſalutations from the [c] children of her Elect Siſter. 2. The Apoſtle ſpeaks of his intention, [d] to come and ſee her, and ſpeak face to face. Which cannot be underſtood of the whole Chriſtian Church. She is [e] thought to be ſome eminent religious Matron of great eſtate, who much relieved and ſupported the members of the Church in her days.

§. III. Occaſion.

Some think that John's familiar Chriſtian acquaintance with this Elect Lady, gave him Occaſion of writing this Epiſtle. Others rather think it was written againſt the Antichriſtian hereſie of [m] Baſilides and his followers, who taught that Chriſt was not a true man but a phantaſme, and therefore that he neither did, nor ſuffer'd thoſe things which he is ſaid to do and ſuffer. Why may not both well ſtand together? John took Occaſion, Partly from his Chriſtian acquaintance with this pious Lady; Partly from the wicked hereſies of Baſilides and others in thoſe times, denying Jeſus to be the Chriſt: to write this Epiſtle to caution believers againſt them.

§. IV. Scope.

The chief Scope and intent therefore of John in this brief Epiſtle, is; To incite the elect Lady and her children, (whom he commends for [n] walking in the truth,) to perſevere in the [o] *truth, and carefully to ſhun all hereſical Seducers that bring not Chriſts Doctrine. §. V. Principal Parts.

In this II Epiſtle of John, (which is very ſhort,) are conſiderable, 1. The Preface. 2. The Subſtance of the Epiſtle. 3. The Concluſion.

THE PREFACE contains, I. The Inſcription, expreſſing, 1. The Perſon writing, The Elder. 2. The Perſons written to, Unto the Elect Lady and her children. 3. A teſtification of the Apoſtle's, and other's ſincere love to the Lady and her children. And this for the common Truth or faith, which is, and ever ſhall be in them all. 2 John ver. 1, 2. II. The Salutation, or pious Prayer of the Apoſtle for them, wherein note, 1. The bleſſings prayed for in their behalfe, Grace, Mercy, and Peace. 2. The Fountain whence they are to flow; From God the Father, and from the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Son of the Father. 3. The Adjuncts or companions of thoſe bleſſings wiſhed for; In Truth and Love, ver. 3. I.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Epiſtle is wherein the Apoſtle I. Congratulates with the Lady, that ſome of her children walked in the truth, as they had received commandment from the Father. v. 4. II. Exhorts to conſtancy in the ancient Doctrine, or commandment of Brotherly Love, Obedience and Truth, v. 5, 6. III. Warns them againſt Seducers, denying Chriſts Incarnation: 1. Shewing the danger of them; in that, (1) They are Many. (2) They are Deceivers. (3) They are Antichriſts, v. 7. (4) If they look not to themſelves againſt theſe Seducers, They will, Partly, loſe what they have already wrought or gain'd. Partly, miſſe their full reward, v. 8. (5) Whoſoever tranſgreſſeth and abideth not in the Doctrine of Chriſt, hath not God. But contrariwiſe, he that abideth in the Doctrine of Chriſt, he hath both the Father and the Son, ver. 9. 2. Forbidding them all familiarity, and fellowſhip with ſuch Denyers of Chriſts Doctrine, leſt they partake in their ſins. If there come any unto you, and bring not this Doctrine, receive him not into your houſe, neither bid him God ſpeed. For he that biddeth him God ſpeed, is partaker of his evil deeds, ver. 10, 11. II.

THE CONCLUSION of the Epiſtle. 1. With Intimation that he omits writing many other things, hoping to come to them, and ſpeak to them by word of mouth, That their joy may be full, ver. 12. 2. With Salutations from her Elect Siſter's Children, ver. 13.

III. John.

§. I. Name, and Penman.

THe third Epiſtle of JOHN the Apoſtle.] This Epiſtle is not General, but Particular; written to Gaius.

Penman of this Epiſtle alſo, as of the former, was John the Apoſtle, and therefore it is Authentique and Canonical. Both theſe are evident by all the four reaſons alledged, touching Johns Second Epiſtle. And the Word, Phraſes, and Method of theſe two Epiſtles harmoniouſly agree, as an intentive Reader may well obſerve. John directs this Epiſtle, [a] To the well-beloved-Gaius; but what Gaius this was is not ſo evident. Scripture mentions three perſons of this name, viz. 1. Gaius of [b] Macedonia. 2. Gaius of [c] Derbe. 3. Gaius of [d] Corinth Whom Paul calls [e] Gaius mine Hoſt, and of the whole Church, writing from Corinth to the Romanes. This Gaius was a man eminent for Hoſpitality, eſpecially to the Miniſters and Members of the Church of Chriſt. Perhaps this Gaius of Corinth. was the Gaius to whom here John alſo writes; For, 1. He is ſingularly commended here for his [f] charity and hoſpitality. 2. The conſent of writers ſubſcribes hereunto. As [g] Lorinus teſtifies. However he was a very eminent man in the Church.

When or where this Epiſtle was written, is not certainly known.

§. II. Occasion.

h 3 Joh. 6, 7, 8. Its very probable by the subject-matter of this Epistle, that John took Occasion of writing this Epistle, from consideration of the bountifulnesse and hospitablenesse of Gaius; which John had occasion to improve towards some h Ministers, that went to preach to the Gentiles gratis, who seem to have brought this Epistle from John to Gaius.

§. III. Scope.

His cheife intent or Scope in this Epistle, is 1. To request Gaius according to his i wonted bounty and benevolence to the Saints, to bring forward on their Journey certain Ministers that went to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles. 2. To brand Diotrephes k for his pride, malicious calumnies and opposition against the Apostle and the brethren. 3. And to commend l Demetrius.

§. IV. Principall parts, or Analyticall Exposition.

In this III. Epistle of JOHN the Apostle, are 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance of the Epistle. 3. The Conclusion.

I. THE PREFACE, contains, I. The Inscription, describing 1. The Person writing, the Elder. 2. The Person written to; by his name, and by his true deareste unto the Apostle, Unto the well beloved Gaius, whom I love in the truth, 3 John v. 1. II. The Salutation, containing the Apostles well-wishing Prayer for him. Wherein note, 1. The earnestnesse of the Apostles wish. Beloved, I wish above all things. 2. The blessings wished or prayed for in his behalfe, viz. [1] Prosperity, that thou maist prosper. [2] Health, for enjoyment of that prosperity, And be in health. 3. The Measure or proportion of these blessings wished for, Even as thy soul prospereth, ver. 2.

II. THE SUBSTANCE of the Epistle is 1. Gratulatory. 2. Hortatory.

I. Gratulatory, wherein the Apostle singularly commends Gaius, I. For his Piety, which was in him, and wherein he walked. The truth that is in thee, even as thou (m) walkest in the truth. This is 1 confirmed by the Testimony of the Brethren. 2. Amplified by John's exceeding great joy to hear that his spirituall children walk in the Truth, and Gaius in particular, ver. 3, 4. II. For his Charity and Hospitality; set forth, 1. By his fidelity in it. Beloved thou dost faithfully. 2 By the extent of it, (1) To the Brethren, viz. the Brethren of the Ministry, as after appeares. (2) To Strangers, persecuted and scattered, ver 5. 3. By the testimony hereof given by them before the Church, ver. 6.

II. Hortatory wherein he exhorts Gaius to bring on their journey certaine Brethren, (perhaps by them John wrote this Epistle) who went forth to preach unto the Gentiles. This request is (1) Urged and (2) Amplified.

1. This Exhortation is Urged by divers Arguments. As, 1. Because, This was a good and pious work. Whom if thou bring forward in their journey after a godly sort thou shalt do well, ver. 6. 2. Because, these Brethren travelled to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles, not for private gaine, But for Christs glory, ver 7. 3. Because, we ought therefore (n) to receive such. 4. Because, by receiving and assisting such, we become fellow-helpers to the Truth, ver. 8.

2. This Exhortation is Amplified. I. By the Apostles Intimation, that he wrote to the Church about this Matter also, but fears it would be to small effect by reason of Diotrephes, &c. I wrote unto the Church, but Diotrephes &c. Here 1. His faults are recited, viz. (1) His Pride in the Church; who loves to have the Preheminence among them. (2) His contempt of the Apostle; receiveth us not, ver. 9. (3) His Malice against the Apostle; prating against us with malicious words. (4) His not Receiving of the Brethren. (5) His forbidding them that would. (6) His casting them out of the Church, viz. by Excommunication. 2. He for these faults is threatned by the Apostle, ver 10 II. By the Apostles cautioning of Gaius, not to follow or imitate this evil example of Diotrephes, or of any other: but that which is good. 1. Because, he that doth good, is of God. 2. Because, he that doth evil hath not seen God. III. By the Apostles contrary commendation of Demetrius. As having a good report, 1. Generally, of all men. 2. Really, of the truth it self. 3. Peculiarly, of John, ver. 12.

Jude.

§. I. Name and Penman.

THe Catholique (or General) Epistle of the Apostle IUDAS;] Thus denominated from[a] Iude the Penman who wrote it, and from the Persons to whom it was written, viz. The same to whom Peter wrote his second Epistle, they for substance being both the same.

Penman of it was Judas[b] the brother of James. Judas is Originally an Hebrew name, viz. יהודה Jehudah, which signifieth Praise: from הודה Hodah, that is, He hath confessed, he hath praised. This name was first given to the fourth son of Jacob by Leah, because at his birth his mother[c] praised the Lord. From him the tribe of Judah was denominated. There were two Apostles that had this name, viz. 1. Judas[d] Iscariot, that[e] had the bag, and betrayed Christ. And afterwards in some sort[f] repented, restored the thirty pieces, and hanged himself. So that he[g] burst asunder in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out, and so he went to his own place. 2. Judas[h] the brother of James, viz. Of James the son of Alpheus; Who, after the death of[i] James the brother of John, was famous at Jerusalem[k] among the Apostles. Where he is conceived by[l] Beza to keep his chief abode, that he might teach the Jews that resorted thither out of all Nations; unto which Jews especially, Judas here seems principally to write, and therefore mentions James. This Judas is also called[m] Lebbeus, i.e. Hearty; and surnamed Thaddæus, which is in the Syriack the same with Judas in Hebrew. Hierome writes thus of him; [n] Simon the Canaanite, &c. He it is who in another Evangelist is called Zelotes. For Chana is interpreted Zeale. Ecclesiasticall history delivers that Thaddæus the Apostle was sent to Edessa, to Abagarus King of Chosdroena, who by the Evangelist Luke is called, [o] Judas the brother of James; and elsewhere he is named Lebbæus, which is interpreted [p] A little heart; And it is to be believed that he had three names; As Simon Peter and the sons of Zebedee, are named Boanarges from the firmness and greatness of their faith.

Of this Judas his Conversion, or peculiar calling to the Apostleship, the Scripture speaks not particularly: But onely of his being numbred with the twelve Apostles, and of his writing of this present Epistle. We read little of him in Scripture besides that question which he put to Christ, at or immediately after the Supper, [q] Lord how is it that thou wilt manifest thy self to us, and not unto the World? To which Christ replyes; If a man love me he will keep my words, and my father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him, &c. This Judas is[r] supposed to preach the Gospel in Judæa, Galilee, Samaria, Idumæa, Arabia, Syria, and a long time in Mesopotamia. As also in Pontus, Egypt, and at last in Persia, where the Magi slew him for his free and faithful reproving of their superstitions. Of his Posterity see what[s] Eusebius reports out of Hegesippus, too long here to recite.

The Authority of this Epistle, (though suspected heretofore by some, and that upon very inconsiderable gounds; yet) is now[t] generally acknowledged to be Divine; eſpecially conſidering that, 1. Judas u the brother of James, one of the Apoſtles, wrote it 2. The matter of it, yea, and moſt of the very phraſes and words, are the ſame with thoſe of the Second Epiſtle of Peter, if they be diligently x compared together, both which Epiſtles breath forth nothing but Divine and Heavenly Doctrine. 3. Antiquity hath received this Epiſtle as Authentique, and part of the Divine Canon. Euſebius ſaith, y The Books doubted of, but received by moſt, are the Epiſtles of James and Jude, the Second of Peter, the Second and Third of John. Hierom ſaith, z Judas the brother of James wrote a ſmall Epiſtle, one of the Catholique Epiſtles, and becauſe he takes a teſtimony from the Book of Enoch, which is Apocryphal, it is rejected by many, but by Antiquity and uſe it challengeth Authority, and is reckoned among the holy Scriptures. a Tertullian and b Cyprian alledge this Epiſtle of Jude as part of holy Scripture. Oecumenius comments upon Judes whole Epiſtle. c Auguſtine and others, who recite the Catalogue of the Books of Scripture, reckon Judes Epiſtle among the reſt.

Arguments or Objections to the contrary are invalid, Theſe the principal.

Object. 1. This Epiſtle recites Hiſtories no where elſe to be found in Scripture; as d the contending of Michael the Arch-Angel with the Devil, about the body of Moſes.

d Jude 9.

Anſw. 1. Divers ſtories are pointed at in New Teſtament, which we finde not in the Old Teſtament. As that e Jannes and Iambres withſtood Moſes. That at Mount Sinai, f Moſes ſaid, I exceedingly fear and quake: Shall therefore theſe Epiſtles Authority be ſuſpected? 2. Theſe ſtories (though formerly unwritten, but happily derived by tradition from hand to hand, yet) now are written by guidance of the Spirit of God. And the writing of them rather aſſures us of the truth of theſe Hiſtories, then detracts from the Authority of the Books wherein they are recorded. 3. This ſtory hath ſome footſteps in g Deuteronomy. Whereupon ſome ſay, h The Angel would have buried Moſes, but the Devil challenged Moſes to be his own, becauſe of his killing the Egyptian, and therefore withſtood him. But i others better; God knowing Iſraels proneneſſe to idolatry, leſt they ſhould commit idolatry with Moſes dead body, (as after they did with the Brazen Serpent) buried him no man knowing where, and the Devil endeavouring to diſcover it, the Angel withſtood him.

Anſw 1. Some think in Judes time there was a l Canonical Book of Enoch extant. 2. Others ſay better then they, ſuppoſe Enochs Book were Apocryphal, yet in Apocryphal Books there's ſome truth, and why may not this Apoſtle alledge this paſſage out of Enochs Propheſie, without approving that whole Book, or diſveſting this Epiſtle of its Authority; as well as the Author to the Hebrews, alledge ſome paſſages out of the Book of m Maccabees; or Paul ſome ſentences out of n Heathen Authors and Poets. 3. Others o think this Propheſie of Enoch was rather Real then Verbal, viz. reſpecting the order of the Patriarchs, that as death by reaſon of ſin had reigned over the ſix firſt fathers, Adam, Seth, Enos, Cainan, Mahalelel, Iared, but could not touch the ſeventh, Enoch: ſo death ſhall reign over the world ſix thouſand years, (which ſhall ſo long continue,) but in the ſeven thouſandth year eternal life shall begin, and death shall be swallowed up in victory. 4. But others best of all understand here, (as the Text seems evidently to carry it.) Enochs verbal Prophecy, which either was extant in writing in the Apostles days, but now lost as Master p Perkins noteth; or, though not written, yet Jude received by Traditions, or rather by Revelation of the same spirit of God by which Enoch prophecied, and here recorded as part of the Divine Cannon.

Object. 2. Jude alledges other q Apostles sayings; therefore seems rather to be a disciple of the Apostles, then an Apostle himself, especially seeing he calls not himself an Apostle, but r the servant of Jesus Christ. And therefore this Epistle is not Authentical.

Answ. 1. Though it could be proved Jude was not an Apostle, yet it therefore follows not his Epistle is not Authentical. Mark and Luke were not Apostles, yet the three Books they wrote are of unquestionable Authority. The Authority of Books of Scripture, are not from the Penmen writing them, but from the Spirit of God inditing them. 2. Daniel cites s Jeremiah. Ezekiel cites t Daniel. Were they therefore not Prophets, but Prophets disciples? Peter alledgeth u Pauls Epistles; was Peter therefore no Apostle, but only a disciple? 3. Jude's alledging the other Apostles, derogates not from the Authority of his Epistle, but proves that Jude wrote after both x Paul and y Peter, in whose Epistle, these Predictions are extant. 4. Finally, though Judas here call not himself an Apostle, that argues not therefore he was not an Apostle. James in his z Epistle, John in his a three Epistles, Paul in his Epistle to the b Philippians, and in both his Epistles to the c Thessalonians, superscribe not themselves Apostles; were they therefore not Apostles? But Judas here stiles himself d the brother of James, and that is full as much as if he had stiled himself an Apostle; for the texts are expres that Judas the brother of James, was e one of the twelve Apostles.

Object. 4. But Jude the Apostle taught in Persia, and therefore had he written this Epistle, he would rather have written it in the Persian, then Grecian tongue.

Answ. 1. Its not infallibly certain that Jude was in Persia when he wrote this Epistle. 2. There is no necessity of the Apostles writing in the language of the People, with whom they then lived. Matthew lived among the Ethiopians, Paul at Rome when he wrote some of his Epistles, yet they wrote not in Ethiopick or Latin, but in Greek; Greek being then the most common language in the World, the Holy Ghost would have Greek to be the Original language for the New Testament, as the Hebrew especially for the Old. And Jude's Epistle is Catholique or General, and therefore was written in Greek the general tongue

When and Where this Epistle was written is uncertain. f Some think this Apostle was in Persia or Asia minor where the Simonian Hereticks abounded, when he wrote it, viz. A year before he dyed, and that he there died anno. 68. after Christ. §. IV. Occasion.

Occasion seems (from the current of the h Epistle,) to be those abominable heresies, impieties and impurities of the Simonians, Nicolaitans, Gnosticks, &c. i abounding in those times, who held Sin to be indifferent, women and all things to be common, &c. By which cursed and abominable Seducers, the truth and wayes of God were betrayed, and blasphemed, and the People of God endangered. To this purpose saith k Oecumenius, He writes this Epistle to them that now believed. And this was the Occasion; certain men covertly coming-in, and teaching that sin was a thing indifferent, indifferent, and denying the Lord; he held it necessary to write and confirme the Brethren.

§. V. Scope.

The Apostles Scope in this Epistle, is, To warn all the [l] faithful Hebrews in those times, of the cursed heretiques, ungodly Seducers that were [m] cunningly crept in among them; That they [n] contend earnestly for the true faith, against all their damnable errours and heresies, who turned the grace of God into lasciviousnesse, and denyed the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ; and for purity and holinesse of life, against all their impure, lustful, licentious and ungodly practices, From both which that he might dissuade believers effectually, he brings in the dreadful instances of [o] Divine vengeance for like impurities and impieties; He lively describes the [p] notorious corruptions of these Seducers, Uncleannesse, Contempt and reviling of Magistrates, Cruelty, Covetousnesse, Epicurisme, Emptinesse, Barrennesse to good, Turbulency and Levity. He severely [q] threatens them; He produceth the Testimony of [r] Enoch and the Apostles against them. And finally by way of Antidote against them, He directs them [s] how to persevere in faith and godlinesse themselvs, and [t] how to pluck others out of these Seducers ensnarements.

§. VI. Principal parts, or Analytical Explication.

In this Epistle of Jude are these general branches, viz. 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance or Subject-matter of the Epistle. 3. The Conclusion.

I. THE PREFACE contains, I. The Inscription; which Describeth 1. The Person writing, (1) Partly, by his Name, Jude. (2) Partly, by his Office, The Servant of Jesus Christ, viz. in the Apostlesship and Ministry of the Gospel. (3) Partly, by his Relation, And brother of James, viz. of James son of Alpheus. 2. The Persons written to, (1) Partly, by their Vocation, To the called-ones. (2) Partly, by their Sanctification, Sanctified by God the Father. (3) Partly, by their Preservation in this their holy state by Christ And Preserved in Jesus Christ. Jude, ver.1. II. The Salutation, wherein he prayes in their behalf for the Multiplication of 1. Mercy. 2. Peace. 3 Love unto them, *ver.*2.

u Christi servum se vocat non qualiter promiscue nomen hoc in omnes pios competit: Sed Apostolatus sui respectu. Peculiariter enim consentur Christi servi, quibus publicum aliquod munus injunxit. Joan. Calvin. Comment. in Jude 1.

II. THE SUBSTANCE, or SUBJECT-MATTER of the Epistle is comprehended 1. In the maine Proposition or Exhortation of the Epistle. 2. In the Arguments enforcing it. 3. In Hortatory Directions in Order thereunto.

I. The maine Proposition of the Epistle. In laying down whereof he declares, I. what he intends to treat of in this Epistle, and that 1. More generally, of the Common Salvation and that with all diligence. Beloved, when I gave all Diligence to write unto you of the Common Salvation. 2. More particularly, of their earnest contending for the Faith; It was needful for me to write unto you, and Exhort you, That ye should earnestly contend for the Faith which was once delivered to the Saints. Here (1) The true Faith is described, The Faith once delivered to the Saints. (2) The zeal they should shew for this Faith, is declared; That ye should earnestly contend. (Gr. x Contend-as-in-an-Agony.) (3) The necessity of the Apostles Exhortation of them hereunto, is intimated, It was needful for me, &c. ver. 3. II. What gave the Apostle occasion to write to them from this Argument, viz. Divers wicked Heretical Seducers crept in among them. For there are certain men, &c. These are described, 1. By their Subtilty, in y creeping-in-unawares, as-by-stealth. 2. By their Impiety; Ungodly men. 3. By their Heresie, (1) Turning the Grace of God into Lasciviousnesse. Abusing the Doctrine of Gods rich and free Grace, to the Patronizing and encouraging themselves and others in all carnal lewdnesse, uncleannesse and beastly lusts; As Simonians, Carpocratians and others did. (2) Denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ. 4. By their being fore-written, or preordained of God of old to this judgment, God having most justly decreed to leave them to these Errours, and to give them up therein to their owne Damnation; Who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ver.4.

y Verbum παρεισδυσαν quo utitur, obliquam & furtivam insinuationem notat; qui Satanæ ministri incautos decipiunt. Io. Calv. Com. in Jude 4.

II. The Arguments enforcing the Exhortation and Exhortation upon them, viz. That they earnestly contend for the Faith once delivered to the Saints. Taking heed of these subtile, wicked, lascivious, blasphemous and reprobate Seducers, are chiefly drawn from 1. The Dreadfull Examples of Gods wrath upon like offenders of old. 2. The Horrid Corruptions of these Seducers. 3. The Testimonies of holy men against them.

1. From the Dreadfull examples of Gods vengeance inflicted in former times for like impieties, wherof these seducers are guilty, & whereunto they would allure others. As 1. For Unbelief For which the Israelites were destroyed, after they were saved out of the Land of Egypt, *ver.*5. 2. For Apostacy; For

For which even the Angels are reſerved in everlaſting chains of darkneſs unto the judgement of the great day, v 6. 3. For Prodigious luſt and uncleanneſs; for which Sodom, Gomorrha, and the Cities about them, are ſet forth for an example, ſuffering the vengeance of eternal fire, ver. 7.

II. From the horrid corruptions of thoſe Seducers. Which corruptions are 1. Deſcribed. 2. Threatned.

1. Their Corruptions are lively and particularly deſcribed, viz. I. Luſtful uncleanneſs; Likewiſe alſo, theſe filthy Dreamers defile the fleſh, ver. 8. II. Contempt and Calumniating of Magiſtrates; Deſpiſe Dominion, and ſpeak evil of Dignities, ver. 8. This is aggravated by a compariſon of the Greater with the Leſs. 1. The Greater, viz. The example of Michael, who (1) Though the Arch-Angel, Moſt ſingular in Power and Knowledge. (2) Diſputing with the Devil about the body of Moſes, viz. with the worſt adverſary, in a juſt cauſe. (3) Yet durſt not bring in a railing Accuſation againſt him, but committed his cauſe to God, ſaying The Lord rebuke thee, ver. 9. 2. The Leſſer, viz. Theſe Seducers (1) Revile, or ſpeak evil. (2) They ſpeak evil of thoſe things which they know not. (3) What they know naturally as bruit beaſts, in thoſe things they corrupt themſelves, v. 10. III. Cruelty to their brethren, They have gone in the way of Cain. IV. Covetouſneſs, adulterating the Truth for baſe Gain. And ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward. V. Seditiouſneſs in diſturbing the Order and Peace of the Church; And periſhed in the gain-ſaying of Core, ver. 11. VI. Epicuriſme in their Love-Feaſts; which is 1. Deſcribed; when they feaſt with you, feeding themſelves without fear. 2. Aggravated by the Scandalouſneſs thereof; Theſe are ſpots in your Love-Feaſts. VII. Vain-glorious, emptineſſe and Hypocriſie; Clouds they are without water, carried about of winds. VIII. Utter Deadneſſe, and Barrenneſſe to all good ſpiritual fruit; Trees whoſe fruit withereth, without fruit twice dead plucked up by the roots, ver. 12. IX. Turbulency and, Reſtleſs impetuouſneſs in their Courſe, at laſt only detecting their own ſhame and folly. Raging waves of the Sea, foaming out their own ſhame. X. Extream levity and inconſtancy; Wandring ſtars, ver 13.

2. Their Corruptions are threatned 1. More Generally with woe; Woe unto them, ver. 11. 2. More Particularly with Hells everlaſting darkneſs; To whom is reſerved the blackneſs of darkneſs for ever, ver. 13.

III. From the teſtimonies of the Holy men againſt them; viz of 1. Enoch. 2. The Apoſtles.

1. The Teſtimony of Enoch. And Enoch alſo, the ſeventh from Adam, propheſied of theſe, &c. Here (1) Enoch is deſcribed. (2) This Prophecy is recited. (3) This Prophecy is Applyed to the preſent Seducers. 1. Enoch who propheſyed of theſe, is deſcribed to be, the ſeventh from Adam. II. His prophecy of the Lords coming to judgement is recited; Wherein beſides the note of attention, Behold; Conſider, 1. The Judge; The Lord cometh, &c. 2. The Glorious Traine attending this Judge, Commeth with ten thouſands of his Saints, (which Saints ſhall alſo be Aſſeſſors with him in judgement.) v. 14. 3. The parties to be judged, Generally, All. Specially, All that are ungodly among them. 4. The Proceſſe, or Acts of judgement intended, viz. (1) More Generally, To execute judgement upon all. (2) More Specially, to convince all that are ungodly among them. So that they ſhall clearly ſee they are moſt juſtly damned for their ſins. ¶. The crimes for which theſe ungodly ones ſhall be judged, are; (1) All their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed. (2) All their hard ſpeeches, which ungodly ſinners have ſpoken againſt him, ver. 15. III. This prophecy is accommodated and applyed to theſe preſent Seducers, who are Evidenced to be guilty of Ungodly Deeds and Hard words; in that they are 1. Murmurers, viz. againſt Divine diſpenſations. 2. Complainers, viz. againſt their own condition, againſt others, never contented. 3. Walking after their own luſts. 4. Their mouth ſpeaketh Great-ſwelling-words. Deſpiſing the vulgar Dialect, They vaunt themſelves in lofty ſtrange Exotick Notions, whereby they pretend to rap up their deceived ones above the Heavens, as Calvin z elſewhere noteth. ¶. Having mens perſons in admiration, becauſe of advantage, viz. with baſe flatteries inſinuating themſelves into the favour of rich and great ones for worldly gain, ver. 16.

z Dicas meta eos Tonitrua ſonare: Nam Communi ſermone ſpreto, exoticum neſcio quod idioma ſibi fingunt: poſtquam viſi ſunt ſuos diſcipulos ſupra cælum tapere, repentè in belluinos errores procidunt. Calvin. Comment. in Iud. 13.

2. The Teſtimony of the Apoſtles, (eſpecially of Paul and Peter;) But beloved, remember ye the words which were ſpoken before of the Apoſtles of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, That they told you there ſhould be mockers——&c. In which Apoſtolical Prediction Note, 1. The thing foretold; That there ſhould be mockers, who ſhould walk after their own ungodly luſts. 2. The time when theſe ſhould appear; In the laſt time, ver. 17, 18. 3. The accommodation of the Apoſtles Prediction, to the preſent Hereticall Seducers; deſcribed (1) By their Schiſmaticalneſſe, Theſe be they who ſeparate themſelves. (2) By their meere carnalneſſe, Senſuall (Gr. Animall,) having not the Spirit, ver. 16.

III. The Hortatory Directions ſubjoyned by way of Remedy, or Antidote againſt theſe Seducers and their Seducements, are divers. As 1. That they Edifie themſelves on their moſt Holy Faith. 2. That, they Pray in the Holy Ghoſt, viz. by his aſſiſtance, ver. 20. 3. That, by both the former Courſes, they keep themſelves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt unto eternal life. So perſevering in Truth and Godlineſſe, ver. 21. 4. That, they be ſollicitous and careful to deliver their brethren out of the ſnares of theſe Seducers. Wherein they are are Directed to deale differently with different persons, making a difference, viz. [1] To have compassion of some, dealing more tenderly with the weak, simple, seduced ones, ver. 22. [2] To save others, viz. hardned ones, and seducers, pulling them out of the fire; Partly, with fear, convincing them of their Errours with Terrour, &c. Partly with extream detestation of all partnership with them in their fleshly impurities, hating even the Garment spotted with the flesh. A Metaphor from Garments legally unclean, which defiled such as touched them, ver 23.

III. THE CONCLUSION of the Epistle Consists of a Doxology, or giving Glory to God; In which Doxology I. He describes God, (whom he Glorifies and Praises,) divers wayes suitably to his fore-going Exhortations, and to the encouragement of the faithful, viz. 1. By his power; Now unto him that is Able [1] To keep you from falling; And [2] To present you faultlesse before the presence of his Glory, with exceeding joy, ver. 24. 2. By his Wisdome; to the only wise God. 3. By his saving Property; Our Saviour. II. He Ascribes unto this God. 1. Glory. 2. Majesty, or Greatnesse. 3. Dominion. 4. Power, or Authority: And all as due to him, Now and for ever, Amen, ver. 25.

Hitherto of all the Historical and Epistolical Books of the New Testament. Now in the last place the Prophetical Book comes to be considered.

III. THE PROPHETICAL BOOK of the New Testament, viz. The Revelation.

§. I. Name, Nature of the Book, and Penman thereof

THE PROPHETICAL BOOK of the New Testament, Prophetically foretelling what shall be the future condition of the Church of Christ in all ages to the end of the world is the REVELATION OF JOHN THE DIVINE. This may well be called a Prophetical Book: For 1. The Holy Ghost himself divers times stiles it a [a] Prophecy. 2. The nature of the Book is chiefly Prophetical, as the Series of the Book implyes; and also some passages plainly testifie that it treats of b things which must shortly come to pass. And of [c] things which shall be hereafter.

1. Title This Book in Greek is called [d] [Ἀποκάλυψις Ἰωάννου τοῦ Θεολόγου,] i. e. The Apocalypse (or Revelation) of John the Divine; whereby are indigitated to us both the nature of the Book, and the Penman of it.

2. Nature of the Book, A Revelation.] So called, because it reveals and makes known unto us secret hidden mysteries, and future events. Its true, this Revelation is not without mixture of much intricateness and obscurity. Hierome saith of it; [e] The Revelation of John hath as many mysteries as words, nay, I have said but a small matter, in respect of the merit of the Volume; all I raise is too low for it; manifold understanding lie hid in every word. Being a Prophecy of future Occurrents till the end of the World, how can it chuse but be extreamly difficult, and hard to be understood? For, as Irenæus upon another occasion hath observed, [f] All Prophecies are anigmatical and ambignous to men, till they be effected: but when the time is come, and the thing prophecied hath event, then they have a more clear and certain exposition. Now as Augustine well noteth, [g] In this Book intituled The Revelation, many things are spoken obscurely, that they may exercise the Readers minde: and some few things there

[f] Irenæus Adver. Hæres. l. 4. c. 43.

[g] Et in hoc quidem libro, cujus nomen est Apocalypsis, obscurè multa dicuntur, ut cupidum legentis exerceant: & pauca in eo sunt, ex quorum manifestatione in cætera cum labore maximè quia sic eadem multis modis repetit, ut alia atque alia dicere videatur: cum aliter atque aliter hæc ipse dicat, investigetur. *Aug. de Civit. are are in it, by the manifestation whereof the rest may be searched out with labour; especially because he therefore repeats the same things many waies, as if he seemed to speak other and other things; when yet he may be found out to speak the same things——otherwise and otherwise. Yea I verily believe no mortal creature on earth is able fully to understand and penetrate into all the profound depths and mysteries of this Book, which hath so exercised and puzled all Interpreters; yet this I think, If some things therein by help of Divine light may be cleared, though all cannot, he that writes shall be a gainer, and he that reads shall be no loser.

3. Penman, or Instrumental Author of it, viz. John the Theologue, or Divine. What John this was, some question. [h] Eusebius mentions two Johns, whose monuments were to be seen at Ephesus, viz. John the Evangelist, who wrote the Gospel, and first Epistle of John, and John the Presbyter, who wrote the second and third Epistle of John, and the Revelation. To him also [i] Hieron seems to incline, and [k] Dionysius Alexandrinus.

But that this is a great mistake; and that JOHN the Evangelist and Apostle was Penman of this Revelation, may be cleared by these considerations.

1. The Title attributes it to John the Divine. This Epithet we reade no where to be given to John the Presbyter, but belongs to John the Apostle, and Evangelist, [κατ' ἐξοχὴν] by way of peculiar emphasis, because like an Eagle he soars aloft; writes more sublimely of the Divinity of Jesus Christ, both in this Book (in which D. Parens hath observed XLVIII. Arguments of Christs Divinity.) as also in his [l] Gospel, and in his [m] first Epistle; and the King of Spaines Bible of Montanus his Edition, hath this Greek Title before the Revelation, [Ἀποκάλυψις τοῦ ἁγίου Ἀποστόλου καὶ Εὐαγγελίστου Ἰωάννου τοῦ Θεολόγου.] i. e. The Revelation of the holy Apostle, and Evangelist John the Divine. Which Title, (whether it were prefixed by John, or after by the Church) tends to clear this matter: The substance of this Title being consonant to the [n] Preface of the Revelation it self, nor is any way probable that Christ sent his Angel to any other John, then to John the Apostle with this Revelation.

2. John the Penman of this Book is so described, that John the Apostle and Evangelist, seems plainly to be indigitated; [o] Signified it by his Angel unto his servant John: Who bare record of the Word of God, and of the Testimony of Jesus Christ. Now how notably did John bear record of the [p] Word of God, and Testimony of Jesus Christ?

3. The stile much resembles that of John's Gospel and Epistles. As for instance, It is peculiar to John to stile [q] Christ the Word. In his Gospel Christ is stiled [r] The Lambe of God: so in the Revelation, Christ is called [s] The Lambe, at least twenty eight times.

4. That John who wrote this Revelation, had it in the [t] Isle Patmos made known unto him; who was there for the Name of God, and Testimony of Jesus Christ. And [u] histories mention no other John, but only John the Apostle to be in Patmos; banished thither by Domitian the Emperor for the Gospels sake, near to the period of his reign; As [x] Funccius computes, about the ninety seventh: As [y] Helvicus, about the 92. year after Christ.

5. To these might be added the harmonious consent of ancient Fathers and Writers, who unanimously conclude, that John the Apostle penned this book. Dionysius the Areopagite, [z] Pauls disciple; who wrote about the sixtieth year after Christ, in those [a] writings ascribed to him, calleth the Apocalypse a secret and mystical Vision of the beloved Disciple. Justin Martyr, who wrote in the one hundred and fiftieth year after Christ, [b] ascribes the Apocalypse to John one of the Apostles of Christ. To which passage Eusebius, relating, saith, [c] Justin mentions the Apocalypse of John, plainly saying it is the Apostles. Irenæus who wrote in the one hundred and eightieth year after Christ, saith; [d] And what things soever John the Disciple of the Lord saw in the Apocalypse, &c. To these might be added the suffrage of many more, both [e] Greek and [f] Latin Fathers; but in so plain a case, these may suffice.

So that by all this, its plainly evident, that the penman of the Revelation was John the Apoſtle, that wrote the Goſpel, and the Epiſtles.

The Interpretation of John's name, together with the particular deſcription of him, hath been formerly diſpatched in the opening of his g Goſpel.

g See on John §. I.

§. II. Authority of the Revelation.

The Authority of this Book is not Humane, but Divine. For,

1. This Book was indited by Jeſus Chriſt himſelf, the faithful and true witneſſe; who ſent his Angel to teſtifie the ſame to John the Apoſtle, and by him to the Churches, h The Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt which God gave unto him, to ſhew unto his ſervants things which muſt ſhortly come to paſs; and he ſent and ſignified it by his Angel unto his ſervant John. And towards the cloſe of the Book he ſaith, i I Jeſus have ſent mine Angel to teſtifie unto you theſe things in the Churches. Note; This Revelation was given by John the Apoſtle, to the Churches; by an Angel, to John; by Jeſus Chriſt, to that Angel; by God, to Jeſus Chriſt. How punctually then is the Divine Authority of it aſſerted?

2. It was penned by John the Apoſtle of Chriſt, (who was divinely inſpired and acted by the Holy Ghoſt,) as hath been formerly manifeſted, and therefore it is of Divine Authority; eſpecially conſidering that this bleſſed Apoſtle was commanded by Jeſus Chriſt to write this Book. k Saying, I am Alpha and Omega; the firſt and the laſt; and what thou ſeeſt write in a Book.——Write the things which thou haſt ſeen, and the things which are, and the things which ſhall be hereafter.

3. The nature of the Book imports the Divine Authority of it. For, 1. It is eminently l prophetical, ſpeaking of things that ſhall be hereafter; and the Prophecies of this Book, are touching future events, in reference to the Church, to the end of the world; until m the myſtery of God be finiſhed; till the n Kingdoms of this world, become our Lords and his Chriſts, and he ſhall reign for ever and ever; and till o the marriage of the Lambe be come; and his Wife (the Church) hath made her ſelf ready. So that neither ancient Writers nor any other, but ſuch as were inſpired with a ſpirit of prophecy from the all-knowing God, could p foretell things to come. 2. In the prophetical expreſſions of it, it is conſonant to other prophetical Books, and gives light to them; as to Daniel and Zechariah, but eſpecially to Ezekiel, as in the particulars of q eating up the Book; of r ſealing Gods People; of s the foure living Creatures; of t Gog and Magog; of the u meaſuring of the Temple and City; of x the two Olive Trees, &c. 3. Many things foretold in this Book prophetically, are fulfilled and come to passe actually, as Interpreters have observed in many particulars. y Therefore this Book is of divine Authority. 4. Promise of z explaining how long the idolatrous and tyrannical kingdome of Antichrist should last, was made to Daniel the Prophet; which some conceive to be fulfilled in these a Apocalyptical Visions. And had not Christ under the New Testament, left his Church some prophetical Record, for her comfort, against the horrid cruelty, idolatry and darkenesse of the Antichristian dominion, showing when it should have an end, and how happy at last the Church should be, all her enemies being universally made the footstool of the Lambe, she were in a worse condition then under the Old Testament; which were absurd.

4. As the Holy Ghost by Moses, the first Penman of the Canon of the Old Testament warned the Jewes against adding to, or diminishing from the Word of God; b You shall not adde unto the Word which I command you, neither shall you diminish from it. So by the Apostle John, the last Penman of the Canon of the New Testament, Jesus Christ warneth all persons that hear the words of this Prophecy; c If any man shall adde unto these things, God shall adde unto him the plagues that are written in this Book; And if any man shall take away from the Words of the Book of this Prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the Book of Life, and out of the Holy City, and from the things which are written in this Book. By which severe Commination, the compleat Perfection, integrity, and divine Authority of this Book is asserted by Christ, against all whom Christ foresaw, would either endeavour to infringe the Authority of it, or corrupt the purity of it. Hereby then the whole divine Canon is sealed up, as being now fully compleat, and divinely Authentical, after which we are to expect no more Scripture from God.

5. The general current of best Antiquity, (except some few particular Persons, and divers of them guilty of such heresies as this Book condemns,) hath embraced this Book, and accounted it of divine Authority. As those formerly cited, to prove John the Apostle to be Penman of it; and d many more that might be enumerated.

And the like may be seen in all those Ancient writers who have made Catalogues of the Canonical Books of Holy Scripture.

6. The Cavils and Objections, against the divine Authority of this Book, reckoned up by Erasmus or others, how weak and unsatisfactory they are, may appear in several e Writers, who have sufficiently confuted them; To whom I refer the Reader.

§. III. The Excellency of the Revelation.

The singular Excellency of this Book, is most considerable. For,

1. The Conveyance of it at first to the Church is singular, viz. From f God, to Jesus Christ; From Jesus Christ, to an Angel; From the Angel to John, whom Jesus peculiarly loved above all his Apostles and Disciples. And this to John, when in exile for Christ in the g Isle Patmos; and that not on a common day, but h on the Lords day, the Queen of days; and to John in Patmos on the Lords day, not in an ordinary but extraordinary composure and elevation of his soule; when i he was in the spirit, caught up (as it were,) and transported in an holy extasie or spiritual rapture, that he might the more attend to these mysteries Revealed, and have more immediate un-interrupted Communion with Jesus Christ the Revealer; what can all this import, but some singularly eminent treasure for the Church in this Book, whereby the Church in her deepest tribulation may be (with John) spiritually intranced and ravished with many heavenly Contemplations, and surpassing grounds of joy and consolation?

h Rev. 1. 10.

2. The stile is stately and sublime, and may wonderfully take the highest notion; The expressions quick, piercing and pathetical, and may pleasingly penetrate the dullest affection. The whole contexture is so full of divine Majesty, that it commands an awful reverence in all gracious hearts that read it.

3. The matter of it is most heavenly and spiritual, and that in exceeding great variety; Notably describing the Divinity of Christ; his Offices and the benefits of them. Clearly pointing out Antichrists Seate, Tyranny, Rise, Growth, Power, Acts and Fall

And most lively delineating the Churches condition, What it was in the primitive times after Christ; And what it should be afterwards till the worlds end; How sad, yet safe under Antichrists dominion; How sweet and happy after Antichrists destruction; How comfortable at the day of judgment; And how glorious in heaven with Jesus Christ for evermore. What Saint would not thirst much, to read and hear; more to understand; but most of all, to enjoy these things! Some of them are laid down most mystically in abstruse visions to exercise the judgments of the wisest: Some more familiarly to succour the infirmity even of the weakest. In some places, the Lambe may wade: in others, the Elephant may swim. Those prevent contempt: these anticipate discouragement. Joachimus Abbas prefers this Prophecy before the Prophecy of all other Prophets. Beza saith, k That those things in other Prophets, which were not fulfilled after Christs coming, the Holy Spirit hath heaped them altogether in this precious Book, and also added others so farre as was needful or useful for the Church to know them. Oecolampadius calls this Book, l The best Paraphrast of all the Prophets. Hierome saith, m The Revelation contains infinite mysteries of future things. And elsewhere (as hath been already noted,) he testifieth, that n The Revelation hath as many mysteries, as words. Its but a little I say, all praise is too low for the merit of this Volume, manifold understandings lye hid in every word.

4. The Book it self is compleat, o capable of no Addition or Detraction, but upon severest penalties.

5. The Penman eminent, viz. John that beloved Disciple, that sweet compound of love. It was Moses his honour, who was p Gods peculiar favourite, to be Penman of the first Book of the Old Testament. And it was John's honour, who was q Christs peculiar favourite, to be Penman of the last Book of the New Testament; Oh what Divine love and favour is made known unto the Church, in all the Volumes between the Armes of these two Favourites! Hierome thus commends John; r Peter is an Apostle; and John an Apostle; but Peter an Apostle only; John both an Apostle, and an Evangelist, and a Prophet. An Apostle, because he wrote as a Master to the Churches: An Evangelist, because he penned the Book of the Gospel: A Prophet, for he saw in the Isle Pathmos (into which he was banished by Domitian the Prince, for the testimony of the Lord,) The Revelation, containing infinite mysteries of future things.

6. Finally, God counts them blessed souls, that read, hear and keep the words of this Prophecy. s Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this Prophecy, and keep those things that are written therein. A blessed Book indeed, that renders them blessed, who are practically versed and exercised in it.

§. IV. Difficulty of the Revelation; and some Directions for the better understanding of it.

Sundry Books of Holy Scripture, are hard to be understood, especially those that are Prophetical, but among all the Prophetical Books chiefly the Revelation. It is a book full of obscure and intricate Visions, making known abstruse and hidden mysteries most mysteriously, and that in reference to future times; and therfore the acutest perspicacity is here exercised, the profoundest judgment of Interpreters is puzled and sticks, and must acknowledg here are many knots they cannot unty, and mighty deeps through which they cannot fully wade.

1. Read, Meditate, Practiſe and Pray; that thou mayſt ſpiritually underſtand. Read, what is here revealed; Meditate, on what thou readeſt; Practiſe, what thou knoweſt upon meditation; and Pray that by all theſe, and beyond all theſe, the Lord Chriſt may enable thee to know.

1. Read daily, diligently, and attentively. [n] Bleſſed is (even) he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this Prophecy. The [o] Ethiopian Eunuch read the Prophe Iſaiah, though he underſtood him not, and while he was ſo reading, the Spirit of the Lord ſends him Philip to be his Interpreter. Though thou underſtandeſt not every thing in this Revelation, yet read it often; who knows but the Spirit may ſend thee an Interpreter, yea himſelf may become an Interpreter to thee? He that reads and hears may underſtand in time; but he that doth neither, how ſhould he underſtand at all?

2. Meditate, and ponder upon what thou readeſt ſeriouſly. Its part of the bleſſed godly mans character, [p] That his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and he will meditate in his Law day and night. The Lords Word, is his Law; and this book is no mean part of his Word. The hands frequent exerciſe, makes hardeſt tasks eaſie to be done: ſo the minds frequent exerciſe, makes hardeſt truths eaſie to be known. Meditation is the minds exerciſe; ſtir up thine intellectuals, judiciouſly revolve theſe myſteries again and again in thy thoughts. If thoughts get once up upon the wing, thou canſt not tell how high they may aſpire and ſoare aloft to the diſcoverie of theſe ſublime things. And be ſure here's ſuch ſpiritualitie, ſublimity, variety, certainty and commodity of theſe divine myſteries, as are richly worth all thy intenſive contemplations. John himſelf was [q] raviſht in ſpirit, when he ſaw theſe things: thou wilt be raviſht in ſpirit alſo when thou knoweſt theſe things.

RULE II.

II Compare diligently the passages, phrases and expressions which are in the Revelation, with those of other Scriptures and Prophecies, which are either purposely alledged, or plainly alluded to. Hereby much light will be gained to many dark places in this book, and to Scripture shall expound Scripture, which is the best and surest Interpreter of it self. See this cleared in the following instances of Allegations of, or allusions to other Scriptures, which are found in this Book.

Here God is described by his eternal being, [a] which is, and which was, and which is to come: In allusion to that essential Name of God, I am that I am, and especially to IEHOVAH, which notes Gods eternal independing being, which was, is, and will be, this name including in it the Preter, Present, and Future tense. Here Christ is called [b] the first begotten of the Dead; As Paul saith of him, But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. Here its said of Christs coming to judgement. [c] Every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him, and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him: And Zechariah saith, they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourne for him, as one mourneth for his only Son, &c. Here Christs eternity is set down in the same phrase, whereby Isaiah declares Gods Eternity, [d] I am the first and the last. So that Christ is eternal God. Here Christ is described. [e] One like unto the Son of man, clothed with a Garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle. His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes as a flame of fire; and his feet like unto fine brasse, as if they burned in a furnace, and his voice as the sound of many waters. In like manner as Daniel describes the Eternal, All-knowing, Terrible and Omnipotent God; and the Son of God: And the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like pure wool —— behold a certain man clothed in Linnen, whose loyns were girded with fine gold of Uphaz. —— And his eyes as lamps of fire, and his armes and his feet like in colour to polished brasse, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude. Hence Christ is discovered to be God, Eternal, Omniscient, Omnipotent. Multitudes of such passages are observable throughout this Book, too tedious here to expresse at large; only they are here pointed at in the [f] Margin. The diligent Reader may carefully at his leasure compare these parallel places together, and thereby he will finde no small advantage for the clearer understanding of many things in this Book.

RULE III.

III. Consider accurately and weigh judiciously the intrinsecal Nature of the Revelation it self. Other Scriptures may afford some glimmerings of light to this Book, as hath been intimated; but the judicious pondering of the inward frame of this Book will yield farre clearer beams of light thereunto. Under God, The Revelation is the best expounder of the Revelation, (as g Pareus hath observed.) This the best and surest basis or foundation of the most safe, clear, and certain interpretation. To devise a proper, natural and genuine sense from it, must needs be far more cogent and satisfactory, then to obtrude or impose a devised and forced sense upon it. The great variety, uncertainty, and unsatisfactorines of Expositors upon the Revelation, seems chiefly to have risen from their not extracting their Expositions from the inward nature of the Revelation. Now in the Revelation it self, these things seem chiefly conducible to the opening and unfolding of the Mysteries therein; viz. 1. To eye the Scope of the Book. 2. To observe the Method, Series and Order of the whole Prophecy. 3. To weigh advisedly the sweet Harmony and consent of the Prophecies, and their exact contemporarines with one another. 4. To note heedfully all such visions or obscure passages, as are interpreted in the Revelation it self: for of all such the Exposition is undoubted and infallible.

g Dedi operam ut argumentum, scopum, nexum, seriem periodo singularum declararem; sed cum primis, ut Harmoniam atque consensum typorum præcedentium & sequentium, obscuriorum & apertiorum invicem, & cum typis phrasibusque veterum prophetarum evidenter ostenderem; Sicque Apocalypsin per Apocalypsin illustrarem; quæ interpretandi ratio non potest non esse tutissima & certissima. Cum enim sit evidens, typos obscuriores præcedere, clariores subsequi, & esse tamen analogos: utique ex clarioribus obscuriores investigari debent. D. Pareus in Proœm. Apoc. cap. 11.

1. Eye still the Scope of the Book. This is the common Term and Period, whereunto all the particular Prophecies and passages in the Revelation do joyntly run, and wherein they do ultimately determine. And consequently this is the Pole-star and Compasse thou art to steer by: the chief Mark and White, which thou art to aim and level at, in the interpreting of this whole Book, and all the Mysterious Visions therein contained. Like an accurate Archer therefore keep the eye of thy judgement fixed stedfastly on the Scope, (which Scope is h hereafter described;) That so far as is possible, thou shooteſt not wide, nor short, nor over.

h See in §. VII hereafter following.

2. Observe intentively the Method, Series, and Order of the whole Prophecy. This is an Ariadnes-Thread or Clew, that will conduct thee thorow the intricate Labyrinth of this Prophecy, that therein thou loseſt not thy self. This will prevent confusion in the interpreting and understanding of this Book. This will not only discover knots most clearly, but dissolve and unty many of them most successfully. This will chalk and line out thy path to the intended Scope of the whole. Now the Method and Order, which seems to lie plain before thee in this Book, is Generally, as here followeth, (Particularly, as is after described in the Principal parts, or Analytical Explication.)

(1) The whole Revelation seems plainly to be distributed into three general Branches, viz. 1. The Preface, Rev. 1.1, 2, 3. 2. The main body of the Book, from Rev. 1.4. to Rev. 22.6. 3. The Conclusion of the Book, Rev. 22.6. to the end. This is clear and evident.

(2) The main body or Substance of the Revelation seems to be disparted by Christ himself, according to the nature of the Subject-matters therein handled. i Write the things which thou hast seen, both the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter. Here the whole Revelation is comprehended under things seen. These things seen are divided into two sorts, viz. I. The things which are; this Branch is chiefly Historical. And under this Branch seems to be understood all the present affairs of the seven Churches in Asia; Described, 1. Partly in one Generall Epistle to them all, Rev. 1.4. to the end of the Chapt. 2. Partly, and especially in seven particular Epistles i Rev. 1.19.

Epiſtles directed to the ſeven Churches ſeverally, Rev. 2. and 3. throughout. II. The things which ſhall be hereafter. This Branch is chiefly Prophetical. And under this Branch ſeem evidently to be comprehended all the Prophecies, from Rev. 4. 1. to Rev. 22. 6. And in this part are lodged the chief difficulties of the Revelation.

(3) This part of the Revelation, which is moſt properly and purely Prophetical, and abſolutely the moſt abſtruſe and intricate of all, is by learned Interpreters variouſly methodized. I obſerve among them three ſeveral Opinions about the Order and Method thereof. 1. Some conceive this part is one entire continued Prophecy of future events to the end: and thus they expreſs it: Here are firſt brought in ſeven Seals opened one after another; in the ſeventh Seal are brought in ſeven Trumpets, ſounding orderly after one another; and under the ſeventh Trumpet are brought in the ſeven Vials deſtroying the Beaſt. This is the way that k Brightman, Piſcator, and Napier go. But it hath theſe two inconveniences eſpecially attending upon it, viz. Partly that they are forced to begin the Prophecy in the twelfth Chapter of the Revelation, which relates to the infancy of the Primitive Church, which ought according to order to have been ſet firſt, and ſo (as l Pareus hath well obſerved,) They make a great skip, and exceedingly diſturb the Order of the Hiſtory, which things cannot be defended. Partly, that they are neceſſitated for ſalving the former inconvenience to count the whole 12. 13. and 14. Chapters of the Revelation, to be a meer repetition of thoſe things contained in the Seals and Trumpets. Which large Repetition makes ſuch a wide chaſme and gap in the Series of the Prophecy, as is not to be indured, nor can be proved by any ſolid reaſon to be intended. 2. Some (obſerving theſe former inconveniences,) conceive that this Prophetical part was revealed to John in ſeveral diſtinct Viſions, intending the ſame things for ſubſtance: the later Viſions being clearer then the former, and interpreting them. This is the opinion of that Laborious and learned Pareus; who ſaith, m After the three Viſions hitherto explained; viz. the firſt ſpecial one of Chriſt walking among the ſeven golden Candleſticks, and admoniſhing the Aſiatick Biſhops of their Office; and two univerſal ones, of the Book ſealed with ſeven Seals opened by the Lamb, and of the ſeven Trumpets of the Angels; Now a fourth Viſion is exhibited to John, of a woman travelling with child, and a Dragon ready to devoure the child as ſoon as born, and perſecuting the woman; and of two Beaſts warring againſt the Saints, as alſo of the Lamb conquering them, and the Angels praiſing him till the laſt Harveſt of the world, Chap. 12, 13, 14. under which figures much more evidently then before, the future lot of the Church in the world is adumbrated, from the very firſt beginnings thereof under Chriſt's and the Apoſtles Miniſtry, even to the end. So he. This opinion comes nearer the Order of the Text then the former; and tends to interpret Prophecies by Prophecies, obſcurer by clearer: As n Auguſtine of old directed in reference to the Revelation as I formerly noted: but yet it ſeems herein to come ſhort: Partly, in that it tends to interpret all the Viſions touching the future lot of the Church only, and not of the laſt Empire. Partly, in that it ſeems to break off the ſeries and current of the Prophecy, (at the end of every of the ſeven viſions obſerved,) which in ſome of them ought to be continued, as the Subject-matter of them will eaſily evince to an attentive Reader. 3 Finally, Some (writing after all the former, and obſerving the inconveniences attending on both theſe Opinions) think, (and this is • Mr. Mede's Opinion and way,) that this myſterious Prophetical part of the Revelation, naturally and plainly divides it ſelf into Two diſtinct Prophecies, or Syſtemes of Prophecies, each of them reaching to the end of the world, viz. I. The firſt Prophecy, or the Firſt Syſteme and Series of Prophecies, comprehending the Viſions of the ſeven Seals, and of the ſeven Trumpets; declaring eſpecially the future lot of the Romane-Empire, the laſt of the four Monarchies of the world which Chriſt will deſtroy, from Rev. 4. 1 to Rev. 10. 8. yea to Rev. 12. 1. II. The ſecond Prophecy, or the Second Syſteme or Series of Prophecies, comprizing THE LITTLE-BOOK, and the many myſteries therein, diſcloſing peculiarly the future lot and condition of the Church of Chriſt till the judgement day,, from Rev. 12. 1. to Rev. 22. 6.

Now this last distribution of this Prophetical part of the Revelation into these Two distinct Prophecies, or into these Two distinct Systems, Series, Ranks, or Orders of Prophecies, seems in my judgement nearest to the natural current and true intent of the Revelation. For, 1. When after the end of the former Prophecy, John had taken the Little-Book, (which contains all the mysteries of the Second Prophecy,) and had eaten it up, the Angel that gave him the Book, said to him, p Thou must prophecy again before many Peoples and Nations, and Tongues, and Kings. As if he had said; thou hast prophecied once already by virtue of the vision of seven Seals and seven Trumpets; now thou must prophecy again a Second time by virtue of the Little-Book which thou hast eaten up. Thus these two Prophecies are not obscurely intimated. 2. These two Prophecies have Two distinct beginnings, and yet they begin in like manner, viz. the Second in such sort as the First. For, as the First begins with q A voice from heaven opened, as it were of a Trumpet talking with John: So the Second Prophecy begins thus; r And the voice which I heard from heaven spake unto me again, and said: Go and take the Little-Book, &c. Hence the Second Prophecy seems not to be subordinate or subsequent to the First, but coordinate thereunto. 3. These two Prophecies treat of Two distinct subjects, reveal two distinct sorts of mysteries. The First Prophecy treats of s A book in the right hand of him that sate on the Throne, written within and without, sealed with seven Seals. The Second Prophecy, of t A Little-Book, which is open in the hand of a mighty Angel, standing upon the sea and upon the earth. Consequently the Prophecies are distinct. 4. These two Prophecies, in respect of the mysteries contained in them, run exactly parallel one to another throughout, as u some have clearly demonstrated; therefore they are distinct and not the same. 5. These two Prophecies have two distinct manners of ending; The First, with x the finishing of the mystery of God, as he hath declared to his Servants the Prophets; y The Kingdoms of this world becoming our Lords and his Christs. The Second with z the binding of Satan one thousand years; The a Reigning of the Saints with Christ one thousand years; yet both these Prophecies ultimately terminate, and b meet in the General Resurrection of the dead, the general Judgement, the damnation and torments of the wicked, and the endlesse salvation and happinesse of the Righteous. Finally, inasmuch as Daniel in his Prophecy under the Old Testament, did c fore-signifie the coming of Christ, and the future state and lot of the Jewish Church, according to the Successions and Series of the IV Empires: Why should it be thought strange that John in his Prophecy under the New Testament, should foretell and measure the future lot, and affairs of the Christian Church, according to the affairs and events of that which remains of the Fourth and last, viz. the Roman-Empire, which Christs Kingdome will at last swallow up and abolish?

Object. Only here against these two distinct Prophecies, or Systemes of Prophecies, it may be objected; That this second Prophecy is made to begin in chap. 10. 8. whereas the first Prophecy ends not till the close of the eleventh chapter; which seems to be very preposterous, and much to invert the order of things.

Answ. I. It cannot be denied but that this Objection is of weight, and deserves serious consideration for here is an evident suspension or interruption of the publication or manifestation of the 7th Trumpet, from ch. 10, v. 8. to ch. 11. v. 15. in all which verses the beginning and progress of the second prophecy is interposed: And then from ch. 11. v. 15. to the end of that ch. The sounding of the 7th Trumpet, and the mysteries thereof are manifested to the end of the world. Then in ch. 12. 1. and so forwards to ch. 22. 6. The other mysteries of the second Prophecy, are revealed and super-added. II. Notwithstanding this great pause or interruption of the First Prophecy, by interposition of part of the second Prophecy, yet it hinders not at all the distinctness of these two Prophecies, and the resolving of this Prophetical part of the Revelation, into these two Systemes of Prophecies. For 1. The mighty Angel hath immediately, and in due order annexed the seventh Trumpet, and the mystery thereof, summarily at the end of the sixth Trumpet, though but in this brief intimation; d That in the days of the voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to sound, the mystery of God shall be finished, d Rev. 10. 7.

nished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets. 2. The full and compleat manifestation of this Seventh Trumpet, and the mysteries therein, is by the same Angel purposely suspended, for a special and weighty reason viz. that so he might draw down the Series of the Second Prophecy, (viz. in the first vision thereof, Touching e*the measuring of the Temple, the treading of the unmeasured outer Court of the Temple, the holy City, under foot by the Gentiles fourty two moneths; and the two witnesses prophecying in sackcloth one thousand two hundred and sixty dayes, &c.*) even equal to the period of the sixth Trumpet of the First Prophecy, now already so far carried on; that so the contemporaneousnes of these mysteries with the Seven Seals to the end of the sixth Trumpet in the First Prophecy being once setled: all the following visions of the Second Prophecy contemporary or parallel in time to this First vision thereof may be reduced thereunto, and so be more exactly in point of time compared with the Seals and Trumpets, and consequently be more certainly interpreted, as after will more clearly appear. So that by this suspension of the Seventh Trumpet, with the interposition of part of this Second Prophecy, the distinctnesse of these two Systemes of Prophecies, is not overthrown but confirmed, and the interruption is exceeding advantageous for the understanding of the rest of the Revelation. Let the attentive Reader heedfully consider this, for the facilitating of many difficulties in this Book.

e Rev. 11. 1. &c.

3. Ponder and weigh advisedly the Synchronisms, or Contemporaneousnesse of these two Prophecies, how the visions therein run parallel with one another, what an accurate Harmony and sweet Consent there is among them in respect of time. The diligent and heedful comparing of Visions together, which are contemporary, will notably and especially help to the more certain defining and determining of the beginnings and periods of future times foretold in this Book and so to the true understanding of the Revelation: it being one of the greatest difficulties in the Revelation, punctually and certainly to finde out the beginnings and periods of the Times therein intended.

Now the Contemporaneousnesse of these two Prophecies stands thus, viz. I. The Systeme of visions in the First Prophecy is most evidently laid down in f the opening of Seven Seals, one after another in order. In the g opening of the Seventh Seale whereof, Seven Trumpets are sounded one after another successively. So that as this First Prophecy h begins with the opening of the First Seal: so it i ends with the sounding of the last Trumpet. This is cleare from the Series of the Text without difficulty. II. The Systeme of visions in the Second Prophecy presents to us divers particular visions contemporany to one another, and also to several parts of the First Prophecy in order. As 1 These are contemporaneous to the six first Seals: and to one another, viz. (1) The measuring of the Temple of God, and of the Altar, and of them that worship therein. (2) The Battel of the seven-headed Dragon with Michael about the childes-birth, whereof the woman travelled. 2. These are contemporaneous to part of the Seventh Seal, i. e. to the Six First Trumpets sounding under the Seventh Seal: and also contemporaneous to one another: viz. [1] The unmeasured outward Court of the Temple or Holy City, given to the Gentiles to be trodden under foot fourty two moneths. [2] The Lords two Witnesses (at last to be overcome and killed by the Beast, after they have finished their Testimony,) prophecying in sackcloth one thousand two hundred and sixty days, i.e. fourty two moneths. [3] The woman that brought forth the man-childe, and fled from the Dragon into the Wildernesse, is there nourished from the face of the Serpent one thousand two hundred and sixty days; Or for a time, and times, and half a time. [4] The seven-headed and ten-horn'd beast, after the deadly wound of his last head was healed, blasphemeth God, his Tabernacle, and them that dwell in Heaven: warreth with and overcometh the Saints fourty two moneths. [5] The two-horned beast, or false Prophet, who restored the first beast, exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him. [6] The Lambs Virgin-company of 144000 redeemed from the Earth, (who alone could learn and sing the New-Song.) standing with him on Mount-Sion, the feare and worship of God is commanded; the ruine of Babylon, and of them that worship the Beast, &c. is threatned. [7] Babylon the great, the mother of harlots, and abominations of the Earth, sits upon the seven headed-Beast, now in the course of his 7th head being ten-horn'd, and makes the inhabitants of the earth drunk with the wine of her fornications. 3. Six of the seven vials of Gods wrath, destroying the Beast, are contemporaneous to the sixth Trumpet. 4. Finally, These are contemporaneous to the seventh Trumpet, (under which the mystery of God shall be finished; and to the innumerable company of white-robed palme-bearing Triumphers, of all Nations, and Kindreds and People and Tongues; and also contemporany to each other viz. (1) The pouring out of the seventh vial. (to the beginning only of the seventh Trumpet,) (2) The binding of Satan 1000. years. (3) The first Resurrection and Reigning of the Saints with Christ 1000. years. (4) The holy City, New Jerusalem, prepared as a Bride adorned for her husband, (in the light whereof, the nations of them which are saved shall walk, and whereunto the Kings of the earth shall bring their glory,) cometh down from God out of Heaven.

These are the contemporaneous visions or mysteries in these two Prophecies, which give great light to the Revelation; I forbeare (for avoiding of Prolixity,) to enlarge my self further, in demonstrating them from the text, or representing them in a Scheme, (as once I had intended,) because[k] both are so accurately and learnedly done to my hand already.

k Vide Josephi Medi Clavem Apocalypticam.

4. Finally, Mark exactly what Prophecies, Visions, or obscure passages are in this Book of the Revelation expounded: And there reckon the exposition to be certain, and the sence evident. And from these expositions proportionably borrow light for the discovering of other obscure passages depending thereupon, relating thereunto, or contemporaneous therewith. Thus Christ expounds, [l] The mystery of the seven stars in his right hand, and of the seven golden Candlesticks. The seven stars are the Angels of the seven Churches, and the seven Candlesticks which thou sawest are the seven Churches. Thus [m] the mystery of the woman (the great whore of Babylon,) and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath seven heads and ten horns, is most clearly expounded by the Spirit of God. That by this (which alone of all the mysteries in the Prophetical part is expounded,) we might have some certain foundation for interpreting and understanding of the rest.

§. V. Time, when this Book was written.

This book is generally conceived to have been Penned and published after all the books of the New Testament, by John the Apostle who survived after all the Apostles living (as Sophronius thinks) even till the third year of Traians the Emperour, which was in the one hundred and second year after Christs Birth, as Helvicus computes, and that it compleats and seals up the whole Canon of both the Old and New Testament, Rev. 22. 7, 14, 18, 19. The particular Time when this Revelation was written, was, when [s] John was banished into the Isle that is called Patmos *for the Word of God, and for the Testimony of Jesus Christ. Perſecutor Domitian in the fourteenth year of his Reign, ſaith t Hieronme. Domitian reigned in all but fifteen years, and his fourteenth year was in the ninty ſixth year after Chriſt (as u Helvicus computes.) So that from Johns writing this Revelation, ſuppoſe in the one hundred and ſecond year after Chriſt, till this preſent year 1650. are 1548 years This is the more to be conſidered, becauſe the Church of Chriſt hath the benefit of all Chriſts Divine Diſpenſations and paſſages of Providence in order to the fulfilling of this Prophetical Book in part, recorded in many approved Hiſtories, as an experimental help to the underſtanding of theſe Prophecies, which were ſhortly to begin to be put in Execution after John had them revealed to him; for he calls them——x Things that muſt ſhortly come to paſs.—— And ſaith, y The time is at hand.

§. VI. Occaſion.

Occaſion of this Revelation ſeems to be this. z John being baniſhed into the Iſle Patmos, doubtleſs gave himſelf to Prayers, and ſacred meditations about the affairs of Chriſt and his Church; wherupon Jeſus Chriſt appeared to his beloved Diſciple, in a ſpiritual raviſhment ſhowing him what was his pleaſure both touching the preſent Churches of Aſia, and touching his whole Church, eſpecially of the Gentiles (as a ſome think) to the end of the world: thus comforting him, and commanding John to write his viſions for the comforting of them.

§. VII. Scope.

The Scope or intent of the Revelation may be conſidered 1. More generally; 2. More particularly.

I. More generally, Jeſus Chriſt by this Book intends to reveal and make known unto his Apoſtle, and beloved diſciple JOHN, and by JOHN unto the Churches, both the preſent things that then were, when the Revelation was given, and the future things that ſhould be afterwards, from Johns days till the end of the world. This (1) the Title of the Book intimates. b The Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, which God gave unto him, to ſhow unto his ſervants things which muſt ſhortly come to paſs; and he ſent and ſignified it by his Angel unto his ſervant John. And (2) Chriſt himſelf confirms this in his command to John touching the penning of this Book, ſaying; c Write the things which thou haſt ſeen, both the things which are, and the things which ſhall be hereafter. This alſo (3) The Series and Current of the Book evinceth, which runs along in Prediction of future events, till at laſt the d Myſtery of God be finiſhed, e The Kingdoms of this World become our Lords and his Chriſts; f The dead ſmall and great ariſe, and are judged according to their works; And till the Holy g City, New Jeruſalem, be prepared as a Bride adorned for her husband. As an indication of this intended period of this Prophecy, perhaps that emphatical hint of Chriſts coming to judgement, is prefixed in the front of the Prophecy before the firſt viſion, h Behold he cometh with clouds, and every eye ſhall ſee him, and they alſo which pierced him, and all kindreds of the earth ſhall waile becauſe of him; even ſo, Amen.

II. More particularly, Jeſus Chriſt intends in this Book to declare,

1. The things that are, viz. The i preſent condition of the ſeven Aſian Angels and i Though Immediately theſe ſeven Epiſtles declare the preſent conditions and affaires of the ſeven Aſian Angels and Churches: yet Mediately and Analogically by rule of Proportion, the contents of theſe Epiſtles concern all the Churches of Chriſt, according as their ſtate and condition is correſpondent to that of any of theſe 7. Churches. For, whatſoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope, Rom. 15. 4. But Mr. Brightman herein proceeds a little further, and conceives, That theſe ſeven Cities contain the univerſal condition of the Church among the Gentiles; and therefore to thoſe ſeven Churches and Cities, according to their Order, ſituation and diſtances from each other, as types: he joyns other fellow-Churches anſwering thereunto as Anti-types, Counter-Copies or Counter-pains, of theſe ſeven Churches. And ſo makes all theſe Epiſtles, as well Prophetical, in reſpect of the future Counter-pain Churches: Hiſtorical, in reſpect of the preſent present Anti-type Asian Churches. These Asian Churches he sets forth by their Characters and Counter-paynes, as followeth, viz. 1. Ἐκκλησία Ἐφεσίων, the first of those seven Cities: The Counterpayne of it, The first Christian Church from the time of the Apostles till the time of Constantine the great, which was the Principal of all other Churches. 2 Θυατειρηνῶν Ἐκκλησία an under-city of Ephesus, northward from it, and a Colony belonging to the Ephesians: The Counterpayne of it; The Church succeeding the first, beginning with Constantine, and continued till Gratian, till about Anno Dom. 383 according to Eusebius. 3 Περγαμηνῶν Ἐκκλησία, lying northward from Smyrna about five hundred and forty furlongs. The Counterpayne of it: the Church from Gratians time, about the year 380. till about the year 1300. 4. Σαρδιανῶν Ἐκκλησία, bending South-east from Pergamus, about eighty English miles, the first New-springing Church: The Counterpayne of it, the Church from the year 1300 till about the year, 1520. 5. Φιλαδελφίας Ἐκκλησία tending further Southward, being the second New-springing Church; The Counterpayne of it, the first Reformed Church begun by Martin Luther at Wittenburg a Town of Saxony by the River Albis, in Anno Dom. 1517. 6. Λαοδικείας Ἐκκλησία, lying from Sardis southward: The Counterpayne or Anti-type of it: The second Reformed Church, springing up after that of Germany, viz. The Church of Helvetia, Suevia, Geneva, France, Holland, Scotland. 7. Ἐσχάτη τῶν ἑπτὰ ἐκκλησιῶν Λαοδικεία. lying Eastward from Philadelphia, the last of all these seven Churches: The Counterpayne of it: The Church of England, last of all reformed, viz. in Anno 1547. when King Edward the sixth came to the Crown, and becoming a confirmed and established Church about eleven years after, when Queen Elizabeth began to reign. See Thomas Brightman in his Revelation of the Apocalypse, on chap. 1,2,3 This his way of interpretation (though to some it may perhaps seem somewhat too curious, yet) is not wholly to be despised. Because (1) The Accommodation of those Churches to their Counterpaynes, is made remarkably fit and appesite. (2) The Events, even since his writing as well as before, have notably corresponded. (3) The Analogical Application of these Epistles to Churches of like condition with them of Asia, cannot rationally be denyed.

their Churches; of which Angels and Churches, Foure are commended by Christ for the good things in them, condemned and reproved for some evils in them, and exhorted by threats or Promises, or both, to reforme what was amisse, applying proper remedies, viz. the Angels of Ephesus, Pergamus, Thyatira and Sardis. Two are throughout commended for, and encouraged in their good, no word of their dispraise being mentioned at all, viz. the Angels of Smyrna and Philadelphia. One is not at all commended for any good, but onely discommended for evil, yet exhorted by threats and promises to repent, as the Angel of Laodicea. Under all which (as some think,) are contained Prophecies touching the future state of all the Gentilish Churches.

II. The things that shall be hereafter, viz. The future condition of the Christian Religion, and Churches of the Gentiles, especially the European Churches; the Remains of the Roman-Empire, and the tyrannical dominion of Antichrist, (those singular Subject-Matters of this book,) extending themselves in Europe peculiarly. Now this future state of the Christian Religion, and Christian Church, is laid down in two distinct Prophecies, or Systems of Prophecies, viz.

1. The first Prophecy is of A [k] Book sealed with seven Seals, and of the Lambs opening of them; in the seventh of which Seals are brought in [l] seven Trumpets sounded by seven Angels; and in the [m] Preparation to the sound of the seventh Trumpet, seven Thunders uttering their voices. In all which Seals and Trumpets, the future state and destiny of that bitter enemy of the Church of Christ, the Roman-Empire is foretold, (but still with reference to the Church) and that in divers remarkable periods of events; especially 1. Under the six first Seals, what shall be the state of the Empire, while yet standing and flourishing, till the power of it and its Idols should be ruined. 2. Under the seventh and last Seal, what shall be the fatal destiny of that Empire, now declining, falling, and running to ruine, through the sevenfold order of plagues, inflicted by the sounding of the seven Trumpets, (The righteous Lord justly revenging the blood of so many Martyrs as had been slain under the Roman power,) till at sounding of the last Trumpet, the Kingdoms of [n] this World, become our Lords and his Christs.

2. The second Prophecy, is of [o] A Little-book open, (which John is commanded to [p] eat up,) whereby the future lot, condition and affairs of the Christian-Church and Religion, are more nobly, fully and clearly foretold, what they shall be from the Primitive times till the last judgement, and this in divers particulars. viz. 1. How purely and regularly the Church should walk and worship God in the Primitive times according to Divine Rule; This noted by the [q] measuring of the Temple, Altar and Worshippers therein. In which time the [r] woman the Church, travelleth to bring forth her child, Christ personal and mystical, into the Romane world; and brought him forth: but is cruelly persecuted for three hundred years by the Romane Empire, that Worshipper of the Red Dragon, fighting against Michael, against the spirit of Christ in his servants. 2. Now corruptly the Church, next succeeding the Primitive Church, should decline to Idolatry, Gentilisme, and to the Antichristian Apostacy for forty two moneths, which is noted by the [s] un-measured outer Court being given to be trodden under foot by the Gentiles fourty two moneths. During which sad and lamentable condition of the Church. (1) The [t] two witnesses prophecy in sackcloth, till God raise up a better state for the Church. (2) The woman) the Church, being freed from heathenish tyranny, (the Dragon being overcome,) and [u] nourished, (as Israel of old, ere they came to Canaan,) in the wilderness, till Christs second coming. (3) The Church in the Wilderness meets with new troubles and persecutions. Partly by a [x] seven-headed, and ten-horn'd beast. Partly by a [y] two-horn'd beast, but both mutually engaged to each other. That being the secular power of ten Kingdomes united in one Romane-State or Republick: This being the Romane Papacy. Both, persecuting and overcoming the Saints forty two moneths, (4) In the midst of all the seducements and persecutions of these two Beasts, wherewith the Generality of the Romane world were overcome, yet there were a [z] select of Saints, viz. 144000. who persisted pure, not submitting to the wicked power of these Beasts (5) Babylon the great City, the mother of Harlots, [a] maketh all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornications: for which she is threatned with ruine. 3. Now the [b] seven vials of Gods wrath, shall be poured out, to the gradual destruction of the Antichristian Beast; and judgement of the great Whore of Babylon. The [c] mystery of which whore is so clearly expounded of the Roman Papacy, that he that runs may read it: and her irrevocable [d] ruine is graphically & pathetically described, together with the Saints [e] joyful triumphs therupon. 4 Finally, Now happy and glorious the state of the Church shall be in this world (but especially in that to come,) after this her grand enemy shall be destroyed; [f] The Lord Omnipotent reigning, [g] Satan being bound, and the [h] Saints reigning with Christ a thousand years; [i] All her enemies being judged and cast into the Lake. And the [k] Holy City, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of Heaven; adorned as a Bride prepared for her husband Jesus Christ; There being New-heavens, and New-earth, and all things new. [l] All tears, death, sorrow, crying, pain, curse and defilement being quite past away. [m] The pure river of the water of life, proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lambe, in the midst of the street of it, and of either side of the River there being the Tree of Life. Here the Lambs servants shall serve him, and they shall reign for ever and ever.

On blessed are they that do his Commandments, that they may have right to the Tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the City.

§. VIII. Principal Parts, or Analytical Explication.

In this most mysterious Book, The Revelation, are chiefly considerable, 1. The Preface. 2. The Substance, or Body of the Book. 3. The Conclusion.

I.

THE PREFACE contains, I. The Denomination, or Title of the Book; The Revelation of Jesus Christ. II. The End intended in this Book, To shew to his servants things which must shortly come to pass. III. The Efficient Causes, or Authors of this Book, which are, 1. Principal, viz. [1] God, [2] Jesus Christ; which God gave unto him. 2. Instrumental, viz. [1] An Angel. [2] John; And he sent and signified it by his Angel unto his Servant John. CHAP. I. ver. 1. This John is described as a fit Instrument to receive and make known this Revelation, in that He bare record of the WORD of God, and of the Testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things he saw, ver. 2. IV. An Invitation, To read, and hear the words of this Prophecy, and to keep those things which are written therein; 1. From the benefit thence redounding; Blessed is he that readeth, &c. 2. From the General Concernment of this Prophecy; For the time is at hand. Though therefore it Reveal future things, yet some of them shall shortly begin to be: therefore every one is concerned therein, ver. 3.

CHAP. I.

THE

THE BODY, or SUBSTANCE OF THE BOOK is wholly Visional; chiefly comprehended in VII. Visions. Wherein John describes and writes the things which he had seen; which things Christ himself ranks into two sorts, Rev. 1.19. viz. 1. The things that are. 2. The things which shall be hereafter. II.

I. THE THINGS THAT ARE, seem Primarily and Immediately to have respect to the State of the Church then present, viz. To the State of the seven Asian Churches especially: But Secondarily, Mediately and Analogically to other following Churches, as it were adumbrated and resembled by them, o as some think. The things concerning the Asian Churches, or the seven Churches in Asia Minor, are comprehended 1. In one General Epistle to them all jointly. 2. In seven Particular Epistles directed to the Angels of the seven Churches Severally. o See § VII. immediatly foregoing.

I. THE ONE GENERAL EPISTLE, written to the seven Churches in Asia jointly, contains in it, 1. An Inscription. 2. A Salutation. 3. A Narration.

1. In the Inscription are mentioned 1. The Party writing; John. 2. The Parties written to; To the seven Churches in Asia, ver. 4.

2. In the Salutation, note I. The blessings wished, or prayed for, in respect of these Churches; Grace be unto you, and Peace. II The Fountain whence these Blessings must flow, viz. 1. From God the Father, Described by the Eternity of his Essence; From him which is, and which was, and which is to come. 2. From God the Holy Ghost, Described (1) By the variety, multiplicity and Perfection of his Endowments and Operations, All-sufficient for all these seven Churches; And from the seven Spirits. (2) By the p Community of his Essence with the Father, intimated in that phrase; Seven Spirits which are before his Throne, v. 4. 3. From God the Son; And from Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is Described, (1) By his Office; Partly, Prophetical; who is the faithful witnesse. Partly, Sacerdotal or Priestly; And the first-begotten of the dead. Partly, Regal, And the Prince of the Kings of the earth. (2) By his Benefits towards us; viz. 1 His affection to us, the Fountain of all the rest; That loved us. 2 His Redemption of us; And washed us from our sins, in his own blood. 3 His Sanctification and advancing of us to Spiritual Priviledges; And hath made us Kings and Priests unto God, and his Father. In respect of all which a Thankful Doxology to Christ is Annexed; Unto him be Glory and Dominion for ever and ever. Amen. ver. 5, 6. (3) By his future coming to judgement; Set forth, Partly, by the Gloriousness of it; Behold he cometh with clouds. Partly, by the Conspicuousness of it; And every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him. Partly, by the Terribleness of it to the wicked; And all kindreds of the earth, shall wail because of him. All which John Seals up with his own holy wish; Even so, Amen. ver. 7. (4) By his Divine Attributes, proclaimed by Christ himself, viz. 1 His absolute Eternity; described, Metaphorically; I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord. Plainly; which is, and which was, and which is to come. 2 His Omnipotency, or all-sufficiency; The All-mighty, ver. 8. p D. Par. Com. in Apoc. 1. 4.

I. Vision.

3. In the Narration of this General Epistle John Declares his First Vision. Describing it by the 1 Person, who saw it. 2 Place, where it was seen. 3 Manner, how it was manifested to him. 4 Time when it was seen. 5 Preparatory to the Vision. 6 Vision it self. 7 Events of the Vision. I. The Person seeing this Vision, is described; 1. By his name; I John. 2. By his Spiritual Relation to them to whom he wrote; who also am your Brother. 3. By his Co-partnership with them; And Companion (1) In Tribulation, (2) In the Kingdom, (3) And patience of Jesus Christ. II. The Place, where this Vision was seen; In the Isle that is called Patmos. This is Amplified by the Occasion of John's being there; viz. His banishment thither by Domitian, 1. For Christ; For the WORD of God. 2. For Christs Doctrine; And for the Testimony of Jesus Christ, ver. 9. III. The Manner, how it was manifested to him, viz. In a Spiritual extasie or Rapture; I was in the Spirit. IV. The Time, when it was seen; On the Lords Day. V. The Preparatory, to the Vision; His hearing behind him a great voice, as of a Trumpet, ver. 10. This voice 1. Declares who it was that spoke, viz. Christ, saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last. 2. Directs John what to do, viz. (1) To write what he saw in a Book (2) And to send it unto the seven Churches which are in Asia, &c. which are Enumerated v. 11. VI. The Vision itself seen, upon John's turning to see the voice that spake with him, that is, to see him that uttered that voice. Which Vision was 1. Of seven golden Candlesticks. ver. 12. 2. Of One like unto the Son of Man, in the midst of the seven Candlesticks. viz. Jesus Christ. He is described most Admirably and Mysteriously: (1) He was cloathed with a Garment down to the foot, and Girt about the paps with a Golden Girdle: denoting, His Royal Majesty, His strenuous preparedness to his Office, and His tenderness towards his Church, ver. 13. (1) His head and hairs were white like Wool, as white as Snow: denoting His Eternity, being the Ancient of Dayes, and his eternal infinite Wisdome. (3) His eyes were as a flame of fire: Denoting, His Omniscience and piercing perspicacity, for discerning all things, His terrible quickness and fierceness to revenge. ver. 14. (4) His feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a Furnace: denoting, His firmness and power, able to consume all that touch or oppose him. (5) His voice as the sound of many waters: Denoting, the terribleness and forcibleness thereof among all the people of the world, ver. 15. (6) Hee had in his right hand seven Stars: Denoting, His Government and Protection of the Ministers of the Churches (7) Out of his mouth went a sharp two-edged Sword: Denoting, The cutting power and efficacy of his word, His ability to avenge himself upon his enemies. (8) And finally, His countenance as the Sun shineth in in his ſtrength; Denoting, his incomparable and unconceivable glory, ver.16. VII. The Events or Conſequents enſuing upon this Viſion, viz. 1. Johns Conſternation; And when I ſaw him, I fell at his feet as dead. 2. Chriſts conſolation and confirmation of John; Partly, by his Fact; And he laid his right hand upon me. Partly, by his Word; Saying unto me, fear not. The Arguments whereby Chriſt comforts John, are drawn. (1) From Chriſts abſolute eternity: I am the firſt and the laſt, ver.17. (2) From his life, though he was dead; I am he that liveth, and was dead: and behold I am alive for evermore, Amen. (3) From his Power and Authority over Hell and Death, to open and ſhut them at his Pleaſure; And have the Keys of Hell, and of Death, ver.18. 3. Chriſts command to John to write the things which he had ſeen; viz. Both (1) The things which are. And (2) The things which ſhall be hereafter, ver.19. 4. Chriſts interpretation of the former Viſion, viz. (1) Of the Myſtery of the ſeven Stars, which are the Angels of the ſeven Churches. (2) Of the myſtery of the ſeven Candleſticks, which are the ſeven Churches, ver.20. Unto theſe ſeven Churches he afterwards directs him to write ſeven ſeveral Epiſtles in the two chapters following.

Hitherto of The One General Epiſtle to all the ſeven Churches joyntly.

II. THE VII. PARTICULAR EPISTLES, directed to the Angels of the VII. Churches in Aſia, ſeverally. Touching every of which Epiſtles are chiefly conſiderable, 1. Chriſts command to write to them all. 2. A Deſcription of Jeſus Chriſt, Partly, agreeable to the former Deſcriptions of Chriſt in ch.1. Partly, Suitable to the preſent ſtate and condition of the ſeveral Angels and Churches. 3. A Narration (1) Of the good, commendable in them; or (2) Of the Evil condemnable in them; or both. 4. Exhortations, urged with Promiſes, or Threats. 5. Concluſions inciting to Attention.

CHAP. II.

Now theſe Particular Epiſtles are directed, Primarily to the ſeven Angels of the ſeven Churches; Secondarily, with and in them to the q ſeven Churches themſelves: In 1. Epheſus. 2. Smyrna. 3. Pergamus. 4. Thyatira. 5. Sardis. 6. Philadelphia. 7. Laodicea.

q See for clearing this, Rev. 2. 22, 23, 4, 25. and the cloſe of every of theſe ſeven Epiſtles.

I. Languiſhing Epheſus.

1. The Epiſtle to the Angel of the Church of Epheſus. In which note, I. The Inſcription; ſhowing 1. To whom John is directed to write: Unto the r Angel of the Church of Epheſus, write. 2. From whom he muſt write, viz. from Chriſt himſelf inditing all the Epiſtles. Chriſt here deſcribes himſelf, in reference to his Church. (1) By his Protection and Guidance of his Miniſters, Theſe things ſaith he, that holdeth the ſeven Stars in his right hand. (2) By his preſence with, and care of all his Churches; Who walketh in the midſt of the ſeven Golden Candleſticks. Ch.II. ver.1. II. The Subſtance of the Epiſtle; containing 1. Chriſts Obſervation of all the wayes of the Angel; I know thy works. 2. Chriſts commendation of the Angel, (1) For his unwearied labour in the Miniſtry, againſt Diſcouragements; And thy labour,——And for my Names ſake haſt laboured, and haſt not fainted. (2) For his conſtant patience under ſome remarkable afflictions and perſecutions; And thy Patience,——And haſt born, and haſt Patience. (3) For his Zeal in the Diſcipline; Partly in that he could not bear them which were evil. Partly, in that he had tryed them which ſay they are Apoſtles, and are not, and had found them lyers, ver.2,3. 3. Chriſts Diſpraiſe and Reprehenſion of him, for leaving his firſt love, v. 4. 4. Chriſts Exhortation of him to Reformation, by way of remedy. Here note, (1) The Duties required; Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and Repent, and do the firſt works. (2) The Argument preſſing to this Duty, viz. A ſevere commination; or elſe I will come unto thee quickly, and will r Angel. This word comes Originally from the Greek word ἄγγελος which ſignifies, One ſent-forth-on-a-meſſage. It is uſed, I. More Generally, for any Meſſenger. So the Spies are called Meſſengers, Gr. Angels, James 2.25. II. More Specially, 1. For Chriſt the Angel of the Covenant. καὶ ἀγγελος. As Mal. 3.1. Zech. 4.4. 2. For created Spirits, Good or Bad... (1) Good, viz. thoſe Miniſtring Spirits ſent forth to miniſter for the Heyrs of Salvation, Heb.1.13,14. Thus its uſed moſt commonly. (2) Bad, viz. Satan, and all the reſt of thoſe Spirits that left their firſt eſtate, 2 *Pet.*2.4. Jude 6. 1 Cor.6.3. 2 Cor.11.14. *For the Devil and his Angels, Matth.*25.41. Yea, hence its ſomtimes uſed for Satan's Temptation, called The Meſſenger of Satan; Gr. the Angel of Satan, 2 Cor. 12.7. 3. For the Miniſters of the Goſpel, Ambaſſadours for Chriſt, 2 Cor 5.20. who are Meſſengers ſent to publiſh the good tidings of the Goſpel. Thus its often uſed in the Revelation, as *Rev.*1.19 & 2.1.8,12,18. & 3.1,7,14.

Now, Angel in this laſt ſence, here, (and in the other ſix Epiſtles following:) is not to be taken Diſtributively, As if this Epiſtle were written onely to one ſingle individual Angel, or Miniſter, and that that Church had no more; Or to ſome one Angel or Miniſter above the reſt, by way of eminency called, Angel: But it is to be underſtood Collectively, for all the Miniſters of that Church, even the whole Colledge or order of Paſtors therein, As Brightman ſtiles them on *Rev.*2.1. For, 1. It is evident, There was not onely one, but many Presbyters in the Church of Epheſus, at one and the ſame time, Acts 20.17,28,36,37. 2. It is clear, that, as among the Apoſtles there was none greater then other by order or office, but they were all equal, *Matth.*20,25,26,27. Luke 22.24,25,26. So among the Paſtors there was no ſuperiority of order or Power, but all were equal, Compare Acts 20.17. *with verſ.*28. *and Tit.*1.5. with verſe 7. vid. Hier. Com. plen. in Ep. ad Tit. c.1. ver.5. Tom.9. prius Citat. viz. on Tit. 1.2. 3. Sometimes Chriſt ſpeaks to the Angels or Miniſters of a Church, in the Plural not in the ſingular number, which ſhows that the word Angel here is uſed Collectively. Thus ſpeaking to the Angel of the Church in Thyatira, he ſaith; ὑμῖν δὲ λέγω, καὶ λοιποῖς τοῖς ἐν Θυατείροις, that is, But unto you I ſay, and unto the reſt in Thyatira.——I will put upon you no other burden, but that which ye have already, Hold faſt till I come, Rev.2.24,25. By which plural word, [ὑμῖν, unto you] diſcretively diſtinguiſhed here from τοῖς λοιποῖς,—&c. and unto the reſt in Thyatira, Chriſt ſeems plainly to intimate that he directs his ſpeech to a plurality of Angels, under the collective and ſingular word, Angel.

With an Invitation to Attention; common to all the 7. Epistles; inciting all, but especially the Angels of the Churches, to give heed to the Monitions of the Spirit. He that hath an eare, let him heare what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. 2. With a sweet Promise to him that Overcomes; To him that overcometh will I give to eate of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God. ver. 7.

II. Sweet smelling Smyrna.

2. The Epistle to the Angel of the Church in Smyrna, wherein consider, I. The Inscription declaring, 1. To whom John is to write: And, unto the Angel of the Church in Smyrna, write, 2. From whom he is commanded to write, viz. from Christ, who is described in reference to this Church, (1) By his eternity, These things saith the first and the last. (2) By his life, though as man he was once dead; Which was dead and is alive. Therefore able to give eternity and life to them that suffer and die for him, ver. 8. II. The substance of the Epistle containing, 1. Christs observation, both of the Angel, and of his Enemies. Christ observed and knew the Angel's (1) Works. (2) Tribulation. (3) Outward Poverty. (4) But his inward spirituall Riches. Christ observed and knew his enemies Blasphemy against Christ; which enemies are described, (1) By their Hypocrisie; And the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews and are not. (2) By their Impiety; But are the Synagogue of Satan, ver. 9. 2. Christs encouraging consolation of the Angel's, against all the sufferings that were further coming upon him; Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer. Christ encourages him against Persecutions, upon consideration (1) of the Author of them; The Devil. (2) Of the Nature of them, imprisonment; shall cast into prison. (3) Of the extent of them, not to all; shall cast some of you into—(4) Of Christs end and intent in them; That ye may be tryed. (5) Of the duration of them, but for a little space; And ye shall have tribulation ten dayes. (6) Of Christs promise to constant faithfulness under them; Be thou faithfull unto the death, and I will give thee a Crown of life, ver. 10. III. The Conclusion of the Epistle. 1 With an Incitement to Attention, He that hath an eare, &c. 2. With a Promise to him that overcomes, He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death. ver. 1.

III. High and haughty Pergamus.

3. The Epistle to the Angel of the Church in Pergamus. Wherein are, I. The Inscription, showing, 1. To whom John is to direct his Epistle; And to the Angel in the Church of Pergamus write. 2. From whom he is to write, viz. From Christ: Described in reference to this Church, To be Him, who hath the sharp sword with two edges. And therefore able to fight against offenders with the sword of his mouth, v. 12. II. The Substance of the Epistle, setting forth, 1. Christs Knowledge and Observation of this Angel's wayes: I know thy works. 2. Christs commendation of the Angel for his singular constancy in confession of Christs Faith: And thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denyed my Faith. This is Amplyfied by two pregnant circumstances, viz. (1) Of the Place where he dwelt: And where thou dwellest, even where Satan's seate is, because Pergamus was more given to idolatry then all Asia besides, saith (f) Arethas. (2) Of the time wherein he lived: Even in those dayes wherein Antipas was my faithfull Martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth, ver. 13. 3. Christs Reprehension of him, and controversie with him, for false Doctrines, viz. (1) The Doctrine of Balaam, who (when he could not curse Israel, yet) taught Balaac to cast a stumbling block before the children of Israel: by enticing them, Partly, to eat things sacrificed to idols: Partly, to commit fornication, viz. with the (t) daughters of Moab, ver. 14. (2) The Doctrine of the Nicolaitans, hated of Christ, v. 15. 4. Christs exhortation of him to Repentance, urged by a Threatning: Repent, or else I will come unto thee quickly, and fight against them with the sword of my mouth, v. 16. III. The Conclusion, 1. Inciting to Attention: He that hath an eare, &c. 2. Promising to him that Overcomes divers benefits, viz. (1) The hidden Manna, To him that Overcometh will I give to eate of the hidden Manna. An allusion to that delicate Manna wherewith Israel was fed in the Wildernes, (u) A Type of Christ the true bread which came downe from Heaven: a pot of which Manna was hidden in the Arke. The meaning then is, He that overcomes shall taste and feast of Christs sweetnes, hidden and unknown to the world. (2) A white stone: And I will give him a white stone. (3) A New Name, known only to him that hath it: And in the stone a New name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it. That is, Christ would give to such, Absolution and acquittal from all their sins, And themselves should know this, though others could not. An allusion (as is (x) thought) to that ancient custome of passing judgement with White and Black stones, the persons whose names were written on black stones, being condemned, on white stones were acquitted, v. 17.

4. The Epistle to the Angel of the Church in Thyatira. Wherein consider, I. The Preface denoting, 1. To whom John is to write: And to the Angel, &c. 2. From whom he is to write, viz. from from Christ described in reference to his Church: (1) By his Divine Relation; These things saith the Son of God. (2) By his Peircing Omniscience, and fiery quickness to revenge; who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire. (3) By his terrible power to tread his foes under his feet; And his feet like fine brasse, ver. 18. II. The Substance of the Epistle; which contains, 1. Christs knowledge and Observation of the Angels works: I know thy works. 2. Christs commendation of what was vertuous in this Angel, viz. His (1) Love. (2) Service, or Ministry. (3) Faith. (4) Patience. (5) Growth: And thy works, and the last to be more then then the first, ver. 19. 3. Christs Reprehension of, and controversie for, what was vicious in this Angel, viz. His Toleration of a false-Prophetess to seduce Christs Servants; Notwithstanding I have a few things against thee, Because thou sufferest that woman Jezabel which calleth her selfe a Prophetess, &c. Her wickedness is set forth, (1) By the kinde of it; Teaching and Seducing Christs Servants. Partly, to commit fornication. Partly, to eate things Sacrificed to Idols, ver. 20. (2) But her obstinate impenitency therein; And I gave her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not, ver. 21. (3) By the punishments threatned for it, which shall be different upon different offenders, viz. Jezabel her selfe, he will cast into a bed; a bed of sorrow and languishment. 2. *Them that commit fornication with her, into great tribulation, except they repent of their deed*s, 22. 3. Her children he will kill with death. All which punishments are Amplified by the Event thereof to all the Churches. viz. Their Experimentall discovery hereupon of Gods All-searching Omniscience, and most accurate Distributive justice: And all the Churches shall know, That I am he which searcheth the reines and hearts: And will give unto every one of you according to your works, ver. 23. 4. Christs Exhortation by way of Antidote, wherein consider, (1) The Persons Exhorted, which were, Partly the Ministers of that Church, But unto you, I say. Partly the People, And unto the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this Doctrine, and which have not known the depths (but the depths) of Satan, as they speak. (2) The Duty Exhorted to, Not the burdensome observation of the Ceremoniall Law, urged by impostors: but constant perseverance in the Apostolicall Faith and Doctrine: I will put upon you none other burden, but that which ye have already, hold fast till I come, ver. 24. 25. (3) The Arguments urging this Exhortation, are two Priviledges promised by Christ to him that Overcomes and Perseveres to the end, viz. 1. Joynt-power with Christ, over the Nations, the wicked world, to judge them, &c. And he that overcometh, and keepeth my words unto the end, To him will I give power over the Nations: (And he shall rule them with a rod of iron, as the vessels of a Potter shall they be broken to shivers) Even as I received of my Father, ver. 26. 27. 2. Communion with, and conformity to Jesus Christ in brightness and glory, y from the Morning here, to the perfect day of glory hereafter: And I will give him the Morning-starre, ver. 28. 2. The conclusion of the Epistle, inciting to Attention. He that hath an eare, &c. ver. 29.

II. The Substance of the Epistle it self. Wherein note, 1. Christs observation of the Angels ways; I know thy works. 2. Christs reprehension of his hypocrisie; That thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead, Ch. III. ver. 1. 3. Christs exhortation of the Angel, by way of Antidote to certain duties, viz. (1) To be watchful. (2) To strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to dye. This is urged as necessary, from the Angels hypocrisie, For I have not found thy works perfect before God, ver. 2. (3) To remember how he had received and heard and held fast, viz. The primitive pure Apostolical doctrine. (4) To repent. These exhortations Christ presseth with a severe threatning in case of neglect; If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee, ver. 3, 4. 4. Christs Commendation of him, in respect of some few in that Church, that had walked uprightly and purely; Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments. This Commendation he amplifies by Promises, Partly to these few; And they shall walk with me in white, for they are worthy, ver. 4. Partly to all Conquerours, to whom he promiseth gradually, (1) Resplendent glory; He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment. (2) Eternity of this glory and happinesse; And I will not blot out his name out of the Book of life. (3) Open Publication of their glory before God and his Angels: But I will confess his Name before my Father and before his Angels, ver. 5. III. The Conclusion of the Epistle, with the Accustomed incitement to Attention: He that hath an eare let him, &c. ver. 6.

From whom it is sent, viz From Christ: described in reference to this Church, by (1) His holinesse: These things saith he that is holy. (2) By his truth and faithfulnesse: He that is true. (3) By his absolute uncontrolable Government in his Church and Kingdome: He that hath the Key of David: he that openeth and no man shutteth, he Chriſts ſingular Commendation of the Angel, for his conſtancy in the Word and Faith of Chriſt againſt all ſufferings, z though he had but a little ſtrength; For thou haſt a little ſtrength, and haſt kept my Word, and haſt not denyed my Name. And afterwards, —Thou haſt kept the word of my patience. This his conſtancy in the faith, is commended from the excellent Benefits and Priviledges thence redounding to the Angel, which are, Partly poſſeſs'd for preſent, viz. an open door of opportunity for imparting and propagating the Goſpel unto many; Behold I have ſet before thee an open door, and no man can ſhut it. v. 8. Partly promiſed for future, viz. (1) Subduing his hypocritical enemies; Behold I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, (which ſay they are Jews and are not, but do lye,) behold I will make them to come and worſhip before thy feet. (2) Convincing his enemies that Chriſt loves him; And to know that I have loved thee, v. 9. (3) Preſerving and keeping him from the general hour of temptation, becauſe he kept Chriſts word; Becauſe thou haſt kept the word of my Patience, I alſo will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which ſhall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth, v. 10. 3. Chriſts exhortation of the Angel, to perſeverance and conſtancy in faith, &c. Hold that faſt which thou haſt. This is urged, (1) From the ſuddenneſs of Chriſts coming; Behold I come quickly. (2) From the peril otherwiſe of loſing his reward: That no man take away thy a Crown, ver. 11. (3) From Promiſes made to him that overcomes, which promiſes gradually depend upon one another, viz. 1 Of his ſtability and firmneſſe in the militant and triumphant Church of God: Him that overcometh, will I make a Pillar in the Temple of my God. b An Alluſion to the two Pillars which Solomon erected in the Temple called Jachin, i. e. He will eſtabliſh, and Boaz, i. e. In-it-there-is-ſtrength, 1 Kin. 7. 22. Prefiguring the preſent and future ſtability of the Elect in Gods Church: 2 Of his conſtant Permanency in the Church: And he ſhall go no more out: that is, he ſhall not go out of Gods Temple, as thoſe typical Pillars were carried out, and broken by Nebuchadnezzar. 3 Of the evident and publick manifeſtation of him to be A Son of God, A Citizen of the New Jeruſalem, and A member of Chriſt, or c an heavenly Kingby Chriſt Jeſus: and this by the inſcription of a threefold name upon him: And I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the City of my God, New Jeruſalem, which cometh down out of Heaven from my God, and I will write upon him my new name, ver. 12. To whom the Epiſtle is to be directed: And unto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans, write. 2. From whom the Epiſtle was ſent, viz. from Chriſt, as all the former. Chriſt is deſcribed in reference to this Church, (1) By his fidelity, viz. in his d Promiſes: Theſe things ſaith the AMEN. (2) By his truth in his Word and Doctrine: The faithful and true witneſs. (3) By his excellency and power: The beginning of the Creation of God: (that is, either of the Old Creation of the world, or of the New Creation of the Church) v. 14. II. The Subſtance of the Epiſtle, wherein are expreſſed, 1. Chriſts obſervation of this Angels ways: I know thy works. 2. Chriſts ſharp reprehenſion of him, Partly for his want of zeal in Religion: That thou art neither cold nor hot. This defect of zeal is Amplified, (1) By Chriſts wiſh that he were of any other temper: I would thou wert cold or hot. (2) By Chriſts comparing him to luke-warme water: So then becauſe thou art luke-warme, and neither cold nor hot. (3) By Chriſts threatning him with loathing and rejection for his luke-warmneſſe, (the moſt nauſeous temper to the ſtomach): I will ſpew thee out of my mouth. v. 16. Partly for his vain-glorious ſelf-confident boaſting, (notwithſtanding this want of zeal,) either in his temporal or ſuppoſed ſpiritual 1 Riches, 2 Increaſe, and continuance thereof, and 3 Compleatneſs therein: Becauſe thou ſayeſt that I am rich, and increaſed with goods, and have need of nothing. Partly for his notorious ſenſleſneſs and ignorance mean-while of his extream miſerable condition: And knoweſt not that thou art wretched, and miſerable, and poor, and blind, and naked, v. 17. 3. Chriſts Preſcription of peculiar remedies, (all to be derived from Chriſt himſelf alone,) againſt the foreſaid maladies: I counſel thee, (1) To buy of me gold tryed in the fire that thou mayſt be rich; that is, pure faith more precious then gold, poſſeſſing both Chriſt, and all that is Chriſts: (2) And white rayment, that thou mayſt be cloathed, and that the ſhame of thy nakedneſs do not appear, (that is, Chriſts perfect righteouſneſſe, covering all our ſins and deformities): (3) And anoint thine eyes with eye-ſalve that thou mayſt ſee, (that is, the illuminating force of Chriſts Spirit and Word.) v. 18. (4) To be zealous. (5) To repent. All which he preſſeth by divers Arguments: As 1 From the peril of Chriſts rebukes and chaſtiſement in caſe of neglect: As many as I love I rebuke and chaſten; be zealous therefore and repent, ver. 19. 2 From Chriſts patience in ſtanding, pains in knocking, promiſe of entring, and upon entrance of entertaining ſweeteſt communion, with all that will open to him and receive him: Behold I ſtand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will ſup with him, and he with me, ver. 20. 3 From the glorious promiſe of princely triumphant reward to c Throne.] A Throne is a Seat of Princely Power, Royalty and Glory. God the Fathers Throne, denotes the absolute Supremacy of his incomparable Majesty, Power and Glory; infinitely exalted above all created Beings whatsoever, (even above Christ himself as man.) Isa.66.1. with 1 Kings 8. 27. Dan.7.9. to 13. This Throne also is common to all the three Persons of the God-head equally, viz. To the Son as God, Heb.1.8,10,11 and to the Holy Ghost, Rev.1.4. as well as to the Father. Christ is said to sit down with his Father on his Throne, when as God-man our Mediator, having humbled himself to death, even to the death upon the Crosse for our Redemption, he was raised from the dead, and exalted to sit on the right hand of the Throne of the Majesty in the Heavens, Heb.8.1. and 12.2. Far above Men, Angels, and all Creatures in the world for the good of his Church. Compare these Testimonies well together, Phil 2.9,10,11. Dan. 7. 13, 14. Eph. 1. 20, 21, 22, 23. Thus Christ by death overcoming Satan, Death and all our Spiritual Enemies, sate down on his Fathers Throne. And this is Christs Throne, viz. his advancement as Mediator next unto God, above every name that is named. Now the Saints that overcome shall sit on Christs Throne: that is, they shall share with Christ in this his Mediatory Royalty Majesty, Power and Glory. as co-heirs with him, and as members with the head, Rom.8.17. 2 Tim.2.11,12. 1 Pet. 2.9. Rev.1.6. and 20.4. and 22.5. 1 Cor 6.2,3. Phil.3.21. Always reserving the due distance that is to be presupposed betwixt the Head and the Members, the Redeemer and the Redeemed ones: They shall be enthroned with Christ, and have the same Dominion and Glory, for Quality, not for Equality: for Kinde, but not for Degree.

Conquerours; To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me on my c Throne: even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father on his Throne, v.21. III. The Conclusion of the Epistle, with the usual invitation to attend to the spirits words and monitions to the Churches; He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches, ver. 22.

Hitherto of THE THINGS THAT ARE, viz. Those that more immediately concerned the seven Asian Churches, then present.

II. Vision.

CHAP. IV.

II. THE THINGS THAT SHALL BE HEREAFTER, concern principally the State of the Church for the future, and that even in this world, especially of the European Churches. (And though the future lot and state of the Roman Empire be insisted upon, yet it is with reference to the Church.) This f general part of the Revelation, is laid down from Ch. IV. ver. 1. (where John saith; After this I looked, and behold a door was opened in heaven; and the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a Trumpet talking with me which said: Come up hither, and I will shew thee THINGS WHICH MUST BE HEREAFTER.) until Ch. XXII. verse 6. where the Subsiance of this Prophetical Book ends.

f This General part of the Revelation seems in sum to intend thus much, (as D. Pareus hath noted,) viz. to praemonish the Church of her great tribulations in this world; First by persecuting Tyrants, Then by Hereticks, And at last by Antichrist himself, who would more grievously oppress her, both with spiritual and corporal servitude, then forreign Tyrants had done.

But least the minds of the godly should faint under this yoke, there are intermingled about four sorts of Consolations, drawn from Gods present help, that he will not forsake his in the conflict. From the duration of the afflictions that they shall not be perpetual nor over-long From the end of their enemies, that it shall be tragical and deadly. Finally from the joyful close of the Conflicts, that Christ will powerfully avenge his Church in the world, and at last glorifie her in heaven.

And these things are foreshewed to John in other six distinct visions. Partly Universal, representing the whole History of the Church, from the Revelation till the last Judgement, as the Second, Third, Fourth and Seventh. Partly Particular, adumbrating her conflicts with Antichrist, and the end thereof: as the Fifth and Sixth. And every of them are concluded with the description of the last Judgement, punishment of the enemies, and victory of the godly, literally or figuratively expressed. The reason of which iteration those Interpreters admire, but cannot explain, who seek a continued history in these visions. But our method being observed, it is clearly discerned. D. Pareus Proem. cap. 4. Apoc.

These visions are (according to him) described as followeth, viz. II. Vision, from ch. 4.1. to ch.8.v.1. III. Vision, from ch.8. v.1. to ch.12.v.1. IV. Vision, from ch.12.v.1. to ch.15.v.1. V. Vision, from ch.15.v.1. to ch.17.v.1. VI. Vision, from ch.17.v.1. to ch.20.v.1. VII. Vision, from ch.20 v.1. to ch.22.v.6. Notwithstanding, all these Six Visions, and the particular acts under them, are evidently comprized in, and may be digested into two distinct parallel contemporany Prophecies, as hereafter will more clearly appear.

Now these Things that must be hereafter, are revealed to John in Two distinct Prophecies, most notably contemporany or parallel in time to one another, and consequently explaining one another, viz. 1. The First Prophecy of a Book sealed with seven Seals, from ch. 4.1. to ch. 10.8. 2. The Second Prophecy of a little Book open, and the Contents thereof, from ch. 10. v. 8. to ch 22. v.6. In the former, the future events and state of the Roman Empire, but with reference had to the Church: In the latter, the future affairs and condition of the Church her self more immediately and peculiarly are foretold; and both of them extend from Johns time to the last Judgement This Method I conceive absolutely best, as leading us to the most genuine and certain interpretation.

THE

THE I. PROPHECY

Of a Book sealed with seven Seals, beginneth.

In the First Prophecy of a Book sealed with seven Seals, consider, 1. The Preparatories to the opening of the seven Seals. 2. The opening of the seven Seals themselves.

I. THE PREPARATORIES to the opening of the seven Seals premised, are divers, but chiefly reducible to these two, viz. 1. A Vision of God on a glorious Throne, (who had this Book sealed with seven Seals in his right hand.) 2. A vision of the Lambe in the midst of the Throne, (alone prevailing to open this Book, and loose the seven Seals thereof.)

1. In the Vision of God most gloriously enthroned in heaven, (who had this sealed Book in his hand,) consider, 1. The Transition preparing John. 2. The Description of Gods enthronement in his Church

1. The Transition, from the foregoing matter to this Vision, describing the Apostle Johns Preparation for beholding these ensuing mysteries. John is prepared, 1 By sight, 2 By voice, 3 By the event or effect of both. 1. By sight; And after this I looked, and behold a door was opened in heaven, where note, 1. The time of this sight; After this, viz. after the vision about the seven Asian Churches immediately in order. 2. The dispositon of John; 1 looked. Not satisfied with what he had seen already, he desires earnestly to see more. 3. The thing seen; A door open in heaven, viz. a sign of entrance opened to see heavenly things by heavenly minds. 11. By voice, here note, 1. What manner of voice it was, viz. like that which John heard at g first, And the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a Trumpet talking with me. Both to intimate the beginning of a New vision, and to make John more certainly hear and understand. 2. What the voice uttered, viz. (1) Something mandatory; Which said, come up hither, i. e. To heaven, to see heavenly things. (2) Something promissory; And I will shew thee things which must be hereafter, Ch. IV. ver. 1. 111. By the event, or effect of both upon John, viz. A spiritual extasie or rapture; And immediately I was in the Spirit. This is (as it were) That Apocalyptical Theatre whereon John saw his Revelation.

g Rev. 1. 10.

2. The stately description of Gods enthronement in heaven. This is the more exactly to be considered, because it serves to explain many Types, and mystical expressions alluding hereunto, in the following Series of the Revelation. And it is conforme to Gods manner of encamping in his Tabernacle, in the midst of Israel in the wilderness; The Type whereof I have h formerly described: and may be singularly explained thereby, as after will particularly appear, the intent of this description being to set forth, 1 Gods special Presence in midst of his Church militant. 2 His Church's graceful state hereby, 3 His dispensations, comfortable to her, Terrible to her enemies. 4 His Churches holy worship and praise returned to God. 1 Gods special Presence in midst of his militant Church: As of old the Tabernacle was pitched in midst of Israels campe in the wilderness; And behold a Throne was set in Heaven, and one sate on the Throne. And he that sate was to look upon like a Jasper, and a Sardine Stone: And there was a Rainbow round about the Throne, in sight like unto an Emerald. Here note 1. One Throne in Heaven. 2. One sitter thereon. 3. This one sitter thereon, God, described by resemblance to three precious stones, which (as i interpreters conceive,) adumbrate the three Persons in one God, viz. The Jasper which is green, the Father: The Sardine which is red, the Son: The Emerald-like Rainbow round about most pleasant to behold, the Holy Ghost, ver. 2, 3. 11. The Churches graceful state hereupon, is set forth under the Type of twenty four Elders. Described, 1. By their place wherein they were seated, viz. Round about the Throne: As Israel round about the Tabernacle. 2. By their number; twenty four, viz. Israelites of the twelve Tribes, built upon the foundation of Christs twelve Apostles. And round about the Throne were foure and twenty Seats, and upon the Seats I saw foure and twenty Elders sitting. 3. By their postures; Sitting. Hereby is noted, Partly their rest in Gods Presence, Partly their Communion with God and Christ. Partly their Authority to judge the world as Assessors with Christ. 4. By their dignity, they being all of them (1) Elders, (2) Priests, being cloathed in white rayment, washed white in the Lambs blood. (3) Kings, and they had on their Heads Crowns of gold; (for Christ hath made them Kings and Priests to God, Rev 1.6.) ver. 4. 11. Gods dispensations from his Throne, are described 1. As terrible to his Churches enemies in his threefold expression of his judgements; And out of the Throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voices. 2. As comfortable to the Church herself in his threefold Donation of favours and benefits, viz. (1) The Spirit of Sanctification; And there were seven Lamps of fire burning before the Throne, which are the seven Spirits of God. Just as there was the k Candlestick of Gold with its seven Lamps burning in the Tabernacle before the Holy of Holyes, ver. 5. (2) The purifying Word of God and Gospel-ministry, clearer then that of the Law, which is one outward means by which the Spirit works. This is resembled by the Sea of Glasse, &c. As the Laver was placed in the Entry of the Tabernacle, l made of the womens Looking-glasses, instead whereof in Solomons Temple succeeded the Brazen Sea; And before the Throne there was a Sea of Glasse like unto Chrystall. (3) The faithful Ministers of the Gospel, which are another outward meanes whereby Gods Spirit works. m Resembled by foure Beasts, (or Gr. four living Creatures ζῶα) worshipping the Lambe joyntly with them, Rev. 5. 11. 2. Because they are set betwixt Gods Throne and the Elders Seats, as Ambassadors betwixt them, Rev. 4. 6. and 5. 6, 8, 11. 3. Because they lead on the twenty four Elders in the Acts of Divine Worship, Rev 4. 9, 10. and 5. 8, 11, 14. And divers Interpreters thus expound them.

m That Evangelical Ministers are intended by these four beasts, or four living creatures, seems more then probable; 1. Because these are men, distinct from Angels and Elders, and Master Joſ. Mede here varies: interpreting the twenty four Elders of the Miniſtry, conceiving them to be placed next the Throne, as the Prieſts and Levites next the Tabernacle: and the four beaſts, of the People, towards the four Corners of the world, As the twelve Tribes camped Eaſtward, Southward, Weſtward and Northward, i.e. on every ſide three Tribes: The firſt having the Enſign of Judah, which was a Lyon: The ſecond of Ephraim, which was an Oxe: The third of Reuben, which was a Man: The fourth of Dan, which was an Eagle. Joſeph. Med. in Com. Apocalypt. But this order hits not exactly with that of Iſraels encamping in Numbers; for Reuben was ſecond, Southward; Ephraim third, Weſtward: Here the Calf is ſecond, the Man third. Let the learned judiciouſly weigh both: And out of both extract what is found moſt appoſite.

in the midſt of the Throne, and round about the Throne. Theſe are deſcribed all; by 1 Their place betwixt the Throne and the Elders, as miniſtring from God to them; And in the midſt of the Throne, and round about the Throne. 2 Their number; were four beaſts, (Gr. living creatures.) Becauſe ſufficient for the four corners of the world; or becauſe chiefly of four Ranks, Apoſtles, Evangeliſts, Prophets, Paſtors and Teachers, Eph. 4. 11. 3 Their eyes, noting exactneſs of knowledge and vigilancy; were four beaſts full of eyes before and behind, ver. 6. 4 Their forms, like four living creatures, denoting the more ſingular and peculiar properties, of (as ſome think) Lyon-like courage, Oxe-like labour and patience, Man-like prudence, and Eagle-like aſpiring from earth to heaven; which were and ſhould in the ſeveral times of the Church be in the ſucceſſive miniſters thereof. Thus Solomons Sea, 1 Kings 7. 29. was ſet on Lyons, Bulls and Cherubims, which had faces as men, and wings as Eagles; And the firſt beaſt was like a Lyon, and the ſecond beaſt like a Calf, and the third beaſt had a face as a man, and the fourth beaſt was like a flying Eagle, v. 7. 5 Their wings with eyes in them, denoting both knowledge and ſpeedineſs in their office; each of them having ſix wings equal to the number of twenty four Elders; And the four beaſts had each of them ſix wings about him, and they were full of eyes within. IV. Their Acts of divine Worſhip; viz. 1. The four beaſts unceſſant praiſes to the three Perſons in Trinity, with three Holy's, wherein they as Guides go before the twenty four Elders; And they reſt not day and night, ſaying, Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come, v. 8. 2. The twenty four Elders correſpondent worſhip of God, at the Elders Praiſes, as it were giving their Amen thereto. Which worſhip conſiſts, (1) Partly in Deeds, Proſtration, Adoration, and caſting their Crowns down before God; And when thoſe beaſts give glory and honor, and thanks to him that ſate on the Throne, who liveth for ever and ever; The four and twenty Elders fall down before him that ſate on the Throne, and worſhip him that liveth for ever and ever, and caſt their Crowns before the Throne. v. 9, 10. (2) Partly in words; 1 Both aſcribing praiſe to God; Thou art worthy O Lord to receive glory, and honor, and power. 2 And alſo giving the reaſon thereof; For thou haſt created all things, and for thy pleaſure they are, and were created, v. 11.

CHAP. V.

2. In the viſion of the Lamb in the midſt of the Throne, (by whom the Church obtains Gods Preſence, Protection and Grace fore-mentioned: and by whom ſhe receives the particular Priviledge of this Revelation;) The ſingular excellency and dignity of the Revelation is deſcribed, 1. By the nature of the Book. 2. By the inability of all creatures to open it. 3. By the Lambs ability to open it. 4. By the triumphant Gratulation to the Lamb thereupon.

1. By the nature of the Revelation, the excellent dignity thereof appears. The nature of it is deſcribed thus; And I ſaw in the right hand of him that ſate on the Throne, a Book written within and on the back-ſide, ſealed with ſeven Seals. Here, 1. It is A Book; to note the certainty of the things therein contained. 2. It is a Book in the right hand of him that ſate upon the Throne; denoting, Partly that God is the primary Author of it. Partly that all the future events and affairs of the Church, revealed in this book, are firmly and ſurely ordered and directed by God himſelf. 3. It is A Book copiouſly written, not only within, but on the back-ſide of the Roll alſo; to ſignifie, beſides the certainty of the matter, the ſingularity of Gods care and Providence over his People in all particular caſes. 4. It is ſealed with ſeven Seals; i. e. moſt perfectly ſealed up, (ſeven being a number of Perfection,) which intimates the intricate myſteriouſneſs and abſtruſe ſecreſie of it. Chapter V. ver. 1.

2. By the inability or impotency of all creatures, to open this book and looſe the Seals thereof, upon publike Proclamation made for the opening of it; the dignity of the book is further manifeſted. Here particularly conſider, 1. The Herald, able to make all creatures hear him; And I ſaw a ſtrong Angel proclaiming with a loud voice. 2. The tenor of his Proclamation, inviting all creatures to make an eſſay (as it were) of opening the Book; Who is worthy to open the Book, and unlooſe the Seals thereof, v. 2. 3. The event upon this Proclamation, which is twofold. [1] The diſcovery of the utter inſufficiency of all creatures in the world to open the Book, yea they were all ſo far from opening it, that they could not look thereon. And no man in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth was able to open the Book, neither to look thereon, ver. 3. [2] The Apoſtle John's great grief hereupon, that none was found meet to open that Book, which ſo much concerned the Church; And I wept much, becauſe no man was found worthy to open and to read the Book, neither to look thereon, ver. 4.

3. By

3. By the Lambs worthineſſe and ability to open the Book; This Books excellency is yet further intimated. This is Evidenced to Iohn, 1 By Teſtimony of one of the Elders, (A member of the true Church comforting and informing him: which intimates, that true Conſolation and Information flowes out of the Church, and that according to Scriptures.) 2 By Ocular Demonſtration. I. By Teſtimony of one of the Elders; Who, 1. Comforts Iohn, weeping; And one of the Elders ſaith unto me weep not. 2. Informes Iohn of one that was able to open the Book. Deſcribing (1) His Perſon who he is; Partly, out of Moſes; Behold the Lyon of the Tribe of Iudah. Partly, out of the Prophets; The root of David. That is, the true Meſſiah, Son of David and Abraham, according to the Scriptures. (2) His Power to open this Book; Hath prevailed to open the Book, and to looſe the ſeven Seales thereof, ver. 5. II. By Ocular Demonſtration of this to Iohn, in Viſion of the Lamb. The Lamb ſeen of Iohn is Deſcribed, 1 By his place where he was diſcerned; And I beheld and lo, in the midſt of the Throne and of the foure Beaſts, and in the midſt of the Elders ſtood a Lamb, &c. Placed in the midſt as Mediatour betwixt God and his Church. 2. By his poſture; Stood. This a poſture of Miniſtration. 3. By his Mediatory Office, viz. (1) Prieſtly; A Lamb as it had been ſlain. This denotes, Not only his Death for us: but alſo the eternall efficacy and vertue of his Death, as it were ſtill freſh before God for us. (2) Kingly; Having ſeven Hornes. Theſe ſignifie his perfect, abſolute and compleat Power over his Church, and over all things for his Church. (3) Propheticall; And ſeven eyes, which are the ſeven Spirits of God ſent forth into all the earth. Theſe intimate, The compleat Perfection of his wiſdome, for his whole Church, he having received the Spirit not by meaſure, ver. 6. 4. By his Particular Act, implying his Ability to Open the Book; And he came and took the Book out of the right hand of him that ſate upon the Throne, ver. 7.

4. By the triumphant Gratulation to the Lamb hereupon. The worth and excellency of this Book is alſo remarkably inſinuated. Here, 1. The Occaſion of the Gratulation is declared, viz. The Lambs taking the Book; And when he had taken the Book: that is, that ſo he might open it. 2. The Gratulation it ſelf is Deſcribed, How it was performed, 1. By the four Beaſts and four and twenty Elders who begin it. 2. By the Angels, who follow. 3. By all Creatures, who in their kind imitate them; The Beaſts and Elders cloſing up the whole. I. The four Beaſts and four and twenty Elders (Miniſters and People.) begin the Gratulation. Touching whom note, 1. Their Poſture of Adoration; The four Beaſts and four and twenty Elders fell down before the Lamb. 2. Their Proviſion and furniture for the Lambs praiſe, viz. [1] Harps, inſtruments of Praiſe. [2] Golden Vials full of Odours, i.e. Faithful and Pure Hearts, full of Praying deſires; Having every one of them Harps and Golden Vials full of Odours, which are the Prayers of Saints, v. 8. 3. Their Triumphant Song it ſelf, ſet forth, Partly, by the excellency of it, And they Sang a new Song. New in reſpect of theſe New Benefits vouchſafed by Chriſt. Partly, by the Tenour, or Matter of the Song: wherein note [1] The Praiſe aſcribed by them to the Lamb, Saying, thou art worthy to take the Book, and to open the Seals thereof. [2] The Reaſon of this Praiſe, and their Aſcribing it to him; For, thou waſt ſlain, and haſt redeemed us to God by thy blood, out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation: And haſt made us unto our God Kings and Prieſts, and we ſhall reign on earth, ver. 9, 10. II. The Angels afterwards follow the Beaſts and Elders in a like Gratulation. Touching whom note, 1. Their Place, where they Praiſed; And I beheld and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the Throne, and the Beaſts, and the Elders. Here ſeated, Partly to note they are Gods Miniſtring Spirits, for the protection and comfort of his Church: Partly, to intimate that even by the Church, the manifold wiſdom of God is manifeſted even to Angels. 2. Their Number, an huge definite number being put for an indefinite and almoſt innumerable number; And the number of them was ten thouſand times ten thouſand, and thouſands of thouſands, v. 11. 3. Their intenſive zeal to the Lambs Praiſe; Saying with a loud voice. 4 Their Triumphant Song it ſelf, wherin they aſcribe to the Lamb, many excellent dignities, as due to him by reaſon of his Death; Worthy is the Lamb that was ſlain, to receive Power, and Riches, and Wiſdom, and Strength, and Honour, and Glory, and Bleſſing, v 12. III. Finally, All Creatures are brought in, (by a Proſopopeia) Singing their Part, and Praiſing the Lamb in their kind. (The whole creature triumpheth at this Prophecy; which foretels an end of its miſery under which it groans, Rom. 8. 21. &c.) Here note, 1. The Plenary diſtribution of the creatures, taking in all; And every Creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and ſuch as are in the ſea, & all that are in them, heard I, ſaying. 2 Their Praiſe which they give, both to him that ſits on the Throne, and to the Lamb; Bleſſing, Honour, Glory, and Power be unto him that ſitteth on the Throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever, v. 13. 3. The cloſe of this, and of the whole Gratulation, by the Church that firſt began it, and who is moſt concerned in this ſeven-ſealed Book. This is done, [1] By the Beaſts Obſignatory Amen; And the four Beaſts ſaid, Amen. [2] By the Elders Laudatory Adoration; And the four and twenty Elders fell down and worſhipped him that liveth for ever and ever, ver. 14.

CHAP. VI.

II. THE OPENING OF THE VII. SEALS THEMSELVES. Writers differ much from one another in Interpreting the Myſterious Contents of theſe Seals. Except the Lamb who opened theſe Seals, who can infallibly and exactly open the ſenſe of all theſe Seals? It is good to ſearch out what we can, the things Revealed: yet it will become us to be wiſe to ſobriety, and not to be too Peremptory and Definitive. Scope of all theſe ſeven Seals and the ſeven Trumpets, in the ſeventh Seal (thinks [n] Mede) is, To foretel the future deſtiny of the Roman Empire (I add, ſtill with reference to the Church of Chriſt,) by ſeveral eminent intervals, points or Periods of time, viz. Under the firſt ſix Seals the Inteſtine events of the Empire now ſtanding and flouriſhing, ariſing in the Empire it ſelf, Till at laſt in the ſixth Seal Chriſt utterly deſtroy and demoliſh the power of Idols and Gentiliſh tilish Idol-gods in the Romane world. Under the seventh Seal and seven Trumpets in it, the Foreign events of the Empire, now falling and running to utter ruine, and those brought upon them by barbarous Nations. And that the four Beasts (which he resembles to the four Ranks of the Tribes of Israel, camping Eastward, Southward, Westward, and Northward about the Tabernacle) are annexed to the four first Seals, to show the beginning of every Seal agreeable to the station of each beast, Eastward, &c. But in this notion of his about the four Beasts, I am not fully satisfied, for the Reasons formerly hinted.

In these seven Seals, I. Something is common to them all. As 1. That the Lamb opens them all. 2. That in opening of them all, mysterious Events are Revealed. 3. That all of them have Types of these ensuing events. II. Something is common only to the first four, viz. 1. That to each of them is annexed one of the four Beasts, inciting John to come and see, viz. (o) The Ministers represented by the foure Beasts, provoking the people, represented by John, to behold things Revealed. 2. That the Type of each of them, is an Horse and his Rider. An Horse, a speedy strong warlike-creature, denoting celerity, power and prevalency of these Events. The Rider guiding the Horse, denoting The chief instruments of these events ensuing, and (thinks Forbes) the Guidance of Providence, ordering, over-ruling and directing all these Events. III. Some things are proper and peculiar to every Seal, as after will particularly appear. These things premised once for all, Consider now the opening of the VII. Seals particularly in Order.

o Thus Brightman, Forbes, Pareus, interpret.

CH. VI.

I. Seal Opened. Touching which note; I. The Opener of the Seal, Christ; And I saw when the Lamb opened one of the Seals. II. The Herauld inciting John to Attention; And I heard as it were the noyse of Thunder, One of the four Beasts, saying, Come and see. Here is declared 1. Who this Herauld was, viz. The first Beast, like a Lyon. 2. How potent his voice was, like Thunder. 3. What he said, Come and see, Ch. VI. v. 1. III. The Type represented under this Seal, viz. A white horse, (white being a colour signifying sometimes Purity, sometimes Royalty, sometimes victory:) and his Rider, 1. Armed with a Bow, An instrument of war, smiting swiftly both far and near. 2. Adorned with a crown, An emblem of Victory and Triumph; And I saw, and behold a white Horse, And he that sate on him had a Bow, and a Crown was given unto him. IV. The event ensuing, And he went forth conquering and to conquer, viz. beginning, but not finishing his Conquest. ver. 2.

p Jos. Mede in Com. Apoc. Part. 1. de sigil. 1.

According to p Mede, This is the first memorable lot befalling the Roman Empire. This first Beast, like a Lyon, whose Station was Eastward, denotes a Ruler, i.e. An Emperour, coming from the East, viz. Christ from the time of his Ascension into Heaven, wounding the Roman-gods and their worshippers with the Arrows of the Gospel, that they began to submit to Christ as a Conquerour. According to q others, By the Lyon-like thundring Ministry of Christ, the Apostles and others in the Primitive times, when the Church was white and pure in Divine Worship and Discipline, The Gospel ran swiftly through the world, conquering victoriously for present, turning Gentiles from Idols: and laying foundations of Conquest for the future. These interpretations for substance come much to one.

q Arethas Pareus, Brightman, Forbes, Diodate, Napier.

II. Seal Opened. Touching which note, I. The Opener of the Seal, Christ; And when he had opened the second Seal. II. The Herauld inciting John to Attend, viz. the second Beast like a Calfe; I heard the second Beast say, come and see, ver. 3. III. The Type represented to his view under this Seal, was a Red Horse, and his Rider armed with a Great sword. An Emblem of bloody wars and slaughter. IV. The event ensuing, viz. Taking off Peace from the Earth, by intestine cruelties, Men killing one another; And there went out another Horse that was red: and power was given to him that sate thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another; And there was given unto him a great sword, ver. 4.

r Jos. Med. in Comment. Apocal. Par. 2. de Sigil. 2.

According to r Mede, this is the second memorable Event upon the Roman Empire, Mutual intestine slaughters and butcheries of one another therein. This second Beast, like an Oxe or Calf, whose station was Westward, denoting the beginning of this Seal; when Trajan, a Spaniard, from the West, became Emperour, under whom, and Hadrian his Successor especially, Such civil broyles and butcheries fell out in the Empire in many parts thereof, as the like is scarce to be found in all the Roman Story, more Jews being slain by Hadrian the Emperour, then came out of Egypt, &c. This Seal he continues till Commodus the Emperor. According to (f) Pareus and others, This second Beast and Red Horse, denote the Churches Nine cruel Persecutions under the Roman Empire, from Nero and downwards: Red, with the blood of Saints, when Christians were as Oxen and Calves slain and sacrificed by so many cruel Martyrdoms. Quære, Whether both may not be joyned together; bloody civil broyles in the Empire, for its bloody persecution of Christians and the Gospel.

III. Seal Opened. Touching which note, I. The Opener of the Seal, Christ; And when he had opened the third Seal. II. The Herauld inciting John to attendance; I heard the third Beast say, Come and see. This third Beast had a face as a man. III. The Type represented under this Seal was a black Horse, and his Rider having a pair of Ballances; And I beheld, and lo, a Black Horse, And he that sate on him had a paire of Ballances in his hand, ver. 5. IV. The Event ensuing, viz. A voice explaining the mystery of this Type. Touching which voice are declared, 1. Whence the voice came, viz. From the Lamb who stood in the midst of the four Beasts, Rev. 5. 6. He discloseth and disposeth of all those Events; And I heard a voice in the midst of the four Beasts, say. This is peculiar to this Seal. 2. What the voice said, which seems to be; [1] Partly, by way of commination, threatning a Famine; A measure of Wheat for a peny, and three measures of Barley for a peny. 2. Partly, by way of Limitation; And see thou hurt not the Oyle and the Wine, ver. 6.

About the sense of this Seal Interpreters much differ among themselves. t Mede understands it o the notable Procuration and severity of Justice throughout the Roman world; u Ballances being ing an Emblem of Justice, usually painted with Ballances; and the blackness of the Horse, denoting the severity of justice, viz. That they should not take Wheat or Barley, but for a just price: and that they should not hurt, i. e. not steal Oyl and Wine. The third Beast like a man, whose station was Southward, signifying the beginning of this Seal under Severus Emperour coming from the South. And singular, severe and exact justice, was in the Roman Empire, especially under Severus and Alexander, the most famous sitters on this black Horse. x Others understand here extreme Corporal Famine, or Dearth of Corn, so great, that corn was not measured, but weighed, and that men grew black with hunger, *Lam.*4.7,8. The scarsity being not of superfluities, Oyl and Wine; but of necessaries, Wheat and Barley. But y others interpret this of spiritual Famine, extreme Dearth of the pure Word and Truth, when the black Horse of Heresie, especially the Arrian Heresie, so overspread, blacked and infected the Church, yet some few precious defenders of the Orthodox Truth (which from the effect is compared to Oyl and Wine) were not hurt therewith, as Athanasius, Hilarius, &c. z Brightman thinks the world here was threatned with Famine of Corporal food, for loathing Spiritual food.

IV. Seal Opened. Touching which note; I. The Opener of the Seal, Christ; And when he had opened the fourth Seal. II. The Herald inciting John to attend; I heard the voice of the fourth Beast say, Come and see v.7. III. The Type represented to John, viz. A Pale Horse, (an embleme of speedy mortality.) and his Rider, described, 1. By his Name. 2. By his Companion following with him; And I looked, and behold a Pale Horse, and his a name that sate on him was Death, and Hell (or rather, the Grave) followed with him. IV. The Event following; And Power was given to them, over the fourth part of the Earth, to kill with Sword, and with Hunger, and with Death (i. e. the Pestilence) and with the beasts of the earth. Here note 1. Deaths Commission, Power given to Kill. 2. The Extent of this Commission, over the fourth part of the earth. 3. Deaths Instruments whereby he was to execute his Commission, viz. Gods four sore Plagues, Sword, Famine, Pestilence, Beasts, v.8.

a There's a name given to this Rider, to wit, Death. By proportion whereof names may be also given to the former Riders. So that he that sits on the white horse, may be called Truth; On the Red, War; On the Black, Famine. Brightman on *Rev.*6.8.

The fourth Beast (saith b Mede) like an Eagle, whose station was Northward, indicates this Seal to begin under Maximinus Emperour; a Thracian brought up in the North, and it continued about thirty three years. In which space the intestine sword, and the fifteen years Pestilence (which according to the custome of the East is called Death,) miserably raged in the Empire; and fields being neglected, famine followed, and men being destroyed, beasts of the fields multiplied against them. The fourth part of the Earth, he expounds the chief and far greatest part of the Empire. c Others also to like purpose interpret these plagues literally as inflicted on the Roman Empire, for induration against, and contempt of the Gospel. d Pareus saith, The Church was perfect and strong under the white Horse; Red with the blood and constancy of Martyrs under the Red Horse: Black and obscured with heresies under the black Horse; and now is so sick and diseased that it bears death on his back, hath hell under its feet, that its even sick to death about the time of Antichrists Reign. Therefore the fourth part died with Sword, Famine, Pestilence, Beasts, which judgments God threatned of old to Jerusalem, and the Church for Apostacy, *Ezek.*14.21.

V. Seal Opened. This fifth Seal hath no indication by any of the four beasts, as the four former, nor needs it, being in it self so evident and palpable, Touching which note, I. The Opener of this Seal, Christ the Lamb; And when he had opened the fifth Seal. II. The mystery revealed upon opening of the Seal, viz. the woful persecution of the Church, under the type of Souls of Martyrs under the Altar, &c. These souls are described by their condition; Cry in that state; And comfortable answer to their cry. 1. By their present condition; I saw under the Altar the souls of them that were slain for the Word of God, and for the Testimony which they held. Here observe [1] Their Cross, and the extremity of it, they were souls of the slain, under the Altar, &c. i. e. lying at the foot of the Altar, like sacrifices newly slain. Metaphorical allusion. [2] Their cause and its integrity, viz. for the Word of God, &c. ver.9. 2. By their cry in that condition described. [1] For manner, to be most vehement; And they cryed with a loud voice. A Periphrasis of extreme cruelty ripe for judgement, &c. [2] For matter, to be for hastening of revenge upon their bloody Persecutors. (Metaphorical allusion. As Abels blood cryed) which request they urge from Gods Holiness and Truth; Saying, How long, O Lord, Holy and True, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? ver.10. 3. By the comfortable answer returned to their cry, which is (1) Real, a present reward being conferred upon them all; And white robes were given to every one of them. e Some think this is an allusion to the Jews custome of admitting Priests, putting white robes upon them: and denotes their present admittance into the Rank of blessed ones. f Robes of glory. Some count these white Robes a sign or embleme of the future Rest, Joy, Victory, and Triumph the Saints shall have on earth, when some other sufferings were ended; (2) Verbal, Partly directing them to rest contented a little while: Partly giving the reason thereof, viz. that their fellow-servants might be honoured with Martyrdome as well as they, and so the sins of Persecutors become fully ripe for vengeance; And it was said unto them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellow-servants also and their brethren that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled, ver. 11.

perour about Anno 268. when the fifteen years Peſtilence (the longeſt calamity of the former Seal,) was extinct. Under this Seal the Tenth Perſecution begun by Dioclesian, continued by others, was more bitter, bloody, and of longer continuance to the Church then any of the former. In Egypt alone, (a little point of the Romane Empire,) 144000 men were ſlain, and 700 baniſhed. Whence with Egyptians, the Dioclesian Æra is called the Æra of Martyrs, Almoſt the whole world was infected with the blood of Martyrs, ſaith Sulpitius Severus. [h] Others for ſubſtance thus interpret this Seal. [i] Pareus thinks, (our leſſe probably) that in this Seale is the Conſolation of the Martyrs, againſt the Croſſe, ſignified by the Red Horſe, whoſe ſouls being in ſafe Receptacle under the heavenly Altar, Chriſt, ſhould after a little time, (viz. The time of Antichriſts tyranny,) be compleatly glorified at the day of judgement, and all other fellow-martyrs with them.

VI. Seal opened. This Seal ſeems plainly to ſet forth Chriſts dreadful judgments upon his Churches enemies, in the Romane Empire eſpecially: whereupon they are diſtracted, and even at their wits end, as if the very day of judgement it ſelf were come upon them, for their bloody cruelties inflicted on the Saints even to death, as was intimated in the fifth Seal. Touching this ſixth Seal, conſider, I. The Opener of it, viz. The Lambe Chriſt: And I beheld when he had opened the ſixth Seal. II. The matter of it, or myſteries reveal'd upon opening of the Seal. Theſe are deſcribed More generally; And lo there was a great earthquake. An Emblem oft uſed in [k] Scripture, to note great changes. More particularly, 1. The [l] Sun became black as ſackcloth of haire. 2. The Moon became as blood, ver. 12. 3 The Starres of Heaven fell unto the Earth. This is illuſtrated by an Emphatical Similitude: Even as a Figge-tree caſteth her untimely Figgs, when ſhe is ſhaken of a mighty winde, ver. 13. 4. The Heaven departed as a ſcrole when it is rolled together. 5. And every Mountain and Iſland were moved out of their places, ver. 14. 6. Finally, the general horrour and amazement enſuing hereupon. This horrour is pathetically deſcribed, (1) By the extent of it, viz. to all ſorts and degrees, great and ſmall: And the Kings of the Earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and every Bondman, and every Freeman, &c. (2) By the intenſive extremity of it compelling them, Partly to frightful actions: Hid themſelves in the Dens and in the Rocks of the Mountaines, ver. 15. Partly to frightful diſtracted cryes: And ſaid to the Mountains and Rocks, fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that ſits on the Throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe, ver. 16. (3) By the cauſe of it, viz. The preſent day of the Lambs intolerable revenge: For the great day of his wrath is come, and who ſhall be able to ſtand, ver. 17.

[k] Hag. 2. 6, 7, 21, 22. Heb. 12. 26, 27.

[l] With expreſſions like to theſe following, not only the day of judgement is deſcribed, Mat. 24. 29, &c Mark 13. 24. Luke 21. 25. but alſo other great judgements in this life; as the deſtruction of Babylon, Iſa. 13. 9, 10, 13. of Egypt, Ezek. 32. 7. to 11. and of the Churches enemies, Joel 3. 14, 15, 16.

This Seale, thinks [m] Mede, begins from the three hundred and eleventh year of Chriſt, where the cruel Ten years perſecution under the Fifth Seale ended. When by Conſtantine the great and his Succeſſours, there was ſuch a mighty change and ſubverſion of the Romane Heatheniſh affairs, (ſignified here, by the great Earthquake,) wherein all the Heatheniſh Gods were ſhaken from their Heaven, their Prieſts rejected and for ever deprived of their Revenue: their Idol-temples broke, pul'd down, burnt, demoliſhed, throughout the whole Romane-world. And the Emperours, Kings and Potentates, endeavouring to ſuccour their endangered gods, themſelves ſubdued, fright ed, put to flight, at laſt none daring to defend this Romane Heatheniſh Religion ſo terribly cruſhed and fallen. This is the firſt complement of Chriſt's victory over the Romane Heatheniſh Empire, the foundation whereof Chriſt laid in the I. Seal. For particular Accommodations of events to the particulars of the Text, I refer the Reader to him. [n] Others apply this Seale to the Chriſtian world, which felt an horrible Earthquake about ſix hundred years after Chriſt: When the Sun, Jeſus Chriſt was obſcured: The Moon, the Church, turned into blood: The Starrs, the Miniſters, fell from heavenlineſſe to earthlineſſe: The Heavens, the Scriptures rolled up and neglected: Mountains and Iſlands, viz. Kings and people, endangered to be brought under the Romane tyranny, &c.

Hitherto of the Romane Empires inteſtine loſſes and events, ariſing eſpecially from within it ſelf while now ſtanding and flouriſhing, foretold in the firſt ſix Seals. Next of that Empire's forrein events, brought upon it chiefly by forrein Nations from without it, while now falling and running to ruine, foreſhewed in the ſeventh Seale, eſpecially by the firſt ſix Trumpets, and all with reference to the Goſpel and Church of Chriſt.

III. Viſion.

VII. Seale. Touching this ſeventh Seale, conſider 1. Previous Conſolations of the Church, premiſed before the opening of it. 2. The actual opening of it.

1. Previous conſolations of the Church premiſed before the opening of the ſeventh Seal, are comprehended in three particular viſions. 1. Of four Angels holding the four winds. 2. Of an Angel ſealing the ſervants of God. 3. Of a great multitude, clothed with white Robes, having Palmes in their hands.

1. The Viſion of four Angels holding the four Winds. Here conſider, I. The time of this viſion; And after theſe things I ſaw, &c. i. e. or after the things or affairs tranſacted under the Sixth Seale, the ſeventh Seale with its Trumpets being now about to begin. II. The matter of the Viſion;

I

I saw foure Angels standing on the four Corners of the earth, beholding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree. These Angels, (viz. not Satan and his evil Angels hindring the winds of the Gospel, from blowing on the Church, as o some interpret; but good Angels having power and commission to inflict judgements upon the Romane world,) are here described 1. By their number; four: for the four corners of the world. 2 By their posture, standing: A posture of service and of readinesse for it. 3. By the place where they stood; on the four corners of the earth. To show the extent of the ensuing evils under the seventh Seal from all parts of the world. 4. By their action; They held the four winds of the earth. Here I understand not by winds the Preachers of the Gospel, or the influences of spiritual grace as p some; because that which follows in ver. 2,3. favours not this interpretation, but seems repugnant thereto: but rather the fierce tempests of q wars and other calamities from all corners of the world, which these four Angels had commission to hold or loose from this or that part of the earth, according as the following Angels should intimate to them by sounding their Trumpets for dissipation and destruction of the Roman Empire. And it is usual by Windes, to signifie warres and warlike Commotions. Compare Dan. 7.2,3. with Jer. 18.17. and 49.36. and 51.1 Blowing on r the sea, earth, and trees, is mentioned most congruously to the Metaphor of Windes, which do hurt on Earth by ruines of houses, on Sea by shipwracks, on Trees by breaking them and tearing them up by the roots; tempestuous windes bring manifold fierce destructions, Ch. VII. ver. 1.

CHAP. VII.

r Terram, Mare, Arbores] Allegoricè intelligo, non singulos fideles vel Doctus, sed Ecclesias Particulares, Terram, inquam, Ecclesias in Provinciis Mediterraneis: Mare, Ecclesias in Provinciis maritimis & insularibus: Arbores, Ecclesias in Provinciis sylvosis, montosis; cujusmodi ferè sunt Septentrionales. D. Pareus in Apoc. 7.1.

2. The vision of another Angel sealing the servants of God within the Roman Empire, thereby to secure them from the horrible tempests ensuing upon the Empire, that they should not be ruined in the common calamities. Here this Angel is described, I. By the place whence he came; And I saw another Angel ascending from the East. Probably therefore it intends the Lord Jesus Christ, who opened the Seals, and who marked those Mourners in Ezek. 9.1,2,3,4. By whose paschal-blood (a Type of Christ.) Israel was preserved from Egypts plague, Exod. 12.7,12,13. II. By his Adjunct; Having the Seal of the living God. Compare that of Pauls; s The foundation of God standeth sure, having this Seal, the Lord knoweth who are his. The Elect and their Election are sealed in Christ, who here differences his chosen ones by his peculiar Providence from them that were to be destroyed. III. By his speech: where note, 1. The vehemency of it, denoting his intensive care over his Elect; And he cryed with a loud voice. 2. To whom he directed it; To the four Angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea: As having Authority and command over them, ver 2. 3. What he spake to them, viz. He gave them charge to suspend their executions of Judgments committed to them, till Gods servants were safely and securely provided for, that they might palpably be distinguished from others by the Angels executing Gods wrath; Saying, hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we (i.e. Christ, and his ministring Angels.) have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads, ver. 3. IV. By the t number of those whom he sealed. Which number is laid down 1. Summarily, in the total sum of all the sealed Ones; And I heard the number of them which were sealed: And there were sealed an hundred and fourty and four thousand of all the Tribes of the children of Israel, i.e. 12 times 12000, of every of the 12 Tribes 12000. v. 4. By this sealed number understand, not properly the 12 tribes of Israel, but the true Catholique Church of the Gentiles, figured under the twelve Tribes of Israel, imitating their faith, and being true Israelites indeed, fitly answering to the twelve Patriarchs the foundation of the Jewish, and to the twelve Apostles the foundation of the Christian Church. And its usual in this Book, to resemble the Church of Gentiles, by the Jewish Church; and no wonder, because the Gentilish Church is substituted, in stead of the Jewish that Apostatized, till that be grafted in again, Rom. 11. 2. Particularly, in the particular sums of the sealed ones of every several tribe, here particularly reckoned up in order; Of the tribe of Judah were sealed twelve thousand, Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelve thousand, &c. The whole enumeration of the tribes is in this order; 1 Judah, 2 Reuben, 3 Gad, 4 Aser, 5 Nepthali, 6 Manasses, 7 Simeon, 8 Levi, 9 Issachar, 10 Zebulun, 11 Joseph, 12 Benjamin. An Order of the tribes no where else found in holy Scripture, yet purposely observed here by the Holy Ghost, and very likely to imply some u special mystery, ver. 5,6,7,8.

Thus of the Vision of the Angel sealing Gods servants, (as then, in number, contracted: in State, afflicted:) contemporany to the first six Trumpets of the seventh Seal. Next of the Vision of the white-robed, palm-bearing multitude, (as then, in Number, enlarged: in State, Blessed) contemporany to the seventh Trumpet, wherein the mystery of God is finished.

s 2 Tim. 2. 19.

t The number of the Sealed is twice mentioned. 1. Here, in the I. Prophecy, at the beginning of the Trumpets. As of those that were to be preserved under the Ruines of the Trumpets. 2. In the II. Prophecy, at the beasts obtaining of power. As of those that were to be praised for their faithfulnesse to God and the Lamb, when others received the mark of the Beast. Whence its clear that the Prophecy of the Beast, is contemporany with this of the Trumpets: viz. not beyond the end of the sixth Trumpet, wherein the moneths of the Beast determine with the days of the mourning Witnesses, Ch. 11.14. Joseph. Mede in Clave Apoc. Part. 1. ad cap 7.

u Touching the Mystery of this unusual Order of the Tribes here sealed, The Conjectures of Writers are various. But these considerations following, seem useful and apposite for clearing the present Text.

I. From the twelve sonnes of Jacob, Immediate or Mediate, the twelve Tribes are denominated.

II. The names of those twelve sons are all significative. See their Interpretation in Gen. 29. and 30. and 35. and 41. Their Significations as here they stand in Order, may so be put together, as to expresse appositely the Character of these true Israelites indeed, the sealed Christians, viz. As, Worshipping God by Faith in Christ the Son, Purely: wrastling against Antichristian disobedience, earnestly: And at last obtaining of Christ the Reward of Heavens Habitation eternally. See the ensuing Memorial Scheme.

III. The Order of Primogeniture, or of free womens sons before bond, is not observed at all: But as to those carnal respects they are reckoned up confusedly, the younger being set before the Elder, and the handmaids sons being set before the sons of the wives. In the matter of salvation carnal Prerogatives are nothing, bond and free are all one in Christ. Piscat. Mede. First, Leah's four sons, (whereof she had the two last by Zilpah her maid,) are reckoned up, viz. 1. Judah. 2. Reuben. 3. Gad. 4. Aser. Then Rachels two sons, (whereof the first was by Bilhah her maid,) viz. 5. Nephtali. 6. Manasse. Afterwards, Leahs other four sons, viz. 7. Simeon. 8. Levi. 9. Issachar. 10. Zabulon. Last of all, Rachels other two sons, viz. 11. Joseph. 12. Benjamin.

IV. In this Order these twelve are here conceived to be ranked, from their, or their tribes Memorable Acts more or lesse vertuous, touching Gods true Worship, Religion and Honour, or their respect to Christ, recorded in Scripture. As;

Judah is set first, because Christ the Lyon of the Tribe of Judah, King of the Church, descended of that Tribe, Heb. 7 14.

Reuben second, who was famous for his building the Altar of witnesse by Jordan, for retaining of Gods pure worship, Josh. 22.10,27.

Gad third, who was famous, Partly for joyning with Reuben in the said Altar, Josh 22.10. Partly in that the two famous destroyers of Baalisme were of that Tribe, viz. Elijah the Prophet, 1 Kings 17.1. 1 Chron. 5.11, 16. and Jehu the King.

Aser fourth and last, who was eminent for the Sareptan Widow, who nourished Elijah, 1 Kings 17. 9. Sarepta belonging to Aser. And for Anna the Prophetesse, (of Aser's Tribe, Luke 2.36.) who blessed God for Christ, when presented in the Temple, Luk 2.38. yet set last, because their Renown was but in respect of women.

Rachels two sons, Nephtali and Manasse, are ranked next;

Naphtali (though by her Maid Bilhah,) first. Probably, 1. Because Barak, who subdued Sisera, was of Naphtali, Judg. 4.6. 2. Because Huram, by whose workmanship the instruments and furniture of the Temple was prepared, was of Naphtali also, 1 Kings 7.14. 2 Chron 2.14. 3. But especially because Christ dwelt in Capernaum, the Metropolis of Galilee, and a chief City in the Tribe of Naphtali, and there began and exercised his ministry working miracles not appearing in Judea, but at publike Feasts, Compare Isa. 9.1. &c. Mat. 4. 14. with the Series of the Gospel-story.

Manasse next, as being famous for Gideon the destroyer of Baal, Judg. 6.15 24,30. and for Elisha the Prophet.

After these come the four other sons of Leah, in the order of their Primogeniture, as not being singularly renowned.

Last of all are Rachels other two sons, viz. Joseph and Benjamin.

Josephs Tribe was double according to his two sons, viz. Manasseh's; Ranked before. And Ephraim's, in whose stead Joseph's name is put, Ephraim's name deservedly being blotted out, and his Tribe ranked thus low: both because of the Idolatry of Micah an Ephraimite, whereby Israel was corrupted, Judg. 17.1,4,5. and 18. 31. and also because of Israels grievous defection to idolatry, by means of Jeroboam and Ahab both Ephraimites.

Benjamin youngest of all, comes after all: and not undeservedly. Partly because of Shimei a Benjamite's cursing of David, 2 Sam. 16.5,6,7,8,11. Partly because of King Saul a Benjamite's cruel hatred and persecution of David, that special Type and famous Ancestor of Jesus Christ, 1 Sam. 9.1,2, and 18.29.

Dan is wholly left out of this Catalogue, and Levi put in his Roome; Some think, because Antichrist was to come of Dan: but (as Parens observes) Bellarmine himself counts that a vain fiction. Rather it was, Partly because the Danites were Ringleaders in following Micah's Idolatry under the Judges, Judg. 18. Partly because the Danites were Harbingers of those notorious publike Idols of Jeroboam, erected in Dan and Bethel, 1 Kings 12. 28, 29, 30. But of these things the Reader may see more, in Commentators on this chapter, viz. Arethas apud Oecumen. Brightman, Mede, Parens, Forbes, Piscator, &c.

3. The Vision of a Great-multitude-white-robed, &c. praising God, and the Lamb. Their Triumphs are Contemporany to the seventh Trumpet; At which time they are here aforehand comforted with their happy state after all their Tribulations. Here consider, I. The exceeding numerousnesse of the Multitude seen; After this, I beheld; And lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all Nations, and Kindreds, and People, and Tongues. II. Their Place and Posture; They stood before the Throne, and before the Lamb: whose presence is in midst of his Church, as was shewed, Ch. 4. for her Protection, Consolation, &c. III. Their Habit; Cloathed with white Robes, and Palms in their hands. Emblemes of Purity, Joy, Victory and Triumph, ver. 9. IV. Their Joyful Triumphant Gratulation. (viz. for preserving and saving them from the calamities of the six Trumpets.) which Gratulation is described, 1. By the zeal and fervency of it; And cryed with a loud voice. 2. By the Tenour or Matter of it which they uttered; Saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb, ver. 10. 3. By the Harmonious Gratulation of all the Angels, on the Churches behalf, with Prostration, Adoration, and like thankful Acclamations before the Throne; And all the Angels stood round about the Throne, and about the Elders and the four beasts, and fell before the Throne on their faces, and worshipped God; Saying, Amen: Blessing, and Glory, and Wisdom, and Thanksgiving, and Honour, and Power, and Might, be unto our God for ever and ever, Amen, ver. 11, 12. V. Who this numerous people is; This is discovered in a Dialogue betwixt one of the Elders and John. Wherein, 1. The Elder interrogates John who they were, that so he might stir up John to receive his Information herein, And one of the Elders Answered, (i.e. began to speak. An Hebraism) Saying unto me who are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? v 13. 2. John answers, tacitly implying his own ignorance, and desire to be informed by him; And I said unto him, Sir thou knowest. 3. The Elder Replies to John, informing him who they are by their threefold state or condition, Past, Present, and Future. [1] By their Past Condition; what it was. viz. 1 Partly Grievous; These are they which came out of great tribulation. 2 Partly Joyous; And have washed their Robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb, ver. 14. [2] By their Present Condition; what consequently it is, and wherein it consists, viz. 1 Partly, in their sweet Communion with God; Therefore are they before the Throne of God. 2 Partly in their Constant service of him; And serve him day and night in his Temple. [3] By their Future Condition; what it shall be. Which is most sweetly described, as consisting, 1 Partly, in the constant Presence of the Fountain of all Good; And he that sitteth on the Throne shall dwell among them, ver. 15. 2 Partly, in the continual Absence of all Evil; They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; (wherefore they shall be freed from a defective wanting Condition.) neither shall the Sun light on them, nor any heat: (therefore they shall be preserved from all scorching afflictions and Persecutions) ver. 16. This Absence of all Evils is confirmed by the Causes thereof, viz. The Lambs rich and constant supply of their wants, and Gods removal of all their Griefs; For the Lamb, which is in the midst of the Throne, shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, ver. 17.

Hither to of the Previous Consolations of the Church and faithful, Premised to the opening of the seventh Seal.

CHAP. VIII.

2. The Actual opening of the Seventh Seal. Here consider, I The Opener of this Seal, as of all the former, viz. The Lamb; And when he had opened the seventh Seal. II. The Events following the opening of it. These are of two sorts, viz. 1 Preparatory. 2. Executory.

1. Preparatory to the things farther intended under this seventh Seal; and they are chiefly four, viz. 1. Silence in Heaven for half an hour; There was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour. Either portending great things to follow; or denoting and alluding to the Rite of the Temple, wherein (though x musical instruments sounded whilest Sacrifices were offered: yet) there was deep Silence whilest Incense was offering up, y the People secretly praying with themselves. This seems rather here implyed by Silence, because of the offering up of z Incense here following, which was done at the same time, Ch. VIII. ver. 1. II. The Vision of seven Angels with seven Trumpets; And I saw the seven Angels which stood before God, and to them were given seven Trumpets. By Angels here understand, not only the Angels themselves, to be chief leading Executors of the following Plagues, but also such men as they shall stir up as co-instruments to act with them. By their standing, conceive their constant readiness to all service which God shall impose upon them. By Trumpets, war-like instruments, as it were the sounding of the Allarm to Gods Judgements against the Roman Empire. And by seven, note the sevenfold remarkable Intervals, or Pauses of Judgements inflicted, ver. 2. III. The Vision of Another Angel, viz. a Jesus Christ our heavenly High-Priest, and his Actions. This Angels Actions, here pointed out with allusion to the Levitical Customes, were 1. His Oblation of Incense. This Action is described, [1] By the place where he stood; And another Angel came and stood at the Altar, viz. the Altar of Incense. b [2] By the vessel, or instrument of Ministration; Having a Golden Censer; that is, b Having the office of intercession. [3] By the Matter offered up; And there was given unto him much Incense (Gr. many Odours) that he should offer it with the Prayers of all Saints, viz. The cryes of the Martyrs under the Altar, Rev. 6. 9, 10. for speedy revenge upon their bloody Persecutors. This may be understood two ways. Either thus; c The Prayers of Saints are called Odours, Revel. 5. 8. And here, the Odours are distinguished from the Prayers: only to show how it is, and in whom, that they are Odours; that is, acceptable to God. These Odours are said to be given him, according as he acknowledgeth all things to be given him of the Father, as he who is both Sealed and Sanctified, and as Mediator hath received the Spirit without measure. (And therefore d their conceit that this cannot be meant of Christ, because much Incense is said to be given him, is weak and empty.) Or thus; The many Odours may be interpreted Christs abundant Merits, (who offered himself an Odour of a sweet smell to God, Eph 5.2.) which may be said to be given to him, viz. given to him as Mediator from the Father, inasmuch as his e Mediatory office it self, and f all his rich accomplishments for that office are given to him by the Father. Now with these Merits he perfumes the Saints Prayers, and makes them sweet and acceptable to God. [4] By the Altar whereon these things are offered; Upon the Golden Altar, which was before the Throne. viz. upon Christ himself as God. For, Christ as God-man, is the Priest; Christ as man, is the Sacrifice; Christ as God, is the Altar greater then the gift, and consecrating the gift, ver. 3. [5] By the Acceptance that this Oblation found with God; And, the smoak of the Incense, which came with the Prayers of the Saints, ascended up before God, out of the Angels hand. For now the time was come that God would revenge the cruel butcheries of his Saints upon the Roman world, according to the cryes of the Martyrs souls under the Altar, ver. 4. 2. His casting the fire of the Altar to the Earth. Here are shadowed out two things, viz. [1] The Scope and intent of the Saints prayers ascending up to God; And the Angel took the Censer, and filled it with the fire of the Altar, and cast it into the Earth. By this Rite signifying, that their Prayers tended to obtain from God revenge upon the Inhabitants of the earth. For shedding their blood. [2] The sweet return or answer of their Prayers from God; And there were voices, and thundrings, and lightnings, and an earthquake: for of old the Lord was wont to answer the prayers of his, sometimes by g voices of Thunders, sometimes by an h Earthquake, v.5. 1V The seven Angels making themselves ready to sound their Trumpets of Gods vengeance; And the seven Angels, which had the seven Trumpets, prepared themselves to sound, ver. 6.

2. Executory. The Executory Events upon opening of this seventh Seal; were, The seven Angels actual sounding of their seven Trumpets, in Order. (For better understanding whereof it is (as i Mede hath well noted) useful that we consider how the Roman Empire, and other Empires of the world, are tacitly resembled to the frame of the Universe: whereof Earth, Sea, Rivers, Heaven, Stars, are parts. Earth, noting as it were the lowest part, bottom or Basis of those Polities. Sea, encompassing the Earth, noting the compass, extent, or largeness of their Dominions, comprehending all the people of that Politie. See Jer. 51.36.44. Ezek. 31.4. Isa. 19.5. Rivers, which come from the Sea, noting both Provincial and other lesser powers, as also the channels of those Rivers, Provinces themselves within such Dominions. Finally, Sun, Moon and Stars, which are seated in the supreme part of the world, Heaven: noting the Potentates seated in the Heaven as it were of supreme Political Power. This Analogy observed may facilitate the understanding of things. viz.

I. Trumpet sounded Here consider. I. The Sounding; The first Angel sounded. II. The Events thereupon, viz. 1. The Sign following, denoting the tempestuous judgement inflicted; And there followed hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast upon the Earth. By hail and fire mingled, Scripture is wont to express k terrible hostile incursions and acts of enemies: but here Blood is extraordinarily added, to intimate the bloody slaughter intended by this Trumpet. 2. The effect ensuing thereupon; And the third part of Trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up. By trees, seem to be intended the great and rich ones in the Roman Empire, such Scripture usually resembling by l Trees: By green-grass, here opposite to trees, the meaner vulgar sort: By the third part, seems intended the Confines and whole bounds of the Roman Empire, which in Johns time was the third part of the world discovered. This seems proved by that of the m Seven-headed ten-horn'd Dragon (i. e. The Heathenish Roman Empire under the Dragons Dominion) drawing the third part of the stars of heaven with his tail, and casting them to the earth (i.e. subjecting the third part of the Princes and Potentates of the world to his Dominion) v. 7.

This First Trumpet (according to n Mede) begins from the end of the sixth Seal under which the Roman Idol-Archy was so extremely disturbed and shaken, inflicts the first blow upon the Empire now about to fall, smiting the Territory and people of the Roman world, (the whole Basis and Earth of that Polity) with an horrible tempest, depopulating it with the bloody invasion of the Northern barbarous Nations, destroying many both of higher and lower rank. And this from the first year of Theodosius Anno Dom. 395. when Alaricus King of Goths with his Army of Goths and other Barbarians broke in upon the East part of the Empire, miserably wasting it five years. o Hierome himself (who lived about these times) sadly bewails, and describes these calamities; Consult him. Afterwards the same Alaricus went into the west spoiling it far and neer. After him Radagaisus with an army of 200000 Anno Dom. 404. But most terribly of all was the West destroyed and wasted, Anno Dom. 406. Which p Hierome also intimates and laments. This was the terrible storm of Hail, Fire and Blood, under this first Trumpet. Pareus makes this first Trumpet parallel with the first Seal, q extends this Trumpet from Pentecost till the times of Domitian, when the Primitive Christians suffered so many things of the persecuting Jews. r Forbes interprets the fire in this Trumpet of the fire of contention in the Church, first kindled by Victor Bishop of Rome, which burnt up true Religion, and grew to bloody cruelties. This in days of Constans, Constantius and Valens. Piscator, Of the deadly heresies of those that live on the Earth, the Continent.

II. Trumpet sounded. Here note I. The sounding it self; And the second Angel sounded. II. The events thereupon, viz. 1. The sign following, denoting the judgement inflicted; And as it were a great mountain burning with fire, was cast into the Sea. By Mountain, Scripture is wont to signifie a City; So old Babylon is called a s Mountain. By Sea it expresses the amplitude of any Dominion, (as as was before noted.) 2. The effects ensuing thereupon; And the third part of the Sea became blood: and the third part of the Creatures which were in the Sea, and had life, dyed: and the third part of the Ships were destroyed. Blood, denotes slaughter: yea, death, though without effusion of blood. Death sometimes generally taken for [t] destruction, and that even of things wanting life, ver. 8, 9.

This Second Trumpet seems to begin where the first ended. [u] Mede thus interprets it; The great mountain burning with fire, i. e. The great City of Rome once and again taken, spoiled and destroyed, with hostile flames; cast into the Sea, i. e. ruined, to the destruction of the amplitude of the Romane dominion or jurisdiction; The third part of the Sea became blood: i. e. The extent of the Romane dominion, and the collection of people therein, (which was a third part of the world) was destroyed, the head City being wasted; the Barbarians at their pleasure wasted her Provinces, dividing them into new Kingdoms. The third part of Creatures, &c. died, i. e. The Armies in the Empire for its defence, were irreparably ruined. And the third part of ships destroyed, i. e. All helps and means of traffique, of supporting the power of the Empire, being wofully lost. Rome being first taken by Alaricus King of Goths, Anno Dom. 410 And after that the Romane dominion was still miserably dilacerated, till Anno Dom. 455. Rome was taken again and spoiled by Genserius King of Vandals; and next year after, the Kingdom as it were divided into ten Kingdoms, foretold by Daniel and John, viz. of 1. Brittons. 2. Saxons. 3. Franks 4. Burgundians. 5. Visigoths. 6. Suevs and Alanes. 7. Vandals. 8. Alemannes. 9. Ostrogoths. 10. Grecians. [x] Others interpret, this Trumpet, of the Ambition that corrupted the Church and her Ministers, whereby many fell from the faith. [y] Pareus makes this Trumpet parallel with the second Seale the Red Horse, and interprets it of the cruel persecutions of the Church by the Romane Empire. [z] Piscator expounds this of the deadly Heresies of them that live in the Sea, in the Islands.

III. Trumpet sounded. Here consider, I. The sounding it self; And the third Angel sounded, II. The events thereupon, viz. 1. The signe following; implying the judgement inflicted by this Trumpet, viz. The fall of a great starre; This starre is described by (1) The place whence, (2) The Manner how, (3) The place where it fell; And there fell a great starre from heaven, burning as it were a Lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the Rivers, and upon the Fountains of Waters, ver. 10. (4) The name of it; And the name of the starre is called Wormwood. 2. The effects ensuing upon this fall of this starre; And the third part of the waters became Wormwood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter, ver. 11.

By this great starre, [a] Mede understands the great and ancient Cæsar of the West, (Scripture [b] comparing Kings to Starres, and their falls to the falls of stars from heaven,) from the second division of the Romane Empire into Eastern and Western, upon the death of Theodosius I. and from about the taking of Rome by Genserius King of Vandals, This Western Cæsar as it were dying under the mutuall treacheries and butcheries of those petty Cæsars, Avitus, Majoranus, Severus, Anthemius, Olybrius, Glycerius, and Julius Nepos, till at last after 91. years, he expired and breathed out his last under the fatal name of Augustulus, and so fell quite from his Heaven of Romane Power; Odoacre Herulus quite extinguishing the Westerne Empire, Anno Dom. [c] 475. or 476. This Starre is called Wormwood, and justly; both in respect of his own, and others bitter afflicted condition within his Dominion, from first to last, by reason of barbarous enemies wasting, and at last abolishing of this Western Empire. [d] Some expound this third Trumpet (as parallel to the third Seale, the black horse,) of the Arch-Heretiques and Apostates in the Church, especially of the Bishop of Rome after Silvester, so corrupting and embittering the Scriptures and the Doctrines therein with Heretical Errours, that many dyed and perished thereby, and commonly it is interpreted of [e] Heresies of one sort or another.

IV. Trumpet sounded. Here note, I. The sounding it self; And the fourth Angel Sounded. II. The events thereupon, viz. 1. The signe following, importing the judgement brought by this Trumpet; And the third part of the Sun was smitten, and the third part of the Moon, and the third part of the Starres, so as the third part of them was darkned. 2. The Effect ensuing; And the day shone not for a third part of it, and the night likewise, ver. 12.

This Fourth Trumpet exceeds the former; wherein the light of the Romane Majesty in the City of Rome, viz. (as [f] Mede interprets it,) The Sun of her Consul-ship, and her Dominion over other Cities and provinces; The Moon and Stars, i. e. the Authority of her Senate and other Magistrates, (by which [g] luminaries, Scripture sets forth the Power and Governments of Cities or Kingdoms,) were quite taken away, by the Ostrogothick War, and by Totila's taking and burning of Rome, demolishing the third part of it, and depriving it of all its inhabitants, so that being totally bereft of the [h] Consul-ship, Senate, and other Magistracy whereby it shined in the world, as it was transformed into a kind of ignoble Duke-dome, and brought under tribute, from Anno Dom. 542. [i] Others for most part interpret this Fourth Trumpet, of the darknesse ignorance in the Church under the prevalency of Heresies, especially of the Papacy; or under [k] barbarous Persecutors.

Here is inserted (by way of Preparatory Transition to the other three Trumpets following) John's Vision of an Angel flying through the midst of heaven, denouncing three Woes, by reason of the three last Trumpets yet to sound more great, grievous and calamitous then all the former, and therefore may fitly be called the Three Woe-Trumpets; And I beheld, and heard an Angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Wo, Wo, Wo to the inhabiters of the Earth, by reason of the other voices of the Trumpet of the three Angels which are yet to sound, ver. 13.

V. Trumpet sounded; being the I. WOE-TRUMPET. Here note, 1 The sounding. 2 The Events. 3 The Close of the Trumpet.

1. The sounding of the Trumpet; And the fifth Angel sounded.

2. The Events thereupon, viz. I. The Sign appearing, portending the judgment to be inflicted by this Trumpet. This sign is described by his 1 Nature, 2 Fall, 3 Power given him; And I saw a Starre fall from Heaven unto the Earth, and to him was given the Key of the bottomless pit, Ch. IX. ver 1. This Starre is interpreted of 1 Mahumed the false Prophet acted and assisted by Satan. II. The Effects ensuing, which are many and pernicious. As, 1. He opened the bottomless pit, viz. Hell. 2. He raises thence smoak; And there arose smoak out of the pit. viz. Mahumedisme. This smoak is described, Partly by the greatness of it; As the smoak of a great Furnace. Partly, by the mischief of it; And the Sun and the Aire were darkned, by reason of the smoak of the pit, i.e. The world was obscured with a new darkness of Mahumedisme, after Christ the Son of Righteousness by his Gospel had dispelled the former darkness of Paganisme, ver. 2. 3. He brings locusts upon the earth out of the smoak, i.e. By this false Religion of Mahumedism he stirs up the Saracens or Arabians, (a Nation populous and numerous like Locusts, as Scripture is wont to express enemies numerousnesse by [m] Locusts,) to waste and destroy the world; And there came out of the smoak Locusts upon the earth. These Locusts are here variously and notably described. As, [1] By their harmful power given them. Their power is, Resembled, Limited, Aggravated. 1. Resembled to that of Scorpions; a kinde of Serpents, subtile, with stings in their tayles: which seems to signifie, that devilish false Religion of Mahumed, subtilly propagated by the Saracens armies where ever they came; And unto them was given power, as the Scorpions of the earth have power. So that they were Scorpion-like-Locusts, ver. 3. 2. Limited. Their power hath a threefold limitation imposed upon it. Partly in respect of Persons, That they hurt not any of Gods sealed ones forementioned; And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree, but onely those men which have not the Seal of God in their foreheads, ver. 4. Partly, in respect of the degree or harme, they may torment, not kill; And to them it was given that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented. The Saracens vexed, but destroyed not the Roman Kingdome, viz. neither that new Papal Kingdom, which grew up upon the ruine of the former: nor of the new Constantinopolitan Kingdom. Partly in respect of the duration of their torment; five months, i. e. five Annual months, or five months of years, viz. 150. years: for, Italy chief of the Empires Countries, and chief in the sin that contracted this Plague, was more or lesse vexed with the Saracens, from Anno Dom. 830. to Anno 980. 3. Aggravated. These Locusts harmful power is aggravated, Partly, by the extream painfulnesse of it; And their torment was as the torment of a Scorpion, when he striketh a man, ver. 5. Partly, by the extream tediousnesse of it, making men even weary of their very lives; And in those dayes shall men seek death, and shall not finde it: and shall desire to dye, and death shall flee from them, ver. 6. [2] By their martial Adjuncts. The war-like Adjuncts of these Locusts here enumerated are many, viz 1 Their shapes; And the shapes of the Locusts were like unto horses, (i.e. horse-men) prepared unto battel. They are terrible, strong, ready and speedy for execution. 2. Their Crowns; And on their heads were as it were Crowns like gold. This denotes the amplitude of their Dominion which in a short space they obtained: they in about 80. years obtained [n] multitudes of Crowns, and Kingdoms. 3. Their faces; And their faces were as the faces of men, i.e. They were not Insect-Locusts, but they were really men, though in some regards resembled to Locusts, ver. 7. 4. Their hair; And they had haire as the haire of women. That is, They wore long hair, unshorn, like women: This intimates they were Arabians, for that's their habit as [o] Pliny notes; and when they go to war they are wont to knit themselves horns and crisped-curled-bushes of their own hair, saith [p] Camerarius. 5 Their teeth; And their teeth were as the teeth of Lyons. That is, they were strong and cruel to tear, destroy and devoure, ver. 8. 6 Their brest-plates; And they had brest-plates, as it were brest-plates of iron, viz. They were strongly armed and defended. 7 Their wings; And the sound of their wings was as the sound of Chariots of many horses running to battell. This notes their great multitude, war-like speed and terribleness, ver. 9. 8 Finally, Their tailes; And they had tailes like unto Scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men five months, ver 10. The Head as it were of these Locusts was in the East, but their Tailes in the West: especially in Italy. Italy they obliquely smote (Scorpion-like) through the Mediterranean sea, and its Islands Sardinia and Sicilia; saith Mede. Their five months torment is here again mentioned, perhaps to intimate five months should be doubled, and so be ten months of years, i.e. 300 years, so comprehending that notable interval of the Saracen Kingdom, from Anno Dom. 750 to Anno Dom. 1055. which was about 300. years, viz. 305. years, the round number being usually counted off. [3] By their King that rules these Locusts; And they had a King over them, which is the Angel

VI. Trumpet ſounded, being the II. WOE-TRVMPET. Herein conſider 1. The ſounding it ſelfe, And the ſixth angel ſounded. 2. The Events thereupon, which are chiefly three, viz.

1. A Command from Chriſt, to the ſixth Angel to looſe the four Angels, bound in Euphrates; And I heard a voice from the four Hornes of the Golden Altar, which is before God, (An ancient Type of Chriſt,) Saying to the ſixth Angel which had the Trumpet, looſe the four Angels which are bound in the great River Euphrates, ver. 13, 14. Theſe four Angels, t Mede interprets of the four Turkiſh Tetrarchs, or four Kingdoms of the Turks into which they diſparted themſelves from Anno 1080. when croſſing Euphrates, they poured themſelves into the neighbouring Tracts of Aſia and Syria. Theſe foure Turkiſh Kingdomes on this and the other ſide of Euphrates being at Bagdad, Ceſarea in Aſia minor, Alepo and Damaſcus: which four with their numerous Army of horſemen, this Trumper calls into the Roman world, (which calamity alas is thought yet to come) from Euphrates, where by Providence they had been long detained. Pareus interprets them of four ſorts of people, viz. Arabians, Saracens, Tartars, Turks. u Forbes ſaith, Theſe four Angels are the four Heads of the Mahometane and Turkiſh Armies. x Diodate that they are the four Angels mentioned, Rev. 7. 1. y Piſcator, that they are all the ill Spirits diſperſed in all the four corners of the world.

t Joſ. Med. in Com. Apoc. Part 1 de Tub 6. It is not to be doubted but theſe Angels be the Turks; and to this Opinion do moſt Interpreters conſent they are ſaid to be four, becauſe there were four principal families of the Turks. Brightman on Rev 9. 14. u Forbes on Rev. 9. 14. x Jo. Diod. Annot. on Rev. 9. 14. y Piſcat Schol in Rev. 9. 14.

2. The execution of this command; wherein note, I. Their looſing; And the four Angels were looſed. II. Their preparedneſſe for execution of Chriſts wrath; Which were prepared for an hour and a day, and a month, and a year. This may be underſtood either, Indefinitely, that they were preſt and ready upon all occaſions, when they ſhould be imployed: Or Definitely, that it notes a certain time, viz. A prophetical houre, day, month and year; that is, after 396 years, beginning from the Turks taking of Bagdad, Anno Dom. 1057. from after that time they were ready. For from that time till Anno Dom. 1453. are preciſely 396 years, when the Turks (ſaith z Mede) did utterly ruine the remains of the Roman Empire in the Eaſt, having taken Conſtantinople the Royal City. III. The end of their preparedneſſe; For to ſlay the third part of men, ver. 15. that is, the men of the Roman Empire, which was the third part of the World; yet not all theſe, as is clear, v. 20. therefore this Third part is to be taken partitively, for part of this third part; as a Scripture's manner of ſpeaking is. IV. The number of their Army is ſhewed, 1. What it was. 2. How John came to know it; And the number of the Army of the Horſemen were two hundred thouſand thouſand: And I heard the number of them, ver. 16. V. The Armour or Ammunition of this Army, viz. of thoſe Horſes and their Riders is deſcribed, viz. 1. Their Breſt-plates. 2. Their Heads. 3. That which came out of their mouths; And thus I ſaw the Horſes in the Viſion, and them that ſate on them, having breſt-plates of fire, Hyacinth, and Brimſtone; and the heads of the Horſes were as the heads of Lyons, and out of their mouths iſſued fire and ſmoak, and brimſtone, ver. 17. Their breſt-plates before them, ſeem to be that which was ſeen to come out of their mouths, which covered their breaſts, as it were breſt-plates. That which came out of their mouths, was fire, Hyacinth-like ſmoak and brimſtone. This kind of Deſcription (not found elſewhere in Scripture) ſeems to be literally underſtood; viz. of Gunpowder made up with brimſtone, which comes out of the mouths of Guns with fire and ſmoak: and makes the horſes heads amidſt it, ſeem truculent and terrible. This kind of Armour, viz. Guns they uſed at the ſiege and taking of Conſtantinople: as o Mede hath it out of Mechmetes. This interpretation ſeems very appoſite.

Before him alſo Brightman interprets this of Guns, Pieces of Ordnance, and Gun-powder, more uſed by the Turks then by any other men. The greatneſſe of that Gun was almoſt incredible, which Mahomed uſed in beſieging Conſtantinople, for the drawing whereof, 70 yokes of Oxen, and 2000 men were uſed. As Laonicus Chalcocondular in his eighth Book of Turk. Hiſt. reports. And thoſe 12000 Janizeers, which are the ordinary Guard of his body, are all Gunners. Brightman on Rev. 9. 17.

Pareus quoting this out of Brightman, expounds it much to like purpoſe. D. Pareus in Apoc. 9. 17.

3. The calamitous effect, wrought by the loosing of these four Angels, and their Euphratean Horsemen and Horses, viz. The killing of the third part of men: that is, many of the Romane Empire, (which was the third part of the world,) as was hinted afore; By these there was the third part of men killed, by the fire, and by the smoke, and by the brimstone which issued out of their mouths. That is, by the Gun-powder and Bullets which issued out of the mouths of the Guns, used by this Euphratean Army, ver. 18. This sad effect is Confirmed, and Amplified. I. Confirmed, by declaring whence it came to passe, viz. 1. By their hostility; For their power is in their mouth. That is, by these Guns. 2. By their Serpentine subtilty; And in their tailes, for their tailes were like unto Serpents, and had heads, and with them they do hurt. That is, they had drunk in the Saracen-Mahumetan-religion, wherby they proved very hurtful and pernicious, as the Saracens before them, ver. 19. II. Amplified, by the incorrigiblenesse and impenitency of the remnant in the Romane Empire, that had escaped the deadly fury of this Euphratean Army of Turks; though these judgements were inflicted before their eyes on their brethren, yet they repented not of their sins and abominations, viz. Not of their 1. Devil-worship and idolatry. 2. Murders of the Saints, whose souls cry under the Altar. 3. Sorceries. 4. Fornication. 5. Thefts, procuring upon the Roman world the Judgments of this Trumpet; And the rest of the men that were not killed by these plagues, yet repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship devils, and idols of gold, and silver, and brasse, and stone, and of wood: which neither can see, nor hear, nor walk: neither repented they of their murders, nor of their Sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts, ver. 20, 21.

III. Woe-Trumpet.

VII. Trumpet; being The III. WOE-TRUMPET, and the last of all the Trumpets, reaching to the end of the world. Concerning this Trumpet, note, 1. The Preparatories to it. 2. The actual sounding of it.

1. PREPARATORIES premised to this Seventh and last Trumpet, are very largely laid down. This being the closing Trumpet, at the sounding whereof, the Roman Beast being abolished and the times of his last head being determined, c The mystery of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets. For the Lord did of old reveal to Daniel, that there should arise d four great Kingdoms, or four Monarchies in the earth, (resembled Partly by the Image whereof Nebuchadnezzar dreamed, Partly by Four Beasts.) All which the Kingdome of Christ should at length utterly overthrow. And that when Christ shall have subdued and utterly overthrown all these Kingdoms, after a time, times, and the dividing of time, e He with his Saints shall reign over the whole world for ever: And then f time shall be no longer, i. e. The time of these four Monarchies; or of this fourth and last the Roman Empire; but g The Kingdoms of this world shall become our Lords and his Christs. This is the main scope and intent of the Seventh Trumpet; therefore it is a glorious Trumpet, and no wonder it is ushered in with Preparatory visions. These Preparatory visions are principally, 1. The vision of a mighty Angel come down from Heaven. 2. The information and vision of the little Book, and the contents thereof.

1. The vision of a mighty Angel come down from Heaven, summarily foretelling the Events of the Seventh Trumpet. That this Angel was Christ, (as most Interpreters do consent) appears 1. By the following description of him, which cannot fitly be applyed to any other. 2. By his subsequent actions, which cannot safely be attributed to any other. 3. By the parallel passage in Daniel touching h A man clothed in Linnen, which was upon the waters of the River, when he held up his right hand and his left hand unto heaven, and sware by him that liveth for ever, that it shall be for a time, times and an half. Now this man was i Michael, i. e. Christ. Consequently this k vision, here plainly taken out of Daniel, is to be interpreted of Christ also. Now here consider, 1 The Angels description. 2. The Angels Action. I. The Angels Description, which is very stately and glorious, suitable to the then state of his Church, and the things which he was to reveal further. He is described 1. By his mighty power; And I saw another mighty Angel. Christ is l the mighty God. 2. By the place whence he came; Come down from Heaven, viz. condescending to his Church and People here below, for their relief and consolation: Or descending from this Church, (in this book called heaven.) to put all the kingdoms of this world, Earth and Sea under his feet. 3. By his clothing; Clothed with a cloud. A Cloud, an Embleme of divine Majesty; God being wont to appear in m a cloud to his people. And when Christ shall come to judgement, he shall n come with clouds. 4. By his Crown, as it were; And a Rainebow was upon his head. Either denoting his glorious furniture with the Spirit, which is formerly compared to a o Rainebow round about the Throne. Or intimating his message of Grace, Favour and Peace, which now he is bringing under this Trumpet to his afflicted Church: the p Rainbow being a pledge of favour and peace, that God will no more bring a flood of water upon the world. 5. By his countenance; And his face was as it were the Sun. q Christs former description: denoting his glorious Majesty. 6. By his feet; And his feet as pillars of fire. r Christs former description also; intimating his firmnesse and ability to tread under and consume all that rise up against him, Ch. X. ver. 1. Thus of this Angels Description. II. The Angels Actions were many and notable. As, 1. His holding a little book open in his hand; And he had in his hand a little book open. Some think this is the same book with that s formerly mentioned: but improbably. For, That was called a Book: This a Little Book. That Book was in the right hand of him that sate on the Throne, God: This Little book in the hand of Christ, the mighty

CHAP. X.

Angel.

Angel. That was a Book sealed with seven Seals: This a Little-book open. That contained the mysteries of the First Prophecy, or First Systeme of Prophecies in the Revelation, especially touching the future Fate of the Romane Empire, with reference still to the Church of Christ to the end of the world: This contains the Second Prophecy, or Second Systeme of Prophecies, touching the future state of the Church of Christ it self, to the end of the world also. 2. His station; And he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth. By Earth and Sea we may understand; Either the Roman-earth and world, with the whole extent of its dominion, with the people therein comprehended, as fishes in the sea. Or more generally, the whole inferiour world, which is comprehended in earth and sea, by his setting his feet on the earth and sea, seems intended, Christ's subduing under his feet, & taking into his possession the Roman-empire, yea all the Kingdoms of this world for himself and his Saints; under the seventh Trumper now to be sounded, v. 3. His loud Lyon-like voice, viz. in reference to the mysteries of the seventh Trumper, now upon sounding; And he cried with a loud voice, as when a Lyon roareth. This his voice is amplyfied by divers events ensuing thereupon, viz. (1) By the voices of seven thunders; And when he had cryed, (i.e. when he had begun to speak of the mysteries of this Trumpet,) seven thunders uttered their voices. The voices of thunders, (as was formerly noted,) signifie so many divine Answers or Oracles from heaven, touching the seven remarkable periods within the time of this seventh Trumpet, whereby the events thereof should be distinguished, ver. 3. (2) By John's preparing to write what these seven thunders uttered; and when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write. (3) By John's inhibition from heaven, whereby he is forbidden to write, but charged to seal up what the thunders had uttered; a thing to be kept secret from mens knowledge, till the events of things make them known to their season, and therefore they are not too curiously to be enquired into; And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, seal up those things which the seven Thunders uttered, and write them not. ver. 4. His solemne Oath touching the mysteries of the Seventh Trumpet. Which Oath of Christs is described. (1) By the forme or manner of it: most solemnly lifting up his hand to heaven, and swearing by the everliving God, Creator of all things; And the Angel which I saw stand upon the Sea and upon the earth, lifted up his hand to Heaven. (An ancient x Ceremony in swearing, implying an appeal to, and invocation of him that dwells in heaven.) And sware by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, v. 5-6. (2) By the Matter of his Oath; viz. That there should be time no longer. But in the days of the voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to sound, THE MYSTERY OF GOD SHOULD BE FINISHED, as he hath declared to his Servants the Prophets. That is, this Romane Empire shall continue for no longer time, but all y the Kingdoms of this world shall become our Lords and his Christs: who then shall judge and destroy all his enemies for ever, rewarding his Saints, and causing them to reign with him for ever. This is the summary intimation afore-hand, what shall be the events of the seventh Trumpet, ver. 6, 7.

2. The information and vision which John had of *THE LITTLE BOOK OPEN. Here the Second Systeme of Prophecies, touching the future state of the Church evidently beginneth, (as I have z already cleared at large,) wherein consider, I. The Preparation or Inauguration of John to this new Prophecy, ver. 8, 9, 10, 11. II. The Prophecy it self; which for time is parallel or contemporaneous with the former Prophecy of the Book sealed with seven Seals; Herein is a Representation of the twofold state of the Church, viz. 1. Regular, and pure at first, under the type of the Temple, Altar and Worshippers measured, chapt. 11. 1. This is contemporaneous to the six first Seals. 2. Irregular and impure by idolatries and Gentilish superstitions, under the types of the Court without the Temple unmeasured, trodden under-foot by the Gentiles fourty two moneths; and of the Two Witnesses prophecying in sackcloth, bewayling and mourning for this lamentable state of the Church, for the same time of fourty two moneths, (for 1260 days make up 42 moneths,) ver. 2. to 14. Now these are contemporary to the six first Trumpets under the seventh Seal. At the end of these therefore, (that is, both at the end of the Sixth Trumpet, and of these vihons of The Little-Book, brought thus farre on that they may be contemporary to the Sixth Trumper,) The second WOE determines, and the third WOE hastens; The second Woe is past, and behold the third Woe cometh quickly, ver. 14.

☞ But touching this Little-Book, and these fore-mentioned mysteries in it, here I onely point at them thus briefly and generally, to shew the Series and Order of the text, how it leads on to the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet: In the beginning of the II. Prophecy I shall speak to them more fully and particularly. The judicious Reader may be pleased to consider, that the holy Spirit of Christ seems purposely here to have suspended the Relation of the actual sounding of the Seventh Trumpet, by the interposition of so much of the II. Prophecy, contained in The Little-Book, as is parallel with, and contemporary to the I. Prophecy from the very beginning of it to the end of the Sixth Trumpet; That so by linking, and as it were looping of these two Prophecies thus together, he might as with a finger point out unto us the right way of the Interpretation of both these Prophecies, viz. by paralleling and comparing them one with another, in respect of their Visions and mysteries, which are so notably Contemporaneous.

upon all the wicked in the whole world, enemies to Christ and his Church, by the last judgment. This contrariwise shall be the glorious Trumpet for the Church and Saints of God, bringing in the Consummation of all their miseries, and the Inchoation of all their compleat eternal felicities. Herein note these events, viz.

a This Trumpet is expounded by Pareus, and most Interpreters Ancient and Moderne, of the last general judgment. Which thing tends notably, to confirme the distribution of this Book into two Prophecies. The last judgment concluding them both.

1. The great triumphs in heaven, that now (the mystery of God being finished,) the Kingdoms of the world are become the Lords and his Christs; And the seventh Angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, THE KINGDOMES OF THIS WORLD ARE BECOME OUR LORDS AND HIS CHRISTS, AND HE SHALL REIGN FOR EVER AND EVER, ver. 15.

b Rev. 4. 4. 2. The Gratulation of the twenty foure Elders, (formerly b represented as sitting before Gods Throne,) that the time of Gods reign and judgment was come. Touching this Gratulation, consider, I. What company presented it to God; And the four and twenty Elders which sate before God on their Seats. II. In what forme and manner they presented it to God, viz. 1. With Prostration before God. 2. With adoration of God; Fell upon their faces and worshipped God, ver. 16. III. What was the matter or substance of this Gratulation, viz. 1. Their thanksgiving to the Omnipotent, Eternal God; Saying, we give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come. 2. The grounds of this their Thanksgiving. [1] Because now God had taken to himself his great Power and Dominion over the whole world; Because thou hast taken to thee thy great Power, and hast reigned, ver. 17. [2] Because now the time of Gods wrath was come, for c Rev. 11. 2. suppressing and taking vengeance of the anger of the Nations, or Gentiles, c who had so long trodden under foot the Outer Court of the Temple, the Holy City, even fourty two moneths together; And the Nations were angry, and (or, But) thy wrath is come. [3] Because the time of the general judgment of the dead, 1 Good, 2 Bad, was come; And the time of the dead, that they should be judged: Both that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the Prophets, and to the Saints, and them that fear thy Name, small and great: and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth, ver 18

3. The actual execution of judgment on both the righteous and wicked; 1. On the righteous Prophets, Saints, and Fearers of Gods Name, by vouchsafing them the heavenly beatifical vision of Jesus Christ, typified of old by the Ark of the Testament, placed in the Holy of Holves; And the Temple of God was opened in heaven; And there was seen in his Temple the Ark of his Testament. 2. On the wicked enemies of Christ and his Church, by inflicting on them an horrible tempest of manifold vengeance; And there were lightnings, and voices, and thundrings, and an earthquake, and great haile, ver. 19.

Thus The I. Prophecy, or I. Systeme of Prophetical Visions in the Book Sealed with seven Seals, endeth.

THE II. PROPHECY,

Of The Little-book Open, beginneth.

The I. Prophecy, or I. Systeme of Prophetical visions contained in the Book sealed with seven Seals, chiefly foretelling the future events and destiny of the Roman Empire. (But still with reference to the Church oppressed and persecuted thereby), being thus explained and here finished: The II. Prophecy, or The II Systeme of Prophetical visions, comprized in A LITTLE BOOK OPEN, foretelling especially the future events and condition of the Church of Christ, and the Christian Religion, from the Primitive Apostolical times, till the Judgement day, an end of the world, comes next to be considered. The events or mysteries foretold in this Second Prophecy, are not only divers of them contemporany to one another, but also all of them are contemporany, (i.e. falling out, or coming to passe in the same intervals or spaces of time.) with the events of the I. Prophecy; and so they serve mutually to clear the understanding of each other, being judiciously and duely compared together.

Now in this II. PROPHECY, are considerable, 1 The Preface to it. 2 The Body or Substance of it.

1. THE PREFACE to this Second Prophecy, contains John's Prophetical Inauguration, or his Preparation to Prophecy again, viz. this second time. The substance of the Preface is taken from d Ezek. 2. 8, 9, 10. and 3. 1, 2, 3. that of d Ezekiel's eating up the Roll which was in his mouth as honey for sweetnesse. Herein consider, I. A command to John by the voice which he heard from Heaven, (viz. e that first voice as of a Trumpet talking with him.) to Go and take The little Book open, in the hand of Christ; And the voice which I heard from heaven spake unto me again, and said, Go, and take THE LITTLE-BOOK which is OPEN in the hand of the Angel which standeth upon the Sea, and upon the Earth. ver. 8. II. John's obedient execution of this command; And I went unto the Angel, and said unto him, Give me the little Book. This Act of Johns is Amplified by divers events thereupon ensuing, viz.

e Rev. 4. 1. 1. By Christs enjoyning John to eat up the Book, with intimation of two contrary effects thereof; And he said unto me, take it, and eat it up, and it shal make thy belly bitter, but it shal be in thy mouth sweet as honey. This Eating up of the Book, implying his furniture and qualification for the ensuing Prophecy: for men are said to Eate Books when they greedily read them, and upon reading so understand derſtand them as to be able to utter the contents thereof to others. The Book eaten, ſhould be ſweet as honey in his mouth; that is, The taſte by knowledge of the myſteries and future events therein Revealed, ſhould be ſweet and pleaſant to him at the firſt apprehenſion: But they ſhould make his belly bitter; That is, being entertained into more inward and ſerious conſideration, they ſhould be bitter to his heart and ſpirit, in reſpect of the calamitous and afflicted condition of the Church therein deſcribed, ver. 9. 2. By John's eating up the Book as Chriſt required, and perceiving the effects thereof which Chriſt ſore-ſignified; And I took the little Book out of the Angels hand, and eat it up: And it was in my mouth ſweet as honey. And as ſoon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter, ver. 10. 3. By Chriſts interpretation of the myſtery intended by John's taking and eating up of the Little Book, viz. the preparing John for a New and more Noble Prophecy then the former, touching the future lot of the Church and Religion; And he ſaid unto me, Thou muſt PROPHECIE AGAIN before many Peoples, and Nations, and Tongues, and Kings, v. 11.

II. THE BODY, or SUBSTANCE of this II. Prophecy, touching the future affairs of the Church and Religion from the Apoſtles days, till the end of the world. Herein principally are ſore-told, 1. The various ſtate of the Church in ſeveral intervals or periods of times in reſpect of Religion. 2. The manifold Tribulations and Perſecutions wherewith ſhe ſhall be exerciſed by reaſon of ſeveral enemies in thoſe ſeveral conditions. 3. The Deliverance of the Church at laſt out of all her Diſtreſſes, by Gods righteous judgements in her enemies Deſtruction. 4. The happy ſtate and condition which the Church ſhall enjoy upon that her Deliverance.

1. The various ſtate of the Church in reſpect of Religion in ſeveral intervals of times, is foretold and deſcribed two ways. 1. By its Regular Purity at firſt. 2. By its Irregular Impurity afterwards. Both which comprehend the whole Courſe of the Revelation till the ſeventh Trumpet.

1. The Regular Purity of the Church, and Religion at firſt, for about 300 years, is ſet forth under the Particular Viſion or Myſtery of [f] Meaſuring the Inner Court of the Temple ſituate immediately next the Holy of Holies, where God dwelt between the Cherubims: intimating that the Primitive Church and Religion therein immediately next unto Jeſus Chriſt was exactly examined by, and conform to the Meaſuring Reed of the written Word, and therefore ſingularly pure and holy; And there was given me a Reed like unto a Rod; And the Angel ſtood, ſaying; Riſe, and meaſure the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worſhip therein, Ch. XI. ver. 1. This pure condition of the Primitive Church ordered according to Scripture-Rule and Standard, continued for about 300 years or upwards after Chriſt, viz. even till the beginning of the 42 moneths, during which, the Holy City ſhould be profaned by the Gentiles, and thoſe Profanations ſo long alſo be lamented by the two Witneſſes which 42 moneths (as after will appear) reach to the ſounding of the ſeventh Trumpet.

2. The Irregular Impurity of the Church and Religion afterwards, by reaſon of Gentiliſh Papal ſuperſtitions and idolatries, is ſet forth under the Particular Viſion of the Outer Court of the Temple farther diſtant and remote from the Holy of Holies, unmeaſured, trodden under foot: 42 moneths: ſignifying that the Church ſucceeding the Primitive Church in the following ages, would not be in Religion ſo Regular and conform to the Canon and Meaſuring Reed of Gods Word as the Primitive Church, but would grow irregular and exorbitant in Gentiliſh idolatrous worſhip, profaning it, as if Heatheniſme were again revived. Here more particularly conſider; I. A Prophetical direction to leave or caſt out the Outer Court or Holy City, and not to meaſure it; But the Court which is without the Temple, leave out, and meaſure it not. The Outer Court, and Holy City, ſeem to be all one; the latter Exegetical to the former: for in the Tabernacle in the Wilderneſſe, there was no Outer Court but the Iſraelitiſh Camp, the Holy City. II. The Reaſon of this direction; For it is given unto the Gentiles, and the Holy City ſhall they tread under foot, forty and two moneths, ver. 2. Wherein note, 1. To whom it ſhall be given, or leſt through Gods juſt diſpenſation; To Gentiles, viz. To them that exerciſe Gentiliſh idolatrous worſhip. 2. What ſhall be the event hereof, viz. Their treading under foot the Holy City. As Gentiles trod [g] Jeruſalem under foot, hoſtilely poſſeſſing and overthrowing the City; to which this text here ſeems to allude: ſo the Church typified by Jeruſalem, ſhould be poſſeſſed and profaned by Romiſh Gentiles and their idolatries. 3. For how long time this Calamity ſhall continue, forty two moneths. Theſe forty two moneths are parallel to the time of the [h] Witneſſes Prophecy, 1260 days, being 42 moneths, which time [i] determines with the ſixth Trumpet, and immediately before the ſounding of the ſeventh Trumpet. III. The Concomitant Event attending upon this defiled and deplored ſtate of the Church, viz. The Lords two Witneſſes (the Preachers and Aſſertors of Divine Truth) Prophecying all the while in Sackcloth, continually bewailing the polluted and lamentable ſtate of the Church; till God ſhould raiſe up Monitors to the Chriſtian world (ſaith [k] Mede) going a whoring with the Gentiles, and Guides to his Saints that keep the Faith. Theſe Witneſſes are deſcribed, 1 By their Number. 2 By the time of their Prophecy. 3 By their Habit. 4 By their Reſemblance. 5 By the Events of their Prophecy.

[1] By their Number; And I will give unto my two Witneſſes, i.e. I will give Authority or Commiſſion. They are two, 1. Partly, becauſe by the [l] mouth of two or three witneſſes every thing according to the Law was to be eſtabliſhed. 2. Partly, becauſe the Truths whereunto they ſhould bear witneſs were contained in the two Tables, and in the two Teſtaments. 3. Partly, becauſe the Types, whereunto here theſe witneſſes are evidently compared, were of Two's, viz. [m] Zerubbabel and Joſhua under the Babyloniſh Captivity: Elijah, and Eliſha, under the Baaliticſh Apoſtacy; Moſes and Aaron in the Wilderneſs. And the ſtate of the Church under which theſe two witneſſes Prophecied, cied, agrees to that of Israels in the Wilderness, under Balaisme, and in Babylon.

[f] Piſcator thinks, by this meaſuring, is intimated the fewneſs of the godly in that age: by Outer Court unmeaſured, the multitude of the ungodly in the following age. Piſcat. in Rev. 11. 1, 2.

(2) By the time, or Terme of their Prophecy; And they shall Prophecy 1260. dayes. This time determines [n] with the sixth Trumpet, being the second Woe-Trumpet, immediatly before the sending of the last Trumpet, when the mystery of God shall be finished, which is yet to come; and consequently the witnesses seem not yet to be slain, nor to have finished their Testimony. Their time of prophecy is computed by Dayes, as the Gentiles idolatrous treading down of the Holy City, by Months; because obscour, idolatry, and all sin, are works of darkness and of the night. And the Moon rules over the night. But true Religion is compared to the day and light, And the Sun rules by day. Upon this account also, The blasphemy of the Beast is hereafter computed by [p] Moneths: but the Womans abode in the Wilderness by [q] Dayes.

(3) By their habit wherein they Prophecied; Clothed in sackcloth, viz. intimating their lamenting the treading down of the holy City, and their inviting the Church to Repentance and Reformation, ver. 3.

(4) By their Resemblance to three pairs of Witnesses under the Old Testament, viz. I. To Zerubbabel and Joshuah restorers of the Jewish Church under the Babylonish Captivity; represented by two Olive trees standing on the two sides of the Candlestick continually supplying it with oyl; These are the two Olive-trees, and the two Candlesticks standing before the God of the earth. The Candlestick signifying the Church of these times, restored and maintained with spirituall supplies, not by strength or Armies, but by Gods special blessing and influence: the Olive-trees extraordinarily dropping Oyl for light into the Candlestick, viz. 4. II. To Elijah and Elisha, Restorers of Gods pure Worship, from Baalitical idolatry. In this Allusion is signified a double power which is granted to them, viz. 1. A power to avenge themselves against their enemies, by the mysticall fire of the Word they preach, denouncing Gods wrath against their wickedness: as Elijah called for fire from heaven and devoured his enemies, the Captains of their fifties, And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouth, and devoureth their enemies: and if any man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed, ver. 5. 2. A power to avenge the Church of Christ against the defilers and Gentilish profaners thereof; These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the dayes of their Prophecy. That is, as Elijah [u] shut heaven that it rained not on Israel almost consumed with drought and famine, in the dayes of his prophecy, till he had destroyed the false worship and worshippers of Baal; So these Witnesses by the Keyes of the Kingdome of Heaven have power to shut Heaven against the idolatrous Gentiles, excluding them from [x] hope of eternal life by the blood of Christ and showers of divine Grace, till they repent. III. To Moses and Aaron Deliverers of Israel out of Ægyptian Bondage, and Restorers of Gods true worship in the wilderness; And have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to smite the Earth with all plagues, as often as they will, viz. As Moses and Aaron, immediately before, and at their bringing of Israel out of Ægypt, [y] turned their waters to blood, and smote them with ten sore plagues: So towards the period of these two Witnesses Prophecy, when the Christian People shall now be quite rescued from the Antichristian bondage and tyranny of the Beast, the Vials of Gods wrath like Egypts plagues shall come upon the Beast and upon his Gentilish worshippers; The plague of the first Viall being [z] A noysome and grievous sore: the second and third being blood, &c. ver. 6.

(5) By the various consequents or events of their Prophecy and Testimony. (Wherein these Witnesses become singularly conforme to Christ [a] who preached about 42 moneths, i.e. three years and an half, was then slain by the Romane Governour; laid dead three dayes; three dayes after rose again with a great earthquake; and 40. dayes after ascended into heaven, a Cloud receiving him.) viz. 1. The Beasts war against the two witnesses; And when they shall have finished their Testimony, the Beast that ascendeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make war against them, viz. when now part of the Christian World shall repent of their Gentilish Idolatries and reforme, and the witnesses shall for joy begin to lay aside their mourning weed. This seemes to have been from the beginning of the Reformation of the Reformed Churches, and so on to this day. 2. The Beasts victory over them; And shall overcome them, and kill them, ver. 7. viz. not Properly, but Metaphorically; they shall be civilly slain in respect of their Office and Function, i.e. be taken off from their Testimony. But when [b] Brightman thinks in Anno 1547. when Charles the fifth put to flight the Protestant Armies in Germany. Others refer (as Mede notes) to the woful havock made of the Germane Churches. [c] Others to John Wickliffe and John D. of Leicester, his Protector, excommunicated by the Pope, or to John Husse, and Jerome of Prague, the two famous Bohemian witnesses, &c. Most are very willing to perswade themselves, that this calamitous storme is already over: Utinam! But for my part I ingeniously confesse, I incline to their [d] opinion who fear this sad Tragedy is yet to come. Partly because this fourty two monthes of the Gentiles treading under foot the holy City, and the witnesses contemporany Prophecy seem evidently to be [e] extended to the period of the Sixth Trumpet, which is yet expected. Partly because the [f] killing of the witnesses shall immediately precede the ruine of Rome the great City, which is thought will be accomplished under the fifth Vial, ultimately under the seventh Vial; whereas it is conceived we are not yet passed the fourth Vial. 3. This their Reſurrection and Aſcenſion is amplified, [1] Partly, by the occaſion hereof, the great Earth-quake the ſame hour, viz: The great Commotion of the Nations, and ſtrange turn of things, making way for their Reſtitution. And the ſame hour there was a great Earth-quake. Hitherto of the Firſt general Branch of this II. Prophecy. viz. The various condition of the Church in ſeveral intervals of time in reſpect of Religion, the Purity and Impurity thereof. All inſerted in the I. Prophecy, for the Reaſons formerly given, yet belonging to this Second Prophecy. Next in order is the Second general Branch, touching the Churches Tribulations in theſe ſeveral conditions.

IV. Miſſion.

2. The manifold Tribulations and Perſecutions wherewith the Church ſhall be exerciſed and diſtreſſed by reaſon of ſundry enemies, and that in both the forementioned conditions of Purity and Impurity of Religion, comes next to be conſidered. The Churches troubles and perſecutions are deſcribed, what they were, 1. In her Primitive and more pure Regular ſtate. 2. In her ſucceſſive and more impure Irregular ſtate.

1. In her primitive and more pure condition, for the firſt three hundred years at leaſt after Chriſt. The Church is exerciſed with the Perſecution of the great Red Dragon, having ſeven heads and ten horns, and ſeven Crowns upon his heads, i. e. The Heatheniſh Roman Empire, the Worſhipper of the Dragon the Devil, in whoſe power that Pagan-Empire then was. This Dragon by many perſecutions raged againſt the Woman the Church, being big-with-childe, and travelling to bring forth Chriſt myſtical, (viz. Chriſt formed in his myſtical body and members, 2 Cor. 12. 12. Gal. 4. 19.) into the Roman world: The Dragon being ready to devour him as ſoon as born. But after many pangs and perſecutions, ſhe brought forth Chriſt, a King, to rule the Gentiles with a rod of iron: And the great Dragon being caſt out of his Roman Throne and Power, by Michael and his Angels: There was in that Roman world, Salvation and ſtrength, and the Kingdome of our God, and the Power of his Chriſt. This is the ſum of this ſharp conflict, and it is contemporany with the ſtate of the inner Court of the Temple meaſured.

Now in this perſecuted ſtate of the Primitive Church, conſider, 1 The deſcription of the Church perſecuted. 2 The deſcription of the Dragon, perſecuting. 3 The womans bringing forth her childe, notwithſtanding the perſecution. 4 The battel of Michael with the Dragon, during the time of her Travel.

[1] The Deſcription of the Primitive Church, perſecuted: under the notion of a woman with-childe travelling. And ſhe is deſcribed gloriouſly, 1. By her brighteſt cloathing; And there appeared a great wonder in heaven, a woman cloathed with the Sun, viz. with Chriſt h the Sun of Righteouſneſſe, whom ſhe had i put on by faith, and in whom ſhe ſhined oriently. 2. By her foot-ſtool; And the Moon under her feet. That is, the world and worldly vanities, delights, &c. which have various inconſtant aſpects like the Moon; (as k ſome think.) Or, the Doctrine of Manners is implyed by the Moon, as the Doctrine of Faith by the Sun; which l Brightman likes better. But ſome conceive a better interpretation may be pitched upon then both theſe; viz. If by the Moon the Ruler of the night and darkneſſe be underſtood, Either the m legal ſhadows, and elements of the world, now vaniſhing, and to be quite put under the Churches foot, Chriſt with his full Evangelical brightneſſe ſhining ning upon her. Thus the n Ancients interpret it, of the Jewish Synagogue under her feet. Or, the darkness of Gentilish Superstition, now dispelled and brought under by Christ and his Gospel. Mede o is in suspence which of these interpretations is best, or whether both may not be joyned together. Let the Reader deliberate and judge. 3. By her Crown: And upon her head a Crown of twelve Starres, viz. She was illustrious for the Doctrine and faith of the twelve Apostles, purely maintained. Ch.XII.ver.1. 4. By her painful Travel in bringing forth, being now with childe: And she being with child, cryed, travelling in birth, and paines to be delivered, ver.2. The Church is as a p Mother. Her travel was to bring forth Christ mystical into the world. Her pangs denote her persecutions which mean-while she indured; for so Scripture useth to expresse grievous tribulations or persecutions, by the q pangs of a travelling woman. In this Travel of the Primitive Church, and in the particulars following about the Birth of Christ mystical: Here seems to be a notable allusion to the Virgin Mary's bringing forth of Christ Personal; as r Pareus hath well observed in many particulars.

(2) The Description of the Dragon persecuting. He is described, I. By his Effigies, form or shape, which is cruel and monstrous: And there appeared another wonder in Heaven, and behold a great Red Dragon, having seven heads, and ten horns, and seven Crowns upon his heads. He is, 1. A Great Dragon; For a s Dragon is an old Serpent, that by eating up, and devouring many Serpents, becomes an huge vast Dragon at last. This great Dragon is the t Devil and Satan: Metonymically, the Pagan Romane Empire the worshipper of this Dragon, under the power of Satan; as from this present description, u Mede hath well observed. 2. A Red Dragon; viz. most Cruel, red with the blood of Saints and Martyrs. 3. Having seven heads, and seven Crowns on his heads, viz. Partly in respect of the seven Hills, whereon Rome the Metropolis and Royal Seat of that Empire was built. Partly in regard of the seven Orders or kinds of Governours, wherewith it should be successively ruled, Rev.17.9,10. 4. Having ten horns, viz. in respect of the ten Kingdoms, which should rise up and grow in the course of the seventh or last head, v 3. II. By his Power or Prevalency of his dominion: And his tayle drew the third part of the Stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth. That is, this Dragon-worshipper the Romane Empire, by his tayle, viz. The Companions and Followers of his power, brought the third part of the World, (which was known in Johns time,) in subjection to its dominion, plucking the stars of secular powers out of their Orbs of Government. III. By his subtile and intentive watching of the travelling Woman, to devoure her childe as soon as born: And the Dragon stood before the Woman, which was ready to be delivered, for to devoure her childe as soon as it was born, ver.4. As x Pharaoh laid wait to destroy the new-born Israelites in Egypt. And y Herod, to murder Christ newly born.

(3) The womans bringing forth her childe, Notwithstanding this persecution of the Dragon. Here I. The childe brought forth is described, 1 By its Sex, And she brought forth a man-childe. 2 By his Regal Office; Who was to rule all Nations with a Rod of Iron. This Primarily belongs to z Christ personal: Secondarily to Christ mystical, his Church and Members. Christ mystical ruled all Nations by a rod of iron, subjugating the Romane Empire: Partly by a spiritual Gospel-victory, promoted by Michael and his Angels, against the Devil and his Angels, Rulers in that Empire: Partly by a corporal Conquest afterwards, when Christians prevailed and obtained such power and successe, thinks a Mede, under Constantine the Great and his Successors. Partly this Rule shall be compleated, when with Christ the b Saints shall judge the world. 3. By his Advancement: And her child was caught up unto God, and to his Throne. When? not presently as soon as born, but when come to maturity. As Christ himself was in his ripe age taken up to Gods supreme Throne: so Christ mystical, when maturely grown in his Kingdome, was exalted to the Romane Throne, viz. under Constantine, as was noted. Such Rulers Scripture sometimes calls c Gods, ver.5. II. The womans flight from the Dragon, after she had brought forth her male-childe into the wildernesse, there to be fed 1260. dayes: As Mary, upon the Birth of Christ fled from Herod into Egypt; And the woman fled into the wildernesse, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore dayes, ver.6. This is here mentioned by Anticipation, and d afterwards is again related in its due place and order, where it may more properly be considered.

(4) The battell of Michael with the Dragon, during the Time of the Woman's Travel, viz. of the Primitive Churches Travel to bring forth Christ Mystical into the Romane World. From the successe of this Battel it was, that the child was not Devoured by the Dragon but brought forth safely, and afterwards exalted highly. Touching this Battel, note, I. The place where it was fought: And there was war in heaven, viz. in the Church, (often called heaven in this Book) for the victory was partly by the Confession and Death of Martyrs. II. The Adversaries and their Armies, that fought this Battel e Michael and his Angels fought against the Dragon: And the Dragon fought, and his Angels, ver.7. viz. Against Satan the Dragon, and his Angels, and the Dragon-worshipper the Romane Empire, persecuting the Primitive Church: The Primitive Church by Christs blood, their faithful Testimony, patient sufferings, and Assistance of the Angels, fought and prevailed. III. The successe of the 300 years Battel at last; It went on Michael's and the Primitive Church's side, The Dragon and his angels being despoyled of their imaginary Deity, and thrown down to the bottome of extreamest contempt and execration; The f Paganish Idols, and Idolatries being made such bavock of and utterly abolished in the Roman Empire; And they prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in Heaven. And the Great Dragon was cast out, that old Serpent, called the Devil and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: He was cast out into the earth, and his Angels were cast out with him, ver. 8, 9. IV. The victorial Triumphant Song in Heaven, upon this success; And I heard a loud voice, saying in Heaven, &c. In this victorial Song are declared, 1. The happy condition to which the Primitive Church was now brought; Now is come Salvation, and strength, and the Kingdome of our God, and the Power of his Christ. This is the exalting of the womans childe, viz. the bringing of these into the Roman Throne. 2. By what adversaries Conquest this happy condition was gained, viz. By the Conquest of the Accuser of the Brethren, accusing them as he did Job of old, that he might gain advantage and opportunity of afflicting them; For the Accuser of our Brethren is cast down, which accused them before God day and night, ver. 10. 3. Who they were, in whose cause Michael and his Angels were thus engaged: and whereby they prevailed. They were Holy Confessors and Martyrs: and they prevailed with suitable weapons; And they overcame him 1 By the blood of the Lamb, And 2 By the Word of their Testimony, And 3 they loved not their lives unto the death, ver. 11. 4. What different matter of joy and grief this victory ministred to different subjects, viz. (1) Matter of joy and consolation to the Heavens, and them therein; Therefore rejoyce ye Heavens, and ye that dwell in them. By Heavens I understand the Church wherein the battel was fought, Satan not being able to come into the third Heavens to fight; By dwellers therein, The Saints and holy Confessors that overcome, and all the Holy Angels, those Ministring spirits, by whose assistance the victory was obtained. (2) Matter of grief and lamentation to the inhabiters of the Earth and Sea; that is, To the inferiour, and as yet baser inhabitants of the world, especially in the Romane world, such as had not lifted themselves as yet in the Church, nor had cast out the idolatrous paganish worship of the Dragon: against whom the Dragon (being full of rage) would make some desperate attempts, fearing and foreseeing he should shortly lose them also, The Antithesis here, betwixt Heaven and Earth, and their respective inhabitants, requires this sense; Wo to the inhabiters of the Earth, and of the Sea: for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time, ver. 12.

Hitherto of the Tribulations and Persecutions of the Church whilest in her Primitive, more Pure, and Regular state.

2. In her Successive, more Impure and Irregular state, from the Primitive times after the first 300 years at least, or thereabouts, till the very last the Seventh Trumpet, closing up the Prophecies of the Revelation, The Church (though freed from Heathenish Tyranny, yet) is afresh imbarked in New Troubles and Persecutions, by divers enemies. Now during all this time, the Church is in her wilderness-Condition: as Israel of old was after their deliverance from Egypt. Thus take the Parallel. Israel 1 Delivered from the Egyptian bondage under Pharaoh. 2 Fled towards the Wilderness, but was pursued by Pharaoh; 3 Had liberty of worshiping God in the Wilderness, where the Tabernacle was Erected; 4 There Apostatized from God, and his pure worship in the Matter of the Calf, Baal-peor, Balaam, &c. 5 Was there exercised with New troubles and afflictions, of Hunger, Thirst, Fiery Serpents, and of divers Enemies; 6 Abode in the Wilderness 40 years, during which space they made g 42 journeys and stations from Egypt to Jordan; 7 And at last all their enemies being subdued, they quietly possessed the Promised Rest the Land of Canaan. So the Church; 1 Being freed from Heathenish Tyranny under the Red Dragon; 2 Fled into the Wilderness, but was pursued and persecuted by the Dragon; 3 Had liberty of Worshipping God in the Wilderness granted by the Edicts of Christian Emperours and Kings, who erected for them Temples or publick places for Christian-worship. 4 Yet in that her wilderness-state, she makes many idolatrous defections. Apostatizing from God and his pure Worship, especially to Antichristianisme; 5 Is there exercised with new troubles and persecutions, by the Dragon, Beast and false Prophet; 6 Abides in this Wilderness-seat 42. moneths; 7 And at last the Dragon, the Beast, and false Prophet, with all her enemies, being vanquished, the Church obtains the New Heavens and New Earth, and reigns with Jesus Christ a thousand years, yea for ever and ever. The former and following Series of this Prophecy clears this Parallel. g Num. 33. 1. 16 50.

In this Successive and more impure state of the Church are laid down, 1. The Distresses, Tribulations and Persecutions of the Church, brought upon her by the Dragon and his Instruments, to force her to Idolatrous defection both Paganish and Popish, Ch. 12. 13. to the end. and Ch. 13. 2. The Eventual state of the true Church of Christ, during these distresses, and notwithstanding all these tribulations, constantly adhering to the Lamb Christ in Faith and purity of worship, diligently warning the worshippers of the Beast, and premonishing of the future vengeance of the Lamb upon his enemies on the earth, Ch. 14. throughout.

(1) The Tribulations and Persecutions of the Church in this her Successive, more impure, and Wilderness-condition, are foretold as to arise from divers adversaries, viz. 1. From the Dragon. 2. From the seven-headed and ten-horn'd Beast. 3. From the two-horn'd Beast.

(1) The Churches trouble and persecution from the Dragon. As Israel delivered from Egyptian bondage, and marching towards the Wilderness was pursued by Pharaoh. So the Primitive Church rescued from Heathenish bondage, and flying into the Wilderness (i.e. into a middle state, not wholly hid and invisible, nor yet gloriously visible, but as it were in a middle condition betwixt both) is persecuted by the Dragon. Here the Dragons Persecution is described, as 1 Against the woman her self, 2 Against her seed. 1. Against the Woman her self. When the Dragon could not devour her childe, childe, it being caught up to God and to his Throne: he assaults the woman her self; And when the Dragon saw that he was cast into the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man-child, ver. 13. Wherein note, 1. The womans flight from the Dragon; And to the woman were given two wings of a Great Eagle, that she might flie into the wilderness, into her place: where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the Serpent. ver. 14. In this her flight are declared, (1) Why she fled, viz. from the face of the Serpent: to escape his mischief. (2) Whereby, or by what means she fled; viz. by two wings of a Great Eagle. This relates to that of [b] Gods providence bringing Israel out of Egypt into the Wilderness, as on Eagles wings; or it may refer to the Roman Empire, whose Ensign is an Eagle, and the two Caesars of the Eastern and Western Empire divided as two wings, by whose aid and protection the Church fled into her Wilderness-state. (3) Whither she fled; into the Wilderness, formerly explained. (4) For what time she was to continue in that Wilderness-condition; for a time, and times, and half a time, viz. for the same time and duration which Daniel [i] fore-prophecied touching this state of the Church, and in these words. This time is formerly expressed, by [k] 1260 days, which exactly make up a time, i. e. one year: Times, i. e. two years: and half a time, i. e. half a year; understand Prophetical days, a day for a year. This state of the Church seems to last till the seventh Trumpet, being contemporany to the 1260 days Prophecy of the two Witnesses, which determine not till the period of the Sixth Trumpet. So that to this day, the Church is still in this Wilderness-condition, but drawing towards the Borders of a far happier estate. 2. The Dragons flood spewed out after the Woman fleeing from him; And the Serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood, after the Woman: That he might cause her to be carried away of the flood, ver. 15. This flood some interpret of the poysonful Serpentine Heresies prevailing in those times, especially of Arianisme over-flowing the whole Christian world: [n] Some of the deluge of Roman or Forreign barbarous enemies and afflictions by them in those times ready to overwhelm the Church: [o] Some, of both. 3. The Womans relief against the flood; And the earth helped the Woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the Dragon cast out of his mouth, v. 16. By Earth, Metonymically [p] Scripture is wont to intend the inhabitants in the earth. [q] Some interpret the Earth, of the multitude of Christians who in the Nicene, Constantinopolitan, Ephesian and Chalcedon Councels defending the true Faith, overthrew and drank up these Heresies, as dry ground drinks up water. [r] Some, of the counterfeit and earthly Religion entertained by the barbarous Nations breaking into the Roman Empire: so that this earthly Church succoured that heavenly Church in the Wilderness. [s] Some, of the great Commotions in the Roman Empire, that made them let the Jews alone in rest. [t] Some, that Gods Providence turned this flood to the punishment and destruction of the earthly sort. [u] Pareus, not liking such interpretations, thinks this is an Allusion to that story of the [x] earth helping of Moses and Aaron against their seditious enemies, by opening her mouth and swallowing them up alive: This flood of Heresies being dissipated and made to vanish by vertue of Scriptures and zeal of Orthodox Teachers. II. Against the Womans seed. The Dragon not prevailing against the Woman, but that she got safe unto the Wilderness: being enraged, he attempts against the remnant of her seed, viz. the Saints and Successive Churches which she should thereby bring forth; described, 1. By their Obedience to God. 2. By their constancy in Christs Faith; And the Dragon was wroth with the Woman, and went to make War with the remnant of her seed, which keep the Commandments of God, and have the Testimony of Jesus Christ, ver. 17. This was the Dragon by new stratagems raiseth up, using the Ten-horn'd and Two-horn'd Beasts as his Instruments therein, as appears in the next Chapt.

(2) The Churches Distress and Persecution by the First Beast, viz. The Ten-horn'd Beast, The Dragons Delegate or Substitute, to whom he gave his Power and Seat. Touching this Beast, Writers have much dispute amongst themselves who he should be. And this Chapter treating of two Beasts, is so difficult, That in y Pareus his account, it seems to be a cross or torture to all Interpreters. [z] Pareus having at least recited and rejected divers opinions about this Ten-horn'd Beast, at last subscribes to their opinion, that interpret him to be Anti-christ; and the Two-horn'd Beast also. Anti-christ with a double Power: That Secular, and this Ecclesiastical. But I fore-see so much inconvenience in making these two Beasts one, which the Holy Ghost here so remarkably distinguisheth, That I cannot subscribe to that Opinion. And many reasons might be produced against this Interpretation, but this would be too much beside my present intention, and I must study brevity. I rather incline to that opinion, which interprets this Beast of the Roman Empire, not of the old Heathenish Roman Empire, out of which the Dragon was dethroned: But of the new Christian Roman Empire, (after the casting out of the Dragon, and his Heathenish Dominion) now in the course of his last or seventh Head (as afres will appear) cut and parcelled out into ten Kingdoms by the barbarous Nations prevailing, but growing up again into one Roman Republique, through the subtilty and renewed wrath of the Dragon against the Woman and her seed, whom he endeavoured to persecute thereby, under the subtil show and pretence of Christianity.

This First Beast is here described by his 1. Rise, 2. Shape, 3. State. And 4. Acts ascribed to him. I. By his Rise, viz. Out of the sea; And I stood upon the sand of the sea, and I saw a Beast rise up out of the sea. Some think, this phrase should be thus read, And he (viz. the Dragon, of whom in Ch 12. 17. he had spoken) stood upon the sands, i. e. stood there to bring up this Beast out of the sea, to persecute the woman. For, we read no command to John to stand upon the sands: but rather he seems Brightman on Rev. 13. 1. &c. goes this way a Jot. Med in Com. Apoc. Part. 2. ad c. 13.

[b] Not ἐστάθην, I stood: but ἐστάθη he stood i. e. the Dragon. So, Piscat. in schol. Jos. Mede, in Com. Apoc. ad c. 13. 1. And Beze, though he say it is against all the Gr. Copies, yet seems somwhat to favour this, by knitting this sentence to the last verse of the foregoing ch. Bez. Annot. in N. T. ad loc.

seems still to continue in his posture in heaven, beholding these Visions. But if we take it of John, it alters not the Substance of the Vision. By Sea, here I understand that multitude of ten Kingdoms, into which the Barbarians had shredded the whole compasse of the Romane Territories, out of all which the Dragon now indeavours to extract and of which to compose one Roman-Dominion. Or, that Conflux of Armies and People striving in war, like a tempestuous Sea. II. By his shape, or figure, which is monstrous and horrid. This is set forth in divers particulars. 1. Having seven heads—and upon his heads the names of blasphemy. The seven-headed Beast is the same c Beast on which the Woman sitteth, having seven heads and ten horns. Whose seven heads are interpreted by the Holy Ghost himself to be Seven Mountains, whereon the Royal Seat of the Empire Rome was built: And seven Kings, or kinds of Government by which the Empire should be governed. The Names of Blasphemy denote his blasphemous idolatries, tending to the extream reproach of God, his Religion, and Saints. 2. And ten horns, and upon his horns ten Crowns, Chap. XIII. ver. 1. These ten horns crowned: denote d ten Kings, or ten Kingdoms, into which the Roman Empire of the sixth head was divided, all which were to be conjoyned into one for carrying of the whore. These Ten Horns, thinks e Mede, belong not to all the seven heads, but only to the Seventh. Because the Heads flourishing, the Horns flourish: the Heads falling, the Horns must necessarily fall therewith. Now these Horns cannot belong to the first five heads, because in Johns time these f five were fallen already, and consequently their horns with them. Nor can these Horns belong to the Sixth Head, which then was in g Johns time reigning; for the Angel tells John plainly, The ten Hornes are ten Kings, which have received no Kingdom as yet. Therefore it remains that these ten Horns belong only to the seventh or last head. 3. And the Beast which I saw was like unto a Leopard, viz. Like unto the Grecian Monarchy, resembled to a h Leopard and divided into four heads, as this Romane into ten. The i Leopard is a beast all spotted, very swift, extream subtile and cruel: A notable Embleme of this present Beast. 4. And his feet were as the feet of a Bear, viz. big and strong to crush the prey. The k Beare is the Embleme of the Persian Monarchy, Strong, Cruel, and of a devouring nature. It had three ribs in the mouth of it, between the teeth of it: And they said thus unto it; Arise, devour much flesh. 5. And his mouth as the mouth of a Lion, ver. 2. The l Lion was the Embleme of the first Monarchy, viz. The Babylonian. The Lyons mouth denotes strength and cruelty, in tearing, crushing, and swallowing up his prey. How notably sets this out the character of this Beast, which is as a confection or compound made up of the terribleness, strength and cruelty of all the three foregoing Monarchies! Hence Daniel admirably describes this m Fourth Beast, as dreadful, and terrible, and strong exceedingly, and it had great iron teeth. This his shape. III. By his state and constitution He was vested with great Power and Regal Dominion. Of this his Power and Dominion, Here consider, The efficient cause, The manner of acquiring it, And the event of it. 1. The efficient cause of it, viz. The Dragon; 4 And the Dragon gave him his Power, and Seat, and great Authority, ver. 2. By Power Scripture notes not only Strength, but also n Bands, Armies or Multitudes of Persons. The Dragons Bands or Army, are his Angels or Devils with Idols their Receptacles, saith o Mede; These he gives to this Beast together with his Seat and great Authority, viz. All that Authority which he had in the Heathenish Romane Empire, from which Michael and the Martyrs cast him down, overcoming him: this he gives to the Beast, his substitute to recover it for him. How cunningly Satan acts, not now as a Red-Dragon, but as masked in a new Many-formed Beast, to draw the Church to idolatry, under the Christian Empire! 2. The manner of his acquiring this dominion, by the healing of his mortal wound, received in his sixth Head, by the barbarous nations, but now cured by this substituted power of the Beast, in the course of his Seventh and last head; And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, and his deadly wound was healed. 3. The event of this his great dominion, upon the world, Generally admiring and adoring this Beast, thus healed and new-formed as the Dragons Deputy: viz. Highly approving of him, and subjecting themselves unto him and his power, as incomparable and irresistible, p Adoring, in Scripture, being put for yeelding subjection; And all the world wondred after the Beast, and they worshipped the Dragon which gave power unto the Beast: (i. e. They subjected themselves to the Dragon in the Beast,) and they worshipped the Beast, saying, who is like unto the Beast? who is able to make warre with him? ver. 3, 4. IV. By his acts ascribed to him, viz. his acts of idolatrous blasphemy, and of cruel tyranny. 1. His acts of idolatrous blasphemy, viz. idolatry: for Scripture is wont to set forth idolatry, as q blasphemous, opprobrious, and contumelious to God. Touching this his blasphemy; (1) This is generally mentioned; And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies. (2) The continuance of this blasphemous Beast, is computed; And power was given unto him, to continue fourty and two moneths, ver. 5. (3) The objects of his blasphemies or idolatries, are particularized; And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God. To blaspheme, 1 His Name, And 2 His Tabernacle, And 3 them that dwell in Heaven, ver. 6. Thinks r Mede, Gods Name, by image-worship: His Tabernacle, viz. Christs s body, (wherein the God-head dwelt personally,) by Transubstantiation, Masses, &c. Them that dwell in heaven, viz. Saints and Angels, by Angel-worship, Saint-worship, or rather Devil-worship under their names. 2. His acts of cruel tyranny; Partly persecuting the Saints; And it was given unto him to make warre with the Saints, and to overcome them. That is, with the remnant of the womans Seed in the wilderness. This is conceived to be executed, when such numerous multitudes of the t Waldenses, and Albigenses, and other true Christians were destroyed in those bloody warres, for seventy years together: first intended against the Saracens, cens, afterwards turned against the Christians. that would not worship and submit unto the Beast. Partly subduing all to his Power, except the Elect; And Power was given him over all Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations. And all that dwell upon the Earth shall worship him, whose Names are not written in the Book of life of the Lamb, slain from the foundation of the world, ver.7,8. This is amplified by a Conclusion inferred hence, which is Monitory and Consolatory. Monitory, to attend and consider well, who adore the Beast; If any man have an eare, let him heare, ver. 9. Consolatory, to the faithful, not worshipping the idolatrous Beast, notwithstanding all his cruelties inflicted to that end. They are comforted, 1 From Gods just revenge and retaliation of their Imprisonments and butcheries upon the Beast; He that leadeth into captivity, shall go into captivity: He that killeth with the sword, must be killed with the sword. 2 From the eminency which will appear in their Faith and Patience, waiting on God, till he thus avenge them of the Beast; Here is the Patience and Faith of the Saints! ver.10.

[3.] The Churches distress and persecution by the Second Beast, viz. The two-horn'd Beast or false Prophet, the Reviver and Restorer of the ten-horn'd Beast. Which seems evidently to be u The Roman Antichrist, viz. The Papacy, or the Pope in his Clergy. In the vision of this Beast, note, 1 His Rise, 2 His Character, 3 His Power and Acts. I. His Rise, not so notable as the former Beast out of the Sea of worldly Dominions; but more base, out of the earth, a low and mean condition of things. Or, not out of the sea of Armies and People striving in wars as the former: but out of the Earth, silently without all noyse, as the Grasse or Plants silently rise, and grow out of the ground: And I saw another Beast coming up out of the earth. II. His Character. The character of this Beast, is laid down in his threefold Resemblance, viz. 1. He resembles the Lamb in his Horns, i.e. in his Power; And he had two Horns like the Lamb. The Lamb had x seven Horns, denoting his perfect power: This Beast had two Horns like him, though not equal to him. Some think y hereby the Beast hypocritically imitates Christ, in his meek Lamb-like power. Some by these two Horns understand, z the double power of binding and loosing. Or the a Secular and Ecclesiastical sword; usurped by the Pope, &c. 2. He resembles the Dragon in his voice; And he spake as the Dragon, ver.11. That is, by his Doctrine and Decrees, he patronizeth idolatry, and persecuteth the Saints as the Dragon did, in the former Beast. 3. He resembles the First Beast in the exercise of his Power; And he exerciseth all the Power of the first Beast before him. III. His Power and Acts. 1 He causeth the inhabitants of the earth, to worship and submit to the first Beast; And causeth the earth, and them that dwell therein, to worship the first Beast, whose deadly wound was healed, ver.12. 2. He seduceth and causeth men to make an Image to the first Beast, who was wounded. The first Beast being the sixth Head, (as was formerly shewed,) of the Roman Empire, which was Heathenish, when wounded: The Roman Beast of the Seventh Head is his image, becoming like him in a new idolatry or idol-worship, not of Pagan-idols, but of Saints, Angels, &c. like thereunto. This the Image of the Beast, which he causeth men to make; and this he effecteth two wayes. [1] By deceiving them with b lying wonders and counterfeit miracles; And he doth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men. And deceiveth them that dwell on the earth, by those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the Beast: saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the Beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live, ver.13,14. [2] By frighting and terrifying men with formidable Edicts, Anathema's, Thunderbolts of Excommunication, debarring them even of Civil Commerce whilst excommunicated, &c. And he had power to give life to the image of the Beast, that the image of the Beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the Beast should be killed. And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a Mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads. And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the c Mark, or the Name of the Beast, or the Number of his Name, ver.15,16,17. Now this number of the Beast, is amplyfied by an hortatory Conclusion, inciting to that singular point of wisdom in counting the number of the Beast; urged 1 As possible, it being a number which a man may count. 2 As facile, the number here being given; Here is wisedome, Let him that hath understanding count the number of the Beast: for it is the number of a man, and his number is six hundred, threescore and six, ver.18.

Hitherto of the Churches distresses, and persecutions in her Successive and most impure state, tending to draw her to idolatrous defection, both Paganish and Popish. Next let us view the event of this Persecution upon the true Church in her condition and carriage mean-while, during these Persecutions.

u Arethas understands here by this Beast, the coming of Anti-Christ to be described. Areth. ad Apoc. 13.11. apud. Oecumen. So Pareus, Mede, Piscator, Diodate, Forbs, and most, unanimously interpret this Beast.

b 2 Thes 2.

c The Mark, The Name of the Beast, & the number of his name.] It is thought in these, there is an allusion to an ancient custome of Masters, who caused their Names to be set on their servants foreheads, that they might be known whose servants they were, (as testifies Rhodiginus, l.5,23.) And of Generals or chief Commanders, who caused their Names to be inscribed in their Souldiers hands, (as witnesseth Vegetius. l.2.5.) that they might be discerned whose Souldiers they were. So here the Beasts vassals have his Mark, Name, or Number: And opposite hereunto the Lambs Company have their Fathers Name in their foreheads, and the Lambs Number, Rev.14.1,2. That so by these discriminating characters, the Vassals of the Beast, and Servants of the Lambe, may be distinguished and known from one another. Joseph. Med. in Com. Apoc. Part.2. ad cap.13,16,17.

Some confound the Mark with the Name of the Beast, counting them the same; as Mede. Others (and perhaps upon better ground,) conceive the Mark, Name, and Number of the Name of the Beast, to be three distinct Badges, or characteristical notes of the Beasts vassals and worshippers; Thus Brightman, Pareus, Forbes, on Rev.13.16, 17,18.

17,18. Among these three Marks, the Character belongs to the Peers and Clergy, as being his sons: The Name to the People and common sort, as to his Villains; And the Number of the Name to the Grecians, that were strangers of another Countrey. Brightman on Rev.13.17. I like well Forbes his expression of himself in this point. Saith he; All that follow Antichrist have his name, but in divers manner. Some have The Character thereof; that is, the name imprinted, and are his proper goods, as having his Burne-iron and Mark; A familiar phrase from the manner of men. Some have his Name, yet so as they have not his Mark; who have not learned the deepnesse of Satan, neither are Antichrists sworn Bondmen. And yet some have onely the Number of his name; that is, are so farre from being his sworn and marked slaves, as they are no otherwise his, but in so far forth they are counted to be so, and numbred amongst his. For he is such a Tyrant as will have all men in one of these three. And because within these, who have the Number of his name, both the former sorts are comprehended; The number of his name, sheweth the whole body and frame of his Kingdom. For albeit many have his Name, and moe have his Number which have not his Character, yet all that have either Character or Name are of his Number. Forbes Comm. in Rev. 13,16,17,18. By these three seems to be signified one and the same thing, viz. The Profession of the Papal Religion, or Subjection to the Pope. Piscat. Schol.

Touching The Number of the Beasts Name 666. How hath it puzled and tortured all Writers to fansie themselves about the true Mystery in Particular intended thereby? I finde chiefly two Opinions more considerable herein; 1. Of those that labour to finde out such names, especially in Greek or Hebrew, (in which Tongues all the Letters are Numeral's, and signifie some Number or other,) as may agree to this Romane Beast; the Numeral Letters of which Name, or Names, may exactly amount to 666. And they especially pitch upon the Name Λατεινος, the Letters whereof considered as Numerals, come to just 666. And multitudes of other Names are found out to like purpose, not onely by Moderne, but also by Ancient Writers. To whom here I refer such Readers as desire to satisfie themselves farther herein. Irenæus, Advers. Hæres. l.5.c.30. Arethas in Comment. Apoc. cap.38. Apud Oecumen. Brightman. Comment. in Rev.13.18. D. Pareus in Comment. Apoc. ad cap.13.18. Napier on Rev.13.18. & in Propositon XXXI. especially, &c. But this Opinion about Λατεινος Forbes saith is so childish an Egyptical toy, that he marvels much how ever any solid minde could propound it for a rare point of divine wisdome. Forbes on Rev.13.18. 2. Of those that Parallel and Compare the Number of the Beast, viz. 666. with the Number of the Lambs company and of the New Jerusalem viz. 144. which are set as Oppositres one against another, and as opposites may serve to explain each other. To this end by Computation they finde that the Lambs Number of 144 is only builded by Multiplication of 12. upon 12. and can no other wayes be multiplyed, showing that the true Church of Christ is builded only on the Foundation of the twelve Apostles Doctrine, and still holds the Foundation in all that's built thereon: but on the contrary the Beasts number 666. though it seem more compact, accurate, and uniforme, yet cannot be raised nor builded upon twelve, take what Multiplyer you will, nor can it be divided or quartered by twelve, showing that Antichrists Apostolical Church, riseth not on the Foundation, much lesse keepeth the Foundation of the twelve Apostles Doctrine, nor can endure to be tryed thereby. Thus Forbes in his Comment. on Rev.13.18. See him more at large. After him Mr. Potter hath further improved this Opinion, by Extracting the Roots of these two Numbers; The Root upon which the Lambs Number 144. and true Church is raised, being 12. the Apostolical basis: The Root upon which the Beasts Number 666. the character of the Antichristian Apostatical Church is raised, being the sacred number of 25. Both which he describes and amplyfies at large. Which tract of his wrought in Mede admiration upon the reading of it, as himself before the Book testifieth. But I referre the Reader to it for further satisfaction, viz. An Interpretation of the number 666. By Francis Potter, B.D.

Now, in a matter of such intricacy and difficulty, though it be hard to determine which way to take, yet (without prejudice to any mans judgement,) I confesse I rather incline to this later opinion, and way of interpretation; as being in my judgment, 1 More grave and ponderous. 2 More certain and determinate. 3 More conforme and suitable to the other mysteries revealed in this Book. (4) More accurately discriminating betwixt Antichrists false Apostatical Synagogue, and Christs true Apostolical Church, 5 And in the right computing whereof, more True, Theological, Spiritual and Heavenly wisdome will be found.

[II.] The Spiritual state and condition of Christs true Church and Virgin company, during these distresses, and notwithstanding all these persecutions; 1 Constantly and purely adhering to the Lambe Jesus Christ in faith and worship. 2. Diligently by the Lambs Direction, warning the worshippers of the Beast. And 3 Premonished from heaven of the Lambs future vengeance upon his Enemies, (and therefore in these respects victoriously prevailing over the beast.) comes next to be considered.

[1] The true Churches or Virgin-company's constant and pure adhering to Christ, in midst of Antichristian idolatries and persecutions, is described in a vision of the Lamb and his company standing on Mount Sion. This is the [d] remnant of the womans seed in the wilderneſse, against which the Dragon warred: and here they are as it were encamping with the Lamb on Mount Sion. In this Vision the true Church is 1 Described, 2 Commended. I. Described, as adhering to and attending upon the Lamb, when the world wondred after the Beast, and worshipped him; And I looked, and lo a Lamb stood on the M. Sion, and with him an hundred fourty and four thousand having the name [of him, and the name] of his Father written in their foreheads, Ch.XIV.ver.1. Here note 1. The place where they attended on Christ. On the M. Sion. M. Sion called the city of David; David took it from the Jebusites, built it strongly, erecting a Royal Tower therein, there he dwelt and had his Royal Throne; before it was the Temple, behind it the wilderneſse. It was so strong a place, that the faithful are compared to [e] M. Sion, that cannot be removed, but abideth for ever. Hereby then the notable stability of the Church against all Antichristian machinations is intimated. 2. The posture, stare, standing. The Lambe stood, and his company stood with him. The Lambe (thinks Pareus,) stood, as in his g Watch-tower, vigilant over his Church for her protection. They stood as his servants and souldiers attending upon him. 3. Their number 144000. This is the same number h before mentioned to be prefixed to the seventh Seal; the number of the true Church, which is built upon the doctrine of the twelve Apostles: as this number is built only upon twelve, (as was before observed.) This number is here opposed to the number of the Beast 666. in the close of the former Chapter, which can by no means be built upon twelve. 4. Their character, having his Fathers name in their foreheads. Rather according to the i Complutense Copy, Having the name of him, and the name of his Father, &c. which more fully expresseth their character, as opposite to the name of the Beast. Hereby they are distinguished from the Beast-worshippers. This seems to note their true profession of, and subjection to the Father and to the Lambe. II. Commended. This company of the Lambe is commended singularly. 1. For their pure worshipping and praising the Father and the Lamb, with a new evangelical Song, taught them, and them alone, k conform to that of the heavenly company of heavenly Angels, magnifying the Lambe for his ability to open the sealed Book. This their pure Gospel-worship is described, (1) By the numerous l multitude of the heavenly Singers, (whereunto these 144000 conform themselves,) resembled to Waters, Thunder, Harpers; And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: And I heard the voice of Harpers harping with their Harps, ver. 2. (2) By the nature of their Song; And they sung as it were a new Song, viz. either A new Gospel-song since Christs coming, opposite to the old before Christs coming, m old things now being passed away, and all things become new: Or new, in respect of new conferred benefits under the Gospel, among which this preservation of this 144000. from Antichristian defilements was no small one; Scripture is wont to call for n New Songs, for New Mercies. Here by Song, we may understand all Gospel-worship, by a Synecdoche of the part for the whole. (3) By the place where this new Song was sung; Before the Throne, and before the foure Beasts, and the Elders. (4) By the hearers of this Evangelicall Song, set forth, Negatively and Affirmatively; And no man could learn that Song, but the hundred and fourty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth, viz. during the Beasts dominion, none could worship the Lambe purely without idolatry on earth, as the Angels do in heaven, ver. 3. 2. For their spiritual chastity; These are they which were not defiled with women, for they are Virgins. That is, not defiled with whorish women, viz. with o cities guilty of spirituall whoredome, idolatry, among whom Rome was most notorious. 3. For their constant attendance upon the Lambe in all states and places; These are they which follow the Lambe whithersoever he goeth. 4. For their peculiar relation to God and the Lambe. They being peculiar first-fruits to them, redeemed out of the prophane masse of the idolatrous world; These were redeemed from among men, being the first-fruits unto God and to the Lambe, ver. 4. 5. For their integrity; And in their mouth was found no guile. Some Gr. Copies read p No lie. q Idols in Scripture are called Lyes: And r Idolaters Lyars. This seems to note their freedome from idolatry, and that they did not hypocritically profesſe and pretend to be Christians, and yet idolatrously adore the Beast. 6. Finally, For their innocency in Gods account, which is annexed as a reason of the former; For they are without fault before the Throne of God, ver. 5.

(2) The true Church's diligent Warnings of, and testifying against the worshippers of the Beast, (wherein they are as it were actually skirmishing and conflicting with the Beast and his adherents,) is described in the Vision of three Angels, i. e. Evangelicall Ministers, Preaching the everlasting Gospel against the Beast, and Beast-worshippers. I. The first Angel exhorts all that had given their names to Christ by Profession, to consider how Gods judgments were now inflicted upon the heathenish idols and idolaters, and therefore to worship God the Creator onely, and purely. He is called Another Angel, to distinguish him from the Angels formerly singing the new Song. This Angel some (interpret of the Councell of Constantinople, in the East, consisting of three hundred thirty seven Bishops, about Anno Dom. 720. wherein the worship of the Virgin Mary, and the Saints with Divine invocation, was opposed: and of the Francford Synod in the West, under Charles the great, consisting of about three hundred Bishops, about An. 790. which damned both the worship of images, and also the second Nicene Councel that established it. Others interpret it of divers in England, as Killington, Langland, especially Wickliffe, about An. 1371. and of divers in Bohemia, as John Husse, and Hierome of Prague, &c. Now touching this Angel are laid down, 1. His course; And I saw another Angel flie through the midst of Heaven. That is, through the midst of the Church; Or, conspicuously that he might be seen, as Pareus: Or, in a middle degree of doctrine, having yet many Reliques of darkness mixed, this is Brightman and Pareus: Or, above the ordinary pitch of Preachers, elevated and countenanced by the great ones of the world, as those former Councels, thinks Mede. 2. His furniture; Having the everlasting Gospel. 3. The Auditory to whom he preached, viz. to all sorts of the Beasts worshippers; To preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every Nation, and Kindred, and Tongue, and People, ver. 6. 4. The substance of the Doctrine which he preached, consisted of three Branches, urging them (1) To fear God; Saying with a loud voice, fear God. This is pressed against the prophane security of those times, and their base fear of the Beast. (2) To glorifie God, viz. by abandoning false worship; seeing now his judgments upon the heathenish idolatry of the Romane-Empire was so palpably made manifest; and give glory to him, for the houre of his judgement is come. (3) To yield true worship to God, and to him alone; And worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the Sea, and the Fountains of waters, ver. 7. II. The se-

ond Angel, (the first Angels Doctrine being despised,) denounceth Babylons irrevocable ruine from that time forwards till it be consummated, for their obstinacy and impenitency in idolatries. This Angel u Mede interprets of the Waldenses and Albigenses, who first of all other renounced Romish idolatries, and many followed them, which falling off from Rome, was the laying a foundation for Babylons fall, till it should be utterly ruined. Pareus x of Luther and his followers, Melanchthon, Zuinglius, Oecolampadius, &c. y Brightman, of John Husse and Hierome of Prague. The Substance of this Angels Sermon or Doctrine, was 1. A Commination of Babylons fall; And there followed another Angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great City, i. e. she is now fallen initially, shall fall totally and finally. 2. The Reason of this Commination: Because she made all Nations drink of the Wine of the wrath of her fornication, ver. 8. III. The third Angel going beyond both the former, warneth all the worshippers of the Beast, what horrible vengeance hangs over their heads, and would fall upon them, if they still persist in following and worshipping the Beast, and not renounce him. This Angel, thinks z Brightman, and a Mede, was M. Luther with his Associates and Successours, who so vehemently opposed Papal Doctrine and Superstition: whereupon followed the eminent Reformation of the Germane, and other Churches. Luther (saith Pareus,) left this fatidical verse behind him;

(Pestis eram vivus, moriens ero mors tua Papa.) i. e.
O Pope, I was thy Plague, while I had breath,
And though I dye, yet will I be thy death.

b Pareus thinks this Angel is to be interpreted of Luthers Successours, from An. 1546. to the end of the world, because no fourth Angel follows, but Christ sitting on his white Throne of judgement. Touching this Angels preaching, note; 1. His zeale in his Doctrine. And the third Angel followed them saying with a loud voice. 2. The Substance of his Sermon or Doctrine, denouncing most woful torments to all the followers and worshippers of the Beast. These torments are most terribly described, As Extream, Endless, and Easeless. (1) As extream: If any man worship the Beast and his Image, and receive his marke in his forehead, or in his hand, the same shall drink of the Wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture, (i. e. without mixture with water, allaying the force of wine: this intimates the most forciole Cup of Gods wrath,) into the cup of his indignation, and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone, in the presence of the holy Angels, and in the presence of the Lambe. v. 9, 10. (2) As endless: And in the smoake of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever. (3) As easeless, without all respite and intermission: And they have no rest day nor night who worship the Beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the marke of his name, v. 11. 3. The Conclusion, commending as it were with admiration the Saints patience and obedience tryed and evidenced by this Angels message as by a Touch-stone. (1) Their patience, in waiting upon God even under most Antichristian persecutions, because when this threatned torment shall come, they shall thoroughly be avenged; Here is the patience of the Saints! (2) Their obedience, in departing from all Antichristian idolatry, upon these threatnings; and worshipping God purely and Evangelically in the faith of Jesus Christ; Here are they that keep the commandements of God, and faith of Jesus, ver. 12.

(3.) The true Church's Premonition, or rather being premonished from Heaven, both by voice and Vision, Both of the Martyrs happy and of their Persecuting Enemies miserable, future condition. I. The Martyrs happy condition for future, is fore-told to John By a voice from Heaven. This voice, most interpreters referre to that which goes before, as a consolation to them that suffer under Antichrists Tyranny: But c Mede rather inclines to refer it to that which follows, for divers reasons; and the very current of the Text seems plainly so to carry it, if it be accurately considered. By this voice are expressed, 1. A special command to John to write what was spoken, for the Eminency and permanency of the Consolation; And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write. 2. The matter commanded to be written, denoting the blessednes of Martyrs in reference to the resurrection and judgment now approaching; Blessed are the dead which dye in the Lord, from henceforth. By dying in the Lord, seems to be intended, not the dying in the faith of Christ, as common to all the Saints: but dying for the Faith of Christ, and his cause, which is peculiar to Martyrs. As d Scripture useth (in) instead of (for) sometimes. 3. The confirmation and further declaration of this Matter of their Blessednes, by the Spirits Attestation. Partly, of their Liberation or freedome from their former evils and calamities under their Persecutors, who shall now be destroyed: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours. Partly, of their fruition of the blessed reward of all their well-doing and suffering for well-doing; And their works do follow them, v. 13. This is much like the expression in the seventh Trumpet. II. Their Persecutors miserable condition is described under the Vision of a double Type, viz. 1 Of an Harvest, supposed by f Mede either to denote the same thing; or if divers, yet those that are neerly conjoyned, to fore-signifie the Ruine of the Great City Babylon, or Rome. 2 Of a Vintage, which in the time of the year follows the Harvest, thought to prefigure the Ruine of the whole Kingdome of the Beast not long after. Or, by the Harvest, the destruction of the Romane Beast: and by the Vintage, the Ruine of the Mahumedan Empire is conceived to be represented. So he. g Forbes thinks, that from ver. 14. of this chapter, to the end of the chapt. is the Summary Proposition of the full overthrow of the enemies: which, at length, in the Subsequent Chapters is explained. And that this Summary execution is declared by two Comparisons: One of the Harvest, the other of the Vintage, from Joel. 3 (h) Brightman interprets the Harvest and Reaping of the Earth, of the Rising up of worthy Princes, who through the incitement of of godly Ministers, should gather their Subjects out of Antichristian Superstition into the true Church, driving contrary embraces out of their Coasts; and he mentions divers Princes and Ministers in the dayes of Phil. Melanthon. The Vintage, of the ruine of the Pope in England in times of Hen. 8. casting off his Supremacy, and ruining Monasteries; and he interprets the two Angels to be Cromwel with his sharp Sickle, and Cranmer that had power over the fire. But is not this too much boldnesse thus definitively to particularize and limit these Mysterious Visions, which doubtlesse have a larger extent, and seem plainly to intend some higher mystery, and for some future time, yet to come. i Pareus deservedly rejects Brightmans interpretation, and expounds both the Harvest and Vintage of Christs last Judgment, affirming that most interpreters thus understand them; wherein (for comfort of his afflicted Church) he foretels, how by the Harvest the wheat shall be gathered into Christs Garner; but Antichrist and all their wicked enemies, as Tares and Chaffe be burnt up with everlasting fire: and by the Vintage, what dreadful vengeance will fall upon the wicked. k Napier to this effect also for substance: though in some particulars he is singular. But to the Text. 1. Here's the Vision of the Harvest. Wherein consider, [1] The chief Reaper of the Harvest so gloriously and Majestically described, By his Resemblance, By his Throne, By his Crown, and By his Reaping Instrument, that it can hardly be safe to interpret it of any other then of Jesus Christ himself; And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sate, like unto the Son of Man, having on his head a golden Crown, and in his hand a sharp Sickle, v. 14. [2] The earnest request of an Angel coming out of the Temple (sustaining the person, thinks l Mede, of the whole Church presenting Prayers) to him that sate on the Throne to reap; And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sate on the cloud, Thrust in thy Sickle and reap. This request is urged, Partly, from the approach of the time of Christs judgment pre-determined of God; For the time is come for thee to reap. Partly from the maturity of the Harvest it self, ready for the Sickle; For the Harvest of the Earth is ripe, ver. 15. [3] The Actual reaping of the earth by him that sate on the cloud; And he that sate on the cloud thrust in his Sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped, ver 16. 2. Here's the Vision of the Vintage, which is wont not long after to follow the Harvest. Wherein, [1] The Vintage-Gatherer is described, By his place whence he came forth, and By his sharp Instrument; And another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in Heaven, he also having a sharp Sickle, ver. 17. By this Angel m Pareus understands, not the Saints, though they as Assessors with Christ, shall judge the world, 1 Cor. 6. 2. Nor the Angels, though they shall be Christs ministring instrumental reapers: but rather Christ himself, represented by an Angel, who shall descend from Heaven to judgment. [2] Another Angel supplicating that the Vintage might be gathered, is mentioned. n Pareus thinks this Angel to be some Primary instrument of Christ the Judge, who had power of inflicting the Torments of hell-fire. But o Mede is of opinion, that as the former Angel in vision of the Harvest is said in General to come out of the Temple, as sustaining the person of the whole Church praying for Christs coming to reap; so this Angel, which is said in Particular to come from the Altar, having power over the fire, sustains the Person of all the Martyrs and Confessors, as it were sacrificed for Christ, and having power over the fire of martyrdome, who here cry to Christ for executing his vengeance on their bloody Persecutors, especially the Roman Beast, that Vine of the Earth. This Angel is described, 1 Partly, by his Place whence he came; And another Angel came out from the Altar. 2 Partly, by his Power which he had; which had power over fire. 3 Partly, by his earnest request which he made, for execution of judgment upon Christs and the Churches cruel enemies, as fully ripe for vengeance; And cryed with a loud cry to him that had the sharp Sickle; Saying, Thrust in thy sharp Sickle, and gather the Clusters of the Vine of the Earth, for her Grapes are fully ripe, ver. 18. [3] The Actual Gathering of the Vine of the Earth, upon the Angels Prayer, is declared; And the Angel thrust in his Sickle into the Earth, and gathered the Vine of the earth. This is amplyfied by the events hereof, viz. 1. Casting the Vine into the Wine-presse; And cast it into the great Wine-presse of the Wrath of God, ver. 19. 2. Treading this Wine-presse; And the Wine presse was trodden without the City. 3. The great Quantity of blood flowing out upon treading the Wine-presse; And blood came out of the Wine-presse, even unto the Horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs, ver. 20. That this Vintage-Gatherer, who cast the Vine into the Winepresse, was Christ, accompanied with his Armies on white Horses, Gathering his Enemies into Armagaddon, and there crushing and destroying them at his coming with so great a slaughter as their blood should even reach up to the Horse bridles, seems notably cleared by that in p Rev. 19.

Hitherto of the Second General Branch of this II. Prophecy; viz. The manifold Tribulations and Persecutions wherewith the Church shall be exercised in her several Conditions by reason of several Enemies. Next comes to be considered the third General Branch, viz. The Churches deliverance in her enemies destruction.

V. Vision.

3. The Deliverance of the Church at last out of all her Distresses and Persecutions, by Gods righteous judgments manifested in the dreadful and utter destruction of all her enimies, comes now in the third place in order to be considered. The Destruction of the Church's enemies, especially of the Beast, is represented in a Vision of Seven Vials full of the wrath of God, the seven last plagues, poured out upon the earth by Seven Angels. Here consider, 1. The Preparatories premised before the pouring out of the seven Vials. 2. The Actual pouring out of the seven Vials themselves.

[I.] PREPARATORIES Premiſed before the pouring out of the Seven Vials, are laid down, 1. More Generally. 2. More Particularly.

1. More Generally, in two diſtinct Viſions, viz. I. In the Viſion of ſeven Angels in Heaven having the ſeven laſt Plagues; And I ſaw another Signe in Heaven, Great and marvellous, Seven Angels having the ſeven laſt Plagues, for in them is filled up the Wrath of God. Ch. XV. ver. 1. II. In the Viſion of a Sea of Glaſs mingled with fire, and of them that had got the victory over the Beaſt, his image, his mark, and over the Number of his Name, ſtanding on this Sea of Glaſs, having Harps, and ſinging. Wherby the ſtate of the Church (thinks [q] Mede) during the heat of the effuſion of the Vials, is repreſented: viz. That ſhe being waſhed from idolatrous pollution and defilements, in that ſacred Sea of the Temple, (not of braſs, as Solomon's, but) of Glaſs or Cryſtal; and ſcarce being come out of the Sea wherein ſhe was waſhed, but as it were ſtanding on the brim, triumphantly ſings her victorial Song over the conquered Antichriſtian Beaſt, and this all the time that the Vials are pouring out to his deſtruction. More Particularly in this Viſion John ſaw three things, viz. 1 A Sea of Glaſs mingled with fire; And I ſaw as it were a Sea of Glaſs mingled with fire. This ſeems to be the [r] Sea of Glaſs before the Throne, wherein the Saints were waſhed, as Prieſts in the Brazen Sea, viz. the pure and purifying Word, and Goſpel-Miniſtry, clear as Cryſtal in compariſon of that of the Law, whereby the Church is inſtrumentally ſanctified and cleanſed; But mingled with fire; either becauſe accompanied with the [s] fire of Gods ſanctifying Spirit, working like fire: or, becauſe the Word purely profeſſed, occaſions the [u] fire of Perſecution. [x] Pareus interprets this Sea, of the World, brittle as glaſs, pellucid as Cryſtal to Gods eye, mingled with fire of Tribulation to the godly, and that the Church here ſtands on this Sea, rejoycing at Babylons deſtruction, as Iſrael of old by the Red Sea, beholding and Triumphing at the Egyptians drowning. And that here is ſome alluſion to that, ſeems confirmed by that which followes, the ſinging of the Song of Moſes, viz. Moſes Song at the Red Sea. 2. The Company ſtanding on this Sea, which ſeems to be the ſame Company of the [y] 144000. that ſtood with the Lamb on Mount Sion, viz. the true Church. Theſe are deſcribed here, (1) As Conquerours over all Antichriſtian idolatries; And them that had gotten the victory over the Beaſt, and over his Image, and over his Mark, and over the Number of his Name, ſtand on the Sea of Glaſs. (2) As more then Conquerours, even Triumphers. Their Triumphs are expreſſed, Partly, by the Muſical inſtruments which they had; Having the Harps of God, i.e. Moſt excellent ſweet melodious Harps, ver 2. [z] Partly, by their victorial Song of praiſe which they ſung. This Song is deſcribed, 1 By the Nature or Kinde of it, Gratulatory to the Lamb, like that of Moſes to the Lord; And they ſang the [a] Song of Moſes the Servant of God, and the Song of the Lamb. 2 By the Matter of it, magnifying God and the Lamb, for greatneſs and admirableneſs of his Works, Juſtice and Truth of his Ways, Peculiar Holineſs, and manifeſtation of his judgments upon Antichriſt, thereby enforcing all Nations to feare, adore, and glorifie him; Saying, Great and marvellous are thy Works, Lord God Almighty: Juſt and true are thy Wayes, thou King of Saints; who ſhall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name? For thou only art holy: for all Nations ſhall come and worſhip before thee, for thy Judgments are made manifeſt, ver. 3, 4. 3 The opening of the Temple of the Tabernacle in Heaven, after the Vials were poured out, and this Song thereupon compleated. For then the Ark of the Teſtimony, viz. Jeſus Chriſt, ſhall be clearly ſeen, by the Church, with the Beatifical Viſion, as it was formerly ſaid, it ſhall be in the a ſounding of the Seventh Trumpet, Parallel and contemporany to the Seventh Vial; And after that I looked, and behold the Temple of the Tabernacle of the Teſtimony in Heaven was opened, ver. 5. This verſe, thinks [b] Mede, belongs not to the beginning, but to the event of the Vials. The Temple, while the ſeven Vials were pouring out, being filled with ſmoak from the Glory of God, and from his Power, that none could enter into the Temple: but ſo clearing up, the Vials being finiſhed, that even the Ark of the Teſtimony, Chriſt himſelf ſhould be conſpicuous.

2. More Particularly, the ſpecial Preparation of the ſeven Angels for the Pouring forth of their particular Vials, is deſcribed. Wherein note, I. Whence the Angels came, that had theſe ſeven Plagues, viz. out of the Temple; And the ſeven Angels came out of the Temple, having the ſeven laſt Plagues. Whether their Coming out of the Temple, intimate all Gods judgements againſt Antichriſt, to be holy and righteous, or irrevocable according to his Word, or from Chriſt there our Great High-Prieſt, or from God dwelling in his Church & avenging her of her enemies. Conſider, II. How they were arrayed and attired, for their ſervice; Clothed in pure and white linnen, and having their breaſts girded with golden Girdles, viz. with holy [c] Prieſt-like garments, cloſe girt to them, that they might be more ready for that ſacred imployment of the executing Gods judgments, v. 6. III. From whom they received their Vials, viz. from one of the four Beaſts, or four living creatures. Theſe repreſented the Evangelical Miniſters, according to whoſe Word, the Angels go forth to execute judgement; And one of the four Beaſts gave unto the ſeven Angels, ſeven golden Vials ful of the wrath of God, who liveth for ever and ever. Where poſſibly may be intimated, 1. The preciouſneſs of Gods judgments, by golden Vials, as [d] Arethas obſerves. 2. The plenty of wrath, by the fulneſſe of the Vials. 3. The terribleneſſe, power and prevalency of theſe judgments, by the deſcription of God. ver. 7. IV. The Concomitants of theſe ſeven Plagues; And the Temple was filled with ſmoak from the Glory of God, and from his Power; and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the ſeven Plagues of the ſeven Angels were fulfilled, ver. 8. An evident alluſion to the manner of the Lords entring into the [e] Tabernacle and [f] Temple at their Dedication. Here then two things are declared to accompany theſe Angels execution of their Plagues, viz. 1. The Temple's being filled with smoak all the while, from Gods glory and power, which seems to denote Gods Actual manifestation of his glorious and mighty wrath from his Temple against Antichrist: Scripture expressing Gods exceeding wrath sometimes by g Smoak. 2. The inability of any to enter into the Temple mean-while. That is, thinks h Pareus, none of Antichrists followers could by these Vials be brought to repent, or acknowledge the righteousnesse of Gods judgments, *Rev.*16.9,11,21. (II.) THE Actual POURING OUT OF THE VII. VIALS in order. For the better understanding whereof, deliberately cast an eye to these few l General premised considerations propounded in the margin.

l These General Considerations premised, may facilitate the understanding of these VII. Vials, which are very mysterious, viz.

I. Gods dreadful judgments, and the actual inflicting of them, are metaphorically represented under Vials, and the pouring forth of these Vials. Vials were certain drinking Vessels, wherein they used to drink Wine, (called Phiala, as it were Piala from πίνω to drink, as Brightman, and after him Pareus hath noted out of Athenæus L.2. Dipnosophist.) one of them containing as much as an ordinary man may drink though out of it at once. Gods wrath was formerly called The Wine of the wrath of God poured out without mixture, Rev. 14. 10. Of this wrath these vials are full, Rev. 15. 1, 7. The pouring out of these Vials, seems to allude to Gods Pouring out waters of old, when he drowned the World: or to his pouring or raining down of fire and brimstone from heaven, when he destroyed Sodome or Gomorrha. So that in these Vials, and the pouring of them out, we are to understand nothing but meer Divine wrath, and the inflicting of that wrath. No mercy runs out of the Vials.

II. The several and more remarkable degrees and kinds of Gods wrath, are signified by seven Vials poured out, one immediately after another, and when the last shall be poured out, the Wrath and Plagues shall be fulfilled. *Rev.*15 1,8.

III. The gradual judgements of God, are the seven last Plagues, Rev.15.1. Last, not onely because they shall be inflicted in these last times, but because they shall be the last plagues upon the Churches Persecutors in this world which shall utterly destroy them, whereupon Gods wrath shall be fulfilled and satisfied.

IV. The instruments imployed by God, for pouring out of these Seven Vials, and executing these seven Plagues are Seven Angels, for every Vial one Angel. Which seems not to be understood Exclusively, as if all other instruments were excluded from acting in these executions; for its evident the Kings of the East shall act their share, *Rev.*16.12. The ten horns, or at least some of these ten horns, shall act also their share, Rev. 17. 16, 17. But rather Emphatically, as intimating the Angel's peculiar superintendency, as it were, in these affairs: God being wont to employ his Angels, as Ministers of his Providence, in the motions, mutations, terms, and changes of humane affairs, for provoking, assisting, and governing of inferiour Agents therein.

V. All these Vials tend to the gradual ruine and destruction of the Roman Beast. 1. To the ruine and destruction of the Beast. For, the victorial Song upon occasion of these Vials, and their pouring out, was sung by them only that had gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, Rev.15 2. Besides, several of the Vials explicitely declare as much; The first plague being upon them which had the Mark of the Beast, and worshipped his image, Rev.16.2. The third upon them that had shed the blood of Saints and Prophets. Rev.16.4,5. Now the woman was drunk with the blood of the Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of Jesus, Rev.17.6. The fifth, upon the Seate of the Beast, Rev.16.10. The sixth, provoking unclean spirits, like Frogs, to come out of the mouth of the Dragon, and out of the mouth of the Beast, and out of the mouth of the false Prophet, Rev.16.13. The seventh utterly ruining great Babylon, &c. Rev. 16. 19. So that as the Seven Trumpets were sounded to the ruine of the Roman Empire: So the Seven Vials are poured out to the ruine of the Beast. 2. To the gradual ruine of the Beast. For, every Vial is as a degree to the Beasts destruction. The Beast rose by degrees, and he shall fall and be ruined by degrees. So that in all these Vials, no good, but only evil is portended to the Beast: nor may be otherwise interpreted.

VI. Whatsoever consequently it be whereon any of these Vials is poured out: that, some way or other, belongs to the Beast; and therein the Beast is in some sort interessed and concerned. Now as the Body of the Roman Empire, under the Seven Seals and Seven Trumpets, was tacitly resembled to the Systeme or Frame of the whole Universe, and the parts thereof to the parts of the Universe; So here the whole Antichristian Body of the Beast, or Antichristian world, is secretly and implicitely compared also to the Systeme of the world, wherein are Heaven, Sun, and other Luminaries, Aire, Sea, Fountains, Rivers and Earth. So that the Sunne, Aire, Sea, Fountains, Rivers, Earth, &c. in the Antichristian world, denote some things proportionable or like to the natural world: Earth, signifying something that resembles the Natural earth: Sea, noting something that resembles the Natural sea, &c. Hence, when any Plagues fall upon any of these, they are to be accommodated to the Beast accordingly in such Analogy and Proportion.

VII. The Punctual times and Periods of these several Vials, seem very hardly determinable. But touching the Beginning and End of them joyntly, Thus consider, 1. The End or Determination of the seventh and last Vial, shall be in the utter destruction of great Babylon, Rev.16. 17, 18, 19. &c. The marriage of the Lamb, and the Reign of the Lord God Omnipotent, shall immediately follow the destruction of Babylon, Rev. 19. 2, 3. with verse 6, 7, 8. Now this Reigne and Kingdome of the Lord is brought in in the Seventh Trumpet, wherein the mystery of God is finished, Rev. 11. 15. and 10. 7. Consequently the Seventh Vial seems to determine at, or a little after the beginning of the seventh Trumpet. 2. The Beginning or Inchoation of the first Vial, Vial, which begins the ruine of that Beast, seems to be at the Beginning of the Beasts Declination and Fall, from his Dominion and Tyranny over the Saints. The Beasts Reigne and Tyranny over the Saints fourty two moneths. Rev. 12. 5. so began to be shaken under the sixth Trumpet, that it determines at the end of the sixth Trumpet, in asmuch as the Beasts fourty two months Reign, Rev. 13. 5. are contemporany to the time of the witnesses, viz. 1260. dayes, Rev. 11. 2. At the Period of whose 1260. dayes the great City fell, and the sixth Trumpet, being the second Wo-Trumpet determined, Rev. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15. Now the Beast cannot come to such fatal ruine, till at least the fifth Vial was poured out, whereby his seat was shaken, and his Kingdome was full of darkness. Rev. 16 10. Therefore at least five if not six Vials, must be poured out before the end of the sixth Trumpet: Now the Beasts Kingdome so beginning to be weakened and shaken with the sixth Trumpet, its very likely the first Vial began with the beginning of that Trumpet. Sed Quære.

Now the actual pouring out of these Seven Vials in order to the utter destruction of the Beast, follows, viz.

I. The first Vials pouring out. Here note, I. Where, or whereon this Vial was poured; on the earth, viz. on the vulgar sort, the People, Antichrists footstool, and the Base of his Kingdome; And the first went and poured out his Vial upon the earth. II. What was the effect of this Vial; A grievous sore. Gr. Ulcer; And there fell a noysome and grievous sore upon the men which had the Mark of the Beast, and upon them which worshipped his image, ver. 2. This seems to be an allusion to the [m] sixth Plague of Egypt. An ulcer is an inward burning tormenting disease. It seems to intimate, as [n] Arethas and others interpret, the inward excruciating Ulcer of the heart, the fretting impatiency, envy, malice, fury, indignation and madness of the followers of the Beast, when this Plague was inflicted; Which was as [o] Mede thinks when the Waldenses, Albigenses, Wickliffe, Husse, and others their companions and followers renounced Rome as Babylon, and branded the Pope as Antichrist. O how the vassals and followers of the Beast then raged and vexed throughout all his Antichristian dominion! [p] Pareus thinks this Vial was poured forth in Luther's dayes, and especially touched Germany. [q] Brightman thinks, about the beginning of Queen Elizab. Reign, &c. and about the beginning of the reign of Charles the ninth in France.

2. The second Vial's pouring out Here note, I. Where, or upon what this Vial was poured out; And the second Angel poured out his Vial upon the Sea. The Sea is the Collection, or gathering together of waters into one heap. By Sea therefore seems to be intended (thinks [r] Mede) the whole extent and compass of the Papal Power or Jurisdiction, As taking in all persons, Nations and Countries comprehended within his Power. [s] Pareus understands Papal Councels, (especially (with Brightman,) the cursed Councel of Trent, into which the other Councels emptied themselves, as into the Sea: by whose mortal and bloody decrees, they that swimmed in this Sea were killed. II. What were the events of this Vial's pouring out, viz. These two, 1. The bloodiness of the sea; And it became as the blood of a dead man, viz. like cold clotted blood of those that are dead or slain. This seems to be an allusion to Egypts first Plague, [t] the Rivers being turned into blood, so that they could not drink, and the fish in the River died. 2. The death of all that were in the Sea; And every living soul died in the Sea v. 3. This, thinks [u] Mede, was fulfilled, when by the zeal and diligence of Luther, and other Reformers of the Church in those times, not onely some few single Persons, but whole Cities, Dioceses, Provinces, Kingdoms and Nations, renounced Rome, and all idolatrous Communion with her: so that the Beasts Dominion was miserably maimed, and the sea of that Jurisdiction was in great part dead, like the blood of a dead man, so that the Popish crew could no longer breath and live therein.

3. The third Vial's pouring out. Wherein consider, I. the Object upon which the Vial is poured; And the third Angel poured out his Vial upon the Rivers and Fountains of waters. This also seems to allude to [x] Egypts first Plague of turning their Rivers and Waters into blood, if not also to the tenth, [y] the death of their first-born, for the bloody slaying of Israels first-born. By these Rivers, [z] Mede understands the Ministers and Propugnators of the Antichristian Dominion, whether Ecclesiasticks, as Jesuites, Priests, and other Emissaries: or Laicks, as the Spanish Champions: These like Rivers and Fountains come from the Antichristian sea, having imployments committed to them for promoting the Romane Catholique cause, (as they absurdly stile it): and they return again like Rivers and Springs to the Papal sea, contributing their wealth and pains to uphold it. [a] Pareus interprets to like purpose. II. The events of this Vials pouring out are, Inward and Outward. 1. Inward event, upon the Rivers and Fountains themselves; And they became blood, ver. 4. viz. these Ministers and Champions of the Beast who had shed the blood of Gods Saints and Prophets have now their own blood shed. [b] Mede following Brightman, is of opinion this was fulfilled, when under Queen Elizabeths Reign in England, and afterwards, such Capital Laws were made against Popish Jesuites and Priests, as never were before. And when the blood-thirsty Spaniards, had their own blood given to drink so plentifully, and especially in 88. and some years following, both by sea and land. But [c] Pareus, though he interpreteth the Rivers and Fountains of the Papal Emissaries, whose blood shall be shed for the blood of Gods Saints, yet the time and manner of this judgement he thinks is Prophetical, not yet come, and therefore onely known to God. II. Outward event upon beholders hereby provoked to extol and magnifie the righteousness of Gods Judgements and Retaliations. These beholders are of two sorts. (1) The Angel of the waters, viz. the Angel that poured out his Vial upon the waters, as [d] Pareus thinks, Or the Islanders, Inhabiters in Island, avenging the blood of theirs formerly shed, as [e] Mede conceives; And

I heard the Angel of the waters say, thou art righteous O Lord, which art, and wast, and shalt be, because thou hast judged thus: For they have shed the blood of Saints and Prophets, and thou hast given them blood to drink, for they are worthy, ver. 5, 6. [2] Another Angel out of the Altar expresseth the like thankful acclamations; And I heard another out of the Altar, say even so Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgements, ver. 7. According to f Pareus, this is the same Angel that's formerly mentioned, g coming out from the Altar, having power over the fire. h Mede interprets it of the French, as then under the Cross and Altar, and as it were groaning under their late, and yet fresh butcheries of Anno Dom. 1572. even they also rejoyced at Gods righteous judgements. And he adds, Thus far the Vials seem to have proceeded, the rest remain yet to be poured forth.

4 The fourth Vial's pouring out. Touching which consider, I. The Object upon which it was poured; And the fourth Angel poured out his Vial upon the Sun. II. The Events ensuing upon this Vials pouring out, which are three: viz. 1. Extream burning or scorching heat; And power was given unto him to scorch men with fire, and men were scorched with great heat, ver. 8, 9. 2. Blasphemy of them that were thus scorched; And they blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power over these plagues. 3. Obstinate impenitency of the scorched ones; And they repented not to give him glory, ver. 9.

This Vial is conceived in whole or in part yet to remain unpoured out, and consequently all that follow. And therefore the interpretation of them is more intricate and difficult. i Some conceive, as Pareus notes, that Sun here is to be understood properly: and by pouring out of the Vial on the Sun, the extream intending and aggravating of his heat and influence, so as to cause drought, barrenness, famine, pestilence, and other consequential miseries. But this opinion Pareus upon divers grounds rejects. k Others by Sun, understand Antichrist who shall scorch men with cruel persecutions: But Antichrist is not likely to scorch his own slaves with persecution; as Pareus well objects against this opinion, and the effect of every Vial is to be on Antichrist or his Adherents, one way or other. l Brightman, by Sun, understands the Scriptures, whose light especially in the Prophetical parts the roof, and particularly those touching Antichrist, shall in these latter times be cleared and more fully understood, to the fuller detection of Antichrists corruptions and destruction, which shall fill Antichrist and his followers with burning and scorching heat of envy, malice, rage, &c. against the Scriptures. m Mede, by Sun, understands the most eminent luminary in the Papal Heaven, viz. The German Empire which hath been now for about 200 years the peculiar of the House of Austria, the rending of which Empire from the Pontifician Heaven, will scorch and enrage the Antichristian party even to blasphemy against God and his Divine dispensations.

5. The fifth Vials pouring out. Concerning which, observe I. The Object whereupon the Vial shall be poured; And the fifth Angel poured out his Vial upon the Seat of the Beast. II. The Events ensuing shall be either, 1. Upon the Kingdome of the Beast it self; And his Kingdome was full of darkness. An evident allusion to n Egypts ninth Plague, The judgement of three dayes darkness. 2. Upon the members of the Beasts Kingdome, his Vassals and worshippers, viz. Their [1] Extream vexation and indignation because of the judgement; And they gnawed their Tongues for pain, ver. 10. [2] Blasphemy against God the inflicter thereof; And blasphemed the God of Heaven, because of their pains and their sores. [3] Obstinate impenitency notwithstanding this heavy Plague; And repented not of their deeds, ver. 11.

n Exod. 10. 22, 23.

Among those which seem to come nearest to the sense and mystery of this Vial, it is doubted whether The Seat of the Beast to be interpreted of Rome in particular, or of the Beasts whole Kingdome in General. o Brightman understands it of the final and utter destruction of Rome. p Mede thinks here is intended the same ruine of the City Rome which was formerly prophecied to be in the q same hour with the Resurrection and Ascension of the two Witnesses: when the Papal name shall not be wholly extinct, but shall from thence be spoiled of its wonted splendour, so that they shall gnaw their Tongues for pain, and blaspheme, being obdurate in impenitency. And he thinks this Vial is expressed so plainly, without figures or allegories, because when this shall come to pass all might understand this prophecy more clearly and certainly, and how far these Vials are fulfilled. If it be taken to be meant of The whole Kingdome of the Beast; Then, as r Pareus notes, This darkness of his Kingdome seems to imply, not any New darkness introduced into his Kingdome, but rather a new and more clear manifestation of the extream darkness of his Kingdome, by the opposite light of the Gospel then spread and shining out more clearly through the World far and near. Then Antichrists abominations shall so be detected, that many shall desert him, and his glory shall be obscured.

6. The sixth Vials Pouring out. Touching which, consider, I. The Object upon which this Vial shall be poured out; And the sixth Angel poured out his Vial upon the great River Euphrates. II. The Events ensuing upon this Vials pouring out. These Events are Inward and Outward. 1. Inward, viz. The drying up of the River: which is amplified by the special end of its being dried up; And the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the Kings of the East might be prepared. ver. 12. 2. Outward, as to the River on which the Vial was poured, viz. Three unclean spirits coming abroad into the World; That is, Antichrists instruments to gather all possible aid for his support, fore-seeing himself in great danger by the drying up of Euphrates. These three impure Spirits are described pathetically, (1) By their similitude and resemblance. And I saw three unclean clean ſpirits like Frogs. Interpreters commonly underſtand theſe f Frogs, to intend Romiſh Jeſuites, Prieſts, and ſuch like Emiſſaries, likened to Frogs, not in reſpect of their Shape, but in reſpect of their Qualities or Properties: Delighting to live and crawle in the mudde of filthineſs, and unceſſantly croaking out their Romiſh notes, eſpecially in the eares of Kings and Princes. [2] By their Original whence they came; Come out of the mouth of the Dragon, and out of the mouth of the Beaſt, and out of the mouth of the falſe-Prophet, ver. 13. Here firſt, Antichriſt, the two-horn'd Beaſt is called the Falſe Prophet, as being moſt notably detected by the Fifth Vial. The Dragon, Beaſt and falſe-Prophet are the Prime Agents in this enſuing warre brought on under this Vial: The three Frogs, are but their inferiour inſtruments. [3] By their Diabolical diſpoſition; And they are the Spirits of Devils. [4] By their ſubtile Art of deceiving; Working Miracles. [5] By their Function and Service wherein they ſhall be imployed by the Dragon, Beaſt, and falſe-Prophet, for the upholding of their tottering and falling Kingdome (though God will turne all to their utter ruine); which go forth unto the Kings of the Earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the Battel of the great day of God Almighty, ver. 14. It's called the Great Day, &c. becauſe of the great ſlaughter and admirable deſtruction of the Beaſt and falſe-Prophet with their adherents, which God, contrary to their expectations, ſhall then effect: this ſeems to be more fully deſcribed after in Rev. 19. 19, 20, 21. This laſt is Amplified and corrected; 1 Partly, by an intimation of God Almighty's ſudden ſurprizal of theſe his enemies thus muſtering themſelves againſt him; Behold I come as a Thief. 2 Partly, by the pronunciation of their happy ſtate, that in thoſe dangerous dayes ſhall perſevere in their ſpiritual vigilancy and purity; Bleſſed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his Garments, leſt he walk naked, and they ſee his ſhame, ver. 15. 3 Partly, By the over-ruling Providence of God, or Chriſt, gathering theſe his enemies into a fatal place for their inevitable deſtruction, whilſt they are wickedly gathering themſelves againſt him; And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew Tongue, Armageddon, ver. 16. The Greek here, (συνήγαγεν) may either referr to the three Spirits, (πνεύματα συνήγαγεν, per Atticiſm.) they gathered them together. So it denotes their end and endeavours: Or it may relate to God. he gathered them, &c. ſo it intimates Gods over-ruling their intentions and endeavours herein.

f D. Parens, Forbes.

This Sixth Vial ſeems very intricate and myſterious. For clearing whereof, Conſider chiefly what may be intended, 1 By Euphrates, and the drying of it up: 2 By the Kings of the Eaſt, and the Preparing of their way: 3 By Armageddon, and the gathering together thither. 1. Euphrates was, as t Writers report, A great River whereon the old Babylon in Chaldea was built, and whereby (as well as by walls fifty Cubits thick, and 200. Cubits high) it was fortified: it running through the midſt of the City, about two mens length deep. The Kings coming from the Eaſt according to u Jeremies Prophecy (viz. Darius the Mede, and Cyrus the Perſian, Media and Perſia being Eaſtward to Babylon) to take and ſubdue Babylon, and deſpairing of ſcaling or battering the walls, conſulted how to divert the River. To that end Cyrus cauſed many and exceeding deep ſluces to be digged one night, when the Babylonians having kept a Feſtival were buried in ſleep and wine, and ſo he drained the River, turning it unto thoſe ſluces, marched his Army into the City, and took it, ſlaying Belſhazzer the King, according to x Daniel's Hiſtory, and y Jeremy's Prophecy. Now here in this Vial ſeems to be an Evident Alluſion to this Hiſtory. And Interpreters for moſt part agree, that by Euphrates here is meant ſome protection, defence or fortification of the Myſtical Babylon; which, till removed, is an impediment to her deſtruction: And that the deſtroying of this defence, the removal of this impediment, is the drying up of Euphrates. But in the particular Interpretation and accommodation hereof they ſomewhat diſagree. 2. Kings of the Eaſt are generally interpreted to be the Jews, who principally recide in the Eaſterne Countries: and the preparing of their way, to be the removing of that which is their impediment, As Euphrates was to the Eaſterne Kings, Darius and Cyrus in reſpect of old Babylon. Now, z Brightman conceives here by Euphrates is meant that River in Meſopotamia that hinders the Eaſterne people (among whom the Jewes chiefly dwell) from coming into the Holy land, and that after Rome's ruine this River ſhall miraculouſly be dried up, (as of old the Red-ſea, and Jordan was) that the Jewes may returne into their own Countrey to Jeruſalem, not to erect Jewiſh worſhip, but to embrace the Chriſtian Faith and Worſhip according to the Goſpel. But a Parens ſaith of this Interpretation, though this thing be deſirable, and probable, yet his Arguments are not very Cogent: but eſpecially diſlikes this Opinion, becauſe it brings no plague upon the Beaſt, whereas this and every Vial brings a plague upon him. b Mede thinks theſe Kings of the Eaſt to be the Jews that under this Vial ſhall be converted, and ſhall be come in ſome notable expedition againſt the Beaſt, tending to his utter ruine, and putting Antichriſt in ſuch extream fear, that he ſhall labour to ingage all the world againſt them. And that this Euphrates is the Ottoman Empire, and the Turkiſh power which had long time been bound and detained by Providence at Euphrates, and c looſed under the ſixth Trumpet to over-run the Roman Empire. This he thinks to have been the impediment to the Jewes, which ſhall be removed, whether by the Jewes (as Ezeck. perhaps intimates, Ch. 38. and 39.) or by diſcord among themſelves, or by both, or by any other means, he is doubtful: and then the Jewes ſhall come againſt the Beaſt. d Pareus, with many others named by him, Thinks this Euphrates to be meant of the Myſtical Babylon's chief ſupport by her vaſt Revenues and ſupplyes from almoſt all parts of the world, which ſhall be cut off, and ſo an eaſie way made for faithful Kings and Teachers to deſtroy her. e Forbes thinks the making way for the Kings of the Eaſt, the Jewes, is not that they may deſtroy the Whore; for the ten Hornes the Weſterne Kings muſt do that: but that they may embrace the Chriſtian Faith, againſt which, which, they and the Easterne Countries have been hardened by Antichristian Idolatries, which when they shall be dryed up by the Sun of righteousnesse, the Jewes shall be prepared to receive the Gospel. 3. Armageddon. This the place of the Battel, or the Field, so called in Hebrew. This word (to omit others curiosities) seems to be derived from two Hebrew words, as divers conceive, viz. הר Har, A Mountaine: and מגדו Mageddon, of Mageddon. A plot of Ground in the lot of Manasse, famous (saith Forbes) for two notable Events; The one of great joy, viz. The Israelites victory over Jabin and Sisera at the waters of Megiddo: The other of great sorrow, viz. the slaying of that excellent King Josiah in the Valley of Megiddo. To both these here seems to be an Allusion; But with this difference; One of those was by the waters, the other in the Valley of Megiddo: but this in the Mountain of Megiddo, denoting some exceeding Highdesign of Antichrist and his Confederates against the Church at that Battel. But the Jewes shall subdue them as Israel did Sisera and Jabin of old, and shall both Rejoyce and Mourn: Rejoyce in their conversion to Christ and Antichrists ruine, but Mourn for Christ whom they have pierced, and against whom they have so long hardned their hearts in impenitency and unbelief. To this effect he. But these things will be better understood, when they shall come to be fulfilled.

7. The Seventh Vial's Pouring out. The Plague, or Judgment intended in this Seventh Vial, is not so Particular as the former, but more General, as h Interpreters are of Opinion In the Sixth Vial, the drying up of the Great River Euphrates put both the Dragon and the Beast, and the False-Prophet into such a terrour and trembling apprehension of their approaching Ruine, that they all with joynt consent employ and send forth their wicked instruments, their three unclean Spirits like Frogs, those Spirits of Devils, to engage unto their party, the Kings of the Earth and the whole world to succour them now or never: And for this purpose they are all gathered together to fight against God and the Lamb in Armageddon. Now all these Enemies being thus gathered together as into the Place of Fight, God surprizeth them together, and deals with them all at once in this Vial; not so much by humane hand, as by his own more immediate Thundring wrath from heaven, casting down Hail-stones and Thunder-bolts of vengeance upon them, to the total and utter ruine not only of the Beast and False-Prophet, with all the Kings, Cities and Persons that in any place commit fornication with the Whore in Antichristian idolatries, &c. or assist them in their cruel Tyrannies against the Church: but also to the utter destruction of the Dragon himself. So that none of the Enemies of the Church shall ever lift up their heads more. Now this Vial is 1. More Summarily and compendiously Propounded. 2. More Plenarily and Copiously Expounded.

h To this effect Mede, Pareus, Brightman, Piscator, Forbes, &c. expound this Vial.

More Summarily and Compendiously this Seventh Vial is Propounded. Here consider 1. The Object upon which this Vial shall be poured out; And the Seventh Angel poured out his Vial into the Aire. That is, upon the Power of the Aire, or of Satan; called i The Prince of the Power of the Aire, whose Kingdom not only comprehends the Dominions of the Beast, but of all Christs enemies whatsoever. II. The woful Events ensuing hereupon, to the utter ruine of the Devils whole Kingdome, viz. 1. A great voice from Heaven, declaring the final Accomplishment of all things foretold by the Prophets touching the Churches Enemies; And there came a great voice out of the Temple of Heaven, and from the Throne, saying, IT IS DONE, ver. 17. Here the end of the world seems not to be intended; but only the utter ruine of all the enemies of the Lamb, and of his Spouse. For, the Churches Happy state, and that here in this world, is to follow this destruction of her enemies, and to continue a considerable time; as after will appear. 2. A most terrible execution of vengeance upon all sorts of Gods enemies, and that chiefly by an extraordinary hand even of God himself. Herein more Particularly are declared, [1] The Instruments of vengeance, viz. Heaven and Earth, as it were, and all in them shall be moved, and assist herein; And there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings: and there was a great Earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an Earthquake and so great, ver. 18. [2] The Objects of this vengeance are Places and Persons. Partly, Places; And the great City was divided into three Parts, and the Cities of the Nations fell: and Great BABYLON came in remembrance before God, to give unto her the Cup of the Wine of the fierceness of his wrath. And every Island fled away, and the Mountains were not found, ver. 19, 20. Partly, Persons; And there fell upon men a great haile out of Heaven, every stone about the weight of a Talent. [3] The effect of this vengeance upon the wicked, not reforming but blaspheming God; And men blasphemed God because of the Plague of the Haile, for the Plague thereof was exceeding great, ver. 21.

i Eph. 2. 2.

Hitherto of this Seventh Vial, as more Summarily and Compendiously Propounded.

VI. Vision.

More Plenarily and Copiously this Seventh Viel is Expounded by one of the Vial-Angels unto John, in chap. 17, 18, 19, 20. And this part gives clear and certain light to many obscure, and otherwise inexplicable mysteries of the Revelation, that relate unto, or depend upon that of Antichrist, especially to that of Babylon the Whore, The Antichristian Beast, and false Prophet, whose characters are herein most lively disclosed, and their destructions most pathetically described. So that this part of the II. Prophecy may deservedly be stiled the Divine Key of the Revelation, whereby many mysteries of this book may be unlocked: and the Cop-tower or Turret of the Revelation, whence the secrets of this book may be peculiarly and certainly discovered on every side. I know that some in ordering the method of these Explanatory Visions following, make them distinct from from the Seventh Vial: and rather account them expositions of the fifth and sixth Vial. Yet forasmuch as the Seventh Vial is generally conceived to bring in universal and utter destruction of great Babylon, the Beast, False Prophet, Dragon, and of all the Lambs enemies; and these four Chapters next ensuing, are chiefly spent in the fuller opening of Gods destructive Judgements upon them all, as after will be evident; I do not as yet see any inconvenience in referring these Chapters following to the Seventh Vial, as a more full explanation thereof. However the disposing of the Method will not alter the matter. And without prejudice to any mans judgement, I may pursue that Method, which to me seems most clear and genuine. Now therefore in this more plenary Exposition of the Seventh Vial, is foretold the final ruine and judgement, 1. Of the great Whore of Babylon. 2. Of the Beast and false Prophet, with their Armies and adherents, warring against the Lambe and his Army. 3. Of the Dragon, that old Serpent the Devil and Satan.

I. THE JUDGEMENT OF THE GREAT WHORE OF BABYLON, is foretold and explained. Concerning which note, 1 The Preparatory to the Exposition. 2 The Exposition it selfe. 3 The event of the Exposition.

I. The Preparatory to the Exposition of the whores judgement, tends to fit John for the receiving and understanding of it. Herein are contained, 1. An intimation of the Angel, and his speech to John, which showed John this mystery. 2. A brief description of the Whore by her ample dominion and spiritual whoredomes, whose judgement was now to be shown; And there came one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither, I will shew unto thee the judgement of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters; with whom the Kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabiters of the Earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication, Ch. XVII. ver. 1, 2. 3. A particular specification of the place where this mystery was showed to John, being mean-while in the Spirit; So he carried me away by the Spirit into the wilderness, ver. 3.

II. The Exposition it self of the great whores judgement, contains in it, 1. A punctual Representation of the Whore to be judged. 2. A Pathetical description of the Whore's judgement it self. 3. The victorial Triumphs and Gratulations of them in heaven, upon the judgement of the Whore.

1. A punctual Representation of the great whore that is to be judged This Whore is represented, 1. In an obscure Typical Vision. 2. In a more clear Interpretation of this Vision.

(1) In the Typical Vision of this Whore, are represented, I. The monstrous beast whereon she sits, which Beast is described by his 1. Colour, Regal, yet cruel and bloody. 2. Blasphemies, viz. Antichristian idolatries, most approbrious and reproachful to God, &c. as was [k] formerly evidenced. 3. Seven heads. 4. Ten horns: which two last are hereafter interpreted; And I saw a woman sit upon a Scarlet-coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven Heads and ten Hornes, ver. 3. So that this is the very Beast I formerly described in Chap. 13. II. Her luxurious, meretricious Array and Ornaments; And the woman was arrayed in purple and Scarlet colour, (like the Beast she sate upon,) and decked with Gold, and Precious Stones and Pearls. By her whoredomes she had obtained all these costly deckings; and for winning the greater credit and custome to her whoredomes she was thus gaudily and glitteringly attyred. Popery is a sumptuous gaudy glittering Religion. III. Her intoxicating Cup, whereby she amorously allures and inchants her Lovers to spiritual lewdnesse with her; Having a Golden Cup in her hand, full of abominations and filthinesse of her fornication, ver. 4. An [m] alluſion to the custome of whores, who in golden Cups are wont to give amorous draughts to their Lovers, to provoke and inflame their love and lust. Now what religion in the world hath outwardly more specious, curious [a] golden pretences: but inwardly more abominable cursed Heresies, blasphemies, superstitious idolatries? shining Gold without, deadly poison within. IV. Her Whore's name. Touching which note, 1. Where it was written, viz. On her forehead, intimating she was an eminent notorious Whore indeed; And upon her forehead was a name written. An alluſion to the ancient custome of Stews and Brothel-houses, that on or over the doors of their Cels or Chambers, were wont to write the names of the whores, as [o] Tertullian, [p] Seneca and others intimate. But if the whore was famous indeed, her name and praise was written not only on her Cell, but on her forehead. 2. Her name it self describing in great part her natures; MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS (or, FORNICATIONS) ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH, ver. 5. This name showes, (1) That this Whore is Babylon: not proper, but Mystical Babylon. (2) That this Mystical Babylon is the Mother and most notorious Author of all the abominable idolatries, those spiritual whoredoms in the whole world. This can intend no other but Rome. V. Her extream cruelty and bloody tyranny against the Saints, emphatically expressed by her being drunk therewith, she had swallowed so much; And I saw the woman [q] drunken with the blood of the Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of Jesus. This whole Vision is amplified by the events thereupon ensuing, which gave occasion to the interpretation of this Vision following, viz. 1. Johns extream admiration at the strangeness of the Vision of the Whore; And when I saw her, I wondred with great admiration, ver. 6. 2. The Angels proffer and promise to tell John the mystery or mysterious meaning both of the woman, and of the Beast that carryeth her; And the Angel said unto me, wherefore didst thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carryeth her which had the seven Heads and ten Horns, ver. 7.

q This Metaphor from drunkennesse, denotes the height and extremity of her bloodinesse. Witnesse Antichrists butcheries of the Saints under the names of Waldenses, Albigenses, Leonists, Wickleviſts, Huſſites, Lutherans, Hugonites, &c. condemn and destroy by Antichrist, as heretiques, because they would not drink of Rome's whorish Cups. All Ecclesiastical Histories and Martyrologies, since Antichrists Rise and Reign, fully declare this whore's bloodinesse, especially in her Spanish inquisition. See Foxes Acts and Monuments. [2] In the more cleare Interpretation of this Vision, The Angel explains, 1 The mystery of the beast Carrying the Whore. 2 The Mystery of the Whore her self. I. The Mystery of the Beast, is interpreted; In the Whole; And in the parts of the beast. 1. The Beast, In whole, is interpreted; (1) Partly according to his mani-forme state, or fourefold forme and condition of this one and the same Beast; The Beast that thou sawest, 1 Was, And 2 Is not, And 3 Shall ascend out of the bottomless pit. And 4 Go into Perdition. This very interpretation it self, seems to be a Riddle and a Paradox, that needs a further interpretation. To omit varieties of mens opinions, sundry whereof rather obscure then clear this present description: This seems plainly to be the sense. As the Whore is after interpreted to be the r great City which reigneth over the Kings of the Earth, viz. ROME, for what other City did in Johns time so reign? So the Beast that carries this whore, what can it be but the Roman-Empire? which though for substance it was one, One Beast, yet for States conditions and manner of Governments was multifarious or maniform, as here described, viz. This Beast the Roman-Empire, was; that is, before John's time when this Revelation was given, it was, but in another forme and state then in Johns time. i. e. s governed by Kings, Consuls, Dictators, Decemvir's and Tribunes. All which were past in Johns time. And is not; That is, This Beast the Roman-Empire is not in Johns time, under those or any of those five manners of Governments; but under a Sixth, viz. of Cæsars, and those both Heathenish and Christian. This the Sixth head of this Beast that ruled in Johns days, viz. the Heathenish Cæsars; they became not Christians till Constantine. Yet the whore sits not upon this Beast, as under any of these formes or states of Government: But on the Beast under another forme, which should rise up after them Six, as then not in being. And is not; viz. the Beast under the Pontifician, or Papal Government. And shall ascend out of the bottomless Pit, and go into Perdition; That is, saith t Mede, That forme of the Beast, in which she shall carry the whore, shall be the last forme of the Beast, beyond which he should not prolong his life Now what form of this Beast shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, (or as the Gr. signifies, out of the Abysse)? This word Abysse may be taken, either for the Abysse of the sea, or for the Abysse of Hell: now take it in whether sense you will, it agrees to that forme of Beast that carries the whore. For that Beast ariseth out of the Abysse of the u sea, having seven heads and ten horns, also out of the Abysse of hell, for the x Dragon Satan, gives him his Power, and Seat, and great Authority. The Cæsars Heathen and Christian were the Beasts sixth Head or forme: The Beast at last under the Christian Cæsars, received by the barbarous nations a deadly wound, the Empire beginning to be divided about Anno Dom. 456. &c. into ten parts or Kingdoms, viz. of 1. Britons, 2. Saxons, 3. Franks, 4. Burgundions, 5. Wisigoths, 6. Suevues and Alanes, 7. Vandals, 8. Alemannes, 9. Ostrogoths, 10. Gracians. As z Mede hath observed out of a Sigonius. This distracted state and forme of the Beast under these ten Kingdomes, at least, though really and in substance the same with that under the Cæsars, yet seems to be another distinct power, and as it were the b Seventh King, which was to continue but a short space, but is indeed the same with the Sixth, viz. the Cæsars. The Roman-Empire thus torne into ten, at last (by the subtility of the Dragon, and the False Prophet, the two born'd Beast Antichrist,) is re-collected, and all these ten united as in one Empire under the Pope as Head and Monarch thereof, and so c his deadly wound was healed; and this is the Pontifician or Papal head, (the onely forme of the Beasts State and Government, which bears the whore.) This Pontifician Head, or forme of the Empires Government, (in respect of that changed and miserably dilacerated Cæsar-ship, which was as the Seventh,) seems to be as it were the d Eighth head or King, but really and indeed is but the Seventh and last head of the Roman Beast: and this Papal head goeth into Perdition, and in him the Romane Empire shall be utterly abolished. (2) Partly according to the worlds wonderment after this Beast, (whereby its evident that this is the self-same Seven headed and Ten-horn'd Beast, which was formerly described in the e thirteenth chapter? And they that dwell on the Earth shall wonder, (whose names were not written in the Book of life from the foundation of the World.) when they behold the Beast that was, and is not, and f yet is: or rather as the complutense Copy reads it, and yet is at hand; for so it notably agrees with the former description in the beginning of this verse; The Beast ——was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit. Or it may be thus explained, retaining the ordinary reading, The Beast that was, (i. e. The Romane mine Empire that was under Five former sorts of Governours.) And is not, (i.e. is not as yet under the seventh or last forme, or sort of Government, viz. the Pontifician or Papal.) And yet is (i.e. under the sixth forme or Cæsars, at present in Johns time.) ver. 8. Thus the Beast in whole is interpreted. 2. The Beast is interpreted In his parts, viz. His seven Heads, and His ten Horns, what they are: an emphatical intimation of the singular wisdom required to the true discerning of these mysteries, being first premised; And here is the mind that hath wisdom. (1) The seven heads of the Beast are interpreted to be seven Mountains and seven Kings, that by this double accommodation the interpretation might be more sure. Partly to seven Mountains; The seven heads are seven Mountains, on which the woman sitteth, ver. 9. That is, these seven Heads are seven Hills upon which Rome is builded, viz. the Capitoline, Palatine, Celian, Aventine, Æsquiline, Viminal and Quirinal Mount. For the honour of which seven Mountains, saith Pareus, an Annual Festival was observed on the third of the Ides of December, either in memory of Romulus builder of the Seven-mountain-City, or of Servius Tullius, who to Romulus 4 Mountains added three more, seven in all. Partly to be 7 Kings, that is, 7 Orders, Kinds, or Forms of Governors or Governments of this Romane Kingdom or Empire, whereof Rome was the Imperial Seat; And there are seven Kings, (viz. seven orders or sorts of Rulers, 1 Kings, 2 Consuls, 3 Tribunes, 4 Decemvirs, 5 Dictators, 6 Cæsars, 7 Pontificians or Popes.) five are fallen, That is, in Johns dayes the first five, viz. Kings, Consuls, Tribunes, Decemvirs and Dictators;) And one is (That is Cæsars, then in being, in John's time,) And the other is not yet come, (that is, the dilacerated state of the Cæsar-ship or Cæsarean Empire into ten Kingdomes at the least by the Barbarians, as was before intimated: This was as it were a seventh head, but was indeed but of the sixt, being the same in substance with the Cæsars, but was not come in Johns time, and was but to continue a short space, till the Dragon and False Prophet, had re-united and so healed this wounded and dilacerated state of the Empire: therefore it is added,) and when he cometh, he must continue a short space, ver. 10. And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition, ver. 11. That is, the Romane Empire, that was under five Heads or Formes of Government before John's time, and under the sixth Head of Cæsars in John's time, (which Cæsars were changed as it were into another and seventh Forme, in its dilacerated state of the Ten Kingdomes.) yet is not, that is, in Johns time is not yet brought under the last Head or Forme, viz. the Papal which is the eighth (that is in respect of the change of the Cæsar-ship into ten Kingdoms, which seemed to be as a seventh, but was indeed only part of the sixth Head) and this Papal Head is of the seven; that is, he is indeed the last and seventh Head or Forme of this Beast, (in the course of which seventh Head he carrieth the Whore,) and in this state of Forme the Beast shall utterly be destroyed. Thus of the seven Heads and their Interpretations. (2) The Ten Horns of the Beast are interpeted to the Ten Kings, or ten Kingdomes. viz. Those ten fore-mentioned Kingdomes, into which the Empire of the Cæsars was divided by that deadly wound of the Barbarian-Nations, which Ten Kings, or Kingdomes were not yet sprung up in John's time, but into which afterwards the Body of the Romane Beast in the Course of his last head should be dilacerated, by the deadly wound of the Cæsarean Head: and which ten Kings should unanimously give all their power to the Beast, for his restitution and reparation, under the Government of his seventh and last Head, (for unto this seventh Head only, and not to any of the six fore-going, these ten Horns belong.) Now these ten Horns are interpreted and described: 1 Partly by their Constitution, as hath been now explained; And the ten Horns which thou saweſt, are ten Kings, which have received no Kingdome as yet: but receive power as Kings one houre with the Beast. These have one minde, and shall give their power and strength unto the Beast, ver. 12, 13. 2 Partly by their Hostile persecution against the Lambe in his Members; These shall make war with the Lambe, viz. by making Warre with the Saints, and overcoming them 42 moneths, as was k before declared. 3 Partly, by their overthrow by the Lamb Christ and his Saints at last, which overthrow is confirmed, both by the Lamb's Regal power, and by the Saints three victorial properties; And the Lamb shall overcome them: For, he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings; And they that are with him, are Called, and Chosen, and Faithful, ver. 14. Hitherto of the interpretation of the mystery of the Beast carrying the Whore. II. The Mystery of the whore her self carried by this Beast, is interpreted. Herein note, Her Ample Dominion, Her utter Destruction, and Her notable Designation. 1. Her Ample Dominion over people of many Nations and Languages, signified by the Waters where the Whore sitteth; And he saith unto me, The waters which thou saweſt, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and Nations and tongues, v. 15. 2. Her utter Destruction and judgement (which the Angel promised to tell John) is described, (1) By the Instrumental means of her destruction, viz. The ten Hornes upon the Beast (2) By the degrees of her Destruction from these ten horns; And the ten horns which thou saweſt upon the Beast, these shall hate the Whore, and shall make her desolate, and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire, ver 16. These degrees of their destroying her, shall be their 1 Hatred of the Whore with whom they committed Fornication; 2 Deserting of her, betaking themselves to Christs pure worship; 3 Denuding her, or making her naked, both by Words laying open her filthy and abominable whoredoms, idolatries, &c. and also by Deeds withdrawing their respective Revenues from her which were wont to be given her; 4 Eating of her flesh, not only by retaining to their own use her rich incomes, but also by opposing and persecuting her, which in Scripture language is as l Eating of ones flesh 5 Burning of her with fire. When? The punctual time cannot particularly be determined, but it hastens apace, and cannot be far off, if the Fourth Vial be now running, and the fifth as hath been been showed shall be poured m upon the Throne and Seat of the Beast. Let the Saints strive mightily with God, and pray the Whore into flames, for her ruine approacheth: and some of those Kingdomes helped to raise up the Whore, shall be as ready to pull her down in Christs due time. [3] By the Principal Cause of her destruction, Gods Providential dispensation according to his word, who can as easily make these ten Hornes unanimous to her Ruine as they were to her Rise and Reign; For God hath put in their hearts to fulfil his will, and to agree and give their Kingdome unto the Beast, until the words of God shall be fulfilled, ver.17. 3. Her notable Designation. The Holy Ghost so clearly indigitates, and as it were names her, that he that runs may read, and not mistake, that this Whore is ROME, the known Metropolis and Royal Seat of the Roman Empire, and n Papists themselves confesse it; And the woman which thou sawest in that GREAT CITY, which reigneth over the Kings of the Earth, ver.18.

n Scriptores qui aliter interpretati fuerant, veritate ipsa coguntur nobis facere ROMAM esse hanc urbem fornicariam, vastandam & evertendam. Ribera in cap.17.§.20,22.

Babylon urbs illa magna, sedens super 7 montes, & habens imperium super reges terræ, est ROMA. Necque enim alia Civitas est, quæ Johannis tempore imperium habuerit super reges terræ, quam ROMA; & notissimum est supra septem montes ROMAM ædificatam esse. Bellarmin. lib.2. de Pont.Rom.cap.2.

Thus of the punctual Representation of the Great Whore and of the Beast that carryeth her, and this both by Vision and by Interpretation of that Vision. Next consider the Pathetical description of the Whores judgment at large, which was but afore briefly touched.

2. A Pathetical Description of the whore's judgment it self. Now, the Woman or Whore being interpreted to be that great City, &c. in the close of the former chapt. her judgment is here set forth, not under the notion of a Whore as she hath been described, but of that great City Babylon, though afterwards in Rev. 19. 2. The heavenly ones praise God for judging the great Whore. This judgment of Babylon is published by three voices from heaven of three Angels, viz. 1. The first declaring the inevitable certainty of her Ruine. 2. The second delineating the Grievousnesse and extremity of her destruction. 3. The third, under the Type of a stone like a great milstone cast into the Sea, representing the violence, finalnesse, and irrecoverablenesse of her Overthrow.

[1] The first voice from Heaven declares the certainty of Babylon's Ruine. Here consider, I. The Angel that uttered this voice, who is described 1. By the Place whence he came; And after these things I saw another Angel come down from Heaven. 2. By the Power wherewith he was furnished; Having great Power. 3. By his singular glory wherewith he was adorned; And the earth was lightned, with his glory. This is for the refreshing of the Saints, but terrifying of Christ's and their enemies, Ch. XVIII. v.1. II The voice it self that he uttered, is set forth; 1. According to the manner of it with great fervency, that all, yea even secure Babylon her self might hear; And he cryed mightily with a strong voice, saying. 2. According to the Matter of it, which containeth a declaration (1) Of Babylons certain ruine, and the threefold woful events thereof; Babylon the Great is fallen, is fallen: And is become the Habitation of Devils, And the hold of every foule spirit, And a Cage of every unclean and hateful bird. By these expressions is intimated Babylons as certain ruine, as if she were fallen already: and the phrase is doubled to augment the certainty. Yea, her horrible ruine even to desolation; for Devils, evil spirits and doleful birds haunt those desolate places, v.2. (2) Of the Causes of this her certain and dismal ruine, viz. 1 Partly, her idolatrous fornications with the Kings and Nations of the earth; For all Nations have drunk of the Wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth have committed fornication with her. 2 Partly, her luxurious and wicked Merchandize, of Pardons, Indulgences, &c. touching the Consciences and Soules of men, as after is expressed; And the Merchants of the Earth (i.e. her Prelates, Abbates, Priests, &c.) are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies, ver.3.

CH. XVIII.

[2] The second voice from Heaven, (probably of an Angel also, though not mentioned: or of God or Christ, because he saith, Come out of her my people) delineates the grievousness and wofulness of Babylon's Ruine. Herein are contained 1 An Exhortation to Gods people in Babylon. 2 A Lamentation of Kings, Merchants and Marriners for Babylon. 3 An invitation of Heaven and heavenly ones to exult over Babylon. I. The Exhortation to Gods people in Babylon is twofold, viz. To depart from her: To Retaliate double unto her. 1. To depart from her; And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her my people. This Exhortation is urged by divers Arguments, [1] From the peril of their fellowship with her sins; That ye be not partakers of her sins. [2] From the danger consequently of being involved in her judgments; And that ye receive not of her Plagues. v.4. [3] From the justice of God now approaching to take speedy vengeance upon her for her great and c crying abominations; For her sins have reached unto Heaven, and God hath remembred her iniquities, v.5. 2. To reraliate unto her as Gods instruments, not unjust private revenge, but just publick punishments. These punishments are, (1) Emphatically exaggerated by various vehement expressions: All intimating that her sins were grown to such an height, that no punishments could be sufficient for her; Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double according to her works: In the Cup which she hath filled, fill to her double. v.6. How much she hath glorified her self, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her. (2) Notably urged Partly, from her extream pride and security; For she saith in her heart, I sit a Queen, and am no Widow, and shall see no sorrow, ver. 7. Partly,

c Compare Gen. 4. 10. and 18. 20, 21. herewith.

ly, from the Sudden, Manifold, and Destructive judgments, which the strong God shall bring upon her for this her pride and security; Therefore shall her plagues come in one day, Death, and Mourning, and Famine; and she shall be utterly burnt with fire: for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her, ver. 8. II. The Lamentation for Babylons fall, is principally of three sorts of People, viz. of Kings, of Merchants, of Marriners. 1. In Kings Lamentations for Babylons fall, Consider, (1) The Impulsive Cause thereof, viz. deprivation of their Idolatrous and Luxurious communion with her; And the Kings of the Earth who have committed fornication, and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her. (2) The Occasion of their sad Laments; when they shall see the smoak of her burning, ver. 9. (3) The Manner of their Laments, with frightful fears, and doleful cries; Standing afarre off for the fear of her Torment, saying, Alas, alas, That great City Babylon, that mighty City: for in one hour is thy judgment come, ver. 10. 2. In the Merchants (viz. Indulgentiaries, Penitentiaries, and such like Pontifician Merchants) Lamentations for Babylon's fall, Consider, (1) The Impulsive or Moving Cause of their Lamentation, viz. The Decay of Babylons Trade, and ceasing of her Pontifician Gaines; And the Merchants of the Earth shall weep and mourne over her, for no man buyeth her Merchandize any more, v. 11. This decay and losse of Babylons gainful Trade is aggravated; Partly by a large Bill or Catalogue of her Commodities and Merchandize wherewith both shee and her Merchants were enriched, from all Countries round about. In all which there seems to be an Allusion to the Description of [d] Tyre's rich Merchandize from all Countries, which merchandize was ruined in her destruction: So here (as e Brightman conjectures) are expressed the Commodities brought to Rome from Spain, Italy, Sicily, Germany, England, France, &c. for her sophisticate wares of Merits, Superrogations, Bulls, Indulgences, Pardons, Masses, and such like base counterfeit Papal Toyes; The Merchandize of Gold and Silver, and precious Stones, and of Pearles, and fine Linnen, and Purple, and Silk, and Scarlet, and all Thyne (or sweet) Wood, and all manner of Vessels of Ivory, and all manner of Vessels of most precious Wood, and of Brasse, and Iron, and Marble, and Cynamon, and Odours, and Ointments, and Frankincense, and Wine, and Oyle, and fine flower, and Wheat, and Beasts, and Sheep, and Horses, and Chariots, and Slaves (or Bodies), and f Soules of men, ver. 12, 13. Partly, by Romes utter Deprivation of all her delicacies wherewith she and her creatures luxuriously glutted themselves, set forth in an Apostrophe, or Turne of Speech unto Babylon, or Rome; And the fruits that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee: and all things which were dainty and goodly are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more at all, ver. 14. Thus of the Moving Cause of her Merchants Lamentation. (2) The Doleful Manner of their Lamentations for Babylon's fall, with frightful fears, and condoling cryes, because of her Destruction most lively aggravated by paralleling all her former glory, with the sudden annihilation of that glory; The Merchants of these things which were made rich by her, shall stand afarre off, for the fear of her torment, weeping and wailing, and saying; Alas, alas, that great City, that was clothed in fine linnen and Purple, and Scarlet, and decked with Gold, and precious Stones, and Pearles: For in one hour so great riches is come to nought, ver. 15, 16, 17. 3. In the Pontifician Marriners Lamentations for Babylon's fall, Consider; [1] The Enumeration of these Mourners, four sorts being reckoned up; And every ship-master (viz. Cardinals Patriarchs, Arch-bishops:) And all the Company in ships (viz. Partners in gaines, as Cardinals familiars and Domesticks:) And Saylers (viz. Bishops, Abots, Guardians, Priors, that ply in the Romish Vessels:) And as many as Trade by Sea (viz. the whole rabble of the Popish Clergy, Canonicals, Regulars, Moncks, Jesuites, Capuchins, &c. who promote and devoure the Romish gaines.) [2] The Pathetical Representation of their Lamentations for her sudden desolation, both by the occasion and manner thereof, with fears, cryes, exclamations, casting dust on their heads, weeping and wailing: These are more perplexed then Kings or Merchants, their profits, paunches, kitchens, &c. being more neerly touched; They stood afarre off, and cryed when they saw the smoak of her burning, saying, What City is like unto this great City? And they [h] cast dust on their heads, and cryed, weeping and wailing, saying; Alas, Alas, that great City, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the Sea, by reason of her costlinesse: for in one houre is she made desolate, ver. 17, 18, 19. Thus of the Lamentations of Babylons friends at her fall. III. The Invitation of Heaven and heavenly ones to exult and triumph at Gods vengeance upon her in their behalfe: This is laid down in an Elegant Apostrophe, or Turning of his Speech unto them; Rejoyce over her thou Heaven, and yee Holy Apostles and Prophets, for God hath avenged you on her, ver. 20. By Heaven here some understand the Church; Some think is signified the Singular and extraordinary matter of joy. By Prophets and Apostles, some conceive are intended the true professours and followers of the Prophetical and Apostolical Doctrine and Faith, especially such as for the same have beene persecuted and slaine under the Altar by the Beast and the false Prophet of Rome.

[3] The third voice from heaven, as it were seals up Babylon's violent, final and irreparable overthrow. Here, I. The Angel, to the greater terrour of Babylon, is described to be, A mighty Angel. II. The Ruine of Babylon, is by this Angel, Figured out, Explained, Aggravated and Confirmed. 1. Figured out under the Type of a stone like a great milstone cast by him into the Sea, where there's no finding it, whence no fetching it; And a mighty Angel took up a stone like a great Mil-stone, and cast it into the Sea. 2. Explained, in the application of this Type to Babylon; saying, Thus with violence shall that great City Babylon be thrown down, and shall be found no more at all, ver. 21. 3. Aggravated by the miserable Events ensuing upon her destruction, viz. Her utter losse and total deprivation of all the comforts of a flourishing and inhabited City. the voice of Harpers, and Musicians, and of Pipers, and of Trumpeters, shall be heard no more at all in thee. [2] Of all sorts of Tradesmen; And no Crafts-men, of whatsoever craft he be, shall be found any more in thee. [3] Of food and provision for sustenance; And the sound of a Mill-stone shall be heard no more at all in thee, ver. 22. [4] Of lights to dispel the disconsolate darknesse of the night which takes up one half of the time of our lives; And the light of a Candle shall shine no more at all in thee. [5] Of marriage for propagating of issue, and perpetuating of posterity; And the voice of the Bridegroom and of the Bride shall be heard no more at all in thee. 4. Confirmed by divers Reasons of this her miserable destruction, viz. (1) Her sordid gaines and Popish merchandize; For thy Merchants were the great men of the Earth. (2) Her spiritual Witchcrafts deceiving all Nations; For by thy Sorceries were all Nations deceived, ver. 23. [3] Her bloody cruelties against the Saints; And in her was found the blood of Prophets, and of Saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth, ver. 24.

Hitherto of the Punctual Representation of the Great Whore to be judged: And of the Pathetical Description of her final and dreadful judgment. Next follow the Victorial Triumphs of the Heavenly ones at this judgment of the Whore.

3. The Victorial Triumphs and Gratulations of them in Heaven, upon the judgment of the Great Whore. These Triumphant Gratulations are, 1. For the judgment of the Great Whore. 2. For the Dominion of God, and the Marriage of the Lamb.

[1] In the Gratulation for the Judgment of the Great Whore, Consider, I. The Place where it was, viz. In Heaven, shall we think it was in the Empyrean Heaven, the Heaven of Glory? There's no need so to interpret it; and both the Gratulation it self, and the Series of things following seem rather to intend it of the Church, often in this Book called Heaven, and especially in the Vision described, Rev. 4. to which this Gratulation hath special reference. II. The Victorial Gratulation it self which is, Partly of much People: Partly of the four Beasts and twenty four Elders. I. Of much People, that is, of a confused multitude of all sorts of People, that shall then be converting in the Church upon earth; And after these things, I heard a great voice of much People in Heaven, saying. In the Peoples Gratulatory Song are contained, (1) The Proposition of the Praise ascribed to God; Alleluja, Salvation, and Glory, and Honour, and Power unto the Lord our God. Ch. XIX. ver. 1. The first word Allelujah is an Hebrew word (הללו-יה) which signifies, Praise-yee-the-Lord. But why is the Song partly in Hebrew, and not at all in Greek? [k] Brightman thinks it is because the Church of the Gentiles shall provoke the Jewes to embrace the faith of Christ, when once Antichrist is destroyed, whose idolatry was an impediment to their Conversion. But for as much as this word, (wherewith many Psalmes are begun and ended,) is commonly used both among Hebrews, Grecians, Latines, &c. as an incitement to praise God, [l] Pareus thinks there's no mystery in it. (2) The Confirmation or Reason of this Praise given to God, from the righteousnesse of Gods judgments, in judging the great Whore, both for her wicked idolatries and persecuting cruelties against the Saints; For true and righteous are his judgments, for he hath judged the great Whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornications, and hath avenged the blood of his servants at her hand, ver. 2. (3) The Conclusion of the Peoples Song of Praise, with repetition, because of the Perpetuity of the Whores torment; And again they said Allelujah, and her smoak rose up for ever and ever. Or we may read it adversatively, thus; Praise-yee-the-Lord: but let the Whore burne for ever, ver. 3. . Of the four Beasts and twenty four Elders, (whose mystery was [m] formerly explained,) who by Prostration, Adoration, and Harmonious Congratulation, do seal up the Former Praises of much People; And the four and twenty Elders, and the four Beasts fell down and worshipped God that sate on the Throne, saying, AMEN, Allelujah, ver. 4.

[2] In the Gratulation for the dominion of God and the Lambs marriage now come; Consider, I. The Divine Invitation or Command, requiring this Gratulation from all his servants and fearers; And a voice came out of the Throne, saying, Praise our God, all yee his servants, and yee that fear him both small and great, ver. 5. II. The multitude of triumphant rejoycers, upon this Command, whose voices were like the sound of many waters, and mighty thunders: And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thundrings, saying. III. The Triumphant Song of Praise which they sung to God. 1. In respect of his Dominion now manifested and appearing; Alleluja, for the Lord God OMNIPOTENT REIGNETH, ver. 6. This seems Parallel to that in the I. Prophecy, wherein [n] assoon as the City (viz. Rome) fell, in the close of the sixth Trumpet: presently the seventh Angel sounds, and the voices in Heaven say; The Kingdomes of this world are become our Lords and his Christs, &c. 2. In respect of the Lambs marriage now come, which is Amplified, (1) Partly by the Preparednesse of the Church the Lambs wife for the marriage; Let us be glad and give honour to him, for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made her self ready, ver. 7. (2) Partly of her marriage Garments freely given her by Christ; And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed in fine Linnen, clean and white: For the fine linnen is the righteousnesse (or [o] Justifications) of Saints, ver. 8. (3) Partly by the blessednesse of the Marriage-guests. The certainty whereof, is intimated, both by the Angels commanding John to write the same: And also by the Angels Testimony touching the Divine verity of them; And he saith unto me, write, blessed are they which are called unto the Marriage-supper of the Lamb. And he saith unto me, these are the true sayings of God, ver. 9.

Hitherto of the Preparatory to the Exposition of the Whores Judgment: and of the Exposition of the Whores Judgment it self. Now finally of the Event that this Exposition had upon John.

III. The event which the Exposition of the whores judgement had upon John, concludes this mystery of the final judgement of the Whore. Here note, 1. Johns Preparation to worship the Angel, being so wonderfully taken with what he had revealed to him. 2. The Angels Prohibition of John, and refusal of his worship, Partly because Divine Worship was not due to him, being but Johns fellow-servant in testifying the Prophecy of this Revelation: Partly because Divine Worship is Gods peculiar due; And I fell at his feet to worship him: And he said unto me, see thou do it not: I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren that have the Testimony of Jesus; Worship God: for the Testimony of Jesus is the spirit of Prophecy, ver. 10.

II. THE JUDGEMENT OF THE BEAST AND FALSE PROPHET, together with their Armies and adherents, warring against the Lambe and his Army, is foretold and more fully declared. These Adversaries were all mustered together under the Sixth Vial, in t Armageddon: Now this Seventh Vial, (the exposition whereof is yet continued) describes the event of the battel in Armageddon. u Some interpret this Vision of the last judgement: x Some of the Conversion and glorious Calling of the Jews: y Same of the spiritual victory which Christ shall obtain by his Word. z Some understand it of Christs final victory, not only spiritually but corporally, over the Beast and False-Prophet, (now chafed and enraged at the destruction of the whore) and this by some remarkable and dreadful dispensation of his Providence, and that before the General Judgement come. And this seems most agreeable to the Series of the Text ensuing. Now here are set forth, 1. The preparation to the Battel. 2. The events of the Battel.

1. In the preparation to the battel, are described Christ's, and the Beast's Preparations against each other, as the two grand Adversaries and Generals of the Field. I. In Christs Preparation, are declared, 1 His Majesticall and victorious coming forth to Battel, even out of Heaven open, sitting on a white Horse, an Emblem of Victory, Triumph and Joy, which seems here to intimate Christs victoriousnes over his enemies, to the increase of new joyes to his people; And I saw Heaven opened, and behold a white Horse, and he that sate upon him, &c. 2. His admirable perfections wel-becoming so glorious a Captain. viz. (1) Truth and faithfulnesse in all his Promises and threats, though he seem to delay long; And he that sate upon him was called faithful and true. (2) Justice in judging and warring; And in righteousnesse he doth judge and make war, ver. 11. (3) Piercing quicknesse to find out, and take revenge upon his enemies; His eyes were as a flame of fire. (4) Victoriousnesse: And on his head were many Crowns, denoting his many and singular victories: yea the Crowns of these a Kings, against whom he now goes forth to fight, were in effect his already. (5) Unsearchablenesse of his Name, Nature and wayes; And he had a Name written which no man knew but himself, ver. 12. Written, for Permanency: but known only to himself, for the secrecy and mysteriousnesse of his state, counsels and wayes; as b Forbes noteth. (6) Severity of revenge upon his enemies, having his c garments even soaked and steeped in their blood, and particularly in the blood of the Whore lately by him judged and executed; And he was cloathed in a Vesture dipt in blood. As coming from a bloody slaughter. (7) Infinite wisdom, knowing all the secrets of God, and making known his pleasure to us, as man makes known his will to man by a word; And his name is called, THE WORD OF GOD, ver. 13. This denomination of Christ, d The Word, is peculiarly found in Johns writings; and affords a notable Argument that John the beloved Disciple penned this Book. Thus of Christs Perfections and glorious Properties. 3 His Armies, heavenly, pure, and victoriously triumphant in and with Christ; And the Armies which were in heaven, followed him upon white Horses, clothed in fine linnen, white and clean, ver. 14. 4. His weapons of War, or Manner of fighting; gradually described; viz. e Smiting with the Sword of his Mouth, Ruling with his Rod of Iron, and treading his foes under his feet, that they shall not be able to rise up against him; And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the Nations: viz. (His word, either punishing them according to the tenour of it: or subduing them unto the obedience of it,) And he shall f rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the Winepresse of the fiercenesse and wrath of Almighty God, ver. 15. 5. His puissant Name, acquired by his Martial Atchievements, publishing him to be Lord and King Paramount; And he hath on his Vesture, and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS, ver. 16. g Some think this name is written. On his vesture, for Perspicuity, that all may clearly discern it: On his thigh, for the Perpetuity and Eternity of his Dominion, none being able to deprive him of it. h Some on his vesture, for manifestation to all: On his Thigh or feet, not only to note that Christs meanest, surpasseth mans highest power; but especially to intimate that this is the time when his Church shall have dominion with him. i Some thus; On his Vesture, manifesting now his victories to all; On his thigh, because now all the world shall testifie their subjection to Christ, and swear him Homage. For men do not only k wear their Sword on their thigh: but especially their strength is by Scripture placed in their loins and thighs; and hence it was a token of subjection & servitude to l put the hand under the thigh, which Custome Aben-Ezra witnesseth to have continued still among the Indians and Ethiopians till his time. 6. His Herauld, or Trumpet, not so much proclaiming open war with the Beast, as inviting all that delight in prey, to come and take the spoile: the Conquest of the Beast being certain. This Herauld is described, (1) By his Person, being an Angel. (2) By his station, which was strange. In the Sun; And I saw an Angel standing in the Sun. Intimating the bright, clear and Sun-like light which then shall be evident to all touching Antichrists destruction.

(3) By the loudneſs of his Proclamation, able to make the deafeſt heat; And he cryed with a loud voice. (4) By the tenour of his cry, which (under the allegory of all Fowls or Birds of prey invited to feed and fill themſelves with the fleſh and carkaſſes of the ſlain,) intimates the great and extream ſlaughter of the Beaſt and his Armies by Jeſus Chriſt; inſomuch that all that were addicted to take, the ſpoyle ſhould prey upon them, being now certainly and ſpeedily to be deſtroyed; Saying to all the Fowls that fly in the midſt of heaven, Come and gather your ſelves together unto the Supper of the Great God: That ye may eate the fleſh of Kings and the fleſh of Captaines, and the fleſh of mighty men, and the fleſh of Horſes and of them that ſit on them, and the fleſh of all men, both free and bond, both ſmall and great, ver. 17, 18. Thus of Chriſts Preparation to the Battel. II. In the Beaſt's Preparation are laid down, 1. His adherents and Armies. 2. Their muſtering and gathering together for Warre. 3. The adverſaries againſt whom they prepare to fight; And I ſaw the Beaſt, and the Kings of the Earth, and their Armies gathered together, to make warre againſt him that ſate on the Horſe, and againſt his Army, ver. 19. This their gathering together was in Armageddon, and that by the diligence of the Frogs, as was formerly declared in the ſixth Vial, The beaſt being enraged after Rome's Deſtruction.

2. In the Events of the Battel (The Battel it ſelf not being at all mentioned, but only the Beaſts intentions and preparations to fight againſt Chriſt and his Army, for the Beaſt and his Adherents are entrapped and enſnared, eaſily and ſuddenly foyled by Chriſt,) Conſider, 1. The dreadfull Calamity that joyntly befell the Beaſt that carryed the Whore and the Falſe Prophet, the Reſtorer of the Beaſt for carrying of her. (Which Falſe Prophet is deſcribed here both by his Miracles wrought before the beaſt, and by his deceiving of the Beaſts vaſſals and worſhippers thereby, ſo that this is the m Two horn'd Beaſt.) This their calamity conſiſts, 1. In their joynt apprehenſion; And the Beaſt was taken, (Gr. n taken-in-ſnares, entrapped, enſnared) and with him the Falſe-Prophet that wrought miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the mark of the Beaſt, and them that worſhipped his Image. 2. In their joynt Execution, and that in moſt dreadful manner, like Corah, Dathan, and Abiram ſwallowed up alive of the pit, or like Sodom and her Cities burnt up alive; Theſe both were caſt alive into a lake of fire burning with Brimſtone. As they were joynt-partners in wickedneſs, ſo they are now joynt-partakers in the woful reward of their wickedneſs, v. 20, 21. The General Slaughter of all their whole Army, all are put to the ſword, & the fowls invited filled with their fleſh, enriched with their prey; And the remnant were ſlain with the ſword of him that ſate upon the Horſe, which Sword proceeded out of his mouth. And all the Fowls were filled with their fleſh, ver. 21.

n The word ἐπιάσθη He was entrapped, or ſnared, implyeth in it, as an eaſie victory, for the part of him that rideth on the White Horſe: ſo a ſudden and unexpected foyle to the Beaſt and his followers. Forbes on Rev. 19, 20.

The beaſt is taken; being as it were catched in ſnares, and entangled before he be aware of it, as wild beaſts are taken, which run into the Nets or Gins, ere they know where they be. So much doth the word Epiaſthe intimate, that ſignifieth to take. III. THE JUDGEMENT OF THE DRAGON, that old Serpent, the Devil and Satan, that hath incited and uſed as his inſtruments, the Whore, Beaſt, Falſe-Prophet, and their followers, to oppoſe and perſecute the Lambe and his Saints: comes now in the laſt place to be conſidered of. Touching this Judgment of the Dragon, Conſider 1. The Inchoation of it, in his Binding. 2. The Relaxation of it, in his Looſing. 3. The Conſummation of it, in his final Damning. The particulars contained herein are o moſt Abſtruſe and myſterious; to be too poſitive and definitive about them and the myſteries intended in them, would argue too much boldneſſe and Temerity. And learned Expoſitors are much unſatisfied about the interpretation of them. p Some conceive, all that is here ſpoken till the Dragon's deſtruction in ver 10. to be only A Summary Repetition or Recapitulation of the affairs and whole ſtate of the Church, from the primitive times almoſt to theſe times: How the Dragon was chained up after the tenth perſecution for a 1000 years, The Church mean-while obtaining a Spiritual Reſurrection and Kingdom with Chriſt, till after the 1000. years Satan was let looſe and brought in new enemies, Gog and Magog, againſt the Church, to his and their deſtruction. q Some contrariwiſe are of opinion that this Chapter is not a Repetition, but a Continuation of the Revelation touching future events to the Church till the Judgement-day. And that the Series and Current of the Context duly conſidered ſeems ſo to carry it. After times probably will better underſtand theſe Myſteries. But to the Text, touching the Dragons Judgement.

o A man may ſee by the Commentaries of the Interpreters, how greatly they are puzled and toyled in the interpretation of this Chapter: but above all the reſt the Popiſh Commentors do moſt pitifully vex themſelves therein, as to whom it is like an intricate Maze and Labyrinth, whence there is no winding of a mans ſelf out. Thom. Bright. on Rev. 20. 1. p So Pareus, Brightman, Forbes, Napier interpret it. q So Mede expounds it.

1. The

1. The Inchoation of the Dragons Judgement, is laid down in his binding for a thousand years. Here consider, 1. The Dragons inchoate destruction. 2. The Churches Contemporary State and condition mean while. I. Touching The Dragons inchoate Destruction, or Binding, are considerable. 1. The Agent by whom the Dragon was bound, An Angel, r supposed to be Christ, because his Heavenly Authority and Mighty Power under the Emblem of a Key and Chain are so notably described; And I saw an Angel come down from Heaven, having the Key of the bottomless pit, and a great Chain in his hand, Chap. XX. ver. 1. 2. The actions of the Angel about the Dragon, are divers, viz. (1) Apprehending of him; And he laid hold on the Dragon, that old Serpent, which is the Devil and Satan. (2) Binding of him, the term of his bondage being expressed; And bound him a thousand years, ver. 2 (3). Imprisoning of him, which is set forth, Partly, By the place wherein he imprisoned him; And cast him into the bottomless pit. Partly, By his secure manner of proceeding with him; And shut him up, and set a Seal upon him. As sometimes it was with Daniel in the Lions Den, or with Christs Body in the Sepulcher. 3. The End or Intention of this Judicial process with the Dragon, viz. That he should deceive the Nations no more till the thousand years should be fulfilled. Which is amplified by a Prediction of the Dragons release for a little season afterwards; And after that he must be loosed for a little season, ver. 3. II. Touching the Churches State and condition during this thousand years restraint of the Dragon, are observable. 1. The Reviving. 2. The Enthroning. 3. The Reigning of two sorts with Jesus a thousand years, viz. Partly, Martyrs who suffered for Christ. Partly, Others who kept themselves pure from Antichristian defilements and idolatries; And I saw Thrones, and they sate upon them, and Judgement was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the Word of God, and which had not worshipped the Beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands: and they lived and reigned with Christ a s thousand years, ver. 4. This state of the Martyrs and pure Worshippers is amplified three wayes, viz. (1.) By the opposite condition of the rest of the dead; But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. (2) By the Denomination given to this condition of the Revived Martyrs, &c. This is the FIRST RESURRECTION, ver. 5. (3.) By the happiness and holiness of all that have part in this first Resurrection, Partly, in respect of their Exemption from the second Death: Partly, in respect of their Inauguration to be Priests and Kings with Christ; Blessed and Holy is he that hath part in the first Resurrection: On such the second Death hath no power, but they shall be Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years, ver. 6. These thousand years seem Contemporary to the thousand years of the Dragons Restraint. And the state of the New Jerusalem's coming down from God out of Heaven, is thought by some to be an happy condition of the Church in this life contemporary to them Both.

2. The Relaxation of the Dragons Judgement, is set forth in his loosing again out of Prison for a little time. Touching which, note, I. The time or term when this Dragon shall be thus looled; But when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, ver. 7. II. The subtile practises of the Dragon thus released, seducing and instigating new enemies against the Church. Here 1. The Enemies seduced, are described, (1.) By the extent of places whence they shall be gathered, from all the four Quarters of the Earth. (2.) By their Denomination, Gog and Magog. (3.) By their Number, as the sand of the Sea. 2. The intent of this seducement is specified, for battel against the Saints; And he shall go out to deceive the Nations, which are in the four Quarters of the Earth, t Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battel: the number of whom is as the sand of the Sea, ver. 8. This seems to allude to that in Judg. 7. where the Midianites like Grasshoppers for multitude, and whose Camels were as the sand of the sea for number, pitched against Israel in the Plain, and were destroyed by Gideon and his three hundred holding forth burning Lamps, breaking Pitchers, and sounding Trumpets. III. The Events ensuing upon these practises of the Dragon, are of two sorts: 1. The Hostile acts of these seduced enemies against the Church, viz. (1.) Partly, Going up every way against them; And they went upon the breadth of the Earth. g The utmost parts of the Earth are promised Christ for his possession at last. (2.) Partly, Surrounding them on every side; And encompassed the camp of the Saints about, and the Beloved City. By Beloved City h some understand The New Jerusalem, the Metropolis of this New Kingdome of Christ and the Saints, which, like the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, is pitched in midst of the Saints Camp. By camp of the Saints, the Nations of the saved ones that shall walk in the light of the New Jerusalem. This seems to allude to the practises of them in Sodom, wherein all young and old from all Quarters compassed Lots house, Gen. 19. who were devoured by fire and brimstone rained upon them from God out of Heaven. 2. The righteous Acts of God as it were by his own immediate hand, against these enemies, for the Rescue, and in the Quarrel of his Church; And fire came down from God out of Heaven, and devoured them, ver. 9.

3. The Consummation of the Dragons Judgement, is declared in his final damning. Here the Dragons final doom is, 1 Described. 2. Confirmed. I. Described and aggravated. 1. By the cause of his damnation, his deceiving the Nations, especially after his letting loose. 2. By the place of his execution. 3. By the company damned with him, The Beast and False Prophet. They sinned together, and shall burn together. 4. By the extremity, easelessness and endlessness of all their torments; And the Devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the Beast and False prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night, for ever and ever, ver. 10. II. Confirmed by the lively lively representation of the General and last judgement, annexed immediately to the Damning of the Dragon. i Nor as if the Day of judgement should then immediately follow, or as if the particular time thereof were here determined: but to intimate the full destruction of the Dragon and other Enemies of the Church which should hold on till Christs final coming to judgement: As in Daniel 7. A Throne is erected, and one sitteth thereon for judging the Beasts there mentioned, Enemies of the Church; And the faithful that they might apprehend their adversaries full overthrow, but their own perfect deliverance, are called in Dan. 12. to the meditation of the last and full degree thereof in the general Resurrection. To that here seems to be an allusion. Now in this Hypotyposis or lively Adumbration of the Last and General Judgement compendiously declared, consider, 1. The Majestical enthronement of the Judge upon his Tribunal or Judgement Seat, emphatically Amplified; Partly, By the glory and greatness of his Throne: Partly, by the power of his presence, Heaven and Earth fleeing away. How then shall the wicked stand before him, or look up at that day? And I saw a great white Throne, and him that sate on it, from whose face the Earth, and the Heaven fled away, and there was found no place for them, ver. 11. 2. The Order and Manner of his Judicial Proceedings, (1.) By his Convening of all before his Tribunal that were to be judged; And I saw the Dead, small and great, stand before God. (2.) By his final Dooming or Sentencing of all that were thus convented before him. In passing of which Judicial Sentence, note, 1. The matters of Fact according to which they shall be judged, Their works. 2. The Evidence produced for Conviction and proof of these Matters of Fact against them, viz. Partly, the Books opened, i. e. Gods Book of Remembrance: And the Records or Books of their own Consciences. Partly, the Book of life, i.e. The Record of Gods Everlasting Decree of Election. In all this seems to be a notable allusion to that of Daniel, k The Judgement did sit, and the Books were opened. And both that and this to the usual process of Humane Courts of Judicature, wherein Judges proceed upon persons according to Matters of Fact alledged and Proof, which Allegations and Proofs are Booked down and Recorded; And I saw the dead small and great, stand before God: And the Books were opened: and another Book was opened, which is the Book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the Books, according to their works, ver. 12. This Judicial process is Amplified by A Prolepsis, or Prevention of an Objection. Objection. But how shall all the Dead, that are in Sea, Grave, or under any other sorts of death be thus convented before God? Answ Sea, Death and Grave, shall all of them unanimously surrender and deliver up their dead at Gods command and coming to judge; And the Sea gave up the dead which were in it: and death and hell (or, the Grave) delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works, i.e. The Judicial Sentence was pronounced according to their works, ver. 13. 3. The Execution of the Judicial Sentence, by inflicting the fiery Torments of the Second Death, that is, Eternal Death. The Objects upon which the Judgement shall be inflicted, are Things, or Persons. (1.) Things. viz. Death and Hell, or the Grave; And Death and Hell (or Grave) were cast into the Lake of fire. This is the Second Death. As if it were said, There shall be no Torment any longer that shall vex men, either in Death or in the Grave, but only in the Lake of fire, where the Reprobates die for ever, ver. 14. (2.) Persons viz. All Reprobates; And whosoever was not found written in the Book of life, was cast into the Lake of fire, ver. 15.

Thus, of the Third General Branch of this II. Prophecy, viz. The deliverance of the Church at last out of all her distresses and persecutions, by Gods righteous Judgements in the Destruction of her afflicting and persecuting enemies, The Beast, False Prophet, Dragon, and their adherents, with Death, Grave, and all Reprobates. Next in order is the Fourth and last General Branch, touching the happy state and condition which the Church shall enjoy upon this her Deliverance.

4. Finally, The happy state and condition of the Church upon her Deliverance from her Enemies, by their just Ruine and Destruction, is most magnificently and gloriously represented to us in the last Branch of the II. PROPHECY, touching the New Heaven, and the NEW Earth, and NEW JERUSALEM descending from God out of Heaven; and this comes now to be considered. Now though this Vision be here reported after the Description of the Last and General Judgment, and some thereupon conceive it to be a Description of the Churches Eternal Felicity in Heaven and Glory: yet m such as interpret it of the Churches happy state in this World upon her Deliverance from, and the Destruction of her grand Enemies, viz. of the great Whore, The Beast, The False Prophet, whose Destruction was Consummate, and of the Dragon also whose Destruction was Incheate, do conceive this New Jerusalems state to Synchronize or be contemporany with the 1000 years of the Dragons being bound, and of the Martyrs and Pure-worshippers Dominion with Jesus Christ. Vid. Jos. Med. Calv. Apoc. Part 2. Synchr. IV. V. VI.

This happy state of the Church is described from Ch. 21 1. to Ch. 22. 6. As all interpreters that I have seen, do with unanimous consent acknowledge. But touching the Kind or sort of Happiness here described, they do not so harmonicusly accord. They chiefly are of three Opinions herein. 1. Some interpret all this Vision meerly of the Eternal and Glorious happiness which the Church shall enjoy in Heaven with God and Jesus Christ in immediate Vision and fruition. And r most Expositors go this way. 2. Some s expound it of the Churches happy condition in respect of the Conversion of the Jews. The Church of the Gentiles was t an Heavenly Jerusalem before, but many corruptions were intermixed in her condition: but when the Jews shall be converted, there shall be such a New face of all things in the Church, and they shall be so pure and holy, that in respect of the the heavenly Jerusalem of the Gentilish Church, this shall be as it were A New Jerusalem. 3. Some, without restriction or reference to the Jews Conversion, understand it indefinitely of that u happy Spiritual state which the Church, upon her enemies destruction, shall enjoy here in this world, before she be translated from Earth to Heaven. And divers considerable x Reasons, drawn especially from the Nature of this Vision, are propounded for strengthening of this Interpretation, a brief taste whereof is here presented in the Margin, and may more fully be discovered in the Authors themselves. In this difference of learned mens judgements, it is not easie determinately to fix a mans thoughts. For mine own part, I ingenuously acknowledge I have long been somewhat dubious and divided in my thoughts which of these Expositions to pitch upon, nor am I at present so fully resolved as to have no hesitancy at all thereabouts: yet all things deliberately considered, and the foresaid and like Reasons pondered, I rather incline to their Opinion (recited in the third place) who interpret this of the Churches Happiness Spiritual, rather then Eternal: Of Grace in this world, rather then of Glory in the world to come. Now if so happy a Condition may befall the Church in Earth: What, and how surpassing shall her happiness be in Heaven it self?

u Jos. Med. quo supr. Forbes on Rev. 21. & 22. Arethas apud Oecumen. also, expounds this whole Vision in such sort, as he seems to incline to this way. x Divers Reasons are summarily couched together by Forbes. Take them in his own words.

Now, albeit the Church her Condition be here set down Hyperbolically (as would appear) for any state that ever she shall here attain to: yet, if we consider, I. How not only the most precious things in Nature, are too abject to express the Dispensation of Grace, (specially now in the highest degree) But also, II. That here is painted out unto us, 1. A Jerusalem coming down from Heaven: 2. The Tabernacle of God, wherein God will sojourn with men, (1) Having a wall against invasion, (2) Founded on the Doctrine of the Apostles, (3) Gates for Receiving in Nations and Kings, coming to walk in her light, and bringing thither their Glory: (4) Having to this end the Ministry of Angels, even Pastors of Churches; 3. And that all the Measuring of this City, is by the Ministery of man, called to be an Angel, and Instructed for that with a Golden Reed; 4. As also that all the Dispensation of God towards the City, is by the Lamb the Mediator, who in the world to come giveth up the Kingdome to God, that he may be all in all, 1 Cor. 15. 28. III. And finally, That here nothing is so magnifickly spoken, which the Prophets before have not almost in the same terms uttered, of the Estate of the Church here in Grace: We will easily perceive that no such thing is here meaned, as whereto most part of Interpreters have drawn it: But even by this amassing together of all the Goodly Promises in the Prophets, of the Church her Graceful and Peaceable state, To let us see that at this time shall be the full performance, never any more to be disturbed, and so therein The Mystery of God to be finished; Nothing now Resting to be either expected or wished, but that The Lord Jesus come quickly, Forbes on Revel. 22. § 4.

Now this happy state of the Church is 1. More Summarily and Generally Propounded. 2. More Plenarily and Particularly Expounded.

I. More Summarily and Generally The Churches future Happiness is Propounded, 1. Partly by Vision. 2. Partly by Voice, tending to explain and confirm the Vision.

1. By Vision The Churches happiness is represented, 1 in respect of the New World. 2 In respect of the New Jerusalem in the world. 1. In respect of the New World, or New face of the whole Universe. The World is altered at the Churches alteration, whose Receptacle and Habitation it is, and it becomes New, 1. By alteration of things that Remain; And I saw a New Heaven, and a New Earth: for the first Heaven and the first Earth were passed away. Scripture by y New Heavens and New Earth, being wont to express Great Changes in the world. There shall be after the Destruction of the Whore, Beast and False-Prophet, such a wonderful shaking and change of all things in the world, that it shall be as a New World, New Heaven and Earth. 2. By Abolition of that which shall be taken away; And there was no more Sea, Ch. XXI. ver. 1. By Sea, which is wont to rage and swell tempestuously, z Scripture is wont to signifie the raging stirs, tumults, commotions, &c. of enemies, people or Nations: Now by there being no more Sea, the Holy Ghost sheweth the quiet state of things no more subject to trouble or inquietation as formerly. Not, saith a Forbes, as if henceforth the Church should be altogether free of all evils, (which cannot fully fall here) but never again shall either Deceit of Darkness, or Hostile invasion, trouble her. But her last evil, amidst both plenty and peace, shall be Security. 2. In respect of the New Jerusalem, the Renewed Church in this New World, and for whose sake the world is renewed. She is here Described, 1. By her Holiness; And I John saw the Holy City. 2. By her Newness; New Jerusalem. Not only New in respect of that Old Jerusalem under the Law gendring to bondage, in which sense the Christian Church was always New: but New in comparison of her former sad afflicted state, her enemies being destroyed. The name of Newnesse is a Note of her transformation into a more joyful state, saith Andreas. 3. By her Heavenliness, or Divine descent; Coming down from God out of Heaven. viz. of Gods Building and Beautifying. 4. By her Bride-like Preparedness for Christ; Prepared as a Bride adorned for her Husband, ver. 3.

y See Isa. 65. 17. & 66. 22.

CHAP. XXI.

z See Psal. 46. 2, 3, 6. & 89. 9, 10. Isa. 57. 20. Ezech. 26. 3. Forbes on Rev. 21. 1.

2. By Voice, tending to Explain and Confirme the former Vision. This voice is two-fold, viz. More Generally, from Heaven: More Specially, from the Throne. 1. The Voice from Heaven, declares the Churches Felicity, 1. In respect of the presence or enjoyment of all Good, viz. in the Cause and Fountain of Good. That is, (1) Gods Covenant Relation to them. (2) Gods Co-habitation by his Gracious presence with them; And I heard a Great Voice out of Heaven, saying: Behold, the b Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God, ver. 3. 2. In respect of the Absence, or removal evil, which is Confirmed from the passing away of former things, viz. the Churches Distresses and Persecutions under the Dragon, &c. then c she cryed, was in paine, her members d slain for the testimony of Jesus: but now these, or like miseries are past, and shall trouble her no more; And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; And there shall be no more Death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the former things are passed away, v. 4. 11. The voice of him that sits upon the Throne, viz. God himself, further confirms and explains this happy state of the Church, which to carnal men may seem incredible: But Gods Testimony is infallible. Gods voice to this purpose is threefold, and all Emphatical. 1. His First Voice is pronounced indefinitely without Particular Directing it to any one. Herein he proclaimes himself to be the Author of this New world; And he that sate upon the Throne, said, Behold, I make all things New. And can any thing then be too hard for this God? He that made all things of nothing, can he not easily make all things New? 2. His Second Voice, is particularly directed to John. And commands him to write and record these words as true and faithful; And he said unto me, write: for these words are true and faithful, v. 5. 3. His Third Voice, particularly also directed to John, Declares, the Consummation or Accomplishment of the Churches Deliverance and Happy state upon her Enemies Destruction, according to the Prophets Predictions. The Mystery of God herein being now finished; And he said unto me, IT IS DONE. This her Happinesse is Confirmed, Described, Illustrated. (1) Confirmed, from the Eternal Nature of God, who foretelleth all things, performes them in due time, orders them to their proper ends, and will at last endlesly blesse his people; I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End. (2) Described, Partly by the Nature of this Happinesse, consisting in, 1 Having the Fountain of the Water of Life: 2 Inheriting all things: 3 Enjoying the Covenant-Relation to God. Partly, by the manner of Conveyance, viz. Free-gift. Partly, By the Subjects on whom it is Conferred, viz. On the thirsty earnest Desirers, and on Conquerours; I will give unto him e that is athirst of the Fountain of the Water of Life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit f all things: And g I will be his God, and he shall be my son, v. 6, 7. 3. Illustrated by the contrary, miserable condition and damned state which shall befal all Reprobates, especially the worshippers of the Beast and vassals of Antichrist, who are here chiefly intended and ranked in eight several sorts, all of them describing in a special manner their corruptions; But the Fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and Murderers, and Whore-mongers, and Sorcerers, and Idolaters, and all Lyars, shall have their part in the Lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death, ver. 8.

II. More plenarily and particularly the Churches future happinesse or happy state is Expounded, and this in a Vision to John. Here Consider, 1 The Preparation of John for the Vision. 2 The Description of the Church, and her happy state as presented in the Vision. I. The Preparation of John for perceiving and beholding of the Vision. In this Preparation note, 1. Who prepared John thereto, viz. one of the Seven Vial-Angels: probably the same h Angel who showed him formerly the judgment of the great Whore. 2. How he prepared him, viz. (1) Partly, By Word, calling him to him, and promising him to show him the Bride, the Lambs wife; And there came unto me one of the Seven Angels, which had the seven Vials full of the seven last Plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will shew thee the Bride, the Lambs wife, v. 9. Elegantly saith i Andreas, he calls the Bride, the Lambs wife. For when Christ was slain as a Lamb: then he espoused her to himself by his own Blood. For as a Rib was taken from Adam sleeping, of which the Woman was formed: So Christ sleeping on the Crosse by voluntary Death, by the blood that was poured out of his side the Church: was constituted, and joyned to him who suffered for us. (2) Partly, by Action, carrying him in the spirit to an high Mountain; And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high Mountaine. He carried John to behold the judgment of the great Whore k into the Wilderness, perhaps because she lay in covert from vulgar view, or rather because now her judgement would bring her into a Wilderness-state of howling woe: But he carries him into a great high Mountain to view the Bride, the Lambs wife; either because they that obtain a true sight of the Bride, must ascend high, or because her state now to be represented was great and highly exalted, she being no longer in her Wilderness-troubles, but in her Mountain-triumphs. II. The Description of the Church and her happy state, as represented to John in Vision. And she is showed here in the height of Magnificence and stateliness, far transcending the utmost glory of all the Kingdoms of this world. Spirituals surpass all Temporals. Oh what glorious things are here spoken of thee thou City of God, thou joy of the whole earth! Now the New Jerusalem is displayed, 1. In her self. 2. In her Accessories. In both Sumptuously, gloriously.

1. In her self, the New Jerusalem is displayed, According to 1 Her Glorious Beauty. 2 Excellent Fortification. 3 Accurate Symmetry or Proportion. 4 And precious Materials. I. Her Glorious Beauty throughout, Consists 1. In her Goodly Greatnesse. 2. In her amiable Holinesse. 3. In her heavenly Descent or Original. 4. In her Divine Glory. 5. Her orient light, which is 1. Of a Divine pleasantnesse, therefore compared to a Jasper whereby formerly l God was resembled: and 2 Of b The Manner of Gods presence is expressed in the words σκηνὴ & σκηνώσει, which, together with this, That God is said To be with us, show clearly, that all this discourse is of the Dispensation of Grace here: and not of that estate when we shall be alwaies with God, after we have met him in the clouds, to that effect Forbes on Rev. 21. 3.

2 Of a Chrystalline clearness, having no secret hidden covert defilements and Abominations in her as the Whore, but being throughout beauteous and sincere, as it were with transparent purity; And he shewed me that great City. The Holy Jerusalem, Descending out of Heaven from God. Having the Glory of God, And her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a Jasper stone, clear as Chrystal, verse 10, 11. II. Her Excellent and strong Fortification consists in a Wall about the City. This Wall is described by the Constitution, Gates, and Foundation thereof: 1. By the Constitution and fabrick of it; And had a Wall great and high. Therefore now no more to be trod under foot by the Gentiles, but secure from enemies, and above all dangers. 2. By the Gates of it, for admission and entertainment of all true Israelites indeed. Which Gates excell (1) For their number, which is Patriarchal and Apostolical; And had twelve Gates (2) For their Keepers, which are vigilant Angels; And at the Gates twelve Angels: viz. Evangelical Ministers directing and conducting the commers into the Holy City, and to the Tree of Life Jesus Christ. (3) For their Inscriptions or Emblems written or graven upon them; And names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve Tribes of the children of Israel. intimating, both assurance of admittance, and direction for entrance, to all the spiritual Israel of God, verse 12. (4) Finally, for their uniform Order, viz. On the East three Gates, On the North three Gates, On the South three Gates. And on the West three Gates, ver. 13. This seems to allude to the Type of the City in m Ezekiel, and to the form of the twelve Tribes encamping about the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, three Tribes Eastward, &c as hath n formerly been evidenced: And this seems to intimate, That this New Jerusalem shall be a receptacle for all true Israelites indeed from all the four corners of the world. Andreas saith, o The Quadripartite figure of the Gates, and their threefold explication, signifies the knowledge of the most holy and adored Trinity diffused through the Quadripartite world. 3. By the foundations of the Wall, which both in their Number and Names inscribed upon them relate to Christs twelve Apostles: as upon whose Doctrine alone the New Jerusalem is builded, and wherein her chief strength lies, viz. in being bottomed by their Doctrine on the Rock Christ, the p only foundation; And the Wall of the City had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve Apostles, of the Lamb, verse 14. III. Her Symmetry, or Proportion is most exact and accurate. Here consider, 1. The Measurer, viz q The Angel that talked with God. Who, thinks r Forbes, is a Type of those Ministers which then God shall stir up and furnish with excellent graces, to measure and Minister in his Church. 2. The measuring Instrument, viz. A Golden Reed. A Geometrical measure, golden, both for the honour of the Angel measuring, and City measured, saith s Arethas. 3. The things measured, viz. City, Gates, and Wall, formerly only the t inner Court was measured, the outward left unmeasured, as to be trodden under foot by Gentiles: but now no more such treading down; all must be measured, nothing is cast out, every thing in the Church must be according to Rule and Measure; And he that talked with me had a golden Reed to measure the City, and the Gates thereof, and the Wall thereof, verse 15. This is an Allusion to Architecture, wherein the truth and exactness of the whole Fabrick is tryed by Rule and Measure. And it seems to have respect to that in u Ezekiel. 4. The Figure of the City; And the City lieth four-square, and the length is as large as the breadth, Equi-lateral, or having all sides equal, keeping exact proportion, firm, solid, stable against all Essays. As x Writers joyntly observe, this cubical solid Figure denotes the Churches firmness and immovable stability in all points. 5. The measure of the City and Wall (1) Of the City; And he measured the City with the Reed twelve thousand furlongs, (or, as some Copies read, y 144000 furlongs) the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal, ver. 16. (2) Of the Wall; And he measured the Wall thereof, an hundred forty and four Cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the Angel, verse 17. The measure of this New Jerusalem, and the Wall thereof, is most exact and mysterious. It seems to have special Relation to and Harmony with the z Number of the Lambs Virgin-company, viz. 144000. which number is only built and raised upon twelve by Multiplication: so this New Jerusalem is only built upon the twelve Apostles Doctrine, and in all parts and proportions measured thereby, and conform thereto. This Mystery of the Measure of the New Jerusalem, as also in what sense it is said to be, According to the measure of a man, that is the Angel; See more fully discussed and cleared by a Mr. Forbes, and b Mr. Potter, both their Treatises being in English. Thus of her accurate and comely proportion. IV. Her Costly and Precious Matter or Materials, concern The Wall, City, Foundations of the Wall, Gates, and Street of the City. 1. The Matter of the Wall; And the building of the Wall of it was of Jasper. By c Jasper God was formerly represented: This Wall was all of this one Matter and lustre, God alone being the Defence and strength of his Church. d Andreas thinks this Jasper denotes the Blessed and un-fading life of the Saints. 2. The matter of the whole City, And the City was pure Gold, like unto clear glass, verse 18. The e Whore was curiously trimmed, and her Cup guilded, but within full of abominations: But this City not guilded, but pure Gold, transparent as Chrystal. Denoting her singular preciousness and purity, no impurity or corruption being hid or concealed in her. 3. The matter and garnishment of the Walls foundations, all manner of precious stones. Twelve precious stones according to the number of the XII Apostles being enumerated; And the foundations of the City were garnished with all manner of

Some ſingular Myſtery ſeems hereby to be intended, which as yet Interpreters do not ſo fully underſtand. [f] Some think, theſe twelve precious ſtones are applyable to the twelve Apoſtles, and deſcribing the Nature and Properties of theſe rich ſtones do accordingly accommodate them ſeverally. [g] Some conceive, hereby are intimated the variety of precious gifts and graces in the Apoſtles and Evangelical Miniſtry, building one and the ſame Jaſper-wall, and preaching not themſelves, but God. [h] Some interpret theſe twelve ſtones of the Properties of thoſe eminent perſons that ſhall be inſtrumental in the Jews Converſion. 4. The matter of the twelve Gates; And the twelve Gates were twelve Pearls, every ſeveral Gate was of one Pearl. [i] Though theſe Gates be twelve in number, for receiving all the twelve Tribes of the true Spiritual Iſrael, and open to all the four corners of the world, yet they are every of them of one Pearl, even JESUS CHRIST the only door of the ſheep, and way to the Father. 5. The matter of the ſtreet; And the ſtreet of the City was pure gold, as it were tranſparent glaſs, implying the preciouſneſs, integrity and purity, not only of the Body of the City, but even of the Courſe, Commerce and whole way of the Saints therein, ver. 21.

Hitherto of the New Jeruſalem and her beauty as conſidered In it ſelf. Next In her Acceſſories.

2. In her Acceſſories. viz. In thoſe ſupplyes from without her ſelf, making up her beauty and glory both full and durable, this new Jeruſalem is further diſplayed. Theſe acceſſory felicities, are; I. The ſingular Spiritual Preſence of God in Chriſt, in the Purity, Truth and Spiritualneſs of Goſpel-worſhip. This Preſence of God in Chriſt affords two grand Priviledges. 1. That God and the Lamb are the Temple, ſo that no external Pædagogy, like that of the Law in a typical Temple, or Ritual worſhip ſhall be needful: and therefore conſequently the Convert Jews ſhould not expect any ſuch thing; And I ſaw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it, ver. 22. If the City, Walls, Foundations, Gates, and Street, be ſo exceeding precious, as hath been ſhowed: what can proportionably be imagined to be the Temple of that bliſsful City, but God and the Lamb? And that City that's ſo ſpecially crowned with the Preſence of God and the Lamb, may deſervedly be called [k] Jehovah Shammah, that is, THE LORD IS THERE. 2. That God and the Lamb are the light of it. So that great plenty of ſpiritual light, influence and grace, flow from this bleſſed Preſence of God in Chriſt; And the City had no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to ſhine in it: for the Glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof, ver. 23. There's no need of external Luminaries, where the myſtical Sun of Righteouſneſs ſhines, ſaith [l] Andreas. Not that there ſhall be then no need of Scriptures, Ordinances, or Church-officers to preach and inſtruct the Church. For theſe things muſt [m] continue till the end of the world, and therefore till then the Church will need them. But there ſhall be ſuch an increaſe and confluence of [n] knowledge and grace in compariſon of former times, that the Saints ſhall ſeem as it were, not to have ſuch need of them. II. The Conflux and great Reſort of the Nations and Kings of the earth to this Jeruſalem, ſhining forth with ſuch divine ſplendour. This Conflux and Reſort of the Nations is Partly Deſcribed; Partly Amplified. 1 Deſcribed by the effects or events of their coming thither, viz. [1] The Nations of them that ſhall be ſaved ſhall walk in its light; And the Nations of them which are ſaved ſhall walk in the light of it. viz. They ſhall not only walk to the light, but walk in the direction of the light thereof. [2] The Kings of the earth ſhall contribute to the happineſs of this City, becoming Citizens therein; And the Kings of the earth ſhall bring their glory, and honour into it, ver. 24. The like alſo ſhall the Nations themſelves do; And they ſhall bring the glory and honour of the Nations into it, verſe 26. 2. Amplified by the ſecurity of all that come to be Cirizens here. And by the Purity of the Commers and Citizens. Partly by the Purity of all Commers They ſhall have continual Peace and Tranquillity in it, and be abſolutely ſafe and free. [1] From all open force by day; And the gates of it ſhall not at all be ſhut by day. [2] From all ſecret fraud by night; For there ſhall be no night there, ver. 25. So that the gates ſhall never need to be ſhut for fear of enemies, The Beaſt and Falſe-Prophet, &c. being deſtroyed: but ſhall ſtill lye wide open to receive all upright Commers. Partly by the Purity and integrity of all that come to be Citizens here. They ſhall not defile it with Paganiſh or Antichriſtian lies, idolatries or abominations. Theſe ſhall never any more prevail; And there ſhall in no wiſe enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatſoever worketh abomination, or maketh a Lye: but they which are written in the Lambs Book of Life, verſe 27. III. The abundant plenty of all things for neceſſity and delight. This abundance is Synechdochically comprized under the Water of Life, againſt Thirſt; And the Tree of Life, againſt Hunger; both, for ſuſtaining the life and comforts of the Citizens. 1. This Water of Life is deſcribed, [1] By the plenty of it, A River. [2] By the Purity of it, A pure River. clear as Chryſtal. [3] By the virtue of it, Water of Life. Not only becauſe it ſtill lives or flows; but becauſe it enlivens them that drink it: [4] By the fountain, or Original whence it flows; from God and the Lamb; And he ſhewed me a pure River of Water of Life, clear as Chryſtal, proceeding out of the Throne of God and of the Lamb, Chap. XXII. ver. 1. This ſeems to allude either to the pleaſant [o] Rivers that came through Paradiſe: or to the [p] waters in Ezekiel, flowing out of the Temple. But this River of water is here ſo ſet forth as it far ſurpaſſed them both. Some by this River, underſtand [q] the moſt plentiful doctrine of Chriſt, which ſhall make them live to whom whom it flows. But r Others seem better to interpret it of the plentiful Communication of the Spirit, with all his enlightning, enlivening, sanctifying and comforting operations. And Scripture is wont to signifie the Spirit and his endowments by s Waters, t Well of Waters, u Rivers of living Waters. And this interpretation is the rather confirm'd, in that this River is said to proceed out of the Throne of God and of the Lamb: for x the Spirit proceedeth from both the Father and the Son. 2. This Tree of Life, is described, (1) By its Situation, much like the y Tree of life in the midst of the Garden of Eden. In the midst of the street of it, and of either side of the River was there the Tree of Life. So called, because as it ever lives, so it ever enlivens them that eat it. But how can this one Tree be on either side of the River? Answ. The Greek may thus be rendred, In midst of the street of it, and of the River flowing here and there, the Tree of Life. As if the Tree were placed in the midst, so as the River divided into two Armes, should embrace it on both sides; as z Brightman observeth. Or, it extendeth its Roots and Branches to both sides of the River, for supply on every hand, as a Pareus noteth. Jesus Christ is the Tree of Life, who is the spiritual meat and medicine of his Elect. (2) By its fruitfulnesse. The fruit is for food commended here, Partly for the great variety of it: In Christ is wonderful variety against all nauseousnesse; which bare twelve manner of fruits. Partly for the constancy and frequency of it; And yielded her fruit every moneth, viz. Twelve times in a year. So that the fruit of this Tree seems to have a constant Spring, a continued Harvest. Christ shall then be still renewing his fruits of life on his Church. (3) By its Medicinablenesse: And the leaves of the Tree were for the healing of the Nations, ver. 2. viz. Christ shall cure all spiritual sores and maladies of the Nations that shall come into this City. He is Physick, as well as food. IV. Finally, the Perpetuity of this City, and its happinesse serves to complear all its beauty and glory. This is demonstrated in that, 1. The evil that might oppose or corrupt the happinesse of it shall be quite removed, And there shall be no more curse. 2. The good that causeth and continueth its happinesse, shall be there continually enjoyed. The Throne of God and Christ shall not be translated thence, as it hath been from Jerusalem, and other places; But the Throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it. 3. Hence the manifold felicity of the Citizens in it, shall by this Presence of Gods and the Lambs Kingdome be perpetuated, viz. (1) Their habitual service of Christ; And his servants shall serve him, ver. 3. (2) Their more clear vision of God in Christ, then ever before; And they shall see his face. They shall converse familiarly with God as it were face to face. (3) Their open and evident character, evidencing that they are perpetually devoted to God and to the Lamb; And his name shall be in their foreheads, ver. 4. (4) Their divine light of joy and consolation from God, so that they shall neither have any more night of darknesse and sorrow, nor need any more supplies of Candle-light, or Sun-light of inferiour refreshments, And there shall be no night there, and they need no Candle, neither light of the Sun, for the Lord God giveth them light. (5) Their perpetual Reigne; And they shall reign for ever and ever; viz. Their Reign shall be begun on earth, and be continued without interruption, till it be consummated in heaven it self, ver. 5.

Hitherto of the Churches happy state upon her enemies destruction, and of the glory of the New Jerusalem. And here endeth THE BODY or SUBSTANCE of this Book of the Revelation. Next, of the CONCLUSION of the whole Book.

THE GENERAL CONCLUSION of this whole Book of the REVELATION tends singularly to Commend this Book and to Confirme the Authority of it. This Conclusion is propounded Dialogue-wise, divers Persons being brought in as Speakers, each of them speaking twice: viz. Jesus Christ, The Angel, and John. It is full of Majesty and Emphaticalness. Now, the Authority of this Book is confirmed, and the excellency of it is commended most notably, viz. III.

1. By the Angel that revealed it to John. The Angel confirmes and commends this Book. 1. From the truth and faithfulnesse of the things therein revealed; And he said unto me these sayings are faithful and true. 2. From the Author of this Revelation. 3. From the approach of the time for the accomplishment of things revealed; And the Lord God of the Holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew unto his servants the things which must shortly be done, ver. 6.

2. By Jesus Christ, Christ confirms and commends this Book. 1. From his speedy coming, when every thing in it shall be fully compleated; Behold, I come quickly. 2. From the happy effect of this Book, upon them that keep the sayings thereof; Blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the Prophecy of this Book, ver. 7.

3. By John himself. John confirms and commends this Book. 1. From the certain manifestation of the Matter of this Book to him; And I John saw these things and heard them. 2. From the wonderful operation and impression they had upon John. He was so exceedingly taken and affected with them, that he was ready to have worshipped the Angel that revealed these things to him, had not the Angel forbidden such worship as undue to himself, and only due to God; And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the Angel, which shewed me these things. Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not: For, I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this Book: worship God, ver. 8, 9.

4. By the Angel the second time. Now the Angel confirmes and commends this Book. By commanding John not to seal it up in secrecy, that being left open it might be known; And he saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the Prophecy of this Book. This Command he urgeth. 1. From the approach of the accomplishment of these sayings; For the time is at hand, v. 10. 2. From the double effect that this Book left open and un-sealed, will have, [1] On the Bad, the enemies of Christ, they shall thereby be accidentally irritated to and hardened in evil; He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he that is filthy, let him be filthy still. (2) On the Good, the Members and Elect of Christ, they shall thereby be confirmed and encouraged in their goodness; And he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still, ver. 11.

5. By Jesus Christ the second time. Here Jesus Christ confirmes and commends this Book, 1. From the instant approach of his coming, to render reward to both good and bad, according to their works, as is testified in this Book; And behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to give every man as his work shall be, ver. 12. 2. From his Eternity described in three several Expressions; I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last, ver. 13. Alpha is the first, and Omega the last letter in the Greek Alphabet: here metaphorically applyed to Christ, and exegetically explained by the expressions annexed to it. Now if Christ be the beginning and end; As he gives beginning to the Prophecy of this Book by Revealing it: so he is able to bring this Prophecy to an end, by accomplishing all things revealed in it. 3. From the blessed Reward of them that truly perform the Commandments of Christ in this Book, viz. (1) A Right to the Tree of Life. (2) An Admittance thereupon through the Gates into this City the New Jerusalem; Blessed are they that do [b] his Commands, that they may have right to the Tree of Life, and may enter in through the Gates into the City, ver. 14. This their admittance into the City is illustrated by the opposite exclusion, or shutting out of all the wicked, especially those that were guilty of the Abominations reigning in and under Antichrist; whereof six sorts are Enumerated; For without are Dogs, (viz. those that bark and snarle at the Truth's of Christ) and Sorcerers, and Whoremongers, and Murderers, and Idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lye, ver. 15. How notoriously do all these sorts of Miscreants, especially abound and swarm under the Antichristian Papacy? 4. From the Benevolent affection of Christ to the Churches, testified in Revealing the Mysteries of this Book to them by his Angel; I Jesus have sent mine Angel to testifie unto you these things in the Churches. Therefore they should delight to read, understand and observe them. The Person of Christ revealing the Mysteries of this Book is described, (1) According to the Truth of his humanity, as descending lineally according to the flesh from Davids Royal family; I am the Root and Off-spring of David. Therefore the true Promised Messiah, in whom all the Promises are Amen. (2) According to the splendour and Majesty of his Deity, (as [c] Pareus thinks) that, (like the Morning starre brighter then the rest of the Stars, and fore-going the Sun-rising,) out-shines all other lights illuminating us in this world, and manifests himself to us here in this world before the Sun-rising of Eternal Glory; And the bright and morning Star, ver 16. 5. From the earnest desires and longings of the Bride the Church after Christs coming to accomplish the Prophecies and Promises of this Book for her and to her. These are laid down abruptly, but pathetically; And the Spirit, and the Bride say, Come. That is, either the Spiritual Bride, expressing one thing by two, figuratively. Or, The Spirit saith Come, by enabling the Bride to say, Come. As [d] the Spirit intercedes for us, by enabling us to pray for our selves. This desire of the Bride after Christs coming is Amplyfied, (1) By an invitation thereupon to all that shall hear this Prophecy to imitate the Bride in like longings for Christs coming to fulfill this Prophecy in destroying all his enemies, and advancing his Churches happiness; And let him that heareth, say, Come. (2) By a Direction to all thirsty souls, what they shall do till Christ come, viz. Whosoever thirsts, whosoever truly will, should come to Christ by faith and take a fore-draught of the water of life freely: till Christ come and fulfil all compleatly; And let him that is athirst come: And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely: viz. Christ and his Spirit, ver. 17. 6. From the perfection and inviolable compleatnesse of this Book, to which no Addition, from which no Substraction or Diminution is to be made, but under severest penalties of seeling the Plagues, or loseing the Priviledges mentioned in this Book; For I testifie unto every man that heareth the words of the Prophecy of this Book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the Plagues that are written in this Book: And if any man shall take away from the words of the Book of this Prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the Book of life; And out of the Holy City, And from the things which are written in this Book. ver. 18, 19. Hence, By this Book the whole Canon of the New Testament is conceived to be closed up and compleated: And that after these Books the Church is no more to expect any New Scriptures. 7. Finally from the instant approach of Christs coming promised according to the Brides desire; This Christ testifies, and ratifies in his own words, as if he were coming already; He which testifieth these things, saith, surely I come quickly, Amen. ver 20.

6. Finally, By John this book seems to be commended the second time, and that two wayes, viz. 1. By his fervent Prayer and desire, as in the name of the whole Church, Answering, and as it were Eccho-ing again to Christs Promise of his speedy coming to fulfil the things revealed in this book; Even so come Lord Jesus, v. 20. O blessed coming and desirable to the Bride and to all the Elect! Then all curse, teares and sorrow shall be removed: Then all enemies to the Lamb and his Bride shall be trodden under foot and subdued: Then the Marriage and compleat enjoyment of the Lamb shall be consummated and [e] God in Christ fully enjoyed for ever, which is far best of all. To that end let every true Israelite indeed pant and breath out with John after the Lords appearing, and cry with As Bernard excellently sets it out, Saying

Father,

Father, Son and Holy Ghoſt [m]; The Myſtery of Chriſt; Two Natures of God and Man, infinitely differing, hypoſtatically united in one Perſon, God-man [n]. The myſtery of the Goſpel [o]; How Chriſt alone ſaves [p]; How Faith alone juſtifies [q]; How Grace alone glorifies [r]. How Gods Truth, threatning Death in caſe of mans diſobedience, is fulfilled: How Gods juſtice incenſed by mans ſin, is fully executed; and yet how the ſinner is eternally ſaved, viz. by the ſatisfactory ſufferings of Jeſus Chriſt as the Sinners Surety [s]. How the Innocent, layes down his life for the Nocent; The guiltleſs, for the guilty; The Shepherd, for the Flock; The Captain, for his Souldiers: The Phyſitian, for his Patients; The King, for his Subjects; The Creator, for his Creatures; and God, for man: And how he expects but their Faith and Love for all. How Chriſt was promiſed and veyled under the Old Teſtament: Exhibited and unveyled under the New [t]. So that the whole Scriptures are but as the heavenly Star leading to Chriſt: and the Spiritual ſwadling-clothes enwrapping the bleſſed child JESUS. The Myſtery of the Churches marriage-union with Chriſt: Whence, we are members of his body, of his fleſh, and of his bones. This is a great Myſtery [u]. Here are graphically deſcribed, Man's Creation, in uprightneſs [x]; Man's Corruption, by undutifulneſs [y]: Man's Reſtauration, by Chriſt [z]: And Man's Glorification, with Chriſt [a]. Here are plain Truths, to feed us: and obſcure Truths to exerciſe us [b]. The Scriptures are as it were another Canaan, flowing with milk and honey: with milk, for nouriſhment; with honey, for refreſhment; with milk, for meat; with honey, for medicine. They are, ſaid Athanaſius, the food of the ſoul [c]. Here are Laws and Leſſons, For Kings and Subjects; for Noble and Ignoble; for rich and poor; for wiſe and unwiſe; for bond and free; for ſtrong and weak; for young and old; for husband, wife, Parent, child, Maſter, Servant, and for all of whatſoever degree, condition, capacity. Here's the meaſure of Faith, the Cenſure of manners and errours, and the Compaſs ſhowing the way to Heaven [d]. What is there not in theſe rich Digeſts [e], & comprehenſive Pandects [f] of the H. Scriptures.

The ends and uſefulneſs of the Divine Records are moſt Noble and Excellent. For they are profitable, 1 For Doctrine, to learn us all Divine Truths, neceſſary to be known and believed unto Salvation. 2 For Conviction, to refute all Errours and Hereſies repugnant to Divine

TO THE

WORTHY, AND MY MUCH HONOURED FRIEND, FRANCIS VAUGHAN Esq; And one of his MAJESTIES Justices of Peace for the County of SOMMERSET, Grace, Mercy, and Peace.

SIR,

IT is well observed by Bernard; That there are two great evils which extreamly militate against the Soul, viz The superfluous Love of a mans self, and the vain Love of the World. The two first Books of Solomon do obviate these two Pests: The PROVERBS, by the weeding-hook of Discipline, paring off the superfluities of corrupt and sinful Manners: and ECCLESIASTES, by the Light of Reason, demonstrating the vanity of all earthly things, and preferring the fear of God with keeping his Commandments, before all [a]. And I may further add, When the Dotage of self-love is subdued, whereunto THE PROVERBS tend: and when the Idolizing of the vain vexing World is suppressed, and in stead thereof the Fearing of God with Keeping his Commandments embraced, which in ECCLESIASTES is intended then a man shall be notably prepared for that Holy Communion with JESUS CHRIST, which in the choicest SONG OF SONGS is described.

Sharp and learned Hierome in his Golden Epistle to Paulinus gives this brief character of Solomon and his three Books contained in Gods sacred Volume: Solomon Pacificus, & amabilis Domini, Mores corrigit; Naturam Docet; Ecclesiam jungit & Christum, sanctarumq; nuptiarum dulce canit Epithalamium [b]. Surely the Book of Proverbs, which is most sententious, is an Holy bundle of wise moral Adages or Aphorismes: Ecclesiastes, which is most Argumentative, is a clear Discovery of this worlds vanity and vexation: The Song of Songs, which is most mysterious and therefore not permitted among the Jews to be read of any under thirtie years of age [c], is a most sweet Allegorical adumbration of the spiritual endearments and mutual loves betwixt Christ and his Church.

a Cum enim duo sint mala, quæ vel sola vel maxime militant adversus animam, vanus, sc. Amor mundi, & superfluus sui: Pesti utrique duo illi libri obviare noscuntur, alter saeculo disciplinæ prava quæque in moribus & carnis superflua resecans, alter luce Rationis in omni gloria mundi fucum vanitatis sagaciter deprehendens, veraciterque distinguens à solido veritatis. In the Song of Songs, Solomon is eminently Typical: In the Proverbs, Solomon is admirably Prudential: In Eccleſiaſtes, Solomon is exemplarily Penitential. In the Song, he diſcovers the ardent vehemency of his ſpiritual Affections: In Proverbs, the tranſcendency of his heavenly wiſdome: In Eccleſiaſtes, the integritie of his Penitential Retractations. The Proverbs tend, to make us wiſe; Eccleſiaſtes, to render us good; The Song of Songs, to repreſent us Bleſſed. The Proverbs are as the Outer Court of the Temple: Eccleſiaſtes as the Sanctuary or Holy-place: But the Song of Songs as the Holie of Holies. In acts of Moralitie, men of all ſorts meet, as in the Outer Court: In truth of Repentance onely Gods ſpiritual Prieſthood appears, as in the Holy-place: In perfection of love to Jeſus Chriſt they onely are ſwallow'd up who inhabit the true Holy of Holies, Heaven it ſelf.

Proverbs.

§. I. Order.

THus of the DOCTRINAL Book compiled especially by King David, viz. The Book of PSALMES. Next consider we of those Doctrinal Books which were penned by King Solomon,[a] the wisest of Kings, and a special [b] Type of Jesus Christ, the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings. King Solomon's Books (according to the several Doctrines and Subject-matters contained in them) are either, 1. Proverbial, as PROVERBS. 2. Penitential, as ECCLESIASTES. 3. Nuptial, touching the Espousals of Solomon and Pharaoh's daughter, the Type; of Christ and his Church, the Truth; as SONG OF SONGS, or CANTICLES. Of all the Books which Solomon wrote, these three onely are received (said [c] Augustine) as Canonical.

a 1 King. 3. 12. and 4. 29.

b See Ps. 45. throughout, and Cant. 3. 6. to 11.

c Post hunc regnavit eidem populo universo Solomon ejus filius, qui ut supra dictum est, patre suo vivente cœpit regnare. Hic bonis initiis malos exitus habuit: Quippe secundæ res, quæ sapientium animos fatigant, magis huic obfuerunt, quàm profuit ipsa sapientia, etiam nunc & deinceps memorabilis, & tunc longè latèque laudata. Prophetâsse etiam ipse reperitur in suis libris, qui tres recepti sunt in authoritatem Canonicam: Proverbia, Ecclesiastes, & Canticum Canticorum. Alii verò duo, quorum unus Sapientia, alter Ecclesiasticus dicitur, propter eloquii nonnullam similitudinem, ut Solomonis dicantur, obtinuit consuetudo. Non autem esse ipsius non dubitant doctiores, &c. Aug. de Civ. Dei, l. 17. c. 20. Tom. 5. Videatur etiam ibid Lud. Vives.

§. II. Time.

It is hard to say certainly at what time these several Books were penn'd by Solomon. Some are of opinion, that Ecclesiastes and Canticles were written in Solomon's old age after his Repentance. Probably it may be thought, (as the matter of the Books intimate) Canticles was penned in his younger [d] years, when his affections were more warme, active, lively in Spirituals, in sweet experimental communion with Christ: Proverbs, in his ripe, manly age, when his prudence and parts were at highest, most clear, grave, solid, setled: And Ecclesiastes in his old-age, after all the vain courses wherein he had so miserably lost himself, whereupon he penned these his Penitential Retractations.

d Mercerus thinks Solomon penned Canticles in his old age. J. Mercer. præfat. in Job ad init.

§. III. Name.

I. Solomon's Proverbial Book is called the PROVERBS OF SOLOMON; because though it contain other's Proverbs, yet most are Solomon's. In Hebrew, משלי שלמה Mishle Shelomoh, viz. either Similitudes, or excelling sentences, that for their wisdome, weight, excellency, overcome and bear rule over the rest; from mashal, which notes dominion.

§. IV. Penman.

This Book was penned, probably, not by one, but by divers: and that not at one, but at several times. Solomon penned the [e] nine first Chapters, in that Order as they are,

e T. Cartwright Com in Prov. 10 1.

are, as also c. 10. to c. 25. Solomon was Author of the Proverbs also, from c. 25. to c. 30. But [f] the men of Hezekiah King of Judah copied them out. Probably, they collected them out of [g] other writings of Solomon, and ranked them in this Order wherein we now have them. [h] Junius thinks they extracted these Proverbs out of the Records of the Acts of Solomon, and digested them into a Body; most of these Proverbs appertaining to Ethical and Civil Administration.

The thirtieth chapter was penned by [i] Agur sonne of Jakeh. Of him we reade elsewhere no further mention in Scripture. He was [k] a Prophet, His Proverbial Prophecy is annexed to Solomon's Proverbs, perhaps because of mutual resemblance between them.

The 31. chapter contains the Proverbial Instructions, with which Bathsheba trained up Solomon (here called Lemuel,) in his tender years, which Instructions K. Solomon committed afterwards to writing; as [l] learned men judge.

§. V. Scope.

The Scope of this Book of PROVERBS is, To instruct men in deepest mysteries of all true wisdome and understanding, the height and perfection whereof is, The true knowledg of Gods will, and the sincere fear of the LORD.

To this end this Book is filled with choice succinct Sententious Aphorismes, Adages or Proverbs, compendiously comprizing in themselves distinct Doctrines, Duties, &c. of piety to God, Equity and Charity to man, and of Sobriety towards our selves. Hence [m] Augustine—The Book of Proverbs rightly understood, is almost all of force to informe pious manners.

m Ac primum de proverbiis, qui liber si bene intelligatur ad mores pios informandos pene totus valebit. Aug. spec. p. 918. B. Tom. 3. Basil. 1569.

Other Books of Scripture, like a curious web of silk or gold, have a Methodical contexture in them, one thing being so enterwoven with, and depending upon another, that they cannot be opened, or understood, without one another. But this Book, for the greatest part of it, like an Heap of pearls, a costly Box of Gold-rings, or rich Cabinet of Jewels and precious-stones, is without all such contexture or dependance, every Proverb making an entire sense of it self, without others.

§. VI. Principal Parts.

In the Book of PROVERBS consider, 1. The General-Preface to the whole Book. 2. The Substance of the Book it self.

I. The GENERAL PREFACE to the whole Book of Proverbs in the nine first chapters, which hath a methodical texture and coherence in it self; wherein note, 1. The Inscription. 2. The Proposition.

CHAP. I.

I. The Inscription, containing, 1. The title denoting the name and principal Penman of this Book, Ch. I. ver. 1. 2. The Scope or intent of the Book, ver. 2. to 7.

II. The maine Proposition contained in this whole Preface laid down, 1. More Generally. 2. More Particularly.

1. More Generally, and Summarily, viz. 1. In the fear of the LORD as the head and root of all; 2. In wisdome and Instruction, as the Members or Branches thereof, ver. 7.

2. More Particularly, these things are opened and urged in all that followes, viz. 1. Doctrines of true wisdome in c. 1, 2, 3, 4. 2. Doctrines of Prudence for obtaining and retaining true wisedome, in chap. 5. and 6. 3. Confirmation of all these Doctrines both of Wisdome and Prudence in ch. 7, 8, and 9.

I. Doctrines of true Wisdome, are divers, viz. I. That wisedome and instruction is to be hearkened to, and held fast, chap. 1. ver. 8. This is urged upon divers grounds, as, 1. The commodity of wisdom, ver. 9. 2. The Discommodity and mischief of foolish sinful wayes, ver. 10. to 20. 3. Wisdom's loud and earnest invitation of all to accept it, ver. 20. to the end of the chap. 4. Manifold alluring promises, to such as duly incline to and search after wisdome, Chap. II. throughout.

CHAP. II.

II. That true wisdome consists in our true fear, faith, and obedience to the LORD, denying our own understanding, sense, and carnal studies, Chap. III. 1. to 13. Which therefore are urged, 1. By promises to, and praises of this wisdom, ver. 13. to 27. 2. By threatnings and dispraises of the contrary, ver. 27. to the end of the chap. 3. By Solomons own inviting example, Ch. IV. 1. to 5. 4. By many sweet benefits promised to this wisdome, ver. 5. to 14. 5. By the great disparity betwixt the condition of the godly wise, that fear God, &c. and wicked fools that fear him not, &c. ver. 14. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. III.

II. Doctrines of Prudence, for gaining and retaining true wisdom. Herein Solomon, I. Dissuades from divers evils opposite to true wisdom; as 1. From pursuing carnal lusts after strange women, men, Ch V. throughout. 2. From imprudent and inconsiderate Acts or Offices, Chap. VI. 1. to 6. 3. From sloth, and sluggish negligence in Duties, ver. 6. to 12. 4. From wickedness in departing from well-doing, ver. 12. to 20. II. Perswades to the contrary studies and endeavours, ver. 20. to the end of the chap.

CHAP. IV.

III. Confirmation of all these Doctrines both of Wisdome and Prudence, 1. From an example or instance of a foolish young man, whom Solomon himself had observed to be brought to misery by whorish enticements, Chap. VII. throughout. 2. From the Testimony of God, and his Eternal wisdome, viz. the Son of God, admirably describing himself as most desirous to be accepted, and if accepted able to make all sufficiently happy, Chap. VIII. throughout, and Chap. IX. verse 1. to 13. illustrated by the opposite folly of being ensnared with strange women, ver. 13. to the end of the chap.

THE SUBSTANCE of the Book it self contains certain compendious Adages, select Proverbs, full of wisdome and knowledge, wholly independent on one another; and therefore it's a vain thing to think to find any Order or Method among them. Only we might easily reduce and refer them to several Heads or Ranks, and so bring some method to them. n Some thus Methodize the Proverbs.

The PROVERBS contain either,

I. Ethicks, or Morals, viz. Matters appertaining to Moral vertues, especially to the 4 cheif cardinal vertues. 1. Prudence. 2. Justice. 3. Temperance. 4. Fortitude.

II. Politicks, viz. Matters belonging to Civil Polities, the Governours and Government thereof. Here are many things concerning, 1. Kings. 2. Counsellours of State. 3. Subjects.

III. Oeconomicks, viz. Matters appertaining to Domestical or Family-Relations, as 1. Husbands and Wives. 2. Parents and Children. 3. Master and Servants.

Some o refer the Proverbs to the Decalogue, shewing the mutual Relation betwixt the Proverbs and the Decalogue, in distinct Tables, partly refering the several Proverbs to the several Commandements, partly applying the several Commandements to the several Proverbs. Both which wayes are very useful.

Now these Proverbs were either

1. Solomons own Proverbs, 1. Written and digested by himself. As all those Proverbs from Chap. X. verse 1. to Chap XXV verse 1. 2 Written by himself (probably scattered in other his writings) but collected and copyed out by the men of Hezekiah King of Judah; likely at Hezekiah's command As those Proverbs from Chap XXV. 1. to Ch. XXX verse 1.

2 Other Proverbs of like nature by way of Appendix annexed to Solmons, viz. 1. Agur's Proverbs (called his Prophecy) Chap. XXX. throughout. 2. Solomon's Mother's Proverbs (viz. Bathsheba's) which she taught Solomon. Which Solomon by guidance of Gods spirit wrote. Chap. XXXI. throughout.

Ecclesiastes.

§. I. Order, and Name.

II. SOLOMON's Penitential Book is Ecclesiastes. Touching the Order of it, See before the Proverbs. As for the Name of it, The Hebrews call it דברי קהלת Dibre Kohelcth, viz. THE WORDS OF THE PREACHER, as it is translated in our Bibles: or of the CONGREGATOR, or Gatherer-together, as the Hebrew imports from קהל Kahal, to Congregate, Gather together, or Assemble. And (as a Mercerus notes) this Root properly intends the Congregating of men, not of other things. The Hebrews commonly conceive, Soloman is here called the Assembler, Congregator, or Gatherer togerther; because he so gathered wisdom together. But rather, because Solomon uttered his words openly in an Ecclesiastical Assembly gathered together, Preached to an Assembly, &c. as Buxtorfius, b Mercerus after Midras, think. Hence that of Solomon's c assembling the Elders together at the bringing up of the Ark, is alledged. And upon like grounds our Translators seem to have translated it, Preacher; because Solomon assembled the people together, that he might speak or a J. Merc. ante Com. in Eccles.

c 1 Kings 8. 1. &c.

preach heavenly wiſdome unto them. In the Heb. this word is not in the Maſculine, but in the Feminine Gender; and ſo may be tranſlated exactly, The Congregatrix, or the Preachereſſe. But why ſhould this word be thus given to Solomon in the Feminine Gender? Anſw. 1. Not (as [d] ſome think) becauſe Solomon penned this Book being now very old, when his ſtrength was languiſhing and weak like a womans, (though he wrote this Book in his old age.) 2. Nor as any peculiar Dialect of this tongue, uſing this word ſometimes femininely, as [e] סופרת Sophereth, a Feminine word aſcribed to a man. 3. But either in reference to that wiſdome which was in Solomon; as if not ſo much Solomon, as Wiſdome it ſelf, ſpake here, which in the Proverbs is brought in as ſpeaking; or in reference to Solomon's ſoule, which was his better part. Both which come much to one, thinks that learned [f] Mercerus, and [g] Buxtorfius. In Greek, ἐκκλησιάστης. As in Latine, Eccleſiaſtes; in Engliſh, the Preacher: becauſe Solomon being furniſhed with extraordinary Wiſdome, upon his own manifold ſad experience touching the vanity of all things in this World, beſides the Religion and the ſincere fear of God, preacheth the ſame to the Church for the inſtruction and warning of all Gods people by his own example.

§. II. Penman and Time of writing.

That K. Solomon was Penman of this Book, is evident by the Hebrew Title prefixed The words of Eccleſiaſtes, [or, the Preacher] ſon of David, King in Jeruſalem, Now David had no ſon King in Jeruſalem, but Solomon. The ſtile alſo, and manner of expreſſion throughout the Book confirms the ſame, becauſe the Author of this Book reciting his experiments with the creature, ſpeaks of them in the [g] firſt perſon, as his own ſad experiments: which were peculiar to Solomon, as the things themſelves evidence.

g Eccleſ. 1. 12. to the end of the chap. and chap. 2. throughout, &c.

Solomon ſeems to to have writen this Book in his extream old-age, as one of his laſt acts, 2 Chron. 9. 29.) For the Subject-matter of the Book plainly intimateth, it was penned both after Solomons fall, and after or upon his riſing again by Repentance which was towards his latter end. Learned [h] Writers alſo conſent herein.

§. III. Scope.

Scope of this Book, is plainly to demonſtrate wherein Mans true happineſs conſiſts. viz. 1. Negatively, [i] not in enjoyment of any natural ſublunary created excellency whatſoever: all worldly things, honours, pleaſures, riches, accidents, ſucceſſions, &c. all humane affaires, ſtudies, counſels, affections, &c. being (through ſin) not permanent, but tranſient; not ſatisfying, but altogether vanity in themſelvs, and vexation unto us: And therefore we ſhould not ſet our hearts inordinately upon thoſe falſe imaginary felicities, but rather content our ſelves with a comfortable tranſitory enjoyment of tranſitories, without crakings, covetouſneſs, or other ſelf-diſquietings, providently managing our affaires, and regulating our actions and affections in wiſdome in midſt of all the changes and revolutions of the World. 2. Affirmatively, In the enjoyment of God, in his true fear and obedience; Meditating ſeriouſly of Death, and the future Judgement, as the onely Antidotes againſt worldly enſnarements.

i Compare Eccl. 1. 2. with Eccl. 12. 13. 14.

So that this Book is, though moſt obſcure and difficult in it ſelf, (for [k] ſome think it the obſcureſt among all Solomons Books, yea among all the Books of Scripture) yet moſt neceſſary and uſeful to the Church of God. How much may we gain by Solomon's Fall, and by his Riſing again, both inſinuated in this Book? I. By his Fall, we may learn 1. That higheſt wiſedom cannot ſecure us from lapſing, if the Lord a little leave us to our ſelves. 2. That worldly Proſperity is a far more dangerous temptation and ſnare, then Adverſity. Solomon more miſcarrying in that, then Job in this. How hard is it to be Great and Good at once! II. By his Riſing, and Repenting, we may ſee, k Dubium non eſt, quin inter Salomonis libros immo vero meâ quidem ſententia inter omnia ſacra ſcripta liber hic longè ſit obſcuriſſimus. J. Merc. ante. com. in Eccl.

1 That

1 That though the Saints fall, they fall not away, they riſe again. 2 That upon Penitential Returns to God, grievous offenders ſhall finde favour with God. 3. That God is faithful and will not ſuffer one of his elect to periſh. III. By both his Fall and Riſe, The Church hath gained this excellent Book of ECCLESIASTES, which ſhe knows not how to ſpare, and which (had not Solomon ſo fallen and riſen again) ſhe never had enjoyed.

Of all Kings wiſe or fooliſh, their peoples affections to them being ſo inconſtant and oft thirſting after changes of Government, *ver.*15,16.

By way of Antidote againſt all theſe foure imaginary felicities and corruptions about them, here are in a digreſſion, 1. The Right manner of Religious exerciſes, viz. Sacrifices, *Ch.V.*1. IV. Not in o Riches and earthly Poſſeſſions; whether more immediately neceſſary for life, or food and rayment, fruits of the earth; or more mediately neceſſary for procuring of theſe, Money, &c. Here, o 4. Riches.

1. Food and Rayment are preferred before Money, &c. In their general uſefulneſſe, and ſingular efficacy relieving our wants, *ver.*9,10.

2. Both are proved vain. From, 1. The enjoyment that others, even ſervants have of them, and perhaps more ſweetly then the owners themſelves, *ver.*11,12. 2. The dangers that Riches bring to their owners, *ver.*13. 3. Their uncertainty of abode with us while we live, *ver.*14. 4. Their certainty tainty of leaving us when we dye, ver. 15, 16. This vanity of Riches is amplyfied, Partly from the happinesse of a free and contented use of Riches, ver. 18, 19, 20. Partly from the misery of having Riches without the right use of Riches. For, 1. This is a common evil, Chap. VI. ver. 1. 2. This is a wosul vanity, a sore disease, ver. 2. 3. This makes such a man in a worse condition then an untimely birth, ver. 3, 4, 5, 6. 4. Such see no good of what they possess, live they never so long, ver. 6. 5. Riches satisfie only the body, are wholly unsatisfactory to the desires of the soul, ver. 7, 8, 9. 6. Riches are unable to protect against sin and sorrow, ver. 10. 7. Increase of Riches, increaseth vanity, cares, thoughtfulnesse, &c. p Wherein mans true happiness consists.

Thus far mans happinesse hath been considered Negatively, wherein it consists not.

II. AFFIRMATIVELY, and positively, Solomon shewes p wherein mans true happinesse is indeed to be found in this life. 1. Particularly. 2 Summarily.

CHAP. VII.

1. Particularly in divers means or branches of true happinesse, viz. 1. A good name. 2. Death. 3. Sadnesse of heart, 4. Moderation, and 5. Wisdome.

1. A good Name, beyond wealth or pleasures, Ch. VII. ver. 1.

2. Death, better then life, ver. 1.

3. Grief and sadnesse of heart, better then pleasures, as may appear, 1. In sorrow occasioned by Funeral Solemnities, ver. 2, 3, 4. 2. In grief occasioned by Reproofes, ver. 5, 6.

4 Moderation and Patience better then proud oppressing greatnesse. Here note, 1. The faults of Greatnesse, Oppression, Bribery, ver. 7. 2. The Antidote against this, Patience of spirit, ver. 8. Urged, 1 From the hope of the end better then the beginning, ver. 8. 2 From the opposite vices, 1 ath Anger, and impatient murmurings, ver. 9, 10.

5. Wisdome, viz. True godlinesse, as the Mistresse; and Civil Prudence as the handmaid, of true happinesse. This wisdome is described, 1. Comparatively as better then Riches, ver. 11, 12. 2. Positively, by its parts, properties, or fruits; which are either 1 Generall, or 2 Particular.

GENERAL, viz. I. Contentment in prosperity or adversity, urged, 1 From the unalterablenesse of Gods work. 2. From the inevitablenesse of Gods Counsels, ver. 13, 14. II. Constancy in goodnesse, notwithstanding all hard measure incident to us or others for goodnesse. Here are, 1. A temptation propounded, viz. Unlike accidents to righteous and wicked, ver. 15. 2. Inferences thence, 1 Carnal and corrupt, that therefore we should be indifferent and politickly moderate both in righteousnesse and wickednesse, ver. 16. 2 Gracious, that notwithstanding we be resolutely and zealously constant in goodnesse, ver. 17, 18, 19. III. Charity towards others in covering their infirmities and injuries to us: opposed to jealousies, implacablenesse, &c. Urged, 1. From mans common frailty, ver. 20, 21. 2. From our own infirmities, ver. 22. IV. The great difficulty of obtaining this Wisdome. For, 1. Solomon found it hard in his experience, ver. 23. 2. The things necessary to be known to make one wise are profound, ver. 24. by reason of the great wickednesse and subtilty of heart 1 In one Sex, viz Women, ver. 25. to ver. 29. 2 In both Sexes, nor man nor woman being perfect as God made them, ver. 29. V. True judgment and discretion in wise ordering of a mans self and affairs. Described summarily by the 1 Nature, and 2 Effects of it, viz. Estimation and confident security, Chap. VIII. ver. 1. Amplyfied by divers particular Acts or fruits wherein wisdome frees from many temptations and inconveniences, which folly intangles in; As, 1. Indiscreet Obedience to Kings, which is urged, ver. 2. And the contrary disobedience is dissuaded by divers Arguments, ver. 3, 4, 5. 2. In heedful prevention and prevention for future evils. This is Amplyfied, Partly, by mans misery and ignorance of future events, ver. 6, 7. Partly, by mans impotency to help himself in extremities, as death, Partly, by mans sinful betaking himself to vain unlawful means for safety in danger, ver. 8. 3. In having a right notion of the long prosperity and impunity of the wicked; Who though they seem never so happy, yet in comparison of the godly they are most miserable, ver. 9. to 14. 4. In passing due censure of the confusion that seems to be in the unequal administration of humane affairs. Where note, 1 The unequal dispensation it self, which is as a temptation, ver. 14. 2 The judgment passed thereon, Partly by the Flesh, hence condemning Gods administrations for vanity, and commending sensuality, ver. 14, 15. Partly, by the Spirit, concluding three things, viz. That Gods Government of the World is so profound none can search it out, therefore none can justly censure it, ver. 16, 17. That all men, all actions, are guided by Providence though never so secret, Chap. IX. ver. 1. That Gods love or hatred is not discernable by outward events, ver. 1, 2. After this, the judgment of the flesh is again insisted upon more distinctly, where both the evil practises and opinions of carnal men in this regard, as also the occasions of both, are set down, ver. 3. to 13. 5. In having a right apprehension of the contempt cast upon goodnesse in a low condition, apt to deterre many from vertue and godlinesse; where note, 1 The contempt of goodnesse and wisdome, in a mean state, parabolically, or historically described, ver. 13, 14, 15. 2 The true censure and resolution passed thereupon; viz. That wisdome though in meannesse is to be preferred before strength, ver. 16. before proud commands of imperious Rulers, ver. 17. before all other means of security, ver. 18.

PARTICULAR Properties or Effects of true wisdome, viz. 1. Towards our selves. Partly, in due carriage of our selves, that we blemish not our Reputation, Chap. X. ver. 1. Partly, by dextrous dispatch of all affairs, a fool dealing finisterly, ver. 2, 3. 2. Towards Superiours in the Common-wealth; wisdome keeps from unjust desires or enterprizes against them (though they be offensive, to our selves or others, ver. 4, 5, 6, 7.) by teaching us submission, and bridling all undutifulnesse, and rebelliousnesse, In Deed, ver. 8, 9, 10. In Words, ver. 11. to 16. (Here by way way of digreſſion, Governours are admoniſhed againſt Injuſtice and Tyranny; the miſery and happineſs of Common-wealths being deſcribed in reſpect of the Rulers thereof, ver. 17, 18, 19.] In Thoughts and ſecret ſpeeches, ver. 20. 2. Toward Inferiours, viz. The poor, towards whom wiſdom teacheth us Liberality. Liberality is propoſed, preſſed, and objections to the contrary anſwered, as, Unſeaſonableneſs, No viſible means of recompence, Chap. XI. 1. to 7. 4. Towards God, in having due care of Gods true Religion and Worſhip; one ſingular means and part whereof is a right meditation of, and preparation for Death and Judgement. This is eſpecially urged upon two ſorts of men, viz. 1. Voluptuous worldlings whoſe malady and remedy are laid down, ver. 7, 8. 2. Young men, who preſuming of their age, put death, and conſequently godlineſs, far from them. Of them note, Their malady, uncontrouled voluptuouſneſs, ver. 9. The remedy againſt this, viz. meditation of the certainty of judgment, ver. 9. Reformation hereupon, Partly in eſchewing of evil, ver. 10. Partly in doing good, Chap. XII. 1. This is preſſed on young men, by great inconveniencies of Old-age, and Death which otherwiſe will come upon them. v. 1. to 8.

Hitherto of the Particular means of the happineſſe attainable in this life.

2. Summarily Solomon gives the ſumme of his judgment about true happineſſe, 1. That all ſublunaries are vanity, and no happineſs in them, as himſelf had beſt ability to judge upon greateſt experience, in this Book diverſly commended, ver. 8. to 12. 2. That The true fear of God, and keeping his Commandements is the whole of man. The performance of which is urged by the ſtrictneſs of Gods future judgment, ver. 12, 13, 14.

This Book is an undeniable Argument of Solomons Repentance after his Relapſe, and conſequently of his f Salvation.

SONG of SONGS.

§. I. Order, and Time.

III. Solomon's NUPTIAL BOOK (treating of the ſpiritual eſpouſals of Chriſt and his Church) is the SONG OF SONGS. Some of the Hebrews think a Solomon firſt wrote the Canticles; then the Proverbs; laſt of all Eccleſiaſtes; from that conjecture, That youth is moſt delighted with verſes and ſongs, Riper-age, in Proverbs, Old-age in publiſhing the vanities of things. But the Hebrew Doctors in a Tractate entituled Bava-bathra among the Talmud writings, (ſhewing the Series of all the Books of Scripture,) deliver; That Proverbs ſhould be firſt, Eccleſiaſtes next, and Song of Songs laſt. And in this order we have them placed in our Bibles. Origen fetches the order of theſe Books from the Order and Series of Diſcipline, Ethicks (which are firſt) being taught in the Proverbs; Phiſicks, in Eccleſiaſtes; Theorick, or Divine things, in Song of Songs.

a J. Merc. Praef. Com. in Cant. pag. 142. a.

§. II. Penman, and Authority of the Book.

That Solomon was Penman of this Book, is conſented to on all hands, and is evident in the inſcription of this Book b The Song of Songs, which is Solomons: viz. This Song is Solomons as the inſtrumental Author of it. The c Hebrewes think that according to his three names, Solomon penned three Books anſwerable, viz. Proverbs, Eccleſiaſtes, and Song of Songs. The Chaldean Paraphraſt thus expreſſes it; Songs and Praiſes, which Solomon Prophet King of Iſrael ſpake.

b Song. 1. 1.

c Gloſſ. Ordinar. Hieronym. Prolog. in Prov.

Among the Hebrewes (as d ſome obſerve) there never was doubt of the Canonical authority of this Book. Others have ſeemed to detract from the authority of it.

d D. Parens in Adverſ. in Cant.

1. Becauſe it ſeems not to be written by inſpiration of the true Spirit of God, but rather from an amorous ſpirit betwixt Solomon and his wife Pharaoh's daughter. Anſw. 1. The dearest and sweetest Communion betwixt Jesus Christ and his Church or Members, is wont in other Scriptures to be set forth under that dearest, nearest, and sweetest relation and affection on earth, viz. Betwixt a Bridegroom and his Bride espoused to him; as in [e] Isaiah, [f] Ezekiel, [g] Hosea, [h] Epistles to the Corinthians, and to the [i] Ephesians. Shall we therefore say that this detracts from the Authority of these Books? No; Why then should this self-same Allegory detract from the authority of this Song? 2. Solomon being the wisest King, how uncomely were it for him, and inconsistent with his wisdome to expresse openly in a publique Song, his private conjugal love unto his wife, which is an unusual thing. 3. Many passages in the Song cannot properly be applyed to King Pharaohs daughter, as Cant. 1.6,8. and 5.6. and 8.1. And many things are ascribed here to the Spouse, that would rather be a womans deformity then Ornament. As, An head like Carmel; Nose like the Tower of Lebanon; Neck, like the Tower of David; Eyes like Fish-pooles; Teeth like flocks of shorne sheep: and she her self black as the Tents of Kedar, &c. Pharoahs daughter, King Solomons wife may in some particulars be intended as a shadow of the Church, as Solomon a Type of Christ: But the [k] principal thing intended, is that sublime heavenly mystery of dearest love and Communion with Christ and his Church.

k Ego sane Solomonem cum hæc scriberet, ita stilum suum & calamum temperasse puto, ut externas nuptias & terrestres non cogitaret, sed omnia sublimia, mystica, spiritualia & cœlestia. Jo. Mercer. Præfat. Com. in Cant.

The Hebrewes propose four things in Scripture not to be read, but by such as are come to [l] maturity, viz. 30. years of age, which is the age of the Priestly Ministry. The beginning of Genesis, wherein the Creation of the world is described; The beginning of Ezekiel wherein the Majesty of the Lord, and the Cherubins are set forth. The end of Ezekiel from c. 40, &c. Where the Fabrick of the New Temple is delineated; but especially this Book of Canticles, lest those that peruse this Book, before their affections be allayed and mortified, pervert the spirituals therein to a carnal corrupt sense and end. Yet the use of Holy Scripture, in any part thereof is not to be prohibited to any, (God [m] requiring them to be studied by all;) but the right use to be manifested to all, that all abuse may be prevented.

2. Because neither the name יהוה Jehovah, nor אלהים Elohim are found in this Book, the Authority of it seems to be lessened. Answ. 1. Neither these Names, nor any thing equivalent to them are found in the Book of Esther, and yet thats counted by such Canonical. 2. Though the names of GOD, LORD, &c. are not here expressed, yet they are implyed in the title, BELOVED. The Churches [n] beloved being God, as Jewes think; or Christ, as the Christians do better expound it. 3. There was lesse occasion of expressing plainly the Name of God or LORD in this Book, wherein it was the aime of the Holy Ghost, under an external earthly marriage or contract, to describe the Spiritual Union, and Communion of Christ and his Church, as [o] Mercerus noteth.

§. III. Nature, Excellency, and Scope of this Book.

1. Nature of this Book. For the General, It is stiled A Song. Songs were usually tuned with voice, Psalmes with instruments musical. Both Songs and Psalmes imply the [p] choicenesse of the Subject handled, and therefore worthy to be remembred: and are usually arguments of joy and gladnesse in such as sing them, and of praises to them whom they concern; So this Book (saith [q] Ainsworth) treating of mans reconciliation to God, and peace by Jesus Christ, with joy in the Holy Ghost, is called a Song; which therefore the faithful should learn to sing with understanding, making melody in their hearts to the Lord, when they feel themselves made partakers of his joy.

But

But for the particular kind of this Song, whether it be 1 Hiſtorical, 2 Prophetical, 3 Didactical or Doctrinal, or 4 Mixt, is not ſo eaſily determinable. Partly, becauſe of the myſteriouſneſſe and difficulty of the Book. Partly, becauſe of the diſſenting Opinions of learned Writers hereabouts. Some [r] think herein is deſcribed the State of the Church of the Old-Teſtament from Abel to Jeſus Chriſt. Some of the New-Teſtament. Some, of both from the firſt promiſe, Gen. 3. 15. till the end of the world. Brightman and Alſtedius are of opinion, that in this Book is deſcribed the State of the Church from David to the end of the world. According to this opinion this Book is thus diſtributed by Alſtedius.

[r] Hen. Alſted. Triſol. Prophet. in Iſag. in Cant.

I. The Old Church is deſcribed, according to its condition.
1. Under Kings, from David to the Babyloniſh Captivity, chap. 1. and 2. to ver. 3.
2. In Captivity, chap. 2. ver. 3. to 14.
3. After Captivity, before Chriſt, chap. 2. ver. 14. to chap. 3. ver. 6. After Chriſts birth, chap. 3. ver. 6. to chap. 4. ver. 7.

II. The New Church is deſcribed, either as,
1 A firſt-borne ſiſter from Chriſts Reſurrection to the Jewes Converſion, chap. 4. ver. 7. to chap. 6. ver 9.
2. A younger ſiſter; comprehending the Church of Jewes and Gentiles to be converted, chap. 6. ver. 9. to chap. 8. ver. 11
3 Compleat of both Jewes and Gentiles, chap. 8. 11. to the end.

Moſt Writers, and thoſe of ponderous judgment, rank this Book, not amongſt the Hiſtorical or Prophetical, but amongſt the Didactical or Doctrinal Books. And, all things deliberately conſidered, cannot but incline to their judgment. For, 1. Though there ſeem to be in this Book ſome Hiſtoricall intimations of things formerly done, as in Cant. 1. 5, 6, 9. and 3. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. yet they are very few; and thoſe ſhort and obſcure Allusions or Allegories, rather then direct Hiſtorical Narrations. And therefore they cannot rationally be thought ſufficient to denominate this Song Hiſtorical. 2. Though ſome paſſages herein are prophetical, as that touching the Church of the Gentiles to be founded and builded, Cant. 8. 8, 9. yet they are ſo few in compariſon of the whole Book, that hence it cannot be juſtly entituled Prophetical, any more then Geneſis is Prophetical, becauſe divers Prophecies are diſperſed therein. 3. If the ſeveral parts of this Book, which are counted Hiſtorical or Prophetical, in reference to ſuch and ſuch times, as is mentioned in this former diſtribution, be exactly conſidered, we may eaſily perceive what obſcure, difficult, impertinent, groundleſſe, harſh and forced applications they are. 4. The main bulk and body of the Song doth moſt naturally and genuinely deſcribe, (as Auguſtine [s] noteth) the mutual love of Chriſt and his Church under the Allegory of a Bridegroom and Bride, in a Doctrinal way. And therefore moſt properly this Book is to be counted Doctrinal, rather then Prophetical or Hiſtorical.

[s] Reſtat ille liber Solomonis, cujus, inſcriptio eſt, Canticum Canticorum. Sed de illo in hoc opus quid transferre poſſumus, cum totus amores ſanctos Chriſti & Eccleſiæ figuratâ locutione commendet, & Prophetica pronunciet altitudine: niſi quod in eo, quamvis ſit ad intelligendum difficillimus, perſſumus tamen facile advertere, quantam ſit divina illa, & divinitùs inſpirita charitas appetenda, quantique pendenda, &c. *D. 2. Excellency of this Book is very great, in reſpect of Author, Matter, Forme, and End thereof. I. Author of this Book, (not to ſpeak of the principal efficient Author, the Holy Ghoſt from whom it hath its authority and chief excellency, but of the inſtrumental,) was [t] Solomon. Solomon was not onely the richeſt, and moſt peaceable of all the Kings, but alſo the [u] wiſeſt of all the Kings of the Earth, none before or after him like unto him, And [x] all the earth ſought the face of Solomon to hear his wiſedome. So that herein this Book excels, being penned by Solomon the wiſeſt of all the Prophets. II. Subject-matter of this Book, is not any vulgar or common points of Religion, but the moſt choice, ſublime, ſpiritual, heavenly myſteries of Holy Communion betwixt Jeſus Chriſt himſelf and his Church; Jeſus Chriſt being [y] King of Kings, and the brightneſs of his Fathers Glory: The Church being the choiceſt ſociety on earth, [z] The Lambs wife, the [a] Holy Nation, [b] Gods peculiar treaſure above all people in the earth. Communion, being the very Height and glory of all Practical Divinity. How excellent is this Book that treats of this transcendent Theame! III. The forme or Manner how these Mysteries are here represented to us, is in way of a Song; and that [c] the Song of Songs. It is a Song; therefore excellent: Songs being choice succinct pieces, grateful to the eare, helpful to the memory, and delightfull to the heart, working much upon the affections. It is the Song of Songs which was Solomons; viz. both the choicest and excellentest of all the Songs which Solomon penned, (which were [d] one hundred and five in all,) as Christ whom it concernes is King of Kings; and also the rarest and most admirable Song in all the Scriptures, (as [e] Mercerus noteth), this Song more fully and excellently setting forth the great mystery of Communion betwixt Christ and his Church then any other. This Song also is digested in forme of a Dialogue between Christ and his Church, as speakers; or of a Tetralogue betwixt the [1] Bridegroom, Christ; The [2] Bridegrooms friends, viz. Angels, Saints, Prophets, Apostles, and all the faithful Preachers of the Word of Christ. [3] The Bride her self, viz. the Church and faithful Members of Christ; And [4] The Churches Companions called the Daughters of Jerusalem, viz. All that follow the Church. These foure being brought in as speaking to one another, throughout this Song; the accurate discovery of whose several and respective speeches is none of the smallest difficulties in this Song. IV. The End and Scope of this Song is also singularly excellent, as after it will appear.

d 1 King. 4. 32.

e Canticum Canticorum intelligas non tantum inter Solomonis Cantica lectissimum, sed inter omnia Cantica, quæ unquam antehac scripta fuerant imò & deinceps scripta in Scripturis sacris (quanto magis in profanis) eminentissimum. Nam si cætera Scripturæ Cantica diligentiùs perpendas, singula fere in illis mysteria reperies: Et hic omnia tam veteris quam novæ legis mysteria sub figuris & similitudinibus tecta invenies; & quæ evenerunt, & quæ eventura sunt. Jo. Mercer. Comment. in Cant. 1. 1.

Upon consideration of the Excellency of this Book, it is that [f] some have called other Books of Scripture Holy, but this Book the Holy of Holies, or the Sanctity of Sanctities, as the perfection of the rest. Others [g] compare these three Books of Solomons writing to the three parts of the Temple of Solomons building, viz. Proverbs to the Porch, Ecclesiastes to the Sanctuary, or Holy place, but this Song of Songs to the Holy of Holies. Herein we have a lively Representation of the Spiritual State of Christs Spouse in this world, sometimes inclining to carnal security, sometimes lamenting under spiritual desertions, and sometimes conflicting with sharp temptations. Her own blackishness and infirmities are not concealed, her beauty and Glory derived from Christ are displayed, and her Carnal blemishes are improved as foyls with greater lustre to set off her spiritual beauty. Herein we have a lively portraiture of Christs incomparable amiableness and sweetness, as the most compleat, lovely, attractive piece in the whole world able to ravish into an extasie of Love the hearts of both Saints and Angels. Herein we have a wonderful discovery of that great mystery, that Spiritual Paradise, that Heaven on earth. viz. Sweet Communion betwixt Christ and his Church, in their heavenly Espousals, longing after each other with restless love-sick desires, embracing each other in clasping arms of ardent love, solacing and contenting themselves in mutual enjoyments with ravished delight, most jealously impatient of all disturbance, or interruption of their Communion, and most fervently panting after compleat fruition of each other in the spicy mountains of Heaven it selfe. O blessed Book! O pleasant Eden! How full of sweetnesses art thou to experienced Souls, that have, and love, and live upon the Lord Jesus, and know what it is to lodge in his dearest Bosome? What pleasure take they in reading, understanding and meditating of thee; but especially in feeling in their own Soules these glorious things spoken by thee.

§. III. Scope.

§. III. Scope.

Scope of this Song, is under the Metaphor or Allegory of Lovers upon Contract, and intending marriage, to shadow out to us, that sublime, Spiritual, happy Union and Communion betwixt Christ and his Church, which is incboate on this Life; more imperfectly with the Jewes, more perfectly with the Gentiles: and shall be consummate in the Life to come.

This is carried on Dialogue-wise, betwixt Christ and his Church; His Friends and her Damosels, being the foure Speakers: especially the two first: as is the Custome of a Bridegroome and a Bride; as was formerly noted.

The substance of the Song, Streaming out a Torrent of Spiritual Love betwixt Christ and the Church laid down Dialogue-wise, in a familiar Colloquy betwixt, 1 Christ as the Bride-groome. 2 The Church as the Bride, and 3 The Friends of them both rejoycing in the marriage; All in a continued Allegory. Herein are particularly, II.

I. The ardent Desires of the Church after Christ, as impatient of his absence: with Christs acceptance thereof, Ch. I. ver. 2. to 9, CHAP. I.

II. The reciprocal invitatory Commendations of one another; and the mutual gratulations and contentment of Christ and the Church in one another, ver. 9. to the end of Ch. II. CHAP. II.

III. The Churches renewed Desires night and day, at Home and Abroad, in the City, in the Fields, (as it were) to bring Christ nearer to her self, Ch. III. 1. to 6. yea, rather to have her self brought immediately to the full enjoyment of Christ in Heaven, v. 6. to the end. CHAP. III.

IV. Christ most affectionately praiseth his Church in her Members, professing himself ravished with her Faith, Graces, and Spiritual Beauty, Ch. IV. 1. to 15. Which is amplified, 1. By the Churches self-denying, acknowledging all her Graces to come from Christ as the Fountain, v. 15. 2. By her Prayer for his influence to make her (as a Garden of Spices) more and more fruitful; and for his presence to accept her Fruit. v. 16. 3. By Christs satisfying her desires, coming into his Garden, accepting the Fruits thereof, and welcoming his Friends, Ch. V. v 1. CHAP. IV. CHAP. V.

V. The Churches Spiritual Desertion, in Christs withdrawing himself from her. Where are, I. The Occasion of it, Her carnal Security, ver. 2, 3. II. The Manners of it; withdrawing, yet leaving some quickning Grace behind him, v. 4, 5. III. The Consequents of it, in respect of, 1. The Church her self, v. 4, 5, 6. 2. The Watchmen abusing her, v. 7. 3. The Daughters of Jerusalem, whom she charged to signifie her distress to her beloved, v. 8. This charge is amplified. 1. Partly by the inquiry of the Daughters of Jerusalem, what Christ is? v. 9. 2 Partly by the Churches pathetical description of Christs transcendent excellencies, v. 10. to the end. 3. Partly by the enquiry of the daughters of Jerusalem after Christ, Ch. VI. ver. 1. 4. Partly by the Churches declaring to them where Christ was, viz. He was now returned and gone down into his Garden, ver. 2. 5. Partly by her affectionate complacency in Christ returned, ver. 3. CHAP. VI.

VI. Christs sweet and consolatory deportment towards his Church after her Desertion, and his return to her. Wherein, 1. He assures her she is as precious in his eyes, and as dear to his heart as ever, ver. 4. to 11. 2. He declares his desire of the spiritual Spring of the Churches Graces, after the Winter of her affliction, ver. 11. 3. He discovers the Rapture of his ravished affections, to her, most sweetly Inviting her to himself, ver. 12, 13. most highly commending her throughout, Ch. VII. ver. 1. to 8. and Promising his presence, and what he will do for her, that she may become most delightful to him, ver. 8, 9. CHAP. VII.

VII. Finally, the Church reciprocates her utmost affection to Christ, for his love. And this, I. More Generally, ver. 10. II. More Particularly, Her desire, 1. That Christ and she may go together to view their Husbandry, whether their plants did flourish and fructifie, viz. Whether the Gospel and fruits thereof did thrive, ver. 11, 12, 13. 2. That she may enjoy Christ most intimately and familiarly, Ch. VIII. ver. 1, 2, 3. 3. That the Daughters of Jerusalem may not disturb him, ver. 4. 4. That it may be considered, that she hath forgone, and undergone for Christs love, ver 5. 5. That Christ would give her a fuller 1 Confirmation of his love, setting her as a Seal upon his heart; And a fuller 2 Manifestation or evident assurance thereof, Setting her as a Seal upon his Arme, strengthening, sustaining, helping her, &c. and this because she bears to Christ an invincible and unquenchable love, ver. 6, 7. 6. That the Gentiles called A little sister, may be called and incorporated into the Church with the Jewes, ver. 8, 9, 10. This is amplified by Christs common care of both, as one Vineyard kept by himself, not by others, as Solomons was, ver. 11, 12, Christ teaching his Spouse her duty; CHAP. VIII.

Partly, To her neighbours, in publiſhing and bearing witneſs to his Truth; Partly, To himſelf, in Prayer and Thankſgiving, ver. 13.

III. The Concluſion of the Song, containing the Churches moſt ardent deſire after Chriſts Second coming, that the Marriage betwixt Chriſt and her ſelf may be compleatly conſummated in Heaven thoſe Mountains of Spices, ver. 14.

III. THE PROPHETICAL BOOKS.

THus far of Books Hiſtorical and Doctrinal; Now to the Books Prophetical. For diſtinction ſake they are called PROPHETICAL, becauſe the matter of them is principally Prophetical, though many Hiſtorical and Doctrinal paſſages are alſo inſerted in them all along; as there are many Prophecies of things to come diſperſed up and down the other Books, which yet are principally Hiſtorical and Doctrinal.

Rules or Directions for the better underſtanding of the Prophetical Books.

1. Conſider well the ſeveral Times wherein the ſeveral Prophets flouriſhed and prophecied, and compare their Prophecies with the ſtate of thoſe Times reſpectively, as they are formerly deſcribed in the Hiſtorical Books: this will lend much light to the clearing of thoſe Prophecies. The ſeveral Times of their Prophecying, ſee in the following Chronological Table.

2. The Prophets are wont to ſpeak of things to come, as if they were already paſt or preſent. As, Iſa. 53. throughout. Becauſe they are certainly determined upon in Gods decree, and are as ſure to come to paſs, as if they were already actually fulfilled.

3. Moſt commonly they are wont in their threatnings againſt the wicked to intermingle Promiſes and comforts to the godly: 1. Partly, that the godly may not be terrified with Gods ſeverity, who will put a difference betwixt the godly and the wicked; 2. Partly, to have a door of hope open even for the wicked if hey will repent. And contrariwiſe uſually with their promiſes to the Godly, they interweave threatnings againſt the wicked. 1. Partly, as a flaming Sword to keep off ungodly ones from falſe applying of the comforts to themſelves, which belong not to them; 2 Partly, to caution the godly againſt ſecurity, and that they rejoyce with trembling, Pſal. 2. 11.

4. In foretelling or promiſing temporal mercies or deliverances, they are wont commonly to raiſe up their promiſes unto ſpiritual bleſſings and deliverances of the ſoul, and in threatning temporal puniſhments to the wicked, they are wont to proceed to threaten ſpiritual and eternal. 1. Partly, becauſe temporal bleſſings and deliverances to the Jewes were types of ſpiritual and eternal, by Chriſt. 2. Partly, becauſe temporal judgments in this world upon the wicked are but earneſts and handſels of eternal vengeance in the world to come. 3. Partly, becauſe neither without ſpiritual bleſſings and deliverances Gods people can have ſufficient and ſolid conſolation; nor without eternal vengeance, can the wicked receive their proportionable compenſation

Therefore theſe temporals, ſpirituals and eternals, oft ſpoken of joyntly and more confuſedly, muſt be prudently diſtinguiſhed, that the ſenſe obſcured thereby may be the more cleared.

5. When they ſpeak of the Kingdom, and benefits of Chriſt to be performed under the New Teſtament, they are wont to vaile thoſe Evangelical myſteries under Moſaical and Typical things in uſe in the Church under the Old Teſtament. And therefore the meer letter of the Prophets expreſſions muſt not be terminated or reſted in, but the ſpiritual meaning, primarily intended, muſt be inquired into.

Theſe Prophetical Books are in all 16. (Lamentations being counted an Appendix to Jeremiah.) They may be conſidered two wayes. 1. According to the times of their prophecy, and writing. 2. According to their Order as ſet in our Bibles. They are not placed in our Bibles, in that Method and Order as they were at the firſt ſpoken and written by the Prophets.

1. According to the times wherein they were firſt prophecied and written. Theſe times are for moſt part diſcovered in the beginning of the ſeveral Propheſies, and of ſuch we may determine certainly: or they may be collected from other Scriptures, or the matter of the Propheſies, of which we cannot conclude altogether ſo clearly.

Theſe Times may be referred (as the Hiſtorical Books) to three principal periods, viz. 1. Before, 2. Neer or under. 3. After the Babyloniſh Captivity. And if in theſe three Periods, we parallel theſe Prophets with thoſe Hiſtorical Books, they will notably help to clear and explain one another.

A

A Chronological Table of the Order of Times wherein the Prophets Prophecied:

Somewhat differing from the Order wherein they are placed in our Bibles.

I. BEfore the tranſportation of the Jewes into Babylon's Captivity; and in the dayes of Jeroboam ſon of Joaſh King of Iſrael, and of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, and Joſiah, Kings of Judah; theſe Prophets Prophecied. Viz.

1. JONAH, (called Jonas, Mat. 12. 39, 40.) He prophecied before or about the beginning of the Reign of Jeroboam ſon of Joaſh King of Iſrael, who reſtored the coaſt of Iſrael from the entring of Hamath to the ſea of the Plain, according to the word of the Lord God of Iſrael, which he ſpake by the hand of his ſervant Jonah the ſon of Amittai, the Prophet, which was of Gath-hepher, 2 King. 14. 25. Which was before or about the beginning of Jerobeams reign, as Jun. Annot. in Jon. 1. 1. and Pareus in Adverſ. ibid. conceive: about the cloſe of his reign, thinks Druſius in Quæſit. Epiſt. 9.

2. HOSEA prophecied in the dayes of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh King of Iſrael, and in the dayes of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Judah, Hoſ. 1. 1. Which muſt needs be a very long time, viz. for the ſpace of 79 years at leaſt, as that learned And. Riv. in Com. in Hoſ. 1. 1. compures by thoſe Kings reigns.

3. JOEL; when he prophecied is not ſo expreſly laid down in Scripture, and therefore his time cannot ſo certainly be defined as of others. Among learned Writers, Jewes and others there's great variety and uncertainty about it.

1. Some of the Hebrewes think this Joel was the ſon of Samuel the Prophet, one of Samuels ſons being named Joel, 1 Sam. 8. 1, 2. But the context there ver. 3. confutes this opinion; And his ſons walked not in his wayes, but turned aſide after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment; which corruptions we cannot juſtly believe to have been in this holy Prophet Joel; He (as other Prophets) being an holy man of God, 2 Pet. 1. 21.

2. Some think Joel was contemporary to Jehoſhaphat King of Judah, and Jehoram King of Iſrael, becauſe of the ſeven years famine then foretold by Eliſha the Propher, 2 King. 8. 1. &c. And that as Eliſha foretold the famine, ſo Joel foretold the manner how it ſhould come to paſſe, by locuſts, canker-wormes and cater-pillers, Joel 1. 4. This opinion is aſcribed to R. Schelomo; And Lyra approves it. See Mercer. & al. Comment. in Joel. p. 192. But Tarnovius in Prolegom. in Joel, diſlikes this opinion, becauſe the famine of which Joel ſpeaks, ſeems to have been onely four years, Joel 1. 3. and becauſe heres no mention in this prophecy of the ten Tribes he thinks it probably fell out after their carrying away.

3. The Hebrew Chronicle called סדר עולם Seder-Olam, i. e. The order of time, writes, that Joel lived under Manaſſeh, of the ſame time with Nahum and Habbakuk the Prophets; but becauſe Manaſſeh was not right, his name is not mentioned; (as ſome obſerve, Mercer. & al. Comment. in Joel. p. 177. D. Pareus in Adverſ. in Ioel.) This opinion is likewiſe ſubſcribed unto by Funccius, Genebrard, and others; learned Druſius alſo thinks it may be proved from Joel. 3. 5. that Joel prophecied at that time, the ten Tribes being now carried Captive into Aſſyria.

4. Some are of opinion that the famine threatned by Joel, fell out under Joſiah King of Judah, which famine Jeremiah deſcribes almoſt as Joel here. See Jer. 14. 1, 2. compared with 2 Kings 23. 26. This opinion Tarnovius aſcribes to Danæus, and counts it moſt probable. Tarnov. Prolegom. in Joel.

5. Finally, Many (and thoſe of no ſmall learning and judgment; as Hierome, Auguſtine, Broughton, Junius, Helvicus, &c.) do conceive that Joel prophecied in the ſame time with Hoſea forementioned; as here I have ranked them. The time in which he prophecied is the ſame with that of Hoſea, in dayes of Uzziah, &c. Hieronym. Joel prophecied when now Jotham reigned, who ſucceeded Uzziah, D. Aug. de Civ. lib. 18. cap. 27. Tom. 5. Hoſea and Joel prophecy about the beginning of Uzziahs reign, before Amos, Joel ſpeaks of the companies of Locuſts. H. Brought. Concent. p. 92. 94. Hanov. 1602. In the dayes of Uzziah and Jeroboam, &c. thinks Junius, Annot. in Joel 1. 1. Joel the Prophet ſeems to have preceded Amos, for he foretels the drought, chap. 1. 15. which Amos complains to have fallen out without the due fruit of repentance, Amos 4. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, &c. Amos prophecied under Jeroboam and Uzziah, Amos 1. 1. Helvic. Chronol. p. 1. Gieſſæ Heſſorum M. DC. XIIX. Divers Arguments are urged for ſtrengthning of this opinion. As, 1. That Joel is placed next to Hoſea, without noting any difference of time, and it is an old Canon of the Hebrewes mentioned by Hierome, that, That Prophet who mentions not his time of Prophecy, is to be counted contemporary with him that next and immediately precedes him,---therefore Joel is contemporary to Hoſea. 2. The Subject-matters contained in this Book ſeem altogether to have fallen out in dayes of Uzziah and Jeroboam, ſaith Junius As, 1. Partly, That grievous famine which God ſent upon Judea; we read of a famine in Judea in the times of Jehoram, 2 Kings 8. and of Joſiah afterwards. as is taught, Jer. 14. but I like not (ſaith he) to refer this famine to either of theſe times. Rather this famine was ſent of God by his certain counſel in time of Uzziah, as may be confirmed from Is. 5. 13 eſpecially ſeeing it is evident that the Argument of the following Prophecy of Amos belongs to the ſame times. 2. Partly, That diſtreſs of Judah and Jeruſalem there mentioned, Joel 3. 1, 5, 6. ſeems plainly to relate to thoſe diſtreſſes that fell on Judah in dayes of Ahaz, by the Aſſyrians and Philiſtines, 2 Chron. 28. 17, 18, 19, 20. 3. That in this Prophet Joel, we have not onely mention of the name of Judah and Jeruſalem, as Joel 3. 1, 6. but alſo of Iſrael, as Joel 2. 27. and 3. 2. and therefore it is likely he prophecied before the final captivity vity of Iſrael by the Aſſyrians, for (according to that rule that ſome give,) Where the time of the Prophecy is not mentioned, nor any diſtinct mention of Iſrael and Judah, which were two diſtinct Kingdoms, taken notice of, that Prophecy was probably after that diſtinction of the Kingdoms was taken away by Iſraels being carried captive into Aſſyria.

4. AMOS. He prophecied againſt Iſrael in the dayes of Uzziah King of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam ſon of Joath King of Iſrael, two years before the earth-quake, Amos 1. 1. he comes in order after Joel; for Joel foretels the drought and famine, Joel 1. 15. &c. and Amos complains of their unfruitfulneſs under that judgment, Amos 4. 6, 7, 8, 9. Helvic. Chronol. p. 14. Gieſſe Heſſor. M. DC. XIIX. Before Amos ſpeaks Joel of the companies of locuſts, which having the ſimilitude of Horſes, and teeth of fierce Lyons bring in a famine. H. Brought. Conc. p. 94. Hanov. 1602.

5. ISAIAH prophecied in dayes of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah, Iſ. 1. 1. and 38. 1. &c. and 39. 3. He prophecied about eighty or ninety years, thinks Helvicus in Chronol. ubi Supr. & D. Pareus in Proem. in Iſa. Here is no mention of Jeroboam ſon of Joaſh King of Iſrael; probably 1. Becauſe Iſaiah began not to prophecy till after Jeroboams death, which was in the fifteenth year of Uzziah, who reigned fifty two years, beginning to reign in Jeroboams twenty ſeventh year, 2 Kings 15. 1, 2. Jeroboam reigning in all fourty one years, 2 Kings 14. 23. So that Iſaiah ſeems not to have begun to prophecy ill towards the middle, or latter end of Uzziahs reign, 2. Becauſe computations in Scripture are more uſually made by the reigns of the Kings of Judah, whereof many were good, then of the Kings of Iſrael, whereof all were nought.

6. MICAH. He prophecied in dayes of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah, Mic. 1. 1. His hearers were ſome of them alive in the time of Jehoiakim, Jer. 26. 18. therefore he taught very long; thinks Helvic. in Chronol. quo ſupr.

7. NAHUM. Prophecied the deſtruction of Nineveh, the Metropolis of Aſſyria; But when he did prophecy, the time is not particularly expreſſed, yet we may probably conjecture. 1. It ſeems very clear by the current of his Prophecy, that he prophecied a good while after Jonah. Jonah was ſent to preach againſt Nineveh, at which Nineveh repented, Jon. 3. but not many years after relapſed to their old wickedneſſe. For Pul King of Aſſyria bends all his ſtrength to blot out the Jewiſh Religion, 2 Kings 15. Then Tiglath-pileſer took many Cities of Judea captive, and waſted Jonas his Country, 2 Kings 16. at length Shalmaneſer carried captive all the ten Tribes into Aſſyria, and afterwards dealt Tyrannically, 2 Kings 17. and 18. God therefore raiſes up another Propher againſt Nineveh, viz. Nahum, who not ſo much invites them to repentance, as Jonah did, as threatens their deſtruction. 2. Nahum could not prophecy in dayes of Jotham, (as Calvin in Prælect. in Nahum hath obſerved.) for he threatens deſtruction to the Aſſyrians for their cruelty to Iſrael; now Iſrael in Jotham's time was not captivitated by the Aſſyrians. 3. Forasmuch as the intent of Nahum is to threaten ruine to Nineveh and the Aſſyrians, for their cruel tyranny over Iſrael, and in a much as the captivity of the ten Tribes came to paſſe in the ninth year of Hoſheah King of Iſrael, and the ſixth year of Hezekiah King of Judah, 2 Kings 17. 6. &c. compared with 2 Kings 18. 9, 10, 11. therefore it is moſt likely that Nahum prophecied for the comfort of Gods People againſt the Aſſyrians, in the latter end of Hezekiahs reign, or thereabouts. Tarnov. Com. in Nah. in Proleg. Helvic. Chronol. p. 15. Gieſſe Heſſor. M. DC. XIIX. Though ſome refer this Prophecy rather to the time of Manaſſes, Others to the time of Joſiah; and Hierome according to the Hebrews opinion times it a little before the Aſſyrian captivity. See Pareus in Adverſ. in Nah. & Jun. Annot. in Nah. 1. 1.

8. HABBAKKUK ſeems to have prophecied in the dayes of Manaſſeh or Joſiah, and before the times of Zedekiah. 1. Partly, becauſe he laments ſo notably the deſperate and incurable wickedneſs of the people, which was in thoſe times. 2. Partly, becauſe he premoniſheth them of their approaching deſtruction by the Chaldeans. As Calv. Prælect. in Hab. & Jun. Annot. in Hab. 1. 1. and the Hebrewes are of opinion, Par. in Adverſ. in Hab. Therefore Hieroms opinion of his prophecy after the Babylonian captivity, is very improbable.

9. ZEPHANIAH, He prophecied in the dayes of Joſiah the ſon of Amon King of Judah, Zeph. 1. 1. Nor reade we that he prophecied at all after King Joſiahs death.

II. Hereupon, under, and after the Babyloniſh Captivity, Theſe Prophets flouriſhed and Prophecied, viz.

1. JEREMIAH prophecied in the dayes of Joſiah in the thirteenth year of his Reign, and in the daies of Jehoiakim his ſon, till the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah ſon of Joſiah King of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem Captive in the fifth moneth, Jer. 1. 1, 2, 3. being compared with Jer. 51. 64. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah. So that the 52. chapter following ſeems to be written by ſome other then Jeremiah (as Junius there notes) and continues the Hiſtory till Evilmerodac King of Babylon. So that Jeremiah prophecying till King Zedekiah's eleventh year, he prophecyed till the deſtruction of Jeruſalem and the Temple, which in that year fell out, Jer. 52. 5. 6, 7. &c. 12. 13. &c. Further, Jeremiah being in priſon when Jeruſalem was taken, he was ſafely looked to at the command of the King of Babylon, and ſet at liberty to dwell with Gedaliah made Governour of the Land. Jer. 39. 11. to 15. and 40. 5, 6. After that, was carried into Ægypt, where he prophecyed againſt Judah, Ægypt, and all the Countries almoſt round about, Jer. 43. 5, 6, 7, 8. &c. to ch. 51. 64. He prophecied a long time, viz. Under King Joſiah 19 years, Jer. 1. 1, 2, 3. with 2 Kings 22. 1. Under King Jehoiakim eleven years. 2 Kings 22. 36. Under Zedekiah eleven years, 2 Kings 23. 18. In Ægypt at leaſt two years, becauſe thoſe things deſcribed in Jer. 43. and 44. could ſcarce be done in one year; thinks Pareus in Proem. in Jerem. That is in all about 43. years.

LAMEN-

LAMENTATIONS, of Jeremiah, I. Some, think they were written by the Prophet Jeremiah upon occaſion of that moſt religious King Joſiah's death, wherein he laments not only one, but the manifold calamities of that people wich began from the death of King Joſiah, and encreaſed till at laſt Jeruſalem and the Temple were deſtroyed. Joſiahs death being as it were the beginning of theſe calamities, and all the future miſeries, eſpecially the deſtruction of Jeruſalem being Prophetically foretold, and pathetically deſcribed afbrehand, as if they had been things already actually come to paſs, the Lord having revealed theſe things to Ieremiah. Hierome and others are of this opinion. See Iun. Annot. in Lam. 1. 1. D. Par. Adverſ. in Thren. And this opinion ſeems the more probable, 1. Partly becauſe it is the manner of the Prophets ſomtimes to deſcribe future things ſo pathetically as if they were already come to paſſe. See, Iſa. 53. throughout, Pſal. 22. throughout, &c. As here Ieremiah doth Ieruſalems ruine, 2. Partly becauſe it is elſewhere ſaid, Jeremiah lamented for Joſiah, and all the ſinging-men and ſinging-women ſpake of Joſiah in their Lamentations to this day, and made them an Ordinance in Iſrael: and behold they are written in the Lamentations, 2 Chron. 35. 25. II. But others conceive that the manner of expreſſions are ſuch in this Book of Lamentations, and they ſo lively and pathetically point out Ieruſalems calamities, that it was not written before, but after the ſad deſtruction of Jeruſalem. Thus thinks Calvin in Prælect. in Lamentat. Ierem. & Pareus in Adverſ. in Thren. Let the ſober Reader conſider and judge.

2. DANIEL flouriſhed from the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim King of Judah, Dan. 1. 1. to the third year of the Monarchy of Cyrus the Perſian, Dan. 10. 1. for about 79 years, as Helvic. in Chronol. p. 16. and 17.

3. EZEKIEL, Began to prophecy in the fifth year of King Jehoiachins captivity, in the fifth day of the Moneth. Ezek. 1 1, 2, 3. and continued till the twenty fifth year of that their Captivity, Ezek. 40. 1. Iun. Annot. in loc. He prophecied about nineteen years and ſome nine dayes, as Hierom compures from Ezek. 40. See Pareus Adverſar. in Ezek. in Prooem. So that Ezekiel continued not ſo long as Daniel by many years.

4. OBADIAH. When he wrote, is not ſo clearely demonſtrable from Scripture, 1. Some think that this was that Obadiah mentioned in 2 Kings 18. who was over Ahabs houſe, and hid one hundred Prophets, by fifty in a Cave, from Jezebels cruelty, finding them there, He fearing the Lord greatly. The Hebrews and others after them are of this opinion, as Mercer. Com. in Obad. noteth. 2. Some think, that (if Hieroms Rule delivered from the Hebrews may be followed. viz. where the time of the Prophet is not expreſſed, that Prophecy is to be timed according to the Prophecy next preceding.) Obadiah muſt be contemporary to Amos, who prophecied in the dayes of Vzziah and Jeroboam ſonne of Joaſh, Amos 1.1. which as Mercerus noteth, was about one hundred years after Ahab; and therefore it is not likely that this is that Obadiah in Ahabs days. 3. Others judge moſt probably that this Obadiah was contemporary to Jeremiah, they both of them prophecying againſt the Idumeans, in almoſt the ſame words and phraſes. Compare with Obad. Jer. 49. 7. to 23 and Ezek. 25. throughout. Now Jeremiah prophecied againſt Edom after he was carried into Egypt, viz. after Jeruſalems deſtruction. Jer. 43 5, 6, 7. Thus think Jun. in Annot. in Obad. 1. 1. & Calv. in Prælect. in Obad. in Proem.

III. After the Jews Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity, prophecied theſe Prophets, viz.

1. HAGGAI. He began to prophecie in the ſecond year of Darius the King in the ſixth moneth, in the firſt day of the moneth, Hag. 1. 1. and prophefied till the nineth moneth of that year, the twenty fourth day of the moneth, Hag. 2. 10, 20.

2. ZECHARIAH. He began to pophecie, in the ſecond year of Darius, in the eighth moneth, Zech. 1. 1. and continued till the fourth year of King Darius, the fourth day of the ninth moneth, Zech. 7. 1.

3. MALACHI was the laſt Prophet of the Old Teſtament, after whom Prophecy ceaſed, till Jeſus Chriſt the great Propher was revealed in our fleſh. As Haggai and Zechary ſtrengthned the Peoples hands, and encouraged them in the building of the Temple, Ezr. 5 1. and 6. 14. So Malachi reproves their ingratitude in corrupting the true Worſhip of God, not long after the Temple was builded, as the tenour of his Prophecy ſhows. See Jun. Annot. in Mal. 1. 1.

II. According to their Order as they are placed in our Bibles. And ſo they are reſolved into two Ranks, viz. 1. The Greater Prophets, Iſaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel, (the Lamentations being annexed as an Appendix to Jeremiah. So called, not becauſe theſe had Greater Authority then the others, but (as [b] Auguſtine noteth) from the Greatneſſe of their Books; The Prophecie of Iſaiah being neer as big or bigger then all the Leſſer Prophets together. 2. The Leſſer Prophets, viz. The twelve latter, Hoſea, &c. which were digeſted into one volume of old by the Jewes, (called the Book of the Prophets, Act 7. 42.) leſt any of them ſhould be loſt, ſome of them being very ſmall. All theſe Books are denominated from their Penman, except the Lamentations.

[b] Qui propterea deuntur Minores, quia ſermones eorum ſunt breves, in eorum comparatione qui Majores ideo vocantur, quia prolixa volumina condiderunt. Aug. de Civ. D. l. 18 c. 29.

1. The Greater Prophets, are the Books of Iſaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel.
